Voters May Pass On More Amendments

By Gene Alleman
Lansing—Voters of Michigan may be called upon to express approval or disapproval next April of two additional amendments to the state constitution.
Encouraged by the success of the "good roads" amendment at the November 8 election, the Michigan Education association proposes to seek legislative action next month to earmark state funds for educational purposes. So far the idea is yet in the hatching process, and no definite plan has been formally approved.
Educators are determined that public schools must be guaranteed a fair share of revenue, and a constitutional amendment is one way of assuring this.
Governor-elect Frank Fitzgerald has pledged support to statutory earmarking of school funds and he also has promised to recommend a state appropriation of at least $44,000,000 a year in state revenue. Last year the schools received $41,000,000.

Non-partisan Courts?
Assured on the April ballot is a proposed constitutional amendment to remove judges from politics.
Instead of creating a judicial commission to nominate candidates to the Supreme court bench and let the governor make his choices, the new amendment would merely require a non-partisan listing of judicial candidates for county and state courts. Party designations would be prohibited.
The amendment would affect circuit court judges and commissioners, probate court judges and justices of the State Supreme court.
Petitions were filed Dec. 1 with the secretary of state by the Non-Partisan Judicial Committee of Michigan.
A similar amendment was voted upon by Michigan citizens four years ago. It lost by 80,000 votes.

Drys and Townsdenites
After each election the credit for victory is usually claimed by minority groups, each strong enough to swing the "balance of power."
The Townsdenites are taking credit for Fitzgerald's victory over Governor Murphy, stating that the Republican nominee was favored by the (Continued on next page)

ENTERTAIN FARMERS' CLUB

Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Storms entertained the Western Washtenaw Farmers' club Thursday evening at their December meeting and Christmas party. The rooms were beautifully decorated with Christmas boughs and holly, a white Christmas garden forming an attractive feature. Covers for 65 were arranged at four tables illuminated with red and green candles.
The following program was given:
Song—By the club.
Roll call—Christmas Thoughts.
Marimba solos—"Brahm's Lullaby" and "Silent Night"—Mrs. F. M. Broesamle, accompanied by Mrs. B. I. Plankell.
Readings—Rev. R. W. Barber.
Song and Carols by the club.
Musical numbers by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Johnson.
Gifts from Santa Claus.

PRESENT GIFTS TO HOSPITAL

About sixty gifts were contributed.

While Shepherds Watched

Night Ag School Will Start Here January 4

An evening school on "Livestock Feeding," will open Wednesday evening, January 4 in the Agricultural room of Chelsea high school. Sessions will start at 8:00 o'clock and continue until 10 o'clock.
Several farmers met December 15 in the Agricultural room with such purpose in view. After much discussion as to a subject for instruction, it was agreed that "Feeding of Farm Animals" would be the subject of the first six or eight meetings.
The school will be held on each Wednesday evening. Instruction will be given by Roy Wallis, vocational agricultural instructor, or extension specialists. Classes will begin promptly. The probable length of the course is fifteen weeks.
Anyone wishing to attend is especially urged to be present at all meetings because of the class correlation of subject matter. Bring notebooks.

The officers of the evening school are: President, Geo. Brettschneider; vice-president, Geo. McClure, Jr.; secretary and treasurer, R. W. Wallis.
The following were present at the organization meeting: Goldie Tippet, Henry Heim, Earl Heim, A. N. Schweinfurth, Harold Koch, Adrian Kise, Gordon Van Riper, George McClure, Jr., Alvin Reinhardt, George Brettschneider and Joe Merkel.
Call your friends who may be interested and bring them in for the January 4th meeting. Subject: "Principles of Feeding."

KIDDIES' PARTY TONIGHT

The annual Kiddies' Christmas party, sponsored by the American Legion will be held at the public school gym tonight, starting at 7:00 o'clock. There will be entertainment galore, and Santa Claus will distribute gifts.

Streets Will Be Closed To Permit Coasting

Action was taken at the regular meeting of the common council on Monday evening to arrange for roping off streets suitable for coasting so that children of the village may enjoy this sport in safety.
It was decided that the best streets for this purpose are East street from Washington street intersection south and around the curve onto Van Buren street, and West Summit street from Garfield to Chandler street. These places will be roped off evenings, Saturdays, Sundays and holidays when conditions are right for coasting.
While some motorists may complain about the negligible amount of inconvenience which will be caused by closing these streets, it is believed the majority of people will agree that this action by the council is very commendable and a step in the right direction in providing safe places for children to play.
At the Monday evening meeting the council voted to purchase several school zone warning signs which will be placed near the public and parochial schools in an effort to educate motorists in the practice of safe driving in the vicinity of the schools.

VANDALISM CONTINUES
Petty vandalism seems to be on the increase in Chelsea each year at Christmas-time. During the past several years when the streets have been decorated with lighted trees many bulbs have been stolen from the trees but this year the thefts have not been confined to bulbs, entire strings of lights having been taken from several of the trees. If this practice continues it is feared that merchants and others providing lights for the trees will hesitate about so doing unless they are given some assurance that the decorations will not be molested.

NOTICE, LIMA TAXPAYERS
I will be at the Chelsea State Bank on Saturday afternoon, December 31, and every Saturday afternoon until further notice.

MARY TONEY,
Lima Twp. Treas.

DEPUTY AUDITOR GENERAL

The well known team of Brown and Hartman will step into double harness again on January 2 when Gus T. Hartman assumes the job of deputy auditor general of Michigan alongside Vernon J. Brown, auditor general elect, who last week announced the selection of his former house colleague as chief aid and assistant. The combination of Brown and Hartman is not unknown in state affairs. Both are veteran members of the house of representatives. Their names were associated much during the 1933 session of the legislature when they jointly introduced on the opening day of the session more than a hundred bills, all aimed at reducing state expense, and the cost of administering government, both state and local.

In commenting upon his choice of deputy, the incoming auditor general said, "I have promised drastic reductions in the cost of operating my own department and close auditing of every item which goes through that department for payment. In addition to this I expect to institute a greatly improved system of accounting and expect to give much attention to my duties as a member of the state administrative board and the board of sales tax administration. Obviously I must have a deputy on whom I can depend and one familiar with the details of the department. In my opinion no man in Michigan, available for appointment, fills these requirements so closely as Gus T. Hartman. We have worked together before. We know each other well and hold each other mutually in high regard. The people of Michigan may expect a smooth running department, tuned to efficient operation and prompt service to the public."

treasurer-elect, have declared in press statements that they did.

During the campaign the Democrats were on the receiving end of contributions from state employees. Obviously someone must donate money to finance a campaign. It has been customary for years for politicians to get a substantial share from friends whom they have placed on public payrolls.

But civil service "dirt" will not fly until next month when the legislature convenes here. To air the evidence, now, so Thomson explains, would be to place certain state employees in jeopardy of losing their jobs.

Treasurer-elect Dunkel, declining to appear before the civil service commission, explained:

"A more appropriate opportunity will present itself later for a correction of the condition which prompted my complaint."

In two years the tug-of-war will be probably reversed. The Democrats may be charging civil service violations, and the Republicans denying them.

By making a case against the Democrats this year, Republicans will be putting themselves in a position not to perpetrate such wrongs in 1940. Perhaps the public will have forgotten all about it by then. Perhaps virtue will triumph. Who knows?

No Prize on Market
The sheepshead, sometimes called the "white perch" of the Great Lakes, feeds almost entirely on crustaceans and insects. Its flesh is tough and coarse, and not highly prized on the market.

SCOUTS ENROLL FOR CAMP

It won't be long now, Chelsea Scouts are already beginning to enroll for the Polar Bear Camp to be held the last four days of 1938 at the Newkirk Reservation, near Dexter. This camp, which is limited to 40 boys will be under the management of Assistant Scout Executive Edward M. Danaher.

Scouts will live in heated cabins and will eat in the main lodge building of the camp. The program will consist of various kinds of recreation, with an emphasis upon scout training in the leadership and scouting skills. It is expected that several scouts from Chelsea will attend.

Fitzgerald made a speech in Detroit during the primary campaign that was interpreted by Detroit daily papers as a near outright endorsement of the Townsend scheme. Later the Grand Lodge citizen hedged a little on the claim of "endorsement."

To Michigan dries the election result was also pleasing. D. L. McBride, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league, points to the popular vote given to Luren D. Dickinson of Charlotte for lieutenant governor. Dickinson is president of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league.

Fitzgerald's position pleasing to the dries was a pledge to recommend removal of the state from the retail liquor business. Liquor would be cleared through state warehouses.

Nine tenths of the people who read this story will not enjoy it; the other one tenth are blind.

When I was nearing eighteen my father (the cur) decided that I should take a train ride. I packed my bags, two paper sacks, and was escorted by my father and small family of ten, to the depot. I had never seen a train before and when I saw that black demon snorting smoke and making noises like a mad bull, I turned about and went dashing for home, only to be caught in a short while by my father. Before my father was able to get me to board the train, he had to blindfold and gag me. Once on board the train, I regained my courage and stood up by a window to wave my father, my brothers, my sisters, my aunts and uncles (I could keep this up for hours) good-bye. As I stood up, the train jumped from beneath my feet, and I made a forced landing on an elderly lady's lap. Immediately my face turned crimson and I apologized as best I could and removed myself from her lap. I walked over to an empty seat this time and sat down.

I must have fallen asleep, for when I awoke there was no one in the coach in which I was sitting. I got up and began to search about the train, and I found every one in what was called a dining car (I never found out why they called it this; it looked more like a free-for-all with food for the prize). I found an empty table and sat down; a waiter came and I ordered T-bone steak (whatever that is). When the meal arrived, I went right to work. I took out my jack-knife and was about to cut a piece of meat when the about went sliding across to the opposite side of the table. After this happened several times, I became disgusted and took a nail from my pocket and nailed the steak to the table. After that I had very little trouble with the meal.

When night came I crawled up into an upper berth. I let my feet dangle over the side of the bunk while I undressed. The man in the bunk below called a porter and told him his bunk needed fumigating. After successfully undressing and getting into bed (with only four vertebrae sprained) I quickly went to sleep.

The next morning I found myself in the aisle (I guess that explains those four broken ribs and lame neck). At the next stop I left the train and walked back home.

If I ever want to commit suicide I'll take another train ride.

A Friend In Need, Is a Friend Indeed (By Barbara Schenk)

As we ambled down the seemingly plague-haunted street, we came upon a small, deer-eyed dog, lying under a snow-hung oak, cold, hungry, and whimpering for food. As we carried the sore-tired dog home, we couldn't help but notice the beautiful low-drooping pine boughs winter-weighted and the frost-lined leaves which were autumn-brown from previous frosts. We fed the dog and put him to bed but through the night we kept a close watch over him; and as the slow training dawn appeared and light-sifted snow flakes again began to fall, we felt that the dog had improved and so we thankfully went to bed.

OUR NEIGHBORS

DEXTER—Max Ziegler, a member of the firm of Weber and Steeb, purchased the prize Angus steer from Carl Lesser at the annual 4-H club show, held at the Detroit stock yards last week. When dressed, this beef will be on display in the show window of the Weber and Steeb market where all customers may have an opportunity to guess the weight of this beef. Leader.

PLYMOUTH—Water-soaked and slightly decayed, old sections of a wooden water-main which is believed to have been used on the original Pennington farm at least 75 years ago were unearthed this week by workers laying sanitary sewer pipe at the intersection of Irving and Blanch streets. The mains were of a very rough type, unlike those found in Detroit some time ago. The Detroit wooden mains were hewn on the outside so that they were rounded and smooth, but the old Plymouth mains apparently were only rough cut, as the outsides were knotty and only roughly trimmed of branches. The diameter of the hole which carried the water is about two inches. Stanley Corbett said he believed that the logs had been bored with a hot iron. The sections of the main ran three feet or more in length. There used to be an old well at about the location where the logs were discovered, Mr. Elliott said.—Mail.

JACKSON—The age of 70 marks the end of services rendered by teachers in Jackson's public schools so it was ruled by the board of education of the Union school district in its recent meeting. If teachers attain the age of 70 before the renewal of contracts for the 1939-40 school year, appointments to faculty positions will be refused by the board.—Evening Star.

Wishing You a Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year

The spirit of Christmas is in the air. We can feel the bustle and stir, happy faces and the mirth and glee of little children as they talk of Old Saint Nick and look forward to his annual visit. Even the older folks await in eager expectation his coming on Christmas Eve.

We must not, however, forget the real meaning of Christmas. We must remember that we are commemorating the birth of the Christ child and make this a season of unselfish giving and service to others.

May the joy of Christmas be yours and may you have a New Year of Happiness. We appreciate your business and hope we may have the pleasure of continuing to serve you in a more efficient manner in the New Year of 1939.

As Nurse Koyle slowly wheeled Mrs. Baldwin's chair through the dining room to the appointed place at the staff table, the family joyously sang "Happy Birthday to You".

A large birthday cake, bearing a tall lighted wax candle, was placed before her as she ate her specially prepared birthday dinner. The staff table was also favored with the presence of the youngest member of the family, wee Barbara Leeson, who bestowed many smiles and inviting gestures on Mrs. Baldwin. When the meal was over, Dr. Leeson moved Barbara's high chair to the side of Mrs. Baldwin, brought out his camera, and made pictures of our oldest and our youngest, both of whom looked radiantly happy. Then Mrs. Baldwin blew out the candles, took her birthday cake on her lap to serve to her friends and neighbors on the second floor, and was rolled cheerily away to her room. We are glad to say that she was none the worse for her dissipation. Mrs. Baldwin has been a member of the Home family for about twelve years.

On Sunday afternoon the Home was visited by a large Bible class group from the St. Paul's M. E. church in Highland Park. This was their thirty-first consecutive visit as they have come regularly each year on the Sunday before Christmas and the Sunday before Mother's Day. CYRUS A. UPDIKE

Cyrus A. Updike, 95 years of age, a former resident of Chelsea, died Wednesday night, December 14, in Cassopolis, at the home of his son, Earl, with whom he had resided since 1926.

He was born at Grass Lake, July 4, 1843, and was married to Mrs. Janet Craig, who died in May, 1915. Mr. Updike heard Abraham Lincoln speak at Jackson, and saw the first railroad train arrive in that city. During the Civil War he attempted to enlist in the Union army but was refused because he was crippled.

Mr. Updike is survived by his son, a brother, Alonzo, and a sister, Minnie, both of Grass Lake; a step-daughter, Mrs. S. P. Foster of Chelsea; a granddaughter, Mrs. Marian Beck of Detroit; two great-grandchildren; three nieces, Mrs. W. S. Davidson of Chelsea, Mrs. Hattie Fletcher of Mason and Miss Bertha Spaulding of Sylvan; and two nephews, Edw. S. and Warren Spaulding of Sylvan.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at one o'clock at the Plankell funeral home, with Rev. R. W. Barber officiating. Interment was in Oak Grove cemetery.

Here is another question against which to check your driving habits: Should a car which is following another at 85 miles an hour leave more space between this car and the one ahead than he would if the rate of speed of both cars were 20 miles an hour?

What is your answer? What do you do?

Here is the correct answer: Yes, a car traveling 20 miles an hour can be stopped in approximately 39 feet (2-wheel brakes) or 20 feet (4-wheel brakes). At 35 miles an hour the stopping distances are 120 feet (2-wheel brakes) and 61 feet (4-wheel brakes). These figures will vary with drivers, cars, and the condition of the roads; but the fact remains that a car traveling 30 miles an hour cannot be stopped as quickly as one traveling 20 miles an hour, consequently, more space should be left between cars when they are traveling at a greater rate of speed.

The Sylvan Center school Christmas program will be held Tuesday, December 20, at 8:00 p. m. Everyone welcome.

Especially the boys who had to carry water.
We had our county tests and we passed in almost everything. The seventh grade passed good in all subjects.
We are very busy getting ready for our Christmas program.
Our advanced beginners have become first graders. They are reading so well, it won't take long to get through our book.

CHILDREN IN COURT

Judge Malcolm Hatfield
The Air Gun Evil
Judges are convinced that the boy who becomes proficient in the operation of an air gun does not find it difficult later on to acquire the skill necessary to handle a rifle or machine gun effectively. In fact, on numerous occasions the use of toy guns has been known to instill in the adolescent mind a desire for a real weapon.
While it may be amusing for thoughtless parents to witness small children re-enacting a robbery, hanging, or Indian massacre, there is danger that such children will continue to act out these parts when they become adults. Wise parents not only prohibit their children from tuning in on radio programs descriptive of crime, but they also supervise the types of motion pictures their children are allowed to see. A concerted movement is now under way in the United States to bar all toys, which might in any manner tend to depict war or crime, from interstate commerce, and to substitute in their place character building activities such as advocated and practiced by the Boy Scouts, the Y. M. C. A. and other praiseworthy movements.

Mail for Western Reserve
The first mail route touching the Western Reserve ran from Pittsburgh to Warren, Ohio. The route went through Beavertown, Georgetown, Canfield and Youngstown. The contract provided the carrier was to get $3.50 per mile per year.

This destruction is a consequence of the rapid heating of the rock during the day, followed by rapid cooling through radiation after sunset."

Science Digest says: "In the deserts and upon the mountain tops the sun's rays can shatter solid rock, breaking it into fragments and covering the ground with an accumulation of rocky debris. This destruction is a consequence of the rapid heating of the rock during the day, followed by rapid cooling through radiation after sunset."

AMAZED SANTA CLAUS FINDS 33 STOCKINGS IN MARYLAND HOME!

LEONARDTOWN, MD.—No less than 33 stockings are hung by the chimney with care each Christmas eve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Y. Sterling here.

The couple has 17 children, who with the grandchildren and in-laws add up to the grand total of 33.

Santa Claus can hardly see the fireplace for the stockings when he slides down the chimney. But he never fails to fill them all. In the years since he started visiting the Sterling home, Santa has found that another caller, the stork, also has the Sterling address in his book.

Each year there has been a "new addition" to the Sterling household, or in the homes of their children. As Santa's burden has become greater he has cheerfully risen to the needs and found plenty of toys and other "goodies" to go around.

But he has to replenish his supply after each visit to the Sterling home.
