The Next Few Hours May Decide THE DESTINY OF OUR COUNTRY

In a few hours you will be called upon to decide whether a President of the United States shall break one of our most cherished and hallowed traditions.

There are—of course—other grave issues. But none, however grave, is likely to have such a far-reaching effect on the future of our country. Shall we, with open eyes, go down the road that leads to Fascism, Nazism, Communism—or whatever you choose to call a type of government which denies the dignity of man and the rights of the individual? Shall we, for the first time in our history, accept the theory of the indispensable man, as against the fact that no man in all history has ever been indispensable?

Make no mistake. Once we set foot on the road to dictatorship there is no turning back any more than the people of Germany or Russia can now turn back and choose other leaders... any more than the people of Germany can now end the terrible war that their present leaders have led them into.

So when you enter the polling booth on Tuesday—and you are alone with your conscience—with the ballot spread out before you, it will be up to you to choose whether we shall surely remain free men and women working together in a democracy, or whether we shall put ourselves in peril of one day living as slaves ruled by dictators. It has happened there—it could happen here.

VOTE NO THIRD TERM

Two Private Feuds Go Before Voters Tuesday

Detroit these firms even support the Better Business Bureau!

The 1939 dental act contained these provisions, plainly designed to prevent such low-cost competition. We quote the law:

"No Prices"

"It will be unlawful for any dentist or dentists to advertise price, cost, charge, fee or terms of credit for professional service or for materials used in the practice of dentistry."

This Henry Ford mass production method in dentistry—with economies made possible largely through advertising prices to the consumer—has thrived in industrial centers where there are many low wage earners. Actually, only a comparative few dentists in the state are concerned with such competition. And likewise, only a few newspapers have ever received dental advertising of this kind.

The Detroit Bureau of Governmental Research, a group that enjoys a splendid reputation, made this analysis of the two competing claims:

"The dentists who secured the passage of this act claim that poor dental work is confined largely to the advertising dentists and by depriving them of advertising, they would lose their oriental, who would seek more competent care."

The advertising dentists claim they are able to attract persons who otherwise would neglect their teeth, that their work is as good as other dentists, that advertising prices prevent other dentists from 'gouging' the public, and that advertising is as rightfully applied to dentistry as to the sales of any other service."

"Doesn't Make Sense"

Continuing the bureau's analysis:

"The public at large is not particularly concerned with a quarrel within the dental profession. It is concerned with the protection of public health. No doubt much of the material of this act (P. A. 122) is in the interest of public health."

"As to the allegation that advertising and the operation of more than one office is prima facie evidence of poor dental practices to the laymen that doesn't make sense! Possibly the answer is competent state regulation of all dentists—advertisers and non-advertisers alike."

As both dental groups must have professional training at a recognized dental college and must be licensed by the dentists' own state dental board, the competitive motive behind the bill is easy to see, as the Detroit bureau points out. From the consumer's viewpoint, the anti-competition restriction "doesn't make sense."

Shutting Out Competition

If the State Proposal No. 4 was the only anti-competition bill to confront the consumer, perhaps there would be less reason for concern.

But such is not the case.

Stuart Perry, editor of the Adrian Daily Telegram, which has never received a penny in dental advertising, has called attention editorially to the point that the dentists' act is designed to stifle competition and would establish a dangerous precedent for the consumer who always pays.

If it is wrong to advertise the truth about dental prices, then it is wrong to tell the truth about other prices. And where will it all end?

In 1911 the "truth in advertising" statute, making it illegal for anyone to make an untruthful, deceptive or misleading statement in any advertisement, was introduced nationally.

Michigan's statute is considered to be a model law of its kind.

Advertising of Prices

Invariably the point arises: Why is it necessary for any group to have a special law of its own forbidding price advertising of any kind—when Michigan already has statute fully protecting the interests of the consumer?

The answer always brings up the legal delays, continuances and politics which are involved by a suit at law. There are the prosecutor, the judge, and the jury, and they all take time.

The legislative trend since NRA has been to circumvent the usual system of justice by establishing special state bureaus, empowered to regulate competition as far as the legislature will permit them.

The trend is distinctly anti-competition as shown by State Proposal No. 4's provision to forbid more than one dental office with the mass-economy savings for low-income groups.

The ban on truthful price advertising is in the heart of the entire proposal and has been so conceded privately by the Michigan State Dental society, its sponsors. Behind the 6,000 words is this significant denial of consumer rights.

KIWANIS NOTES

The total share of receipts from the "Womanless Wedding" which came to the Chelsea Kiwanis club was $193.85.

The club looks upon this money as a community trust, to be used only for the Halloween party and work for underprivileged children in this community.

The treasurer has been instructed to place this amount in a separate fund and keep it segregated for these purposes.

"We have post cards which any worker may use to obtain a statement of the wages which were credited to his social security account during the years 1937, 1938 and 1939. If any wages which the worker has earned in jobs covered by the Social Security Act do not appear on the statement, a study of the record will be made and steps taken to adjust it."

WAGE RECORDS AVAILABLE

The Social Security Board is now giving workers a statement of their wage records, on which future payments will be made under the old-age and survivors insurance program.

These statements may be obtained without charge, except one cent for postage, through the Jackson field office of the Social Security Board. The procedure to be followed was explained by William J. Rhynsburger, manager of the Jackson office, who said:

"We have post cards which any worker may use to obtain a statement of the wages which were credited to his social security account during the years 1937, 1938 and 1939. If any wages which the worker has earned in jobs covered by the Social Security Act do not appear on the statement, a study of the record will be made and steps taken to adjust it."

"As all monthly payments under the amended Social Security Act are based on average wages it is important that all earnings of insured workers be credited to their accounts. That is why we suggest that these statements be obtained at this time. It takes only a few seconds to fill out the cards, which may be obtained by personal or telephone calls to our office in the Reynolds Building, or through mail requests," Mr. Rhynsburger said.

We'll Put Our Money on POWER!

There are two ways you can go about engineering an automobile.

You can think it out—or tinker it out.

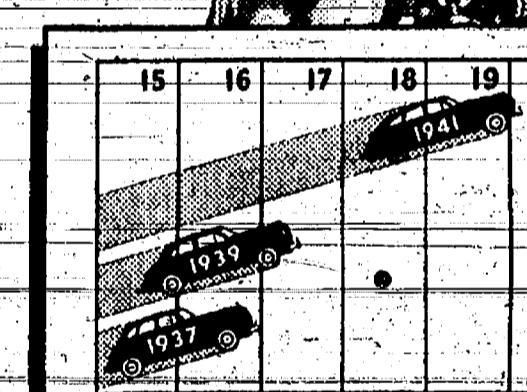

You can get right down to the tough job of building abler performance into the engine—or you can fuss around with things that seem to do the job. It is plain, of course, that the sole source of car performance is the power plant.

Now, sweating out more power from the same size engine and the same amount of fuel is a tough, down-to-earth hard-work job.

But that's what Buick engineers have done.

Through FIREBALL design and Compound Carburetion they have provided greater and more flexible power in the engine itself—and what you get from that is this:

More power—eight, eighteen or

Twenty-four more horsepower than last year.

More mileage—the benefits of overdrive at all speeds, as much as 10% to 15% more miles from every gallon.

Easier car handling—less need for gear-changing from tremendous reserve power that takes the hills smoothly without dropping into lower gear.

And finally—you get a chassis that is simple and clean, uncluttered by added, intricate mechanisms that are hard to service.

In brief—you get greater basic capacity for performance—and that's worth asking your nearest Buick dealer about.

Restricting Competition

(An Editorial)

Moves to curb competition are seldom beneficial to the consumer.

State Ballot No. 4, the November referendum on the 1939 dental act, is condemned by the Aerofit Club of Detroit for several significant reasons:

1. Since Michigan already has a model act prohibiting false and misleading advertising, the dental anti-practice act is termed both "unnecessary and undesirable."

2. Since the act is only one of many similar bills favored by minority groups, it "simply opens the way and offers encouragement to action by various pressure groups attempting to restrict competition."

H. M. Hastings, secretary-manager of the Aerofit Club, points out:

"Our club campaigned for the adoption of the model advertising statute section No. 33 of the Criminal Code of 1931 which, if enforced, is adequate for the protection of both the public and legitimate advertising practitioners, whose interests after all are mutual."

If dentists can restrict competitors from telling the truth in advertising, and truthful information is vital to consumers, then other groups will seek to restrict competitors in the same way.

What is to prevent, once this precedent is established in Michigan, a minority group of shoe-dealers from inducing the legislature to restrict competition by forbidding the advertising of shoe prices or the showing of a shoe or slogan or boot in their advertising?

Why should a group of grocers, encouraged by this non-competition act, get together and say: "We want to eliminate competition too. We want to ban grocery prices!"

The barbers even sought in 1939, in the name of "ethics", to restrict competition with a bill to forbid advertising by barber poles!

Where will this thing end?

It is about high time that Mr. and Mrs. Michigan Consumer say "No" to this monopolistic trend. State Ballot No. 4 affords the opportunity.

Amendment Would Be

Blow To Home Rule

Lansing—Should the so-called "civil service" amendment be adopted by the voters November 5, the state constitution will be altered in no less than 63 separate places, is the opinion of Kit F. Clardy, attorney, and chairman, Michigan Constitution League.

"That the widespread effect of this amendment has not been made generally known to the public," Clardy said, "is certainly the fault of its sponsors, who either did not understand to what extent they were advocating radical departures from representative government, or so understanding their silence has been deliberate."

"The sponsorship of this amendment represents the most serious attack yet launched against home rule. The ability of its sponsors to conceal its real meaning until this time, has gained many supporters who normally resent any attempt to force state control into local government," Clardy added.

ELECTED HOME TREASURER

At an executive board meeting of the trustees of the Chelsea Methodist Old People's Home, held Monday in Detroit, John L. Fletcher was elected treasurer of the Home.

Mr. Clardy estimates that in addition to 18,000 regular state employees,

It is expected that several local men will be present at the Saturday afternoon conference on Trap Program Planning, to be held at Camp Newkirk on November 9. In addition to Scoutmen from Washtenaw and Livingston counties, a group of men from Jackson, Hillsdale, Lenawee and Monroe counties will be in attendance.

Thus, Scoutmen who cannot stay overnight may come for Saturday afternoon and evening and others will stay for the entire program, which will close Sunday morning at 10:00.

Conservation Materials For County Farmers

Under a provision of the 1941 AAA program, Washtenaw county farmers will be able to receive conservation materials in the form of lime and super-phosphate in an amount not to exceed 70 per cent of their conservation payment.

The lime and super-phosphate, of which much of Washtenaw county land is in need, will be obtained at very low prices through the county agricultural conservation committee.

Harry M. Cole, secretary of the Washtenaw county agricultural conservation committee, said this week:

"This is one of the first conservation provisions that has been introduced to date under the national farm program. Many of us have wanted for years to apply lime and super-phosphate to our land, but could not afford to. Under this provision we can all afford the conservation materials our soil has so long needed. It should be a great thing for the county. It's a good business policy, too, turning back into the business some of the earnings for upkeep."

I am sure that the majority of Washtenaw county farmers will avail themselves of this opportunity to build up sweet soil. A soil survey of the county has shown that 65 per cent of our land needs the application of these materials if we are to get good stands of legumes and other crops.

The county AAA office will be glad to assist all interested farmers in obtaining these materials.

Brown Keeps Pledge Made To Publishers

Vernon J. Brown, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, today made an accounting to a group of over 300 Michigan newspaper publishers who solicited and sponsored his candidacy for that office two years ago. It was their contention that as a businessman, publisher and editor of a weekly paper, a legislator with ten years of experience, and a former county official, he was particularly well qualified for the office of Auditor General. Mr. Brown, appreciating the sponsorship, frankly accepted their aid and outlined his platform with the following pledges: "If elected I shall reduce the cost of operating the Department—I shall reduce the number of employees by removing from the payrolls every unnecessary jobholder—I shall economize to such an extent that there will be no more red ink bookkeeping in the Department and the balances will be on the right side of the ledger."

A careful analysis of Mr. Brown's report shows that when he took office January 1, 1939 he found the former administration had an average of 422 employees with an annual operating cost of $1,129,621.64. Payroll costs were at an all-time high and many political newcomers had replaced experienced employees. Auditor General Brown promptly removed from the payroll all purely political jobholders, and at the end of the fiscal year June 30, 1940 his reports show an average of 177 employees in the Department with an annual operating cost of $850,581.51—a saving of $478,940.13 to Michigan taxpayers. Part of this saving has been due to the enactment of legislation sponsored by Mr. Brown in centralizing the collection of delinquent taxes in the offices of the county treasurers.

This has not only resulted in greater convenience to taxpayers but has insured a permanency of this saving to the Department.

Less known but by far the most important of his accomplishments has been the creation of a single unified accounting system for the state. Formerly four distinct records were maintained by various Departments which resulted in conflicting and confusing reports on the financial condition of the State. Now clear, unified and accurate statements showing the true financial condition of the state are issued from the Auditor General's office shortly after the last day of each month.

Notwithstanding this drastic reduction in personnel and operating expense, it has been observed that there has been a marked improvement in the efficiency of the Department. Payrolls have been met on time, old age assistance checks issued when due, and thousands of dollars saved in discounts by the prompt payment of bills. This exceptional record of public service by Auditor General Brown has been particularly gratifying to his sponsors—he has faithfully kept his pledge and should be retained in office for another term.

Children In Court

By Judge Malcolm Hatfield

Even Wealthy Children Are Neglected

A school system which permitted each of its students to exercise forty-five minutes a day in the gymnasium felt that it was adequately caring for their physical needs. This was, of course, a fallacious belief, for the average child requires at least two and one-half additional hours of play each day.

Authentic records reveal that approximately ninety per cent of all delinquent children are denied the privilege of affiliating with various recreational and character building groups. This in itself is a great handicap, for it has been observed that an adolescent boy will devote the same enthusiasm to the program offered by a playground as he would to the activities of an alley gang. The average child can be depended upon to give as much interest to constructive activities as he would demonstrate in the display of destructive pursuits. In fact, as long as a boy is made to realize that he is doing the manly thing, it is inherent in his nature to build and construct rather than to destroy.

Children of well-to-do parents are frequently at as great a disadvantage as poor children in the matter of appropriate recreational facilities, because many high priced apartments are no nearer playgrounds than are the low priced tenement houses located in the slums.

One Problem At a Time

Communities which are deeply interested in preventing children from becoming delinquent find that better results can be achieved if each of its problems is solved in proper turn. The attempt to cope with several issues at the same time may prove disastrous.

The sponsors of a delinquency prevention program must first determine if they will direct their heavy artillery against organized or disorganized crime. If they decide to first make the public conscious of the existence of organized crime, it is well to emphasize the fact that systematic crime cannot exist without the protection of prosecuting attorneys, sheriffs, mayors and ward politicians.

An important contributing factor to the prevalence of juvenile crime is found in the indifference of the public. It is of little use to formulate methods of curing juvenile criminals if public cooperation cannot be gained. Therefore, if any delinquency prevention group expects to accomplish lasting results it should not fail to take the public into its confidence. Once the public becomes interested, it is less difficult to break the alliance between the underworld and corrupt governmental officials.

Newspapers which stir up controversies on the subject of crime arouse interests in criminal activities. Little can be accomplished if the press quotes certain overenthusiastic citizens who refer to local law enforcement officials as "scalawags" and "scoundrels." Since a crime prevention program necessarily requires the coordination of numerous achievements, there will always be a conflict between different interests. Newspapers should not exploit the controversies which take place behind the scenes.

United Conservation Clubs Will Convene

Michigan's greatest gathering of conservationists is scheduled November 8 to 10 at Jackson when the Michigan United Conservation Club holds its annual convention.

VOTE 'NO'
State Ballot No. 4
Anti-Competition Act

Yet the meeting offers more than convention sessions, points out Paul A. Herbert, head of the Michigan State College forestry department and president of the service organization.

"Every person in Michigan appreciating outdoor recreation, native and natural beauty of the state and the tourist business ought to take active participation in projects designed to protect and improve Michigan resources," declares Professor Herbert.

Specifically, he points to such sponsored projects as winter feeding of birds and game, bird propagation, fire protection involving watching for and reporting roadside and forest fires, land acquisition suggestions, work with scouts and 4-H youths, purchase and plantings of trees in reforestation and actual labor contribution to stream improvement and pollution control.

Thirty-two committees of the club are to report and make recommendations to the convention for action. These reports and other business sessions will occupy two full days in the Jackson meetings.

New business for discussion will be proposals of diversion of game funds, antlerless deer season, pension retirement for conservation department employees, protection of wild flowers, regulation of highway advertising and discretionary power to the state conservation commission in reference to game laws.

Saturday evening the banquet will feature Ira Gabrielson, chief of the federal fish and wild life service of Washington, D. C., with Ben East, Grand Rapids lecturer, as toastmaster.

Homecoming Will Be Held At Ypsi Normal

Expecting nearly a thousand returning alumni from all parts of the state, students of Michigan State Normal College at Ypsilanti are completing plans for the annual three-day homecoming celebration. Festivities will begin with the traditional class games on Friday afternoon, November 1, and will continue until after the symphony concert on Sunday evening.

The keynote of the celebration will be sounded by the intense rivalry exhibited between the sophomore and freshmen classes in the epic struggle of the class games, each class determined to win the coveted brown jug passed to the winners from year to year. It will be continued by a bonfire and riotous pep-meeting of that evening in preparation for the homecoming football game with Alma College on Saturday.

In the forenoon preceding the game, the city will turn out to witness the conventional homecoming parade, spiced with bands, massive floats, and grotesque displays, taxing the limit of college students' imagination. A dance after the game will lead revelers into the third and concluding day of the annual event.

"I agree with Tom Dewey that it would be a calamity if Michigan and the nation were to lose the statesmanship of Vandenberg."

"Every Michigan mother should be happy to have the privilege of voting against war by marking her ballot on November 5 for Willkie in the White House and Vandenberg in the Senate. That is really an All-American pair to me."

Re-elect SENATOR VANDENBERG

When You Vote for Vandenberg You Vote for Michigan

Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg is Michigan's champion. In foreign relations, in finance, in commerce, he is one of the few successful, influential and important men Michigan ever sent to Washington. BUT he has never forgotten the people who sent him there. For thirteen years he has fought for Michigan's interests—from sugar beets to automobiles, from furniture to fruit. He's a staunch friend of farming, an aggressive spokesman for organized labor...and an implacable foe of extravagance.

Vandenberg is the man who sponsored the famous "munitions investigation" that took big profits out of war.

He is the man who forced congressional reapportionment, gaining four seats for Michigan in the House of Representatives, and your votes in the Electoral College.

He is the man who was chiefly responsible for last January's bill which stopped an increase of 50% in taxes on 40,000,000 workers.

He is called "the Father of Bank Deposit Insurance."

He is the man who saved America $500,000 by defeating the shamefully wasteful Passamaquoddy and Florida Ship Canal and a number of other senseless projects.

He has done all these things for the nation, but he has never been too busy to "deliver the goods" for Michigan.

He saved the state's copper industry with his tariff.

He sponsored Isle Royale's development as Michigan's first National Park.

He has vigilantly guarded the state's vast interests in Great Lakes commerce, and he is working now for Michigan's share in National Defense.

This is the man who is a great leader of the Senate minority party...the man whom Life magazine picked among the "first ten" Senators.

His re-election is Michigan's duty to 47 other states as well as to itself. His re-election means that Michigan will continue to be "tops" in the United States Senate!

Question And Answer Dept.

Problem—A man bought a pair of shoes priced at four dollars. He tendered a $10 bill to the dealer. He departed with the shoes and six dollars in change. When the dealer deposited his money at the bank, the cashier detected that the $10 bill was counterfeit. The banker expropriated the bill and sent it to Washington. What was the dealer's total loss in the transaction? (Answer elsewhere in this department.)

Ques.—Would it be constitutional for a member of the President's cabinet to hold two cabinet positions at the same time?

Ans.—There is nothing unconstitutional about it. This circumstance happened once in the history of the United States when James Monroe served for a time in Madison's cabinet as both Secretary of State and Secretary of War.

Ques.—When a lady and her escort enter a church or theater, especially when there is no usher, is it proper for the man to walk ahead of the lady or vice versa?

Ans.—Either way is perfectly good form, according to the supreme court of etiquette. Usually the better bred gentleman precedes the lady he is escorting because it is then easier for him to hand the lady gracefully to her seat. An exception, of course, is made in a church when they are headed for a certain pew and the man happens to be unfamiliar with the interior.

Ques.—A history of England which I have in hand says that Cromwell escaped to Europe and later returned to England. This infers that England is not a part of Europe. Is that true?

Ans.—It is not true. Great Britain, although an island, is so close to the continent of Europe that it is considered part of it. The author of your history would have done better if he had said that Cromwell escaped to "continental Europe" and later returned to England. "The continent" is the phrase customarily used to distinguish continental Europe from the British Isles.

Ques.—Did the United States ever borrow any money from Germany?

Ans.—No. The United States has not borrowed any money from any foreign country since the adoption of the Constitution way back in the early days when this nation was in its swaddling clothes.

Ques.—When and how are distinguished Americans placed in the Hall of Fame? Are they represented by picture, bust, statue, or just a plate?

Ans.—Candidates for the American Hall of Fame are elected every five years after the first election in 1900. At first, plates only were used to make the recordings, but gradually these plates are being replaced by busts of the members elected.

Answer to problem—His loss was a pair of shoes and six dollars in cash. The counterfeit bill does not figure in the transaction, as it was worthless.

Ques.—Is there such a thing as a tree-climbing fish? Can they walk on the ground?

Ans.—No. However, there is a fish in India which is called a tree-climbing fish, but it never performs that feat. By means of its gills and fins it can travel over land from one body of water to another, and can crawl on inclined tree trunks that have fallen into the water. This is as close as it ever comes to climbing trees.

Safetygrams

BY ERIC W. BRAUN
The Safety Man

Effective traffic regulation follows good accident investigation and reporting. Police departments are being trained to investigate automobile accidents promptly and to determine definitely the cause of each accident.

If a number of accidents have occurred in a certain locality of your community or at a certain intersection, there is something fundamentally wrong with the conditions at that particular spot. It may be a desire for speed; but many other factors beyond the control of drivers may contribute to accidents there. A careful study should be made by each community, through its police department, of such conditions. First of all, the department should require that all accidents be reported so that it can conduct prompt investigations to determine the cause.

Once the cause is determined, the police department should remedy the condition. Effective traffic regulation should be put into effect wherever it is needed.

Rooster Locates Body
Locating a body under water, by means of a live rooster, may be tried by county commissioners of King county, Washington. They have spent $6,000 in an attempt to recover a body of a man drowned a year ago. The rooster angle came into prominence through the suggestion of a woman who told the commissioners that the bodies of her husband and son, drowned in a lake in Iowa, were recovered with the aid of the fowl. The rooster was placed in a crate and put in a boat and then rowed around the lake. And when they came over near the bodies, the rooster crowed and the bodies were recovered, she claims.

NON-PARTISAN ELECTION - Nov. 5, 1940

To the People of the 2nd Congressional District:-

The American people do not want this country to get into any European or Asiatic war. They want an impregnable national defense. They are looking to their elected representatives in Washington to keep them out of war and to provide that defense.

To this end the Congress has been in almost continuous session during the last year. This has made it impossible for me to be in the district as much as is my custom. It is very difficult to be on the job in Washington while a political campaign is progressing in the district. I have felt, however, that my duty was in Washington, regardless of my political fortunes in the campaign.

I appreciate the confidence my constituents have reposed in me. It is my ambition to merit that confidence. I have no political platform other than my record and my promise to do at all times, that which I conscientiously believe to be for the best interests of my constituents and my country.

CONSUMERS

PROTECT YOUR POCKETBOOKS

VOTE "NO" on No. 4

STATE DENTAL BILL

This is an important message to you, Mr. and Mrs. Consumer.

Michigan has a model statute governing the use of advertising.

It fully protects the consumer against misuse of advertising by false or misleading statements of any kind.

Newspapers are ready at all times to keep their advertising columns clean from such abuse. Merchants likewise do not wish to mislead the consumer with inaccurate statements which result only in ill will and loss of patronage.

The economic freedom of the consumer depends largely on his or her ability to get truthful information. Is there any justification for a scheme to rob you of this right; to prohibit telling the truth?

State Proposal No. 4, the Dental Bill, would deny the consumer this important privilege. It would prohibit the telling of prices. It would encourage other groups to work for special legislation to restrict competition.

It would evade the American system of justice by court and jury. It would deny to both consumer and business man the freedom of truthful advertising.

Consumers, Guard your rights!

Defend the right to tell the truth, as judged by court and jury, and as safeguarded against abuse by the Michigan false advertising law.

This is the American way!

Two attempts, one in 1891 and another in 1894, were made to build a permanent lighthouse on the outer reef, but both failed.
