Stores Are Attractively Decorated for Holidays

Chelsea merchants have spent many extra hours in decorating their store interiors and windows for the attraction and pleasure of Christmas shoppers. Merchandise is attractively displayed for the convenience of shoppers, and many of the merchants report a satisfactory volume of business. Increased sales are expected as the last week for Christmas shopping nears.

Deserving special mention in the art of store decorating is Burg's Corner Drug Store. Those who have seen the store marvel at the effort which has been spent by the Burg family and their assistants in creating what they have captioned "Winter Wonderland." Blue and silver icicles, producing a frosty effect, hang from a blue and white latticed "hangar" dome which covers the entire ceiling of the store. Icicles form a border around the uppermost edge of the sidewalls which add greatly to the frosty appearance. The front window trim, representing a sunburst, has blue and white tube streamers radiating from a silver half circle. The side windows are similar to the front ones with the exception of a change of color scheme which is red and white. A miniature snow village is attractively arranged in another side window.

This was the last meeting to be held for the purpose of sewing for dolls the girls are taking to the University hospital in Ann Arbor for Christmas, but the regular meetings will be continued. The program consisted of a short devotional meeting, with David Eaton and Ruby May taking part, and hymns by the entire group. Refreshments were served, and the meeting closed after a few games were enjoyed.

MARSH FIRE ATTRACTS MANY

A marsh fire northeast of Chelsea in the vicinity of Four Mile Lake on Tuesday evening caused many villagers to believe that it was a burning building, and several motored to the scene of the fire. The blaze covered a large area and the tall grass caused the flames to shoot up several feet. Men watched the fire for some time, and at one time it was close to the barns on the Donner farm.

FIRE DAMAGES PUMP STATION

Fire broke out at 12:30 Tuesday morning at the pumping station of the Tri-Lakes Corporation, located near the Hoover plant. Two pumps and two motors, several barrels of gasoline and two barrels of lubricating oil constituted the loss. The local fire department was called and prevented further damage.

RUNCIMAN-WINTER WEDDING

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Runciman in Waterloo township was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday evening when their daughter, Gladys May, became the bride of Victor William Winter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Winter of Sylvan township.

The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. R. L. Wasson, pastor of 2nd U. B. church, Waterloo. The bride was attired in a dress of Sheba blue alpaca and wore a corsage of pink roses and sweet peas. Her sister, Miss Wilma Runciman, as bridesmaid, wore black alpaca with Sheba blue trimmings. Tallman roses and sweet peas formed her corsage. Lewis Wahl assisted Mr. Winter as best man.

A wedding supper was served after the ceremony to 50 guests from Detroit, Dearborn, Dexter, Chelsea, Jackson, Munith and Waterloo township.

The bride is a graduate of Chelsea high school. Mr. and Mrs. Winter will make their home in the Musbach farm residence, Sylvan township.

Many times in this column I have pleaded for sane and sensible enforcement of traffic laws. We must have officers on our highways and streets to properly enforce the regulations pertaining to driving. More, we must have judges in our courts who can appreciate the danger involved when people become reckless in their driving habits.

Recently, in my own county, two cases of drunken driving were dismissed by the court. This is not only discouraging, but it is a deplorable condition and one that should not exist. When the evidence clearly points to the fact that drivers were picked up because of drunken, reckless driving and that the officers were unbiased in their opinion, the court should enforce the laws on the statute books.

It is the duty of every citizen to protest lenient decisions on the enforcement problem. Leniency only encourages the man who has no respect for the rights of others and who, on the highway, is a menace to the safety of ourselves and our children. Please, Mr. Citizen, help enforce the traffic laws.

Milan Game

Tomorrow (Friday) the Chelsea quintet will oppose the Milan five at the latter's gym. This promises to be a thrilling game so don't miss it. Milan has been an "arch-opponent" of Chelsea for many years. We won from them in football but this rivalry will be renewed tomorrow night at Milan.

Swing Band

I suppose you all have been wondering when the "Swing Band" is going to give a demonstration. We have a little knowledge on the subject and will pass it on to you. Mr. Dunstan says he hopes to have the band play for us some time in January. The band has not been able to practice on its regular nights because of the meeting place being occupied by other organizations. The members hope to resume rehearsals after Christmas. Here's hoping they will play for us soon!

Girls' Leather Craft

While waiting (and hoping) for Home Ec. handicraft classes, etc., the girls have started a leather craft class with Miss Allen as our willing (?) leader.

Even Mr. Wallis honors (?) us with his presence; or is he a bit mixed up as to which group he belongs to, girls' leather craft or boys' Hi-Y?

We really are making things worth while, though, and have made many things such as billfolds, purses, key cases, etc.

All those who have not yet joined are invited to come after Christmas.

What's It All About?

We see so many sheets, tail coats and hoop-skirts drifting into Room 24 these days that our curiosity is aroused. At first some of us thought Miss Eby was starting a new hobby but this didn't seem quite the right answer.

Still others thought we were collecting for the Salvation Army for Christmas.

Of course all of the members of that up and coming Dramatics club know the answer. In the past week we have been collecting for our Christmas scenes that are to be presented Tuesday, Dec. 20. The program consists of songs rendered by the Glee club and living pictures of Christmas scenes presented by the Dramatics club. The clubs are both doing their very best to help make this program the success we hope it will be.

Now you do your part and come help make up the vast audience we expect to see out over the footlights. As a conclusion I will add, there will be no admission charge. All are welcome.

Faculty Desires

The faculty of C. H. S. has expressed various desires which they hope Santa will fulfill on the 25th. Here they are:

Mr. Johnson—Plants for his flower pot.

Mr. Downing—Wants students to play Santa Claus and stop throwing paper on S. H. floor.

Miss Nelson—$100 for the Seniors.

Miss Hannigan—Silence from the gym.

Mr. Dunstan—A sound-proof music room.

Mr. Wallis—New tables and chairs.

Also a new desk. (Mr. Wallis hopes someone will take this hint)

Mr. Cameron—Silence on part of pupils.

Miss Allen—Isn't quite sure, but wants something.

We know (or do we?) that the students will exert every effort to help the faculty realize these desires.

Elementary News

Sixth Grade

We changed rooms with the eighth grade. This was done because we have more pupils than they, so we needed this room which is larger than the other one. We are all very happy to be in this room.

Jimmy Gaken and James Gaunt took out torn shade down so that Mr. Gentner can mend it for us.

Yesterday, we began using our penmanship books. We all find it much fun to do.

When we have a perfect attendance we are going to draw names for Christmas presents. We decided we are going to pay 10c each for the presents and that is the limit. We shall pay no more or no less.

The Fourth, Fifth and Sixth grades, as well as the Seventh and Eighth grades chorus and the high school chorus are planning a Christmas program on the evening of December 20, with Miss Sprague assisting us.

Eighth Grade

On December 9 we had two quizzes. In the morning we had a Science quiz and in the afternoon we had a History quiz.

This is a busy week for girls' singing class on the account of practicing for our Christmas program.

By the way, did everyone see the good marks on our report cards?

Themes By Students

(By Valerie Lehman)
Lost or Strayed

It was one of those damp, slippery nights that happen, not infrequently, in early fall. We'd had a tough day of it at the News office. After a quick dinner in a gay, noisy, crowded restaurant, I stepped out into one of the thickest fogs I'd ever seen. Even on Broadway, with neon signs, flickering bulbs, and street lights making it the most colorful street in New York (at night), I was aware of the moisture before I saw it. Beyond Broadway, several blocks, the brilliantly lighted streets gave way to the semi-darkness of the residential sections. Between streetlights, the fog was so thick you almost felt you could reach out and grab a handful, and maybe wash your face in it. It was a still night, and sounds came clearly for a block or more. Soggy roofs reluctantly gave up the water they had collected and relinquished it from the lowest shingles, the large drops making a loud Plop! as they landed in their respective gutters. All in all, it was a pretty quiet night. Which makes it surprising that I didn't hear him before. But I must have, somehow, become aware of his presence, for I turned, and there he was!

He was a beautiful, brown and white collie pup. If ever I saw a thoroughbred, he was one. I stopped, and stood to one side to let the street-light fall on him. He stopped, lifted one dirty, white paw, cocked his head to one side, regarded me with bright, questioning, brown eyes, and waited. Obviously, the next move was mine. Against a not-to-be-stilled, boyish longing to give a low, beckoning whistle and walk rapidly toward my apartment, my better judgment went into action.

"Go home," I said. Perhaps it didn't sound very convincing to him. He trotted up to me and touched his cold, wet nose to my shoes. Then, wagging his bedraggled tail he lifted his head as if to say, "Just skip that stuff, old pal, where do we go from here?"

I took a step backward and an authoritative note crept into my voice.

"Go home!" Then, more kindly:

"Go home, that's a good doggie." He shrank back at the first command, his tail between his legs and eyes eloquently lowered. But at the second, softened version, with the addition of a pat on the back, he became once more friendly, pleading.

I debated a moment. He was thin. But I knew of friends of mine who always kept their dog's weight at a minimum. It was not unusual to see fashionable dogs thin to the point of gauntness. He was dirty—ragged looking. But this was not unusual, on such a night. I had met people who looked as wet. But, unquestionably, somebody did, or had, owned him. He wore a small leather collar. But there was no identifying evidence on it! Many unowned dogs wore collars they had picked up here and there. Why not this dog?

All this flashed through my mind in a minute or less. At the end of two minutes of futile seesawing from negative to affirmative, I made one last stand. Stooping over, I picked up some object from the sidewalk. I do not know what it was. Making pretense to throw it, I assumed a threatening attitude and with much bravado (also assumed) said:

"Go on, now! Go home! Get!"

I flourished my arms wildly. Sadly, dejectedly, he crept off into the darkness. I stopped my mindless motions and stood watching with doubts, fear, and a great deal of hope assailing me. Only once did he stop, and look back. With grave reproach in his eyes, he hesitated one long second, then disappeared into the darkness and fog. The hope died out of my heart entirely, and the doubts and fears multiplied a hundredfold. I dropped the harmless missile I held, buttoned my coat more protectively about me and resolutely trudged the opposite way, home to my lonely apartment in "Bachelor Heights, apartments for men."

That was a month ago. Seemingly I have forgotten the incident. Yet, why, when I am walking alone or with friends at night, do I stop and turn around and scan the streets behind me for a thing, brown and white, half grown collie dog? And why do the shadows construct his dejected form standing there—with dog-tears in his eyes?

Author's Note: The "I" in this sketch is supposedly male.

MOTION PICTURE WILL SHOW CENTURY OF LUTHERANISM

The romance of 100 years of Lutheranism will be told in the moving picture film, "The Call of the Cross," at St. Thomas church, one mile north of Pleasant Lake, on Monday, Dec. 19 at 7:30 p. m. Rev. F. A. Sattelmier is pastor of the church.

This picture tells the story of the Saxon immigration 100 years ago caused by the liberal and rationalistic attitude of the Saxon State church on fundamental doctrinal truths.

A small and faithful group, rebelling against the manner in which the Lutheran doctrine was being modernized in the Fatherland, left their country for America, where they could worship according to the dictates of their conscience. Leading their expedition were pastors Stephan and C. F. W. Walther, two stalwarts, who steadfastly preached the Word of God in its purity.

St. Thomas Lutheran church invites everyone to attend and enjoy this interesting talking picture of the forefathers settling in the back-woods. A free-will offering will be taken.

DUNDEE—Alvin McDonnell recently disposed of his crop of popcorn to Hunt and Howell of Brooklyn. The corn will be used for seed purposes. The crop was of the yellow Sunburst quality. The ten-acre patch averaged a-ton and a half to the acre.—Reporter.

PLYMOUTH—The city of Plymouth is host to an unwelcome visitor almost every night in the year. In the last fiscal year, total of 540 tramps, unemployed on the road and petty crooks received lodging and breakfast at the city jail in the basement of the city hall. Police Chief Vaughan Smith said. Most of these men requested a night's lodging, while some others were hauled in overnight merely as a matter of protection to the city, he said. Plymouth's star boarder, Chief Smith said, is a man who is 34 years old. He has spent the night in the Plymouth jail at least 13 times a year for the last five years, as he travels a set route between Ann Arbor and Mt. Clemens. He does most of his traveling on foot, he tells Chief Smith.—Mail.

TECUMSEH—Believing that the fire, Saturday night, that destroyed the Iron Lake cottage of Mrs. Edwina Blake of Detroit, was started by thieves who previously had burglarized the dwelling, state police of the Clinton post are pushing their investigation that may lead to the solution of mysterious fires at other lakes during the past six months. The Blake cottage, one of the finest on the lake, burned to the ground soon after 9:30, Saturday night. The loss is estimated at between $4,000 and $5,000.—Herald.

MILAN—A fire that started in the welding room of the Ideal Furnace Company plant and quickly spread to the huge stock room, threatened the entire plant for a time Monday night in the most disastrous fire that has visited Milan in years. The origin of the fire is not known, but when it was discovered it had already gained such headway that immediate calls for assistance were sent to Dundee and the Ypsilanti State Hospital. The equipment of both responded. The damage to the building and stock was estimated at between $20,000 and $25,000 by officials of the company.—Leader.

CHILDREN IN COURT

Judge Malcolm Hatfield

Are Immigrants Criminals? While it is an admitted fact that large numbers of delinquent children come from immigrant families, it would be absurd to say that such children are delinquent because of their parentage. Authorities who are in daily contact with delinquent children, are cognizant of the fact that foreign-born parentage has nothing whatsoever to do with youthful delinquency; such persons no longer believe in the old theory that criminals are made at birth.

The prevailing and more enlightened viewpoint takes into consideration that, since many foreign born families are forced to work for low wages, it is necessary for them to crowd together in our large metropolitan centers, where their children are exposed to all forms of vice, over which the parents have little control. An additional factor which further assists in dispelling the foregoing erroneous theory is the fact that, where foreign born families reside in rural areas, their children show no marked delinquency tendencies.

THE CUB PROGRAM

The Cub program consists of—
1. A plan of advancement through which boys "learn by doing" things for which they receive advancement recognition in the form of Badges and Ranks.

There are three Ranks in Cubbing

Wolf Cub at nine years, Bear Cub at ten, and Lion Cub at eleven. The boy is required to do certain things before he can earn the Cub Rank for his age. The activities in this plan are graded so that in each Rank the boy does things which require a little more skill, a little greater responsibility, than was expected of him in the preceding Rank.

These activities are elastic enough to meet the needs of individual boys and different neighborhood or community conditions. The plan therefore is not an attempt at lock-stepping or running boys through a mould, but rather an opportunity for the exercise of personal preference and interest. The advancement plan represents a ladder which boys can climb and which they will climb because other boys are climbing it.

2. Association with boys and with men, and with mothers and others in which "doing together" and "doing for" someone else play an important part.

3. Activities of the Cubs individually and in groups in natural settings, which now exist in neighborhood and backyard so that the values of Cubbing go far beyond the attendance at formal meetings. These values gear into the actual life the boy now leads in such a way as to bring new motives and satisfactions to that life. The activities are "natural" activities.

LIBRARY NEWS

First, because the season is upon us, let's look at some Christmas reading that might bring joy to a group as well as to individuals.

Temple Bailey has given us a number of short stories under the title of "So This is Christmas". Little known as a writer of short stories, she brings us this group as a surprise and you'll love her holiday interpretation. May I add another of her offerings under the name of "The Holly Hedge".

Lloyd Douglas, blest with the art of story telling, jots the homey tones of a spicy, warm atmosphere onto the pages of a choice book in "Home for Christmas".

Looking further I find:

Christmas Stories—Charles Dickens.

Children's Book of Christmas Stories—Dickinson and Skinner.

Uncle Toby's Christmas—Harpers.

Christmas Stories—Dickens and Goldsmith.

A Christmas Carol—Dickens.

The Christ Child—Petersham.

Colonel Carter's Christmas—Hopkinson Smith.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish in this way to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors, also the American Legion, for their many acts of kindness during our recent sad bereavement.

CHELSEA LOSES

Chelsea met Grass Lake in their first game of the season Tuesday night at the local gym. Coach George Miller of Grass Lake had his boys in fine condition. They are also more experienced than many of the Chelsea lads. Referee Clinton's whistle started the game, and at the end of the first period the score was tied, 4-4. Fast offensive playing on the part of the Chelsea quintet placed them in the lead at the half, 7-6. In the third period the Grass Lake five gained a lead, and kept it. The final score was, Chelsea 21, Grass Lake 28. The line-ups:

Chelsea: Gr. Lake
Haselschwerdt F. Copeland
Policht F. Dowling
Daniels C. Campbell
Alber G. Warden
Fletcher G. Henry

Substitutions were: Chelsea—Dingle, Knisely and Schneider. Grass Lake—Owens, Beal and Wolbinger.

This was not a league game and will have no effect on Huron League standings.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS MEETING

The annual Christmas meeting of the Chelsea Child Study club was held on Tuesday evening, Dec. 13, with Mrs. Warren Daniels.

At the close of the business meeting the program committee took charge, furnishing a very beautiful and appropriate Christmas program. Mrs. Sidney Schenk opened by reading a paper, "The Great Physician", followed by "Let Us Take Courage" by Eunice Tietjens, read by Mrs. Wilbur Hinderer, then last but not least, Mrs. Bruce Plankell read "Let's Go Caroling this Christmas" by Florence Smith. Appropriately following this article, Mrs. A. A. Palmer led the group in singing Christmas Carols by candlelight.

At the close of the program dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, who presented each member with a sprig of mistletoe, after which followed an annual custom of filling Christmas boxes for shut-ins.

Sixteen members and two guests responded to roll call with Christmas quotations.

Question And Answer Dept.

Problem—Do you know what an extravagant girl becomes when she ceases to be pensive?—Answer elsewhere in this department).

Ques.—In an argument, "A" says the battle of Waterloo was fought on Saturday, while "B" says it was on Sunday. Who is right?

Ans.—"B" is right. The date of the battle of Waterloo was Sunday, June 18, 1815. The battle was scheduled to be fought on Saturday, but heavy rains delayed the action. Therefore Napoleon opened up hostilities at daybreak on Sunday.

Ques.—What causes cyclones, tornadoes, etc.?

Ans.—These come under the general term of "whirlwind." Two currents of air which move in different directions cause a whirlwind, which may vary in size from a small eddy to a hurricane a thousand miles in diameter. An observer may see the entire whirl if it is of small size and passes over dusty ground, but very large whirls, like hurricanes, are only seen in part and appear as straight-lined winds.

Ques.—What is a "yak"?

Ans.—A yak is a bovine ruminant, native to Central Asia. They are domesticated, but still are abundant in the wild state. Besides the milk and flesh being important articles of food, the male yak is employed as a beast of burden, similar to the American ox.

Answer to problem—She becomes expensive.

Ques.—I wish to ask you when were the airplanes invented? And who were the inventors?

Ans.—The Wright brothers (Orville and Wilbur) of Dayton, Ohio were the inventors of the flying machine. In 1896 they established a small shop in Dayton where they built and repaired bicycles, but gave the greater share of their time working on their invention. In 1903 they produced a machine that remained aloft two minutes, and in 1908 they produced another machine that made a test of 40 miles an hour and remained in the air 1 hour, 14 minutes and 20 seconds.

Ques.—Did Brigham Young found the great Salt Lake City, Utah? Or was it Joseph Smith? Did both of them teach plural marriages?

Ans.—It was Brigham Young who founded Salt Lake City after the cult was forcibly expelled from Nauvoo, Ill., in 1847. Joseph Smith, who founded Mormonism, died in 1844. Young succeeded Smith as president and prophet, and both leaders taught the sanctity of plural marriages, and a large party left the organized church on that account. The United States placed a ban on plural marriages, and while the Mormons still believed in its righteousness, plural marriages (polygamy) was abandoned in practice.

Ques.—Can you answer what the Zouaves are?

Ans.—Zouaves is the name of light-armed infantrymen in Algeria. When the French took Algiers in 1830 they incorporated the Zouaves into their army. After 1840 the Zouaves were strictly French soldiers, bearing the native name and wearing the native uniform.
