4-H's To Learn Best Uses of Electricity

Bona-fide 4-H clubsters of Michigan have the go signal from the state leader to engage in the national 4-H rural electrification contest, and learn which of the 200 and more rural uses of electricity may profitably be used on their farms. Where current is not in use participants will ascertain what adaptation of it can be made. All contestants are encouraged to conduct demonstrations.

Examples of what can be achieved are these from last year's contest: An Oregon 4-H'er helped rewired and hang new fixtures for better lighting in a community church. A 17-year-old Oklahoma boy made a grindstone with a 1-4 horsepower electric motor from a washing machine, together with fly and pulley wheels from a worn-out engine.

A Montana clubster wired his own, as well as 25 other homes and farmsteads. Illinois' 1940 topnotch 4-H electrical member made an electric fly trap by utilizing a 2-000-volt neon sign transformer, and built connections for an electric brooder with odds and ends. An electric basketball scoreboard for his high school was designed, constructed and wired by a Michigan youth.

A West Virginia lad installed convenient switches for his farm's water pump, crib and hen laying house, and performed many other useful electrical jobs at home.

Rewards for outstanding achievements are provided by Westinghouse and include gold medals for county winners, all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November for recipients of State honors, and $200 college scholarships for each of the six in the national blue award group.

RATES ON MICHIGAN BELL LONG DISTANCE CALLS REDUCED

700,000 CUSTOMERS WILL SHARE
REFUNDS OF $1,500,000

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company is moving promptly to comply with the order of the former Michigan Public Utilities Commission, which has just been upheld by the State Supreme Court, to reduce intrastate long distance rates to the level of interstate rates.

That will mean savings of approximately $700,000 a year to long distance users, based on present volume of usage.

Messages will be charged at the new rates as soon as the new tariffs can be filed and are accepted by the Michigan Public Service Commission. Until then, messages will be charged at the old rates and will be subject to later refund.

TO REFUND $1,500,000

Under the order, the Company will make refunds or credits of the difference between the intrastate and interstate rates paid by its long distance customers since August 1, 1938, effective date of the order. That money, totaling $1,500,000, has been impounded in a bank designated by the Court, without interest.

More than 65,000,000 long distance call records, involving the accounts of 700,000 users of the service must be checked. Therefore, it will be some weeks before the refunds or credits can be made or information given with regard to specific accounts. However, in the interest of speeding the work, the checking has been started.

WORK WILL BE SPEEDED

The Company will at once request a supplementary court order authorizing methods to be followed in making the returns.

Calls made within the state between points more than 42 miles apart are affected.

As soon as additional information becomes available with respect to the method of making the refunds or credits it will be advertised in this paper.

Why does a Golf Ball bounce?

EVER notice that a golf ball, when you drop it, bounces higher than something hollow, like a tennis ball?

That's partly because of internal pressures, which also have so much to do with Buick's extra FIREBALL power.

Rubber threads inside a golf ball are packed tight, highly compressed. When flattened against a hard object, like a sidewalk, they come back harder, with more push, and so the ball bounces higher.

A similar thing happens inside a Buick FIREBALL straight-eight cylinder.

Fuel compression pressures are higher

It was my pleasure to see a preview of the motion picture, "Land of Liberty," sponsored by Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America for war emergency relief.

I was greatly interested with the historical importance of this film and regard it highly for its entertainment value. It portrays in a dramatic way the highlights of 150 years of American history.

School children and adults as well will enjoy this picture.

Since the entire proceeds are going for war relief, there is no profit motive connected with it.

It is a superb film produced for a worthy cause.

Michigan Bell Co. To Refund Large Amount

Detroit--The Michigan Bell Telephone Company moved today to bring about a speedy refund of approximately $1,500,000 to its long distance customers following the decision of the State Supreme Court upholding a Commission order to reduce intrastate toll rates to the level of interstate charges.

George M. Welch, president of the company, announcing that no appeal will be entered in the case, said that necessary steps are being taken with the Michigan Public Service Commission to place the new rates into effect and to initiate procedure for making the refunds. He estimated the decision will mean a savings of about $700,000 a year to customers, based upon current usage of long distance service.

Welch said the company will immediately request Judge Leiland W. Carr, of the Ingham Circuit Court, for a supplementary decree giving the Court's approval of methods and procedures for the company to follow in making refunds. As an example of questions to be determined, he pointed out that the court must approve the form the refunds will take -- whether by individual checks, credits on customers' bills, or a combination of both. When the necessary decree is issued, the company will set the refund machinery into motion at once, Welch said. It was Judge Carr who rendered the original court decision upholding the order of the old Michigan Public Utilities Commission fixing the intrastate toll rates at interstate levels.

State Capitol, Lansing—If you want to find out who won the election, page 4.

Michigan's ballyhooed bipartisan government wasn't changed much by the popular vote. That state administrative board, about which the politicians fussed and fumed, remains the same.

Four Republicans—Vernon J. Brown, Eugene B. Elliott, Harry F. Kelly and Herbert K. Rushton.

Four Democrats—Murray D. Van Wagoner, Frank Murphy, Theodore I. Fry and G. Donald Kennedy.

Two state administrative offices were at stake. Democrat Kennedy rolled up a plurality of about 48,000, while Republican Elliott triumphed by 38,000. It was just another way of saying that Michigan, perhaps more so than the average Mid-West state, has enough independent-minded citizens to swing political fates either way at any election.

It again emphasized the record: No governor has succeeded himself during the past decade. Democrat has followed Republican with distressful regularity, and vice versa.

Soft Gloves

Since the democratic strategy called for wooing of Republican voters in order to elect Kennedy, Governor Van Wagoner deftly avoided a frontal assault on Republican ranks. The maneuver to date have been skirmishes, calculated not to outrage the enemy.

In this kind of political courting, the governor wore diplomatic soft gloves.

Because the spring campaign was so devoid of pressing issues, almost like a parlor game of tic-tac-toe, Republicans had to take the offensive in injecting life into a somewhat listless contest. Vernon J. Brown, two-termed auditor general, applied a political hypodermic in the form of charges of civil service violations by the state highway department.

Even this last minute jolt did not overcome the headway made by the Van Wagoner machine over the Republican nominee, Leroy C. Smith. Smith made his entry into the political arena in February, while Kennedy had been "campaigning" persistently for four or more months—if highway promises, public appearances and steady publicity are bids for votes.

Every state highway sign and every state highway map were changed since the November election to carry the name of the Democratic nominee-to-be, long before the state convention ratified the Van Wagoner-picked state ticket.

The Loser Wins

While Smith possessed a record of engineering achievement that has merited national recognition, having managed a county road organization receiving 1400 national honors (that is also a former deputy state highway commissioner) the fact remains that he was not widely known outside of Wayne county. Republican generals realized this handicap, and they made valiant efforts to overcome it in the short time available. Upstate pluralities were disappointingly small.

And so, neither man is out of a job. Smith presumably will continue to earn $15,000 a year as engineer-manager at Detroit, while Kennedy draws $7,500 as state-highway commissioner. Could it be possible that Smith, who was virtually drafted as a party nominee, will be doubly better off financially as a result of the April 7 vote?

Who won the election, anyway? Figure it out for yourself. We can't.

Labor Votes

Now that the diplomatic season is over, Governor Van Wagoner is expected to assume a militant role.

Six to seven weeks remain in which his administrative program revealed belatedly, might be salvaged.

Chances of labor legislation were greatly dimmed by the C. I. O. tie-up of the Ford industrial empire, accomplished without a 30-day notice that is customarily required by the state mediation board for employees in plants that are producing national defense supplies.

The prevailing legislative attitude is tinged with resentment of any labor organizing move that delays vital arms production.

Labor leaders point out that the automobile industry, with the exception of the Ford Motor company, is almost entirely under union agreements, as is the steel industry with the exception of a few medium-sized concerns, and the rubber industry with the exception of the Goodyear-Tire and Rubber company and a few small plants.

This union expansion, chiefly in mass production industries, has come about during the past five years. Union membership soared from 3, 500,000 to over 8,000,000 at the beginning of 1940. The harvest has been rich.

Promises?

Labor's mounting influence in the national economy has invited political bargaining. Such is true in Michigan where the C. I. O. for example, endorsed Kennedy. It has also been evident for some time that Governor Van Wagoner was building his fences for re-election in 1942 with a definite bid for labor and farm support.

His generosity in advocating labor measures, which in some cases surpassed anything enacted at Washington, has been interpreted by labor-minded Republicans in the following light:

He could put the Republicans "on the spot" by asking more than he knew legislators would grant. He could appease labor with bills, while trying to keep radicals in line by threats of a big stick, such as he brandished in the Consumers Power company controversy.

This wasn't bad politics from a practical point of view, since he had little to lose. And Van Wagoner is a practical man.

But it has prompted Republican advocates of labor reform to question the governor's concern about the working man amid the greatest industrial boom the state has ever seen.

So don't be surprised if Republicans fail to rush to the rescue.

With the 1941 election out of the way, folks here are already beginning to think about 1942. Such is the way of politics.

Third Grade OUR TRIP

We went to Mr. and Mrs. Hamme-wald's farm. We were most interested in seeing maple trees they had tapped. They had drilled holes in the south sides of the trees. The holes were two feet from the ground. The sap runs when it freezes at night and thaws in the daytime. When the trees bud the sap is not good any longer. We tasted the sap. It tasted like water. We saw some sap boiling. It looked like dirty dish water.

It had to be strained through cheese cloth. About 25 or 30 gallons of sap make one gallon of sirup. We saw some shorn sheep. They will be butchered. We saw some lambs and their mothers. The lambs' tails had been cut off. We liked a little lamb named Sammy Socks best. His mother had died so he had to feed from a bottle.

Seventh Grade

Ruskin said: "It is appointed for all men to enjoy, but for few men to achieve."

Vacation accomplishments: Charles Slane went swimming with three other seventh graders; Jean Shutes went to Lima, Ohio; Marion Dietle visited Toledo; Barbara Eaton, Tom Smith went to Detroit; Robert Breitenwischer visited Trenton; John Wellnitz went to Adrian; Laverne Holbrook went to Ypsilanti; Jane Downer went to Leslie; Robert Faber went to North Adams.

The weather was exceptionally fine during vacation, for which we are all very grateful.

Nearly everyone went on some sort of a hike.

Tom Smith began our first day of school by presenting the room with an Easter plant.

GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP

By Helen Loeffler

Good Sportsmanship is essential for everyone who ever wants to make anything out of himself or herself. A good sport is recognized by his ability to be either a good winner or a good loser. A good winner is able to take his victories without their going to his head and a good loser is able to take his defeat without having hate or jealousy for the other person or persons.

A person that is really a good sport will not cheat to win his victories or be sour grapes if he has lost. Many times the rightful winners lose; but that is due to some person that is so cheap that he won't admit he really didn't win and sometimes people use crooked methods to win. A good sport also can be told his mistakes without "flying off the handle."

In conclusion let us say that no one really enjoys himself when he is around people who take delight in cheating so if you are a good sport,

ABOUT THIS MATTER OF
"Clutches"
LET'S GO TO THE MAT!

HYDRA-MATIC
IS THE ONLY DRIVE IN THE WORLD THAT -
1. ELIMINATES CLUTCH PEDAL ENTIRELY!
2. GIVES FULLY AUTOMATIC SHIFTING!
*Optional at Extra Cost on all Models Built and Backed by General Motors

LOOK at the floor mat before you buy any car with a new type of "drive." If you find a clutch pedal, it's a sure sign that a clutch pedal is needed—for part-time shifting of gears. In a Hydra-Matic Oldsmobile, of course, you'll find no clutch pedal at all. Gears shift automatically through all four forward speeds. You get full accelerating power without manual shifting. And you get performance that puts you right out ahead!
