HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Time goes, you say?
Ah no, alas,
Time stays, we go.

Ring out, glad bells! Ring out the old, ring in the new! There's a warming of the heart and a lift of the spirit as we turn another page!

"How time goes!" we observe, our voices scarcely heard above the screaming of whistles and the honking of motor horns.

"Time goes, you say? Ah no, alas, Time stays, we go."

This inscription appears on the "Fountain of Time,"

one of the earlier achievements of the late Lorado Taft, famous American sculptor. This majestic statue adds poetic beauty to a busy intersection at Cottage Grove Ave. and Midway Drive, in Chicago, Illinois. It shows in heroic figures the passing parade, each individual marching on to his destiny before the "reviewing stand" of Father Time, who scans them all impartially as they pass. A sectional view of the great monument is shown above.

Anne Schneider and H. Flintoft Married Friday

Wedding rites performed at 7:30 Friday evening at St. Paul's Evangelical church united Miss Anne Natalie Schneider, daughter of Oscar D. Schneider of Chelsea, and Howard Wellington Flintoft, son of Alonzo J. Flintoft of Hartland. Rev. P. H. Grabowski officiated, and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

Two urns, filled with white gladioli and snapdragons, flanked by tall candelabra holding lighted white candles, formed the altar decorations, while the window pieces were of evergreen boughs centered with white candles. Seats for the relatives were marked with pew bouquets and evergreen roping.

Preceding the ceremony, Lester McCoy, head of the music department of Hartland, sang "All For You" and "Because," with Mrs. McCoy accompanying. The latter also played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn's Recessional.

Miss Schneider chose for her wedding a princess gown of ivory satin, with high cowl neck and long sleeves, the bodice being severely plain except for a row of little buttons down the back. The skirt extended into a train. The double finger-tip veil of white net fell from a Juliet cap embroidered in seed pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of white carnations and snapdragons. The three-strand necklace of pearls which she wore was a gift of the bridegroom.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Ralph Carter of Hartland, sister of the groom, who was gowned in chartruse chiffon fashioned on classic lines with wide crushed girdle and gold stars embroidered on the bodice. With this she wore gold slippers and carried a colonial bouquet of tall-man roses, pink snapdragons and heather. A hair ornament of orchid ribbon completed her costume.

Carl Schneider, twin-brother of the bride, assisted as best man, and the ushers were Paul Schneider, another brother of the bride, and Ralph Carter, brother-in-law of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 100 guests was held in the church parlors. The bride's table was centered with a wedding cake and decorated with bowls of shaggy white mums and pink snapdragons. White tapers formed the illumination. Wedding bells marked the places for the guests.

After the reception the couple left for a wedding trip to Chicago, the bride wearing a toast colored wool crepe with brown accessories.

Mrs. Flintoft, a graduate of Chelsea high school and the University of Michigan, has since been teacher in Hartland and Grand Blanc. Mr. Flintoft also attended the U. of M. and is now employed as a contractor and builder. They will make their home in Flint.

Guests were present at the wedding from Detroit, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Albion, Kalamazoo, Bellevue, Grand Blanc and Hartland.

TRAIN DEMOLISHES CAR

As Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mundhenk were enroute to the home of George Haffley about 9 o'clock last Tuesday night, their automobile stalled on the Michigan Central tracks at the East Gutherie crossing. Mr. and Mrs. Mundhenk left the car, which later was struck by the eastbound Twilight Limited, and completely demolished.

AMERICAN LEGION PARTY FOR KIDDIES ATTENDED BY 500

Last Monday evening, December 23, at the high school gymnasium, Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31 of the American Legion gave its annual kiddies' Christmas party to nearly 500 children of Chelsea and vicinity.

The stage was decorated with Christmas trees, lights and other greenery, together with the Legion colors. The usual "Songfest" of Christmas songs was enthusiastically sung, and if not so harmonious at times, the spirit of the season was there.

Ward, the magician, gave 30 minutes of dazzling and mystifying entertainment to the "Ahs" and "Ohs" of the youthful audience. Through the courtesy of the Michigan Bakeries, Miss Mabel Munro showed several reels of Our Gang Comedy.

And then Santa Claus came galloping in and with the help of the committee gave "treats" to 485 children.

From all reports, it is believed that everybody enjoyed themselves and that all can look forward to another party next Christmas. The committee desires to thank all who so generously gave of their time and many others who contributed to the success of the party.

HANNIGAN-CLARK WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Hannigan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Hannigan of Grand Haven, and Floyd Lionel Clark Jr., of Chelsea, son of Mrs. Floyd L. Clark of Grosse Pointe, was solemnized Saturday afternoon, Dec. 21 at the Presbyterian church house, Grand Haven.

Pine boughs decorated the fireplace and the room was lighted by white tapers in two candelabra. Prof. Robert W. Clark of Alma college, where the bride and groom graduated, performed the four o'clock ceremony in the presence of 30 guests.

The bride chose a street length dress of royal blue chiffon velvet with rhinestone buttons. Her hat was of matching material and her gloves, white. She wore an orchid corsage.

Miss Margaret Randels of Holland, a college classmate of the couple, was bridesmaid. She wore a white hat and white gloves with a single garland at the shoulder of her black velvet princess style dress. Short Belting of Lansing acted as best man.

A black, figured cashmere gown was chosen by Mrs. Hannigan for her daughter's wedding, while Mrs. Clark wore a dress of aquamarine alpaca with a lace bodice. Their corsages were of gardenias and baby breath.

A five-thirty dinner was served at the Hotel Wm. M. Ferry, where corters were laid for members of the wedding party, the immediate families and a few guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark will make their home at 314 West Middle St., Chelsea. Mr. Clark is commercial instructor at Cassidy Lake Technical school. Mrs. Clark formerly was a teacher in the Chelsea public schools.

GAMES POSTPONED

The Huron League basketball games originally scheduled with Salline for Friday, January 3 have been changed to Tuesday, January 7. The games are to be played here, the first starting at 7:15 p. m. The players will have their first practice after the holiday season on January 2 and will try to reach the form that brought them a victory over Pinckney.

Roy A. Martin was home from Detroit, Ill. for a Christmas visit.

Accidents Cause Two Deaths In This Vicinity

Miss Nellie May Statia, a resident of the Methodist Old People's Home, died about 5:30 Tuesday afternoon as the result of injuries received two hours before, when she was hit by a car backing from a driveway and dragged into the street.

The accident occurred at the home of Marshall Canine, 675 W. Middle St. Mr. Canine, who drove away after the accident, told sheriff's officers he was unaware of the mishap until informed of it later.

Miss Statia, who was deaf, died of shock and internal injuries. A native of New York state, she was born Nov. 10, 1871 and lived in Howell 60 years before coming to the Methodist Home a year ago.

Funeral services were held on Thursday at 10 o'clock at the Methodist Home and at 2 o'clock at Howell Methodist church, of which she was a member. Burial was in Howell cemetery.

Charles J. Ashton, 54 years old, of Huntington Woods, head of the C. J. Ashton Lumber Co., of Detroit was killed in a two-car collision last Monday afternoon on US-12 seven miles west of Chelsea, just west of the county line. A warrant charging negligent homicide was issued against Henry J. Kusterer, Gary, Ind., driver of the car with which Ashton's machine collided, following a state police investigation.

In a collision of two cars at old US-12 and Freer Rd. about 5 o'clock Sunday night, Dec. 22, Dan Scripser, 17, Chelsea, suffered a broken nose and lacerations, and Warren Hoover, 19, also of Chelsea, suffered lacerations and were taken to St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, by a passing motorist. Hoover's car, traveling east on US-12, collided with one being driven north on Freer Rd. by Gwendol Baker, 19, also of Chelsea. Deputy Sheriff David Mohrlock said Baker admitted he did not see the stop sign and did not stop at the intersection.

WILLIAMSTON FIRM AWARDED LOCAL ROAD CONSTRUCTION

The state highway department this week announced low bids on eight construction projects totalling $287,431.82, which included 6.881 mile grading and drainage structures and stabilized aggregate surfacing on M-92, Chelsea south to US-12, to Cheney-Wright Co. of Williamston, $15,882.42.

Making his first appearance as state highway commissioner at a letting of contracts, G. Donald Kennedy assured contractors present they would continue to receive the same fair treatment evident during the last seven years.

"We will continue," Kennedy said, "to advertise publicly for bids, to open the bids publicly, and then to award the various projects to the lowest pre-qualified bidder."

Kennedy told the contractors that by working together in mutual understanding of each other's problems it will not only be possible to make sure the public receives full value for its money, but that contractors obtain a fair and legitimate profit for their work for the state.

By Gene Altemus

Lansing—Michigan's holiday light opera, "Who Won the Election?", which is now being presented on the front page by Dickinson, Van Wagoner & Company, is downright heavy "drammer" to party politicians even if the readers are only mildly concerned.

It was inevitable that a contest of power would ensue when voters jumped fences to elect a Democratic governor, lieutenant governor, and state treasurer, while returning a Republican secretary of state and auditor general, selecting a Republican attorney general and returning a Republican majority to both houses of the legislature—all in the same day!

Bi-partisan government may possess an intriguing allure to the man on the street. But to the officials in the statehouse, it's a beginning-to-appear like a two-year headache that is already under way.

Here is the situation in brief.

Who Runs Senate?

In the first place, the Republican dominated state senate has decided that Republicans should retain the privilege of committee appointments.

For a week or so factional strife threatened to divide G. O. P. ranks into two groups whom we will call the "regulars" and the "independents."

Senator Earl W. Munshaw, Grand Rapids, was the choice of "regulars," while Senator D. Hale Blake, Stanton, was picked by "independents."

Hopeful Democratic Senators, sensing a possibility of a coalition majority composed of the ten Democrats plus one of the two Republican factions, had selected Senator Earnest C. Brooks, Holland, to be a coalition candidate for president pro tem.

It has been the traditional prerogative of the lieutenant governor to make all committee appointments, and under a party system where the minority seeks to check the majority at every political opportunity and where the majority desires to carry out the "popular mandate" as to the "will of the people," a legislative committee can be most helpful if the right legislators are in charge of its deliberations.

The senate majority, however, can checkmate any appointment; hence the political tug-of-war.

Under the guidance of Senator Don Vander Werp, Fremont, as caucus chairman, the threatened Republican revolt was squelched and an agreement was reached whereby Senators Munshaw and Blake are to split the leadership—Munshaw will be Republican floor leader, while Blake will be president pro tem.

December 27 is the date of the next organization meeting at which time committee chairmen will be named. Frank Murphy, lieutenant governor-elect, has indicated he will probably co-operate. If the Republicans stick together, Murphy has no alternative.

Governor's Appointments?

While it may be legally possible for a Republican majority to override a Democratic lieutenant governor, the governorship holds vast powers, and Murray D. Van Wagoner, the popular choice by some 180,000 votes, is ready to live up to his campaign slogan of being a man "who gets things done."

After the Nov. 5 balloting, Governor Luren D. Dickinson was in a most co-operative mood. He pronounced his blessing generously on Mr. Van Wagoner, said he might pick a Democrat to fill the vacancy of lieutenant governor between Nov. 5 and Jan. 1; formally named Don Kennedy to be state highway commissioner.

Republican officials became openly alarmed at such astounding goings-on, and they implored the governor to be more sensible. Soon the honeymoon was over (if it ever began) and the word went out that Dickinson and Van Wagoner weren't seeing things—eye to eye.

Complicating the situation is the new civil service amendment which may "jell" thousands of appointees into state jobs, subject of course to court interpretation and then to friendly administration by a civil service commission.

Defoe and Reid

state bureau that has always offered generous patronage in the liquor control commission with a far-flung system of state stores and warehouses. The term of Muri H. Defoe, Charlotte newspaper editor, expired Sunday, Dec. 1. Governor Dickinson believes that the temperate Charlotte editor merits a re-appointment, and he also has indicated that Alva M. Cummins is worthy of further state service.

On the unemployment compensation commission the governor's choices for immediate appointment are John Reid, secretary of the Michigan Federation of Labor, and Harry A. Macdonald, for the state labor mediation board, Arthur C. Lappin.

Although under normal circumstances the appointments of a retiring governor would never weather legislative acceptance, Dickinson's choices will go to a friendly State Senate. The strategy emphasizes the intention of the Republican legislative majority to prevent any wholesale hand-sawing of state employees by starting at the top itself—the men who possess the power to hire and fire.

What the civil service amendment will do is a genuine puzzle. Attorney General-elect, Herbert Rushton has intimated he will ask the State Supreme Court for an interpretation on the act's jurisdiction. There are also rumors that Rushton will frown officially after Jan. 1, 1941, on any wholesale firing of employees, if such would be attempted.

Run Again in 1942?

Amid all the front page fuss over what who was going to do what and when, the 81-year-old governor released a youthful hint that he might be receptive to being a candidate for governor in 1942. Previously he divulged in an amused moment to the press that he recently received a number of proposals of marriage. And so it went.

But with the last few days of his administration waning, the redoubtable Mr. Dickinson is astutely wielding his authority for all it is worth. Let it be known to one and all, Michigan in 1939 and 1940 has had a remarkable governor.

Children In Court

By Judge Malcolm Hatfield

Courts of the Future

Those who have followed the rapid advances made in the study and treatment of juvenile delinquency, candidly believe that during the next twenty years we will look back upon present day juvenile court methods in much the same light as we now regard the medical profession of two centuries ago. There is little doubt that the juvenile court of the future will be transformed into a scientific correctional tribunal which will have little in common with the court of the present era.

Today a judge, with his limited resources, has no control whatsoever over social conditions and cannot possibly meet all recommendations made by his psychiatrist advisor. We do not wish to resort to prophecy and predict that the millennium is just around the corner. It is self-evident that the juvenile court of the future must be given wide powers before it can reduce the problem of child delinquency.

The blame for the present chaotic state of affairs in regard to juvenile crime cannot be shifted on the juvenile court, because it becomes increasingly evident that our whole structure is at fault. The legalistic methods now employed by certain courts can well be supplanted by new and more effective technique, which includes informal hearings with a minimum of publicity, and constructive supervision of probationers. Many types of family cases should be adjusted informally by trained social investigators and psychiatrists without dragging them into open court.

While we speak of improvements, it is suggested that courts reserved for adults should act on the endorsement of the late Chief Justice Taft, who recommended that a public defender be elected, or appointed, in every criminal court throughout the nation at a regular salary. Justice Taft also recommended that a department be established in every state to offer legal advice and service in suits and defenses in civil, small-claims, domestic relations and other types of courts. This kind of procedure would enable the average citizen with a small income to avail himself of those so-called equal rights before the law.

Functions of the Juvenile Court

In Russia it is not unusual to send mere children to the gallows. Children in the United States are not subject to such brutality; they are tried in an atmosphere where the procedure is very different from that of the criminal court.

This kind of procedure not only protects children who are witnesses in court, but provides a more adequate means for proper social investigation and continuous treatment after the trial.

Juvenile courts are now given greater jurisdiction over adults who contribute to juvenile delinquency, because it is becoming increasingly difficult to handle such cases in the criminal court. In the more serious cases, however, where heavier penalties are required for those who contribute to juvenile crime, concurrent jurisdiction is placed both in the juvenile and in the criminal courts. This system of jurisdiction enables the juvenile court judge to offer protection to children involved in delinquency cases.

Telescope From Junk

A Cambridge, Mass., city employee, Peter Wolentz, has constructed a telescope from junk parts he picked up at the city dumps. The telescope is mounted on a swivel base in his back yard. It took him more than a year to accumulate the necessary parts. His knowledge as an amateur astronomer was picked up from pulp magazines and someday he hopes to discover a new star or phenomenon with this telescope.

DEXTER—Miss Patricia Newkirk, who has been a student at Junior College, St. Petersburg, Florida, for two years is home to spend the holidays with her father, Birkett Newkirk, at the farm. Saturday, Dec. 28, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Newkirk, of Ann Arbor, will have been married sixty years. They and other outside relatives are planning to spend that day celebrating the event at the farm. — Leader.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Wirt Newkirk are well known in Chelsea and vicinity.

STOCKBRIDGE—The citizens of Stockbridge were shocked Monday evening to hear that Dr. Cora L. Stitt, for fifty years a practicing physician here, had passed away at the Sparrow Hospital, Lansing, Sunday evening, aged 70 years. ## Weight Tax Payments To Counties Increased Lansing — Indications this week pointed to an increase of more than $4,475,000 in disbursements of automobile weight tax to counties for the calendar year of 1940.

On the basis of collections already made, State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy estimated that the weight tax disbursements to counties would total $21,370,000 for an all-time high.

In addition to the weight-tax disbursements, the counties also receive $6,550,000 by statute from gasoline tax receipts, bringing the total amount for 1940 to an estimated $27,920,000, as compared with $26,445,910.27 for 1939, the previous all-time high.

Kennedy also stated that the state highway department was expected to benefit by an increase of approximately $2,280,591.86 from gasoline tax revenues over the 1939 figures. He estimated receipts from this source at $32,220,000, as compared with $29,934,408.44 for 1939.

Said Kennedy: "Greatly increased use of our highways as reflected by better business conditions is responsible for the gain in gasoline and weight tax revenues upon which the state and county highway departments are largely dependent for operating funds."

In addition to the disbursements to counties, the state highway department also expended $15,400,000 for highway construction during the year, an increase of $5,232,751.72 over last year, Kennedy stated, while maintenance and traffic service figures were reduced from $6,785,290.17 in 1939 to $6,763,000 this year.

The highway department was also shown to have contributed $4,082,000 to the bond sinking fund from its 1940 receipts.

Something on the Ball

Baseball was about 30 years old before baseball pitchers learned how to put something on the ball. Soon freak deliveries like the fadeaways, spitballs, emery balls, shine balls, fingernail balls and knuckle balls were wrecking batting averages on every diamond in the country. Science accomplished this. University professors demonstrated that it was all a matter of air pressure. When you throw a ball without any spin, the air is churned up behind it and suddenly creates pressures one way or another that put the ball off its course. Throw the ball forward with a spin and one side of the ball is turning backward and the other side is turning forward. In other words, a spinning ball follows its nose. If the nose is spinning to the left, the ball curves left; if down, it causes a drop and if up, it curves upward.

MILD INFLUENZA EXPECTED

Influenza in the mild form which is spreading east and south from the Pacific coast may reach Michigan, and if it does the State Health Department says that any person who becomes ill with flu should call a physician immediately and go to bed.

"Going to bed under the care of a doctor is the best thing that a victim of influenza can do," said Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner. "The high fever, headache, pains in back and legs and general weakness which accompany flu make it unmistakable. The attack is usually sudden, and comes on only a day or two after exposure to a case. Influenza is spread chiefly from person to person in the same way that a cold is spread."

The present epidemic of influenza may have been brought from Hawaii to the west coast when part of the fleet returned recently. Influenza became epidemic in the Hawaiian Islands in September.

January Chicks Will Produce Earlier Eggs

January chicks are the early birds that can be counted on to lay eggs in July and August for tourist demand. Michigan's extra summer population is willing to pay cash for fresh eggs at a time when farm flocks normally are laying fewer eggs or have been reduced in numbers by culling.

Proof of the process is in experimentation with the system at the Michigan State College Upper Peninsula Experiment Station at Chatham. J. G. Wells, Jr., superintendent of the station, reports that Chatham flocks of Leghorns and New Hampshire hens were producing at a pace of 40 to 60 per cent through August, September and October. In November the early birds started molting and stopped production but by that time the main flock produced eggs in quantity.

For a year's production these January chicks do not equal the egg-laying of pullets that come into production in the fall. This was evident in spite of the fact that when the early hatched chicks are kept in the flock after molting, they start laying again and usually continue into the following July.

Chatham results point to greater efficiency if the January chicks are sold for meat as soon as they go into the early fall molt. At East Lansing the general purpose breeds have been found better for this meat purpose than the Leghorns.

In the Upper Peninsula the extra summer supply of eggs fills the tourist demand. In other sections of the state, it is pointed out, the January hatched pullets could fit in the summer gap for regular customers. Cockrocks from the January hatches can be fed and marketed as fryers and roasters, with later hatched cockrocks marketed at the same time for summer broilers.

Canned Tomatoes Keep Vitamin 'A' for Years

Research nutritionists at Iowa State college have found that canned tomatoes stored at room temperature as long as three and four years show no loss of vitamin A.

In the past, homemakers usually have canned only enough tomatoes for a year's use, because it was believed that all canned goods lost some of their nutritive value over a period of time.

The experiment was conducted by Dr. Pearl P. Swanson, Dr. P. Mabel Nelson and Dr. Gladys Stevenson, who is now at the University of California. Results were reported in the Farm Science Reporter, college quarterly, just released.

The research was done on tomatoes only. Gains of 168 white rats were found to be unaffected by variation in length of time tomatoes had been canned.

Tomatoes may provide a large part of the daily requirements of vitamin A, the nutritionists stated. One serving of canned tomatoes contains as much of the vitamin as one and one-half pats of butter.

Cultivate Most Roses Here

People in the United States cultivate more roses than any other country in the world, but our once famous American Beauty rose is practically extinct today, according to Francis W. Ruzicka, president of the National Rose Growers of America. Its place has been taken by the Better Times rose, introduced six years ago. Today when you buy a so-called American Beauty, the chances are it is really a Better Times. Yellow roses are hardest to produce. Bees and bugs, greatest pollinating agents, always prefer pink roses; so when roses go pink, you know they have gone wild. New Jersey grows enough roses to strew the Transcontinental Highway end to end, from Trenton to Pasadena. White roses cost more in June and September and are almost unsaleable through the rest of the year. The Red Rose Inn, near West Grove, Pa., has paid its rent with roses, instead of money for more than 200 years.

Here's how to remove old wallpaper from a room you want to resurface. Brush water liberally on surface and allow to stand until water has penetrated paper and softened paste. ## Leather Gloves Washed With Plain Soap, Water Winter gloves are more exciting in their designs than ever before and their washability makes them practical. The time when only French gloves were washable was passed, for now practically all American-made leather gloves have this same feature. Years spent in research have been productive and today, whether one is wearing doorknobs, capeskins, suedes or pigskins, the chances are 10 to 1 that these American-made gloves are washable.

White gloves, of course, wash most easily, for the soil is so quickly detected that the wearer is likely to put them into soap and water before the grime is conspicuous, and as a consequence it comes off immediately. This, the glove manufacturers say, is the secret of keeping one's gloves beautifully clean. They say to wash them frequently and advise that the soil not be allowed to become deeply set before giving the gloves a thorough washing.

On the subject of washability, they say further that the soap should not be rubbed onto the glove or a brush used on a particularly difficult spot because this roughens the leather. They suggest a rich, foamy suds with every particle of soap dissolved before the gloves are doused in this soapy water. If they are very soiled, turn them and wash them inside as well.

MICHIGAN BELL PLANS LARGE 1941 EXPANSION PROGRAM

George M. Welch, president of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, has announced plans for a $25,400,000 expansion program for 1941.
The projected 1941 telephone program is the largest since the company's 1929 program of more than $27,000,000 and will top the 1940 program by 22 per cent, or $5,000,000.
The president's announcement was made as the Michigan Public Service Commission approved the company's petition for permission to increase its authorized capital stock by $15,000,000, of which the company proposes to issue $5,000,000 shortly to retire notes. The balance will be issued as needed in connection with the construction program.
Welch explained that the $25,400,000 program in 1941 will result in net additions to the company's plant of $14,200,000. Net additions will be financed by $10,000,000 from the newly authorized stock issue and $4,200,000 by short term notes. The remaining $11,200,000 of the program will be cared for from other sources available as a result of the company's depreciation practices which provide for the replacement of worn and obsolete plant.
The president attributed the accelerated construction directly and indirectly to the National Defense Program. Industrial and business expansion accompanying Michigan's part in the National Defense efforts, he said, presages a heavy increase in the demand on the company for service and facilities.

HEALTH DEPT. GETS 100,000 INQUIRIES FOR VITAL RECORDS

Certified copies of birth certificates and other vital records are being made by the Michigan Department of Health at the rate of more than 3,000 a week.
The greatest demand for such records that the department has ever known has come in the last year. Individual searches of vital records will total 100,000 for the year, as compared with 80,000 in 1939 and 18,000 in 1938, the highest totals up to that time.
Even though the demand for birth and other certificates had been heavy all year, it was increased in June when workers in national defense industries were required to show proof of citizenship. For most persons in the state, the easiest way to prove citizenship is to show a Michigan birth certificate.
For months the demand for certificates has kept two shifts of workers busy in the department vaults. The same demand has been evident in the offices of county clerks all over the state, and in offices of city clerks or full time health officers. City offices have records dating back to 1906, whereas county and state records go back to 1867.
In many cases, lifelong residents of the state are finding that no official records of their birth exist, either in their own counties or in Lansing. In such cases, if the attending physician is not available to make out a birth certificate, probate judges in the county of birth or county of residence can issue a certificate and send it to the Department of Health for delayed registration after presentation of satisfactory evidence of the date, place and other essential facts about the birth.

Faulty Gutters

Leaky and corroded gutters and downspouts often cause serious building damage. They may result in ruined and unsightly walls and ceilings as well as cause considerable deterioration of exterior materials. Experienced workmen can easily and quickly repair or install new flashing over door and window openings and roof intersections, around the chimney, pipe vents and other openings and projections. At the same time they can clean gutters and downspouts of dirt and litter and repair them or install new ones if necessary. Further deterioration of metals which are subject to corrosion may be retarded by the use of suitable paint.

JOSEPH JOSEPH

Joseph Joseph, 86 years old, died Sunday night, Dec. 22. He was taken ill about 9 o'clock at the home of a sister, Mrs. Dell Ingram and died of heart disease while being taken to a physician's office by his brother, Morgan Joseph.

The heavy team, which pulls against three others Tuesday night, is a pair of grade Belgians which won first last summer at Harrisburg, Pa. The pull there was 3,750 pounds. ## Harsh Voice May Spoil Perfectly Groomed Lady

"Too many women think of their beauty in pictorial terms, forgetting that while they are, so to speak, pictures, they are sound pictures and not silent ones."

This observation comes from Paul Althaus, famous American tenor of the Metropolitan opera.

"It's time every woman realized that the impression she makes is a matter of sound as well as sight. She can be beautiful and perfectly groomed, but the pleasant effect she may create visually can be spoiled by a harsh or rasping voice."

Mr. Althaus points out that before giving attention to exercises to improve the tones of your voice and develop clear, articulate and proper modulation, it is necessary to get a mental image of what your voice really is like.

"If possible, have a record made," the tenor goes on. "If that isn't possible, force yourself to analyze your own speaking voice without use of a record. It can be done. If you can get a friend or member of your family to act as critic, so much the better."

"The first essential of vocal control is repose. Nervous, tense, tired people invariably talk in high-pitched, unsteady voices—not in pleasant, evenly modulated tones."

And—for the good of your voice as well as your nerves—relax your jaw and put the tip of your tongue against lower teeth instead of holding it tensely against the roof of your mouth.

Eight-Pound Swordfish Caught Near Havana

Ernest Hemingway, author and playwright and a vice president of the International Game Fish association, has presented the American Museum of Natural History with a specimen of one of the smallest big game fish on record—a swordfish weighing eight pounds and measuring less than four feet long—caught near Havana.

This unusual specimen was caught by commercial fishermen near Havana at a depth of 380 feet, and was discovered tangled in the line. Thus, not having been hooked, it was in a perfect state. When Mr. Hemingway procured it he made sure that it would reach the American museum in the same perfect state by immediately shipping it north in the refrigerator of Mr. William B. Leeds' yacht, the "Moana."

"The breeding grounds of the swordfish is a mystery to science," said Miss Francesca LaMonte, associate curator, "and it is very heartening to have the capture of this young fish off Cuba confirm to some extent that that may be the breeding grounds of the Atlantic run. The specimen presented to us by Mr. Hemingway, although not the smallest on record, is at an interesting stage of growth, resembling neither the baby swordfish nor the full-grown adult."

Lady Lisa Traveling Again

Is Lady Lisa going traveling again?

Lady Lisa is the woman with the incomprehensible smile in the Louvre at Paris. She is known as Leonardo da Vinci's "Mona Lisa." Her face is the most famous in the world.

Now the University of Rome demands the return of Lady Lisa to Italy. It was swiped, with other famous paintings and works of art, by Napoleon when he conquered Italy.

Lady Lisa was kidnapped in 1912 by an Italian. He lifted it right off the wall of the Louvre and walked out with it. The Lady was recovered (no ransom paid) and the thief was judged.

Of the "Mona Lisa," Walter Pater, great English essayist, wrote his most famous lines:

"Hers is the head upon which all the ends of the world are come, and the eyelids are a little weary. It is a beauty wrought out from within upon the flesh, the deposit, little cell by cell, of strange thoughts and fantastic reveries and exquisite passions."

It is said that it took Leonardo 12 years to paint that sardonic mysterious smile.

Plan Hybrid Vigor Probe

The Rockefeller Foundation of New York city has granted Iowa State college $21,000 to be used over a three-year period on two basic genetic research problems, Dr. E. Lindstrom, head of the genetics department, announced. One of the problems will be to probe the "real basis" of hybrid vigor—still one of nature's greatest mysteries. The other will be to determine the causes for changes in virulence of disease bacteria in relation to the host. Two diseases—bacterial wilt or corn and mouse typhoid—will be studied. Dr. J. W. Gowen of the genetics department will direct the mouse typhoid problem and the hybrid vigor experiment.

Paradise Lost

Among the last wills and testaments recorded in Cherokee county, N. C., is that of an eccentric woman who left part of her estate to God. In endeavor to settle the matter properly, the usual suit, naming God as a party thereof was filed. And at the summons the sheriff made this response, "After due and diligent search, God cannot be found in Cherokee county."

South American Styles
If you are a manufacturer of ladies' wear, and are thinking of exporting styles to the ladies of South America, here are a few suggestions offered by Senora Hermenia Davila, who knows practical dressmaking as well as fashion. Print dresses are worn only in December and January. South American women prefer small-figured patterns on a dark ground; taboo short sleeves; evening gowns should be of good fabric and conservative in design and to wear for two seasons; no shorts but pastel-colored silk or thin wool dresses and woolen bathing suits, not too naked. Long and ample bridal tulle is worn by the Chilean bride, because guests, instead of taking slices of cake for souvenirs, slip off pieces of the bride's white veil. Chinchillas are rarely worn.

Smallest Wheat Crop
The smallest buckwheat crop on record—5,767,000 bushels—was produced by the United States in 1939.

Question And Answer Dept.

Problem—Is it true or false that in the whole world there were no women born during the year 1939? (Answer elsewhere in this column).
Ques—Is it true that when a measuring worm is seen crawling on a person it indicates he will soon be measured for a new suit of clothes?
Ans—No. That is purely a myth, with no foundation whatsoever of its origin. The measuring worm (sometimes called "looper") have only four feet—two each at the extreme ends of their long, slender body. In moving, they fasten the fore foot and bring the hind foot forward, the body forming a large loop. This movement suggests "measuring" and this may have been the origin of the myth.

Ques—Who was Louise Michel, and to what country did she belong?

Ans—Louise Michel (pronounced "Mee-shel") was an author and writer born in France in 1839. She attracted the attention of Victor Hugo who encouraged her to open a communistic training school in 1860 at Paris. In 1871 she was placed under arrest as a leader in revolutionary communism and was sentenced for life imprisonment in New Caledonia. In 1880 the general amnesty to political prisoners freed her. Later she settled in London, where she carried on her work. She died on Jan. 9, 1905.

Ques—Is it true that an ostrich can outrun any race horse?

Ans—Yes. An ostrich, while walking the stride is about two feet; when running the stride is about twelve feet without slackening the tempo of its strides. In other words, it leaps through the air, but the wings take no part in its flying only to balance their bodies when they extend their small, stubby wings.

Ques—Can you tell me something about the Nobel Prize Awards? Thank you.

Ans—Alfred Bernard Nobel, an inventor and philanthropist of Sweden, founded the famous Nobel prize fund of $9,200,000, the annual interest of which is divided into five equal parts and given as rewards to deserving persons. The five awards, provided for include the most important invention or discovery in chemistry; in physiology; in medicine; literary work of an idealistic nature; the most important work in the interest of universal peace.

Ques—What is the longest distance in a straight line north and south between a point at the Mexican border and a point at the Canadian border? Also the same east and west?

Ans—From the southernmost point in Texas straight north to the Canadian border is 1,598 miles; east and west in a straight line across the United States is 2,162 miles. The north and south line is from the southernmost point in Texas to the 49th parallel, and the east and west is from West Quoddy head to the Pacific ocean.

Answer to problem—It is true—they were all babies.

Ques—Which country in the world produces the most cotton?

Ans—The United States produces more cotton than all the other countries in the world combined. The annual output is now about 17,000,000 bales. (A bale weighs 478 pounds lint).

Ques—When did James J. Corbett defeat John L. Sullivan to become heavyweight champion prizefighter?
Ans—Sept. 7, 1892, in 21 rounds at New Orleans, La.

But Not Me
Seventy-eight per cent of Americans believe in conscription according to a survey—of the 78 per cent in favor—80 per cent thought they should be exempt.

Do you believe in New Year's resolutions? Whether you do or not, you love life, and because of that you should resolve not only to keep that life, but also to protect the lives of others.

Therefore, why not make some very important New Year's resolutions for 1941 and live up to them? Here are a few suggestions:

1. I will be a safe driver by exercising care and by protecting the rights of others.
2. I will be a safe pedestrian.
3. I will not take foolish chances.
4. I will obey the rules of the road.

Of course, there are many more resolutions—important ones, too—that could be added to this list; but if everyone makes and keeps these four, our country will be a better and safer place in which to live.

Resolve now to do your part in 1941.

Not Bad in America
B. C. Forbes, observer of things domestic, reaches the conclusion that things are not too bad in America. For instance, the United States has 40,000,000 radios, four out of five Americans homes have electricity, it spends between seven and ten billion dollars a year on recreation, it has 19 1/2 million telephones, 6,000 public libraries, more home owners than any other nation, 11 million of its people own stock in productive enterprises, and it has the largest church membership in relation to population in its history. Too frequently in the desire to achieve, the individual is prone to overlook his blessings which, in the light of world events, should stand out in bold relief. The one major task confronting the American people is not so much in seeking added blessings but to make sure they retain those they now possess.
