JACKSON WILL BE HOST TO 32ND RED ARROW DIVISION

Jackson—Twenty-four years ago thousands of boys from Michigan departed for France as members of the now famous 32nd Red Arrow Division. They were joined in their war effort by thousands of men and boys from other midwestern states, principally Wisconsin.

This year Michigan will be host to the veterans of this fighting division, the annual reunion to be held here Aug. 30-Sept. 1.

More than 5,000 veterans are expected to attend the gathering which will include men from every state in the Union, but principally from Michigan and Wisconsin.

Major William H. Burke of Owosso is reunion corporation president. Burke was one of the youngest officers serving in France during the war. Charles Alexander of Jackson is secretary.

Regimental reunions, a banquet at which a nationally known speaker is scheduled to appear, memorial services followed by a drum and bugle corps contest, are features of the three-day program.

Cassidy Lake News

Wm. Campbell, Correspondent

Forty-five boys from Cassidy Lake Tech. will receive their high school diplomas on Sunday, June 29. Dorris Stack, of the Department of Public Instruction, will give the Commencement Day address.

A host of former students and friends of Cassidy Lake are expected to be on hand for the graduation exercises.

The camp takes this opportunity to announce the addition of a new member to our staff, Howard Chapel. He is a graduate of Western Michigan College of Education at Kalamazoo, and is on hand to take over the supervision of our renovated wood shop.

Mr. Chapel has had several years experience in dealing with young men. During the past few years he has been coach and wood shop instructor at both Frankfort and Camden high schools.

The Cassidy Lake softball team, which is composed of the best players in each cabin group, has had its "ups and downs" during the past week. On Wednesday evening the camp played host to the GGC softball team and wound up on the short end of a 9-2 score. However, the wins and losses for the week were evened up when the camp boys won over a team from Stockbridge, 21-6. Plans have been completed for a game with a Dexter softball team, on Thursday of this week.

Zolton Olah, who for the past two years has been the camp librarian and head of the U. of M. Study Center here, has left us to take a new government position. Mr. Olah will be greatly missed, as he has given invaluable assistance to a great many boys in camp. The staff and students of Cassidy Lake sincerely wish Mr. Olah success in his new venture.

Heaviest Smokers
Americans and the Dutch are the heaviest smokers in the world. Two ounces of tobacco weekly per capita are consumed in these two countries.Snow in California
Tom Dennis, chief maintenance engineer of California highways, estimates that 100,000,000 cubic feet of snow are removed each winter from California's mountain highways.

Lansing—Unless present signs are wrong, Michigan consumers will pay higher food prices next fall and winter. Here are the reasons:

1. Our undeclared war, inducing thousands of young men into military service, has created a temporary labor shortage on Michigan farms.

2. Lacking even unskilled help to plant and to harvest crops, many Michigan growers are reducing their acreages.

3. Inflationary tendencies have already appeared, bringing a spurt in consumer purchases. Government purchases of canned tomatoes, for example, have depleted holdover stocks. One wholesaler grocer reports that he has been trying in vain for 40 days to get a tomato juice shipment from a well-known Indiana packer.

A large grocer recently came to my office and laid down a roll of 30 bills, each $100 in denomination, he related before the Michigan Food Council last week. "I couldn't promise delivery on his order. I couldn't even guarantee prices. It's the scrawniest market I've ever seen!"

The above reasons are not limited to Michigan. They appear to be fairly general.

Beet Sugar
Leo V. Card, state commissioner of agriculture, gave an inkling of how the farm-labor shortage is going to affect certain commodities when he said:

"I'm looking for a beet-sugar acreage reduction in Michigan of perhaps one-third under last year's, due solely to the inability of many growers to get labor. Production restrictions for beet sugar were revised recently in order to assure a larger harvest. But you can't grow more food until you can get the labor. Michigan just doesn't have it."

Another clue to the threat of rising food prices is a consumer apprehension that the government will institute priorities even for food.

When the housewife goes to market, she buys six cans of food instead of three; a dozen instead of a half dozen; a case instead of a dozen.

After the British declared war on Germany in September of 1939, Michigan housewives started a "run" on sugar, despite the fact that warehouses were bulging with it. Prices started climbing unnecessarily in response to the voracious buying spree.

Fear of higher prices, rather than an actual scarcity of goods, has tended to stimulate existing inflationary tendencies of today's market. According to Business Week, this unusual buying upsurge may provoke a dip in business in the fall. Building of inventories can't go on indefinitely.

Michigan Potatoes
If the 1941 summer is wet again, such as was the 1940 season, Michigan potatoes will need more than just grading to attract quality buyers.

In fact, Michigan spuds suffered last winter in competition with quality products from Maine and Idaho chiefly because the rains came at the wrong time. Many potatoes grew with large holes in the center; they wouldn't "hold up" in storage. Thousands of bushels were lost by rotting.

Like the art of horticulture, culture of potatoes requires spraying at the right times. But the weather is all-important.

For that reason the state's efforts to standardize Michigan food products by grading and packaging, prior to state advertising in outside markets, have been only partly successful. Marketing leaders are becoming more and more convinced that Michigan growers must be sold first on the merit of scientific culture, inspected grading and uniform packaging before food advertising can really get results for them.

100 Years Ago
The opening of the Erie canal in 1825 brought many immigrants from the East in quest of Michigan farm land.

Southern counties were first homesteaded.

In 1841, just 100 years ago, wheat was the leading crop in Michigan, and it was selling for 70 cents a bushel for a total value of more than $2,000,000.

Other field crops of importance were Indian corn, oats, barley, seed clover, hay, vegetables and potatoes. Maple sap was favored for conversion into sugar.

Large quantities of fruit—apples, peaches, berries—were shipped from the fringe of farming country along Lake Michigan from near the mouth of the St. Joseph river to Grand Traverse bay.

Livestock Gain
One effect of the depression was a shift in Michigan agriculture from grain to livestock farming.

The 1937 returns, for example, show an income from farm products of $246,000,000. Governmental benefits comprised less than 8 per cent. However, livestock and livestock products represented nearly 55 per cent.

The 1940 census listed 187,589 farms in Michigan, an increase of 10.8 per cent over the number listed in 1930. The total acreage used for farming, however, is only slightly more than it was in 1930. Tractors are gradually taking the place of horses. And the 1941 shortage of farm labor may speed up this trend towards robotized farms.

Leading Crops

While two persons live in Michigan cities and towns for every person on a Michigan farm, the state occupies a unique place in the nation's agriculture. In the number of acres under cultivation, Michigan ranks 26th among the states. Yet only two of its field crops fall below tenth place.

We are first in cherry, peppermint, and spearmint crops.

We are second for strawberries, celery, onions, cantaloupes and field beans.

In a state where resources are varied as they are in Michigan—copper, iron, coal, oil, salt, gypsum, wood, for manufacturing and paper pulp, and 5,000 lakes for a tourist's paradise—access to food is of great importance to consumers. Again, Michigan is richly blessed.

Our Neighbors

DEXTER—Rev. and Mrs. A. A. Schoen moved Monday of this week to their new home on F street in Dexter. Rev. Schoen will retire July 1 as pastor of the St. Andrews Evangelical church, Dexter, and will be succeeded by Rev. Edward Driess, of Weldon Springs, Missouri.—Leader.

MORENO—Work started yesterday on tearing up the "Old Dolly" railroad tracks between here and Fayette. The line was first known as the Old Canada Southern back in the Civil War days when the railroad was built. It was also known as Lake Shore Michigan Southern and New York Central.—Observer.

PLYMOUTH—Of all things! Old "Ruth", newest of the buffalo herd at Schrader's buffalo ranch out on West Territorial road, has turned out to be a cold-hearted kidnapper. There's no fooling about it. She kidnapped and held in her possession for more than a day a calf that belonged to Bossy, one of the cows that Fred Schrader has permitted to run with the buffalo herd during the last two or three years. No matter how hard Bossy tried to get her calf back, old Ruth seemed possessed to keep the youngster. Each time the cow tried to get to her calf, the buffalo lowered its head, rammed Bossy in the ribs and pushed her down the field. This kept up for a day or more. Finally in order to return the calf to its rightful mother, it was necessary for Mr. Schrader and his hired man to put the cow and her calf in another field.—Mail.

Smell That Bacon Fryin'

If you are one of the countless homemakers who like old-fashioned flavor combined with modern convenience you'll sing a song of joy when you learn that it is now possible to buy bacon on the rind in breakfast size packages of approximately one pound each. This new bacon, recently introduced on the market, is sliced in thin even slices to the rind. All the housewife needs to do is to run a sharp knife blade along the top of the rind, then remove the number of slices required for immediate serving.

"Pound of Milk" Means Millions To Farmers

Just coax another pound of milk each day out of each cow in Michigan and dairymen in a year's time at present prices can share added income in the state to the tune of $4,320,000. That's $50 extra for each of the 140,000 farms that are considered dairy farms in Michigan.

In addition to the added income the increased supply will help answer requests of the federal government in food phases of national defense, according to A. C. Baltzer, extension dairymen at Michigan State College. Michigan now has an estimated 950,000 dairy cows, of which 30,000 are on test in dairy herd improvement or cow test associations. The testing association herds already are producing efficiently, Baltzer says—it's the other 90 per cent of the state's cow population, which produce 88 per cent of the total milk production, that can be more efficient.

"Dairymen do not need larger barns, more equipment, more tillable acres or enlarged facilities to produce an extra volume of milk," says Baltzer.

"Extra cash is available to the farmer who is able to get one pound more of milk daily from each of his cows. Figuring cows produce 805 days each year, the extra milk would have a value annually of $4,320,000. For each cow the increase annually in milk value could be $4.00. It's worth while to spend a little extra labor, grain, feed and silage for this cash return."

It is estimated that the 920,000 cows not on test are producing four billion pounds of milk annually in Michigan. The four per cent of the cows on test are credited with 12 per cent or a half billion pounds of milk annually.

Procedure of Marketing Quotas Is Explained

The details and procedure involved in carrying out the provisions of wheat marketing quotas, which wheat producers throughout the nation approved by an 80 per cent favorable vote in a national referendum on May 31, were reviewed by Harry M. Cole, secretary of the Washtenaw County Triple-A Committee.

The provisions, as set forth in the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 and subsequent amendments, state that a farm marketing quota and a farm marketing excess shall be determined for every wheat farm which is subject to wheat marketing quotas. Every farm on which the acreage of wheat is in excess of 10 acres and on which the normal production of such acreage is 200 bushels or more is subject to wheat marketing quotas.

Mr. Cole pointed out that the farm marketing quota for a farm shall be the actual production of the acreage of wheat on the farm less the normal or actual production, whichever is smaller, of the acreage of wheat in excess of the farm wheat acreage allotment.

An adjustment may be made in the farm marketing excess if the producer establishes the fact that the actual average yield per acre of the acreage of wheat in 1941 is less than the normal yield. The producer, however, must make an application for an adjustment not later than sixty days after the threshing of wheat produced on the farm is completed, or by December 31, 1941, whichever is the earlier.

Mr. Cole said that the marketing penalty is 40 cents per bushel on the farm marketing excess. He outlined three important points in regard to penalties, as follows:

(1) Payment of penalties by producers—The producers must pay the penalty on the farm marketing excess upon their failure to store or deliver it to the Secretary of Agriculture. The penalty on the amount of the farm marketing excess which is stored must be paid at the time, and to the extent, of any depletion in the amount stored, except depletion resulting from some cause beyond the control of the producer. The penalty cannot be avoided by consuming the amount of the farm marketing excess on the farm, or by disposing of it as premium to the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation. When the farm marketing excess is stored, the penalty thereon shall be secured by a bond of indemnity or by placing a warehouse receipt or money in escrow with the county committee.

(2) Payment of penalties by buyers—Until the farm marketing excess is stored or delivered to the Secretary of Agriculture, or the penalty thereon is paid, each bushel of wheat sold by the producer to a person within the United States is subject to the penalty. The penalty must be paid by the buyer. The buyer may, however, deduct an amount equivalent to the penalty from the price paid for the wheat.

(3) Lien for the penalty—Until the farm marketing excess is stored or delivered to the Secretary of Agriculture, or the penalty thereon is paid, the entire crop of wheat produced on the farm will be subject to a lien in favor of the United States for the amount of the penalty.

Mr. Cole said that farmers who are exempt from quotas would be notified by mail in the near future of their exemption.

"However," Mr. Cole declared, "even exempt farmers must obtain a wheat marketing card before they can market any wheat."

Farmers who are subject to marketing quotas will also be notified in the near future of their farm marketing quota and their farm marketing excess, Mr. Cole said.

Farmers interested in obtaining more detailed information may do so by contacting their community or county Triple-A committeemen.

Home-Stretch Spurt Any Time You Say

PAYS YOUR GAS TAX FOR YOU

At present Federal tax rates, the savings on gasoline effected by Compound Carburetion are usually more than enough to pay Federal taxes on the gas you buy.

PLENTY of men can run a mile around a cinder track.

But those who win races—and championships—are the ones who can turn on the plus when it's needed.

Probably that's why you hear so much these days about Buick's exclusive Compound Carburetion.

It gives you an engine that will cruise right along with the distance runners and pile up plenty of miles for your gasoline money.

No fooling—owners write in to tell us of mileage as much as 10% to 15% greater than previous Buicks gave.

But any time you want plus-performance—a home-stretch spurt—just step down on the gas treadle.

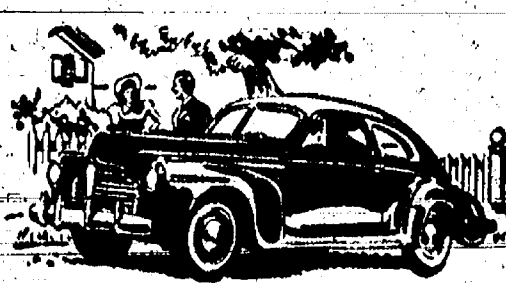

Instantly, you send an extra carburetor into action. You step up the supply of both gasoline and air—and virtually give yourself a bigger engine to get you places in a hurry.

That means thrills—and plenty of them.

It means, also, efficiency—proper use of every drop of fuel without useless waste.

It bears out the Big Point about this 1941 Buick—that on size, style, comfort, room and ability, it's far and away the top value of the year.

To see how true that is, just go size one up against the low delivered prices your nearest Buick dealer is asking.

Softball News

By Rolly Spaulding

Schedule

Thursday, June 26—Cassidy Lake Faculty vs. Central Fibre.

Monday, June 30—Open for postponed games.

Tuesday, July 1—Hankerd Hi-Speed vs. Central Fibre; CCC vs. Chelsea Spring.

Standings

	W	L	Pct.
Chelsea Spring	5	1	.833
CCC	5	2	.714
Hankerd Hi-Speed	4	2	.666
Federal Screw	3	2	.600
Spaulding Chevrolet	4	3	.572
Cassidy Lake Pac.	2	3	.400
Kimunity	2	5	.285
Central Fibre	1	6	.143

Last Thursday evening, Kimunity started out to hand the Chelsea Spring their first defeat of the year, but something happened and the game ended with an extra inning and a win by Chelsea Spring over Kimunity by 11 to 10.

At last the first upset of the year for Chelsea Spring—Hankerd's Hi-Speed took them right down the line for a win of 5 to 1. Chelsea Spring took the field with several of their first string players missing from their line-up and Hankerd's Hi-Speed turned up with more pep than they've had all year. This made it bad for Spring.

This Tuesday night Spaulding Chevrolet picked off 8 runs in the first two innings before Kimunity discovered what was going on and started bearing down. After this Spaulding Chevrolet was unable to score but Kimunity also had a little difficulty and the game ended 8 to 4 for Spaulding Chevrolet.

With the season almost half gone the heat is on for play-off positions, which will consist of the top four teams playing off for the league championship at the end of the season.

Chelsea Spring and CCC are sure to be in the playoffs but Hankerd's Hi-Speed, Federal Screw, Cassidy Lake Pac. and Spaulding Chevrolet will have to fight for the remaining two positions. Should be worth watching!

TOWN CLOCK RUNNING AGAIN

After many weeks of silence the town clock is again striking the hours and chiming the quarter hours. It is nice to look up at the clock for the correct time and it helps the poor sleepers to pass the time of night away. For the first time since the fake armistice day, nearly 23 years ago, our clock sounds the full tone when it chimes the quarter hours.

DEXTER CENTENNIAL WILL BE HELD NEXT WEEK, JULY 3-4-5

Final preparations indicate that the Dexter-Michigan Centennial at Dexter on July 3, 4 and 5 will be one of the most extensive celebrations held in this section for many a day.

The pageant which will be given nightly is shaping up to be an outstanding reproduction of the history of the section during the last hundred years. The cast includes over 200 people and there will be nine different episodes.

Four different musical organizations of outstanding character will take part in the program. On July 3 the famous 60-piece Ford Band will be on hand; on July 4 the 30-piece Napoleon H. S. Band and the 40-piece Washtenaw Drum-and-Bugle-Corps will be featured; and on July 5 the 49-piece Saline H. S. Band will be on deck.

The largest team of oxen in the world, each weighing about 3,000 lbs., will be there. It is expected that there will be other oxen on hand, too.

Horse drawn carriages, high bicycles and old costumes added to the bushy growths of whiskers on the Dexter men will add atmosphere to all three days.

There will be something doing every minute. Many features will be given that could not be included in the publicity because of lack of space. The Motor City Shows carnival company will provide fun for all. See complete advertisement on another page of this newspaper.

Governor Designates "Safe Driving Days"

The most intensive campaign ever undertaken in Michigan to halt the ever-mounting toll of traffic deaths was started this week following Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner's proclamation designating the Independence Day week-end as "Michigan Safe Driving Days."

Heading the drive, aimed directly at curbing fatal accidents over the Fourth of July three-day holiday, are the Michigan state police, state highway department, department of public instruction, and department of state.

The departments participating are represented in the newly created State Safety Commission which will start operating July 1.

Forty-nine persons were killed on Michigan streets and highways over the recent Memorial Day holiday period. Unless drastic steps are taken, it is feared this number will be surpassed over the Fourth.

To prevent this from happening, and in a determined effort to save as many human lives as possible, every means at making Michigan's highways and streets safe will be taken—leaders of the campaign declared.

Michigan's motoring public was urged to cooperate in this drive so that there will not be a repetition of the 49 deaths that were recorded after our last national holiday.

Democracy Is Not Dead

By Ruth Taylor

The pessimists are united on one theme, "Democracy is dying." Some even go so far as to say, "Democracy is dead." They bewail its passing and at the same time say nothing can be done about it, that we must reconcile ourselves to a new world.

But Democracy is not dead! No onward march of dictators can trample it into dust—for Democracy is more than a way of life. Democracy is a way of thought—and no dictator can dominate forever the mind of man. It is the unfettered thought of man that has spelled the doom of every dictator who ever lived—or who will ever rise from the ashes of an embittered nation. When we fight for Democracy, we are not fighting for a country but for an ideal—not for a word, but for the things for which that word stands.

Democracy, according to the dictionary, is "government directly by the people collectively." It is a government of freedom—but our own freedom depends upon the right of others' freedom being safeguarded.

Respect for human dignity, for the individual in a democracy, is one of the great differences between democracy and totalitarianism. Democracy believes in the intelligence and integrity of the average man. Totalitarianism denies this quality and declares that the average man does not have enough sense to decide things for himself and that it is necessary that a self-chosen clique of "supermen" be given absolute rule over the public and private life of every man.

Democracy is essentially religious. It has its roots in the fatherhood of God to all mankind. It is because of this basic belief that dictators fight religion—by whatever creed it proclaims itself. They hate it with the same hate they have for Democracy because they know Democracy is the fruit of religion.

The duties of those who believe in a democracy were outlined centuries ago by the prophet Micah when he said, "And what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?" And to those who believed and obeyed was given the promise: "And he shall judge among many people, and rebuke strong nations afar off; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruninghooks; nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more; and none shall make them afraid."

Democracy is not dead! If it be truly put into practice, it will live forever.

Large Peach Crop Is Predicted for Michigan

Cheering news for Michigan housewives comes from peach producing sections of the state where estimates have been made that the fruit likely will total 2,580,000 bushels; nearly a million more bushels than the 1940 harvest.

More cheering news is that many of the more progressive orchard operators are thinning out the small green fruit so that the fruit left to mature will attain a more attractive size.

That last practice is recommended heartily by H. D. Hootman, extension specialist in horticulture at Michigan State College. In fact, the thinning may make a few less peaches but housewives will be more apt to purchase and to can many of the peaches for winter consumption. That fits in with suggestions from the federal government that "food for defense" be laid away from home crops, permitting surpluses for Britain of more solid foods.

Now that the June drop is over, Hootman says, fruit growers can get busy thinning the peaches. Best practice is to allow six inches between fruits.

Growers who have seen industry and the army "siphon off" many young men usually available for orchard work and the prospective harvest are hiring boys and women as well as some of the Mexican beet workers. Men usually are assigned to the larger trees and the boys and women to the young or small trees.

Where the curculio has stung fruit, this is to be culled out when thinning. The curculio dies if the stung fruit is thrown out into the sunlight between the rows.

FARM FAMILIES PLAY PART IN ASSURING FOOD SUPPLIES

Farm families who have little money can't afford to buy all the food they need for a good diet, but they can afford to grow it, Miss Huggett, home management supervisor for the Farm Security Administration, said in discussing the part farm families have to play in the nation-wide drive to assure ample food supplies for the United States and other countries resisting aggression.

"Fact is," Miss Huggett said, "they can't afford not to maintain cows to furnish a year-round supply of milk, cream, and butter; to raise enough chickens to provide meat and eggs all year, instead of just a few months in the spring; and to produce a variety of animals for the other kinds of meat, including pork, beef, and lamb."

"Farm families in Washtenaw county being assisted in their farm and home operations by this agency of the U. S. Department of Agriculture are learning that they can have more food and better food for less money by raising bigger gardens; increasing their poultry flocks; and feeding a few head of livestock for home consumption," Miss Huggett declared.

Miss Huggett said that although borrowers of the FSA have always followed a live-at-home plan and grown most of their food and feed on the farm, a majority of them are planning to produce more than ever this year. They expect to take full advantage of the opportunity to reduce their own living expenses, improve their diet, and at the same time produce additional quantities to meet the national needs for greater supplies.

The home supervisor believes that FSA borrowers in this county are in full accord with a recent statement made by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard in which he announced a nation-wide drive to produce every possible egg from present-laying flocks this spring and summer.

This effort is a part of the nation's determination to assure ample food supplies for this and other countries during the present emergency.

It should, according to Department officials, increase egg production for the whole country in the next fifteen months by about six per cent.

New York Inherits Fashion
Prestige Yielded by Paris

The crown—"Fashion Center of the World"—rests seemingly on the head of New York's fabulous wholesale garment districts these days. The fall of Paris as a fashion capital placed it squarely there, and on every side there's convincing evidence that American designers rose to the occasion and are turning out creations worthy of the crown.

For example, one designer, taking her cue from the fact that a great deal of attention is centered around the Latin-American countries, created an extensive collection of Latin-American-inspired hats.

New York's exhibition of Persian art was responsible for the Persian motif in the collection of several other designers.

The wave of patriotism that has been sweeping the country brought forth American flag jewelry; red, white and blue color schemes; and other "America for Americans" themes in accessories.

War headlines were responsible for epaulets, military braid and metal buttons. The slimmer silhouette and simpler trimmings also may be attributed to war's influence.

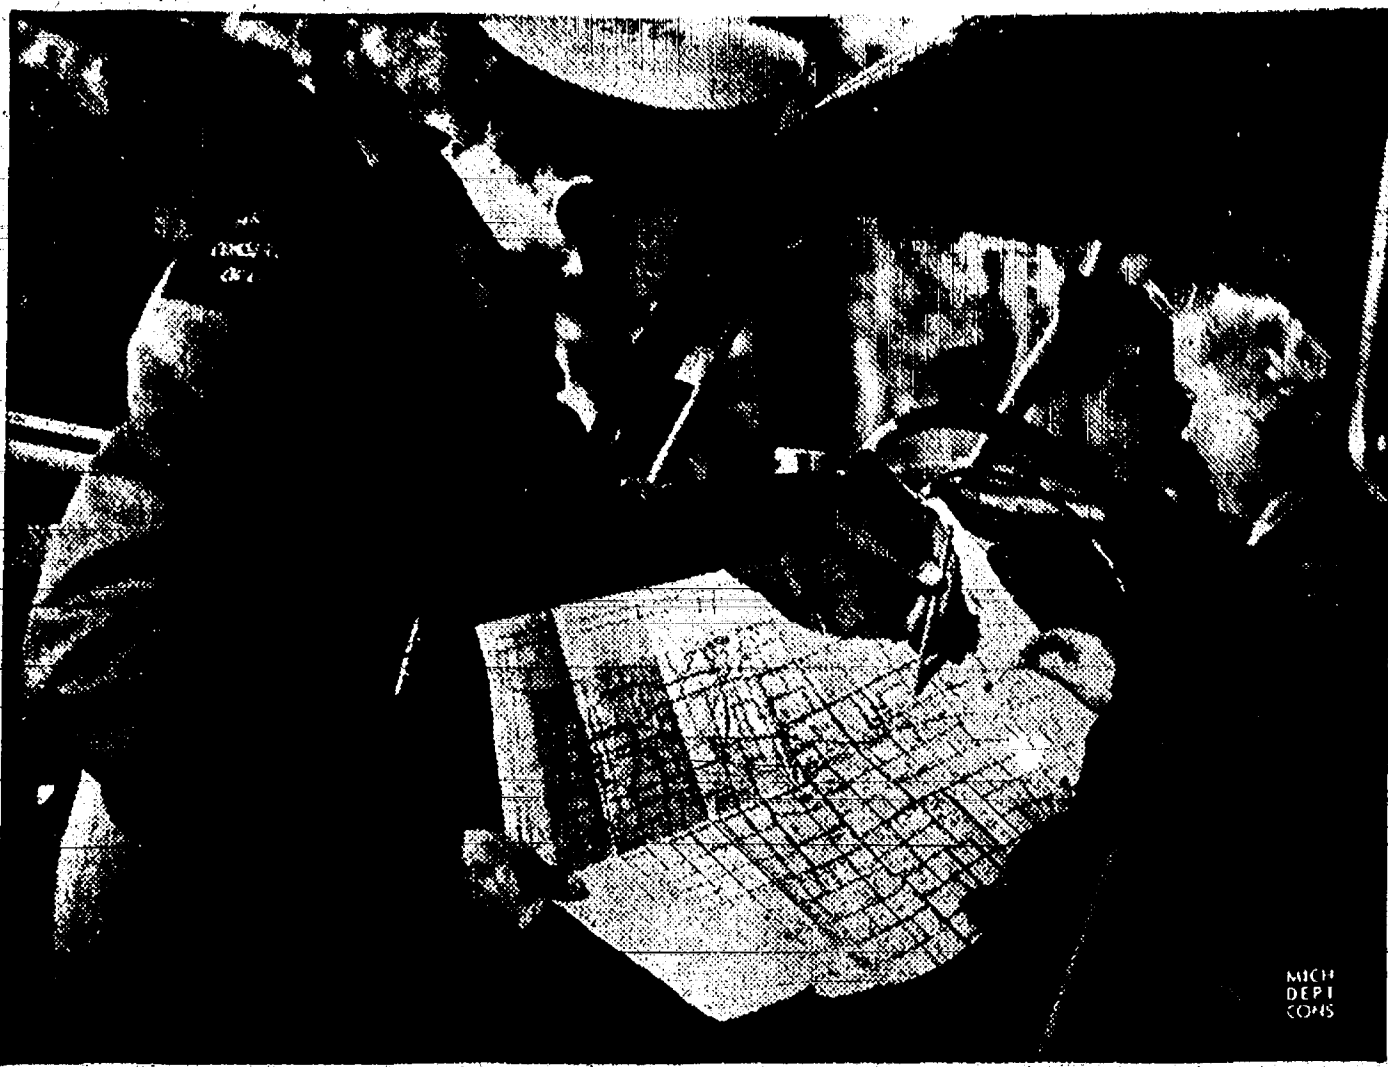

Headlines about China and Japan inspired one designer to do an Obi dress—in fact, to call one-third of her collection oriental.

And another found inspiration for several quaint, interesting, unusual dinner dresses in Dutch and Flemish paintings by the Old Masters. One lovely costume included a wide-skirted gown of taupe velvet with flame sleeves and underskirt and a little Dutch bonnet.

"Never Off Duty"

Pointing out the right road to lost drivers is the tourist country is one of many unscheduled tasks that have become routine work for the Michigan conservation officer. In the course of law enforcement patrols and assistance in fish and game affairs, the finding of lost persons, administering first aid, informing sportsmen where hunting or fishing is good, and similar duties help make every day a busy one. A new conservation department sound film entitled "Never Off Duty" shows how the phrase fits the job.

Eavesdrop

Eavesdrop had its origin from the word eavesdrop, an old Saxon law which forbade a man to build a house closer than two feet from another's property, so that water from the eaves would not drop on his neighbor's land. Thus a person who approached close to another to overhear what he says came to be known as an eavesdropper.

Makes Another Fortune

When First Is Destroyed

There is a story about Leadville Johnny which might bear repeating. Leadville Johnny, a character of the old West, struck pay dirt. He sold out for $800,000 and made the odd request that he be paid off in one thousand dollar bills. The request was granted and Leadville Johnny took the money to his cabin and tossed it into the lap of his pretty wife, saying: "It's all yours, honey. Do as you please with it. Throw it away, hide it, spend it—do what you please." Then Leadville Johnny went out with his pals to celebrate. Returning early the next morning, he built a fire in the fireplace, only to be awakened by his wife's screaming. She had hidden the money in the fireplace and it had gone up in smoke.

Now this was a situation. What did Leadville Johnny do? Did he fly off the handle, rail, scold his wife, threaten to leave her? No. He said: "Don't you worry a bit honey. I'll get right out and get a bigger and better claim." And he did, just that. The next day he located the famous "Little Johnny," one of the greatest producers in history. Twenty million dollars came from this hole in the ground.

It seems that the moral of the story of Leadville Johnny is obvious.

When the weather bureau reports an inch of rainfall in a day, it may not sound like a great deal, but it takes a heavy rain to make that

Half an inch of rain over one acre of ground amounts to about 30,000 gallons! The weight of that many gallons is more than 50 tons. If half an inch of rain falls in an area of a square mile, it means about 36,000 tons of water tumbling

Some deserts of the earth may have less than an inch of rain in a whole year. There are not many such deserts, however. Most of them have at least a few inches. When rain does come on a desert, it may pour down with great force.

Yuma, Ariz., is dry most of the year. Its average rainfall is only about a quarter of an inch in a month. Yet there was a time in 1907 when Yuma had more than 4 inches of rain in the space of 48 hours!

A rainfall map of North America shows a broad belt of land which reaches from the western side of Hudson Bay down into Mexico, and which has less than 20 inches of rain in a year. That belt includes a great deal of the prairie land in Most other parts of this continent have more rain. The eastern half of North America has an average of about 35 inches per year, or nearly three inches per month. The wettest parts of North Amer-the very wet spots, the wettest all is a little above the northern limit of that zone. It is in the Himalaya mountains, about 150 miles north of Calcutta, India. This wettest of all spots" has about 400 inches of rain each year.

While salmon are in the ocean they usually do not go more than

A waterfall in the river may be in the way of the salmon, but it has fine leaping power. It can jump six or seven feet high to get over a waterfall.

Many rivers have cascades, which rise in a river bed, one after another. Reaching a cascade, the salmon may make jump after jump until it reaches the top. Then it goes on with its upstream journey. When salmon rivers are dammed, the government takes special steps. "Fish ladders," which are stairways of a sort, may be provided, or the salmon may be taken out of the river in nets and then transported by trucks to a point above the dam. It is ever so important to help salmon get past the dam. Otherwise the next year's hatch would be spoiled, and the salmon industry would suffer a blow.

Journeys of great length are made by some salmon. Those which go up the Yukon river often travel a istance of more than 2,000 miles.

Cure for 'Dope' Addicts
Two doctors of Grace hospital, Detroit, have been experimenting in "frozen sleep" as a cure for mor-phinism, or drug addiction and recently announced the experiments as successful. They are Dr. J. M.
Berris and Dr. M. K. Newman.

These eminent physicians have declared that medical science has proved that morphinism, or drug addiction, to be purely a psychic condition, one in which only the mind and not the body is affected.

They say: "By making a morphine addict's mind blank for a period of several days—as is done in the refrigeration treatment—the condition entirely disappears and the brain returns to normal."

The doctors cite the case of a 23-year-old girl, who was a morphine addict, who after a three-day refrigeration treatment showed no symptom of addiction and no longer craved drugs.

MICHIGAN BELL PRESIDENT
HONORED BY UNIVERSITY

George M. Welch, president of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Business Administration at the annual commencement exercises on Saturday at the University of Michigan.

With the honorary degree came the following citation for Welch:

"Long associated with the Michigan Bell Telephone Company, in whose service he has steadily risen to positions of increasing responsibility. As general manager from 1916 to 1934 and since then as its president, he has justified the confidence placed in his judgment. He has demonstrated his capacity to direct the manifold affairs of a rapidly growing industry in accordance with the highest ideals of modern business and its relation to the public good. Among the marvels of scientific discovery, organized and developed by farseeing executives, none remains more indispensable to the needs of civilization than the mechanism which sends voices and even images swiftly and clearly through the wide spaces of the world." Exemplifying the Bell System personnel slogan, "Up from the Ranks," Welch started his telephone career as a stenographer for what is now the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company at Minneapolis in 1904. Four years later, he came to the Michigan State Telephone Company, now the Michigan Bell, as contract agent in Detroit.

Through successive promotions, Welch rose to general manager of the company in 1916 at the age of 35, the youngest official with that title in the Bell System. He was given the added title, vice-president, in 1920, and was made president in 1934.

Question And Answer Dept.

Problem—How can an egg be dropped from a height of ten feet without the shell being shattered or broken the least bit? (Answer elsewhere in this department).

Ques.—What can we expect if the Japs try to change the name "Barmaroad" to "Hitler road"?

Ans.—We may expect that the Japs will be making trouble for themselves.

Ques.—In what State is the Royal Gorge located?

Ans.—We do not know of any Royal Gorge except that which is in the Arkansas River. If that is the one you mean, will say that it is located in the State of Colorado.

Ques.—What is meant by a "seeing eye"?

Ans.—The "seeing eye" is generally referred to a dog on leash which is leading a blind person. Many of these well-trained dogs are now doing this with success, even though the traffic may be heavy. Hence this kind of dog is referred to as, "the seeing eye."

Ques.—Can you tell me what is meant by a "flying mare"? I am told it is a term used when playing polo on horses.

Ans.—The "flying mare" is one of the many effective holds used by professional wrestlers if and when they can apply it. It is a difficult hold to get and one that requires superhuman strength.

Ques.—I would like to know the meaning of "claustrophobia."

Ans.—This is a scientific term of an ailment applied to a person having an abnormal and morbid fear of being shut up in a closed place.

Answer to problem—It can be dropped from any height without danger of breakage if caught in a net before it strikes the ground.

Ques.—Does a merchant vessel's gross tonnage mean the weight of the cargo it carries?

Ans.—No. The gross tonnage means the ship's "cubical content."

Ques.—To what city was the Apostle Paul going when he saw the vision that turned him to Christianity?

Ans.—According to the Bible account of his conversion to Christianity, Paul was travelling to Damascus when he saw the vision.

Ques.—Is there such a thing as invisible light?

Ans.—Yes. The waves which are shorter than about 70,000 to the inch cannot be seen by our eyes, though they are otherwise just the same as light. They will even record themselves on photographic plates just the same as light does. These rays which cannot be seen are called the rays of "ultraviolet" because they are just a little shorter than the rays of visible light.

Park will spend their vacation with ford, Miss. are guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sanderson.

by falling from a hay wagon.

The W. S. C. S. will meet at Francisco at the Kalmbach home on Wednesday of next week.

The Memorial Day week-end holiday brought the inevitable death toll in the United States to 400.

Isn't this a waste of life? Approximately 380 people were killed by automobiles, the remainder by drowning and other accidental causes. People driving broadcast into moving trains—others passing on hills and carelessly through congested areas—these and other causes contributed to the total of deaths.

It is discouraging to realize that people talk a lot about safety among themselves, but given an opportunity to drive and the open road; they forget safety principles and violate all the rules of common sense.

On such a holiday, and the coming Fourth of July week-end, it is much better to sit at the front porch and "stay alive."

Wilgus Osborne, formerly of Chelsea, has accepted a position as shipping clerk at the Sears Roebuck Co. in Ann Arbor.
