Lansing—Whether for western hemisphere defense or "all-out" war in Europe for defense of democracy, Michigan is rapidly becoming the leading arsenal of the nation as well as a military center of recognized importance.

This is the picture today as Governor Murray D. Van Wagener and the Michigan legislature act to create a state council of defense.

What the President and Congress may do during the coming weeks is obvious speculation. If this momentous decision were left up to the state legislature, little doubt exists what would be done, for both houses accorded Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana isolationist, a tremendous ovation at his recent appearance in the capital city.

The attitude of Michigan's senators and congressmen is also against involvement in a "shooting war." Senators Arthur Vandenberg and Prentiss Brown are pledged to oppose the use of convoys which the President has said is an open door to active war.

Furthermore, Michigan congressmen voted overwhelmingly against the selective service act, Michigan being one of a very few states to appear prominently in the opposition column. All this is a matter of record.

Yet, come what may, the state government is preparing for any emergency that may arise. Michigan is getting ready to do its part.

Council's Job

To evaluate the magnitude of the defense council's job in Michigan, you must first know what the federal government is undertaking here.

Brace yourself for a surprise!

Centers of military consequence are nine in number.

Guarding the locks of the Soo canal at Sault Ste. Marie is Ford Brady. It is also a training camp for military police. To augment protection against bombing of the locks, the government is expending a half-million dollars on an airport base.

An expenditure of five millions is scheduled to enlarge the locks as safeguard against possible paralysis of waterway facilities.

Bombing Island

Little known to the public is the military use of an island off Alpena. This bit of land is a practice target for bombing planes which simulate somewhat the actual war problem of a flight from an air base to an enemy concentration.

It is an extension of Selfridge Field near Mt. Clemens which is being mushroomed into giant size by the war department. Whereas only one pursuit squadron previously nested there, Selfridge Field has 3,700 pilots and enlisted men on duty.

A total of 213 new buildings are "on paper", under construction, or already completed. The air force would number 6,000 men.

Detroit Arsenal

Because of its pool of skilled labor and machine tools, the Detroit metropolitan area is becoming the leading arsenal city.

The war department has built near the Chrysler automobile plants a center for making medium and heavy tanks. It will employ 3,200 workers, three shifts 24 hours a day.

The navy department has contracted with the Hudson Motor company to operate a government arsenal in Warren township of Macomb county for manufacture of naval ordnance. This plant, when in full production, will employ 3,500 workers.

Within the city of Detroit is Fort Wayne, a historic military post, the future status of which is yet to be announced.

Naval Stations

A naval aircraft station has been established at Grosse Ile near Detroit where preliminary ground work is being given prior to actual flight training at Pensacola, Fla.

The navy department has also established a machinists' training school at the Ford Motor company's River Rouge plant. Emphasis is placed on use of torpedo boats and submarine chasers.

These two training stations of the navy, together with the force at Fort Wayne, also constitute a military reserve for emergency use in the Detroit area.

Fort Custer

A few miles from Battle Creek is Fort Custer, headquarters of the Fifth army division, a so-called streamlined blitz-style unit of combat teams.

Besides the 12,000 men in this division, Fort Custer has some 5,000 draftees who are undergoing training. This spring the government acquired 4,300 more acres for use of an enlarged airport and an artillery practice range.

Sprawling over hundreds of acres are 832 new buildings, while some 200 more are "on paper" or under construction.

If the nation's destiny in 1941 is to be involvement in the European war, Fort Custer may be called upon to house two to three times its planned capacity.

Grayling, the national guard camp, may become a chemical warfare center.

New Problems

It is inevitable that nine government military centers in Michigan in addition to the privately owned and operated "arsenals" throughout the state will create a multitude of problems, mostly within a radius of each center: Defense against sabotage, civilian protection, health safeguards for both soldiers and civilians, wholesome recreation possibly at resort centers as official "leave areas" for soldiers and sailors, agricultural resources and production, housing for industrial workers, price stabilization and consumer interests, training of human resources and so on.

The subject of civil defense alone—this is only one problem of many—would require preparedness to meet possible emergencies due to air raids, fire, medical care and sanitation, and chemical warfare.

Thus the council will become a clearing house to integrate the activities of governmental and private agencies in the defense effort.

Prices

Co-operating with the Michigan Food Council which is a separate coordinating agency for food production, distribution and retailing in the state, the defense council would be expected to integrate action against unwarranted rises in prices or depreciation of quality and supply of consumer goods or services.

Price activities would include strengthening of machinery for consumer protection to prevent speculative accumulation, withholding and hoarding of materials and commodities; checking of food laws; comparing and following up enforcement methods; publicizing laboratory tests; assisting in inspection and grading of food supplies.

The two councils would work closely together with farm co-operatives, the Grange, and state and federal departments of agriculture.

Boom

Regardless of the immediate outcome of the "Battle of the Atlantic" whether England goes down or not, authorities apparently agree in forecasting an unparalleled expansion of the present industrial and military activity for many, many months to come.

Financially, the cost leaves the average citizen punch-drunk and numb; the total sum will be fantastically unreal.

Fraught with other potential perils will be the post-war period, call it by any name you choose.

It seems good common sense that our state government, by its participation in creating an official council of defense, is going to do something about it.

★When the 29,000,000th Ford rolled recently from the assembly line, an all-time record for the industry was set. 29,000,000 units built by the same management and all bearing one name—a name that has become one of the best-known trade-marks in the world!

It is significant that this achievement comes at a time when our country is making a mighty effort to re-arm swiftly. For to further that effort, to help speed it along in any possible way, we have offered the vast facilities of the Rouge Plant and every ounce of our experience.

As you read this, a new $21,000,000 Ford airplane engine plant, started only last fall, is nearly completed. A new magnesium alloy plant, one of the few in the country, is already in production on lightweight airplane engine castings. Work is right now under way on a new $18,000,000 plant for mass production of big bomber assemblies. Orders have been filled for military vehicles of several types, including army reconnaissance cars, staff cars and bomb service trucks.

In the midst of this activity for National Defense, building the 29 millionth Ford car is simply one part of the day's work.

The public has acclaimed the 1941 Ford car as the finest in Ford history. Ford Dealers are enjoying their greatest sales and expecting their best year since 1937.

It is good to be producing the things America needs, and to be setting records on the way!

DEER KILL SHOWS INCREASE
Lansing—First tabulating machine tests of deer hunters' report cards, made with a 20 per cent random sample, indicate 6,800 more bucks were bagged in 1940 than in the year before, an increase of 15 per cent. The 1940 season's take, highest in recent years, is estimated at 51,700 deer.

According to conservation department records, not only were more deer hunting licenses sold—178,000 as compared with 169,000 in 1939—but hunters' success was better than in the previous year, averaging 30 per cent as against 27 per cent successful in the year before.

The average hunter, whether successful or not, hunted just one week, the report cards reveal.

How to make horsepower out of Thin Air!

Buick SPECIAL 6-passenger Sedanet, $1006. White sidewall tires extra.*

JUST consider these plain facts about the engines in this 1941 Buick SPECIAL:

The engine that regularly powers this Series develops 115 horsepower and turns up 20.1 miles per gallon at a steady 30 miles an hour in Proving Ground economy tests.

But add Compound Carburetion,† and the same engine in the same model develops 125 horsepower and goes 21.5 miles per gallon by exactly the same tests! There's more from less gasoline—and it comes, literally, out of thin air.

Because the two carburetors in this exclusive Buick feature handle a larger air volume than can be provided efficiently by a single mixer.

They let us step up compression pressure, which increases power—that in turn permits a more economical rear axle gear ratio, which gives more miles per gallon!

We'll let you figure out what all this means in extra fun, extra thrills, extra satisfaction.

We'll let you size up, too, how nice it is to travel farther more pleasantly—on as much as 10% to 15% less gasoline than former Buicks used.

But for the whole picture, just go get actual, local, delivered prices on a Buick.

You'll find that nowhere else can you buy the same size, the same style, the same power, the same comfort at the same low bargain Buick figures.
