Cassidy Lake News

Marvin Deats, Correspondent

In the space given us for our news in the Standard we wish to sincerely thank the Chelsea fire department for their invaluable aid in saving our Craft Shop when it was recently ablaze.

We beat the flames down repeatedly with our chemical extinguishers but we could not stamp them out. It was the water-pumped by the Chelsea fire truck that really saved our building. The Craft Shop, with its stonework and rustic trim, is one of our most beautiful buildings at Cassidy Lake. We are happy to report that repairs are proceeding according to schedule and that our building will be ready for use very soon.

Twenty-five members of the Chelsea Kiwanis club were our guests for dinner Monday evening, May 12. D. L. Miller, our camp director, welcomed our guests after they had finished eating at our second mess. A. D. Mayer, president of the Chelsea Kiwanians, thanked Mr. Miller for our hospitality in behalf of his fellow members. After Mr. Mayer had finished speaking, Mr. Miller introduced Orin W. Kaye, the State NYA Administrator, who gave a brief address on the present situation in Europe and its significance to all of us. Mr. Kaye told of the important part that Youth must play in our National Defense Program. After Mr. Kaye's enjoyable dissertation the clubmen toured our campus and inspected our shops. Reports circulated that all of the Kiwanians enjoyed their visit with us.

Fifty members of the Stockbridge Men's club were with us for dinner on Thursday evening, May 8. Mr. Miller welcomed our guests and their president, C. C. Kistler, accepted our welcome and thanked us for the invitation. The clubmen inspected the various buildings and the other educational spots of our project.

The Cassidy Lake Student Union met in the study hall on May 8. In a closely contested race Bud Middleton won the presidential chair. Other officers for the next three months are: David Brandt, vice president; Wm. Campbell, secretary; Kenneth Wright, treasurer; Louis Blisset, sergeant at arms; and Marvin Deats, editor of Cassidy Lake news. The first official act of the new Student Union was to approve, unanimously, of the campus cleanup program. Another meeting will be held soon.

On Friday, May 16, at 10:30 a. m. the first young ducks were seen outside of their nests. They had taken to water by noon and learned to swim immediately upon entering the lake. We expect to have more young ducks this year than ever before in Cassidy Lake's history.

William J. Gray died at his home in Lima on Tuesday, May 22, 1917.

A "right smart" snow storm was one of the features of Tuesday, May 22, 1917.

Mrs. Elva Fiske has sold her residence property on North street to Martin Gottschling.

The hail storm Saturday afternoon was more severe north of Chelsea than in the village. The heaviest individual sufferer from the storm was Mrs. Elvira Clark-Visel, who had 200 panes of glass broken in her greenhouses.

Fred Artz of Sylvan has sold his farm in Sylvan to George McClure of Ohio.

Dr. George A. Robertson of Battle Creek, a former well known Chelsea resident, died on Tuesday, May 22, 1917. Burial will be in Oak Grove cemetery at this place on Friday.

J. A. Gifford has been appointed agent of the Chelsea station of the Michigan Central. W. B. Hughes has been transferred to the Grass Lake station.

Mrs. George A. Runciman died on Sunday, May 19, 1907. She is survived by her husband, a daughter Edna and a son Charles.

Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Chase have moved their household goods to Detroit, where they will make their home.

George Mast, Sr. has purchased the Thomas E. Jackson residence property on West Middle street.

Henry Frey of Francisco has just completed the reforesting of 12 acres of land north of that place. He has planted nearly 15,000 young trees, mostly locust.

The trustees of the M. E. society at Francisco have sold the church building to Henry Frey of that place.

Dr. S. G. Bush is at Harper hospital in Detroit this week, attending special post-graduate clinic work.

Machine Breaks—Free Drinks

The Albuquerque, N. M., courthouse employees hit the jackpot on a soft-drink-vending machine and many of them got free drinks when something went wrong and bottled drinks cascaded out on the floor. Employees from nearby offices poured out to take advantage of the opportunity until County Purchasing Agent Joseph B. Velasquez turned off the machine. The county, he explained, would have to pay for the drinks out of its share of the receipts.

Workers' Health Is Protected by Industry

Defense industries in the state are acting promptly to protect the health of workers busy on army and navy contracts, says the Michigan Department of Health.

"In the first three months of the year, 156 plants called for our industrial hygiene engineers to make studies, and 85 to 90 per cent of recommended improvements have already been completed," says Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner. "That promptness in making corrections is especially welcome, for we have industrial hygiene work ahead for four months. Our engineers haven't time to call repeatedly at a factory."

The most common hazard to defense workers is dust, common in foundries and factories wherever there are grinding operations. Most of the recommendations of the State Health Department industrial hygiene engineers are concerned with ventilation problems, the removal of harmful dusts, gases, and vapors from the air. Other recommendations are for protective clothing, safety devices on machinery, and sanitary facilities.

All defense contracts carry minimum requirements for the health protection of workers, and federal law places responsibility upon the State Health Department for health conditions in defense factories. Studies of these conditions are made in Detroit by the Bureau of Industrial Hygiene of the Detroit Department of Health, and outside Detroit, by the State Health Department Bureau of Industrial Hygiene with headquarters at Lansing and district offices at Saginaw, Pontiac and Grand Rapids. Engineers, chemists, and industrial hygiene physicians make up the bureau.

NYA Baseball Program Includes Many Teams

Approximately 277 teams are assured in Michigan under the junior baseball program of the Michigan National Youth Administration this season, Orin W. Kaye, state administrator, has announced.

The number of teams assured in each county, as contained in Mr. Kaye's report, follows:

Huron 12, Sanilac 6, Macomb 8, Oakland 15, Lapeer 6, Tuscola 6, Bay and Arenac 12, St. Clair 6, Monroe 8, Lenawee 14, Hillsdale 14, Washtenaw 14, Livingston 6, Eaton 4, Jackson 11, Gratiot 6, Ingham 6, Clinton 4, Kalamazoo 6, Van Buren 6, Cass 6, Berrien 10, St. Joseph 8, Allegan 6, Kent 12, Barry 6, Ionia 8, Genesee 8, Saginaw 6, Wayne 6, Newaygo 4, Branch 6, Ottawa 4, and 20 others in scattered counties.

Play will start immediately after the close of schools for the summer vacation. Teams in each county will comprise a league and will play a regular schedule of games during the summer. At the close of the scheduled play there will be district and regional tournaments leading to the state tournament which will be held at Lansing in August to decide the state championship.

Lansing—Michigan's own chronic conflict between organized labor and management flared into newspaper headlines again when 160,000 C. I. O. members threatened an official strike at General Motors plants.

On Wednesday of this week (May 21) 83,000 employees of the Ford Motor company participated in a collective bargaining election, the largest yet conducted by the National Labor Relations board. The Ford industrial empire was the last remaining unorganized oasis in the Detroit automobile field.

Governor Murray D. Van Wagener, who achieved new national prominence by his successful shirt-sleeve settlement of a wildcat strike at the Ford plants, has been forced virtually to abandon his executive office at Lansing during the few remaining days of the present legislative session in order to give personal attention to the industrial crisis.

As it has been emphasized repeatedly in the past, Michigan is becoming a leading "arsenal" for national defense armament.

The current wave of labor unrest thus involves our national defense and our democracy's pledge of aid to England.

Struggle for Profits

Underlying the disagreement between capital and labor, in Michigan as well as elsewhere, is a basic struggle over the share of profits each group shall receive during the present boom.

At complete variance are the points of view of labor and capital.

The C. I. O. "Economic Outlook" for January, 1941, says the C. I. O. will "continue to strive to improve the wage structure of our members and to obtain improved working conditions. This involves obtaining for the workers an increasing share of mounting profits."

C. I. O. officials make much ado of New Deal statistics showing that less than 23 per cent of the nation's workers earned $1,400 or more a year; one-third of all workers earned less than $400 a year.

The A. F. L. in its March, 1941, "Monthly Survey of Business," points out that General Motors in its report to stockholders showed it had made $717 per employee in 1940; American Telephone and Telegraph, $689; DuPont, $1,369; General Electric, $747; and U. S. Steel, $402.

According to labor, capital is not sharing war-time profits with the worker.

Capital's Answer

The official transcript of a press conference held April 24 with C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, states the viewpoint of management.

In anticipation of a small increase in the cost of living, estimated recently by Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins to be 2.6 per cent since the war started and another 3 per cent between March and autumn of this year, General Motors offered to raise 1941 wages an average of 3 cents an hour, or $15,000,000 a year. (C. I. O. asked for $50,000,000.)

The average earnings of all hourly paid General Motors employees has been $41.24 a week. The average hour rate for all men and women in all G. M. divisions has been 97.9 cents; for men alone in care and body plants, $1.05 1/2.

Mr. Wilson said: "The wage rates in General Motors car, body and automotive parts plants are already as high, or higher, on the average than rates paid in the industry by others. G. M. rates are very much higher on the average than rates in other heavy goods industries. Recent substantial increases granted in other industries still leave their average earned rate less than G. M. is already paying."

More Profits to U. S.

The 1941 industrial picture is, indeed, confusing to the layman.

It is a paradox of production and gross profits rising, while stock prices continually decline on the New York market.

Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., recently reported to G. M. stockholders about 1941 first quarter operations. Sales were $191,042,000, or 41.7 per cent higher than during the 1940 first quarter. Yet, because of rising federal taxes, the net profit was $2,500,000 lower than for the same quarter one year ago!

This tax total, in relation to total sales, was $40,849,000, a gain of 256 per cent more than in the 1940 quarter.

More profits? According to the G. M. official report, there will be less profits to be shared among the investors who own the company, let alone split up a share of the declining profits among the workers.

Defense Jeopardized?

What has been the effect of industrial strikes to date upon national defense?

Here, the student of propaganda will encounter varying viewpoints at 80.

Labor's attitude may be summed up as follows: Bottlenecks that delayed defense production were due more to an unwillingness of capital to accept national defense contracts on a basis of a 7 or 8 per cent profit limitation which existed in the Vinson-Trammell Naval Expansion Act of 1935, prior to its 1940 repeal. A monograph by TNEC also makes this charge.

Business Week (March 1, 1941) is quoted as saying: "Actually in the first six months of the defense program there have been fewer man-days lost in strikes than in any other comparable period since the passage of the Wagner act, and labor disputes have not been nearly as serious as they were in 1917."

Management's Answer

Walter D. Fuller, president of the National Association of Manufacturers and of the Curtis Publishing company (Saturday Evening Post) declared on March 26:

"It is alarming for fathers of draftees in this country to find out that enough time has already been lost through strikes to build 480 destroyers and half a million modern Garand rifles for their boys to carry."

The management of General Motors, for example, has felt that the union was trying to subsidize another wage increase at the cost of the rest of the country.

"It shouldn't be necessary to have strikes all the time in order to have collective bargaining in the country," said Mr. Wilson. "It seems we ought to get broadminded enough so that collective bargaining doesn't always mean to collect and that the bargain part of it ought to come in."

Socialism; Fascism?

It is a memory of World War profits, which brought a crop of more than 10,000 millionaires between 1914 and 1917, that prompts labor to suspect management is not giving the worker a fair share of 1941 profits.

Management answers by pointing to the soaring toll which federal taxes are exacting.

"What will be the final outcome of this internal dissension?"

Will it be more centralized control, such as further state socialism or possibly an adaptation of fascism to meet American attitudes?

These are questions which thinking citizens no doubt are asking themselves today. Public opinion, influenced by events more so than by words, will supply the answer.

30 ATTEND GUILD MEETING

The monthly meeting of the Women's Guild of St. Paul's church was held on Thursday at the church hall and was attended by 30 members.

The Collect was repeated in unison to open the meeting and devotions were in charge of Mrs. Herbert Paul.

A reading, "Mother's Day," was given by Mrs. Elmer Schaefer.

The topic, "Channels for Service," was presented by Mrs. P. G. Schaefer, and a playlet pertaining to the topic by Mesdames Mary Enist, Otto Lucht and Clarence Diehl.

Mrs. Albert Ashraf was received as a new member of the Guild.

A Young People's convention will be held at the church on June 1.

Mrs. Dietle and Mrs. Lucht were chosen as committee to arrange for the lunch, which will be served jointly with the Ladies' Aid Society.

Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. O. Lindauer and Mrs. W. Lulek.

Riemenschneider School Holds Annual Reunion

The annual reunion of Riemenschneider school, District No. 2, Sylvan, was held Sunday at the schoolhouse. Fifty-eight were present at the dinner, coming from Detroit, Ann Arbor, Tecumseh, Grass Lake, Waterloo and Chelsea, while nearly 100 attended the afternoon meeting.

Following the welcome address by the president, Fred Broesamle, and singing of "America" by the assembly, prayer was offered by P. M. Broesamle.

A short business session was held and officers elected are:

President—Truman Lehman.
Vice-Pres.—Clarence Lehman.
Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. P. H. Riemenschneider.

Program Com.—Ruth Schweinfurth.
Table Com.—Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller.

The president then turned the meeting over to the committee and with Mrs. Kenneth Proctor and Miss Leona Moeckel in charge, a Patriotic and Mother's Day program was given as follows:

Salute to the Flag.

Neighbors and Good Citizens

Few Michigan citizens stop to think how much the railroads mean to Michigan today. In this era of commercial and industrial development the railroads are vitally essential to Michigan's progress.

For example: In the average year the railroads spent more than 75 millions in Michigan—$55,007,715 in payrolls to 47,000 men; $5,759,621 in taxes; and, in 1939, $15,473,292 for supplies purchased in 248 communities in 69 counties in our state.

The railroads are our neighbors. They operate in all but two counties in Michigan. Their employees live in nearly every community in the state.

The railroads are good citizens. They furnish us with an indispensable service. They are the state's largest taxpayers. Railroad taxes help make possible the schooling of hundreds of children in this county. Railroad taxes last year in Washtenaw County amounted to $67,522.97, all of which went into the Primary School Fund. The prosperity of the railroads and of their employees helps make the business of all of us prosperous. Railroad employees in Washtenaw County were paid last year the sum of $337,423.51, most of which was spent with local merchants.

We urge our Legislature and Congress to be just and fair in considering any legislation intended to remove the inequality under which our railroads are forced to operate.

Softball News

By Rolly Spaulding

Once more rain interfered with our Thursday night schedule so no games were played.

Monday night spectators saw two real closely contested softball games. Federal Screw defeated Spaulding Chevrolet by the score of 2-1. Spaulding Chevrolet scored their run in the first inning and held until the first of the sixth when Federal Screw collected a run to tie and then went ahead with another run in the seventh to win the ball game. As the Screw plant catcher "Carmichael" Mahar put it: "It took us two years but we done it!" While this game was in progress Chelsea Spring started out with a ball game that was to be an easy victory over Central Fibre and were almost knocked out of their first place. The Fibre boys got off to a late start but came through strong at the finish to force the Spring team to really fight to maintain their victory with but a one run lead.

Tuesday night Hankerd's Hi-Speed firmly convinced the Kimunity team of their need for more practice by defeating them 5 to 2. According to Charlie Panarites Hankerd's Hi-Speed took it easy so as not to discourage the Kimunity team on their first League game, but after Wally Grossman discovered that he was far enough outside the village limits to speed up his pitching a bit Emmett's boys had trouble getting on base. And at the same time on the north diamond the CCC boys were defeating the Cassidy Lake Fac. by the score of 11 to 3. The highlight of the evening at this diamond was when, just after the CCC pitcher had whipped a fast one past Prin (of Cass. Lake Fac.) poor old Prin stepped back from the plate, bared his bald head and pleaded with the youthful pitcher to "take it easy on me, son, I'm an old man." Tears rolled down the boy's sun-tanned cheeks and he tossed a slower one toward the plate—Prin stepped into that pitch, drove a hard liner to shortstop which almost knocked him down and outran the throw to first by ten feet—We'll be watching for you, Prin!

POPPY POSTER WINNERS

Each year before the poppy sale, the Legion Auxiliary sponsors a Poppy Poster contest in the schools. They are pleased to announce the prize winners for this year:

First prize, $2.00—Angeline Merkel, 8th grade, St. Mary school.
Second prize, $1.00—Martha Marsh, 6th grade, St. Mary school.
Third prize, $50c—Norman Krantz, 8th grade, public school.
Honorable mention—Paul G. Schafble, 6th grade, public school; Marion Dietle, 7th grade, public school.

All posters entered are on display this week in downtown store windows. The Auxiliary wishes to express its appreciation to the students and teachers in both the public and St. Mary schools for their interest and cooperation in this contest.

PROCLAMATION

Whereas, the wearing of the memorial poppy is a fitting and effective way of keeping bright the memory of those young men who gave their lives in America's service in the World War, and

Whereas, the men of Chelsea served gallantly in that war, some being called upon to sacrifice their lives in that service, and

Whereas, the present national emergency requires the same type of unselfish patriotism displayed by the men and symbolized by their memorial flower,

Now, therefore, I, A. D. Mayer, president of the Village of Chelsea, do proclaim Saturday, May 24, to be Poppy Day in the Village of Chelsea, and urge all citizens to observe the day by wearing the memorial poppy of The American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary.

A. D. Mayer, Village President.

Francisco

Herman Benter and sister, Mrs. Joe Marantette of Detroit were recent visitors at the Benter family home.

Several from here attended the Riemenschneider school reunion Sunday. Mrs. Truman Lehmann was named president for the year and Mrs. P. H. Riemenschneider was re-elected secretary-treasurer. The meeting will be held next year on the customary third Sunday in May. Members were present from Detroit, Chelsea, and Sylvan.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kalmbach of South Lyon were Sunday visitors at the Emma and Irving Kalmbach home.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Weissman, Mrs. Geo. Mahrie and Miss Louise Wurster of Jackson visited Mrs. James Cadwell the other day.

Mrs. Herbert Witherell of Chelsea spent Wednesday of last week with her sister, Mrs. Clifford Wolfe, the occasion being Mrs. Wolfe's birthday.

Several from here attended the Mother-Daughter banquet Monday evening at Salem Grove Methodist church. About 60 were in attendance.

Mrs. Walter Bohne was hostess last week to the Frisco Ladies' Club. Following the dinner bingo was enjoyed.

Those receiving prizes were: Mrs. Irving Kalmbach, Mrs. Herman Bohne, Mrs. Clifford Wolfe, Mrs. Truman Lehmann, Mrs. Russell Spooner, Mrs. James Cadwell, Mrs. Carrie Benter, Miss Augusta Benter, Mrs. Albert Bachman and Mrs. T. J. Wortley. The next meeting will be held the second Tuesday in June, and Mrs. Herman Bohne will be hostess.

Monday evening the Francisco and North-Leoni schools met in a spelling bee and quiz program. Leoni won both contests, each of which carried a dollar prize. In the spelling contest, Kenneth McCartney won the coveted dollar, and the quiz prize went to Miss Delores Bowser. We will be pleased to see the schools in contest next year. Besides these contests each school presented a play, capably done, and music was enjoyed on several occasions. Miss Ethel Cowden of Grass Lake was accompanist for Miss Genevieve Dunlap and Mr. Walker in a saxophone duet and for Mr. Pease in a vocal solo, while Mr. Walker accompanied his pupils in their musical numbers.

School closed this week with a picnic at Sharp Park. Mr. Walker will enter another field of endeavor following the close of school, and will not teach next year.

CIRCUS HERE NEXT WEEK

Wilson's Variety Circus will appear in Chelsea next Monday and Tuesday evenings at the show grounds, corner of North Main and Buchanan Sts. Featuring the circus will be Lady Barbara's trained dogs and performing ponies, trapeze performance, slack wire artists, and plenty of clowns. This circus is under the same management that plays the Gröto Circus in Ann Arbor each year. The management promises a top-notch show that will please both young and old.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY

Miss Lillie Wackenhut entertained at a one o'clock luncheon on Wednesday afternoon in honor of her aunt, Mrs. F. E. Storms, to celebrate her birthday. The dining table was covered with a lace cloth centered with a May pole flanked by bouquets of lilies of the valley and forget-me-nots. Covers were laid for eight. Cards furnished the diversion of the afternoon. Mrs. Storms was presented with a birthday card and handkerchief shower.

Supervisors Vote for County Health Unit

The Washtenaw county board of supervisors, in session the past week, voted in favor of a county health unit by a vote of 21-11. The matter was then referred to the health and finance committee of the board, who were directed to draw up a budget for the proposed new department and report at the next meeting, June 23.

The health unit proposal has been under discussion for several years, but has failed to receive board approval whenever presented.

Supervisors who voted in favor of the proposal were E. D. Forsythe, Harold Finkbeiner, Francis O'Brien, John R. Pielmeier, Warren E. Forsythe, and Mrs. Jessie Collier, all of Ann Arbor; Albert C. Stein, Ann Arbor township; John Cosner, Augusta; John Norcross, Bridgewater; Freeman Weber, Northfield; Albert Rider, Salem; C. W. Carr, Saline township; Emory Mulholland, Superior; Fred Broesamle, Sylvan; Herman Oelke, York; Edward E. Foster, Ypsilanti township; and Don Comstock, George Gaudy, Stephen M. Dunlap, M. McWhargie, and Lloyd Like, all of Ypsilanti.

Supervisors voting against the proposal were Fred Williams, Ann Arbor; Gilbert Madden, Dexter; Edwin Schable, Freedom; Leigh Beach, Lima; Albert Schable, Lodi; Homer Stofor, Lyndon; Charles Waltz, Manchester; Samuel Morgan, Pittsfield; Albert Trinkle, Scio; Elmer Mayer, Sharon; Carl Mast, Webster.

Supervisor Alvin Gross, Saline, was not present when the vote was taken.

The following were entertained as dinner guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Staffan: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Steinbaugh of White Lake, Mrs. Lillian Miller, Frank W. Staffan, daughter Nancy, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wagner of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McKune, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Prudden and Mrs. Eva Cummings of Chelsea.

Hugh Cooper of Ypsilanti addressed the Kiwanians at their regular weekly meeting upon the ever interesting subject, "Hobbies." Mr. Cooper ably illustrated the many types of hobbies which various individuals had undertaken and adroitly pointed out the immense value of such an endeavor as an assistance to their chosen vocation as well as a mode of relaxation. He clearly explained that the early cultivation of a hobby or a series of hobbies oftentimes aids young people to select their lifetime work.

The speaker mentioned that older persons should acquire and continue their hobby or hobbies to refresh themselves and to counteract the constant worry arising from the incessant work in their trades or professions. Mr. Cooper concluded his interesting talk by suggesting that the value of such hobbies was bound to increase with the amount of leisure time prevailing because of the lessening of actual hours of work permitted by the wage-hour laws in the various states.

The program chairman announced that the Memorial Day program and Ladies' Night next Monday will be held at the Congregational church at 6:15 o'clock. He further stated that Thomas B. Anderson of Detroit had been engaged as the principal speaker for the evening and requested all the Kiwanians and their wives to attend this very interesting program.

Committees Appointed For Community Fair

The board of directors of the Chelsea Community Fair held its spring meeting recently. Darwin Downer, president of the 1941 fair, appointed his committees for the coming year, as follows:

Hobby—Mrs. A. A. Palmer.
Flowers—Mrs. W. R. Daniels.
Livestock—Loren Koenigter.
Agriculture—George English, N. W. Laird.

Home Economics—Miss Elizabeth Muzzall.
Commercial—Lloyd Heydauff, Norbert Merkel.

Contributors—Russell McLaughlin, Paul Niehaus, Roy Ives, Henry C. Schneider.
Friday night program—Albert C. Johnson.

Saturday night program—Rev. Ray Barber.
Advertising—M. W. McClure, Dale Claire.

General Chairman—Thomas Bust. These committees will be notified of their duties in the near future. Various ways of improving the fair was discussed. Suggestions were made in favor of increasing the prize money in the livestock division and of promoting an apple exhibit by local growers in the agricultural division.

The first meeting of these committees will be held in September.

Because We Make It So

There's only one way to compound a prescription—the RIGHT WAY—in strict accordance with your physician's instructions. That means absolute accuracy of weights and measures. That means pure, fresh drugs of standard strength combined properly. A prescription compounded here is RIGHT because we make it so! Our pharmacists know their profession and apply their knowledge fully to each step in the dispensing of medicine.

The Hi-Light

Edited By The PUPILS OF THE CHELSEA PUBLIC SCHOOL

Home Ec.

The Home Economics club attended a dinner at the Michigan League on Monday, May 19. After they dined they went to the show at the Michigan Theatre. This dinner and theatre party has become an annual event and is arranged for by the girls and Miss Muzzall, their advisor.

Student Council

The Student Council completed the plans for the All-Hi party of May 23. There is to be entertainment for everyone—dancing, skits by each class, ping-pong, but the big event of the evening will be the scavenger hunt sponsored by the Student Council.

This is to be the last and biggest party of the year and we hope all the students will take part, especially the Seniors.

There are rumors the refreshments will be "banana splits".

Class News

Freshman Class

The Freshman class is now planning for their class picnic which will be at Walled Lake this year.

Sophomore Class

The Sophomore class pins that were to come this year before they get their rings are here and by the looks of everything they all seem to be wearing one.

The Sophomores have also decided on Walled Lake for their class picnic this year.

Junior Class

Now that their play is all finished and proven a big success, the Juniors are busy again planning for the Junior and Senior Reception to be given sometime soon.

Senior News

During the past week and during this week the Seniors have been so busy that only a few items were gathered from the confusion.

Margaret Harper received the announcements, and to her horror discovered she had lost the list telling how many each Senior had ordered, but because the Class of '41 is honest the situation was easily settled.

The Seniors take their examinations May 27 and 28, during class time, and June 1 leave on their trip.

The material for the annual is rapidly taking shape, and it's safe to assume that this year's annual will be the best ever.

Because the Juniors have supported the Seniors faithfully throughout the year, the Seniors showed their appreciation by all turning out for "Romance Comes to Willie Parker" (also, they want to assure themselves of a very good reception).

Office News

The band will present a concert in the gymnasium on Thursday, May 22 (tonight) at 8:00.

During the past year the faculty has had a social committee, whose duty it was to plan various social activities for the faculty members during the year. Miss Brown is chairman of this committee. The committee planned a picnic supper which was held on Tuesday evening, May 20 at Huron River Park.

The baseball team will journey to Milan on Friday, May 23 to play their last game of the season. This game is scheduled to start at 4:00 in the afternoon.

The dates for the various graduation activities are as follows:

June 6—Junior-Senior Reception.

June 8—Baccalaureate (Methodist church).

June 11—Class Night.

June 12—Graduation.

June 19—Alumni Banquet.

The Hi-Y club gave a social meeting for the members of the Hi-Y club on Wednesday, May 21 at Loch Alpine. Each of the graduating members was presented with a snapshot of the members of the club.

An All-Hi party is scheduled for Friday, May 23. The Student Council voted that no guests could be brought to this party.

There will be no school on Memorial Day.

Spring Time

The spring! Is there anything more lovely to see?

The world seems so happy and gay; Forest and fields are green again. Oh, how we like to tarry and play!

The lakes, the river, and rippling brook

Seem to buzz with new life and sing. As we seek a shore, some shady nook, Or beside some pleasant babbling spring.

Just to dream and plan, as dreamers do,

In this life of pleasant dreams—Where troubles, cares, and sorrows too,

Are gone forever, at least, so it seems.

But lo, we have our work to do—Our duties that must be done—

But the sky is blue, the world is new, And to work and to win is fun!

—Mary Birch

Morning

The month of May has come today. And I can hear the bluebirds sing! Oh my what a wondrous holiday When our combs Sol, the celestial king.

If only there were dreams to sell, What do you suppose I'd choose? To hear the tinkling of the bells When the hush of day turns blue.

To tread the grass-worn path of old That winds its way beside the stream, The little blades of green grass hold The sparkling light, the sun's bright gleam.

The yellow daffodils seem gay, They nod their downy heads of gold. The sun gets brighter as they play, And tries to chase away the cold.

—Chrisoula Samelis,

American Literature Class.

Stop Me If You've Heard This One

Dick—I hear Rohn dropped a Senior for a Freshman.

Bob—Yes, he decided he wanted to be the teacher.

Lawrence—They discussed prohibition in Chemistry class today.

Marian—How's that?

Lawrence—We discussed the point of saturation.

Jeanne—Would you put yourself out for me?

John—I certainly would.

Jeanne—Then please do, it's after 12 and I'm awfully tired.

Mr. Cameron—What were the children of the Czar called?

Dwight—Czardines.

Ruth—You ought to give up smoking. It affects your heart.

Oramel—By that reasoning I ought to give you up too.

Andy—I have a basketball nose.

Ed—How come?

Andy—It dribbles.

Mr. Bust—Why do rabbits have shiny noses?

Tommy—Because their powder-puff is on the other end.

Miss Fox—What was the biggest mistake ever made in history?

Roderick—That's easy. It was when Noah included two fleas in his passenger list.

Bob—You have the advantage of me when we go out together.

Dick—How's that?

Bob—You're in better company than I am.

Sheriff—Hey, what's the idea of stalling on Main street?

Sis—I just washed my car and I can't do a thing with it.

Junior—My ancestors came over on the Mayflower.

Stanley—It's a lucky thing they did—the immigration laws are a lot stricter now.

TAKE PART IN TRACK MEET

On Wednesday afternoon the boys' track team attended a meet at Milan.

The following boys are members: Dick Kern, Andy Modack, LeRoy Bristle, Harold Hanselman, Royden Watson, Charles Downey, Marvin Schiller and Joe Merkel. Raymond Parsons is manager and Mr. Bust is coach.

Alfreda Marshall went to Data Kenton and McGuffy, Ohio over the weekend.

We are going to Vandercreek Lake the last day of school.

We went to the Junior play, "Romance Comes to Willie Parker."

Some of us are making maps to show when the states entered the Union.

Humans Have Same Traits

All human beings have the same traits and capabilities, a noted psychologist recently stated. Everyone has the ability to solve problems; all have some mechanical ability, some will power, some foresight, and some ability for salesmanship or self confidence, he states. The difficulty, he declares, is that the average person does not know how much of these abilities he has, or else he thinks he does not possess them.

Costly Volume

The most costly scientific publication, in proportion to its size, was the report of the Wilkes expedition to the Antarctic, issued by the U. S. government. The whole book never was published and only 250 sets were printed at a cost of $279,131.

Land Area of Pacific

The Pacific ocean has slightly more than one-quarter of the total land area drainage of the Atlantic. Its water volume, however, is double that of the Atlantic.

First Female Performer

Probably the first female performer to play in New York city was Alyse Garvy in 1720. Her singing and recitations were so well liked that she left with a profit of 17 sacks of potatoes, 4 cheeses and 2 hams.

Juices Popular

Twenty-four million cases of fruit juices were packed in the United States in 1939, as compared to 1,000,000 cases 10 years earlier. In addition, last year, 18,000,000 cases of tomato juice were packed.

Question And Answer Dept.

Problem—There is a well-known man, an official of the United States, whose surname is composed of three syllables. The first two syllables is the name of a flower, and the third syllable is the antonym of "freeze". Who is he? (Answer elsewhere in this department).

Ques.—What is the difference between smokeless powder and black powder?

Ans.—Black powder merely burns, and explodes only when confined. Smokeless powder has atoms that are not fastened together very firmly, and when it gets hot enough they suddenly fly apart and instantly become gases. This makes the explosion.

Ques.—On what day of the week was Christ born?

Ans.—The day and date of Christ's birth is not known. The nearest that Bible students, theologians and historians can get to the year in which He was born is about three years. It is generally agreed that the date was Dec. 25, A. D. 1. If that is the case, Christ was born on Friday.

Ques.—Who is the forgotten man?

Ans.—There are differences of opinion about the forgotten man, but most folks agree he is a "ragged" individualist.

Ques.—What do you suppose Hitler will say or do if and when he crushes Great Britain?

Ans.—He will say just what he is thinking right now: "Now, my brave soldiers, we will go over and take America."

Ques.—When a person talks about "why" what does it refer to?

Ans.—"Why" is the refuse in processing cheese.

Answer to problem—Morganthau, Secretary of the Treasury. "Morgan" (love daisy) and "thau" (thaw).

Ques.—What is the origin of the quotation: "A thing of beauty is a joy forever?"

Ans.—That quotation originated from the pen of John Keats, the author of the book "Endymion."

Ques.—Is it true that it takes push to get along in the world?

Ans.—Maybe so. But they say a good strong pull is better.

Ques.—Why is it easier to bend a rod when it is hot than when it is cold?

Ans.—Iron is solid because the molecules inside it are arranged in fixed positions—each one attached rather firmly to its neighbors. When you heat the iron the molecules vibrate faster; this makes them a little less firmly attached to each other. Therefore, it is easy to make them move enough to bend the rod.

Ques.—Where do elephants go to die?

Ans.—It is not definitely known. However, it is generally believed that they seek lonely places to die, and then they are eaten by other wild animals and vultures.

Ques.—What is the difference between a safe driver and a driver who is not a safe driver?

Ans.—A safe driver is not a matter of our past record, but of the lessons we have learned from past experience, of the habits we employ on the road today, and of the preparations we take to insure highway safety in the future—and underneath it all lies courtesy. Our cement roads provide for smoother driving, multiple lane highways offer safe facilities for increased and faster traffic, and through highways cut travel time. However, these improvements, designed for convenience and safety, will not serve their purpose unless our driving habits and manners show similar advances. Faster traffic requires greater caution and a recognition of the privileges of other motorists. Our actual driving must confirm the remarks we make in private since a lack of courtesy interferes with the correct driving of others and causes accidents.

Practice a little courtesy, Mr. Driver, and you too, Mr. Reader, so that road improvements will add to the pleasure of motorists and not to the danger of highways.

It's Smart to Drive Carefully—and it's American to be courteous.

Three Men and a Woman on a Whaler

The Strumpet Sea

By BEN AMES WILLIAMS

© BEN AMES WILLIAMS

W. N. A. SERVICE

Her hand tightened on his, smiling with him. They had never been so close as in this hour. After a moment he asked:

"How many men are there aboard? Do you know?"

"Just Peter and Rannels and Gee and Willie Leeper. And Mat, of course, if he's not dead."

"Four of them?" He chuckled. "Well, any one of them could pick me up and throw me overboard. Even old Willie. But I've a gun—two guns—and they haven't."

She said wonderingly: "I think you're enjoying this!" She smiled. "Rejoicing like a strong man to run a race. Isn't that in the Bible?"

"I'm not running a race, Mary." He smiled. "Maybe I would if I could, but there's nowhere to run to."

"I wish we could know if they do find Richard."

"You might be able to see the shore through the windows."

The window behind her revealed nothing. She went to the after window, saw only the length of the Bay empty of any life. But from her own cabin she saw the boats on the beach. She could see nothing else.

No sign of the men. She stood vigil there, George by the desk steadily alert to meet whatever attack might come.

Time passed, and silence pressed down upon the Venturer. From the main cabin where Peter had been ironed came no faintest sound.

George faced the companionway. He was not tired, not weak. The emergency had stiffened him; he meant to meet it if he could. But deep in his thoughts, George felt suddenly Mary's eyes upon him. His eyes met hers; and after a moment, gravely, not smiling, she came toward him. She came to him and kissed him. Then, while they both smiled, without words, they kissed again.

She returned to her post. Time passed. Mary kept her vigil at the window. George could see her leaning across the bunk, resting her hands against the vessel's sides, her face close to the small square pane. There was something in the very posture of her shoulders eloquent of her yearning, of her hope, of her prayers.

George nodded, understanding, accepting the fact to which he could not be blind. But she and Richard, even if Richard were alive, would never speak to one another of their love; and they would take care that he should never guess. He knew this; and he vowed that so long as he lived, they must not know he knew the truth. Let them do their brave parts and think him blind.

Time somehow dragged itself away.

When Richard went ashore the day before, it was at Peter's suggestion. "Do you want to stretch your legs?" the younger man urged.

"You're going ship-crazy, Dick. The way you've acted since we passed the Rocks. What got into you, Mary?"

He watched Richard shrewdly; but Richard without answering looked down at the boats preparing to leave the ship's side. "I'm going to try for some geese," Peter said. "Come along. Better bring a club. The pigs might jump up. They're ugly sometimes."

A walk ashore offered some outlet for his bottled energy, so Richard took that iron-bound club made out of a harpoon shaft, and went with Peter. While the men were hauling the floating casks ashore, he and Peter approached the little pond; but the geese were somewhat alarmed, and they rose and flew up the slope and settled again far up the ridge. Peter called Gee, and the three men started that way.

The tussock grass, at first short and scattering, then taller and thicker, high above their heads, received them. Richard plunged through it headlong, welcoming its tough resistance, forcing himself into it, wrestling his way with his shoulders and his head bowed. His broken arm, secured to his side, made him awkward at the business. He dragged the heavy club behind him, bending his head, charging through the tough stuff with its interlacing luxuriance like a bull.

That which happened came with no warning. Richard, breaking blindly through the grass, lunging and fighting through the mesh of it like a fish caught in a net, stepped into nothingness. He fell, turning over sickeningly in the air. He fell on his right side, shoulder and hip striking together, in shallow water and muck. The breath was knocked out of him, and he was stunned and shaken and for a little could not move. Then he rolled painfully on his back and felt something hard under his head and laid his hand on the shaft of the club he had carried. He got to his knees and stood up, gasping for breath, and his feet sank deeper in water and soft mire.

He looked up and saw the sky through a round hole five or six feet across, edged with grass, the long stuff broken by his fall hanging down into the hole. The hole was a full thirty feet above his head.

He called Peter's name, shouting it as loudly as he could with what breath his jolted lungs could catch; he shouted again and again, till he saw something move at the edge of the hole above him, saw Peter's head projected against the sky, heard Peter cry:

"Dick! Are you down there?"

"Yes."

After a moment Peter asked: "How deep is it?"

"Thirty feet, anyway. Maybe more."

"Can you climb out?"

Richard looked around, peering in the half-darkness of the pit; he walked two or three steps to one side, investigating. He tried for hand-holds, managed to climb a little, but he saw then, as his eyes became a little adjusted to the darkness here, that above his head the sides sloped inward toward the opening at the top.

He slid to the bottom again in a cloud of sooty dust. "No," he said. "It's shaped like the inside of a jug. The sides slant in to the top. You'll have to get a line, bring some men to haul me out."

"Sure."

"Be careful where you step," Richard warned him. "And make the men be careful when they come. Probably there are a lot of holes and pits around in the grass."

Peter repeated: "Sure." He said in sudden question "Hurt, are you?"

"No."

"I can see you now. You can't climb out, that's certain."

"No. Go ahead."

"I'll bring a line. You take it easy. I'll get the line we towed the casks ashore with."

"That's not heavy enough. Bring some whale line from the ship."

Peter agreed. "Yes, I'd better. I'll be quite a while, Dick; but I'll make it quick as I can. Take it easy."

His head disappeared. Richard stayed where he was, looking up at that small opening so far above him, wishing Peter were still there. He could hear the grass rustling in the wind; but the sound was faint. He was wet, and he was cold. The shallow pool of water into which he had fallen was directly under the opening, in the deepest part of the pit. He sat down at one side of it, plucking at the powdery gray-black ash with his hand, rubbing it between his fingers. It broke into a light dust that rose into his face and made him sneeze; but it stuck to his wet hands in a slimy smear. He shivered with a sudden chill, and wished Peter would hurry. This place had an unpleasant odor, vaguely alarming. Twenty minutes for Peter to reach the shore, ten minutes to the ship, ten minutes back to the shore again; say an hour in all before help would come. Richard did not like his plight. There was something terrifying in this prison into which he had fallen; in the stale, sick smell of it. He tried to estimate how long Peter had been gone. Five minutes? Ten? He sought to count off sixty seconds, and caught himself hurrying the count;

Slat's Diary

Sunday—In S. S. class the teacher sed would, us pupils rite down on paper she tear up and handed us some interments of torcher. So Jake and Blisters held a convension and rite down the following: Rithmatick, denests, wifes, lonmores and stuff for sail on the raddeo. The teacher smilt a good deel.

Monday—In the class at school we got to talking about grate coming evenise like the 4th of July and etc. and the teacher sed to Pug Stevens for him to xplane what are a holloday. So he replide and sed it are any time when the people in town all goes out to the country and them in the country all makes for town.

Tuesday—I have been a keeping a eye on this here daylie savens time and find they issent nothing to same. The sun keeps on rising up as ushel and setting down the same way. But I haft to get up a hr. earlier and go to school. So I can't hardly say that it appends to me as no improvement. Tho I do sorta enjoy the longer p. m. evnings.

Wednesday—The church give a ice cream and straw berrie washel last evning and Jane called me to i side and sed my hankerchief is a hanging out of my pkt. But it werrent. It wern the lore end of my shirt. And I wonder if she diddent think that and toll me to keep me from gotten laft out. Of course she couldnt come right out and call it my shirt tale. Bless her deer hart and sole.

Thursday—Ant Emmy got to talking about how marriedd cupples should nt to liva together and when they is a argymint comes up I of them otto give in and not argy. She sed it would permute neece in the family and etc. Pa sed he ths so 2 but he have about run out of give-ins and etc as he have used up all of hisn and Ma diddent have none to start with. Ant diddent get it but Unkel did and Ma diddent like his laffing I dont think.

Friday—Mister Gillem arrived over to are house and got to talking to Pa about Mississ Gillem and her musick. Pa sed why did he get her to quit the neunoon and take up the clarinet and Mister Gillem replide and sed Well he repects it are becus she cant play that and sing both to onet. So I suppose he is often her vokel musick.

Saturday—I and Jak and Blisters went down to the raledeyo yds. and they were a trane arrived in. It put off about a doz. cans full of water and minnows. The man sed they are to stock the crick with. I sed who wants to ketch them little feloes and Blisters sed Well he guest they will grow. Funny I never thot of that. It were sertenly dunness on my part.

Knowledge of Wood Guide

In Selecting Furniture

Plan heirlooms for the future when buying furniture, is the advice of Anne Biebricher, home furnishings specialist, Ohio State university, who adds that there is a fine line of furniture to meet every income. The secret of good furniture selection is in knowing the merits of the different woods.

Walnut, mahogany, oak, maple, birch, and gum are the best cabinet woods. Walnut and mahogany are tops in quality and price. Both have rich color and luster, are not inclined to warp or shrink, take glue well, and are strong enough to make lasting furniture.

Mahogany makes some of the finest furniture. It has a variety of beautiful markings, shrinks very little, and is easy to work. Furniture makers use mahogany most for veneer, although some expensive pieces are of solid mahogany. Walnut goes by the name of American walnut or black walnut. Black walnut is sometimes misleading, for it varies in color from light to dark chocolate brown. It has a distinctive but not too conspicuous figure.

Oak is on the list of important furniture woods. Oak trees grow in nearly every part of the United States, but most of the oak used for furniture grows east of the Great Plains. Walnut and mahogany are sometimes more fashionable woods, but oak never really goes out of style. It is always plentiful, attractive, hard, strong, and takes many different finishes.

Many Synthetic Things

Produced From Melamine

The tremendous drop in price of melamine makes it interesting as a starting material for many synthetics. Dr. P. P. McClellan declares. Two years ago the American Cyanamid company began pilot plant production and development of melamine because of its resin possibilities. Full scale commercial manufacture is now under way, with melamine assuming a dominant place in the great field of resins.

"Melamine is one of the most recent additions to the field of important industrial chemicals," Dr. McClellan says. "It has shown great promise in the field of amine plastics owing to its remarkable stability to heat and light; its reactions lead to the belief that it will become an increasingly useful basic material for synthesis."

"In 1834 Justus Baron von Liebig in Germany heated a mixture of potassium thiocyanate and ammonium chloride together. He obtained from his fusion mixture a residue which he called 'melam'."

"By heating this residue with a dilute solution of caustic for several days, he obtained a material that crystallized out when the solution was cooled. He decided to call this new base 'melamine' because he concluded that it had been formed by the action of alkali on melam, but this was not true; the melamine was present before the treatment with caustic."

Making Steaks Tender

The common, lowly, down-trodden weed has risen to a more lofty position in the field of agriculture and now it will have a place in the sun, if the scientific experiments of two California doctors are correct. The doctors, Dr. David M. Greenberg and Dr. Theodore Winnick, University of California researchers, claim they have found that the extract from the sap of the weed will destroy tapeworms and other living parasites in the digestive system. The seeds and sap, they say, will make the toughest roast steak as tender as a choice sirloin. It also helps speed up the commercial processing of meats or other protein substances, accelerate the curing of hides for tanning and the treatment of digestive disorders. The substance can be found, they claim, in any of a variety of weeds known as the horse nettle, the bull nettle, silver leaved nightshade, and trolipille, and can be found flourishing in most sections of the United States.

Saluting Flag

The correct way to salute the American flag, according to army authorities, is as follows: A girl scout in uniform salutes with her official scout salute; women salute by placing their right hand over their heart; Boy Scouts in uniform salute with three fingers of their right hand; Color bearer does not salute because he is holding the flag; man in uniform, like a policeman, gives the official right-hand salute; civilian without a hat shows respect by standing at attention, hands at his side and the civilian with a hat removes his hat with his right hand and places it over his heart.

Dietary Habits

Diet may play a part in causing many other ailments besides those commonly recognized as dietary deficiencies. Hygiene, The Health Magazine points out. Among these are certain forms of heart disease, hardening of the arteries, arthritis, chronic stomach trouble, diabetes and occasionally an unexplained headache. It has been found that a change in the dietary habits of patients suffering from these diseases to a diet termed "protective" not only mitigated their distressing symptoms but actually restored the soundness of the injured tissues.

ORDER FOR PUBLICATION

Sale of Real Estate

No. 31757
State of Michigan, the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw.
At a session of said Court, held at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor in said County, on the 19th day of May, A. D. 1941.
Present: Hon. Jay G. Pray, Judge of Probate.

In the Matter of the Estate of Adam Houck, deceased.
