Chelsea Fails To Raise Quota for Red Cross

According to local Red Cross officials, Chelsea's quota of $200.00 for the relief of sufferers in war-torn Europe lacks more than $100.00 of being raised. The lack of interest is a disappointment to those in charge of the drive for funds and it is hoped the response will be more generous for this worthy cause. Contributions may be taken to the Chelsea State Bank, or to any of the Red Cross of ficials.

Central Fibre Products Co. has contributed $50.00 to the fund, and $4.50 has been received from the Methodist Old People's Home. Individual subscriptions have been received from John Bird, Ida Brown, Father Dorr, J. A. Park, Mrs. Geo. Hart, Rev. Munty, Dr. Gulde, Dr. Steger, Waldo Kus, P. Adams, H. H. Fenn, M. McClure, John Fletcher, Geo. Walworth, Dr. Paul Reichert, Albert Pielemeier, Margaret Miller, Emily Turnbull, Mr. Hunt, Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Allen, P. G. Schable, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Collection of Garbage Will Start On Monday

The Village Council, on Monday night of this week, accepted the bid of Lawrence Senecal, of Sylvan township, to collect garbage from householders within the village. Collections will be made twice a week, on Mondays and Fridays, beginning June 10.

In accordance with the contract garbage shall not contain rubbish, paper, tin cans, glass, or any other matter other than waste food, cooked or raw, and the waste vegetable and animal matter created in preparation for the table. All garbage shall be placed in sanitary, fly-tight, metal containers, fitted with bail or handles in order that the collector may conveniently handle the same, and shall be placed in an accessible location at ground elevation at the side or back door.

The householders are urgently requested to comply with these regulations. Failure to do so will result in suspension of garbage collection for the premises concerned until such rules and regulations are met.

It is hoped that this service will be satisfactory since many people have advocated garbage collection in the village for several years past.

Children's Summer Reading Program

With the co-operation of the Chelsea public school, the library has organized a summer reading program for children in grades one to eight inclusive. Children wishing to enter this reading program should speak to the librarian, Mrs. Walworth, for detailed information and get a record book.

A book list has been completed for each grade by the teachers and these lists will be at the library. Children may refer to these lists when getting books. When a book has been read, the name is entered in the record book along with a few remarks about the book by the child. Anyone who reads 15 or more books during the summer vacation will receive a reading certificate. Special recognition will be given to all children who have read 20 or more books. These awards will be made at a special library program at the school next fall.

We invite all children to join in this program and enjoy a summer of good reading.

Some people have queer ideas of the mechanical causes of accidents. An automobile is only as safe as its driver, and if the driver is satisfied to operate an automobile, knowing that the mechanical equipment is faulty, then the car itself is not the direct cause of any resulting accident. Senseless machines never cause an accident.

Faulty brakes have been the cause of more accidents than any other mechanical defect. You should be able to stop your car when required; but keep in mind, too, that mechanical brakes cannot perform the impossible. Excessive speeds coupled with the wrong conditions contribute not only to the frequency but to the severity of our automobile accidents.

Keep your car in first-class condition.

DEXTER—Marilyn Widmayer, 11 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Widmayer of Dexter, recently accompanied her family to a show at the Sylvan Theatre, at Chelsea. On returning home she found that she had lost her purse containing some change. A few days went by and back by mail came Marilyn's purse complete with all the money and "stuffs" found in a woman's purse. Marilyn had left it at the theatre, but the purse had her name in it so Dillon Wolverton, manager of the theatre, sent it back by parcel post with a note saying "Inclosed is coin purse and money you lost at the Sylvan Theatre. Sincerely yours, Dillon Wolverton." And now Marilyn is happy again. She has found an honest man. She has her money back; but most of all she has all those "knick-knacks" that go to fill up these ever bulging purses belonging to the women.—Leader.

PLYMOUTH—The population of the city of Plymouth, according to the census just taken, is now 5,339. The census of 24 years ago gave Plymouth a population of 4,484, showing an increase during the past ten years of 855 new residents.—Mail.

CHARLOTTE—Dr. C. D. Huber probably has the one and only oil painting of President Abraham Lincoln in Charlotte. Daniel Huber, father of Dr. Huber, brought the painting home with him on returning from the Civil war in 1864. The painting is well preserved and the doctor brought the painting to the Stevenson studio the past week and Bruce Lefure retouched the picture with varnish and refinished the frame. The doctor has had several chances to sell the painting but refuses to part with it.—Republican-Tribune.

FORD ROTUNDA AT DEARBORN WILL BE OPEN ON SUNDAYS

Ford Rotunda, the magnet which attracts hundreds of thousands of visitors to Dearborn each year, will be thrown open to the public every Sunday during the summer months. The opening hours will be 1:30 to 9:30 p. m.

The new arrangement will give tourists and other visitors an opportunity to visit the Rotunda and view its attractions on the only day when the average family has leisure for sightseeing, it was pointed out. It also will permit those who wish to hear the broadcasts of the new Ford Summer Hour to listen over loudspeakers in the Rotunda, just outside the theater where the broadcasts originate.

Since its opening in 1936 the Ford Rotunda has proved itself one of the nation's outstanding tourist attractions, some 3,312,907 persons having passed through its doors. This is an average of one person for every 20 seconds that the building has been open, and the registration list includes names from every state in the Union and from practically every civilized nation in the world. Attendance for the first four months of 1940 totaled approximately 1,399,987 persons, a gain of 32,917 over the same period last year.

All tours through the 1200-acre Rouge plant start at the Rotunda, the company providing a fleet of glass-topped buses to carry visitors to various points in the near-by plant while a corps of more than 60 specially trained guides are on hand to explain the many interesting activities.

In addition to serving as the gateway to the Rouge plant, and housing the theater from which the Ford Summer Hour is broadcast, the Rotunda itself holds many attractions which add to the enjoyment and interest of a visit. On week days an entertaining motion picture program is to be seen in the theater. A 20-foot-high revolving globe of the world, great photographic murals of scenes in the Rouge plant, moving dioramas, and animated maps are among the other attractions that bring thousands of visitors to the Rotunda.

HINDELANG-VAN TIEM

At a wedding of lovely appointments, which occurred in St. David's church, Detroit on Thursday, May 30, Miss Louise Mary Van Tiem, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Atostius Van Tiem, became the bride of John L. Hindelang, Jr.

The bridal procession was led by the bridesmaids, Mrs. George Van Tiem and Mrs. Emil Nannisi, followed by the matron of honor, Mrs. Julius De Snyder and then the bride on the arm of her father. Her gown was of white silk net and lace over white satin, with a long tulle veil and she carried a white prayer book with a shower of white satin and rosebuds. The gowns of the attendants were made identically with that of the bride, the matron of honor being in bluish pink and the maids in ice blue. Mr. Hindelang was assisted by his brother, Edwin Charles Hindelang, as best man, and George Van Tiem, brother of the bride and Emil Nannisi as groomsmen, while the guests were seated by Alvin Van Tiem, another brother and Thomas Fokier, cousin of the groom. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John D. Slowe of Albion, also a cousin of the groom.

Following a wedding breakfast at Blue Gables, a large reception was held at the home of the bride. The young couple then left on a motor trip to points of interest in the West, after which they will occupy their new home at 10818 Roxbury Avenue in Detroit.

Question And Answer Dept.

Problem—In a horse race with a field of twelve horses, one of them (a favorite) crossed the finish line several lengths ahead of the field, but did not win the race. Why? (Answer elsewhere in this department).

Ques.—How did it originate when it is said a person "throws his hat into the ring" with reference to political candidates?

Ans.—It was customary many years ago in the West to volunteer to enter a boxing or wrestling match by tossing his hat into the ring. Theodore Roosevelt, who was familiar with Western sporting slang, first popularized the expression with reference to political candidates.

Ques.—Where do sea-shells come from which are found on the beach?

Ans.—They are made by the animals lime oysters, water-snails and thousands of other kind which live in the sea. When one of these dies, its shell is washed ashore by the waves. That is how they get on the beach.

Ques.—How can a bat fly in the dark without hitting anything?

Ans.—It is not known for sure. Bats may have some other sense that we do not know of. However, scientists are inclined to believe that bats have extreme sensitive ears by which they can hear echoes reflected from walls, trees, etc., which tells them something of where such obstacles are. Some blind people acquire a little of this same power.

Ques.—What is the origin of the odd expression "as easy as pie"?

Ans.—This expression is supposed to be elliptical, the complete expression being "as easy as eating pie". It probably refers to the fact that most of us, especially in our younger days, find little trouble in eating pies made by mother.

Answer to problem—The horse in question led the field, but into the stretch he stumbled and threw his rider. He galloped on and was first to cross the finish line. However, he was disqualified because he carried no rider.

Ques.—What is the difference between a groundhog and a woodchuck?

Ans.—None. These are merely different names for the same animal.

Ques.—Is it true that U. S. Grant was a slave-owner?

Ans.—He was not a slave-owner during the Civil War period. In 1848 Grant married Julia Dent at White Haven, Mo., and his father-in-law, the owner of many slaves, presented his bride with a boy slave. It is not recorded what they did with the boy.

Ques.—Is Greenland in the Western Hemisphere? What country owns it?

Ans.—Yes, Greenland, as well as part of Iceland, is in the Western Hemisphere. This largest island in the world is owned by Denmark.

State Buys Frontage

Lansing—A revival of interest in the distinctions between public and private lakes is resulting from its program of purchasing lake and stream frontage to insure continued public access to fishing grounds, the department of conservation reports.

Access without trespass is the angler's chief concern. An official 13-page bulletin of the department, prepared with the assistance of the attorney general's office, gives in detail the legal rights of the public and riparian owners in regard to fishing in lakes and streams.

The movement of fish, as well as land ownership, may determine whether a lake is public or private, as in the case of People vs. Hoising, decided in 1904. Although Hoising stocked a lake, and owned the land under and around it, he was not allowed to take game fish from it with nets, because during part of the year the lake was connected with the Grand river, so that fish from the public waters could enter it. Once mingled, public fish could not be distinguished from private fish.

The fact that the state may control the taking of fish in a lake, or even the fact that the public has a right to fish in the lake, does not in any way lessen the rights of riparian owners to bar the public from reaching the lake across owners' property, as the court explicitly explained in the case of Giddings vs. Rogalowski, decided in 1916. It is because of this legal situation that the state is buying frontage and lanes of access with fishing license money, where increasing resort development threatens to exclude the public entirely.

Other cases in which the movement of fish figured in determining that lakes are public lakes are People vs. Collier and People vs. Conrad, both Michigan cases, and the Illinois case of People vs. Bridges.

Cleaning Unwashable Wallpaper
There are several methods of removing grease spots from wallpaper, but success cannot always be guaranteed. One method involves the use of benzene or carbon tetrachloride or a spot cleaner sold by most stores.
The solvent should be applied to the spot quickly, and a blotter held over it immediately afterward. The principle is that the solvent and grease mix, become mobile, and are then drawn into the blotter.

much money as all the rest of the world in any period of 140 years.
"We built three times as many libraries and put nearly five times as many books in those libraries as all the rest of the world in any period of 140 years.
"In 1933, when we were right at the bottom of that other depression, we found we had 29,500,000 boys and girls and young people in schools and colleges in this country and employed 1,000,000 teachers to teach them. That is 30,500,000 people working at this thing we call idealistic culture."
"Between 1870 and 1940 our population increased 218 per cent and in spite of that, the gainfully employed increased 291 per cent right at a period when we were making our most rapid technological development."

More Persons Employed
—And here's one for the bookst. "Would it surprise you if I told you that more people are gainfully employed in 1930 than was true in 1870, 1880, 1890, and 1910? That is what our census shows."
"Would it surprise you if I told you that in 1875 only 324 people out of each thousand were gainfully employed, and in 1900, only 100 out of every thousand, and that between 1900 and 1930, that is, the 30-year period of our most rapid technological development, we created 20,000,000 new jobs, and that now one workman out of seven is making things his father never saw if he is past 55, and one man out of every four is making things his grandfather never saw if he is past 60?"
Yes, we should be thankful!

Lansing — Germany's blitzkrieg threat of European domination and America's belated awakening from pipe dreams of peaceful isolation have just about put Michigan politics and state affairs into near-total eclipse.

Verily, these are days of confusion and fears.
The fast-changing situation is bewildering, to put it mildly.
History is being written with lightning speed. Issues are reshaping in similar tempo. How the voter will react to such issues as economy, deficits, isolationism, unemployment, social reforms, business recovery, and "keep out of war" when the British empire appears tottering, France has its back to the wall, and Roosevelt is being criticized for not spending enough money on armaments is one of those dizzy situations that nobody foresaw a month ago.

A Republican bigwig remarked the other day: "The issues are changing so fast it's impossible today to tell what will be needed to win the election in November." And it looks like he was right.

Michigan to Benefit

Exports have been declining and farm products particularly are being hard hit, but Michigan remains a bright spot on the nation's economic map.

For several months we have enjoyed business "better than average." Because of our high development of mass production methods in industry, Michigan stands to receive major benefits from the sudden spurt in rearmament orders from Washington. Steel, motors, machinery, retooling, army trucks, artillery guns, shell forgings, cartridge cases, and other military items will all be manufactured in Michigan.

Michigan industrial centers will be an important hub in this feverish rush to arm ourselves on lines of modern blitzkrieg warfare. Motor companies are gearing to turn out machine guns, cannons, gunsights, tanks, airplane engine parts and even torpedo boats. Among the products which Ford will probably turn out are submarine chasers and airplanes, both on assembly line schedules.

Thousands of other parts come from motor company supply firms, many of which are located in small towns in Michigan and other Middle-Western states.

Be Thankful!

At a time when Hitler is outdoing Napoleon and when democracy is falling back before the grim march of dictatorship, we should be devoutly thankful that we live in the United States.

One of the most enlightening word portraits of the American democracy of free initiative and liberty which we have ever read was voiced recently by a Michigan educator — Dr. James Thomas, president of Chrysler Institute of Engineering, Detroit.

"In 1790 we took a country that had 400 millions of income and in 140 years we raised that to 80 billions," he said.

"We took a country that had a new wealth of 500 millions, and in 140 years we raised that to 375 billions."

"We took a country that has three millions of population and raised that to 125 millions."

"We took a country with no roads at all and built 900,000 miles of paved roads, 3,000,000 miles of roads, and we put 25,000,000 automobiles on those roads in our anxiety to get somewhere, only exceeded by our anxiety to get back to where we started that we might start somewhere else."

Wealth of America

"We produce 85 per cent of all the automobiles produced in the world, and did you know that we have more radios than all of the rest of the world combined? We have more bathtubs than all the rest of the world."

"They say that 7 per cent of the population of the planet, living here in the United States, tilling 5 per cent of the tillable acreage of the world, produce half of the food crops produced on earth. One English authority said that we had created and owned half of the wealth of the world since the Revolutionary war. Whether that is true, 60 per cent of all the minerals extracted from this planet are taken out of the ground of the United States."

"And I know this—that half of the world's communication facilities are here in America and that nearly half of all the railways and nearly half of all the electrical energy on the planet, and this 7 per cent of the population of the planet enjoys such high standards of living that we drink half of the world's coffee, use half of the world's tin, a little over half of the world's rubber, three-fourths of the world's silk, one-third of the world's coal, and two-thirds of the world's crude oil."

Eagle as National Emblem

The original suggestion for the eagle as the emblem of the United States seal was made by William Barton, a private citizen of Philadelphia. He was called into consultation by the committee of the Continental congress which had been appointed for the purpose of drawing up a seal. Barton's first design was submitted in the summer of 1782. It was not adopted, but the original suggestion of the eagle must be credited to him. The secretary of the Continental congress, Charles Thomson, was then called into consultation and the seal, as adopted on June 20, 1782, was largely his design.

Fascism's Failure
Fascism's triumph on the battle fields, paid at a staggering toll of human blood, are in sorrowful contrast to the lowered standards of living which fascism has imposed on the peoples of Germany and Italy.

According to official Italian statistics, the wages of farm-laborers have declined from an average of 14 lire per day in 1927-28 to 10.90 in 1931, 9.25 in 1932, and only 8.90 in 1935—a slump of 37 per cent in eight years. Because the prices of consumption goods have fallen only slowly, the actual purchasing power of wages in Italy has dropped to a level at least 15 per cent below the level prior to advent of fascism.

Since 1930 both the quantity and quality of food available in Italy has fallen, so the records show. Average wheat consumption is less today than it was before the first World War. Two-thirds of farm land are held by a tenth of all farmers; sharecropping has increased; labor unions have been abolished; even the eight-hour day has been forgotten.

All this, too, is on the record. Yes, we in Michigan should be thankful!

Germany's Price
German industrial wages are only a fraction of those paid in Michigan. Here is a table of hour rates for Germany—workmen—compared with average rates for American workmen:

General building labor — German 22.5c; American 95c.
Skilled metal worker — German 22.2c; American 65-95c.

Paper processing, skilled, male — German 23.2c; American 62c.
General steel labor — German 13.9c; American 48c.

Approximately 10 per cent of the German worker's pay is deducted at the source for insurance payments, unemployment and old age pension. Wage and poll taxes exact another 3.5 per cent. So-called "voluntary" contributions for the labor front and winter relief run amount to 8 or 9 per cent.

German workers and white collar employees therefore receive net wages and salaries averaging only 77.4 to 81.5 per cent of their gross earnings, according to competent authorities.

It is a costly price to pay for loss of personal liberty and freedom, and for lowered living conditions.

Here in Michigan, blessed generously by nature and molded by man into a mighty industrial empire, we can be truly thankful.

At this moment when the future seems uncertain and discouraging, thank God that you live in the U. S. A.

Before you go to bed tonight, get down on your knees and thank God that you live in Michigan—first among all states in industrial hourly pay, first in recreational income, eighth in per capita income and high up in the column for per capita retail sales—a state whose technological achievement makes it stand out in the year, 1940, as "better than average" on the economic map of the world's greatest democracy.

That Explains the Skeeters!
Chinese refrain from burning the remains of scorpions, centipedes, or similar pests, fearing their dead spirits will hover over the household and cause an invasion of revenge seeking insects.

Standardization
STANDARDIZATION is a term which one might say has come into its own in the last decade or so, for it has become characteristic of modern times. And yet, in spite of what it signifies in certain industries—the lifting up of manufactured goods, for instance, to a prescribed level, thereby safeguarding the purchaser and the establishment of minimum wage laws, thereby protecting the wage-earner—standardization, as such, has many opponents.

We find William Lyon Phelps saying, "Regimentation is the enemy of progress," and Calvin Coolidge wrote: "Progress depends very largely on the encouragement of variety." The encouragement of variety, however, is the privilege of the individual to develop his own thoughts and shape his own character, that makes progress possible. These men saw the dangers of standardization. For no matter how high a human standard may be, limitation is always present because that standard is below perfection. For example, one might have a higher developed piece of apparatus, but if it were taken as an ultimate standard, progress would not be made beyond it. This would mean the stultifying of initiative, resourcefulness, and the limitation of progress.

How to deal with the problem of standardization—to keep that which it may offer of good, yet not to be limited by it—is a question which needs to be faced and answered. . . .

Jesus gave the one perfect standard for all time when he said (Matthew 2:48): "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." No standard is high enough, then, unless it is perfection itself. Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, writes in her textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 363): "Perfection is unchangeable."

It is not hard to grasp when we accept the spiritual record of creation set forth in the first chapter of Genesis: "God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him. . . . And God saw every thing that he had made, and behold, it was very good."

enables thought to grasp in some degree the infiniteness of the intelligence, the beauty, the good which are man's to use and enjoy.

The joy and freedom which come from knowing these spiritual facts are shown in two passages from Mrs. Eddy's writings. One from Science and Health reads (p. 288): "God expresses in man the infinite idea forever developing itself, broadening and rising higher and higher from a foundation of truth. The other from her 'Miscellaneous Writings' (p. 82, 83), is as follows: 'Immortal Mind is God; immortal good; in whom the Scripture saith 'we live, and move, and have our being.' This Mind, then, is not subject to growth, change, or diminution; but is the divine intelligence, or Principle, of all real being, holding man forever in the rhythm of unfolding bliss, as a living witness to and perpetual idea of inexhaustible good."

We may well ask ourselves about everything in our experience. What is my standard for this? Rejecting everything that is limited, distorted, and imperfect, and accepting only what is perfect, we shall see the real standard. Seeing it, we must work up to it by improving our thoughts until they conform to perfection. A high ideal. Yes, but the patience, the love, and the perseverance one must exercise to attain it bless one along the entire way.

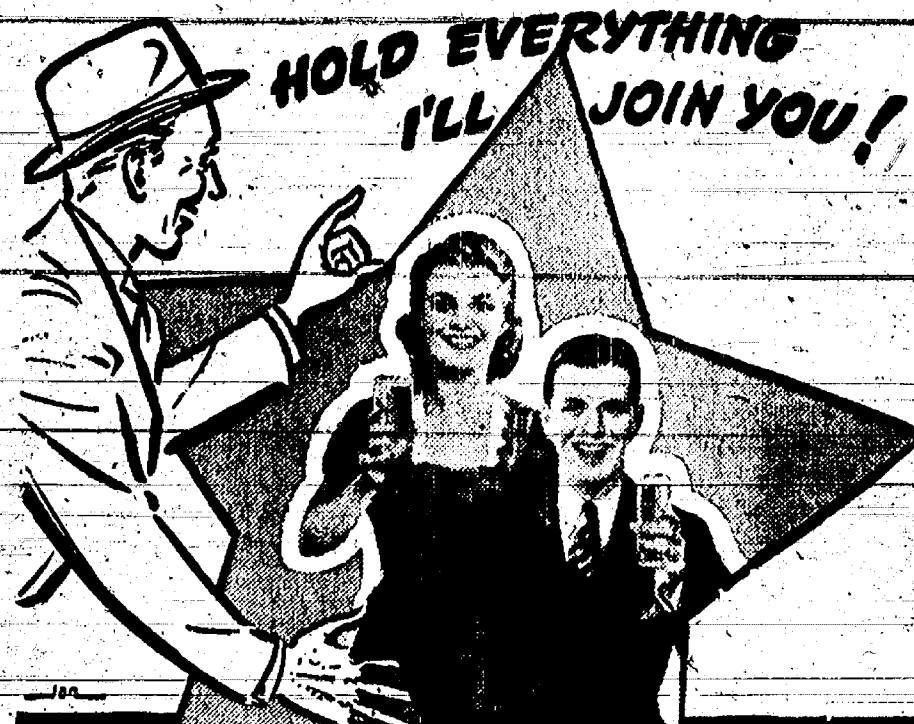

God being the Principle of all right desires, motives, and attainment, perfection is the universal standard. No limitation of good belongs to the real selfhood of anyone. And here we see that it is not a matter of great concern whether our brother is measuring up to some human standard—we may have outlined. In this regard, the all-important question is, Are our thoughts of our brother measuring up to the standard of perfection? One has a higher degree of freedom which results from accepting as one's own the standard of perfection. In it there is no restriction of good. One's love, one's service, one's consciousness of good cannot be humanly standardized, when it is understood that the resources of good are infinite and inexhaustible. Paul, with the standard of perfection before him, wrote in his letter to the Ephesians (Ephesians 1:3, 4): "Blessed be the God, and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly places in Christ; according as he hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before him in love."

ANNUAL MEETING HELD BY METHODIST CHURCH TUESDAY

The annual meeting and fourth quarterly conference was held in the dining room of the Methodist church on Tuesday evening, June 4. A bountiful pot-luck supper was served to about 40 people at 6:30, after which the meeting was called to order by the District Superintendent, Dr. William E. Harrison. Following an agenda drawn up by the superintendent the business of the fourth quarterly conference was transacted. Reports were presented, officers elected, etc., all business being done under the new constitution and law of the Methodist Church, as enacted and amended at the General Conference of May, 1940.

Reports showing the church to be in good condition were accepted from various committees, and filed with the secretary. A report by the Pastoral Relations committee requesting that the pastor be invited to remain here for another year was carried unanimously.

Dr. H. A. Leeson, who is retiring from the active work of the ministry, and the management of the Methodist Home, spoke briefly and happily of his experiences. Dr. and Mrs. Leeson expect to reside in their home in Ann Arbor after Conference.
