Weather Critical Factor
For Army of Hunters

Lansing—For Michigan's 170,000 or more deer hunters, snug in cabins and warm tents after the season's first cold wave set in, weather is the critical factor in private campaigns planned to bring home the fine racks of antlers.

Snow, preferably light and soft, for easy tracking and to deaden the crackle of leaves and twigs, is what hunters want most. Early indications are that most hunters should have favorable conditions for most of the two-week season that continues through November 30.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. John Stark and sons of Springfield, John Pielemeier and family and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davis and children of Ann Arbor attended a birthday dinner on Sunday, honoring W. S. Pielemeier at his home in Sylvan township.

Kangaroo Leaps 24 Feet
When hard pressed, a kangaroo is capable of leaping 20 feet.

Because the weather continued mild until late, hunters are hoping there will be more than the usual number of bears not yet hibernating. Last year deer hunters killed more than 600 black bears. They may be taken on the same license and during the same season as deer.

Conservation law enforcement officers in the northern two-thirds of the state have been reinforced for the season by an additional 100 men, 15 of them conservation officers from southern Michigan, and the others forest fire wardens and townsmen.

The folly of being at a "white flash" in the hope it may be the waving tail of a whitetailed deer was demonstrated when one of a party hunting before the season opening shot and killed a trapper carrying a coyote over his shoulder, and was immediately held on a charge of negligent homicide.

Experienced hunters avoid any touch of white such as canvas gloves would give to their conventional red hunting clothes. Ten deer hunters died of gun accidents in 1939.

WINS CORN CONTEST

An outstanding corn yield of 61.9 bushels per acre has just won the corn growing grand championship of Washtenaw county for Henry Gilbert of North Lake, in the 1940 National Durable Hybrid Corn Growing Contest. Officials of the nation's biggest corn yield competition report that nearly 10,000 farmers from the principal corn-producing states entered the contest. Mr. Gilbert's corn was grown under ordinary farming conditions, from hybrid seed, and in recognition of his splendid accomplishment he will be presented with a beautiful bronze trophy.

Women Slim in Chile

Chile's climate, according to Herminia Davilla, keeps women slim. They eat five-course lunches and seven-course dinners, both with dessert, yet they seldom need to reduce.

BIRTHDAY DINNER

E. J. Feldkamp and daughter Cora were guests at a dinner given Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wiseman, celebrating the birthday of her aunt, Mrs. M. L. Burkhardt.

Lansing—The Michigan voter is getting quite a reputation for political independent thinking.

A skeptic might call it "vacillation." We think otherwise.

There are enough voters on the "fence," so to speak, to turn the tide one way or another. These persons constitute a system of checks and balance that must be reckoned with on election day.

Murray D. Van Wagoner, governor-elect, carried 26 out of 88 counties and accumulated in Wayne county a commanding lead of more than 200.

000 to wind up the state total with a plurality of 130,000.

Approximately one-half of these counties were in the Upper Peninsula. The others were of two classifications: industrial and tourist.

Industrial centers which went for Van Wagoner were Detroit, Saginaw, Pontiac, Muskegon, Monroe, Manistee, Flint, Battle Creek and Bay City. Tourist counties on the Van Wagoner list include Crawford (Grayling), Cheboygan and Presque Isle. Upper Peninsula counties went heavily for the Democratic ticket. (Nearly complete returns).

Bi-Partisan Control

Results of the Nov. 5 vote indicate that while the governor and lieutenant governor will be Democratic, the remainder of the state administration with the sole exception of state treasurer will continue under Republican control.

The legislature will be dominated by Republicans, enough so to give the party a two-thirds majority over possible votes.

Harry F. Kelly, secretary of state, and Vernon J. Brown, auditor-general, were favorites in the voting. Herbert Rushton, Republican nominee for attorney general, slipped through for a photo-finish margin.

The state administrative power, the so-called "executive committee" for state business, will be divided 50-50 between Democrat and Republican office-holders. With an individual less popular and less persuasive than Mr. Van Wagoner, the split might prove nearly disastrous. It will be recalled, however, that the highway commissioner was remarkably successful in dealing with Republican legislators in past sessions.

Another result of the election is the turning of power from rural to urban forces. For a generation at least Luren D. Dickinson has been a symbol of rural Michigan. A co-incidence in this change was the sudden death of Dickinson's personal adviser, Grove Rous, manager of the Michigan Motor Bus association, just 48 hours after Dickinson's defeat at the polls.

Willkie Victory

The Gallup poll through the Institute of Public Opinion had forecast a 51-49 victory in Michigan for Wendell L. Willkie. And the final returns vindicated the prediction to a fraction of 1 per cent.

The Willkie plurality, small as it was, served only to emphasize the significance of the Van Wagoner victory, which was a triumph of independent voting and not, by any stretch of the imagination, a Roosevelt "coat-tail" victory.

The democratic nominee for governor led the president by approximately 30,000 votes.

Here are some of the counties which gave a majority to Willkie and yet turned to the Van Wagoner column: Saginaw, Oakland, Monroe, Manistee, Crawford, Calhoun, and Cheboygan in the Lower Peninsula and Iron and Keweenaw in the Upper Peninsula.

Because of the Republicans' "anti-boss" fight at the Grand Rapids convention in September, observers have scanned the returns carefully to detect any sign of a bolt in Wayne or Kent counties, or even in Genesee county. The Roosevelt-Van Wagoner and Willkie-Dickinson votes were nearly identical in each case. There had been some rumors, prior to the election, that a "trade" was under way to sell out Dickinson for Van Wagoner in favor of Willkie. Yet the actual returns seem barren of such substantiation.

A Possible Clue

Now that the fighting is over, amateurs and professionals alike are chipping in their "30 cents' worth" of analysis as to why the voters did as they did.

Here is ours:
Plausible at least, is the following theory which seems to fit logically the situation at hand:

The Michigan outcome, like the national outcome, is a result indirectly of the record-shattering, history-making activity of one man—Herr Hitler! Last spring the domestic failures of the Roosevelt administration—deficits, unemployment, labor dissatisfaction—pointed to a popular reaction in November. Even immediately after the June conventions the Gallup polls showed Willkie leading by a majority of electoral votes over Roosevelt.

Something happened to turn public opinion. And that occurrence was not political propaganda—persuasion by words—but historic events.

"Overwhelming"

The unexpected fall of Holland, Belgium and France to the Nazi military juggernaut shocked American opinion out of its isolationist complacency.

Threatened with a possible loss of the British fleet, our only safeguard in the Atlantic ocean, Congress appropriated billions in a frantic rush to re-arm and adopted military conscription to provide man-power for the arms.

The Republican convention turned from Tom Dewey to Wendell Willkie under the belief that the needs were for a "strong man." Democrats renominated President Roosevelt who immediately emphasized the foreign situation and our need for national defense, and thereupon declined to leave the capital for more than 12 hours' traveling distance.

Graphically, the fall of France, an event over which we had little control, if any, changed the destiny of the United States.

Faced with a pending crisis in the trial of Mr. Hitler, the voters turned to President Roosevelt because he was strong in years of experience in handling national affairs.

Michigan's part in national defense is perhaps greater than any other state other than New York; defense contracts have exceeded the half-billion mark and are still mounting.

The same trend favored Van Wagoner, a man in his early forties, against Governor Dickinson, 81 years old. It was the vigorous Churchill as against the elder Chamberlain despite the latter's experience.

If this diagnosis be true—and we offer it humbly with no insistence that it actually is—then one man, some 4,000 miles away, months ago set into motion events which resulted finally in our choice of President Roosevelt for a third term and Murray D. Van Wagoner for governor of Michigan.

Perhaps the president was right when he commented that this was a "funny campaign."

HOUSE DESTROYED BY FIRE

The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Walls in Dexter township was destroyed by fire last Friday evening, with nearly all of the contents. When discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Walls, they were coming out of the barn about 6:30, the building was a mass of flames and the local fire department, which was called, could render no assistance except to keep the fire from spreading to other buildings. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Covers are used on food in refrigerators for a definite purpose. Milk bottles are capped to keep dirt out and to keep it from taking up odors from other foods. Butter, for the same reason. Fruit juices are covered to keep out air and cut down the loss of vitamin C.

More Power to Thrift— more Thrift from Power

MAYBE you wonder what a big car like Buick is doing talking about economy.

All right, we'll tell you.

Most people would be willing to spend a little extra for what Buick has to offer—style, size, room, steadiness, durability—if part of that extra could be paid back through lower operating costs.

Especially they would like really satisfying performance—quick take-off, easy hill-climbing, sure power, fast response—if they could have it in a car that's stingy with gasoline.

That's what we've given them—through the extra power in this 1941 Buick.

The added wallop of FIREBALL engine design and Compound Carburetion lets us use more thrifty gear ratios, saving money without complicating extra gears or mechanisms.

And the tremendous reserve-power in these Buick engines—at 40, for instance, you have as much as 85% of your power "on call"—still permits the flashing get-away, the swooping hill-climb, the sure lift out of pinches you once had to buy with heavy gasoline consumption.

So we say—more power to thrift—it helps.

put Buick thrill and comfort within easy reach.

And the reason is—more thrift from power—from abler engines.

It all adds up to the sensation of the year—the car you ought to see first—the brilliant, able beauty your Buick dealer has waiting for you.

Mrs. Herman Bohne was a visitor Thursday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Olin McCurdy of Grass Lake.

The Epworth League of Salem Grove Methodist church was pleasantly entertained at the Truman Lehman home Thursday evening.

Several homes here sustained minor damages from the high winds last week.

Sunday guests at the Cadwell home were Fred and Henry from near Manchester and the Sheldon H. Frey family of Detroit. Ellen Alice Frey sustained a broken arm recently when she fell in dismounting from the horse she had been riding.

A marsh fire on the Peters farm west of town lit up the sky and was seen for miles Sunday evening.

Sunday guests of Mrs. Herman Bohne were: Mrs. Olin McCurdy and daughter of Grass Lake and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Alden of Jackson. Mrs. Bohne will spend Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Alden.

Relatives in France received notice Sunday of the death of Mrs. John Norman of Grass Lake. Mrs. Norman was a sister of the late Mrs. John Helle. She had attended church here until her health no longer permitted, and was for many years a member of the L. A. S.

Miss Carrie Notten spent the week-end with Miss Helen Hartman.

Mr. and Mrs. Erle Notten and Mrs. Chester Notten were recent callers on Mrs. Albert Notten, who is in poor health.

Mrs. Thomas J. Wortley was hostess to the Frisco Ladies' club last week with fifteen present. Her mother, Mrs. Charles Wakeman, was a guest.

The Thanksgiving spirit was in evidence in the decorations, the bountiful dinner and in the favors. Following the dinner, games were played. The best fishermen were Mrs. Walter Kalmbach and Mrs. Herman Bohne. Those best posted on advertising slogans were Mrs. Walter Gardner and Mrs. Clifford Wolfe. And those most lucky at "Cootie" were Mrs. Carrie Benter and Mrs. Walter Bohne. To each of these, the hostess presented a gift.

Each member has now entertained once and it was decided to have four members on a committee entertain at one of the homes, and these will come alphabetically, same as the past year. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, Dec. 10, and Mrs. Albert Bachman will be hostess.

School Men Consult Freshmen at U. of M.

Principal Vernon Downing of Chelsea high school was in Ann Arbor last Thursday consulting with former students, now freshmen at the University of Michigan.

More than 150 principals and teachers from 96 high schools in four states, attended the conference. In addition, representatives from 19 other colleges and junior colleges were invited to interview transfer students at the University from their schools. Approximately 675 freshmen at the University were interviewed by their former superintendents or principals.

The consultation plan, which has been in operation for 13 years, is intended to bring about closer understanding and cooperation between high schools and the University, stated Registrar Ira M. Smith, sponsor of the plan.

High school teachers are enabled through these conferences to detect needs in local educational systems and to become more familiar with university methods. University instructors are also aided in studying preparatory school methods and in the solution of the problems of freshmen.

LIBRARY NEWS

An enjoyable Book Week was held at the library this past week. The highlight of the week was the public meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 12, sponsored by the Child Study Club. Dr. Leonard Parr of Ann Arbor gave a most inspiring lecture entitled "An Evening With Books". The accompanying exhibit of books and posters added a fine bit of color.

The children of the elementary grades were invited to the library for a period of story-telling or a discussion about popular children's books. Mrs. John Keusch, Mrs. A. A. Palmer and Mrs. P. G. Schable took charge of these periods.

Unfortunately, the loan exhibit from the Holt Publishing Co. on how a book is made was not received until the latter part of the week. This exhibit has been placed on the bulletin board in the library and patrons are invited to view the same while in the library.

Several book gifts have been received at the library during Book Week. Mrs. H. Ahnemann presented the library with the Children's Book House, a set of six volumes containing literary gems for children from nursery to junior high school age.

The Chelsea public school contributed a set of Michigan Histories. Mrs. Harvey Pearce contributed several children's books, and Mrs. Robert Williams contributed "The Droverslayer" by Cooper, and "Blue Water" by Hildebrand. The library board gratefully acknowledges the receipt of these books.

Added to the list of new books published last week are the following adult books which arrived too late to be included: "Valley of Adventure" — Jackson Gregory. One of the author's best romantic western novels.

"Early Autumn" — Louis Bromfield. An earlier Pulitzer Prize Novel, this is the third of a series on American life. It is the tale of the struggle between life and death in a New England family, old but distinguished.

"The Secret of the Marshbanks" — Kathleen Norris. The latest novel of this very popular author. A well-guarded family secret and murder are unusual elements in this novel full of colorful detail and appealing incidents of family life.

"The Stray Lamb" — Thorne Smith. This is a hilarious, riotous book full of ribald adventures of Mr. Lamb, commuter on one of the funniest characters ever created by the author.

HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Miss Anna Powers, teacher of the Lima Center school, was a resident of the three-story wooden apartment house at 555 S. Division St. in Ann Arbor, which was badly damaged by fire at 5:20 Saturday morning. Miss Powers had the narrowest escape of the 23 occupants of the building. She said that she was awakened by people walking about and first assumed they had risen early to go hunting. Smelling smoke, she got up to investigate and was unable to turn on the light. She opened her door and was almost suffocated by the smoke but managed to feel her way to the stairs and down the two flights until she reached the outside door.

FAMOUS "PASSION PLAY" FILM

WILL BE SHOWN IN CHELSEA

Many Chelsea people will attend the First Methodist church on Sunday afternoon, December 1 at 4:30 o'clock to see the new and beautiful motion picture film of the "Life of Christ" and the "Passion Play", depicting the story of Jesus, from the Nativity to the Ascension, which is based upon and patterned after the world-famous Freiburg and Oberammergau "Passion Plays" of Europe, and which was actually filmed in Europe, the Holy Land, and Egypt, at a tremendous cost. It is being brought here by the National Bureau for Religious and Educational Films.

A complete and very appropriate musical score will be played throughout the entire film, on special sound equipment, reproducing some of the world's choicest orchestral, organ, and choral music by famous composers, blending in with the magnificent scenes, which portray in authentic and historic fashion, the Life, Crucifixion, and Resurrection of Jesus. The film was produced in Europe, Palestine and Egypt, and has won the profound admiration and approval of more than one thousand of the largest churches in the United States and Canada, having been exhibited to more than one million people during the past two years, many times to overflowing audiences.

A very spiritual and reverent atmosphere is established and maintained throughout the entire program and leaves the audience in a meditative, prayerful, and heart-searching mood, provoking thought concerning the reality of the Christian principles in their daily lives. The film is one of unusual beauty, and has been highly praised wherever it has been shown. The public is cordially invited, and tickets are not required to gain admission. A free-will offering will be taken to assist in defraying expenses.

Home Ec. Department Given High Rating

Miss Meta Vossbrink, of the State Board of Control for Vocational Education, was a recent visitor at the Home Economics Department of the Chelsea public schools. Miss Vossbrink was very impressed with the appearance of the Homemaking room and the type of work that was carried on in the department. Some of the comments in her report to the Home-making Division at Lansing and to Superintendent Johnson were as follows:

"A very attractive homemaking room, well equipped, arranged, and kept, greets the visitor upon entrance.

"The work accomplished in the food preservation unit was of excellent quality. Many fruits and vegetables have been preserved in the department and some of these have been sold to community members. The money will be used for the purchase of illustrative material for art purposes. The girls will be given the opportunity to make these purchases.

"Miss Muzzall needs to be given special mention and much credit for the fine organization schemes in the department.

"(Filing of posters is well done. Each poster is filed according to the unit of work it represents.

"The books have been adequately chosen and are located in an attractive case where the students are free to use them. An excellent assortment of books is present and 20 new ones are being added.

"The record of expenditures for the department is efficiently organized. Miss Muzzall from this plan will determine the budget for the department for the coming year.

"In class room teaching, some fine techniques and practices are evident. Good work habits are being developed (good posture, use of proper equipment, clean hands, good planning of the day's work by students).

"Pupil teacher planning of the year's work was nicely accomplished. Units of work; time allotment; demonstrations to be undertaken, and field trips to be taken were carefully considered.

"Many plans for accumulating illustrative material are being considered."

The State Board of Control for Vocational Education re-imurses the local district for approximately 65 per cent of the Homemaking teacher's salary and therefore the department must meet the requirements set up by this board.

Chelsea High Loses To Neighbor from South

The traditional game with our southern neighbors is again history with past results reading like this: Chelsea, 10 wins; Manchester, 5 wins, and one tie.

The game last Friday started promptly on time with Chelsea kicking to the visitors who, without losing possession of the ball went the length of the field in a variety of plays, for a touchdown and extra point.

Immediately Chelsea retaliated and by similar tactics took the ball in the opposite direction for a marker, with light carrying the ball over, but kicking into a brisk wind the ball failed to split the uprights and the extra point was lacking. The score at the quarter was: Chelsea 6, Manchester 7.

The second period was a little harder going for both teams. However, each scored a touchdown, with Manchester getting the extra point and Chelsea failing to do so; the score standing at the half, Manchester 14, Chelsea 12.

At the half Coach Cameron had but little criticism for his boys. They had played a good game with one exception—Manchester was repeatedly making long gains with their hidden ball plays. Coach Cameron told them to keep their eyes on the ball.

This type of play has worked very well for Manchester during the season, accounting for their being the leaders in that league.

The third period was a sort of saw affair, ending with the score remaining the same as at the half.

In the last quarter Chelsea's defense was not up to par and Manchester punctured it with holes almost at will, with the result that they added 13 more points.

The final score was: Manchester 27, Chelsea 12.

versity of Michigan in Ann Arbor on November 14.

Orin Kaye spoke before the students on Monday, November 18. His lecture was entitled "I Saw the Germans Come."

Mr. Johnson attended the Principals-Freshmen Conference at Michigan State College in Lansing on Tuesday, November 19.

School will be closed Thursday and Friday of this week because of Thanksgiving.

Miss Hutzel from the Michigan State Health Department will be here to discuss problems of high school students with the students in the high school on December 9 and 10. On the evening of December 9 she will speak to the parents.

Editorial

Thanksgiving brings visions of turkey, cranberries, and all the trimmings of a glorious dinner.

This day was set aside by our country for us to thank God for our blessings. Think! How much in America we have to be thankful for—freedom in everything that is good and right, freedom from destruction by bursting bombs, freedom to do, think and say anything that is right.

Our Thanksgiving dinner on Thursday will not be interrupted by the terrifying drone of airplanes and bursting bombs. What a different scene is being portrayed in Europe.

Surely we have something for which we should be thankful!

Senior News

Again this week the Seniors find it their duty to thank those who patronized the Senior stand at the Chelsea-Manchester game, and also to thank Mr. Dunstan and the members of the band for their cooperation in making the pep meeting of last Thursday night a success.

Junior News

The Junior class held a bake sale in the Chelsea Hardware on Saturday, November 16, which was very well attended. We want to thank everyone for their cooperation.

We are planning a Leap Year dance for sometime next month. The girls will ask the boys and the whole high school will be invited. (That is if a girl asks you).

Farm Income Is Sales Barometer
On the downward turn of farm prices during the past decade, every drop of $100 in farm income was accompanied by a drop of $80 in rural retail sales. On the upward turn of farm prices during the 10-year period, retail sales increased $74 with every $100 increase in farm income.

Question And Answer Dept.

Problem—What game is played when the winner goes backward and the loser goes forward at the same time? (Answer elsewhere in this department.)

Ques—I am told that the year 1900 was not a leap year, but that the year 2000 will be a leap year. Can you tell me why?

Ans—The division of time as reckoned with the earth's movement around the sun is not exactly perfect. To make it as near perfect as possible every four years a leap year was made. But even this was not exact. Therefore, when Pope Gregory revised the calendar he caused every centennial year (the last year of the century) that was not divisible by 400 without a remainder should be a leap year, thus dividing the time nearer perfect. For example: The year 1600 was a leap year, because it was divisible by 400 without a remainder. But not so with 1700, 1800, or 1900. These years will be a leap year. All other years that are divisible by 4 without a remainder are leap years. And still the calendar is not perfect. In a million years, if the calendar is not changed again, we will be experiencing zero weather in July and August.

Ques—What is the difference between Hudson Seal and genuine seal?

Ans—Many unscrupulous manufacturers in the past dyed muskrat fur and labeled it "Hudson seal" in order to sell it to people who were too highbrow to buy ordinary muskrat fur if they knew it. The government condemned the practice as fraudulent. While "Hudson seal" is on the market, it is not sold as genuine seal.

Ques—Does the government gain or lose in redeeming worn-out money?

Ans—The government loses on the money it redeems as it is out the cost of the material and labor to make the bills. The Federal Reserve banks (privately owned) also lose, but their loss is nil compared to that of the government, as their bills are all of the larger denomination and do not circulate like the government's smaller bills.

Ques—What is the origin of the word "scratch," as used in "he started from scratch?"

Ans—In primitive times the principal sport was foot-racing. When such an event took place, a chief would take a stick or other implement and draw a long straight furrow on the ground. The fastest runners would take their place behind the furrow, with their toes to the line, while the less competent contestants were given a start in front of the line. In the event that he won, he would have to start from behind the line in the next event. This was designed to equalize competition. In modern times the furrow came to be known as "the scratch." It is now applied loosely to anything when a contestant starts from the beginning or at zero.

Ques—Did James J. Jeffries knock out Jess Willard to win the title of heavyweight champion?

Ans—No. He knocked out James J. Corbett in 10 rounds to win the title. Jeffries in turn was knocked out by Jack Johnson in 15 rounds, and then Johnson was knocked out by Jess Willard in 26 rounds. Jeffries and Willard never fought each other for the title.

Answer to problem—In tug-o-war the winner goes backward while the loser goes forward.

Ques—Did a woman ever run for President of the United States?

5. Do you reach for packages, light a cigarette, or look up addresses while driving rapidly, or do you slow down first?

In these questions, Mr. Reader, you will find some very interesting causes of accidents. You may also learn what you do or do not do that might cause accidents.

Frequently in this column I have asked motorists questions on driving. This practice seems to have struck a popular chord, since questions on driving habits assist us in making a personal inventory of our own driving. Here are a few more questions:

1. Do you allow others to distract your attention while you are driving, or do you keep your eyes and mind carefully on the road ahead?
2. Do you "daydream" on long runs, or do you avoid thinking of affairs that absorb you?
3. Do you maintain a uniform speed, or do you frequently alter your speed to help keep you alert?
4. Do you like to settle down in

PREPARED... They Beat the Gale's Destruction

The value of this company's preparedness to protect your telephone service in emergencies was proven once more last week while storm-broken trees and branches smashed great gaps through Michigan's long distance telephone lines. Riding a 60-mile gale from the western plains, the shrieking blasts caused wide-spread destruction throughout Michigan. But a well-built, well-protected plant minimized damage to telephone service. And experienced telephone men, 1500 of them... ready when needed, and where... patrolled the lines, repaired the breaks, even as the storm raged.

Only because of their experience, and long, careful training in standardized methods and with standardized tools and equipment, were these motorized and mechanized forces enabled to beat the storm's damage and restore service rapidly.

This company's preparedness is an asset to Michigan's telephone service.

THROUGH hard, long years, my son,
I have struggled and sacrificed to raise you to manhood!
Now, we are facing a chaotic period in world history, and your country needs you. I have always bid you do any noble duty. I can do no less now! I could urge you to no greater work!
Enrolled as an American soldier, you will be given a uniform, yet a uniform never made a soldier! Something within the man himself makes a soldier. A heart that is brave, a mind courageous, a will like steel, a vision beyond the petty events of the moment, one facing great issues!
My son, the spirit of tyranny which has swept Europe continues loose upon the earth.
It has left shell holes for ripened grain fields, ruins for homes where little children laughed and played.
Unchallenged, this tyrannical force would lay bare America's fertile plains, stately mountain ranges; stop the commerce of her cities, and cause her rivers to run with blood!
My son, these horrors must not come to America!
Therefore, I am glad that you shall stand with other American soldiers, clear of eye, square of jaw, firm of purpose, enabled to say to this destructive force—
"You shall not destroy America!"
For words are respected that are backed by adequate preparedness!
And, as you train to be a soldier, hold no hatred for any man within your heart!
Hate makes a beast, not a man! Let love of America and American liberty be the only reason for your arms.
As for me, I shall still struggle on. I do not begrudge the days. For, out of toil and the hours of self-forgetfulness in doing for others, comes the greatest virtue of life—nobility of character!
And, I would be selfish in claiming you only as MY son! In the larger sense, you are an individual with your own mission in life to fulfill.
If I have been privileged to be your mother, it is only because I have taught you, as best I know, how to pray, how to live, and how to play the man!
I hope that you will be the kind of man who will exert every influence to bring about a lasting peace and goodwill upon this tired earth!
As I lay me down to sleep each night, this shall be my prayer, my son: God keep you!

New Invention Expands,
Deflates Dresses to Fit

When a lady gets her dress back from the cleaners, she finds—she says—that it has shrunk three inches, she's mad. And when she goes to the cleaner and asks him to dry it, he's mad. And the first thing you know, half the population is mad with the other half, and the country is ripe for a revolution.

But this won't happen any more
if the invention of a Seattle man clicks. W. R. Frenzle has invented a machine which will restore mi-lady's dress exactly to its original form. And a Seattle company thinkit is so good that it is ready to embark on quantity production.

According to the inventor, no matter what the woman's figure, the machine will simulate it. In demonstrating the device recently, he claims, he ran a 14-size dress through all the sizes, from size 14 to size 20 and back to size 12. He made it wide across the waist—he made it narrow across the shoulders—he took it well down near the calf—and then ran it back to the knees.

Frenzle's invention is a complicated assemblage of rods, springs and gears with more give than a diver. It can be expanded and de-fated—a twist of a lever here, the setting of a gauge there and presto—
the dress is not only shaped but pressed in the same operation.

Dress shops, cleaners and dyers
who have seen the machine in operation say that it is the "big-thing in the women's apparel cleaning industry since the invention of woman herself. A factory has been installed and soon the machines are expected to be moving along the production line at a rapid pace.

Witch Doctors Still Exist in Belgian Congo

Natives of the Belgian Congo number close to 11,000,000. There are only about 25,000 whites in the whole colony.

Here and there, the whites have changed the ways of the natives,
but in general the old customs have been kept. There still is widespread belief in magic and witch doctors.

Beetles are burned, and their ashes are placed on teeth which cause pain. This is supposed to take away the pain, or part of the pain, when the teeth are pulled out.
A British traveler, Hilton Simpson, was in a village one day and told a native he was about to go for a hunt. The native said that the village witch doctor should be asked to give him a "charm."

The witch doctor was quite ready.
He reached up to his nose and pulled out a large seed, about the size of a peach stone. At least the traveler thought he saw the man get the seed
out of his nose.

It was a "magic trick." Most likely the witch doctor had the seed in his mouth, and used his tongue to give it a quick push toward his nose,
from which it seemed to come.

The witch doctor wrapped the seed in a leaf, and Simpson took it with him into the jungle. That day his shooting was bad, and he did not bring down any game of importance.
In other words, the charm didn't work.

If a witch doctor's charm fails,
it does not take away all the faith of the people in his skill. They simply say, "Another charm was at work, and it had more power than the one used by our witch doctor."

Government Using Fewer
Words; Cutting Expenses

Americans are the greatest self-improvement artists in the world.

A new job in Washington, that of "correspondence counselor" in the agriculture department, has been created. The title is new, rather for three years James E. Grady has been helping the Farm Credit administration streamline its letters.

Right now Grady is meeting once a week with soil conservation officials, helping them conserve words in their letters. Grady believes that far too many words are wasted in the average government letter—and business letters, too, for that matter. "Hoopskirt" and "stuffed shirt" expressions, he calls them. Expressions such as, "You are advised that congress has specified," or, "As per statement attached hereto."

The average government letter, it is estimated, costs 75 cents to produce. Grady says that by eliminating useless verbiage, letters can be shortened by from 30 to 60 per cent.
So you can see how much the conservation officials, under his tutelage, can conserve. Grady's six tests of a "satisfactory" letter are whether it is "clear, concise, complete, correct, appropriate in tone, neat and well set up."

"Hat in Ring"

When a politician announces his intention to "run for office," he throws his hat into the ring. The phrase, being a figurative one first popularized by Theodore Roosevelt in 1912, but its origins go back much further than that. It is a variation of the old literal "gag" of battle,
a practice of other centuries when a man invited physical combat by throwing some article on the ground as a challenge to be picked up by an opponent. The word "gag" is defined as a pledge made by a person to fight in support of his principles. In open days, the gag was usually a glove or cap. In America in the last century, it was common for the strong-arm village sport or bully to challenge all comers to a boxing or wrestling bout by sticking out a ring on the ground and daring anybody to toss a hat in. If any man accepted, he would literally toss in his hat, and the fight would be on. A similar custom is said to exist even to this day in certain parts of Great Britain.

Only Two Silk Hats

Col. Harry Toulmin, lawyer and soldier of Ohio, recently stated in a magazine article, (Iron Age) that 7 1/2 billions have been spent on the army in five years; or $600,000 for each soldier. For this money, he declared, each soldier could have six Ford's, two limousines, a chauffeur's equipment, a private tank, two personal trucks, 18 rifles, 2 machine guns, a cannon, 24 uniforms, 24
shirts, 1 dozen silk socks, 3 tuxedos, numerous silk shirts, silk hats and still have $11,310 in cash left.

But according to a Washington
columnist, (Harrison Miller) the colonel's figures are "all wet." He says,
"The 7 1/2 billions were spent on both the army and navy combined in seven years instead of five, which brings the wardrobe down to only two silk hats, a sheepskin coat and part of a battleship per cavalry-
man. But it makes a good yarn, colonel."

Dimple in Cheek

'Tis a fact, but no person, possessor of a charming dimple in cheek,
has ever been known to commit a major crime, according to Max Tisza, police councillor of Miskolc, Hungary.

The police councillor further states that such an indentation indicates a high moral and mental standard and also indicates that he is reliable and an all around asset to humanity.

Ladies: Here's How Air
Hostesses Get Their Man

And now one of our industries—an air transport company—has undertaken to answer that perennial question of women—"How can I get the kind of a husband I would like to have?"

In its report the industry discloses that approximately half of its hostesses get their man within a year,
yet in looks and native intelligence
they may have nothing unusual, but they do have certain qualities that appeal to a man who is looking for a wife he can cherish and honor and pal with and be proud of.

He never sees them smoke or drink, yet he knows they are worldly wise ladies who know their way about. They have dignity and poise and charm that is nine parts simple friendliness. He sees them being helpful and entertaining as a gracious hostess would be in her own home. Their makeup is put on with such skill that the resulting beauty of coloring seems natural.

And the final and most important advantage—the quality that enables these young ladies to win their man
—is pleasant, low and lovely voice.
And men long irritated by squeaky,
raspy, gum-muffled or calloped
voices listen with delight and pop
the question.

So, ladies, take a tip from these hostesses if you would make a good match.

Fences Asset to Property

Good fences make good neighbors.
Many people look upon fences as unfriendly barriers erected to prevent intrusion and to exclude neighbors and friends. The reverse is often true, as a good fence, built with an eye to beauty and fitted to the architectural character of the house, may be an asset to many properties.

The flower enthusiast will find the fence a protection from wandering neighborhood pets. A fence helps to confine the activities of small children and prevents them from straying into the street.

Fences come in a variety of sizes and makes. Wire and metal fences usually associated with farms and factories are now made in smart styles for private homes. Wooden fences, long in use, have been developed in many architectural styles
to serve as compliments to homes
of Cape Cod, colonial, modern, village, gothic, Concord, and other designs.

Campaign for Libraries

Librarians from the 48 states,
Canada, and South American countries, numbering more than 3,000, have started a united campaign to bring existing libraries closer to the actual needs of book borrowers, and in sparsely populated regions, to extend library service to isolated farmers.

They are facing the fact that more than 38,000,000 rural people in the United States are without adequate local public library service.

The librarians are agreed that in order to have people take a more intelligent part in the functioning of their government, they must be supplied with plenty of information and help people to read more widely on current issues.

Leprosy Cure

Almost complete cure of leprosy
is claimed by two Denver university trained doctors and a German colleague; Drs. C. C. Nelson, Douglas Collier and M. J. Oberdorfer, respectively. They claim that injections of diphtheria toxoid produces almost a complete cure. They also report that for the first time in history
they have succeeded in giving monkeys leprosy, or something that had all its characteristics, by feeding them colicacia root and injecting leprosy bacilli.

Government Knowledge
Following the vice president, those next in line for the presidency of the United States, should the office become vacant, are the first seven members of the cabinet. Representatives are not congressmen, but it has become the custom to call them that. Only senators are entitled to that title. The calling card of a representative is not supposed to bear either his title or the name of his state. Senators outrank any generals except those stationed at military posts.

Arkansas Diamond Mines
May See Activity Again

The Arkansas diamond mines, the only diamond mines in North America, are being tested to determine whether they can be operated profitably.

The mines have been idle for more than 20 years. The rising price of diamonds, however, has renewed interest in the Arkansas fields.

Diamonds were discovered in Arkansas in 1900 when two stones were found by John M. Huddleston near the mouth of Prairie creek, two and a half miles southeast of Murfreesboro.

Mining operations were started and were carried on until 1912 when they were suspended.

The Arkansas Diamond corporation was organized in 1919 with capital of $10,000,000. A large washing plant with full equipment was constructed, but nine months later the plant shut down and has been closed since.

The largest diamond found in Arkansas weighed 2 1/2 carats, and the second largest weighed 17.86 carats.

It has been estimated that 5,300 diamonds have been taken from Pike county mines. The value per carat of the uncut stones has ranged from $5 to $10.

Phone Company in Army

The telephone company in Seattle, (perhaps in other cities, too) has gone on a war ration. That is—censorship has descended on telephones as drastic as in wartime. A local newspaper couldn't take a picture because no pictures were allowed.

Under the censorship, one can find himself in jail if he listens in on a party line. Telephone employees themselves can't listen. Steps toward military secrecy over the telephone wires have been outlined to employees by the company president.

Employees are not permitted to give location of wires or equipment. You can't photograph any vital part of the system; you can't get information about a telegram unless you sent it or received it. You are not even allowed to visit the company's buildings.

All employees have been requested to fill out questionnaires about their citizenship, their military records, and their families and have been served with complete instructions on the new secret orders.

Children In Court

By Judge Malcolm Hatfield

Physical Fear Unknown
A small colored boy was arraigned on a charge of stealing bicycles. Several older boys had forced him to commit the thefts and had promised to pay him a dollar for each bicycle he stole. He refused to divulge the names of the older boys when questioned by the judge, because he was so thoroughly intimidated that he dared not accuse them.

The youngster was an orphan whose foster parents were too old to keep strict watch over him. The older boys were eventually found and disciplined after the youngster had been removed to a farm home where he was freed from the influence of his former associates.

Many youngsters are forced into delinquency by being challenged or threatened into committing a dishonorable act. When they succeed in their first attempts, and gain the approval of older members of the gang, they are frequently emboldened to attempt more hazardous undertakings. General Robert E. Lee once commented on the fact that adolescent boys make splendid soldiers because their lack of fear enables them to take chances in many instances where an older person would hesitate. When we consider this theory, we realize that youngsters between fourteen and seventeen years of age are capable of committing even more serious offenses than a mature person.

Prosecutor and Sheriff at Fault

An entire neighborhood went to a mother's aid when she sought to have her wanton son returned to her. This mother had been deserted ten years previously by her husband, but the authorities informed her that they could not afford to spend the public funds to locate and return him. Therefore, the woman was forced to seek employment in a factory to support her three children.

Since her work kept her away from home every week-day from 8 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening, she could not exert proper supervision over her children. Consequently, her son became implicated in a case in which he and three boys were charged with "joy riding" in a borrowed automobile.

After the son had been returned to his mother's custody, the judge remarked, "I have observed that a sheriff and a prosecutor will spend hundreds of dollars to catch a thief but they condone wife and child desertion. If your husband had been returned and forced to do his duty, his son would not have been in court today. With this sort of thing happening every day, I am heartily in favor of all floaters being required to present a clean bill of health from their home town sheriff or chief of police before they are permitted to settle and find work in a new locality. There is little doubt that thousands of such deserters who are evading their responsibility today would soon be located if they were required to report their various residences during the past fifteen years to a central bureau."
