Youth Conference Will Be Held In Ypsilanti

The 1940 Washtenaw County Youth Conference will be held in Ypsilanti on Sunday, March 31. The decision to accept this invitation of the Ypsilanti delegation was reached at a meeting of the Conference Planning Committee on Saturday in the Ann Arbor Y. W. C. A. Two previous conferences were held in Ann Arbor.

This annual conference is held under the auspices of the County Council of Churches and Religious Education with Rev. Edward Lantz of First Methodist church, Ann Arbor, as chairman. Cooperating with the Council are the young people's societies of the churches, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., 4-H Clubs, Boy Scouts, Dunbar Center, and student councils and clubs in the high schools of the county.

The theme for the conference is "Youth Looks at Its World." While the theme is broad, the speeches and discussions will center upon those areas of unsolved problems faced by the majority of high school aged youth. Chief among these appear choice of vocation, achieving pleasing personalities, boy and girl relations, adjustment in the home, use of leisure time, giving expression to religious causes of way and ways to peace.

Further perfecting of plans and clearing of details will be made when a representative from each club and society cooperating in the conference attends a meeting in the Ypsilanti high school library on Tuesday, March 5.

State Will Apply 10,000 Gallons of Yellow Paint

Lansing—The state highway department is preparing to spread 10,000 gallons of yellow paint as pavement marking warning strips on hard surface state trunklines.

State Highway Commissioner Murray D. Van Wagoner has ordered that all pavement markings be renewed as soon as higher temperatures and dry surfaces permitted.

"It should be called again to the attention of all motorists," the commissioner said, "that these yellow lines are placed on curves and hills to warn them against short sight distances ahead and keep them from passing other vehicles at these danger points. Crossing these yellow lines is a violation of the state law."

Abrasive action of materials used to overcome slippery conditions on the highways during the winter months has dimmed the pavement markings.

Replacement will be done by a machine process with the return of warm weather driving conditions.

The 10,000-gallon supply is expected to last through the 1940 season.

GIVES RECREATION REPORT

At the Kiwanis meeting on Monday evening E. W. Eaton gave a detailed report on the activities of the Community Recreation Committee for the past year.

The club voted to again contribute to the committee for their projects during the year. Wm. G. Robinson of Ann Arbor, district representative of the National Recreation Association, gave an address in which he outlined the benefits of a planned recreational program as a community project.

DRUNK DRIVER ARRESTED

Robert Rudd of Ypsilanti was arrested by Chief of Police W. Grossman on Saturday when his car skidded and struck a car belonging to Lynn Kern which was parked in front of the postoffice. Rudd was charged with drunk driving and was taken to the county jail in Ann Arbor. He pleaded guilty when arraigned before Justice Payne on Monday morning and was fined $50 and $10 costs, or 60 days in jail, and his driver's license was revoked for one year.

LENTEN MESSAGE

By Rev. Darwin Clapper
Pastor Waterloo U. B. Church

John 8:34—Every one who commits sin is a slave.

These words, which John wrote to the persecuted Christians of the second century, still hold great truth for us who today strive to follow Christ.

The common fault of the human race in every generation has been that in spite of all advances, men still fall short of their duty, and to miss the mark of duty is to sin.

He who consistently sins will become a slave of sin. The experience of men has proven these words. It is a dark picture to present, if man is to be left alone with his mistakes and evil deeds. Christ in His living and death offered a prevention and cure for this slavery. He chose to call it righteousness (or right living).

There has been, since the dawn of human conscience, three enslavements from which righteousness will free any man.

The Jew of the time of Christ was a slave to all of the law that had been enacted by his ancestors. For centuries Jews had watched each other fail to do what was right. The cry had gone up, "there ought to be a law." The laws were made, until finally men had bound themselves in the effort to force men to live righteously.

"We are still making laws and men are still breaking them. From the fiendish hunter who shoots anything in sight, to the dealer in war supplies, who profits by the spilling of innocent blood, we try to stop both by law. But to the follower of Christ as he moves among men in all the activities of life there need be no law, for he has a higher principle of living.

The second enslavement is that of the human body. Many a man becomes the fact he has ill health or his physical frame is not properly constructed. But deeper than this, we may become so enslaved to our physical welfare that we are useless to God and society.

There is the example of the person who though financially free cannot enjoy a social hour because there is nothing in the wardrobe that will fit the occasion. There are others who because of physical agony are able to rise above their own affliction. Speaking to the one, Christ urges, "don't be concerned about what you eat and wear, all your efforts cannot rival a single wayside flower." To the latter He offered a healing hand. Jesus condemned over-stuffed wardrobes and stomachs likewise he fought hunger and nakedness. By doing away with both evils, men were to be brought more closely together.

Men again have become slaves to their thinking. Our actions are to a large extent the products of our minds. A mind that is tormented with a single thought becomes ill and unstable. Pure and wholesome, well balanced thought goes a long way in producing a useful citizen.

Christ never turned away from a man who had become a slave to false thinking. The individual was turned to a useful life by the simple act of living right before his God.

In the righteousness of God, man has the tools to combat his own sin.

MISSION SERVICES WILL BE CONDUCTED AT ST. MARY'S

A Mission will be conducted by the Rev. Seraphim Oberhauser, C. P. S. of Fort Wayne, Ind., at St. Mary's church from March 3 to 10, inclusive. Services will be held each evening at 7:30. Everyone is invited to attend the Mission services.

VILLAGE BUYS WINTERS LOT

Village authorities have purchased the vacant property on West Middle street known as the Winters lot, acquiring the property by withholding it from the state tax sale of delinquent property now being held at the county treasurer's office, and paying taxes now due to other governmental agencies.

According to reliable information received by The Standard this week, the Hoover Ball and Bearing Co. of Ann Arbor has sold its Chelsea building to a Detroit manufacturing concern which will take possession on March 1.

The transaction was consummated through the efforts of an agency which has not yet divulged the name of the concern that will occupy the building. However, it is understood that the company will be engaged in the manufacture of automotive equipment and that at least 50 men will be employed as soon as operations can be started here.

The Hoover Ball and Bearing Co. used the Chelsea building for many years as a branch of their Ann Arbor factory, but consolidated their operations in the Ann Arbor plant several months ago, and moved all their equipment from Chelsea.

Detroiters Buy Foundry

A group of Detroit men have purchased the foundry building of J. A. Merrill and Ray Whipple and expect to start operations here within 60 days. They will be engaged in a jobbing foundry business.

The name of the new corporation and the names of those interested in the venture have not been made public, as incorporation of the concern has not been completed.

Work of getting the plant in readiness for operation will begin soon in order that production may be started at the earliest possible date.

Central Fibre Co. Buys No. 12

Central Fibre Products Co. announces the purchase of the No. 12 building from Ray Whipple and J. A. Merrill. The building is located at the rear of the Central Fibre plant and will be used as a warehouse.

HENRY WILSON HOME BURNS

The farm home of Henry Wilson on the Jerusalem Road in Lima township was burned to the ground Friday night, with all of its contents. The fire started in the kitchen and when discovered by Mr. Wilson had gained such headway that nothing could be saved. Neighbors who responded to the operator's call along the line could render no assistance. There was no insurance.

WITHDRAWS FROM TICKET

Because of the fact that James Munro is employed by the State Highway Department under the Civil Service Act which became effective last year, he has been advised by the department that he is prohibited from holding a public elective office, so his name has been withdrawn as a candidate for re-election as village clerk. Jay E. Weinberg will be the candidate for clerk on the Independent ticket.

GRADES WILL GIVE PROGRAM

Sales Tax Regulations

Mailed to Taxpayers

The postal system of Lansing and all Michigan has the target this week for a barrage of one hundred thousand 62-page booklets released by the State Sales Tax Board, one of the largest single mailings ever made by a State Department. This huge mailing tipped the scales at fourteen tons of book paper and tax wisdom. The postage cost alone gives Uncle Sam $3,000, and the mailing reaches every city, village and cross-roads store in the state.

These booklets contain the official rules and regulations governing the application of the sales tax representing more than $55,000,000 annual revenue to the state. This is the first time since the inception of the Act that every licensed retailer of merchandise or commodities has received a copy of the rules and regulations simultaneously before their effective date. They supersede and cancel all former rules, regulations, instructions and permissions whether transmitted by letters specific or general concerning tax liability subsequent to March 1, 1940. The tax liability incurred prior to March 1, 1940 will be determined by the rules and regulations in effect at the time such tax was incurred.

The new rules and regulations represent months of painstaking study, research and investigation, in addition to more than 300 conferences with taxpayer groups, trade, mercantile and professional associations, and independent retailers. Previous rules of the department, as well as court decisions in this and other states and of the United States Supreme Court, have been carefully reviewed. Every precaution has been taken to eliminate inequities and provide a fair basis of uniformity in the application of the tax that it may not be a means of creating unfair competition. The result is a composite publication, fully indexed, logically arranged and interpretive of Act No. 167 of the Public Acts of 1933 as amended.

Cassidy Lake Events

Woodshop

Many of the boys in shop are nearing completion on their shop courses which are somewhat new. By the way, the boys study it seems to be a great improvement over the practical experiences which in the past happened to be the only form of study here.

Each boy is required to keep up a folder on all the studying he has completed and all the articles he has constructed which in turn may prove valuable as an aid in his future shop file if he carries on where he is now starting.

During a past period there has been completed numerous articles such as a panel typing desk and filing cabinet. Also now in completion are five drafting tables which are being made for NYA at Marshall.

Drafting
We regret the absence of our drafting supervisor, Mr. Spiez, a very worthy man indeed. Nevertheless, we are glad that he has obtained a good position with the Martin Aircraft Co. of Baltimore, Maryland.

Mr. Spiez, former principal of Lake Orion high school, and whose home is in Ishpeming, Mich., has been engaged to fill the vacancy left by Mr. Spiez.

At a program on Washington's birthday, which was held in the national building, several boys were presented with Certificates of Completion in Mechanical Drawing in their high school drawing.

It is indeed gratifying to see that the boys studying drawing have survived the study of Auxiliary Views.

Joe Mahoski of Amasa, Michigan, has completed an oil painting depicting the various phases of activity at Cassidy Lake. Arrangements will probably be made to display the painting in Chelsea.

Anniversaries
February seems to be the month of important births—Lincoln, Washington, etc.—if this be the case and I'm sure it is, then we too have important ones here at Cassidy. They may not be Lincoln or Washingtons but they are pretty swell people—Wm. Gauthier, M. Skoyera, and D. L. Miller, our camp director, are very proud to celebrate their anniversary on the same day as Washington's, although their anniversary was the 21st. And here is where Mr. Miller pulls a fast one. Proclaiming a holiday on the 22nd, the boys were permitted to go to town, then to make sure the boys were up at six Mr. Miller puts out a fire alarm. "You'll have to get up early in the morning to get ahead of me," says Mr. Miller. A foxy fox is he.

Radio
The sun is still shining for the boys of the Radio Club, and promises to keep on shining. They have entered their new lab. In the Craftsman the lab is a regular industrial beehive with the buzzing of hams and all-atom racks, oscillators, novars, equipment, receivers, amplifiers and communication systems. Yes, there is no doubt—Radio is here to show the rest of the project up.

It is reported that Mr. Papsdorf's amplifier has been returned from the exterminator's shop and is almost bugless. It was used last Wednesday for the movies; also, a new turntable and pickup has been built and it too was tried.

A certain individual by the name of Dibble is interested in building an oscillator. Mr. Owens would appreciate any help in drawing a schematic for this piece of equipment. What are the requirements, girls? He's handsome! Milford Delno has stepped out with a radio course from the National Schools.

Texas Week-End Accidents

Michigan Mirror

Non-Partisan News Letter

Lansing—The woods are full of despairing causes. But few of them have the heart-throb appeal of old age pensions.

Here is an issue for politicians that is made to order, and it is becoming of greater importance each year. Pension checks have been known to increase suddenly on the eve of a state election; nominees shed salty tears as they pledge oratorically to give better treatment to the aged and infirm. In Colorado a generous pension for the aged nearly bankrupt the state treasury; California had its "ham and eggs" scheme and Ohio its Bigelow amendment last November to entitle old age voters and to secure conservative business men.

In Michigan all public officials apparently agree that the state should find funds, somehow and somewhere, to put 25,000 to 30,000 persons on the old age assistance rolls who have already been qualified to receive such aid.

The merit of the cause is conceded. No one is going to argue about that.

McPherson's Forecast
When the chairman of a state tax commission predicts that both the old age assistance roll and the amount of individual payments will be increased by the next legislature (it convenes in regular session in 1941), then it's time to re-appraise the plan and inquire how it is going to be financed.

Furthermore, Melville B. McPherson, who holds this tax job at Lansing, confidently believes that the next step by state government will be the granting of an adequate pension to all elderly people whether they need it or not. In a talk at Michigan State College recently he explained its justification as follows: "The present method penalizes those who have saved their money during their productive years, and such a system cannot endure."

The original federal social security act (modeled upon European experience) became a law August 14, 1935. Although it contained provisions for relief of seven different kinds, the public thinks of the act usually in terms of two old age benefits (pension and assistance) and unemployment compensation.

Old age benefits are paid to retired workers on the basis of their previous earnings and are not to be confused with relief payments to aged indigent persons—this relief being called "old age assistance." In the federal act and the Michigan act which complements it.

Michigan and the federal government each pay one-half of these last mentioned payments or "pensions"; that is, provided the total per amount is not in excess of $30.

1939 Amendments
The old age assistance part of the Social Security Act was materially changed by 1939 amendments made by Congress. The reserve feature was mostly eliminated, the basis for benefits changed, and benefits included for dependents and survivors. The rate was frozen at 1 per cent for the next three years; both employer and employee paying 1 per cent. Except for this amendment it would have been 1 1/2 per cent for 1940, 1941 and 1942. However, it still will go to 2 per cent in 1943 unless another amendment is made in the meantime.

The former basis for old age pensions (apart from assistance for the indigent infirm) was largely dependent upon the total wages earned over a period of years; also no benefits were payable until 1942.

Now the basis for benefits is the average monthly wage, and the length of time worked is an insignificant factor in the benefit, being only an addition of 1 per cent of the benefit for each year worked.

Furthermore, benefits for the person of low monthly wage are made larger in proportion to said earnings, and benefits are payable beginning Jan-minimum of 25,000 persons to the assistance roll, then how is this deserving cause to be financed?

Mr. McPherson points to the intangible tax revived in 1939. The state association of township supervisors, meeting recently in Lansing, went on record as favoring a return of one-third of all sales tax revenues to the township for unemployment, relief and welfare purposes.

With a red ink deficit of $31,000,000 in Michigan's general fund, the well merited need of more old age assistance presents a real problem to Michigan taxpayers. It is not our function to suggest the answer; we only present the facts as we find them and try to interpret the trend.

Many of us drive along at 60 miles an hour feeling perfectly safe and assured that nothing can happen. If weather and traffic conditions are favorable and the vehicle is in the best possible condition, this does not present such an unusual problem.

However, inattention to traffic conditions, recklessness or thoughtlessness in driving, and the many other driving faults we all have, make 60 miles an hour too fast a speed.

Let us remember this: When you hit a stone wall or other immovable object when driving at 60 miles an hour, the force of the impact is as great as if you were to drive off the top of a ten-story building. Can you imagine that shock?

It's Smart to Drive Carefully!

Old Texas Belle
A rusted steel shoe recently found in Texas is believed to have been part of a coat of mail worn by a Spanish explorer in the Sixteenth century.

Requirements
As the average reader of "Michigan Mirror" expects to be alive at 65, here are the requirements for your benefit payments at that age.

Minimum requirements for benefit payments are now only one and a half years of work. Those over 65 years of age are now required to pay tax and are eligible for benefits after completing at least six quarters and retiring from gainful employment except a monthly earning of $15 or less is not deducted from the benefits allowed.

The benefits to the wife who is over 65 is one-half of her husband's allowance, which allowance is called the "primary insurance benefit" and each dependent child under 18 receives the same. A widow over 65 receives three-fourths of the primary insurance benefit and dependent children one-half in case of the death of the husband and father.

It will be noted that the word "insurance" is contained in the 1939 amended act, and it seems that the present law is similar to an insurance policy whereas the original act was more like an annuity policy.

Pensions and Taxes
If the 1941 legislature is going to increase the appropriation for old age assistance, providing funds to add a

Scolding at Character Building Group
Five cases heard in juvenile court plainly revealed that young men and women must be associated with the church and character building group if they are to avoid the unwelcome influence of the questionable data hall and the beer garden.

As long as parents and adults act at the church and the efforts of character building groups, the United States will continue to lead the world in organized crime. Adults, especially parents and educators, should blame politicians when taxes are high for it costs approximately $3,500,000 to construct a cell block for a single youth who has developed into a hardened adult offender.

Alarming Trends
Those interested in preventing juvenile crime are alarmed to note that during the past four years attendance at our churches has declined 30 per cent, while the sale of whiskey has increased 220 per cent.

During the same period general benevolence declined 29 per cent, while the sale of beer increased 317 per cent. Contributions to The Community Chest decreased 24 per cent while the sale of cigarettes jumped up 48 per cent.

Dancing Classes

Under the direction of the Ford Dance Master the high school students are fast becoming a group of superior dancers. The Juniors and Seniors are all looking forward to the Junior-Senior reception and any other high school dance.

Home Ec. Club

At our last meeting on February 19 we enjoyed a lovely talk on "Personal Grooming and Personality" given by Miss Piper, a student of Home Economics at Michigan State College. Miss Piper is the chairman of the Home Ec. Club at the College and thought that we could do some talk celebrating because our club has a name which we think is the best ever. The name is "The Goodwill Club" submitted by Ethel Hale. Ethel received a lovely prize, and I know everybody wants to congratulate her.

Saline Defeats Chelsea

Chelsea took a severe drubbing at the hands of Saline in the final score being 26 to 13. The contest turned into a free-for-all during the last half with the boys mixing it up a bit. The leading scorers for Chelsea were Kelly Schneider and "Andy" Poch with 4 points each. The second team of Chelsea also took a beating by a score of 29 to 10. Tom was the leading scorer with 4 points. Chelsea will play East Jackson in the district tournament at Napoleon. The tournament will be held on Feb. 2, March 1 and 2.

Mathematics Class

The Chelsea high school mathematics class has been making an interesting study of the use of graphs and how to make them. This class is under the supervision of Mr. Johnson. The class was divided into pairs and each pair was given a project. Some of the projects given were percentage of A's and B's given first marking period; attendance at dancing class; number of books taken out of school library; number of people using telephone; number of long and short shots taken at basketball games; financial state of high school; number of people leaving study hall certain hours; number of students tardy; number of students absent. These and many other projects were assigned. The graphs are planned according to classes and on a percentage basis. Some of the projects were completed and the following facts were discovered: Total number of B's for first semester of school year 1939-40, 634 of which 149 or 24 per cent were Freshmen, 146 or 23 per cent were Sophomores, 172 or 27 per cent were Juniors, 167 or 26 per cent were Seniors. Absentees for one week: Seniors 16; Juniors 22; Sophomores 12; Freshmen 10. Tardiness for week of Feb. 22: Freshmen 14; Soph. 7; Juniors 6; Seniors 14; and number of seats vacant in grade classes: 8th, 1 out of 37; 7th, 7 out of 35; 6th, 5 out of 36; 5th, 5 out of 36; 4th, 8 out of 35; 3rd, no vacant seats; 2nd, 7 out of 34; 1st, no vacant seats.

Hi-Y News

The end of the second Hi-Y year is in sight and already the club is looking toward the new year. Election of officers will be held in the near future. These officers will be delegates to either the Third National Congress of Hi-Y in Oberlin, Ohio or to the Michigan State Hi-Y Camp on Torch Lake. The first and second National Hi-Y Congresses were held in Berea, Kentucky, in 1936 and 1938, each lasting four days. These meetings gave Hi-Y members from the entire country an opportunity to exchange experiences and study problems critical to high school youth.
Oberlin College, Oberlin, Ohio, will furnish a natural setting for the 1940 Congress. The College and the campus reflect years of Christian atmosphere and hospitality.
Since Michigan's quota is 48 boys and 12 leaders, Chelsea is fortunate to have the privilege of sending one boy to the Congress. Vernon Downing, principal of the high school, and adviser to the local club, has been selected as one of the leaders and will accompany the Michigan delegation. The Congress dates are June 20 to 24. Camp Hayo-Went-Ha is scheduled for the latter part of August. This camp of over three hundred acres is equipped to handle 125 boys in modern log cabins, a large lodge, and one of the finest dining halls for campers in the state. The Hayo-Went-Ha experience will give our new officers a thorough training for their jobs during the coming year.

No financial campaign will be made this year in Chelsea for Hi-Y work. This does not mean that the club has enough money to carry out its projects, but the boys will pay part of their own expenses to the Congress and to Hayo-Went-Ha. The club plans to pay part, and it is hoped that several men and women will find it possible to invest in the Hi-Y program. The boys have earned some money through a leathercraft and Christmas card sale. Most of this money has been used to buy books, to help send delegates to the Older Boys' Conference, and for similar projects.

The purpose of the club is "To create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character." Its platform is "Clean speech, clean sports, clean scholarship, and clean living." At the regular club meeting, last week, Albert Johnson, our superintendent, gave an inspirational talk on "Points in Securing a Job." Mr. Johnson told us that among the many qualifications he considered that character, knowledge, interest, punctuality, and ability to get along with people, were of value to the applicant for a position. Each point was illustrated by a story or an experience.

Sixth Grade
Editors: Robert Faber and Marion Dietle.
The sixth grade sent Miss Canfield a box of fruit. She replied with a note of thanks.
The first signs of spring have arrived—boys playing marbles and spinning tops, while girls are roller skating.
A good recipe to remove early morning cobwebs in the brain: "Start the day with string problems."
For Washington's birthday some of the sixth grade girls gave a play. The name of the play, "An Afternoon at Mount Vernon." The girls gave the play in full costume of the colonial days. The play was given after school at Barbara Eaton's, and a good crowd attended.
Thursday, Feb. 22 we took the word "Washington" to find how many words we could get out of it.
We had a spell-down. Barbara Eaton stayed up the longest, Doris Nagy second, and Walter Frysinger was the last to go down on the losing side.
Feb. 21 the class wrote a story on why "I like to live in New Zealand." We made believe we lived in New Zealand and were writing to a friend and trying to make them come and live in New Zealand.
We read the stories aloud. We learned a patriotic poem this week entitled "America For Me", by Henry Van Dyke.
Joke:
What has ties and no shirt? Answer: Railroad.
When should any pig be able to write? Answer: When he's turned into a pen.

Seventh Grade

The seventh grade is busily engaged in collecting pictures to put in scrap books to illustrate their American history.

Due to colds and mild cases of flu, our attendance in grade seven fell to 91 per cent for the past four weeks. The four boys who own those funny little instruments called "Tonettes" are hoping that a class will be formed soon, so that they may learn to play them.

TO SOME people, this spruce and sprightly Buick SPECIAL may be just one of those ambitions they hope some day to achieve.

But if you ask owners—especially those who have stepped up to Buick from the lowest-price field—you'll find it's really an eye-opener to a new and sounder slant on automobile buying.

Actually, the money difference between lesser cars and this nimble traveler is smaller than most people think. And when you've driven a Buick a while you find that spending these few extra dollars is really the soundest kind of economy.

They buy more power. They buy more room. They buy the matchless comfort of all-coil springing and the welcome feeling of having come up in the world.

They also buy more automobile. A bigger, solidier, more durable frame. A husky, time-defying chassis. Top-grade materials, superfine precision, "on the money" craftsmanship, things that make the difference between an adequate car and a good one.

You get your money back in tangible things, such as engines balanced after assembly, wider outlook through Safety Plate Glass only, some six dozen features from automatic choke to the Flash-Way Direction Signal with automatic cut-off.

Every mile you drive you'll see how you profit by spending enough to get something really good.

And what you spend, as you'll see if you call on your Buick dealer, is less than you're asked to pay in some places for a six!

Not a six but an EIGHT for $895 and up delivered at Flint, Mich.

The model illustrated is the Buick SPECIAL model 43 four-door touring sedan $995 delivered at Flint, Mich. White sidewall tires additional.

SAGER-HERDER WEDDING
Palms, white tapers and baskets of cut flowers formed a setting for the wedding at St. John's church, Franciscan, on Saturday afternoon at 6:00 o'clock when Miss Alice Caroline Sager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sager of Grass Lake township, became the bride of Herbert Richard Herder of Cassidy Lake, son of Herbert Herder of Ovid. SODT-SPIKE WEDDING
The marriage of Miss Carole Sott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Sott of Sharon township, and Lowell Spike, son of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Spike of Ypsilanti, took place Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, with Rev. A. Weinert of Manchester officiating.
Cathedral candelabra bearing white tapers and baskets of pink snapdragons formed a background for the ceremony, and this bride was given in marriage by her father, Miss Alice Voegeding, cousin of the bride, rendered "O Promise Me" and the wedding march from Lohengrin was played by Mrs. Weinert.
The bride chose a dress of poude blue crepe, with which she wore a straw hat of navy blue, trimmed with flowers to match her dress. A corsage of pink roses and grape hyacinths completed her costume. Her sister, Miss Marjorie Sott of Jackson, as maid of honor, wore navy blue crepe, a navy blue hat with white trimming and accessories of white. Her corsage was pink sweet peas. Wayne Spike, brother of the groom, performed the duties of best man.
For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Sott was gown in grey alpaca and Mrs. Spike wore beige crepe. Their corsages were pink sweet peas.
A buffet lunch was served after the ceremony, with Mrs. Glenn Smock of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Bruce Plankell of Chelsea pouring.

Mr. and Mrs. Spike left on a motor trip to Traverse City, where they will visit his brother, Cyril Spike and family.

The bride is a graduate of Chelsea high school, class of 1939, while the groom, a graduate of Roosevelt high school, Ypsilanti, has for five years been employed as herd tester of Association No. 1, Washtenaw county. Mr. and Mrs. Spike will make their home on the La Chapelle farm in Lima township.

Those from away who attended the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Homer Parks and son and Mrs. Clara Hart of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. A. Huber of Gladwin; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sott of Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. George Sott of Jackson; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Schaefer and children of Seio; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Spike, Mr. and Mrs. Max Spike of Ypsilanti and Mr. and Mrs. G. Smock and family of Ann Arbor.

GENERAL HUGH S. JOHNSON Says:

LET ENVOY GO ABROAD
WASHINGTON. — There is no earthly reason why Mr. Roosevelt should not send Sumner Welles abroad as ambassador-at-large to Europe. There is nothing new in the idea.

For several years we had Norman Davis abroad on a similar job. There is an ugly precedent in Mr. Wilson's "twin soul," Colonel House. But the very ugliness of it tends to avoid its danger.

Mr. Wilson finally came to feel that Colonel House's secret commitments had foreclosed and embarrassed his plans for world peace.

President Wilson and Premier Clemenceau During Peace Conference.

That feeling became so bitter that in parts of Mr. Wilson's inner circle they ran the Colonel's name and title together in pronouncing and forgot the "h" in his surname.

There is no danger of that kind of result here. Mr. Roosevelt has no "twin soul." Sumner Welles, in spite of a rather spotty Groton-Harvard exterior and his apparent authorship of the absurd "safety zone" around the Americas, is a good listener and a man not likely to exceed his authority in committing his country to anything not authorized by his boss.

If we get mired in European mud beyond our depth, it will be by no over-reaching or indiscretion of Mr. Welles. It will be because our all-highest will it so.

That the boss has reached such a conclusion now is not likely. He couldn't as yet carry the country with him. But there is no doubt whatever that, like Woodrow Wilson, Mr. Roosevelt feels a heavenly call to make right the wrongs of the whole world.

It is one of the strongest of the incentives that are leading him to draw all lines as to make his reelection inevitable.

Whether intended or not, this and all his recent actions and expressions tend to be, first, an argument for a third term and second, if he gets it, a mandate to go farther in mixing us in European affairs.

The argument will be that, by this increasingly close contact with the interior stresses and strains of the European vortex, the new administration would be as well fitted to deal with it. If he is overwhelmingly elected, the mandate will be that his pre-election actions sufficiently revealed his purpose to take a dominant part in the reconstruction of the world and that his election would decide a vote of confidence in his policy and a popular mandate to carry it further.

The effect, if not the purpose, of sending Mr. Welles on the mission when neither before nor after he has requested it, or even suggested it, to welcome it, is the kind of both personal and political strategy.

Mr. Welles has a close and long association with Mr. Roosevelt. He was his advisor in assistant secretary of state. He was his assistant secretary of state. He was his assistant secretary of state. He was his assistant secretary of state.

We would again bail out the battered hulk financially by the use of the gold we have purchased from it at nearly double its value—giving it back if necessary.

The generosity of some great "thinkers" with other people's money is almost divine. In addition to the supreme self-confidence of a really brilliant intellect. Without a misgiving, he would undertake financial reorganization of heaven without a retainer, or charge hell with a pail of water. So would the President.

LEWIS' BID
John L. Lewis' proposal for a joint convention of C. I. O. and A. F. of L. unions to vote on a simple proposition for merger is being considered by both A. F. of L. leaders and some columnar pundits as insincere. Technically, it is true that a joint convention giving the rank and file of A. F. of L. the right to vote on healing this rift, would not have a constitutional right to admit C. I. O. unions and give them A. F. of L. charters—but isn't that an awful lot?

KALTENBORN SAYS:

Enemies Stalemated After 6 Months Because Defense Outshines Offense

By H. V. KALTENBORN
Noted Radio Commentator.

AT THE end of the first six months of war we find that the major belligerents have not yet begun to fight, while the major neutral powers have begun to fight for peace. Small wonder that the late Senator Borah called this a "phony" war.

Only in Finland is there a major military effort and mighty Soviet Russia does not even admit that she has gone to war against Finland. When the war began no one expected Soviet Russia to participate in military operations and no one expected Finland to be invaded. On the other hand, everyone expected an immediate air raid by hundreds of bombing planes on the capitals of Europe and for weeks the headlines spoke of the coming offensives on the Maginot and Siegfried lines. Neither the raids nor the offensives developed during the first half-year of fighting. Why?

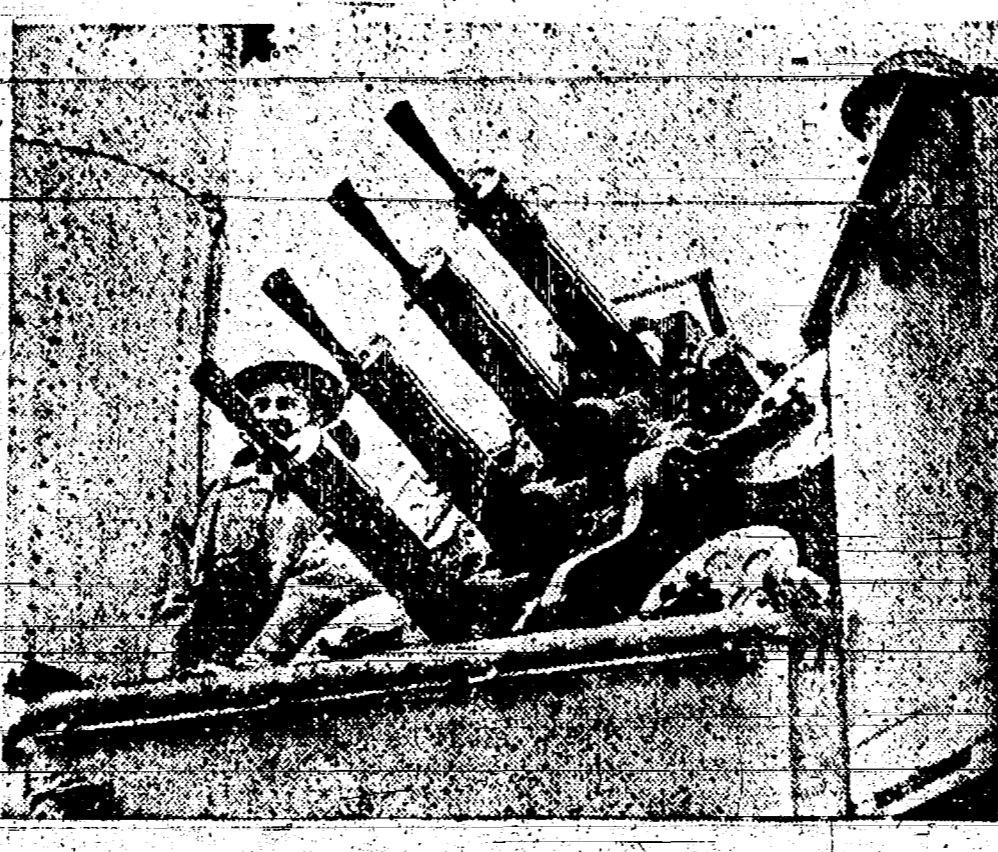

Defense Is Major Factor.

The primary reason is that in modern war, defense is stronger than offense. The war in Spain showed the world that air attack on large cities is tremendously destructive, but it also showed that it is not likely to be decisive. The expense in planes, fuel, bombs and aviators who do not return is apt to offset the military advantages gained in any mass bombing flight. And the effect on neutral opinion of the killing of thousands of women and children, together with the destruction of historic monuments in cities far away from any actual fighting zone, might well be disastrous.

The fear of such wholesale air-raids led France and Britain to surrender at Munich. Now, after a year and a half of additional intensive preparation for air defense, they are no longer afraid of German attack. They are prepared to meet it and could make it so costly that it would probably not be repeated. The successful defense of the Mannerheim line against the most highly concentrated Soviet military effort showed the strength of defense fortifications in modern war.

Why Poland Was Weak.

The two great surprises of this war so far have been Poland's weakness and Finland's strength. Poland's weakness arose from a lack of national unity and domination of the illiterate masses by an aristocratic caste. In the larger sense, the government of Poland was nei-or indirectly through the air waves. Nazi leaders are apprehensive about casualties in the propaganda battle. They impose severe punishment on anyone who listens to a foreign broadcast. The British and French, on the other hand, have enough confidence in their people to permit them to listen to whatever Dr. Goebbels orders said.

More Activity on Sea.

At sea, a war of movement has been possible. This is why there has been much more activity at sea than on land. Britain's control of the sea has again demonstrated its importance. The German fleet is bottled up. Except for submarines, the German navy has been swept from the seas.

The Near Eastern Franco-British army of half a million men under the leadership of General Weygand is now waiting in Syria, ready for instant action against Russia or Germany in any part of the Balkans. This army may yet prove the decisive military factor in this war. Allied victories in Palestine and Turkey presaged the collapse of the Central Powers in 1918.

Germany's commerce raiders were swept from the seas much more quickly than during the World War. The Graf Spee lies wrecked in Montevideo harbor after being put out of action by the combined efforts of three small British cruisers. The Deutschland, her sister pocket-battleship, thought it best to return to a safe German harbor.

Nazis Stress U-Boat Warfare.

But nothing with surface ships is a minor factor in Germany's sea warfare against Britain and France. The Germans remembered how close they came to forcing a decision with their submarines during the World War. They had from 60 to 75 submarines ready when the war began. For the first few weeks of the war, they used these to excellent advantage.

Then the protective measures which Britain developed during the World War and since became effective. The larger ships were sent out in convoys; airplane patrols were created; minefields against submarines were established and all the resources of the British navy were mobilized against the U-boats.

On the whole, they have proved effective. In six months, the British have lost 550,000 tons of merchant ships. At the same time, the French lost 75,000 tons and the neutrals 350,000 tons. This makes a total of a little over 1,000,000 tons.

Losses Not Important.

But nothing in these losses produced even suggests the possibility of a decisive result. The British merchant marine alone totals 21,000,000 tons. The British claim that decreasing from their losses purchases and new construction, their net loss in six months of warfare has been less than 200,000 tons. It is also probable that the losses will decrease rather than increase since at sea as well as on land defense is proving itself stronger than attack.

Already submarine torpedoes are far less successful in destroying shipping than mines. The new magnetic mine down by the Germans proved very destructive for the first few weeks in which it was used. Then more effective mine-sweeping methods and the establishment of narrow ship-channels which were carefully patrolled reduced the successes of Germany's mine-laying airplanes.

On the other hand, the British have been no more successful in their raids against the German navy. Both German and British submarines have destroyed an occasional warship, but these forays have been costly to the submarines attempting them. The British and French claim to have sunk between 40 and 50 German submarines since the beginning of the war. The Germans admit the loss of less than half this number. Yet whenever a submarine is lost, the entire crew is lost with it, and it takes five years to train men to handle a submarine under war conditions.

Talk about the Germans building one submarine a day is nothing more than talk. It is more likely that the Germans are completing anywhere from six to ten U-boats a month, which is just about the rate at which they are being destroyed.

Already Planning for Peace.

There is, then, nothing decisive in action at sea or in the air. Defense is stronger than attack. But what about the economic front? That is probably the most important front of all and the one that will be dominant long after the war has ended. Already Secretary of State Hull is negotiating with the neutral powers to work out a plan of economic reconstruction. The plan must be ready for instant application on the day of the armistice if Europe is not to sink into chaos when the fighting ends.

Every country in Europe, neutral and belligerent alike, has mortgaged its future. Only if the New World remains out of the war and stands ready to lend its resources for European reconstruction is there any hope of true peace. Europe was ready for revolution before the war came and will be much more ready for it when the war is done.

What After Collapse?

France and Britain count on economic pressure to bring about the collapse of Germany, but one wonders whether they have asked themselves, what then? Will they march into Germany at the head of a victorious army, establish a new Kaiser and a new Junker government? Or will they stand aside while Germany's underground Communist movement reasserts itself and calls out for assistance to the Red brethren in Moscow?

There is the third possibility of organizing these liberal forces that have either been driven out of Germany or driven under cover within Germany, and helping them to re-establish constitutional government by granting them a generous peace. That would be the hardest task.

Rumania Under Pressure.

Meanwhile, there is more pressure behind the economic than behind the military war. Members of the Rumanian government are being bribed, bulldozed, flattered and cajoled by both sides. Both are seeking to purchase Rumania's oil and Rumania's grain. Each wants it so that the other cannot have it. The French and British offer gold, the Germans threaten war. So far, King Carol has kept a precarious balance; but Britain and France continue to guarantee his frontiers and King Carol remembers the Blitzkrieg against Poland. Poland had been given the same guarantees.

On the diplomatic front, the Allied powers won their greatest victory in winning Turkey to their cause. This gives them control of the Dardanelles and the Black Sea, in case of war with Russia. It also assures France and Britain complete dominance of the Mediterranean thereby discouraging Italy from siding with Germany.

LOVE AND BUSES.
An Institute of Family Relations has completed a study of romance and discovered that more proposals of marriage are made in automobiles than in the home. But the ones made at home are still the better bet.

Lack of privacy in the home is given as the reason for the triumph of the driver over the front parlor, but the Institute misses the big point. When a couple do their courting in an auto they are the bosses of their own lighting arrangements.

How the internal combustion engine has speeded up romance!

In the old days it took at least an hour being nice to pop and mom. You had to listen to pop's views on the plans for the new bandstand in Croppsey's Park, satisfy mother's explorations into your background and stall around talking about the international situation.

You even had to look over the family photographs!

You and Arabella got along after what seemed years. Every few minutes you had to say in a loud voice, "Yes, the exhibition at the art gallery this year is wonderful," or cough and shout, "Isn't it terrible about the Phillips pines?"

And then there was the time limit hanging over you, and the signal system, with mother calling, "Arabella, is that you down there?" one of the silliest questions of all time.

A wooer was always in doubt whether he was carrying on a courtship with the girl he loved or attending a mass meeting in the House of a Thousand Squeaks.

A romance took years. Then came the horseless carriage, putting love on tires, equipping affection with a magneto and streamlining sentimental impulses through-out.

Today you call, blow the horn, grab the girl and are through the second red traffic light before pop and mom, standing in the doorway, have been able to determine whether you are the young man who works at the button shop or that boy from the gas works.

You leave the old folks at 45 miles an hour, pass the old-fashioned conventions at 55 and are doing a good 80 before you reach the point or remarking, "Well, honey, I thought I'd run over and see you. Did you expect me?"

In 15 minutes you have proposed, in a half-hour you have set the date and in 45 minutes you have reached the matter of house furniture.

It is a war between the haves and the have-nots, says Herr Hitler. Which explains why it was necessary to crush Poland and Czechoslovakia, which had everything.

Question And Answer Dept.

Problem—What is it that when it is fixed, it cannot work properly? (Answer elsewhere in this department.)

Ques.—How long has Great Britain been the greatest naval sea-power?
Ans.—Continuously for nearly four hundred years. Great Britain's rise as a sea-power began in July, 1588, when they wiped out the Spanish armada in the English channel.

Ques.—How big is the largest tree in California?
Ans.—The largest tree in California is the "Grizzly Giant". It is 31 feet in diameter, and its bark is nine inches thick. The wood is Sequoia Gigantea.

Answer to problem—A jury. Of course, when it is "fixed", it cannot work properly.

Ques.—Can you tell how many languages are spoken throughout the world?
Ans.—It is not known definitely. However, statistics reveal there are close to 1,630 spoken languages and dialects in the world.

Ques.—Are any of the South American countries now a monarchy?
Ans.—No. The last to become a republic was Paraguay in 1920.

Ques.—What city is known as "the Crescent City"?
Ans.—New Orleans, La.

Ques.—I would like to know what is meant by the "swan-song", and why?
Ans.—In legendary the "swan-song" is a melodious song given out at its death. From this legend we derive the expression "swan-song" as applied to a last effort, production or achievement, or the last thing you do before retiring into obscurity.

Ques.—Is the Jewish language classed as a dead language?
Ans.—No. While a great many Jews can and do speak the Hebrew language fluently, the language is mostly confined to their religious exercises. Most of the Jews have adopted the language of the peoples with whom they have long been associated.

Ques.—Over what country did Charlemagne reign?
Ans.—In A. D. 800, Charlemagne was crowned as "Emperor of the West" by Pope Leo III. This included what is now Italy, Spain, France and Germany. Charlemagne died in A. D. 814 and immediately thereafter his empire fell. In the following few years France and Germany came into existence as separate nations.

Ques.—Will you please answer what is a giraffe's mode of defense? Can they fight?
Ans.—A giraffe cannot fight. If not taken by surprise, a giraffe's defense lies in its speed to escape its attackers. It can easily outdistance any other known animal.

Ques.—How should I grow the perennial flower "Wild Sweet William"?
Ans.—They should be grown in rich soil, and will thrive in sun or shade.

Ques.—We got in an argument the other day about whether or not Joe Louis ever fought Jack Dempsey since he has been heavyweight champion of the world. We would appreciate it very much if you would answer it in your question and answer department.
Ans.—Jack Dempsey had retired from the ring before Joe Louis started his pugilistic career.
