Contract Let for New Methodist Home Unit

Announcement is made by the Board of Trustees of the local Methodist Home that the contract was let last week for construction of a new wing at the Home and for the reconditioning of the present buildings.

The general contract was awarded to Chas. R. Wermuth & Son, Inc. of Birmingham, Mich., who built the First Methodist church, Ann Arbor, and the Cranbrook and Kingswood schools at Bloomfield Hills. The heating and plumbing contract was awarded to Hickey, Shaw & Winkler of Detroit, and the electrical contract went to the General Electric Shop of Ann Arbor.

It is expected that work on the new wing will be started this week, and be completed in about four months. The building will be 38x76 ft. The first floor will be used as a dining hall and will have a modernly equipped kitchen. The second floor will have all the facilities for a hospital unit, and the third floor will contain additional guest rooms. There will be a completely new heating plant in the basement, as well as a large storage room. There will also be an additional elevator in this building.

The present buildings will be completely re-plastered and re-wired, with new heating and lighting equipment throughout. The porches at both the north and south ends of the buildings will be enclosed and made into sun-porches for use in both summer and winter. A large lounge will be added and the present office enlarged.

Total cost of the new unit and reconditioning of the present buildings will be about $185,000.00, with the Kresge Foundation contributing $120,000 of the amount. The Board of Trustees plan to raise the additional $65,000.00 through a Conference-wide campaign, which has been started.

As the result of the addition and improvements the Home will not only provide greater comfort for the members of its family, but will have accommodations for twenty additional people. The Home family now consists of about 85 members. Rev. L. I. Lord is Superintendent of the Home and Mrs. A. D. Hollidge is Matron.

Emergency Loans Are Available From F.S.A.

An emergency loan program has been launched by the Farm Security Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture to finance the construction or repair of low cost granaries for farmers who will be faced with the problem of finding storage space for grain.

Donald Kline, County FSA Supervisor, disclosed that his office has been authorized to make loans to provide emergency farm grain storage on the following conditions:

1. Such loans may be made to Farm Security borrowers and to other farmers who are unable to secure credit for this purpose elsewhere.

2. Such loans may be made only for amounts necessary to construct or repair storage space which meets minimum requirements of the Commodity Credit Corporation and for storage of grain eligible for CCC loans.

3. Storage bins constructed or repaired with FSA loans may be located on the farm of the borrower or on land under lease by the borrower.

Mr. Kline said this action was being taken by Farm Security to help alleviate the critical grain storage problem developing as a result of the large wheat crop to be handled this season with terminal and sub-terminal warehouses and country elevators nearly filled already with the record carry-over of surplus grain.

Farmers in need of this service were urged by Donald Kline to contact his office or the office of the local AAA committee immediately.

SUPERVISORS HOLD PICNIC

About 225 were in attendance at the third annual picnic of the past and present supervisors of Washtenaw county, which was held Sunday at Dexter-Huron park. Carl Mast, Webster township supervisor, was elected president; Harry Cole, a former supervisor, was elected secretary, and James Warner of Ypsilanti was elected treasurer. During the afternoon, talks were given by Prof. John Mayskens of the U. of M., and Rep. Joseph Warner of Ypsilanti, and Dr. Otto K. Engelke, director of the county's new health unit, was introduced. Michael Sage of Saline township, who served as supervisor of Lodi township from 1890 to 1892, was the oldest past supervisor in point of service.

All unfinished knitting is to be completed and turned in by September 1. Up to this date the August quota has not been received. Catherine McKune.

DEFENSE BOND QUIZ

Q. Where should I keep my Defense Savings Bonds?

A. In a safe place, because they have value which constantly increases. If you wish, the Treasury Department or any Federal Reserve Bank will hold them in safekeeping for you without charge, giving you a receipt.

Q. Does an album filled with Stamps automatically become a Bond that will pay interest and mature in 10 years?

A. No. The completed album must be exchanged for a Bond. Regardless of the amount of money you have invested in Stamps, they will not bear interest until they are in the form of a Bond or Bonds.

Note.—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office, bank, or savings and loan association; or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C., for a mail-order form.

Chelsea Amateur Golf Tourney Is Under Way

All the players in the Chelsea Amateur Golf Tournament completed their first round matches during the past week. In the championship flight, medalist Robert G. Foster defeated Joseph Pollock, 2-1; Albert C. Johnson edged out Rev. P. H. Grabowski in the best match of the week, 1-up in 19 holes after Rev. Grabowski shot an excellent 36 to square the match at the end of the regulation 18 holes; Red Eder took David Colquhoun, 4-3; C. Stanley Evans upset Russ Birchard 1-up; Frank Frysinger defeated Frank Edgar in a close match, 4-3; Paul Young played excellent golf to vanquish George E. Sperling, Jr., 2-1; and David Reid edged out Bud Edgar in another good match, 3-2.

In the second flight, Kush Howe defeated James Allen 1-up in the eighteen hole test; William Kuhn took E. O. Maple, 3-2; Paul Schneider shot nice golf to win from Leo Tuttle, 2-up; Maurice Howe edged out Sue Westgate 1-up in a hard fought match; Ed Miller defeated Carl Schneider, 6-5; Audrey Harris played nice golf to gain the verdict over Fred Hall, 6-4; Luther Kusterer shot excellent golf to upset Agnes Greves, 2-up; while Dudley Foster eaked out a win over L. D. Pettigrew, 2-1.

The finest golf of the week was shot by Paul Young of North Lake who posted a nice 74 with three birdies to his credit for the round. The Al Johnson-Rev. Grabowski match was the best and hardest fought exhibition, with Rev. Grabowski shooting a sensational 88 to tie the match on the 18th hole. All the participants in vying for the worthwhile trophies and prizes in this tournament played very good golf and as a result, all the matches were very close throughout. Luther Kusterer sprang the greatest upset for the week in defeating Agnes Greves, but he had to shoot a nice game of golf to do so.

Pairings for the second round, which must be completed by Sunday evening, August 17, are as follows:

Championship flight—Robert G. Foster, Stanley Evans; Albert C. Johnson, Red Eder; Claire Rowe, Frank Frysinger; Paul Young, David Reid.

Second flight—Kush Howe, William Kuhn; Paul Schneider, Maurice Howe; Ed Miller, Audrey Harris; Luther Kusterer, Dudley Foster.

The feature matches of this week should be the Al Johnson-Red Eder tussle in the championship flight and the Paul Schneider-Maurice Howe, and Ed Miller-Audrey Harris battles in the second flight. The tournament up to the present time has brought out some very good golf, and the quarter-finals matches should all be very close with the winner of each individual match in doubt until the last putt is sunk.

Old Cement Plant Bins To Be Used for Storage

Oswald Blaess of Ann Arbor, who recently purchased a portion of the State cement plant property at Four Mile lake, has a force of men at work reconditioning the large concrete bins at the front of the property and constructing an addition adjacent to the bins.

According to information received by The Standard this week, Mr. Blaess plans to lease the seven large bins for storage of government grain. New elevating, ventilating and testing equipment will be installed in the bins, which will hold several hundred thousand bushels of grain, and it is planned to have them ready for use late this fall. The bins are each 80 feet in diameter and 70 feet in height.

The new two-story, 33x50 ft. addition, of cement block construction, will be used for an office and for custom grinding.

Public Schools To Open Tuesday, September 2

The Chelsea public schools will open on Tuesday, September 2, with teachers' meetings in the morning and enrollment of students in the afternoon. High school pupils who are new in the school are asked to enroll at the office of the superintendent on either Aug. 27 or 28. All grade and kindergarten pupils, including those who are new, will enroll in their home rooms on the afternoon of Sept. 2, at 1:00 o'clock. Rental of lockers and lockers and sale of textbooks will take place on Aug. 27 and 28.

During the summer Mr. Gentner has cleaned the building thoroughly and has sealed and waxed all floors. The kindergarten room and the basement of the high school building have been painted and new fluorescent lights are to be added to the second grade room. The second story of the new addition has been completed and equipment installed for the new chemistry and physics laboratory which will be located there. The new principal's office will also be located in this building and the old principal's office will serve as a locker room and hallway.

The old Science laboratory will house the equipment for wood and metal shop and Mr. Miller, the instructor, is now on duty getting this department ready for the opening of school.

Courses of study to be offered in the school, teachers, and more complete information about the school will appear in later issues of The Standard.

Polio Cases Reported Show Decrease In State

Infantile paralysis cases reported in the first week of August have been under average figures, the Michigan Department of Health says, but adds that the course of polio is unpredictable.

"No one can tell in advance how polio may affect a community, nor say what the outcome of a case may be," says Dr. H. Allen Moyer, State Health Commissioner. "The patient who recovers without paralysis and the one who has a crippling after-effect may look just the same at the beginning. The physician must have a chance to see polio early and follow the case day by day. Proper care helps to avoid paralysis, but if it does develop, the crippling effects can be overcome in part by rest and use of splints. For these reasons, the physician should be called for any of the signs which may be the first symptoms of polio—fever, vomiting, pain or stiffness of the neck and back."

In July, the number of cases of polio reported was 22, compared with 28 cases in 1940 and a five-year average of 29. No cases were reported in August until the fifth day, whereas last year polio was reported daily through the month and the August total was three times the five-year average of 103.

Polio is caused by one of the smallest of the viruses, whose diameter is calculated to be only one two-and-a-half-millionth of an inch. If the virus is ever seen it will be with the aid of some device like the electron microscope. No one is now sure just how the virus is spread. It may get from one person to another like the virus of measles, by way of droplets from the nose and mouth in breathing, or like the germ of typhoid, through food and water. This uncertainty as to manner of spread makes control more difficult than for many other communicable diseases.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS PICNIC

FIRE DESTROYS LANDMARK

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed one of Chelsea's old landmarks about 7:30 Sunday morning—the residence west of the Michigamme restaurant on old US-12, owned by Mrs. Cecelia Wagner of Ann Arbor and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wheeler and family and George Hurrell. The local fire department responded to the call. Most of the contents were saved. The residence was erected about 70 years ago by James M. Congdon, one of the founders of Chelsea village.

By Judge Malcolm Hatfield

There Is No Single Cause for

Delinquency

Year in and year out, children are brought into court simply because they commit some act which can be attributed to a desire for more adequate means of amusement. Children are not criminals at birth, but gradually develop sinful tendencies as a result of contacts with their associates. Juvenile delinquency is a by-product of society. Just as long as the elements which breed it are permitted to remain, just so long will delinquency never be completely eradicated.

Today we are hearing much about the multiple causation of delinquency. To illustrate how prevalent this theory is becoming among the rank and file of laymen, it is suggested that those interested in the subject spend an afternoon talking over the possible causes of juvenile crime with friends and neighbors. He will undoubtedly discover, to his surprise, that one person contends that juvenile delinquency can be ascribed solely to the lack of proper recreational facilities, ties, while another is convinced that a child may be destined for a career of crime before its birth. A few hours later another friend will place the entire responsibility on the breakdown of the church, while still another one will frankly blame the parents and the schools.

Thus it is easy to understand why legislators who are elected to office by individuals with so many divergent viewpoints cannot make laws which provide a scientific program to curb juvenile delinquency. The juvenile court can best serve the community by educating the public in the various causes which contribute to youthful delinquency, and by leading the fight in eliminating such unwholesome conditions. Juvenile courts should never degenerate into institutions which become so tied up in "red tape" that they can show no concern over the numerous factors in each community which make the existence of youthful delinquency possible.

Delinquency Can Be Predicted

A young man in his late teens recently stood in court and illustrated the point that the person with a defective mentality who is not assisted by adequate treatment, frequently succumbs to temptations more easily than the normal individual. While physical defects contribute only indirectly to youthful crime, this youth, because of his low mentality, soon lost interest in school and, through discouragement, turned to the more exciting career of crime.

Even though crime itself cannot be inherited, there are certain instinctive weaknesses appearing at birth that unquestionably lower the individual's power for resistance. Poverty plays a decided part in crime. It is a recognized fact that temptations among the poor are greater than among the rich.

On the other hand, environment factors alone are not always accountable for anti-social behavior. If this were true, our courts would not constantly receive children coming from excellent homes and good neighborhoods. An anti-social child should be carefully analyzed by a psychiatrist to determine the various causes contributing to the child's delinquency, so that a program of intelligent reclamation can be put into effect. The child who is about to become delinquent exhibits certain easily detected behavior characteristics. All schools should be permitted, or rather required, to secure services of a trained psychiatrist, who can diagnose and check cases of potential delinquency before they produce serious consequences.

Storage Facilities Lacking for Wheat

Farmers who are protesting against wheat marketing quotas should take heed of the stress of the present record-breaking supply of wheat on the market caused partially by lack of adequate storage facilities in the major terminal markets, Harry M. Cole, Secretary of the Washtenaw County Triple-A Committee, said.

A Triple-A official pointed out that news dispatches lately have been telling of serious fluctuations of the wheat market as a result of congestion of supplies at most terminals which crowded storage space to the limit in many cases. Several terminal points, he declared, have warned farmers not to ship grain unless they had previously been assured of facilities to handle it when the wheat arrived at the terminal market.

"Many farmers who are protesting marketing quota regulations are scoffing at the warning that we have a huge surplus of wheat and are contending that even if we do have a surplus, the price will stay up regardless of marketing quota restrictions," Mr. Cole declared.

The Triple-A Secretary emphasized that those farmers who are demanding that marketing quotas be abandoned or that penalty provisions be reduced should seriously consider what would happen to the wheat market if their wishes were carried out.

As an answer to this question of what would happen to the wheat market if quotas were abandoned or penalties reduced, Mr. Cole made public the text of a telegram addressed to Secretary of Agriculture, Claude R. Wickard, by Rep. Frederick Smith of Ohio, who is an exponent of abandoning quotas and penalties and the reply to Smith's question by Secretary Wickard, as follows:

July 12, 1941
 Office of Claude R. Wickard
 Secretary of Agriculture.

If all penalty clauses only were stricken from Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 and all penalty amendments thereto including one contained in S. Res. 60, would cooperators still receive loans at rate of 85 per cent of parity price on wheat and other commodities as per LOA SJ Res. 60 approved May 26, 1941. Reply by Western Union.

Congressman Frederick C. Smith.
 July 14, 1941
 Hon. Frederick C. Smith
 Marion, Ohio.

Answering your telegram of July 12, if farmers are to continue to receive benefit of loans at 85 per cent of parity they must restrict marketings of wheat otherwise the Government's investment in commodity loans would be unprotected. Without penalties that restrict excessive marketings loan program would have to be abandoned. Without loan support the markets would undoubtedly collapse and the great majority of farmers who are cooperators would be penalized.

Claude R. Wickard, Secretary.

"X" Disease Found In Michigan Peach Trees

First appearance of the mysterious "X" virus disease in peaches has been discovered in Michigan, leading to an immediate appeal to Michigan orchardists to grub out any chokecherry shrubs located within 500 feet of any peach trees.

No known cure can be suggested, warns Don Cation, plant pathologist at Michigan State College. Only recommendation is to seek out the host chokecherries.

Cation attended a conference at Hudson, N. Y., in 1939 with C. A. Boyer, in charge of orchard nursery inspection for the State Department of Agriculture, and Raymond Klackle, then representing Michigan nurserymen and now assistant county agricultural agent in the Detroit area.

It was Klackle, remembering the symptoms noted at the New York meeting, who recently spotted virus symptoms in the Park-Bartlett peach orchard near Metamora, Michigan.

The "X" disease since has been found in the Russell Everts orchard, also near Metamora. Clumps of chokecherries are common in the vicinity.

Just recently four infections were found near Hamilton, Ontario. Other known infections discovered since the disease was noted in Connecticut in 1938 are in New York, Idaho, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Serious threat to the entire peach industry in Michigan is described by Cation. One saving factor is that few chokecherries grow wild in the heaviest peach growing counties in southwestern Michigan.

Consumers need have no fear of the fruit, as only a healthy tree can bear peaches.

Since Cation's visit in New York two years ago when the disease spotted relatively few orchards, the infection has spread enough to wipe out entire orchards. A three hundred mile progression westward has been noted, and the appearance of the virus in an eastern Michigan county was not surprising to Cation or Klackle.

On chokecherries the first symptoms appear in mid-July as an intensive red or yellow coloration of the leaves. The areas between the veins turned red or yellow and the veins remain green.

Leaves do not shot-hole or shed. In the second year the leaves are dwarfed, yellowed or rosetted. Death of the chokecherry occurs the third year.

On the peach the symptoms also appear in mid-July. At that time reddish-purple or yellow discolored areas appear between the veins on the leaves. The discolored areas die and fall out, leaving ragged edges.

The leaves soon fall except for one or two small green leaves at the tips of the infected branches. These "flags" or

"lions' tails" are useful in diagnosis. Only a few branches show the symptoms the first year. Several or more healthy looking branches are found on a diseased tree. But the second year the infected trees appear healthy until mid-June or July when the symptoms repeat. Infected peach trees live three or more years.

Some suspicion that a hitch-hiking insect is involved in progression of the virus disease is offered by plant pathologists. In addition to orchard-to-orchard spread, occasional jumps of 50 miles are noted along well traveled highways.

Wild black cherries, trees, are not to be confused with the shrublike chokecherry, says Cation. Some suspicion is attached to the wild plum. The western sandcherry is another host. Cultivated plums, ornamental plums or cultivated cherries are not known to carry the virus, although these have not been ruled out as possibilities in eastern investigations.

Scents Find New Uses
 Like to keep your clothes closets smelling fragrant? Then you'll want to look into the clothes-closet perfumes that are being offered in several downtown stores. These come in four different scents, two of them particularly nice for a man's quarters—cedar and pine; and two that will appeal more to women—lavender and gardenia. The procedure is a simple one—you simply pour this perfume into a small pottery wall bracket and forget about it; the holder is porous enough to allow the perfume to permeate the air for weeks and weeks before the scent will have to be renewed.

Dissolving Effects of Juices
 The powerful dissolving effect of digestive juices has been demonstrated by their action on various kinds of metals fed to rodents. In one case a steel ball bearing, while in the stomach of a rat for 15 days, was reduced 24 per cent in weight.

Standings for Playoffs

	W	L	Pct.
Spaulding Chevrolet	8	4	.666
Hankard's Hi-Speed	9	5	.642
Chelsea Spring	9	5	.642
Federal Screw	8	5	.615

The playoffs for league championship will be played off the same as last year. The first and fourth teams will play, then the second and third teams, with the two victors playing off for the championship.

Hankard's Hi-Speed and Chelsea Spring are all through with their scheduled league games and they now stand tied for second place.

Spaulding Chevrolet is in first place now but has two scheduled league games left to play (at the time this article was written). One of these games is with Central Fibre and one with Federal Screw. Should Spaulding's boys lose both of these games they will be at the tail-end of the top four with a three-way tie between Federal Screw, Hankard's Hi-Speed and Chelsea Spring.

On the other hand a loss to Federal Screw and a win over Central Fibre would result in a four-way tie between the top four teams.

As you can see, there are but two league games left before the playoffs and anything can happen. I have listed a few of the possible "could-be's" and there could be as many more.

Now to cease our phantasmagorical meandering and return to reality here are the few definite facts about the playoffs.

Monday, Aug. 18—The first and fourth teams will play.

Tuesday, Aug. 19—The second and third teams will play.

Thursday, Aug. 21—The two victors will play for the championship of the league. (Full details of this last game will be in next week's Standard).

In case of any changes in the standings which may occur in our last two scheduled league games, the problem of "who plays who when" will be taken care of by the managers, so there will definitely be playoff games on the above listed dates (weather permitting).

These games start promptly at 6:30. No admission charge. Come if you can come and if you do come you'll certainly be welcome. We hope you will come if you can come but if you can't come—wait a minute! What I mean is, we would like to have you all out to see our playoffs. All fooling aside, we have had some thrilling softball games this year and the best is yet to come. It'll be worth your time.

Notice to managers: There will be a very important meeting after the game tonight—at the school. Be there!

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the acts of kindness and beautiful floral offerings received from our kind neighbors and friends during our recent bereavement in the loss of our beloved mother. We especially thank the Rev. Frederick D. Mumby, and 1940 and 1941 classes.

Sylvester Hamilton and family, Mr. and Mrs. Orvell Hamilton, Mrs. Clarke Spencer and family, Mrs. Ray F. Hart and family, Mrs. John McLennan and family, Theresa Scripser and sons, Mrs. Harold McCracken, Mrs. E. Shinabery and family.

KIWANIS NEWS

The Kiwanians held their regular meeting this week at the Congregational church. The Plymouth club was invited to be the guests of the Chelsea club, but the severe rains on Monday afternoon interfered and they were unable to attend this meeting. The Kiwanians held a short discussion of possible future projects for the club to sponsor and considered that the two vital needs of the community at the present time are a public park and playground, as well as the improvement of the road leading to North Lake.

The program chairman announced that the Kiwanis softball team would play the Chelsea Spring Company team of the Village League next Monday evening at 6:15 at the high school field, and that the members would afterwards gather for supper and a short business meeting.
