DEXTER—John Lesser, who is building two new store buildings on Main street on the site of "Old Wood-on Row", has purchased the building owned by Mrs. Sarah Connors and occupied by the confectionery she operates. Mrs. Connors will continue in business until Friday, June 20. Eventually the building will be taken down and a new one-story building will be erected there. —Leader.

PLYMOUTH—Although the big factory whistle at the new Kelsey-Hayes machine-gun plant just east of Plymouth is blowing three times each day, signifying that there are three eight-hour shifts working at the plant, it has been learned that the big munitions factory is not yet in production and that it will probably be a number of weeks before there will be capacity operation. Never before in this part of the state has there ever been erected a plant so thoroughly protected night-and-day as is this munitions factory. High wire fences completely surround it and some 50 or more police officials provide night and day protection. At night time big flood lights light the grounds around the plant for hundreds of feet beyond the fence line. Additional employees are being added each day to the payroll. But like all munition and arms factories, just the minute the emergency is over, all of the employees will be out of jobs. —Mail.

MILAN—Considerable amusement was caused on Main street Monday and Tuesday evenings in front of the Milan Theater. A lone picket has been parading for some time in front of this amusement place and these two nights a dusky shadow accompanied him. Dressed in motley garments and bearing an amusing sign, "Just Married", this shadow caused much merriment. In fact, one merchant presented her with a bouquet of peonies which were distributed to bystanders. Considering the carnival in progress in the park, the holiday spirit spread and Milan had a lively and interesting Main street this week. —Leader.

State Fair To Feature Re-arming of America

Michigan's part in the re-arming of America—a role regarded by many as more vital than that played by any other single state—will be vividly exhibited as part of the ninety-second Michigan State Fair, Bernard J. Youngblood, General Manager of the Fair, has announced.

The exposition will take place at the State Fair grounds in Detroit from August 27 to September 7, inclusive.

Youngblood, who has just returned from Washington, where he conferred with Congressional and military officials relative to the military feature of the Fair, said he expects the feature to be the most impressive national defense exhibit ever placed on display in this country.

"As one of the outstanding features of our State Fair," Youngblood said, "the national defense exhibit, primarily, will symbolize the absolute interdependence of the soldier and the farmer, the tractor and the tank, the plow and the rifle. It will accentuate the extreme importance of food and the production of food to the efficient operation of our armed forces."

"Secondarily, the military exhibit will give many thousands of persons their first chance to see and inspect at close range the strange new implements of warfare—many of which are Michigan-made—with which the United States poses to defend itself."

Located on the huge Mall directly across from the orchestra shell and along both sides of the beautiful Civic Center near the main entrance to the Fair Grounds the military exhibit will include airplanes, tanks, blitz buggies, trucks and other Army transportation units, field artillery and anti-aircraft guns, hospital units and field kitchens. A detachment of soldiers, probably from Michigan's own Fort Custer at Battle Creek, will be detailed to and bivouacked on the grounds throughout the Fair.

Attuned to this national defense motif, Youngblood said, Michigan farmers and farm implement manufacturers are preparing one of the most interesting and outstanding agricultural exhibits seen at the Fair in many years. A total of $70,000 in premiums—more than has ever been offered before—will be awarded in the agricultural and woman's divisions.

Two premium books, one covering the general agricultural department and one covering the women's division, are being issued free of charge and Youngblood urges all persons intending to enter exhibits to apply for their premium books at once. A post card, with the name and address of the sender typed, or written plainly in ink, will suffice.

Michigan Census Adds Many Facts About Farm

New knowledge of Michigan farm homes and farming appears in recent releases of information gained in the 1940 or 16th census of the United States.

Ten years ago, for instance, only one farm in five was credited with electric lighting but now the rural homes in the state show 71 per cent have the energy available. More than twice as many farm homes now are on hard surfaced roads as there were a decade ago and an extra 15,000 homes have gravel, shell or shale surfacing over the number reporting that type of road surfacing available 10 years ago.

Proof that Michigan agriculture is substantial is found in several of the census figures. Less than half the farms in the state are mortgaged and of those that are mortgaged, the amount for each farm has been reduced from an average of $2,534 in 1930 to $1,870 in 1940.

The average age of a Michigan farmer is just over 50 years. Approximately two-thirds of the farmers have been on their farms five years or more. Taxes per $100 of value average 90 cents as compared to $2.07 in 1930.

Farming is a serious business. Proof of that is found in the motor car and tractor figures in the census. The average age of the cars and tractors on Michigan farms indicates they are the same—the 1935 models.

Some farmers find time to gain outside pay. About one farmer in three reported working off his farm, usually non-farm work. This total of outside work in a year's time was 9,638,294 days, compared to 6,347,179 days worked away from home farms in 1930.

Wheat Loan Program For 1941 Announced

A 1941 wheat loan program based on the recently enacted 85 per cent of parity loan law has been announced by the United States Department of Agriculture, according to Harry M. Cole, secretary of the Washtenaw county Triple-A committee.

Mr. Cole pointed out that wheat producers in the national referendum on marketing quotas held May 31 voted in favor of the quotas by a majority of 80.8 per cent and under the law, the 85 per cent of parity loan is mandatory when quotas are approved. Loans for 1941 rye and barley also have been announced.

The wheat loan rate is based on the July 1 parity price for wheat, and the Department of Agriculture estimates that 85 per cent of parity on that date will represent an average national loan rate to farmers of approximately 98 cents a bushel.

"With farm loan values about 98 cents a bushel for the nation, and 1941 wheat parity and conservation payments under the Triple-A program amounting to 18 cents, the program co-operator will receive a total return approximately equal to the parity price," Mr. Cole said. "In other words wheat farmers this year are going to reach their goal of parity for the first time since the farm depression hit American agriculture in the early 20's."

All growers who comply with their acreage allotments will be eligible for wheat loans. In addition, farmers who overseed will be eligible for loans at 60 per cent of the regular rate on wheat produced on their excess acreage. The loans, which are callable on demand, will be made up to December 31 and will fall due April 30, 1942. Interest will be 3 per cent.

Loan rates to farmers are based on terminal rates, taking into account the locations, handling charges, grade and quality of the wheat.

Simultaneous with the wheat loan announcement the Department of Agriculture announced a loan for rye and barley produced in 1941. The rates on rye are 35 cents per bushel less than the rates applicable for No. 2 hard winter wheat or 50 cents, whichever is lower. Barley rates are set at 45 cents per bushel for No. 1, 44 cents for No. 2, 42 cents for No. 3, and 39 cents for No. 4 with a discount of 2 cents for mixed barley. No rye loans will be made except for farm storage and no storage allowance is permitted. Barley loans may be made under farm or elevator storage but loans on barley stored in approved elevators will be 7 cents per bushel less than the farm storage.

4-H's To Help Meat Output for Defense

The urgent need for greater production of meats this year to supply home and national defense requirements, as emphasized by governmental agencies, has brought nationwide response from 4-H club members. It is estimated that close to a quarter million rural youth will enroll in the 1941 livestock projects to help meet the need.

Enrollees in this state are eligible to share in the benefits of the national 4-H meat animal competition, in which they will have an exceptional opportunity to gain experience, as well as financial profit, in meat production. Last year's four sectional winners reported gross returns of their enterprises were $24,618, and cash prizes on exhibits, $3,247.

The competition will be conducted by county agents under the direction of the state extension service. Numerous rewards for outstanding achievements are provided by Thomas E.

Wilson, Chicago packer, and chairman of the National Committee on Boys and Girls' club work. Among the awards are gold medals for clubsters making the best county record, and a gold watch for the state winner. The highest scoring participant in this extension section will receive an all-expense trip to the 20th National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November and a $200 agricultural college scholarship will be awarded to each of a blue award group of three selected from the four sectional winners.

Waterloo Youth Hostel Receives 1941 Charter

Rev. Darwin Clupper, chairman of the committee sponsoring the Waterloo Youth Hostel, has received the official AYH Charter for 1941 from the national headquarters of American Youth Hostels, Northfield, Mass. Members of the committee, on whose behalf Rev. Clupper received the charter, are Mrs. Hattie Gorton and Woodrow Aitz.

The committee will present the charter, for the second time, to Mr. and Mrs. Gorton Rietmiller, house parents of the hostel. They are preparing for a busy season, for they recall that last year they registered 107 overnight hostellers from eight states.

The hostellers come by bike or on foot (some frequently by horseback, by canoe or on skis) from neighboring hostels at Manchester, Mason, Saline and Detroit. They travel for fun, for health, and for a knowledge of the country (its people, its agriculture, its industries) which cannot be learned in the school room. They find of special interest in this vicinity, the Federal Recreation Project, parks, lakes, and springs.

Open from May 1 to Nov. 1, the hostel has accommodations for 10 girls and 10 boys in separate bunkrooms. Cooking is provided for with an ample supply of pots, pans and skillets, as well as a cookstove. An outside fireplace, with picnic table and benches, make outdoor cooking and eating popular in good weather.

There are 243 chartered youth hostels in 22 states from Maine to California, available to all holders of AYH passes ($1 for those under 21; $2 for those over 21) for 30 cents a night. Hikers, bikers, skiers, horse-back riders, boaters—all who travel under their own steam—are welcome at youth hostels, which are generally situated about 15 miles apart along hiking or biking trails and waterways. Each hosteller carries a regulation sheet sleeping sack and his own eating utensils, while the hostel provides separate bunkrooms and washrooms for girls and boys and a common kitchen and recreation room, all under the supervision of resident house parents. Hostellers, who usually budget a dollar a day for food and overnight, do their own cooking as well as keep the hostels clean and tidy. In 1940 there were 47,488 overnights registered in the 243 hostels, of which 5,231 were recorded in the 51 hostels of the Great Lakes Region.

WILL ATTEND DETROIT SCHOOL

Miss Vivian Kalmbach of Lyndon, junior at Michigan State College, will be one of 12 girls who will represent the Home Economics department at Merrill-Palmer school, Detroit, during the coming year. Choices are made on the basis of scholarship and character, and women are eligible for appointment at the completion of their junior year. The institution is an experimental school for Detroit children of pre-school age, and women from colleges located in all parts of the United States attend the classes to study nursery school methods.

Miss Kalmbach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Kalmbach, has also been chosen a member of Omicron Nu, national home economics honor society. She holds the office of project chairman for the organization.

At the traditional May morning sing held on the campus recently, Miss Kalmbach was chosen a member of Mortar Board, national senior women's honor society. Appointments are based on service, leadership, and scholarship and Miss Kalmbach was one of 12 junior women chosen for the honor.

In addition to these activities, Miss Kalmbach is vice-president of the Spartan Women's League, women's service organization on the campus, an elected member of the Associated Women Students' Council, governing body for women students, and a member of Green Splash, swimming honorary. She also holds the office of registrar of the Sigma Kappa sorority.

Here's the source of $64,000,000 a year in farm income. That's the value of all Michigan's dairy products, including butter, cheese, evaporated milk and ice cream.

MICHIGAN'S RIVER OF MILK

Dairy products form the largest single item in Michigan's farm income. In this state—8th in the nation for dairy production—more than half a billion gallons of milk are marketed yearly.

This is a wholesome condition for the state, not only because it benefits Michigan farmers but because milk is Nature's most nearly perfect food.

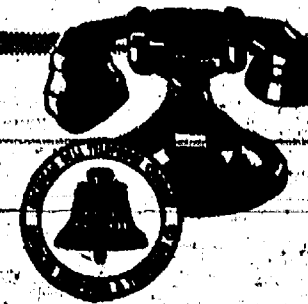

To maintain the swift, unvarying flow of this river of milk from farm to table, dependable telephone service is all-important. By telephone, the dairy farmer can talk to the milk-receiving station, buy feed and equipment, or discuss creamery prices, all in a few minutes. By telephone, the city milk distributor controls the movements of transport trucks and route men. And by telephone, the housewife orders her pound of butter, quart of milk, or brick of ice cream.

Children need a quart of whole milk a day—adults at least a pint. Modern dairy methods rush pasteurized milk, pure and fresh, to homes all over Michigan.

Flashes!

With Chelsea Spring still leading the field with no losses they're getting pretty cocky. (Junior M. especially). But if they keep their record intact through the next week and a half they will have something to be cocky about. Either Kimunity, Hanker's Hi-Speed or Spaulding Chevrolet should knock them down a notch when they meet this coming playing week. We'll see.

Once again I'd like to extend a hearty invitation on behalf of the league, to all of you to drop everything right after supper and come on out and take in a real ball game. All good things in life are free or should be. Agree?

KIWANIS NEWS

The Kiwanians held their regular meeting this week at the Congregational church. The ladies of the church prepared and served an excellent dinner for the members. The program chairman announced the names of the persons who would be responsible for the programs during the fall and winter months. He then opened the meeting for a discussion of possible beneficial projects which the group might sponsor in order to aid the further development of Chelsea and the vicinity. Two able members suggested that the group should take steps to improve the roads leading to the surrounding vicinity, and the group selected the Public Affairs committee to draw up appropriate petitions as a logical first step in such a program. Super Market

Lansing—No gasless Sundays are in prospect for Michigan this summer. Furthermore, according to present indications, we are not apt to have a shortage here of petroleum products, although such may be the misfortune of the East.

This is the assurance from William Palmer, secretary, Michigan Petroleum Industries Committee, with headquarters at the capital city. Palmer, former member of the state senate for three terms, is a member of the state civil service commission.

Restrictions on the public use of gasoline and oil would be a hard blow to Michigan because of its adverse effect on the tourist business, foremost in Northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

Pipe Line

Transfer to Britain of 50 sea-going tankers is the cause of the oil transportation bottleneck.

The shortage is confined solely to the East, Palmer points out, and it has prompted introduction in Congress of the Cole bill to authorize construction of pipe lines from Texas to New York at an estimated cost of $140,000,000.

Michigan has approximately 400 miles of oil pipe lines. Standard Oil of Ohio recently acquired control of the pipe line from Mt. Pleasant to Toledo through which crude oil is transported to market. Michigan producers at Alma, St. Louis and Mt. Pleasant have been transporting crude oil from the Illinois fields for local refining. For that reason the Michigan refinery output is greater than our oil production would indicate.

Appointment of Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes as petroleum coordinator for national defense has again ushered in an era of federal control, reminiscent of the NRA days when Ickes was administrator of the oil code.

Oil Reserves

With a surplus in the Southwest and a shortage in the East, Michigan's oil industry is prospering.

Early developments in drilling test wells yielded only meager returns, and it was not until 1928 that the Mt. Pleasant well was discovered. The state's production in 1935 exceeded 15 billion barrels. In 1939 it reached an all-time high of 23 billion barrels and has since declined to a little under 20 billion barrels. (Natural gas production, however, has been rising sharply.)

The production curve was declining until early this month when a substantial pool was discovered near Reed City. Drilling is now going on in 50 out of our 83 counties. As the Oscoda County Herald, weekly newspaper at Reed City, proclaimed in a happy headline:

"Folks, we're in the money now."

Defense Confusion

Because organization of the Michigan Council of Defense was authorized only a month or so ago by the state legislature, confusion has been inevitable in certain national defense activities. Here are examples:

1. The state prison industries are making 10,000 arm bands for use of the American Legion in Michigan in civilian defense. Action was taken without knowledge of C. H. Harold, Lansing, administrator of the defense council. One "reporter" last week asked: "How does this fit into the council program?" The colonel had to admit: "It's news to me. I learned about it for the first time in the news papers."

2. Washington agencies have been flooding mayors for plans to form civilian defense agencies under guidance of F. H. LaGuardia, newly appointed national director of civilian defense. Yet the defense council has been awaiting instructions from Washington as to procedure.

In a situation as unprecedented as today's mad scramble to arm ourselves overnight, dizzy inconsistencies are perhaps inevitable. Colonel Furlong, fortunately, is a patient man.

Can Britain Hold Out?

According to K. T. Keller, president of the Chrysler Corporation, a shortage of tools is slowing up production of army tanks at the new Arsenal. While 80 per cent of the machine tools have been installed, the assembly line is awaiting arrival of the remaining 20 per cent.

Raymond Daniell, New York Times correspondent who recently visited the Detroit arms plants, has pointed out that between blue prints and finished products there is a "tremendous time lag." New tools have been designed and made. And when the demand is ten times greater than the supply, you simply have to wait and make the best of it.

This "time lag" appears to be the crux of the British problem. As Daniell aptly phrases it, "Great Britain must hold out through this summer and fall. This is a cold hard fact on which most of the industrialists agree."

Labor strikes in national defense plants serve only to lengthen the "time lag" a bit more. With an invasion of England being forecast by

Keep Cool This Summer—It's Easy if You Know How

Keeping cool during the hot summer months is an important problem. If either you're at home, at work, or enjoying yourself on your vacation, heat can go a far way toward making life uncomfortable. There's nothing you can do to make the temperature go down, but the pictures below illustrate some tips that will help you be more comfortable. If they don't work, we recommend a week-end in Little America.

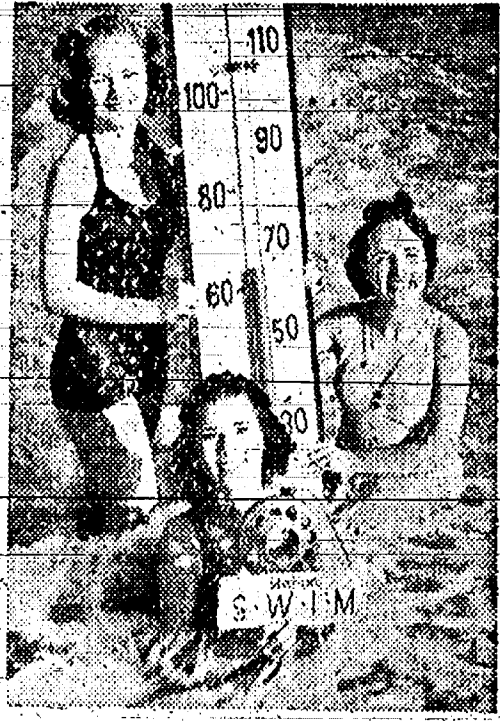

There's nothing like sitting on a cake of ice when the temperature rises. Of course, not all of us can follow this little fellow's example, but he's certainly got the right idea. Doctors advise heat sufferers to find as cool a spot as possible, and then take it easy.

This fellow seems as cool as a lake breeze as he licks a rapidly melting ice cream cone. Ice cream, cold water or cold (soft) drinks will go a long way toward giving you comfort. You will help your body stand the heat better if you put a pinch of salt in your drinking water occasionally.

Necessity is the mother of invention, or so they say. If you have an irresistible urge to cut grass or work off a little excess energy, better rig up an automatic cooling device like the one used by this practical woman. However, it's advisable not to do any more work than necessary in hot weather, especially not in direct sunshine.

And now here's just about the best way of all. When the mercury starts to boil, there's nothing more pleasant than swimming in cool water, especially when one can have such delightful company as this. Swimmers are warned that they are especially susceptible to sunstroke because the water reflects the sun's rays, thus increasing their effect.

many observers, including William Shirer, whom you have heard many times on the radio from Berlin, the big issue is: "Can the British hold out another three or six months?"

stabilized; winter shortages may be forestalled. Today's fuel prices, however, are already higher than they were in mid-winter, and further increases appear to be inevitable.

Providing summer discounts are available and "staggered" delivery can be arranged (in order to avoid another bottleneck), the state defense council concurs in the recommendation. The situation is not serious as yet, and "early birds" should be able to realize savings.

Question And Answer Dept.

Problem—What sentence of, not more than eight words takes in every letter of the alphabet? (Answer elsewhere in this department.)

Ques.—Is Hitler a German?
Ans.—The dictator of Germany is German only by adoption. He is a full-blooded Austrian.

Ques.—How is the perfume of flowers formed?
Ans.—Certain living cells in the petals of flowers manufacture an oily chemical which produces the odor, just the same as cells in the olive will manufacture oil, or the cells in the mustard plant will manufacture the burning oil of this plant.

Ques.—The following story had recently appeared in a daily paper: "For Sale—Good square piano by lady with curved mahogany legs." Can you see anything wrong or amusing in that?
Ans.—Wrong because her description of the piano is not good English, and amusing because "with mahogany legs" seems to have been an afterthought.

Ques.—What is lightning?
Ans.—Lightning is simply a very large and powerful electric spark. Sometimes in storms a great many electrons accumulate on the clouds. The crowding of electrons there becomes terrific. Finally the electrons jump to the earth or to another cloud and get away.

Ques.—I would like to know what a filibuster is.
Ans.—A filibuster may occur any time after a group, such as Congress, has convened for the transaction of business, and if there is a definite time set for adjournment. Usually a group of the minority, in order to try to defeat an impending bill, will band together to hold the floor in speech-making until the time limit has expired. This is otherwise known as "talking the bill to death" before a vote can be taken.

Answer to problem—"Quick, sly, brown foxes jump over lazy dogs."

Ques.—Who painted the famous picture titled "The Horse Fair"?
Ans.—This celebrated painting was executed by Rosa Bonheur.

Ques.—Can you tell me how far it is from New York to the Bermuda Islands?
Ans.—Exactly 677 miles.

Ques.—Will you please answer in your good paper what woman made milk-baths famous?
Ans.—This distinction goes to Anna Held, the erstwhile French actress. For a limited time she bathed daily in milk and wine as a means of protection for her healthy and beautiful skin.

Ques.—What is meant by "a pig in a poke"?
Ans.—It means something which has not been seen or whose true value is unknown. It is applied to any transaction in which the participant does not know what is in store for him.

Patriot's Quote

1843 1901

WE want no war of conquest.

William McKinley

McKinley made this declaration in his presidential inaugural address on March 4, 1897, and to it he added these words: "We should never be moved upon until every agency of peace has failed."

Many times in this column I have written about the "poor pedestrian."

Over half of the pedestrian deaths due to automobile accidents occur between the hours of 6:00 p. m. and midnight. What can we gain from that statistical information? It is this: Insufficient light during these hours does not allow the driver to notice, in ample time to avert an accident, the crazy antics of some pedestrians. When you know that 41 per cent of pedestrian deaths due to automobiles occur between intersections, you can readily understand how difficult night driving really is.

Pedestrians, remember to cross at intersections and be especially careful at night.

FARMERS MAY OBTAIN LOANS FOR PURCHASE OF FARMS

Qualified farmers in Washtenaw county who at present do not own any farm property and who desire to apply for a loan to purchase a family size farm under provisions of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's tenant purchase program should file their applications now with the Farm Security Administration, Donald D. Kline, FSA supervisor, said today.

Seeking to give as many eligible farm families as possible an opportunity to own a farm of their own, the Department of Agriculture is accepting applications for loans which may be made during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1941, so that the approved families will have sufficient time to select farms and make plans for the 1942 crop, he said.

Farm families who filed applications after July 1, 1940 for loans this year, but who were not approved, because of lack of funds, will not have to file new applications. Mr. Kline said that the County Tenant Purchase committee, composed of Chas. McCalla, C. A. Carr, and Arthur J. Lutz will review these applications again and notify the families if additional information is needed.

Application blanks and full details on the operation of the Bankhead-Jones tenant purchase act are available at the county office of the Farm Security Administration, which is located at 343 S. Main St., Ann Arbor.

It's been some parade, what with swimming suit styles changing each year. From the percale "longies" of the 1800s, we've watched women's suits get smaller and smaller . . . and the designs and fabrics prettier and prettier.

"Back in '86 were the days! Young ladies sure had fun dabbling in the water. Swimming? Oh, some of them tried it, but of course their percale suits were a bit cumbersome—they weighed 75 pounds when wet—and then, too, their frilly bathing hats weren't at all waterproof!"

Forest Untouched by Hand

Is Memorial to Kilmer

Joyce Kilmer died on a battlefield in France 22 years ago, but his memory is kept alive in the minds of nature-loving Americans by his poem "Trees" and by one of the most appropriate and interesting memorials in America. The memorial is a forest—trees where no ax has yet struck, in North Carolina, where the Cheoah and snowbird mountains run into the impressive Unclor range and where the Smokies east their shadows.

Since its establishment the Joyce Kilmer Memorial forest has attracted visitors from all over the country. It is in the line of tourist travel from the North to Florida. U. S. Highways 19 and 129, two of the principal trunk-line highways of the South, lead to Robbinsville, N. C., and connect with the principal southern highway system.

The memorial forest lies in the heart of the Nantahala National forest, near the Great Smoky Mountains National park and the Cherokee Indian reservation. Many of the inhabitants in the area around the Kilmer forest are Cherokee Indians. Some of these Indians may be seen in the little green valleys where they farm the land of their ancestors with ox and primitive equipment.

Here are ancient trees that have stood for centuries and that will stand for centuries more.
