Governor Proclaims State P. T. A. Week

Gov. Luren D. Dickinson has designated October 6-13 as Parent-Teacher Week in Michigan, declaring "this occasion serves to emphasize once more the importance of this movement for the proper bringing up of our children, preparing them for the heavy responsibilities they must one day assume."

Parent-Teacher Week in Michigan will be an occasion for the observance of "Enrollment Week" by the 1120 units in the state, with a membership of 84,803, an all-time high. Michigan now ranks eighth in membership in the National Congress. Mrs. Fred J. Robert of Kalamazoo is membership chairman.

Gov. Dickinson's proclamation of Parent-Teacher Week follows: "Whereas, the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, in accordance with an annual custom, will observe 'Parent-Teacher Week' this year from October 6 to 13, inclusive; and

Whereas, this occasion serves to emphasize once more the importance of this movement for the proper bringing up of our children, preparing them for the heavy responsibilities they must one day assume; and

Whereas, the many serious problems they are certain to meet, as the citizens of tomorrow, will certainly call for the highest type of intelligence, for courage, and for self-sacrificing service on behalf of our public interests; and

Whereas, this high type of citizenship is well promoted by the Parent-Teacher movement;

Therefore, I, Luren D. Dickinson, Governor of Michigan, designate the period of October 6 to 13, as Parent-Teacher Week, within this state, and urge that all citizens join in its observance in every appropriate manner."

(Signed) L. D. Dickinson, Governor.

New Library Books

Children's Books

Bunny Boy and Grizzly Bear — Laura Rountree Smith. A story book for little boys and girls about a little boy and girl playing and talking together in the summer shade. The small adventures that come to them and the beguiling pictures make this a very attractive book.

Tommy Grows Wise — Romney Gay. If you liked "Cinder" or "Toby and Sue" you will love this new Gay book. When Tommy fed his vegetables to his pets they grew big and strong and ran away. When the cat came he didn't want him to run away. So what did he do?

The Broom Closet Family — A book for beginners. Read about Winnie Whiskbrook, Dickie Dishpan, Mrs. Broom and others and what good times they have together.

Fairy Tales Every Child Should Know — H. W. Mayne. A very fine collection of such popular fairy tales as: Puss in Boots, Ugly Duckling, Beauty and the Beast, Aladdin's Lamp, etc.

The Swiss Family Robinson — Johann Rudolf Wyss. An old story in a modern book with several lovely color illustrations.

Stories From Uncle Remus — Joel Chandler Harris. Some of the old favorite Uncle Remus stories come to life in a new and colorful book.

The Dog Cart — Marjorie Fischer. A lovely book with beautiful pictures. The story is about a little dog named Cart. His name was changed to Cart, and why? the story tells you.

Juvenile Books

Lassie Come Home — Eric Knight. "She's the finest collie there ever was" — that was what everyone said about Sam's collie. Her courage and devotion lead her back home to the Village of Greenall Bridge in Yorkshire County from the Duke Rading's estate in the Scotch Highlands, a distance of over a thousand miles.

The Fair Adventure — Elizabeth Gray. "New System" Page MacNeil wrote in her private notebook when ever something new and exciting happened. All this and disappointments, too, are included in the story of how Page succeeded to go away to Van Walma College.

Cecily Drake, Movie Editor — Elizabeth Lansing. A job with the movies — Cecily's dream came true. In an editorial department of a motion picture company she finds that working for the movies is not all glamour but interesting and important work. Happenings in Hollywood bring this absorbing story to a close.

Young Mac of Fort Vancouver — Marjorie Jane Carr. Young Mac, whose father was Scotch and mother Indian, faced with fear the year of confinement at the fort where a year of schooling was to determine whether he was to find his way in the Indian world or the white. His experiences at the school and what caused Young Mac to choose the kind of future life he did makes this an exciting story.

Mistress Madcap Surrenders — Edith Sherman. This is a merry story of Mohitabie Condit, the reckless girl of Revolutionary times in New Jersey. Almost the entire story is based upon fact and actual historical events. A thrilling story for junior girls.

Adult Books

Gabriel's Search — Della F. Lutes. This richly homespun novel is written by the author of "Country Kitchen" and "Home Grown". It is a sort of "Currier and Ives" novel made memorable by its wealth of picturesque detail. House-raising, revival meetings, the annual passage of wild pigeons — incidents like these present a vivid picture of life in hundreds of budding Midwest towns a century ago.

Trees of Heaven — Jesse Stuart. Old Anse Bushman, thrifty hard driving Kentucky farmer, and lazy squatter, Bolive-Tussie had a common passion — love for a certain piece of land. Old Anse had been saving up all his life to buy it and Bolive thought it was safely because his kin-folks were buried there in a little squatter family graveyard under the "Trees of Heaven". A dramatic novel growing out of the author's native soil.

The Bird in The Tree — Elizabeth Goudge. Three marvelous youngsters and two dogs romp through the pages and bring color and life to Damerosehay, the eighteenth century home of the birds, tucked away on a forgotten stretch of the Hampshire coast. The action of the novel takes place during the fall of 1938 and the obscure history of Damerosehay gradually unfolds into a fascinating novel.

The Fire And The Wood — R. C. Hutchinson. A triumphant novel of tenderness and beauty in the face of the evil forces loose in our world. Its setting is Germany and England. A powerful love story that never falters in its characterizations or its recreation of detail. There is the excitement of scientific exploration, the rush of terrifying events, and the slow growth of two human souls. This is Prof. Wm. Lyon-Phelps' selection as the best fiction of 1940.

Why Europe Fights — Walter Millis. A simple but clear diagnosis of the international affairs leading to the present war. A valuable book for the general public as well as the student of events.

ST. PAUL'S WOMEN'S GUILD

The September meeting of the Women's Guild of St. Paul's church was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Eschelbach and was opened by repeating of the Collect and devotional in charge of Mrs. Otto Lucht.

A reading, "Thy Neighbor," was given by Mrs. Martha Wehmann. The topic of the month — "Thy Neighbor" — was presented by Mrs. Wilbur Hinderer.

Rev. P. H. Grabowski gave a few remarks on "Migrant Laborers" and Mrs. C. F. Dietle read articles on "Migrant Children and Women."

Mrs. H. L. Paul and Mrs. Mary Faust were given prizes for making the most calls during the "Galloping Teas," the former having made 44 and the latter 45. Mrs. Lucht was chosen delegate, and Mrs. Dietle alternate to the Michigan-Indiana convention to be held in Mt. Clemens.

Lunch was served to 36, with Mrs. Oscar Stierle assisting.

Speakers On Parkway Project Are Available

Organizations of all kinds, in both Washtenaw and Livingston counties, are being given opportunity to learn the details of the Detroit-Huron-Clinton Parkway-Playground Proposal, which comes before the voters of five southeastern Michigan counties in the November election, it has been announced.

A joint Washtenaw-Livingston Speakers' Bureau, made up of prominent citizens of both counties, has been organized and has begun to function. It was made known by Dr. Henry S. Curtis, Ann Arbor, executive secretary of the Detroit-Huron-Clinton Parkway-Playground Association. This group is furthering the movement for adequate parks, playgrounds, scenic drives, beaches and other public recreational facilities in the five-county area of which Detroit is the center.

To obtain the services of a qualified speaker on the subject of the Parkway-Playground Proposal, clubs, organizations and groups of the two counties have only to get in touch with the various headquarters of the speakers' bureau, which have been set up at convenient points, Dr. Curtis said.

He added that letters announcing the availability of speakers on the subject have gone to all organizations in the two counties of which there are any record.

Speakers will be furnished Washtenaw county groups contacting Paul Lingnath, secretary, Board of Commerce, Ypsilanti, and the office of Dr. Curtis, 1400 Hill street, Ann Arbor.

larger and more suitable for worship purposes, was erected. This building was used until 1909, when the congregation having grown both spiritually and materially, a beautiful new stone church building was constructed, of which the congregation is justly proud.

In preparation for centennial services, a three year renovation program was started in 1938, which was climaxed by the redecoration of the auditorium and the installation of new lights in the spring of 1940.

For more than eighty-five years the German language was used in all congregational activities and a parochial day school was conducted as late as 1928. The English language is now predominantly used at the divine services and organization meetings.

The present membership consists of 321 communicant members, the total number of souls being 367. The congregation has sent six of her sons into the Christian ministry.

Bethel church has been served throughout the past century by eleven ministers of the Gospel, some of whom remained only a very short time and others for much longer periods. The venerable founder of the congregation, the Rev. F. Schmid, was pastor from 1840-1854; the Rev. J. Hilderer held a long pastorate from 1859-1873; the Rev. Paul Irion, D. D. remained at Bethel for 25 years, from 1882-1907; the Rev. F. Mayer, Ph. D., D. D. served twice at Bethel, 1907-1916 and 1927-1934. It was during his first pastorate that the stone church of Michigan granite was erected. The Rev. F. Lueckhoff served from 1918-1924. The present pastor, the Rev. W. F. Baumann, came to Bethel in April, 1935.

Bethel church, although unaffiliated with any church denomination, has been served since 1859 by pastors of the Evangelical Synod of North America, which this fall also is observing its centennial anniversary.

This and That

By Gerald K. Miller

Emotion, not common sense, is playing too big a part in our everyday thinking. So much is contradictory, we must be very careful to discriminate between the truth, half-truth and the false. We can only do so in a spirit of complete openmindedness. Following are some news reports taken from newspapers to illustrate what I mean.

British claim Nazi gasoline production cut to trickle, and 80 per cent of oil plants bombed. Germany claims to have a 10 year supply of gasoline.

The CIO and AFL united to fight the Conservation Bill. Much of labor was bitter against it.

In the United States labor would suffer more than anyone else if Hitler should invade America. Unions abolished long hours with just enough pay to keep body and soul together, forced migration of thousands of laborers to interior Germany at real slave labor is the history of each of the conquered countries.

Unless red tape and unnecessary delays in the Defense Program are not cleared up immediately, William Knudsen, who left a $300,000 a year job with General Motors to become defense production chief is likely to make quite a loud fuss. He has met delays at every turn. The White House is trying to keep everything quiet, and hopes everything will shape up quickly.

Democratic headquarters issues statement that Defense Program is right on schedule.

German salesmen are offering steel and many manufactured goods for October delivery to South America at prices far below United States prices. They claim the war will be over then, and Germany will resume its foreign trade.

Neutral military observers now believe that Germany's chances of a blitzkrieg on England this winter are rapidly approaching zero. The war will last throughout the winter.

A private employer, even filling defense orders, could not fire from a job any employee solely because he was a Communist, Alien, or Fascist. The National Labor Relations Board would force them to rehire men fired and restore back pay.

The United States Government is removing Aliens, Fascists and Communists from defense areas such as the Panama Canal Zone, powder factories, etc.

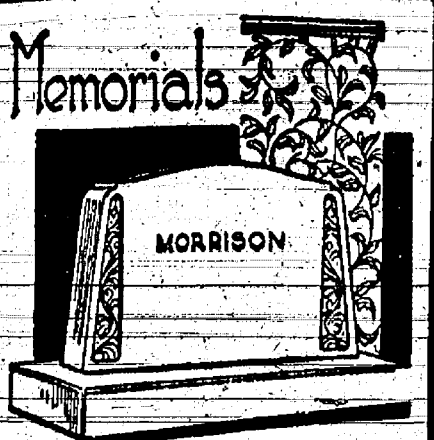

Despite denials, it is true that at least one Senator has been informally sounding out colleagues on their attitude toward a declaration of war on Germany. He is Senator Pepper. The response so far has been definitely cool.

Over two hundred Communist and Fascist organizations in the United States have embarked on a "Peace Campaign" to keep us from fighting their countrymen in Europe. They have found the best way is to organize mothers to operate these organizations.

Army denies that they have any new method for making planes invisible.

News dispatch from Buffalo reports a new lacquer enamel has been developed to "enable the army to change the color of a plane, depending on the terrain over which it is flying." A company official, the item continued, said the paint "is now being used experimentally by the army at Maxwell field, Alabama."

Everyone should be vitally interested in the causes of traffic accidents in his community. Too many times people inquire "How did this happen?" They should ask "What caused it?"

HOWELL—Last week Tuesday five Howell young men, Wilber Chapel, James Hoff, Philip Schmitt, George Fohey and Paul Baldwin, Jr., left in the Hoff car for a motor trip to Washington, D. C. and other points. At Youngstown, Ohio a truck loaded with concrete blocks lost off part of its load directly in front of the Hoff car, the car hitting the blocks and turning over on its side. Fortunately, none of the boys were injured but the car was wrecked. James' father, Bert W. Hoff, went after the boys, the other car being sold for junk, all returning home. However, this did not daunt them and Saturday they started out on the trip again, with Charles Schmitt's car. County Press.

PLYMOUTH—David Nichol, son of Rev. and Mrs. Walter Nichol of this city, will arrive in Lisbon, Spain today on his way to Berlin, where he will next week become the war correspondent of the Chicago Daily News in the capital of Germany. He left New York City yesterday, Thursday morning, by clipper, the flight from America to Spain requiring less than 24 hours. From Lisbon he goes to Barcelona tomorrow, then to Rome on Monday where he will meet the News correspondent in Italy, spending a day or so in that city. He will arrive in Berlin on Wednesday or Thursday. The entire trip is being made by airplane. Mail.

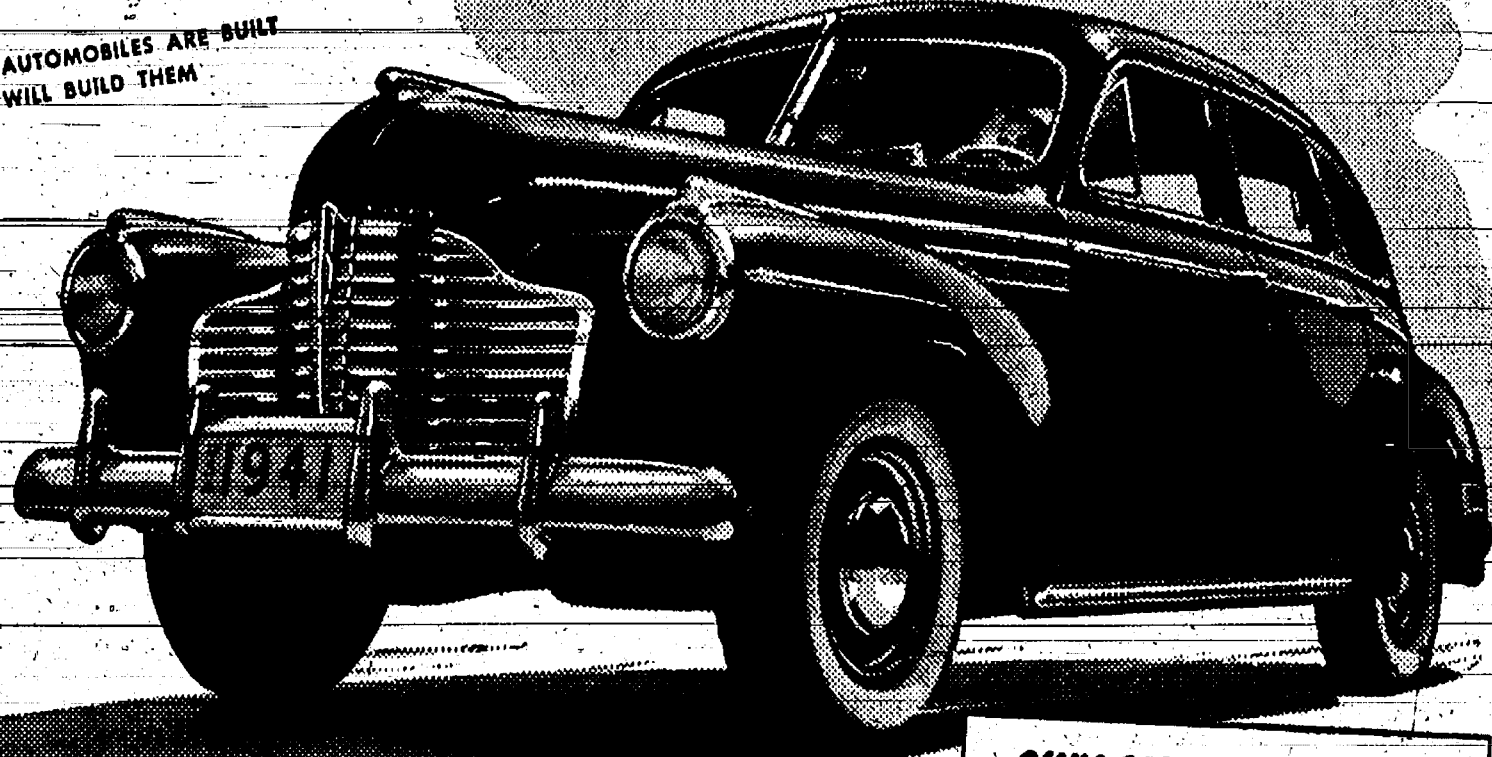

MASON—Ewers Lake, south of Dansville, will become the center of one of several public hunting areas to be established in the southern peninsula of Michigan, if plans tentatively approved by the state department of conservation materialize. The Dansville area will consist, at the outset, of about 4850 acres, which may be added to if land is available at reasonable prices, and, if use of the hunting area proves its worth. Howes Lake is also within the territory approved for establishment of the area. County News.

TECUMSEH—With sixty-five employees on its payroll and a heavy schedule of unfilled orders, the Meyers Aircraft Company, one of Tecumseh's newest industries, today was endeavoring to speed up its production in an effort to meet the demand for its product. The company is now building two to three planes weekly, and hopes soon to increase the schedule to a plane a day. The Meyers plant, one of four ships approved by the federal government for training purposes, is much sought after by instructors who are training pilots for the army and navy service. Two ships that left the local plant this week went for training purposes, one to Tulsa, Okla., the other to Lincoln, Neb. Another ship, already sold, will come off the line today of Friday. Herald.

More Power, per Gallon

WHEN BETTER AUTOMOBILES ARE BUILT BUICK WILL BUILD THEM

YOU'LL like the size of this trim new Buick SPECIAL for '41—its room, its softer ride, its Permi-firm steering, its fresh smart style and all that.

But what you'll go for is what happens under that broad bonnet—the thrill and the thrust you get from that husky, big, 115-hp. Buick FIREBALL® Eight.

For in each flame-packed cylinder of that silk-smooth power plant a flaring ball of fire is set off with each spark-leap.

Packed to higher compression than ever before, fuel gives up more power and more mileage—power when you need it, economy throughout the whole driving range.

Indeed, so great is the power at your command that at 30 you use only one-eighth of the energy at your disposal.

All the rest is there waiting for pick-up, hill-climb and sudden getaway.

Even at 50 you use less than one-quarter of your available power, and at 75 still have nearly half "on call" for emergency use.

More than that, to this engine you can likewise add Compound Carburetion—and step up both power output and your mileage. At 30 you'll get nearly one and one-half more miles per gallon, at 50 almost two, and at 70 an extra mile and one-fifth.

But that's just one side of the story—the facts side. Only one thing will give you the stirring feel of Buick's thrill-packed behavior on the road.

That's a demonstration—and it's yours for the asking. When will you be in to ask for it?

*According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, a super motor which travels with a series of explosions like the shock waves of a great projectile is called a "FIREBALL."

Lansing—Political fireworks will soon start popping.

With the Democratic ticket completed and the Republican slate awaiting action at the Grand Rapids state convention, opening this Thursday (Sept. 26), the campaign is expected to get under way vigorously.

Wendell Willkie, the Republican standard-bearer, invades Michigan on Monday (Sept. 30) for an address before the national convention of the Republican Women's clubs at Olympia in Detroit. And despite President Roosevelt's insistence that affairs of state will keep him from political engagements, Chairman Charles Porritt and his helpers haven't given up hope yet that the President may inspect both state headquarters, are officially optimistic, of course.

It's going to be a colorful party, if Mr. and Mrs. John Public will only take their minds off the European tug-of-war. Therein is another story.

Anti-War Sentiment
Word from Washington's congressional row is to the effect that recent mail from the home precincts has been running heavily anti-war.

To give you an idea how Michigan home folks feel about it, here is the roll call on the compulsory military service bill. Against it—Senators Arthur Vandenberg (R) and Prentiss Brown (D); Representatives Blackley, Bradley, Crawford, Hoffman, Jonkman, McGold, Michener, Shafer, Wolcott and Woodruff (all Republicans); and Democrats Dingell, Lesinski, Rabaut, and Tenerowicz.

Out of Michigan's delegation of 17 congressmen, three did not vote: Republicans Dondoro and Engel, and Democrat Hook. The score, in reality, was an overwhelming protest against conscription, like it or not.

It merely illustrates the observation, oft made, that congressmen are responsive to the feelings of the folks back home. In this case, the mail has been heavy anti-conscription and anti-war. An election is looming, too. Memory is also fresh that Senator Vandenberg, opposed to conscription, won a smashing primary victory.

Public Opinion
If the congressional vote and the mailbag trend is any accurate index of Michigan public opinion, the anti-war state of thought may have a bearing on the November election.

Both party nominees are busy trying to pin the appeasement label on the other, while both have also announced in unmistakable words a pledge not to send American sons overseas again to fight on foreign soils.

Hadley Cantrill, director of the Princeton Public Opinion Research project, has been laboring since the outbreak of the war on an intensive study of the American mind with respect to neutrality and war. Aided by a grant of funds from the Rockefeller Foundation, Dr. Cantrill has come to some definite conclusions, as given in the current issue of Public Opinion Quarterly. As they have a relation to the Michigan senatorial and congressional attitude, we will review them briefly.

War's outbreak in September, 1939, found an overwhelming majority of American people utterly confident that England and France would win, as shown by George Gallup polls at the time. By late summer, 1940, more people believed the Germans will win than those clinging to hopes of an ultimate Allied victory.

As of August 1, hopes were rising that the British, after all, might stave off immediate military defeat long enough to get an ultimate triumph due to their economic blockade. Yet, while a large majority of Americans want Washington to do more to assist the British, they also balk at anything that might embroil us in the conflict. Certainly, both nominees are pledged not to send the Yanks "over there," although it will be recalled that President Wilson was re-elected in 1916 on a record of keeping us out of war—and we went to war the very next spring.

Isolationists
Dr. Cantrill makes the observation that about one-quarter of our population adhere to an isolation view—"It is more important to keep out of war than to help England."

Also, a majority of the isolationists believe that Germany will win the war. Of possible interest to our women readers is Dr. Cantrill's observation that the Gallup polls show there are more women in this isolationist group than men, also more poor people than those who are well-to-do.

The younger Americans tend to believe cynically that the war is largely a contest between the British and Germans over power and wealth rather than over democracy.

A second group is made up of the interventionists who, as we enter the fall season, make up a good third of the country's population. These citizens favor conscription; they fear a German attack on this country. They feel we should go to the limit in helping beleaguered England, even at the risk of involvement in the war ourselves.

This group comprises many people over 30 years of age in the upper and middle income groups; they take an educated long-range view, possess greater stability of opinion, and are fully aware of the economic consequences of war dislocation.

Sympathetic Group
A 40 per cent group (No. 3) is sympathetic with England, but agrees with the isolationist group that it is more important to keep out of war than to aid England.

With regard to the possibility of a German victory, the sympathetic group is about half-way between the isolationist and the interventionist segments.

At the present time, when new British pleas for military assistance are arising at Washington, the nation finds itself in a contradictory state of public opinion: Aid England but keep out of war, first and last.

It is this majority viewpoint, as analyzed by Michigan congressmen, whether in the senate or in the house, that was behind the almost solid anti-conscription vote last week.

Close Culling

One way to improve a dairy herd is to cull out the low producers that do not pay their way. Although great emphasis is placed on scientific breeding—as the only way to make any lasting improvement in the productivity of dairy herds—a close culling should continue to be practiced.

METHODIST WOMEN ORGANIZE

Methodist women organized their new Society of Christian Service at a meeting held in the church last Sunday evening at 7:30.

The new society consolidates all the various groups of the former M. E. church for the sake of uniformity and simplicity of organizations in the Methodist church created by the merger of 1939.

The pastor presided at this meeting and was ably supported by Mrs. E. P. Bennett who was elected temporary secretary, and by Mrs. R. Vin- tines at the organ console for the first time at a public service. After "Faith of our Fathers" had been sung and a prayer of dedication offered the Charter Signing Ceremony was conducted according to the ritual provided. Forty-two charter members then signed the roll in groups of seven, with appropriate declarations and suitable hymns.

After the charter signing the officers were elected:

President—Mrs. T. H. Bahmiller.
Vice-President—Mrs. A. L. Steger.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. George Atkinson.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Leroy Mayer.

Treasurer—Mrs. John Kilmer.
Vice-President in charge of Mission Study—Mrs. Edwin Koebbe.

Vice President in the Home Group of Mission Workers—Mrs. L. L. Lord.
After the officers had been called to the platform the meeting was closed with Union Prayer, the Hymn of Loyalty, and the benediction.

The officers of the Women's Society of Christian Service will be installed, and the By-Laws of the society adopted at the first regular meeting in October. The charter will remain open until midnight, September 30, 1940. All members who sign the roll before that time will each receive a certificate of charter membership. Those who sign after October 1 will be known as regular members.

EXPLAINS SOCIAL SECURITY

Mr. Wilhelm, the assistant manager of the field office of the Social Security Board, with offices in Jackson, addressed the Kiwanis club at its regular meeting at Kolb's hall on Monday night.

There are now close to fifty million accounts for old age insurance under this federal act. The necessity for social security numbers is explained by the fact that there are listed upon the rolls 400,000 persons by the name of Smith, 300,000 by the name of Johnson and 4000 by the name of John Smith.

Old age insurance pays seven types of benefits: to the wage earner retiring at 65, to his wife reaching the same age, to his widow should he die before 65, to dependent children under 18, to dependent parents should he be unmarried at the time of his death, to his widow if he leaves no dependent children, and to pay his funeral expenses if he leaves no dependents.

The annuity payments are based upon 40 per cent of the first fifty dollars of his average monthly income during the insured period, plus 10 per cent of the remainder, plus 1 per cent of this total for each year that he has worked. To illustrate, should a workman's monthly income amount to $150, the amount he receives will be based on 40 per cent of the first $50 which is $20, plus 10 per cent of the balance which is $10, or $30 in all. If the insured has worked for five years before retirement, there would be added to this amount 1 per cent for each of the five years, or 50 cents for each year. The total payment would then be $31.50 a month for the workman. When his wife reaches 65, she begins to draw three-quarters of the amount he does.

WOMEN'S SOCIETY INSTALLS

The installation service for the officers of the Women's Society of Christian Service was held at the Salem Grove Methodist church on Sunday evening, Sept. 22. The meeting was opened by Mrs. Truman Lehman.

Song—Jesus Calls Us.
Prayer—Rev. Lenz.

Scripture reading—Mrs. P. H. Riemenschneider.
Reading—Mrs. Truman Lehman.

Song—Lead On O King Eternal.
Prayer—Mrs. Spooner.

Address—Rev. Lenz.
Installation of officers by Rev. Lenz.

Several ladies joined the society. Offering. Benediction. Doxology.

The membership committee of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Salem Grove Methodist church held their first meeting at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Proctor on Wednesday evening, Sept. 18. After Scripture reading, Deut. 10:19 by Mrs. Glenn Rentscher, the members discussed plans to carry on their tasks.

Anyone wishing to join our newly organized Society is cordially welcomed to do so. The charter enrollment is open until Oct. 15. Kindly notify either Mrs. Chester Notten, Mrs. Leonard Loveland or Mrs. Kenneth Proctor.

—Mrs. Kenneth Proctor.
The program committee of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Salem Grove church met at the church on Friday afternoon. Program plans for the next three months were made. There will be a program at the church on Friday evening, October 11.

ENTERTAIN CHILD STUDY CLUB

A meeting of the Child Study club was held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. G. W. Walworth, with Miss Ida Brown as co-hostess.

It was voted by the club to purchase a copy of "The Tree of Liberty" by Elizabeth Page, for the library. Following a short business meeting, a delightful musical program was given by Miss Marie McNeil, musical instructor in the public school. She announced her own numbers and gave interesting and descriptive information about each number. Her program was as follows:

"Juba"—By Ditt.
"Sparks"—By Mashinski.

"Waltz in C Sharp Minor"—By Chopin.
"The Minstrels"—By De Bussy.

Miss McNeil is a very accomplished musician and her selection was greatly enjoyed. A musical guessing contest was played, Mrs. Wilbur Hinderer and Mrs. David Miller winning honors.

The hostess served dainty refreshments. The next meeting of the club will be held October 8 at the home of Mrs. L. G. Palmer.

FARMERS' CLUB MEETS

The Western Washtenaw Farmers' Club held its September meeting last Friday evening in the dining room of the Methodist church. After a bountiful roast beef dinner served by the committee in charge, President Harper called the meeting to order for the business session.

The Parkway Playground Project was presented to the club by Dr. H. S. Curtis of Ann Arbor in an illustrated lecture on the proposed Detroit-Huron-Clinton Park and Parkway Plan. The proposal to create a board of administration to develop a five-county Metropolitan Authority is to be submitted to the voters at the November election and Prof. Curtis offered many good reasons, backed by excellent illustrations, why the vote for the creation of such authority should receive the enthusiastic support of all citizens who have the welfare of an area containing about three million people at heart. In the question period which followed Dr. Curtis' lecture he stated that the cost of administration would be 25¢ per $1000 of assessed valuation of the property within the five-county area.

Case of Necessity
The Iroquois Indians considered animals as having immortal souls and possessing all the rights of human beings, according to an article in the American museum's magazine, Natural History. When a hunter of this tribe killed a bear, for instance, he entreated the animal not to be angry, explaining that he needed clothing to wear and flesh to eat, and that he (the warrior) would indeed not have held any grudge if the tables had been turned and the bear had succeeded in killing him instead.

The Hi-Light

Senior News

The Seniors of '41' started on their drive for funds last week by selling magazine subscriptions and conducting a stand at the football game with Flat Rock.

The school furnished materials and the carpenters of the class erected a permanent stand. This will be in use at all home games. Your patronage is appreciated.

The Sophomore Class

The Sophomores this week had an active part in the All-Hi party. They planned for the decoration of the gymnasium and also had a dancing performance that took first prize in the contest for the best stunt.

Tomorrow night the Sophomores will hold the Freshman initiation party in the gymnasium.

Junior News

The Junior class had charge of the first pep-meeting Friday morning at 8:30. Martha Barber was chosen to lead it. The entire student body of the high school and sixth and seventh grades attended.

A "Pop Quiz" stunt was put on by some of the members of the Junior class and awards were given to the participants.

The rings for the Juniors are expected soon.

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics club opened its forthcoming year by electing the following officers:

President—Pearl Alexander
Vice Pres.—Jeanette May
Secretary—Arlene Koenigster
Treasurer—Evelyn Lehman

The club is composed of first and second year groups. Both groups are now doing extensive work in canning and making jelly.

The club is planning many activities for the coming year under the leadership of Miss Muzzall.

All-Hi Party

On Friday night, Sept. 20 the Student Council sponsored an All-Hi party in the gymnasium in order to acquaint the pupils with one another.

For entertainment they offered small stunts or skills by each class and dancing. There were also refreshments.

The Seniors had charge of refreshments; the Juniors, entertainment; the Sophomores, decoration; and the Freshmen, clean-up.

The Sophomores won the prize, a box of candy for the best stunt and the Seniors won the boys prize.

Editorial

"Fidelity"—This is not a very large word but contains a great deal of meaning. The type of fidelity we are speaking of is "school fidelity." Have you ever given a thought to the meaning of this? To our way of thinking it means to uphold your school's standards and to defend them. This does not mean you have to defend them when they are not in the right. We are willing to admit mistakes and help to correct them. Do not be too harsh in your criticism of your school or your fellow students. Be loyal to your school and you will be well paid.

Band and Orchestra

The band and orchestra began their fifth year on September 15.

Before this date, however, many exciting things had been happening.

The band of 1940-41 had been recruited for the new uniforms of blue and gold. These uniforms will be military style with navy trousers, jackets and caps all trimmed in gold.

Several losses last year have been suffered by the band but these have been made up with new members.

The band will play for the Community Fair on October 4 and 5, and expects to play at the next home football game on October 25 when Chelsea plays Milan.

The game out of town, at which the band will play has not yet been decided upon.

The band also hopes to enter in the regional playing this winter.

Our First Assembly

On Sept. 25 Captain Frank Criley was at Chelsea high school where he gave a lecture on deep sea diving to a large audience of high school students and others. He is America's greatest United States Navy submarine engineer, who holds the world's record for deep sea diving. He has sought treasures in sunken galleons; battled a monster Octopus; dogged man-eating sharks; helped raise many ships; played in submarine movie drama; conducted research and experimental work in submarines.

Captain Criley exhibited his 200 pound flexible rubber diving suit, equipment and curios from the bottom of the sea. He has been farther down in the depths of the ocean than any other living man.

President Coolidge presented Captain Criley with the Congressional Medal of Honor and also awarded Navy Cross, Treasury Department, Italian Red Cross medals and many others.

Gaddin' Round With Gadd

Well, our first game is now in the books and although we came out on the short end of the score, still we do not feel that we need to be ashamed of the defeat. The fellows played a good game but there are still a good many things to correct, especially in the line. They all gave their best and the backfield looked good on offense. Puz, Novess outplayed the Flat Rock punter by about a yard or two while Captain Andy Policht was showing some swell punning ability. Captain Policht broke away once on an off-tackle slant and had a clear field ahead but stumbled as he broke away from the Flat Rock safety man, Kern and Slane both did very well too in the backfield.

The line had a little flash with Knickerbocker doing a good job at running guard and also breaking up plays just as they started in Flat Rock's backfield.

All in all it was a good game but we did not have the support we needed. I saw many of you out there giving a hand to the boys but would like to see more. It was a sportsmanlike crowd too.

We have an open date tomorrow but next week Friday, October 4, we play Belleville there. It ought to be a good game so let us have everybody there.

Hit and Miss

Sometimes one's good nature wears thin, much to the delight of their hecklers. So it is in Study Hall and many other places about school. The more these conspirators heckle you, the angrier you become, and consequently, the balloon is bound to burst. Maybe this idea can be fitted to a situation or situation, who knows?

Incidentally, the above paragraph is dedicated to our Latin II solist.

School started with a bang this year, and when I say bang, I mean bang. It isn't as if 40 Freshmen weren't enough, but twice that many nothing but a notorious nightmare, but at least they outnumber the Sophs.

Once again the graduates of C. H. Freshmen.

S. go out to make their names known on the different campuses throughout Michigan. Most underclassmen (who have now become upperclassmen), have forgotten them, but here's one that hasn't and he's wishing them the best of luck.

Miss Fox in her room, "most always has a quotation on the board. This week's is by Carlyle: "The greatest of faults, I believe, is to be conscious of none." Like it? I did, and speaking of quotations, I also liked the one of Mrs. McDonald's that went:

"It's a dead language, as dead as it can be."

I killed off all the Romans, I saw the living ones.

Proposed program reads that this isn't so, but I'm noncommittal. Maybe that's the healthiest!

That's all for next week when I'll be back with an interview of a teacher and maybe a club or two—until then I leave you with this thought:

Girls have many faults; boys have only two—everything they say and everything they do.

Chelsea vs. Flat Rock

Chelsea High making its first attempt at a come-back to the pinnacle of once enjoyed, opened against Flat Rock last Friday. While the final score was 7 to 0 in favor of the visitors, there were many encouraging features.

The Flat Rock boys carried more weight but as was predicted last week the home boys were fast. Chelsea played some spotty football and were exceptionally good in spurts, only to bog down when the opportunity came to push over a touchdown.

The only touchdown of the game came toward the close of the first half when Flat Rock blocked a kick on Chelsea's 30-yard line and followed it by their only successful forward pass to the 5-yard line where Ostrick went over on a line plunge and Garri ran it over on a fake placement for the point after.

Chelsea made a total of seven first downs while the visitors had only one more to its credit.

The aerial attack of Chelsea's netted a total of 57 yards in six tries against only 25 for Flat Rock. Novess was consistent with his punts, averaging better than 25 yards each.

One of the Chelsea boys, playing his first high school game, was a little over anxious with the result that there were several penalties for off-sides, and this alone was an advantage to the visitors.

Highlights of the game came for the Blue and Gold when Perkins recovered a fumble on Flat Rock's 15-yard line; Policht's 30-yard run on a fake punt formation on fourth down; Combs recovered a fumble on the 45-yard line; Policht intercepted a pass and ran 20 yards only to trip and fall when a clear field loomed ahead.

Chelsea made the most consistent gains in all the quarters and once after a march the length of the field had the pigskin on the one-yard line, fourth down, only to lose ground on the play.

There were no penalties for any unnecessary roughness or dirty playing in all, it was a very clean and well played game by both teams.

There were three people who turned in themes that were good enough that they didn't have any mistakes. Their names are June Vail, Joan Shutes and Jane Downer.

The seventh grade was invited to the pep meeting and enjoyed it very much.

Hungary Harvest Celebrations

In Hungary the harvest season is celebrated with village festivals and processions in which peasants march carrying rakes, scythes, sickles and other tools decorated with ribbons and flowers. Two men carry on their shoulders a pole from which hangs a harvest crown, made of several kinds of grain and decked out with pink and blue paper flowers and bits of ribbon, says Grace Humphrey in "Hungary, Land of Contrasts." The afternoon is spent in singing and dancing to gypsy music, and is climaxed with a great supper of goulash, potatoes, paprika, onions and wine.

Mary's Lamb

Almost everywhere that Mary goes, she goes, too, including school. The pet brown and white dog of Mary McCullough, is also the mascot of Lincoln high school. He sits upright at his desk while listening attentively to the lessons. As a janitorial sideline, he picks up scraps of paper on the floor and deposits them in the waste basket.

Children In Court

Magazine Solicitors

Several young men in one community were soliciting subscriptions for magazines. They presented the plea that they had won a scholarship to some distant college and needed only one more subscription to complete the work. The public did not know that scholarships to accredited schools could not be won by selling magazine subscriptions.

Such gross misrepresentations practiced by boys in their teens are laying foundations for questionable careers. They become hardened by lying and imposing upon people. With such a bad start they easily drift into more pernicious "tricks."

Fraudulent peddlers and solicitors can be detected and discouraged if every prospective customer would demand to see proper credentials, including an authorization card from the Chamber of Commerce.

Benefits of a Tennis Court

Most children are eager to cooperate in the undertaking of an interesting project. An unused tennis court attracted the attention of a group of boys who applied to the owner for permission to use it. With permission given, the boys set to work to reclaim the court. Many long hours were spent in re-surfacing it, mending the backstops and collecting money for a net.

The tennis court soon became a children's rendezvous. The boys were careful about the use given the court and kept a strict watch to see that all played fairly and that there was no swearing done by any of the tougher boys. Two of the boys who had engaged in the project had previously been in court and were now on probation. The tennis court kept them completely occupied during the summer and directed their talents and energies toward other clean sports. Here is constructive proof of the benefits of proper recreation and work in the aid of juvenile delinquency.

Sept 26-Oct 24New Ways Discovered
To Aid Home ComfortFew people realize how many different factors affect living comfort which any house offers its inhabitants. So say investigators of the problems of home comforts, first in the laboratory and then in a typical "three-story" frame house built for the purpose at the University of Illinois engineering experiment station.The station frankly admits it still hasn't found out all there is to know about ways of keeping warm in winter and cool in summer without spending too much money for fuel or refrigeration. It lists, however, in a bulletin some of the variations in details of home construction which, singly or in combination, may make the calculation of a proper heating system for year-round comfort wholly different in one house from what it is in another. The list includes not only generally recognized points such as wall thicknesses, pitch of roof, type of roof covering, proportion of total window area to wall
area, but details such as character of soil and character of internal wall coverings.A house built in a region of dense,
clay soil will lose more heat, particularly in the case of a bungalow resting directly on the ground, with no cellar, than one standing on a sandy or loamy soil, according to the tests.The tests have further proved that there is no advantage in high-cel-ing, home design, while there is a disadvantage of increased costs, longer stair flights, and greater heating expense in winter. Modern methods of construction and proper internal air circulation make it possible to keep just as cool in summer in a house with an eight-foot ceiling as in the old-time 15-foot ceiling room.Attic exhaust fans for drawing the warm air out at the top of the house and letting cool air rise up from below; awnings; the use of double windows all the year round; better roof insulation as well as wall insulation; and the use of blowy fan to circulate cool air throughout the house have been proved sufficient in small homes to maintain indoor comfort even in the hottest weather.U. S. Itinerant Workers Replace Farm 'Hands'There is a new "vanishing American." He is the hired man on the nation's farms.The Alabama state extension service reports that more than a million workers move from farm to farm and state to state following the crops. They have virtually supplanted the hired man of old throughout the nation.First these remnants of the soil converge on Florida for the new harvest season, where they remain until late spring.They follow the harvest up the Atlantic coast, gathering crops in Georgia, South Carolina, Virginia,
Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey
and New York.They start the southward trek again in the fall. Others leave Florida in the spring, to pursue the harvest up the Mississippi valley.
They work on crops along the Gulf
to Louisiana, in Arkansas, Kentucky
and Tennessee, Missouri, Illinois and Ohio, Michigan and along the edge of Lake Erie.Other groups of wandering farm workers are found similarly following the harvest seasons on the West coast, working northward toward Canada, then returning southward.

Called 'Sue'

Quite frequently deer hunters,
while in camp open up the old argument as to the proper name of the fat deer. This has been called suet for over 500 years by English stag hunters. In a reference book on hunting written by the Second Duke of Devon in 1406, he refers to the fat of the red and fallow deer as "suet." The book is entitled "The Master of Game," and is among the first books ever written of the sport of hunting.

Sept 19-Oct 3(Continued from last week)
John's mother smiled faintly. Her skin was dark like John's and Deb-by's.

John's mother smiled faintly.

Her dark eyes, deeply set under straight dark brows, were as sombre as John's were when he was troubled. She held her rather than average figure erect but rather slightly stooped, because some indomitable purpose, through a succession of years, had stiffened her spine, then because she realized or gave a thought to the decorative value of a fine carriage. Her hair was lovely, dark with only a sprinkling of gray. It waved back from her forehead and temples, softening
the bony contours of her face. Properly dressed and with the stiffness relaxed she would have the distinction Uncle John had had. Gay wondered if she had ever had his warmth and humor, if she ever laughed aloud."The fire is pleasant," Gay poured coffee into a thin porcelain cup with a red sea-weed pattern. "I had no idea it could be so cold here in March."

"We're accustomed to the cold."

Ann Houghton, seated in a wing-chair at the opposite side of the hearth, took a length of knitting from a bag hanging on the arm of the chair. She was never idle. Gay had observed in the two days she had spent in John's home. Her housekeeping was a ritual meticulously performed. In those moments, as now, when she was not engaged in some active task, her long hands with prominent knuckles and nails, nicely shaped but unmanicured, were busy with knitting or sewing. "It's healthy but not very comfortable, especially since you've just come from Florida.""I don't mind at all," Gay said quickly. "Can't we go for a walk?""I'm afraid I can't spare the time," John's mother said in the cool deliberate tone which held Gay at an impassable distance. "But you go, if you like. Only you must wear Debby's moccasins." Her glance fell to Gay's sturdy but dailingly fashioned oxfords. "It's so easy to get your toes frosted. I shouldn't want you to suffer from chilblains
the rest of your life.""You would probably enjoy a walk," John's mother said after an interval of silence during which the needles had clicked and Gay had determinedly finished her breakfast.
"It's dull for you while Sarah and Debby are in school. If we had known you were coming, we might have arranged something entertaining, though everybody has been storm-bound during the past two days.""It was inconsiderate of me to have brought a blizzard," coming almost directly from Florida, I should have done better."Ann Houghton's faint smile was her only acknowledgment of the pleasantry."I don't, ordinarily, encourage gaiety during the week," she went on. "This is Sarah's first year of teaching in the high school. She is naturally eager to make a favorable impression and she isn't very strong."Sarah looked strong enough, Gay thought, though a little subdued and unhappy. No, not actively unhappy, resigned. A little gaiety, the thought continued, would do Sarah more good than her mother's persistent coddling. Still that was Sarah's concern—and her mother's."It's pleasant just to be here," Gay said. She pushed her chairback from the table, slipped her hand into the pocket that contained her cigarette case, reconsidered.
"I've enjoyed my breakfast."Ann Houghton folded the knitting into the bag, rose briskly from the wing-chair with, Gay thought, an appearance of relief. She took a tray from the window sill and began to clear the small table from which Gay had eaten her breakfast."Let me help you," Gay, too, rose, stood watching Ann Houghton's competent movements."No, thank you. I know just where everything goes," Ann Houghton's voice was gracious but chillingly reserved. "Amuse yourself if you can with our limited resources. I suppose that John will come tonight.""He said he hoped to when he called last night."Ann Houghton glanced at the window through which sunlight streamed in dazlingly across a frosting of snow on the sill."I hope he won't attempt it unless the roads are clear," she turned to place the vase containing the ivy and geranium on the mantel above
the fireplace.Was she going to tell her that John wasn't strong? Gay wondered.
As though anything other than an emergency call would keep him
from coming now that the storm was over."John is accustomed to icy roads.
I suppose," she said, a faint note of exasperation in her voice. "He drives all winter."Ann Houghton took up the tray.
"It's foolish of me to worry," she said, "but when his work isn't involved I don't like him to take unnecessary risks. Will you go for a walk now or wait until the sun is warmer? I do the upstairs work on Friday while Hilda is cleaning downstairs. It's tiresome for you to be exposed to all the household machinery but when there are only two of us to keep the wheels turning we must observe routine. I try to spare Sarah, and Debby hasn't a natural bent toward housework. I'm afraid.""Let me help you," Gay urged, smiling, ashamed of the exasperation her voice had revealed. "I haven't a natural bent for housework, either, but I can learn."

Again Ann Houghton smiled faintly.

"You're far too decorative, my dear, to—"

"To be useful?"

"To be expected to be useful,"
Ann Houghton finished smoothly.
"Besides, it's cold upstairs. No, you stay here by the fire until it's warm enough for a walk. Have you an interesting book? There are magazines on the table.""I'll amuse myself." The warmth and friendliness faded out of Gay's voice. She walked to a table against the wall and picked up a magazine.John's mother went out of the room. Gay returned to the hearth, dropped into a chair, sat with the magazine unopened on her lap. Ann Houghton resented her, she thought.
It was obvious, though no reference had been made to it, that she was opposed to John's marrying her.
That was a little ironic. Mothers of eligible sons had courted her persistently, since she was seventeen, that toothy dowager in England, the Swiss countess who was a patroness of the school she had attended, mothers in New York and Palm Beach and Southampton. She was relieved when her engagement to Todd had put an end to that form of pursuit."I didn't matter except just now, when she was here—except that she felt, or imagined she felt, a difference in John. The afternoon he had brought her here, at dinner, later in the evening, she had felt Ann Houghton's influence working a change in John. It was nothing she could define, a feeling that he was seeing her through her mother's eyes, weighing her words, her gestures, her reactions to the family life familiar to him by some scale of values which his mother supplied.A feeling—she had imagined it, perhaps. But when he came tonight, would she feel the same tension and strain? There was no change in Ann Houghton's manner toward her would John?But this brooding was morbid.
She needed to get out of the house.
The sun was shining and the sky was clear and blue. She wanted to explore the town where John had lived as a child, a boy, when he had spent his summers during the period that he had been in college and medical school. She would ask for Debby's moccasins, since that seemed to be important. The magazine slid to the floor as she rose from the chair.Climbing the stairs, she heard a sound on the upper floor, but as she walked along the hall, she caughta glimpse through the open door of John's room of Ann Houghton's
brown skirt and dark red cardigan sweater. She paused in the hall outside the door, meaning to ask for Debby's moccasins and to tell Mrs.
Houghton that she was going to take a walk.The words, forming on her lips, were checked there. The position of Ann Houghton's figure held her motionless, silent. She stood with her back to the door, the palms of her hands pressed flat against the wall, looking at a long framed panel between the windows. Her shoulders sagged. Every line of her body, usually erect, drooped in some momentarily acknowledged defeat.
As Gay watched, her head bent slowly forward until it touched the panel against the wall.Gay drew back out of sight and called her name. The reply, when it came, was controlled, free from any hint of emotion. Mrs. Hough-ton's shoulders were erect. She turned from adjusting a fold of the crisp white curtain at the window to glance with an inquiring expression and a faint smile toward the door."If you can tell me where Deb-by's moccasins are," she said, her own voice controlled with effort, "I think I'll go out now.""They're in her wardrobe, I think.
I'll get them. Debby's wardrobe always resembles the spot that the cyclone hit. You'll need heavy socks, too."As John's mother passed her, walking out into the hall, Gay glanced back into the room. The panel, as she had remembered, framed photographs of John taken at various ages. She followed his mother's straight back and briskly tapping heels feeling a curious sense of pity mingled with resentment, exasperation, fear.

Question And Answer Dept.

Problem—What is it that has legs, cannot run, but can jump as high as any building in the world? (Answer elsewhere in this department.)

Ques.—Is it true that mosquitoes live only two or three days and are always followed by a new crop?

Ans.—No. There are several hundred known species of mosquitoes, and the duration of life varies in different species. The old belief that the natural life of a mosquito is only two or three days old is without foundation. In no species of mosquito do the young pass from the larva and pupa states in less than 10 days. Adult mosquitoes live for several months, and in some species many of the females hibernate during the entire winter to furnish eggs for the next season.

Ques.—How many fingers are used in operating a typewriter?

Ans.—The amateur typist usually uses from two to four fingers and a thumb. The professional typist uses eight fingers—a certain group of keys for each finger—and the left-hand thumb for the space bar.

Ques.—What is the difference between the Mormon church and the Latter-Day Saints church?

Ans.—None at all. Mormon is simply a popular name for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

Ques.—How should a person go about it to get an appointment to the West Point Military Academy?

Ans.—Most of the appointments to West Point are made by the President of the United States on recommendation by Senators and Representatives from the various States. Two is the quota from each Congressional District. In addition to territories and U. S. possessions, the President may appoint a limited number of enlisted men from the regular army and the National guard. For further particulars write to "the Adjutant General, War Department, Washington, D. C. Information will be free.

Answer to problem—It's just a doll; the building can't jump any higher than the doll can.

Ques.—What is the correct pronunciation for the word "motorcycle"?

Ans.—All leading dictionaries say that it should be pronounced "motor-cycle," and not "motor-sic-kle." However, the latter pronunciation is not entirely taboo, as many educated people prefer that pronunciation.

Ques.—What should I do to get a short story considered by publishers? Must the story be typed?

Ans.—The average writer, especially the beginner, merely sends his or her composition to a publisher without previous communication, enclosing postage for its return in case it is not acceptable. It should be typewritten, if possible, but not absolutely necessary. Otherwise it should be extremely easy to read. Editors and publishers don't usually have much time to decipher poorly written matter.

Question—What was the coldest temperature recorded in Michigan during August, 1862?

Ans.—We have no official records for that period of time. August, 1862 antedates the United States Weather Bureau.

Ques.—When worn-out money is redeemed by the Government, does it lose anything in replacing the old bills?

Ans.—Yes. The Government is out the cost of material and labor required in making the new bills.

Early Smelting Tool
Among the relics exhibited at the museum of the Fredericksburg and Spotsylvania National Military park, in Virginia, is a tool for opening old iron smelting furnaces. This was picked up on a farm near the pre-Civil War Catherine furnace. The tool was used to unstop the vent, filled with clay, to let out the melted ore after blasting. The ore then ran into a trough called "the old sow" and from that into smaller troughs called "little pigs." Hence was derived the name "pig iron." Near the spot where the relic was picked up were fought the Battle of Chancellorsville in 1863 and the Battles of the Wilderness and Spotsylvania the next year.

Whaling Ships Former Liners
Many whaling ships are former transatlantic passenger liners with a ramp cut in their hull, usually at the stern. Three or more smaller vessels work with each of these floating factories. When a whale is harpooned, the carcass is pulled up into the ship through the ramp. There the blubber is converted into oil, the whalebone removed for dress and brush makers and part of the meat saved for its food value.

'Frankless' Skinfurters
And then there's the housewife who went into a meat market the other day and asked for "some frankless skinfurters, please."

Slats' Diary

Sunday—After S. S. and church was adjourned this a. m. I and Jake and Plisters held a convension to discuss the future of the convensions. I am a goon to be a grate B. B. player like Babe Ruth or better. Blisters will be a statesman like Abraham Lincoln. Jake sed he bieves he will be a clown like a preacher that sed we otto have less fun and more religion.

Monday—After dissiding as above quoted Blisters seen in the paper whair a farmer in South Carolina have got a ellyfant that does the work on his farm. So he went be a statesman like Lincoln but will be a farmer in South Carolina. And I and Jake are thinking about him giving us a job on his farm and working his ellyfants.

Tuesday—Evry boddie appears to scam to be a worrieing about the techsen in Nov. Well it may be that amts. to some thing. But to I and Jake and Blisters it are just a nother thing that we dont haft to have. What worrys us is that it are only 4 wks. to school. And with we do haft to have it seems like. As we always haft to have same in the passed.

Wednesday—Pa thot meby we better get a new 2d handed car. So he went to see sum at garrage. When he went to start 1 of same it jerked and jiggled until he all most fell out. So he ast the salesman how come and he sed it are only becuz the 2d handed car is so nervous to get a going. Pa sed afterward that he douted what the salesman sed so we diddnt get no new used car.

Thursday—Pa wanted to know if I ever herd of Napoleon that sed so memmy historiket sayings. I sed I did. Then he ast what I think he would do if here now. I sed I guest he would be trying to get a old aig penshen. Unkel Hen herd it and laft until I thot he would bust but I diddnt see no thing funny.

Friday—Ant Emmy called up the wether bewro and sed to the man How about a shower tonight. She sed he replide and sed if you think you need coe go to it as its all right with us. So she got mad and sed he are a hateful and meen man. Becoz she ment rane.

Saturday—Jake sed he awakened up about 2 a. m. this a. m. and ast his Mom to tell him a farrey tale. He sed she replide Just wait a few minnets and his Pop will be in and tell them both 1. Witch I xpect she diddnt aim to take seriesley.

Income Law Extension
The new law extending the income tax to public employees is estimated to affect 2,300,000 persons heretofore exempt.

See "Mountains on the Moon"
So clear is the desert air that the "mountains on the moon" can be seen with the naked eye at night from a desert camp only 35 miles from Cairo. Camping in the desert is popular and a hole dug in the sand is a "bed" warmer than the blanketed cots provided for those who seek the thrills of a primitive desert camping experience.

Record Hen?
In 1938 a New England hen, known as Lulu Belle, laid 341 eggs. And was named "hen of the year." Is 341 eggs in a year the American egg-laying record?

--- TO MEN OF ---
MILITARY AGE!
The Conscription Bill makes men of ages 21 to 35 subject to military service. This may make some of you hesitate to buy a new or used car on time payments.
I have been your Chevrolet dealer for nearly twelve years, a resident of Chelsea and vicinity all my life and am very much interested in circumstances that affect the young people of this community.
You may come to Spaulding Chevrolet Sales and buy your automobile, new or used, with the utmost confidence that you will not incur the loss of your investment if called for service.
COME IN TODAY! Let us explain our plan to you. The Conscription Bill need not keep you from owning an automobile.
