department is on the job 24 hours a day, 200 employees working in eight-hour shifts.

The State of Michigan operated the locks from 1855 to 1881, and a toll was charged to cover operating and repair expenses as the state now does for the ferry service at the Straits. Even at the small tollage in those days, tolls amounted to nearly $800,000.

If the State of Michigan were still in the canal business (shippers are thankful that it isn't), and if tolls were still charged at the rate prevailing today for the Panama canal, the state's income would have been over $78,000,000 for 1929 and $81,840,000 for 1933.

Under the 1881 federal act transferring the locks from state to federal ownership, it was provided that the waterway shall be free for public use.

Mecca for Tourists

Sault Ste. Marie is an annual mecca for tens of thousands of tourists, especially during the hay fever season. Because not a rag-weed grows within 100 miles of the Sault, this region is the paradise of the hay fever and asthma victims.

The Sault is almost entirely surrounded by water. The prevailing direction of the wind is from the northwest, off Lake Superior, which Paul Bunyon would proudly proclaim is the largest body of fresh water in the world.

The concentration of hay fever sufferers has been so heavy that a national club has been formed—the C-A-Choo club of the Hay Fever Association of America, with headquarters here.

Because also of the always fascinating locks, this northern Michigan city has received a heavy influx of tourists. Within the past year tourist cabins have doubled in number, attracting many persons who formerly sought accommodations at hotels or in private homes. The latter two groups are beginning to complain. Modernization of hotel accommodations is said to be the next-needed development to keep pace with changing times. Deluxe cabins can be found today in the Upper Peninsula.

Sagas of Early America

Here is a country rich in historical lore.

It was at the Soo that the first white man, Jean Nicolet, stopped in 1634 while on his way to find China.

It was here that Fr. Marquette established the first Christian church in 1668, and it was here that St. Lussan in 1671 in the name of King Louis XIV took over all the lands that subsequently became British when nations were in the making.

It was at the Soo also that Henry Schoolcraft, Indian agent, married the daughter of John Johnston, first English settler, and his Indian princess-wife, and later wrote Indian history that gave Longfellow his material for Hiawatha.

In this poem "Bowating" is Sault Ste. Marie and refers to the rapids in the St. Mary's river. "Gitchi Gomee" is Lake Superior.

Michigan's Upper Peninsula is the background for the only sagas which America has mothered—Hiawatha and Paul Bunyon. Paul's birthplace is proudly claimed by the "Soo" whose citizens claim that it was on the old McNeerney farm site, just around a bend in the river from Hiawatha's shipyard.

Seven Wonders

As the ancient world is said to possess "seven wonders", so the Upper Peninsula lays claim to seven spots of distinction.

First are the ship locks and canals at the "Soo" which overcome nature's obstacle of a drop of 20 feet between Lake Superior and St. Mary's river in the distance of only a mile or so.

Second is Isle Royale, 50 miles out in Lake Superior and now a federal park that merits the Bunyonesque description of being the "last bit of aboriginal, virgin nature in the Northwest." The National Park service is building docks and a few trails, but the intention is to let Nature alone and keep the island in as primitive state as possible. Here is the American's largest moose herd. Scores of prehistoric mining pits are a puzzle to antiquarians.

Third wonder is the huge copper mining plant of Calumet and Hecla, whose shafts contain some of the deepest telephone and railroad installations in the world. This mine is located in the picturesque Keweenaw peninsula whose rocky shores along Lake Superior rival those of New England for sheer grandeur and rugged beauty.

Fourth wonder are the Porcupine mountains and the Lake of the Clouds, reached from Ontonagon. Here is the highest elevation anywhere in the central west. Mountains in Michigan? Yes, it is true.

The fifth wonder is Tahquamenon Falls in a state park reached only by a boat trip down the river. The visitor drives to Soo Junction (off M-28) and takes a "Toonerville Trolley" to the river at Hunter's Mill. There he boards the Tahquamenon "show boat" for a 20-mile trip to the falls, a 40-foot drop of amber water, the second largest tataract east of the Mississippi river, being rivaled only by Niagara Falls.

Next is Kitch-iti-ki-pi, a big boiling spring near Manistiquet, called by the Ojibway Indians, "The Mirror of the Evening Star."

The "Pictured Rocks" near Munising complete the series. Near these rock formations along Lake Superior are the Nakag Wudjoo sand dunes in the vicinity of Grand Marais.

Straits Bridge

The "Soo" city, as you might guess, is an ardent booster for the proposed Straits bridge. It would mean much to this border metropolis, regardless of how it might affect the towns of St. Ignace and Mackinaw City. Some persons believe a bridge would ruin both terminal towns which now get a good slice of trade from tourists while they wait for the state ferry boats.

Personally, we always look forward to the restful boat trip across the Straits. It is a genuine tourist attraction, a welcome respite from hours behind an automobile wheel. But it admittedly requires time, and that means a lot to permanent residents in this Upper Peninsula country that belongs to Michigan and thinks in terms of Lansing for its state government.

Children In Court

By Judge Malcolm Hatfield

Slaving Mother

A mother complained to the court that her two daughters, who were respectively thirteen and fifteen years old, refused to come home after school, and often stayed out late at night. They refused to obey her and she had no way of knowing what they did when they were away from home.

The probation officer called at their home on a Saturday morning about ten o'clock and found both girls in bed reading while their mother was cleaning the house. It is no surprise that these youngsters were insolent and disobedient when their own mother failed to properly train and discipline them.

Any mother who waits hand and foot on her children and always addresses them in a pleading tone of voice must expect disrespect and disobedience. This particular woman was continually catering to her girls to keep them amiable and would rather make a slave of herself than hear them grumble. Habits of work, discipline and respect must be instilled in children if they are to become worthy members of the family and of society. These girls were already misfits at home, failing to live up to their proper family standards, and were rapidly developing into social misfits. They were of the type that would eventually run to the divorce court whenever a husband complained of their slipshod methods of housekeeping.

Question And Answer Dept.

Problem—Do you know that there were no men or women born in this country during the last 12 months? How come? (Answer elsewhere in this department.)

Ques.—In an old ancient history book the word "payvese" is used. Can you tell me in your excellent paper what the word means?—J. N.

Ans.—"Payvese" is an obsolete variation of "Favis." Favis is a large shield covering the whole body, and was used by warriors during the Middle Ages. It is now applied to any protective screen used in warfare.

Ques.—Is the Parliament Building in London the largest building in the world?

Ans.—No and yes. The building is only six stories high, but it covers about eight acres of land. It has two lofty towers (one at each end) in one of which is held a huge clock popularly known as "Big Ben."

Ques.—Why is the word "utopian" applied to Socialists?

Ans.—Utopian is an adjective pertaining to Utopia, an imaginary island in which was found the utmost perfection in laws, politics and social order. The term has since been applied to Socialists because it is claimed their scheme for the improvement of society is not practicable.

Answer to problem—Because only babies are born.

Ques.—Will you please answer what is the origin of the term "The wandering Jew"?

Ans.—The Wandering Jew is the name of a novel by Eugene Sue. The chief character is an imaginary person in a legend connected with the history of Christ's Passion.

Ques.—How many minutes are there in a hundred years?

Ans.—The number of minutes in one hundred years is 52,560,000.

Ques.—In derision a man continually refers to me as a Nick Bottom. What does he mean?

Ans.—No doubt he means you are profoundly ignorant and with an overflow of self-conceit. Nick Bottom is a character in Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream," who fancies he can do everything, and do it better than anyone else.

Ques.—What took place that caused the battlecry "Remember the Alamo" to become immortal?

Ans.—In the war for Texas independence from Mexico Col. David Crockett and Col. James Bowie, with their bands of fighting Texans, converted the Alamo into a fort and held out for two weeks in the face of an overwhelming Mexican army which continually assailed them. The Alamo only yielded when all the defenders were slain but five; these were captured by the Mexicans and cruelly slain. Thereafter "Remember the Alamo" became the Texan war cry.

Ques.—What are the elements that make water? And how is the water formed?

Ans.—Water consists of two gases—hydrogen and oxygen. Hydrogen is that gas which is used to fill balloons, and oxygen is the gas which we breathe. Water is a combination of these two gases—not a mere mixture of them. Two atoms of hydrogen firmly united to one atom of oxygen, and, presto, you have water.

Ques.—Is it true that a snake can milk a cow? I have a friend who says he has seen a blue-racer milking a cow.

Ans.—No. Snakes do not drink milk. Most of them are carnivorous—those of the temperate zone feeding on small rodents, toads, bugs, etc., and those of the tropics eat only what they themselves kill or those which they can swallow alive. (Probably your friend was reading "Gulliver's Travels.")

Ginseng Producing States
New York, Wisconsin, Missouri and Ohio lead in the production of ginseng.

Sacrifice to Euphony

For the first time toward the end of the summer of 1881 President Wilson signed his name Woodrow Wilson. Ray Stannard Baker says that "after going through all the pronunciations and combinations of Tommy and Tom, T. Wilson, Thomas T. Wilson, T. W. Wilson and T. Woodrow Wilson, the last of the Thomases drops away, sacrificed on the altar of euphony."

Chinook Winds

The chinook is a wind which blows from west or north over the Rocky mountains, where it descends as a dry wind, warm in winter and cool in summer. It is due to a cyclone passing northward and continues for a few hours to several days. In Oregon and Washington the term is sometimes applied to a warm, moist southwest wind. The wind was so called by the white settlers of Astoria because it came from the direction of the Chinook camp.

Blind Men's Village
Veternik, Yugoslavia, established by the government for its veterans in 1928, is one of the world's strangest villages because none of its husbands have ever seen their wives. Like their homes, their wives were selected for them after they were blinded in the World war.Peddler's Trees 100 Years Old
A century ago, a peddler toured Maine coastal towns with a load of balm o' Gilead trees, claiming that a healing salve could be made from the leaves. That's how Noah Tibbets of Brooklyn knows the approximate age of the balm o' Gilead trees on his lawn, for his mother, who bought the original trees, was born in 1822.Quarter Horse
A quarter horse is a horse trained to run a quarter of a mile from a standing start. Such horses were usually not thoroughbreds, but were owned by farmers who raced them at picnics or county fairs. One of these sturdy racers named Bob Wade still holds the world official record of 21 1/4 seconds for 2 furlongs.

A checkup of the nation's fatalities for 1938 is convincing proof that the pedestrian could materially improve that record by being careful.

Almost 40 per cent of the automobile fatalities last year were pedestrians. The automobile driver is not always to blame. The pedestrian sometimes puts the driver in a very precarious situation by "dumb" walking. In some sections of the country, special campaigns and safety drives are being made to educate the pedestrian on safe conduct on our streets and highways.

Walk when you have the lights with you. Do not cross streets in the center of the block—cross at intersections. Do not jay-walk.

CHELSEA

We are happy to include Chelsea in our Natural Gas served territory.

This neighboring community will soon enjoy the same modern Natural Gas service as Ann Arbor, thus joining other leading Michigan cities—Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Lansing, Saginaw, Bay City and Detroit—in the advantages of this fine, clean, dependable fuel. All told, more than 4,000 American communities are now Natural Gas served.

In anticipation of this new service, we extend a cordial greeting to our Chelsea customers and assure them a gas service equal to the finest available anywhere.

The gas will come from Kansas and Texas Natural Gas fields, which are among the largest in the world. Plenty of gas is available for many years to come. Plan to use it for the four major home needs... cooking, water heating, refrigerating and house heating.

The Canteen recently purchased some music which is to be used by the Music Study club. The Student Council, with the aid of the music club, has planned the musical comedy hit "The Womanless Wedding". The production is to be given early in September and promises to be side-splitting entertainment.

THE year Paul Bunyan established his lumber camp on the Big Onion river he had a great deal of trouble with rats and mice. They ate up the scraps of buffalo milk pancakes that Big Joe, his camp cook, made and grew to be as big as two-year-old bears.

So Paul sent over to Michigan and got a pup that was part wolf and part elephant hound and began feeding him on bear milk. In a little while this pup, whom Paul named Sport, was big enough to clean up all the rats and mice around the camp, so Paul decided to send him after bigger game. He trained Sport to become a mouse terror and all Big Joe had to say was "Sport, go out and get me a mouse of mouse," and Sport would do it.

One night Sport was playing around the horse barn when Paul mistook him for a mouse. Quick as a flash he hurled an ax at the animal and to his horror found that he had cut Sport in two. Quickly realizing his mistake, Paul picked up the two halves, stuck them together, gave the dog first aid and bandaged him up with strips torn from 87 horse blankets.

The next morning Paul discovered that in his haste he had twisted Sport's two halves so that the hind legs pointed straight up. But this proved to be an advantage after all, for the dog learned to run on two legs a while, then flop over without loss of speed and run on the other two.

Sport was a good trailer, too. Once when he was out in the woods with Paul they discovered the skeleton of a mouse that had died of old age. Just out of curiosity Paul picked up the back tracks of the mouse and showed them to Sport. So the dog started back over the mouse's trail, and before sunset he had led Paul clear back to the place where the mouse was born.

Swimmers' Itch Will Soon Be Eradicated

Lansing—Officials warning on the "swimmer's itch" which has been bothering bathers at Michigan beaches for two seasons, have found the range and it remains just a question of time before the parasite will be so reduced in number as to cause much less trouble.

This is the opinion of officials representing the five state agencies cooperating in the treatment work. They issued the statement after reviewing results of work done so far this summer.

They said methods and chemicals now being used can reduce the possibility of infection and that each season's efforts adds to the inroads made against the irksome "itch" parasite.

Inspection of beaches that were treated in experimental work last summer showed, in a significant number of cases, reduced prevalence of the difficulty. Likewise, officials stated, this summer's work has increased the toll taken of the "itch" parasite and the snail from which the parasite is developed.

While it is possible to exterminate the infecting snails and parasites on a bathing beach with one season's treatment, wave action in a lake may cause large-scale movements of the infecting agents and result in recurrence of the difficulty the following season, with the possibility of reduced quantity each successive time.

The campaign this summer is being conducted by a field crew operating out of the University of Michigan biological station at Douglas lake, Cheboygan county. Sponsoring the work are: the Michigan Stream Control Commission, Michigan Department of Health, Department of Conservation, University of Michigan and Michigan State College bacteriological department.

The field work is financed from special legislative funds obtained to carry on the work begun in 1938 when first outbreaks were given treatment. The current program is designed to determine a safe and practical means of relief, with the idea that public and private beach operators can, in the future, treat their own waters if necessary.

Our Neighbors

Manchester—The old Kelly home-stead on US-112 just east of St. Joseph's church has been torn down and the land will be used as a Catholic cemetery and as a site for a new community house. The land, some 50 acres was given by Mrs. Edward Kelly. The house was over 100 years old and was a familiar sight to travelers on that road. Much of the lumber from the house was taken to Cambridge Junction to be used in constructing a new house. —Enterprise.

The road follows US-127 through Ingham county. —County News.

Stockbridge—In view of an increase in enrollment of over 25 per cent in the Stockbridge schools over the past four year period, the Board of Education has found it advisable to add an additional teacher to the staff. Miss Martha Tost of Tekonsha, Mich. has been employed to fill the position. During the past school year more than 100 of the students in high school were non-residents from outlying districts. —Brief-Sun.

HINT-OF-THE-DAY

Care of the Hair
Not all women can afford the luxury of having their hair done by a professional every week. But with a little practice, you can do a professional job yourself.

Cleanliness of the hair is the first requisite. This means a good shampoo at regular intervals. Then choose a hairdress that you can handle yourself. Stay away from anything elaborate or extreme. That requires a really professional touch.

If you want curls, make them few and substantial. The trick combs that curl and comb at the same time are a big help. For grooming, the maker of one of these combs has a quick drying lacquer that makes an excellent setting fluid. The bottle has an atomizer, permitting you to spray the lacquer where you want it.

This lacquer helps tremendously with the new high-hair-do. Spray it on the stragglers at the back of your neck and comb them flat. Your hair will stay in place for a long time.

F. F. A. Tours North

On Monday morning, July 31 eight F. F. A. boys, equipped with tents and camping equipment, left Chelsea for a tour of northern Michigan.

Drivers of the two cars taking the group were Roy Wallis, who is leaving Chelsea to teach in Durand, and Thomas Bust, the new agriculture teacher at Chelsea. The boys making the trip were Warren Heim, Roland Heim, Ormal Schiller, Bill Heurion, Martin Merkel, John Stofor, Wilbur Beeman and Joe Kastle.

The cars left Chelsea and toured the east side of the state, arriving at Cedarville on Monday evening, where camp was to be made. Tuesday was spent in organizing the camp and in picking a supply of blueberries and raspberries. Wednesday was spent swimming and playing ball. On Thursday everyone went perch fishing in one large fishing boat. Seventy perch were caught by the boys and one black bass was caught by Roland Heim. At noon the group, with the assistance of the guide, enjoyed an open air fish fry on LaSalle Island. In the afternoon the boys went by boat to Hessel to watch the Les Cheneaux Boat Regatta. On Friday a trip was made to Sault Ste. Marie to observe the locks and continuing over into Canada to see the Crystal Falls.

On Saturday the group came home by the west coast and passing through the Traverse City fruit belt. All the boys heartily enjoyed the trip which in addition gave them an excellent opportunity to become acquainted with their new teacher, Mr. Bust.

Violets for Lunch

In the Middle Ages, violets were a regular item on the menu, and stewed roses made a dish that every hostess knew. Mahomet said: "If thou hast a loaf of bread, sell half and buy the flowers of the narcissus; for bread nourisheth the body, but the narcissus, the soul."

Furniture Facts

With more than $1,000,000,000 spent annually in the United States for furniture and household appliances, according to a recent trade survey, it is indicated that the average American family spends approximately $45 a year furnishing its home.

Imprisoned Authors

Marco Polo, while imprisoned at Genoa, dictated the famous account of his travels. Cervantes planned and wrote "Don Quixote" while a prisoner at Seville. Sir Walter Raleigh, during his imprisonment, wrote a history of the world. Leigh Hunt's "The Story of Rimini"; John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress," and Oscar Wilde's "De Profundis" and "The Ballad of Reading Goal" are other instances.

The "poor wise man"

ONCE, LONG AGO, "there was a little city," which was besieged by a great king, and in this city there dwelt a "poor wise man" who by his wisdom delivered the city. So we are told by the writer of Ecclesiastes, who further declares that "the words of wise men are heard in quiet more than the cry of him that ruieth among fools," and also, that "wisdom is better than weapons of war" (Ecclesiastes 9:14, 15, 17, 18). The latter statement is echoed today by spiritual thinkers in many lands, and wiser ways of handling world problems are being sought. It is increasingly evident that many are recognizing the futility of war as a means of settling national or international problems.

The teachings of Christianity have always been opposed to war, and yet in the long centuries since Christ Jesus preached the gospel of peace on earth and good will to men, there has been unceasing warfare. The ages have advanced slowly in the apprehension and demonstration of spiritual truth. It took many long years of education and enlightenment before the practice of slavery was abolished in civilized countries. To abolish the barbarism of war demands the united effort of all who are interested in the progress of civilization.

War is pagan—uncivilized, idolatrous. Peace is Godlike, spiritual, and, in the best sense, civilized. Centuries ago, the prophet Micah proclaimed the coming of the true peace to the world when he said of God (Micah 4:3): "He shall judge among nations afar off; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks; nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." This ideal of peace between nations and peoples can be realized as the individuals who comprise them gain a more correct sense of God and man, and a demonstrable understanding of the omniscience of God, good.

There is no doubt that the way of righteousness is one that requires great wisdom, not only in international affairs but also in the affairs of individuals. False beliefs of greed, competition, jealousy, domination and racial prejudice are some of the causes of war, and these beliefs must be overcome in individual and collective consciousness. The apostle James, in his wise epistle, writes (1:5): "If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him; and he further defines divine wisdom thus (3:17): "The wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be intreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality, and without hypocrisy."

There is a sharp distinction between divine wisdom and the ways and means of worldly wisdom. A characteristic of true wisdom is that it is unselfish; it desires the good of all mankind. It is compassionate, tolerant, and forgiving. In "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" Mary Baker Eddy writes (p. 276): "No wisdom is wise but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is life, but the divine; no good is good, but the good God bestows." To desire this divine wisdom, and to seek it diligently, not only enriches our lives but enables us to work out our human problems.

To seek and find divine wisdom, one must be willing to give up self-importance, self-love, and intellectual pride, and learn to be humble. There is no task so important to one's spiritual welfare as the pursuit of divine wisdom. Our greatest need is to learn to pray the Christianly scientific prayer that acknowledges the supremacy of God, good, and the consequent nothingness of evil. This prayer of affirmation enables us to know that nothing can hinder the right way, the wise way, from being revealed to us, now to meet the present need, constant reminder of spiritual reality is the "Daily Prayer" from the Manual of The Mother Church (Art. VIII, Sect. 4) by Mrs. Eddy: "Thy kingdom come; let the reign of divine Truth, Life, and Love be established in me, and rule out of me all sin; and may Thy Word enrich the affections of all mankind, and govern them!"—The Christian Science Monitor.

An Unknown Quantity

Algebra would be easy if "x" were not the "unknown quantity."

You know what quality is, you know what value is... but you puzzle over what comes between them and price. The "x" in that problem is indirect distribution; lack of control of production.

There is no algebra in shopping from the ads in this newspaper. Quality offered is a known quantity. It is so plain that you see it. It is so tangible that you keep it.

Ring 'Round Rosy

IN MILAN, TENN., where a specialty is claimed for watermelons, fine baseball clubs and tomato crops, they brag about their fat girl.

This lady, according to Bruce Oliver, was the most enormous gal inhabiting West Tennessee.

Nobody knew her name, said Bruce, because no one ever got that close to her. Just in fun he called her Rosy. She came over to Milan from the nearby town of McKenzie and almost immediately was besieged with suitors. The most persistent of these was Bruce himself.

He used to visit the damsel, sit out on the porch with her and feed her ice cream from a double freezer. When the bottom of the freezer was reached, Bruce, sorely smitten by the fat girl's charms, was inclined to grow serious in his love making. He wasn't disillusioned even when she confessed she slept in a bed strewn with clinders to prevent her rolling off.

Bruce was a persistent cuss, he admitted. In attempting to express his true feelings he would place an arm part way around the fat girl. When he had reached as far as possible he would mark his position with a pink crayon. Then he would move around to the mark, resume a posture of affection, and so gradually encircle the waist of the girl he worshipped.

The romance progressed swimmingly, according to Milan records, until the day Bruce shifted position, crayon in fingers, and bumped into an utter stranger who was chalking his own way around the waist from the opposite direction.

Now Look!
When Talleyrand visited America about 1790 he wrote that he was "struck with astonishment" when he noted, while traveling, that "less than 150 miles distance from the capital all trace of men's presence disappeared." The capital at that time was at Philadelphia.

Netters Take Tarpon
A tarpon, first ever found in North Carolina's Newport river, was landed by commercial fishermen while hauling their net just south of Beaufort. It weighed 31 pounds. Tarpon are frequently taken in nets along the coast, but rarely with rod and reel because no one fishes for them.

TRUTH about ADVERTISING

By CHARLES B. ROTH

OF WHAT CAN A MAN BE PROUD?

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON, a gentle and a good man, asked, in dedicating one of his books to a friend, a question which has but one answer. He asked: "Of what can a man be proud if not of his friends?"

Friendship is the finest thing in human experience, but it is not confined to the narrow limits of one person to another person. There are friendships of different kinds. For example, there are the friendships of business, and they are surely the finest part of business. Just as a man values his personal friends above almost everything else in life, so does a business value its business friendships.

The way a business wins friends is the same way that an individual wins them: by deserving them.

First the business must give its friends value for their money. Second it must keep its word. Third it must not neglect them, else they will leave.

"Friendship," said wise and candid old Doctor Samuel Johnson, "must be kept in repair."

Merchants and manufacturers, realizing this, keep their friendships in repair by going out of the way to give value and service and also by proclaiming their regard for their friends on frequent occasions.

The form of these proclamations is advertising, which appears in the newspaper and tells of the values being offered, of the service available, and of reasons why you can become and remain their customers to your profit and satisfaction.

Business men who advertise realize that friendship is a pleasure, and that it is also a responsibility. Whenever a business man advertises it is a sign that he is seeking the friendship of persons and that he is willing to assume the responsibility of being a good friend.

His advertising is a warranty that he will do his best to be worthy of his friend's confidence by providing the best and the most economical goods. You can't keep friends if you cheat or overcharge.

His advertising is a proof that he values their friendship and intends to be worthy of it. You can't keep friends unless you are willing to live up to your highest ideals, not only for the present, but also for the future.

The advertising in the newspaper is much more than so many commercial announcements. It is an overture toward friendship by a man or a product which means to be worthy of your friendship.
