Newspapers Pledge Aid For National Defense

Lansing—Michigan newspapers, radio stations, motion picture theaters and graphic art and advertising interests are going to do their part in double measure for national defense.

Appointment of a committee of public information to serve as a non-partisan, advisory agency of the Michigan Council of Defense was announced at Lansing today (Thursday) by Lieut. Col. Harold A. Furlong, administrator of the state council. Each medium would be represented by its own chairman.

Following the declaration of a "State of National Emergency" by the President, the services of the Michigan Press Association for national defense were formally tendered to Governor Van Wageningen by Al H. Weber, publisher of the Cheboygan Observer and association president, on authority of the group's executive committee. The governor invited newspapers to assist the council, and formation of the advisory committee followed. Gene Altman, manager of the press association, will serve as chairman and coordinator of media.

In explanation of tentative policy, the Michigan Press Association issued the following statement:

"The state committee of public information is purely advisory in its function and will seek to increase the effectiveness of official information regarding national defense.

"We all recognize our duty to cooperate in behalf of national defense. On Feb. 1 a group of newspaper executives representing national, regional and state associations met in New York City at the call of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. The following resolution was adopted:

"1. That the newspapers recognize their primary obligation to further national defense in every possible manner.

"2. That the newspapers also recognize their essential duty to furnish complete and accurate information compatible with military necessities.

"3. That the newspapers in the performance of these obligations speak cordial consideration and cooperation of federal and state authorities concerned with national defense.

"It is in this spirit that the press of Michigan cooperates with other media in an effort to assist national defense.

"In agreeing to help in the dissemination of official national defense information, we do not relinquish any of our traditional or legal rights. We believe in freedom of the press with a companion volunteer censorship of military secrets, if any censorship is needed; freedom of access to information whether such information is critical or complimentary; freedom to publish such information, and freedom of editorial comment.

"These freedoms would apply to national defense activity as they do to all other activities in our American life.

"Constructive criticism is needed. We feel it is the patriotic duty of every citizen to offer it.

"But cooperation for national defense is also a patriotic duty. We recognize this obligation, and accordingly we are willing to do what we can, each person in his own way."

Collection of Aluminum Scrap Will Start Today

At a meeting held Monday evening at the Community Association building plans were made to collect scrap aluminum for National Defense on Thursday and Friday of this week, July 24 and 25, as previously announced in The Standard.

Boy and Girl Scouts have volunteered to make this house-to-house collection. Housewives, by getting their old scrap aluminum pieces together will expedite this collection by anticipating these friendly calls by the Scout organizations and thus avoid confusion as to who will be authorized to make these collections.

The Village Council has granted permission to place a large box at the library corner. Another box will be located on the Carnival grounds. A generous response to this request will be appreciated by the committee.

FIRE DAMAGES BARN ROOF

The local fire department was called Monday afternoon to extinguish a roof blaze on the barn of E. J. Notten, East Middle St., caused by sparks from a bonfire. The damage, estimated at $50.00, is covered by insurance.

DIAL TELEPHONE SYSTEM GOES INTO USE HERE NEXT TUESDAY

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. What happens if I suddenly need the money I put into a Defense Savings Bond?

A. You can cash your Bond at any time, after 60 days, for the full amount paid, plus any interest due you.

Q. Do many Bond owners cash their Bonds?

A. No. People want to help arm America against all attacks. In many cases, people are putting every cent they can spare into Defense Bonds and Stamps. Some are doing this by asking employers or banks to withhold part of their salaries in order to buy these Bonds or Stamps for them.

Note—To purchase Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office or bank, or write for information to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C.

The largest telephone expansion program in the history of Chelsea will be climaxed at 1:15 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon when this community's new $30,000 dial system will go into operation.

The community itself will give its official blessings to the occasion by means of a special ceremony sponsored by the Kiwanis club at the Congregational church. Village President A. D. Mayer, flanked by other civic leaders, will press a button as the signal to place the new system in operation. The public is invited to attend this meeting, and reservations may be made by calling P. F. Niehaus or R. A. McLaughlin not later than Monday morning.

In addition to Manager Jerome E. Johnson, other Michigan Bell Telephone Company officials from district headquarters at Lansing and Division headquarters at Grand Rapids are expected to attend the cutover to the new service. Mayer not only will press the button to usher in the new service but also will place the first call over the dial system.

Community Association Sponsors Golf Tourney

The Chelsea Community Association announces that the first annual Chelsea Amateur Golf Tournament will be held at the Inverness Country club near North Lake during the month of August. This event is open to all men and women amateur golfers of Chelsea and vicinity and will feature individual match-play of eighteen holes with no handicaps allowed the participants. This tournament shall be played according to the rules and regulations promulgated by the U.S.G.A. and all disputes shall be settled by the local professional, Daniel Denton. The association has appointed C. Stanley Evans and Robert G. Foster to head the committee in charge of the tournament.

While awaiting the change to the new service, the company is continuing exhaustive tests and adjustments of the new central office apparatus, the community's telephone lines, and the system will function properly. New directories will be issued to subscribers by the time of the cutover and Manager Johnson urges close reference to the new book after the change to dial service to avoid confusion in making calls inasmuch as all numbers will be changed.

New features of the dial service will include the dial tone and the audible ringing and audible busy signals. The dial tone is a low humming sound, heard in the receiver by a person about to make a call, which will indicate that the central office equipment is ready to take the call and make the connection. It also serves as a signal for the customer to begin dialing.

All the players shall pay an entrance fee of one dollar at the caddy house or to the committee prior to qualifying for the tournament. The qualifying round of eighteen holes must be played at one time and the qualifier shall give notice at the caddy house of his intent to qualify at that particular time. Each qualifying score shall be attested to by one other player than the qualifier. All qualifying rounds must be completed by Sunday evening, August 3, at which time the committee will announce the pairings for the first round according to the USGA rules. All participants shall place their names, addresses, and telephone numbers at the bottom of their qualifying cards as a means of facilitating the management of this tournament.

The audible ringing signal is a soft "bur-r-r-r-r" sound heard in the receiver by the calling party while the bell of the called telephone is being rung. Should the called party's line be busy, there will be a rapid "buzz-buzz-buzz" sound in the receiver of the calling party.

The cutover will bring an end to the operation of the magneto, or crank type telephone here. After the change to the new service, customers will make local calls simply by dialing the proper numbers. To place a long distance call, obtain the time of day, or call repair service, information, or the telephone business office, subscribers will dial "0" and ask the operator for the particular service or department desired.

There shall be two flights of players in this tournament. The sixteen low qualifiers shall constitute the first flight, while the next sixteen low scores shall be in the second flight. The first round matches for both divisions must be completed by August 10 unless excused by the committee in charge.

The committee will award prizes to the medalist of the tournament and to winner and runner-up of each division. All the money paid by the players in the form of entrance fees shall be used exclusively for prizes in this tournament. The association is sponsoring this event for the dual purpose of providing competition among the residents of this vicinity, and to afford greater opportunities for acquaintanceship among the players in this area. Everyone has a chance to test their golfing skill in this tournament and all golfers in the vicinity are urged to participate in the event.

Chelsea's telephone improvement program has been one of the largest of any exchange of comparable size in the company's territory. In addition to the new building and its dial equipment and dial telephones in the homes and business places of customers, the program also involved outdoor-plant improvements including the complete rehabilitation of the nearby rural properties.

Despite the nature and size of the program, there will be no confusion and only slight interruption of the service at the time of the cutover, according to Manager Johnson. As a matter of fact, he said, most subscribers will be unaware of the actual change.

That the company's faith in the community's future, as evidenced by its $30,000 investment here, is completely justified is indicated by latest reports which show that there has been a gain of nearly 75 telephones in service here since the first of the year. There are nearly 740 telephones in operation here at the present time.

Michigan Herds Top Best In United States

So far unexcelled by any other dairy herd improvement association in the United States is the record of the Ingham-Mason cow testing group of 31 herds in which the 494 cows in the 12 months just completed had an average production of 10,507 pounds of milk with 416.9 pounds of fat.

It would take 1,143 cows of the United States average to equal the production of these cows in this Michigan association. On the basis of value of product for feed consumed, it would take 2,231 cows to equal the 494 in the association.

True, there are two other D. H. I. A. groups with higher averages, one in North Dakota with a 418 fat average, but with 117 "cow years" in the record, and another in Oklahoma with a 420 pound fat average but based only on slightly less than 28 cow years.

Tester for the Ingham-Mason association is Glenn Jacobs, on the job since 1928. He agrees with A. C. Baltzer, Michigan State College extension dairyman, that the 31 members are not specialists as expert dairymen. Rather, the dairymen are "just good farmers." Thirty-one feed alfalfa and 28 have the recommended alfalfa-brome pasture. 22 feed sudan grass extra in July and August, 30 have milking machines and all have approved milk-houses, 31 have barn ventilating systems and 27 have bull pens. Members sold 83 bulls and still retained high quality bull calves last year.

Five of the farms are operated by fathers and sons, six are partnerships and 10 are renter-manager farms and the remaining 10 are owner-operated. Herds range from about eight cows to 24, with the average 16 animals. Freshour and Son, Mason, topped the association average for the 12 months in 1940-41 with an average animal production of 482.4 pounds of butterfat.

Members by wise selection and use of roughages are getting $2.81 for every dollar of feed fed. Thus $8-a-ton alfalfa hay returns $22.48, 80-cent corn gives milk worth $2.24 and $5-an-acre pasture returns $14.05 in milk. Members and the tester are waiting to see if any other associations in other states, with herds comparable in size exceed the Ingham-Mason record.

ATTENTION, NURSES!

Extension (refresher) courses for graduate registered nurses are being started throughout the State of Michigan. Nursing Arts classes will be taught by registered nurses. Special lectures on psychiatry, communicable diseases, nutrition, materia medica, and obstetrics will be given by specialists.

Nurses who have been registered in some state, who are in good health and are willing to help in this national emergency are urged to take advantage of the opportunities offered in this program. This program is sponsored by the Michigan State Nurses Association and is paid for by funds allocated by the State Board of Control for Vocational Education and by a grant to the Michigan State Nurses Association by the W. K. Kellogg Foundation of Battle Creek, Wayne University, University of Michigan, and hospitals with schools of nursing are co-operating in this state-wide program.

Mrs. Thelma Brewington is the coordinator of the program for the State. Her office is at 212 Capitol Savings and Loan Building, Lansing, Michigan. Requests for application blanks for class enrollment are being received at the above address.

Wheat Growers Will Use Marketing Cards

Wheat marketing cards will be available to Washtenaw county wheat farmers, according to Harry M. Cole, secretary of the Washtenaw County Triple-A Committee. Every farmer that expects to sell wheat will need a wheat marketing card.

Marketing cards are made available to wheat farmers as a means of showing that their wheat is eligible to be sold without penalty. If excess wheat is sold, the person purchasing the wheat must pay the 49 cents penalty. Elevator operators and other buyers of wheat are cooperating with farmers in the administration of the marketing quota law by requesting that all farmers have a wheat marketing card before selling their wheat. This not only protects them against buying excess wheat on which the penalty has not been paid, but also protects wheat growers from price depression resulting from wholesale marketing of excess wheat. Wheat marketing cards are essential to the orderly marketing of wheat, Mr. Cole declared.

Farmers who have excess wheat may do one of three things with the excess, Mr. Cole pointed out: (1) The excess wheat may be stored on the farm or in an elevator in accordance with regulations; (2) Excess wheat may be delivered to the Secretary of Agriculture for use in distribution to relief; or (3) A penalty of 49 cents per bushel may be paid on the excess. Stored excess wheat is eligible for a loan at 60 per cent of the regular loan rate. A wheat marketing card will not be issued to a farmer with excess wheat until the excess wheat is taken care of.

The intent of marketing quotas is not to force farmers to pay a penalty of 49 cents per bushel on the wheat they produced in excess of their farm quota, but rather to hold excess wheat off the market until it is needed, Mr. Cole added, and marketing cards are necessary to provide a check on this excess wheat.

SALINE—It looks as though the Saline band is going to have a busy summer, if they fill the many engagements they have scheduled, for they are coming thick and fast. The organization has done so well in every concert they have been in that they are very much in demand. In the Dexter Centennial they were considered the best of the many bands and were paid more than any of the others. So far this year they have been paid $25 for Memorial Day and $50 for the Dexter celebration. This money was used to buy a Glockenspiel for the band. On August 1 the band will lead the second district American Legion convention parade in Adrian and will play for the Jackson Zouave Drill Team, known all over the world.—Observer.

This wreck was caused by windstorm April 19, 1941. Total loss was about $5,000 which was promptly paid by this old insurance company. The property was insured on section 5, Marion township, Livingston county, and belonged to F. O. VanGilder and Grace Hanson.

WINDSTORM LOSS WITHOUT WINDSTORM INSURANCE IS TRAGEDY

Quite a few people neglect having their property adequately insured against windstorm damage and then when a windstorm comes they lose. Don't be one of those. Be wise. Our service is within your reach and will cost you very little.

This company had about 29,000 claims from the big storm of November, 1940, and all claims are paid in full without borrowing money or making an extra assessment. The splendid financial position of this company and its 56 years of experience give to its policyholders full assurance of sure protection.

If these 29,000 claimants had been without windstorm insurance, they would have lost about $1,200,000.00.

DEFENSE STAMPS ON SALE AT LOCAL A. & P. STORE

Carl Fletcher, local A. & P. manager, today reaffirmed his support of Uncle Sam's National Defense Program and announced Defense Savings Stamps in 10c and 25c denominations are on sale at his store.

Managers of some 350 other A. & P. stores in the state also are participating in the federal government's drive for funds to help defray defense expenses, and their newspaper advertisements and store displays focus attention of consumers on the program, Fletcher said.

It was explained all are currently engaged in an intensive A. & P. national campaign to stimulate increased consumption of vitamin-bearing fruits and vegetables in a move to help bolster the federal Food Defense Program for improving national diet and health standards.

Representing the first independent broad-scale activity in line with the federal program, Fletcher said the latter undertaking has a dual objective—to promote wider application of modern diet rules during the present national emergency at a time when 45,000,000 citizens are improperly fed, and to help farm producers move their crops rapidly into consumption during periods of peak production.

The State of Michigan, under direction of Frank N. Isbey of Detroit, is pioneering the sale of Defense Stamps through retail outlets, and plans call for development of a pattern for other states to follow. The U. S. Treasury Department has appointed Ed Pulte, Jr., of Grand Rapids, national coordinator for retailers.

A JOB TO DO

(An Editorial)

"What can I do to help?" has been the question of every loyal American since it became obvious to all that our nation is in danger as the result of Hitler's campaign of conquest. The desire to be of help is universal, but thus far there have not been many opportunities for everyone to make a direct contribution to national defense.

Many families, it is true, have sent their sons to the Army or Navy; those families, and those boys, are making a real contribution. But the vast majority of us have been waiting for a chance to do something.

Now we all have a chance to lend a hand.

On July 24 and 25, scrap aluminum will be collected in every community of the United States to help overcome the temporary shortage of the metal which is interfering with defense production.

The Office of Production Management has asked that every unused aluminum article in the country be tossed on the scrap pile in the hope that enough aluminum will be collected to free material to build 2,000 badly-needed fighter planes. People are being asked to give only those things which can be spared and need not be replaced, such as leaky pots and pans, discarded pancake griddles, picture frames, old radio parts, and the like. Such articles are gathering dust and cluttering up pantry shelves in every home in the country. They are needed now for national defense.

We have the word of the OPM that no one will profit from the transaction, and the reputation of those leading the campaign is a guarantee of its validity.

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, of New York, is head of the U. S. Civilian Defense Office, which is sponsoring the drive. In Michigan, Gov. Van Wageningen is responsible for the success of the drive, with the Michigan Council of Defense supervising the campaign. The actual work is under the command of our war veterans and county agents, with the mayors and village presidents of the state cooperating.

A score of more of youth, farm, school, church, fraternal, service, social, and patriotic organizations are giving active support to the movement. We all know the people who are doing the work in our own community, and because we know them, we are confident that this is a patriotic campaign from which the whole nation will benefit.

To reach the national goal of 20,000,000 pounds of scrap aluminum, every person in the United States must give all he can. Start weeding out all the useless aluminum articles in your home today, and have them ready to deliver to the collectors when they call on you July 24 or 25.

The aluminum is needed urgently. Here is our long-awaited chance to do something for the defense of our country.

With the reassignment of powers in Europe there has arisen among many of our people a sense of confusion, fostered and augmented wherever possible by those who are trying to divide the nation, and who wish to veil the real issue involved. If we listened to them, we would believe that we were forced to take either the road to the left or the road to the right.

This is not the case. It is not a choice between the pagan bestiality of the Nazi-Fascist regimes and the godless bestiality of the Communist overlords. The blood guilt lies on both, and the foulness of their deeds offends the nostrils of Americans in equal degree.

As a people we learned our lesson in the era of gang wars. We know that we cannot sit idly by and let two mobs kill each other off, while we go on rocking serenely and saying, "Good riddance to bad rubbish."

We have got to get up and clear out both gangs, and common sense tells us that we have to begin with the one whose gun is pointing our way.

The policies of our government have not changed overnight. We still as a nation are against all of the totalitarian ideologies which enslave human beings and make a mockery of all the principles we revere. But we are a practical people, and we have to tackle jobs in the order of their immediacy. We know that our present task is to rearm speedily and well, to rush aid to Britain in this her God-given hour of opportunity, and to prepare for the worst while we earnestly pray for the best.

While we use this providential minute of respite before the storm to strengthen the bulwarks of our defense, we must not jump to false conclusions or be led astray in false judgments. Through the trying hours ahead, while the rain of epithets—"Nazi," "Red"—falls upon our ears, we must stand firm, looking beyond the scaremonger to the shadowy figure prompting him. If we keep in mind that these miscreants now so bitterly assailing each other were once, united in their task of scuttling the ship of democracy, we can see them in the proper perspective and go on as individuals, as a people, and as a nation, doing the task we know we have to do. This is still America. This is still our democracy. The principles upon which our nation was governed have not been changed by the new line-up in Europe.

Hunting Season Will Remain Unchanged

Lansing—Hunters will comb woods and fields for grouse, pheasants, rabbits, squirrels and raccoons, and trappers will take muskrats and mink this fall in seasons virtually identical with seasons in 1940 as the conservation commission, acting on game division reports of good game crops, has continued most existing regulations in effect.

Waterfowl shooting regulations have yet to be fixed in detail, pending announcement of federal regulations, but the commission has indicated it would protect wood ducks, whether federal rules do or not. The 2 p. m. closing hour for waterfowl was renewed on Houghton lake, but allowed to expire on Muskegon lake.

The area open to deer hunting continues as before, except that hunting for deer of both sexes will be allowed under proper restrictions in parts of Allegan county when the new law authorizing this hunting becomes effective. Delayed date of another new law is all that will prevent hunting and trapping in 2,000 acres of Hartwick Pines state park and 1,000 acres of Wilderness state park in the fall hunting and trapping seasons.

The ban on black squirrel shooting in any part of Michigan continues in effect, while fox and gray squirrels may be hunted in the lower peninsula October 15-November 5. The upper peninsula is closed to squirrel hunting, and Emmet and Cheboygan counties may be closed to fox squirrel hunting again if Conservation Director P. J. Hoffmaster finds such action warranted.

The commission took no action to restrict statutory seasons or bag limits for cottontail rabbits or snowshoe hares. Effective date of the new law will determine whether the three-day or five-day bag limit on cottontails will prevail.

The commission directed Hoffmaster to consult the Attorney General to determine the commission's authority over other seasons, with the view to regulating other trapping as it has been regulated in the last two seasons, if there is authority for this action.

With shootable populations of Hungarian partridge still lacking the commission continued the closed season on these game birds another three years.

M. S. C. Puts Variety In Farm Day Aug. 1

Midsummer gathering of Michigan farmers and their families on the Michigan State College campus at East Lansing offers a rural sports festival of softball and horseshoe pitching, classification of the college Jersey herd, presentation of dairy calves to boy and girl essay winners, inspection of current experimental projects and an outstanding speaker just recently returned from South America. All of this occurs Friday, Aug. 1, in the annual Farmers' Day program, according to E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture.

By the clock the program has been arranged by R. W. Fenny, short course director, in this form:

Preliminaries in the horseshoe and softball events begin at 9 a. m. At the same hour the Jersey classification begins on the lawn in front of the dairy barn. Here also the calves are to be presented to winners in an essay contest sponsored by dairy breed associations and the Michigan Farmer.

Later in the forenoon, visitors will be given time to look over agricultural division and experiment station projects involving research and demonstrations in crops, livestock, soils, poultry, agricultural engineering and horticulture.

Basket lunches will be in order at noon. Bleachers will be set up in the center of the campus and the Michigan Future Farmers of America band will present a half hour concert at 1:30 to draw the crowds to the afternoon events. Speaker is H. L. Walster, dean of agriculture of the North Dakota Agricultural College at Fargo. He will present his views of South American agriculture in relation to United States production of meats and grains, involving much-discussed trade and imports. Finals in the sports festival will conclude the day's events. This program also concludes Farm Women's Week which opens on the campus Sunday, July 27.

Schedule

Thursday, July 25—Central Fibre vs. Kimunity.

Monday, July 28—Central Fibre vs. Cassidy Lake Faculty.

Tuesday, July 29—CCC vs. Spaulding Chevrolet; Hankerd Hi-Speed vs. Kimunity.

Standings

	W	L	Pct.
Chelsea Spring	8	3	.727
Federal Screw	6	3	.666
Spaulding Chevrolet	7	4	.636
CCC	6	5	.545
Hankerd Hi-Speed	5	5	.500
Cassidy Lake Fac.	5	5	.500
Central Fibre	3	7	.300
Kimunity	2	7	.222

With the end of the season approaching rapidly the teams are playing hard for playoff positions. As you know, only the top four teams are allowed to take part in the playoffs which are to decide the league championship.

During this past playing week Federal Screw won over Hankerd's Hi-Speed in a closely contested game and then turned around and defeated the boys from the CCC camp to advance from fourth place up to second.

Cassidy Lake Faculty continued their winning streak by defeating the first place Spring Co. team and thereby putting the league in more of a turmoil centering around top four positions than ever.

And just to complicate matters more, Spaulding Chevrolet defeated Hankerd's Hi-Speed last Tuesday night.

Next week's predictions—Central Fibre will defeat Kimunity this Thursday night but will lose to Cassidy Lake Faculty the following Monday. This victory for the Faculty will cause a two-way tie for fourth place between the Faculty and Hankerd's Hi-Speed who will defeat Kimunity on Tuesday. As for the CCC-Spaulding Chevrolet game—I've stuck my neck out quite a ways on these predictions already so I'll pass. But I'll be worth seeing.

Notice to managers—Those who have not turned in your league dues must do so immediately.

Safetygrams

Again I say, the importance of individual responsibility in accident prevention work cannot be over emphasized. Safety education, drivers' license laws, vehicle inspection, and many other worthwhile safety promotional campaigns are important, but they are not the final solution to the accident problem in our traffic work.

You are the answer because you are the problem. If you do not follow all the safety educational instructions you have received, if you do not obey the laws of your state, and if you do not exercise caution in your driving, then you will be responsible for accidents to yourself and others.

Reason it out yourself—laws will not prevent your cutting in unnecessarily and dangerously, nor will they prevent you from passing another car on a hill. It's you only who can prevent your doing that.

Practice courtesy. Establish yourself as the best and safest driver in your community.

Let me repeat again—you are the answer to the prevention of automobile accidents.

KIWANIS NEWS

The Kiwanians of Chelsea and Dexter held an inter-club meeting at Herb Cassel's home on Spring lake Tuesday evening. The group enjoyed a picnic supper prepared by the Dexter club and held a short meeting after the meal. The softball teams of the respective clubs staged their annual grudge game afterwards, which was finally won by the Chelsea group, 12-4.

The program chairman announced that the Kiwanians would meet next Tuesday at 12 o'clock noon at the Congregational church to aid in celebrating the installation of the dial system in Chelsea by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company. He mentioned that the club would hold a round table at Kolb's on Tuesday evening for those who would be unable to attend the noon meeting.

Lansing—J. Lee Barrett, Detroit's convention go-getter and Southeastern Michigan Tourist Association executive, tells this story:

A month or so ago he was appointed by Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner to be vice-chairman of a historical festival to be held next Friday, Saturday and Sunday at Mackinac Island with Indians living in tepees along the beaches.

Now, "J. L. B." takes his responsibilities seriously. And when a club woman visited his office last week and inquired solicitously for the "flow-down" as to what the festival "washoby" digging a dahlia bed, or any all about, the tall and stately Mr. Barrett closed the office door and replied in a confidential low voice:

"This fact hasn't been announced and not for low score. Stay in bed yet, but the truth of the matter is that Governor Van Wagoner is getting weary of things in general and has week and eight-hour day. Seek decided to give the state back to the Indians."

All of which merely illustrates, if any moral is needed, that we Americans haven't lost our sense of humor; the pressing call for more tanks, more "Yoo hoo" may yet save the nation! airplanes and more guns, we can well

An Asset to Defense

In the course of our occasional travels about Michigan we have been deeply impressed, time and again, with two things: (1) Michigan's varied resources such as copper, iron, salt, oil, gas, coal and timber, all vital to our present national defense; (2) Michigan's tremendous recreational resources.

All of us recognize, as a matter of course, the urgent need of copper and iron and other products to our present re-armament effort.

But a golf case might be made that many of us do not appreciate sufficiently the importance of recreation and relaxation to defense.

Hunting and Fishing

At the recent convention of the American Medical Association, Dr. Edgar V. Allen, chief of the medicine section of the Mayo Clinic, warned industrial managers and workers of inefficiency due to nervous and physical strain. A paraphrased condensation of Dr. Allen's suggestions follows:

"Eat temperately, fast occasionally and eliminate fats from the diet. Inquire solicitously for the 'flow-down' as to what the festival 'washoby' digging a dahlia bed, or any all about, the tall and stately Mr. Barrett closed the office door and replied in a confidential low voice:

"This fact hasn't been announced and not for low score. Stay in bed yet, but the truth of the matter is that Governor Van Wagoner is getting weary of things in general and has week and eight-hour day. Seek decided to give the state back to the Indians."

All of which merely illustrates, if any moral is needed, that we Americans haven't lost our sense of humor; the pressing call for more tanks, more "Yoo hoo" may yet save the nation! airplanes and more guns, we can well

All of which merely illustrates, if any moral is needed, that we Americans haven't lost our sense of humor; the pressing call for more tanks, more "Yoo hoo" may yet save the nation! airplanes and more guns, we can well remind ourselves that Michigan should utilize in year-round style its thousands of lakes and its many parks and forests if it is to achieve maximum potentialities as an "arsenal of democracy."

Just because they are commonplace, don't overlook these facts:

Michigan is the most favored state in the north temperate zone. Its climate is thoroughly air-conditioned and thermostatically controlled by the waters of the Great Lakes—Erie, Huron, Superior and Michigan. (Every school child knows that the lakes absorb heat from air warmer than themselves and also warm colder winds).

Our growing season for food crops is from about April 25 to October 22, longer and more moderate than that in the average northern state.

3,177 Miles of Coast

Our coast line is 3,177 miles long, an astounding fact in itself.

The Au Sable, nationally famous as a trout stream, has a drop of 609 feet. Rivers of the Upper Peninsula tumble boisterously over many scenic waterfalls in their wild haste to reach the lakes.

The Porcupine mountain area, near Ontonagon and Ironwood, contains the largest tract of virgin hardwood forest remaining in the United States. (And do you know that House Bill 3793 and Senate Bill 1131 at Washington would preserve this forest under government ownership and would assign logging on a selective, sustained-yield basis?)

When the last glacial retreat occurred some 10,000 to 35,000 years ago (so the geologists insist), the ice sheets left us with more than 5,000 lakes. Most of these lakes possess sand beaches, an incidental matter that has been worth millions of dollars to Michigan.

The Keweenaw peninsula, north of Houghton, is a volcanic formation. Scattered remnants of Archean rocks, the oldest earth rocks known, have been found in the Upper Peninsula.

Forest Wonders

A tree is a tree, but this was news to us:

In all of Europe there are only 80 species of trees; Michigan has 85 species indigenous to Michigan soil! Michigan's forest, shrub and herbal growth has been called the greatest of its kind in the entire temperate zone.

Wild flowers grow here in great profusion.

More widely known are these fishing and hunting facts: More than 500,000 persons are licensed to fish in Michigan annually; we lead the nation in number of hunting licenses, the annual bag of deer alone being about 40,000.

Beaver are fairly numerous in both the Upper Peninsula and in northern sections of the Lower Peninsula. Tell that to your out-state skeptics!

Indian Lore

It may be "old stuff" also to you—but maybe news to your guests—that Longfellow's "Hiawatha" was based on the habits, customs and songs of the Chippewas who dwelled in Michigan.

Thousands of copper hammers have been found in and about primitive copper mining pits in the Upper Peninsula, proof that the Indians utilized this metal many centuries ago.

Descendants of these same Indian tribes live today in Michigan. According to the United States commissioner of Indian affairs, there were 4,530 Indians in the state for the year ending June 30, 1939. Collectively, they own some 13,000 acres of land.

Michigan Indians were transformed from an agricultural to a nomadic hunting people by the European demand for furs. Thus, Fort Mackinac was established to guard the Northwest's fur trade; John Jacob Astor founded the American Fur company with headquarters on Mackinac Island. (The original building is there today).

These facts, a few out of many hundreds, may present a new light on Michigan's recreational resources which you will find everywhere.

As a patriotic remedy for the war fitters, we prescribe the Michigan official motto:

"If you seek a delightful peninsula look about you."

Boat Slip Blasted

Tossed 200 feet into the air by a charge of dynamite are tons of swampland and floating bog that barred the last stretch of a boat channel dug with explosives from open water through 600 feet of marsh to solid ground at the public fishing site on the shore of Big Crooked Lake, in Livingston County. Ordinary excavating methods could not be used because of marshy character of the shore. The site is one of many the conservation department is buying and improving with fishing license funds to assure public access to good fishing waters.

Star Finds Beauty
Just in Keeping Busy
"Keeping busy will do more to give a woman true beauty than hours of fussing before a mirror," says Ika Chase, attractive stage, screen and radio star.

"You won't be attractive unless there is an alive, alert look about you. And you simply can't have the look of alertness if you don't do much of anything except sit."

Ika Chase is a testimonial to these beliefs. She keeps busy these days writing a script for her weekly radio show; selecting and interviewing guests for it; knitting and sewing twice a week in the workrooms of a relief organization; doing the slightly caustic but amusing commentaries on a weekly news film; taking singing lessons; collaborating on a play with her husband; writing a book; being active in politics and managing a household.

"First of all, the woman who is occupied has no time to brood about herself or her troubles," Miss Chase continues. "Consequently she is happier, her disposition is better. And nothing detracts more from good looks than a bad disposition or a chronic gee-in-sorry-for-myself feeling."

"Associating with people stimulates the mind. And when the mind is stimulated eyes lose their lifeless look and take on a new shine; the voice loses its monotonous tone and matches the animation in the mind."

Miss Chase points out that animation and alertness that come from leading an active life must be supplemented and complemented by certain beauty routines, of course.

"You cannot forego the skillful touches of the beauty operator for the sake of mental stimulation alone," the actress explains.

Good Voice, Vocabulary
Important for Success
The attractive young men and women who guided visitors around the New York World's fair were selected for those positions because they possess good voices and well-rounded vocabularies. Looks and physique were taken into consideration, but after every other hurdle was passed, voice and vocabulary decided the issue.

Voice and vocabulary are growing more and more important in our everyday lives. With everything else equal, isn't it more pleasant to do business with a person who has a pleasing voice and a varied vocabulary? Business firms are beginning to recognize the fact that everyone in their employ is a part of their business setup and represents the firm. They realize that if there are people with pleasing personalities available, it is to the firm's advantage to hire them.

According to a survey conducted by the Carnegie Institute of Technology, personality has more to do with business success than superior knowledge. Any observing person can see that by looking over the personnel of the average organization.

You may possess college degrees and superior knowledge, but if you are unable to express yourself, you are at a decided disadvantage. You can learn to express yourself intelligently. You can overcome speech defects. No one can do these things for you. You must make up your mind to overcome them, outline a plan, and stick to it just as religiously

Russian Army Plan for Slowing Blitz Follows China's 'Retreating' Technique; Churchill Hails Soviet as 'Real Ally'; Extension of Draftee Service Sought

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Deeper into Russia than their companions—but unarmed—these invading Nazi soldiers are marched off to a Red prison camp after capture "Somewhere on the eastern front." That bald-headed, shirt-clad panzer trooper, fourth from left, in the front line, looks out of place among his companions, who seem to be shock-headed boys.

BEAR: On Defense

The Russian Bear, no matter what the communiques might say, was obviously putting up a hard fight before the advancing German mechanized forces, and the British, who had taken the quick defeat of Russia as a foregone conclusion, were beginning to cheer.

Churchill, who had been through three previous milder stages of hailing Russia as a companion in arms, finally and very bluntly told the house of commons "of course Russia is an ally of Britain."

One of the signs that the Reds' defense of their homeland was vigorous and not without military merit came from an official admission on the part of Germany's high command that the Nazi armies had hurled back a considerable counter-attack.

Communicate "solvers" naturally saw in this admission proof that the Russian armies were actually fighting, and battling to some purpose in their gradual withdrawal to the Stalin line and perhaps further to the interior.

Washington observers cautioned against too much faith in an eventual Russian victory, however, unless the defenders were able to withdraw their armies with much of their equipment intact, into that hinterland broadly described as "the Urals."

As in the Battle of France, it was conceded that the French would have had a chance of immobilizing the war only if they were willing to give up Paris and other cherished cities, and move backward with the assault, harassing the advancing Nazis and softening their blows, "riding with the punches" as the boxing phrase has it.

This was the technique which enabled to make a four-year-old war of position out of the Japanese blitz of 1937 in China. It was the same technique which observers in this country were recommending for Russia.

There was nothing in dispatches to show that the Reds were not doing just that, save that no city of vital importance like Leningrad, Moscow or Kiev had yet fallen, though Germans claimed they had passed the latter.

It was impossible, in view of conflicting claims, to determine with even probable accuracy and allowing for a wide margin of error to figure the price being paid by either side in the Russo-German war.

If German claims were to be believed, Russia had left only a fragmentary part of her motorized equipment and her air force. If Russia were to be believed Germany was reduced to using "canvas" tanks and mere boys to operate them.

But even the German communiques admitted Russia still had hundreds of tanks in action, and hundreds of planes, and the Reds' bombing activities were reported from neutral points to be hitting targets far within Rumania and far within Finland.

The actual facts of the war, however, remained continually clouded in mystery, despite the fact that correspondents finally were admitted to Moscow, which also installed a short-wave radio to give out war news to the United States and other countries.

HOPKINS: To London

Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's "trouble shooter" and confidant, was being sent to London again.

While there was little definite information readily available as to the reason for Hopkins' second trip to England, it was recalled that only the other day in the house of commons there had been some bitter statement over the handling of American plane purchases.

MARSHALL: His Plan

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff of the U. S. army, urged two major points before congress senate military affairs committee, and apparently the President was willing to go along with one, but not with the other.

Point No. 1 was that the selectees should be kept in uniform longer than a calendar year from the time of their induction. He wanted this restriction removed by congress from the selective service law.

Point No. 2 was that he wanted the restrictions removed ordering that selectees could serve only in the Western hemisphere. The President apparently was willing to exert some White House pressure on congress to get the second provision passed.

However, early polls of senatorial reactions to both points were unfavorable, though a majority of those questioned reported themselves "undecided" and "preferring to hear the debate."

The question had broadly resolved itself into how large an army the U. S. should have, and how long it takes to train a soldier.

General Marshall also made the point that the selectees had been poured into all army units, with the result that if they were sent home after a year, these units would suffer dismemberment.

What this might be remained hidden, though British statements seemed to hint that Japan might be contemplating a move into Indo-China.

A secondary guess was that Japan might be planning a "token" assault on Russia's east coast—Siberia, perhaps to attempt to close the port of Vladivostok—name famous in the Japanese-Russian war at the turn of the century.

The quitting cabinet is the one which put Soviet Russia into the Rome-Berlin axis, and also, strangely enough, into a neutrality accord with Russia.

The government was almost exactly a year in office, so it could not be charged with the stalemate in China, in fact it was not organized to do anything about the Chinese war.

There was little that could be said surely about the situation, some holding that the cabinet resignation meant that Japan's whole foreign policy would be reoriented in view of the German-Russian war.

Whether this would mean that the next government would be more pro-German, or whether Japan was getting ready to withdraw from all European commitments could hardly be told.

Certain it was that in Tokyo was a little group of Nazis who were said to have dominated the last cabinet, and to have been urging the strongest possible intimidation of America in the Pacific, in order to occupy the United States so strongly with the West coast that aid to Britain might be minimized.

ROOSEVELT: Nazi Names

The German press, in its previous references to this country, had been relatively mild. On the contrary, the papers were howling with each other to use strong language about President Roosevelt.

The President, said one paper, "is circling like a vulture over the Azores and the Cape Verde Islands." Another said: "Roosevelt has raised gangsterism to be a symbol in politics."

Barbed Wire Patent
In the United States, the real home of the barbed wire industry, patents for this type of wire were first taken out by Lucien B. Smith of Kent, Ohio, in 1867, and by William B. Hunt of Scott, N. Y., at about the same time; and by Michael Kelly of New York, a year later. But the practical beginning of the barbed wire industry was in 1874, when patents were issued to Joseph F. Glidden of De Kalb, Ill., on barbed fence wire. These inventions were the foundation of the system of patents under which barbed wire has been protected and sold.

Why 'Stool Pigeon'
Why is a paid informer of the underworld called a stool pigeon? The expression has long been known. Before the wild pigeon became extinct, it was the custom of hunters to fasten a captive pigeon to a stool. The poor bird was moved up and down from a place of concealment; it fluttered anxiously and attracted passing flocks of its fellows into the fowler's net. Hence, a stool pigeon is a decoy; a police spy.

Pickles Cause Tooth Decay
Pickles cause more tooth decay, according to experiments reported by Science Service. This does not mean sugars and candies are entirely harmless, but they cause decay chiefly after they ferment and produce lactic acids. Pieces of solid teeth placed in various acids showed decided decay in a short time but when placed in sugar solutions they decayed scarcely at all.
