70 CHELSEA MEN TO PRESENT ROARING COMEDY, "EVERYBODY'S HERE," TONIGHT AND FRIDAY

STANDARD WILL BE PUBLISHED EARLIER

In order that our subscribers in the village may receive their papers on the Thursday morning delivery, The Standard will be published Wednesday afternoon hereafter. When the mail delivery system starts to operate the carriers will leave the post office at 8:00 o'clock in the morning, which will make it necessary for papers to be in the post office on Wednesday evening if they are to be received by subscribers Thursday morning. However, papers will not be on sale until Thursday. The deadline for classified ads, announcements or news items will be 11 o'clock on Wednesday.

PROCEEDS WILL BE USED FOR ANNUAL HALLOWEEN PARTY
SPONSORED BY KIWANIS

With a slogan of a "laugh a minute," 70 well-known Chelsea men will present the initial performance of "Everybody's Here" tonight on the stage of the high school gymnasium at 8:30. The performance will be repeated Friday evening.

The Kiwanis Club is sponsoring the production. Proceeds from the affair will be used for the benefit of the Kiddies' Halloween Party.

From the opening scene showing two hick janitors (Carl Fletcher and Corner Slocum) preparing the town hall for an old "home-coming" celebration, until the crowning of the winner of the Beauty Contest, there is not a dull moment in the hour and a half evening's entertainment.

You will want to see Rev. Ray Barbey as the president of the Woman's Club, Dr. Faye Palmer as the deaf old-committeeman who cannot get his names right, Fred Broesman as the Suffragette leader, Leigh Beach as Lawyer Kelly and Howard Baker as Mayor Doolittle, who greets the guests.

Among the guests will be Henry Schneider and E. W. Eaton as Mrs. Nebb and Senator Nebb; A. D. May and Henry Werner as Mamma and Papa Cohen; W. D. Mohrlock and Homer Stofor as Judge and Mrs. Whoopie, and Tom Bust as Mrs. Cornelius Vandevilt.

Other guests include Chas. Collett and Geo. Sidwell as Grandpa and Grandpa Ootbrook, and Roy Kalmbach and Geo. Bretschneider as Little Tessie and Jimmie. You will see slapstick of the first order as Mr. and Mrs. Komikal (David Colquhoun and Lloyd Heydlauff) keep their ten Komikal Kids in line—and it is a job! The kids' roles will be played by Ren Hutzler, Bill Rademacher, G. G. Hopper, Roland Spaulding, Junior Seitz, Maynard Knickerbocker, Olen Hart, Russell McLaughlin, George Staffan, Jr. and Charles Winans. Herbert Carl is as Abagail Abernathy, with "hey" old man Hez (John Highland) and their son Jackie (Edward Blacklaw) and giggling daughter Lucindy (Lowell Davison) create a bit of comedy during the evening.

Paul Nicholas as "Lowell Thomas" appears to act as master of ceremonies. He is accompanied by radio and screen artists, among whom are Lawrence Tibbett (G. W. Atkinson), Sophie Tucker (Paul Barbour), Tony Martin (George Winans), and Dottie Lamour ("Whitey" Guest).

Some of the highlights of the performance include the "Girls of the Gay 90's," who twinkle their toes through a raucous number. This group is composed of C. H. Schwieger, A. C. Johnson, George Sperling and W. D. Pearson. In contrast, a group of young men will appear as the "Girls of 1941." The men appearing in this group are K. Mann, Bill Tompkins, Dick Ambler, and James B. Bigh.

Other features include Old Uncle Joe (Hugh Gaddis) and Aunt Mandy (Stanley Beal) with their strutting high brown cat Smiley (Maurice Lyons) in a mellow Southern Melody. T. Fuel as Angelo and Fred Koch as Tony with their dancing bear (Carmen Slocum) present an unusual skit—a ballet by beautiful nymphs, Fred Karp and Norman Phelps (need we say more?)—some old time music by Marshall Richards, Lloyd Collins, Ross Laudenslager, and Lawrence Dietle. Tom C. Smith and Peter Bogham as the Herald announce the arrival of the Beauty contestants—and last but not least the Beauty contestants themselves, who are the cream of the crop from Sharon Hollow (I. Nothnagel), Lima Center (Bob Stroup), Jerusalem (Howard Holmes), Waterloo (Junior Meehan), Manchester (James Hendley)—and the super-colossal Miss Chelsea (Dr. E. J. Quirk) who will do "her" best to keep the honors in the old home town.

Do not miss seeing your local men, all dolled up in glad rags, petticoats and rompers, as they cavort across the stage in one of the funniest home talent shows ever produced here.

Mrs. Paul Nicholas is the accompanist for the performance. Music will be furnished by the High School Swing Band. Advance ticket sales indicate packed houses both nights. Doors of the auditorium will be open at 7 p. m. and the performance will begin promptly at 8:30.

Community Fair Was Very Interesting Event

The Chelsea high school was the scene of another interesting Community Fair last Friday and Saturday, afternoons and evenings. The success of the fair again this year can be attributed only to the fine cooperation and spirit of the people in the community.

The fair program opened officially Friday noon when all the entries were in place. Lodging was completed in the afternoon. Friday night the school auditorium was packed with people who enjoyed a very fine program sponsored by the various departments of the school. Open house was held by the school from 7 to 8 o'clock and parents and friends of the students showed keen interest in the work that is being done by the school.

On Saturday afternoon the fair was opened for visitors and another evening program was offered through the courtesy of Walter Harper. At the beginning of this program was a fancy-packed prize winning bushels of apples grown by Walter Zeeb were auctioned off to the highest bidder. One bushel, a basket of Cortlands, went to Lloyd Heydlauff, while the other, a bushel of Jonathans, was purchased by Darwin Downer.

In the various exhibits there was, as usual, more than average interest in the hobby and flower shows. The agricultural exhibits boasted of splendid samples of grain, potatoes, vegetables and fruit. The apple show, an added feature of this department, was the result of fine cooperation from some of the orchard men in the vicinity.

The home economics exhibit featured projects in canning, sewing and food preparation, with fine exhibit by the home economics department of the high school.

The livestock show, under a larger tent than was ever before used, exhibited animals of superior quality in the various breeds of cattle, horses, sheep, hogs and poultry.

Other exhibits which helped to make the fair more complete were those of the Hi-Y, F. F. A. and the rural schools.

The premium winners in the various departments will be published next week.

Change In Computation Is Proposed By Gas Co.

In order that the method of computing charges for gas service may be simplified for customers, the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company has asked the Michigan Public Service Commission to approve revision of the rate schedule so that gas consumed shall be measured and billed on a cubic foot basis rather than by the Washtenaw Gas Unit measurement now used for computation of charges.

A letter from the gas company to the Chelsea Village Council explains the reasons for making this change. The letter is as follows:

October 2, 1941.

Village of Chelsea,
Chelsea, Michigan.
Gentlemen:

Prior to the introduction of natural gas into the Ann Arbor District of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company, rates were established by the Michigan Public Service Commission for natural gas on a heat unit basis. The unit of measurement then established was the Washtenaw Gas Unit (W. G. U.), which unit had the value of a cubic foot of manufactured gas formerly sold by the company in the Ann Arbor District prior to the introduction of natural gas, or 530 B. T. U.

At the time that the rates were established for natural gas, then the Washtenaw Gas Unit appeared to be a satisfactory and practical means of billing our customers for the quantity of gas consumed.

However, experience gained during the past two years has proven to us that this method of measurement is confusing to our customers, in that they find it difficult to convert cubic feet into W. G. U.'s. We, therefore, have asked the Michigan Public Service Commission to approve the revision of our rate schedule to the end that the gas consumed by our customers shall be measured and billed on a cubic foot basis.

In computing our rate on a cubic foot basis we have endeavored to convert the same quantity of gas now furnished under our present rate schedule using W. G. U. to the cubic foot in such a way that there will be no increase to us in our annual revenue from gas sales. In fact the net result of billing our customers at the present rates upon a cubic foot basis, instead of the W. G. U. will be a loss in revenue to the company of approximately $400.00 to $500.00 per year.

On examination of the proposed change on a cubic foot basis you will note that various odd fractions of cents were used in the various steps in terms of cost per one hundred cubic feet. An effort was made to express these various steps in cost not varying from a half cent. However, it was found that an increase in individual bills would be produced thereby. It was, therefore, deemed advisable to use the fractional cent that actually worked out in the conversion process.

In submitting this request to the Michigan Public Service Commission for permission to change the standard of measurement from the W. G. U. to the cubic foot, we also requested a change in the rate of discount for prompt payment to a flat ten per cent from the gross rates.

Under our present rates we are allowed a delayed payment charge of ten cents per thousand W. G. U.'s which, in effect, gave a delayed payment charge with a very wide spread. The larger charge came on large consumptions. The effect of this change will be a saving to those customers who may pay the gross bill.

Attached to this letter is a copy of the gross rate expressed in cost per one hundred cubic feet to which a discount will apply for prompt payment of ten per cent.

There are also attached hereto tabulations which show the result of the conversion from W. G. U.'s to cubic feet.

We hope this change, if approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission, can become effective as of November 1, 1941. This communication has been filed with the City of Ann Arbor and the Village of Dexter. Yours very truly,

Chas. R. Henderson,
General Manager.

SCOUT TROOPS TO COLLECT WASTE PAPER FOR DEFENSE

Each troop and pack of the Boy Scouts of America has been asked to aid the National Defense Program by conducting a campaign to collect waste paper. No definite dates for a drive will be established. Instead it is expected that each troop will conduct a weekly or monthly collection. The paper will then be sold to a waste paper dealer and the money put in the troop treasury for whatever use may be assigned—perhaps for camping trips, etc. This is an excellent way for Scouts to earn money for their troop and also aid in National Defense. District Commissioner for Chelsea is Albert Johnson.

ANN ARBOR

Lansing—Unknown to many citizens and forgotten by others:

That the first state university in the nation was the University of Michigan whose original charter, under the name of Catholepistemiad, was issued in 1817.

That the first state-wide public school system in the nation was established in Michigan in 1833.

That the first state agricultural college in the nation was Michigan State College, opened in 1857 at East Lansing under the name of Michigan State College of Agriculture.

Michigan's eminence in education is a matter of pride to all citizens. At this time when thousands of young people are going to colleges throughout the state, when a host of boys and girls are finishing their first month of class study in public and parochial schools, take a backward glance at education and get a new inspiration for its future.

Cadillac's Landing

Two days after Cadillac founded Detroit in 1701, St. Anne's church was established there. The parish is the second-oldest continuously maintained parish of the Roman Catholic church in the United States.

In 1798, after the American flag had been raised over Detroit, Father Gabriel Richard arrived as assistant pastor and soon took over parish responsibilities. He was first to advocate a state university.

In 1817, twenty years before Michigan was admitted to the Union, a charter was issued by the governor and judges of the Territory of Michigan for an institution of higher learning then known as the Catholepistemiad. The formal name, University of Michigan, was adopted in 1821, exactly 16 years before Michigan became a recognized state by act of Congress.

In 1837 the legislature created a board of regents of the university with twenty members. Plans were laid for a new institution. Because the Ann Arbor Land company granted a site of 40 acres of cleared land, Ann Arbor was chosen for its location.

Governor Buys First Wildlife Stamps

From Theodore G. Rowley of Clare, president of Michigan United Conservation Clubs, Governor Murphy buys the first sheet of the natural color wildlife stamps that are to be sold throughout the state during Michigan's first Conservation Week, October 5 to 11. In proclaiming the special week, Van Wagoner urged use of the stamps on mail to advertise Michigan's natural attractions. Schools, service organizations and garden clubs are joining the sportsmen in selling the stamps. Sale proceeds will finance local conservation projects.

100-Year-Old Hall

When you visit the north-wing of University Hall at Ann Arbor, you will find the original Mason Hall, built in 1841 to serve not only as the classroom of the new institution but also the students' dormitories and the scientific collections of the school.

Seven students comprised the first class that met in 1841. Their two professors were the Rev. Joseph Whiting, professor of languages, and the Rev. George P. Williams, who taught mathematics. Thus mathematics, Greek and Latin made up the first curriculum, a modest start for this great state institution.

The department of literature, science and arts later became the college of literature, science and the arts—mother of the present college of engineering, graduate school, schools of education, pharmacy, business administration, music, forestry and conservation. The college will celebrate the centennial of its opening with a full day's program on October 15, featuring an address by Dr. James Rowland Angell, president emeritus of Yale university, an alumnus of Michigan, and son of James B. Angell, illustrious president of Michigan from 1871 to 1909.

First in Teaching

Michigan's progressiveness in education is also shown by the fact, also little known, that the first chair of the science and art of teaching in the United States was established at the state university in 1879. Co-education was introduced in 1870, and again the university pioneered in a custom that is observed nation-wide.

As early as 1837, when the state of Michigan came into official being, Michigan had led the nation in the establishment of free schools operated at public expense including grade or elementary schools, the academy or high school and the university. This plan was drafted by Marshall by the Rev. John D. Pierce, in collaboration with General Isaac E. Crary, first attorney of Calhoun county and representative to Congress from 1835 to 1840.

Interestingly enough, the plan was nearly wrecked by a controversy over whether or not the Bible should be used in public schools. It was finally decided that a teacher might open sessions by reading the Bible, but could not comment upon the text.

From this small beginning education in Michigan has grown until today there are eighteen colleges and universities, six teachers' colleges, eleven junior colleges, eight professional schools, twelve private schools, about 1,000 high schools, 6,800 public school districts for elementary classes and 465 parochial schools.

Well Known for Writers

Challenging the literary reputation of its sister state, Indiana, Michigan can boast of a large number of literary men and women whose writings are nationally famous.

Rex Beach and James Oliver Curwood, both native Michiganders, wrote tales of early Michigan lumbering history. Stewart Edward White, now living in California, described life in Michigan-lumber camps in "The Riverman" and "The Blazed Trail."

Harold Titus, member of the state conservation commission, lives at Traverse City. James B. Hendryx (born in Minnesota), adventure fiction writer, lives near Sutton's Bay, and Karl Detzer, another prolific writer, has a summer home near Leland. At Detroit are Edgar A. Guest and Anne Campbell, bards of the press. Arthur Pound, native of Michigan, wrote many books dealing with the state's growth. Paul de Kruif, born at Zeeland, is the author of numerous books. Other Michigan-born writers—and this fact is probably little known to our readers—include Ring Lardner, Edna Ferber, Helen Topping Miller, and Webb Miller. Carl Sandburg, Chicago poet, lives near Benton Harbor, while Ernest Hemingway spent most of his boyhood in our state. William Lyon Phelps spends his summers in the Thumb.

Industrial Mishaps

Approximately 1,400,000 persons were injured in industrial accidents during 1940 in the United States.

Needle in Back Mystery

William Stevens' doctor, in Arapahoe, Neb., is the fellow to see about looking for a needle in a haystack. The doctor pulled a sewing needle out of Stevens' back after Stevens said he had been bothered for a month by a sore spot. He had no idea how the needle got there or how long he had been carrying it around in his body.

Wondering about the 1942 cars?

Here is Buick's superb solution to the problems posed by making our national defense, as it should be, Industrial America's No. 1 job

BUICK BUILDS FOR DEFENSE

Our assignment: Building Pratt & Whitney valve-in-head aircraft engines for defense use.

IT WAS no time to duck or dodge the facts. So we didn't try.

Instead we said—these being the materials critical in the defense program, we'll do our planning for 1942 with that foremost in mind.

Not merely for an "acceptable" car—certainly not for any "ersatz" number. We bowed our necks against that.

No, we had to have a real and representative Buick. One we could be proud of. One able enough, active enough, durable enough to serve and delight its owner till that unscheduled time when annual new models are the rule again.

The world being what it is, that may be a long spell away.

Thus for our own good, too, we resolved on a 1942 automobile of such mettle and merit as could carry and cherish the Buick reputation without fault until other new Buicks, however far off, could come along to refresh it.

So went the specifications for however many or few we may build—now we're announcing the cars.

Why waste words telling you how good they are! You can't put language in the gas tank and learn either how many or how enjoyable are the miles you'll get per gallon.

There's a better answer—you drive the cars themselves.

Come on, do that! Please put your own yardstick on their quality.

It would be a shame, for you and for us, to have you miss the dreadnaught Buick we've built to stand up successfully to the toughest job in years.

KIWANIS NEWS

The Kiwanians held their regular meeting this week on Monday evening. The program of the evening consisted of group singing and an interesting talk by Rev. Ray W. Barber, who discussed the many highlights of his summer tour of the New England States. The speaker enthusiastically described the eastern cities and stated that New York and Boston were the two metropolitan areas which interested and delighted him the most. He concluded his fine discussion of this tour by mentioning that the atmosphere and traditions surrounding the eastern seaboard states were among the fondest remembrances of his tour.

Carl D. Mayer at this meeting discussed the play "Everybody's Here" which is sponsored by the Kiwanis club and which will be held on Oct. 9 and 10 in the high school gym. He mentioned that many tickets had been sold and urged all the Kiwanians to sell as many tickets as possible for the proceeds will be used for the Halloween party for the children of the vicinity this year. The speaker concluded his brief statement by urging the Kiwanians and townspeople to attend this fine production and guaranteed them more laughs than "The Womanless Wedding" which was produced here last year.

The program chairman concluded the interesting meeting by commending Tom Bust for his excellent work in managing the Community Fair which was held in Chelsea last week. Editorial

By a Senior
During the last couple of weeks residents living near the school have been complaining of the excessive honking of auto horns at noon. This fact has been brought to the attention of the faculty and the student body.

It is very annoying to the people who work at night, making it necessary to sleep during the day, to be awakened after they have had just a few hours of sleep.

The student body should remember this and try to be more considerate of other people's rights. In a few years these students may be placed in a similar situation.

Office News

There will be no school on Thursday and Friday, October 16 and 17, so that the teachers will be able to attend the Regional MEA meetings in Detroit.

The football game with Romulus is scheduled to be played in Chelsea on October 17.

The Chelsea Public Library will present a program for the grade pupils at 1:00 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 9 in the auditorium.

We are pleased to know that the local Kiwanis club is again sponsoring a Halloween party for the kiddies. The proceeds from the show "Everybody's Here" will be used to help finance the party.

Girls' Athletics

The girls are learning a new game called flag football. Eleanor Harper is captain of the Freshman-Sophomore team and Peggy Almond is captain of the Junior-Senior team. The game is played on a field like that of a football field. Each team has eleven players. The ball used is a soccer or a basketball.

The girls have not been able to play on account of bad weather.

Senior News

The next step for the seniors is to participate in the football game. They hope to win many points which their feet are very good at.

Chelsea Suffers Third Successive Defeat

For the first quarter of the game last week Chelsea was in a bad way. They were defeated by Romulus 13 to 6. This was the third successive defeat for Chelsea.

Gadd made Chelsea's lone touchdown early in the first quarter on a quarterback sneak through center but Edgar was rushed and missed the extra point. The rest of the quarter was even up with neither side threatening.

The beginning of the second quarter began to see the Chelsea forward wall weaken and Dundee cracked across for their first tally midway in this period and also made the conversion. So at halftime the score stood 7 to 6 in favor of Dundee.

Both teams came back fighting in the second half but Chelsea's line, especially the middle, seemed inadequate again and so Dundee stalled again in this quarter but they missed the conversion this time to have the score 13 to 6 at the end of the third period.

Dundee made another marker midway in the fourth quarter to make the score stand 19 to 6. And that's the way it ended.

While the boys put up a good fight they still can't seem to click but let's hope for the best.

Chelsea plays Flat Rock at 8:00 o'clock Friday night at the Flat Rock athletic field. See you at game time!

Around School

One day last week your reporter was casually strolling through the hall when she came upon a group of underclassmen who were discussing their plans for the future. Here are some of the ambitions which were overheard:

Gert Boneck, a Junior, said "she hoped someday to become an efficient secretary." Mary Christwell, who does "it" care for that sort of thing, said she was going to be a nurse. Tom Lyons, who has a flare for excitement, is going to be a parachute jumper in the Army. Donald Knoll says that he is just going to get married. Duane LeVan and Jean Foss both want to be commercial pilots.

Here the bell for first class sounded and your reporter had to leave. Some day you more about who is going to do what and why.

Band and Orchestra

On October 8 the band made its first public appearance of the year at the Dundee-Chelsea football game. The band is quite a bit smaller this year but has hopes of increasing throughout the year. Pat Richards will be signal drum and will be a permanent one is expected.

The German Band played five numbers at the Community Fair. They were newly organized this year and did very well under the leadership of Ross Laudenslager.

The String Band is very earnestly practicing their new pieces to be played at the All-Hi party on Oct. 17. The orchestra has been having section rehearsals of Thursday nights for the stringed instruments. They have no definite engagements yet, but are working very hard so they will be prepared when called upon.

Home Economics

The Home Economics club is planning an evening meeting sometime soon. This is the first social gathering of the club. The meeting will be in the form of a Halloween party instead of the regular meeting.

Home Room Activities

Each high school teacher is in charge of what is called a Home Room Group, which elects its own officers and carries on regular meetings at least twice a week. The groups discuss and try to solve some of the problems that are constantly coming up around the school. Right now they are discussing courtesy, the use of stairways, students' behavior at assemblies, and what should be done so that the students will be more likely to follow the school regulations. When the groups want a new rule or idea put in force, they present that rule or idea to the Student Council.

Chorus

The mixed chorus sang two numbers Friday night at the Community Fair program which was presented by the students of the school. The songs which they sang were: "Climb Up, Ye Children," and "Sylvia."

The people who took part in the play were: Donald Baldwin, Douglas Vogel, Helen Hochrein, Jim Miller, Patsy Mohrlock, Minnie Mae Platt, Mary Paul, Irla Scribner, Junior Nicholas, Jack Christwell, Richard Carlson and Allen Krantz. Everyone else in the class worked on a committee.

The Sixth Grade also took part in the program in the gym. In English we are making outlines.

Fifth Grade

We wrote in our Language books a story about some trip we had during our vacation. The stories were so interesting that we wrote them with ink and made a booklet of them.

In Geography we have been studying about the New England States. This week we learned about fishing, especially cod-fishing. Boston is a great fish market.

Mr. Potts and Corky is our cartoon in My Weekly Reader. We like them so much that we are making a scrap book of them.

We were studying about the Vikings in History. We made pictures of the Viking Ships.

When we get our calendars done we saw that most of our pictures were about the month September. For the fair we have gotten pictures of different birds that migrate and pictures of animals that hibernate. We have a table of reference books in which we found stories about migration and hibernation.

Fourth Grade

News Reporters are Shirley Nagy and Richard Seelye

In our room we did some soap carving to show the things of Belgian Congo. Marilyn Johnson and Shirley Nagy made a scene of Belgian Congo in the sand table. Danny Maroney and Mary Ann Schrader brought in samples of the products of corn.

We learned a courtesy poem called "Golden Keys". We made keys from yellow paper to show each one such as "Thank You" and "Please".

Third Grade

We liked the model airplanes at the Chelsea Fair. We liked the wooden dishes made from bowling pins.

Our teacher is reading us a story about some Indian twins. The book tells a lot of interesting things about the Indians.

TO PLANT ROOSEVELT TREE

Boy Scouts all over America will commemorate the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt during the latter part of October, in various ways. It is expected that approximately ten thousand scouts will journey to Oyster Bay, N. Y. to participate in the 22nd Annual Roosevelt Pilgrimage on October 18.

On the same day many troops from the Washtenaw-Livingston Boy Scout Council will participate in the planting of a memorial Roosevelt tree at Camp Newkirk near Dexter. The ceremony will be held at 3 p.m. All scouts, parents, and the general public are invited. O. E. Roszel, chairman of the camping committee of the council, will preside. It is expected that Fielding H. Yost, scout commissioner, will take part in the ceremony.

Planting of the memorial tree will be a part of an all day program of tree planting and transplanting. Many troops anticipate arriving at camp Friday night and spending the weekend there.

Automobile fatalities for the first six months of this year show an increase of 17 per cent over the first half of last year.

Automobile injuries also show a marked increase, and the figures are still going up.

This increase has a marked effect on production in all operations, and on national defense. We should all be alert to this program and contribute our part to the defense program by driving carefully.

Courtesy in driving produces wonderful results and pays big dividends. You will feel better at the end of the day for any courtesy you have rendered as a safe driver. It's smart to be careful.

BRIGHTON—Donald G. Leith, fruit dealer for this vicinity, brought to the Argus office this past week an apple of the Fallwater variety, weight one pound and five ounces. The apple was grown in Don's 40 acre orchard at Stanton. Incidentally, he has converted his barn here into a model, frost proof, apple storage plant, which is also air cooled in addition to ice and fan. It has a capacity of 5,000 bushels, and Don already has 2,000 bushels of apples in storage.—Argus.

Three rules are suggested for proper use of the crop.

Rule one advises buying the variety of apple that suits the need.

Rule two says, use little or no water in cooking because the apple itself is 80 per cent water.

Rule three advises no overcooking, which means close watching of the apples as they cook on top of the stove or in the oven.

Many Apples Picked Before Wind Strikes

Michigan's reception recently for the winds which arrived in the state from the southern hurricane did not include a warm welcome from fruit growers. Yet most commercial orchards escaped serious losses, because the harvest was well under way.

Food price increases, home economics specialists at Michigan State College point out, indicate the value of housewives utilizing the state's apple crop in many ways than usual.

There's apple sauce served fresh or canned for winter use. There's pie upside down cake, dumplings, salads, mixed fruit desserts, jelly and apple butter—all made with suitable varieties of the Michigan apple crop.

"A good cook, if she wanted to, could use a barrelful of apples and never repeat a recipe," say the college home economists.

Apples now rate second only to citrus fruits in size of American fruit crops. Michigan and nearly all other states produce large enough crops to rate as commercial apple states. Farm orchards kept principally for household use, add to the size of the crop.

Food value lends justification to the production. Vitamins and minerals are present in small amounts. Best method of getting all the food value from an apple is to eat it raw, including the peel. Even in a salad or a fruit cup, the peel adds to the food value.

Rule one advises buying the variety of apple that suits the need.

Rule two says, use little or no water in cooking because the apple itself is 80 per cent water.

Rule three advises no overcooking, which means close watching of the apples as they cook on top of the stove or in the oven.

Rural Children Discard Traditional Lunchbox

Those familiar-looking tin dinner pails swinging from the arms of boys and girls headed for rural schools are going out of style in many Michigan communities.

In place of the traditional lunchbox is the hot school lunch, more popular than ever this fall, comment members of the home economics extension service at Michigan State College.

Since 1939, millions of undernourished children have been added to those receiving school lunches, thanks to surplus farm foods made available for that use.

This year, the Surplus Marketing Administration of the U. S. Department of Agriculture expects the school lunch program to reach nearly five million American children. Almost as many more "eligible" children can be served, if more communities provide the sponsorship for such projects.

However, no matter who oversees the school lunch or how it is financed, it should be well-balanced to do the most good, say home economists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Ideally, the menu includes one nourishing main dish, a glass or two of milk, fruit or vegetable in some form, bread and butter or a sandwich, and a simple dessert.

On this one theme there may be a thousand variations. The menu varies according to the food value of the main dish and the cooking equipment and other facilities on hand. Most ambitious school lunches are built around a substantial main dish—with the rest of the meal of lighter foods. Or a lighter main dish such as salad, cooked vegetable, or vegetable soup is served in combination with other heavier foods to support it.

New Bridge Signs Are Being Erected In State

Lansing—New bridge signs carrying gross load and axle load limits are now being erected on many trunk-line highways throughout the state, it was announced by State Highway Commissioner S. Donald Kennedy.

Kennedy explained the action was taken following surveys of all bridges on the trunkline system which revealed that certain bridges required load limit postings.

"The new signs," Kennedy said, "will also be used to replace the type formerly used to provide standard signs at all bridges."

In place of the present variations, the Commissioner said, there will be six standard signs, as follows:

One will carry information regarding axle load, one for gross load limits and one for axle load and gross load limits. The remainder will bear legends for the different types of carriers, such as the one unit box or truck; the two unit truck and trailer; or tractor and trailer, and the three unit tractor, semi-trailer or trailer.

Kennedy also stated that the new postings will prove a greater safety measure than those previously used.

Said he:

"Since they will have greater legibility than the old signs, the driver of a particular unit will have to read only the sign pertaining to his unit, rather than a number of signs as formerly. Also, since the size of the signs and lettering is standardized, and painted black on a white background, the glance legibility is greater, thus saving drivers time in reading, which in turn increases safety on the roadway."

NORTHVILLE—8 Grand Trunk railroad section crew employees were injured last Monday when the maintenance car on which they were riding was struck by an automobile driven by John Virley of route 3, Milford. The accident occurred at the Wixom crossing, where according to authorities, Virley failed to see the approaching rail car and struck it broadside. Record.

Good Wall Finish

A good wall finish to use in an attic that is being made over into a bedroom is the use of a fiberboard insulating material for this purpose. It will make the room more comfortable as it will be insulated against heat and cold, and it will also make an attractive finish as it can be used in its natural color and is available in pastel shades that will form harmonious backgrounds for any type of interior decoration. It can be used on walls and ceilings.

ISOLATION?

By Ruth Taylor

Surf breaking on a sandy beach, crashing on granite rocks, surging against lonely reefs—this nearly 5000 miles of coastline has been our bulwark against hostile forces for generations. The encircling ocean is at one time our greatest defense and our greatest weakness. We have counted on it for protection too long, lulled by our remembrance of the cost of its early conquest.

We have forgotten that what was once hazardous wastes of water are now orderly lanes of travel. Gradually through the use of faster ships and greater power, we have cut down the isolation value of the seas. Though we have used this to good ends, each burst of speed has lessened the protection of our shores.

We cannot properly police and safeguard these many miles with the equipment we have today. We can build the ships and train the men to guard them, but it will take time. Our coastline is not a succession of well policed harbors, but of narrow bays and inlets into which boats may run if their bases are near enough.

Furthermore, we have not conquered the air above the seas. We are not an isolated nation. Through the air wings the magic of the international telephone linking speech to speech, nation to nation; whether they will or not. In Rome, in happier days, one could see the statue symbolic of this—the world shrunken and enclosed in the clasped hands of folk of many races, touching each other through the medium of speech.

Regularly, magic clipper ships race the sun around the world, soaring above the hungry waves, and bearing their cargo of people as easily as they could carry their weight of bombs.

Even more menacing, hour by hour, moment by moment, across the ether waves comes the magic voice of radio, preaching, teaching, stating, propagandizing, with the hope of dropping the seeds into the minds of impressionable people.

What are the miles of ocean in the face of this onslaught? We are not apart from the world but a part of it. There is no longer isolation for us. Let us not be blind! Let us wake to our danger and face the facts with unshaken morale and high courage. It is not too late—but we must wake and act!

ALL THAT NIGHT OF ALL
DARK NIGHTS...AND THEN A LIGHT—A LIGHT

—From wood-cut of an old painting.

SYMBOLIC of our own dark nights and the light of day for which all humanity hopes, is the painting shown here and the lines quoted from Joaquin Miller's famous poem about Columbus.

That was a dark night—before the sight of land and the great discovery that the world need not be the narrow, pinched, uninspired thing it had been thought to be. "Pale and wan," Columbus was on deck and "peered through darkness." It took a long time for the light to break through. There were harrowing hours. There were moments of doubt and despair before October 12, 1492 dawned—four hundred and forty-nine years ago.

"And then a light—a light." Even as now we pray for it. When it came after that fearful night for Columbus, "it grew to be time's burst of dawn," and he gained a world! No darkness but what has its dawn—whether in 1492 or in our own times.

Question And Answer Dept.

Problem—If a man can finish a certain job in exactly three days, while it takes his son six days to do the same job, how long will it take both of them to do it if they work together? (Answer elsewhere in this department.)

Ques.—Where is Somaliland which we read about in the war news?

Ans.—Somaliland is an extensive region in East Africa, extending from the Gulf of Aden to British East Africa, and from the Indian ocean to Ethiopia. The area is about 115,000 square miles, and has been under control of the Italians. At the present time the British have captured most if not all of this region.

Ques.—Who was the designer of the Statue of Liberty?

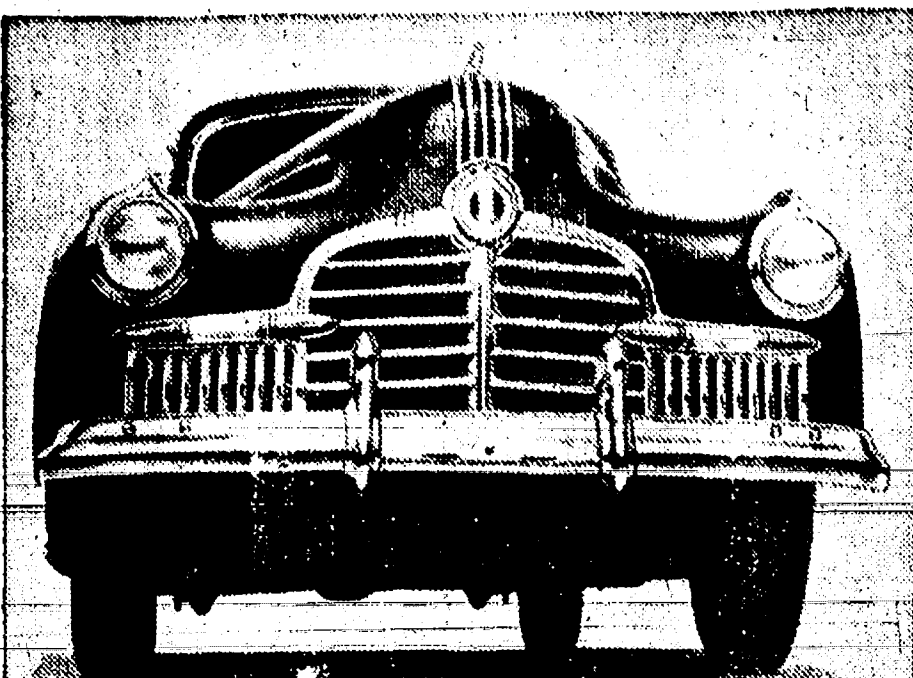

Ans.—The designer of the Statue of Liberty was Frederic Bartholdi, an Italian.

Ques.—Will you kindly answer in your good paper what is the meaning of the word "cartography"?

Ans.—"Cartography" is the science of making maps.

Ques.—I would like to know who it was that built the Hanging Gardens of Babylon? Thank you.

The Pontiac For 1942

From the front the 1942 Pontiac Torpedo models look inches wider although the width has been scarcely increased. The greater mass effect has been produced by making bumpers four inches wider; spacing headlights ten inches farther apart; redesigning the radiator grille and making it nine inches wider; by longer horizontal parking lights and by broadening the nose of the hood two inches on the De Luxe and three inches on the Streamliner.

Ans.—Nebuchadnezzar. He did this as an amusement to his wife who was distraught with the aridity of the country and was pining for fertility and beautiful landscape.

Ques.—What is a sonnet?

Ans.—A sonnet is a poetic composition which consists of fourteen rhymed verses, written according to a clearly defined plan. The writers of sonnets are numerous in Europe, but only a few Americans have ever written in this style.

Ques.—Who was Bayard Taylor? And when and where was he born?

Ans.—Bayard Taylor was an author and traveler, born in Kennet Square, Pa., Jan. 11, 1825. He was the son of a farmer. At the age of 17 he became apprenticed to a printer at West Chester, Pa. While there he developed remarkable talent as a newspaper writer, his works appearing regularly in the Saturday Evening Post. In 1856 he was employed by Horace Greely as an editorial writer on the New York Tribune. He traveled extensively all over the world, writing as he traveled. He died in Berlin, Germany, Dec. 19, 1878.

Answer to problem: Two days to finish the job working together.

Ques.—Who discovered gunpowder? Also who invented the airplane?

Ans.—Gunpowder was discovered by a Chinaman (name not available); and the airplane was invented by the Wright brothers of Dayton, Ohio.

Ques.—What is meant by a "pig in a poke?"

Ans.—This expression means that it is something which has not been seen or whose true value is unknown.

When a woman buys a motor car, she is far more critical than a man of the car's interior. Not only does the woman automobile buyer demand beauty and durability in the upholstery fabrics, she also insists on material that will be easy on the clothes and easy to clean.

Navy Ships

Fourteen new ships were launched in "Liberty Fleet Day" ceremonies held at shipyards on Saturday, Sept. 27, at Baltimore, Md.; Los Angeles, Calif.; Richmond, Calif.; Portland, Ore.; Quincy, Mass.; Chesford, Pa.; Kearny, N. J.; Pascagoula, Miss.; Seattle, Wash.; and Wilmington, Del. The Navy announced launching of the battleship Massachusetts; three minesweepers—Summit, Guide, and Ideal; and the submarine chaser PC515.

Aid to Britain, Russia

The Navy Department announced 15 British and Free French warships currently in United States ports, and said 12 others already have left U. S. ports where they had put in for repairs or supplies. The War Department said 50 officers and enlisted men of the British armored corps are studying American methods at the Army Armored Force School at Fort Knox, Ky. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau announced the Soviet Government has already repaid in gold "a little more than half" of the $10,000,000 advanced by the U. S. Treasury to Russia in August.

Production

Assistant Attorney General Arnold, speaking at Yosemite, Calif., said "there is not an organized basic industry in the U. S. which has not been restricting production . . . to avoid what they fear may be ruinous overproduction after the war. . . . They have concealed shortages by over-optimistic predictions about supplies."

Mr. Arnold also said "a few strategically located labor unions" were costing the American consumer one billion dollars a year through labor restrictions on production by strikes and boycotts for illegitimate purposes, pricefixing, restricting labor-saving devices, elimination of small competitors and owner operators and "tying up huge industries" in the struggle to determine which of two unions shall dominate the field."

Small Business

Director Odlum of the OPM Contract Distribution Division announced between 100 and 200 offices to help small shops and businessmen get defense work will be opened soon. Already scheduled are offices in Hartford, Conn.; Providence, R. I.; Dayton; Youngstown; and Columbus, O.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Rochester and Albany, N. Y.; Portland, Me.; Springfield, Ill.; Springfield, Mass.; Trenton, N. J.; Wichita, Kan.; and Spokane, Wash. Existing offices at Harrisburg, Wilkes-Barre and Allentown, Pa., will be enlarged and the present 39 offices of the abolished Defense Contract Service will continue to operate, he said.

Mr. Odlum asked 50 major defense contractors to appoint "farming out" directors to cooperate in spreading defense work among smaller firms. He also announced defense contracts with five aluminum war companies forced to abandon civilian production by shortages and priorities. Contracts such as these to avoid "community hardship" can be negotiated up to 15 per cent above minimum prices; performance bonds can be waived and bid splits allowed to enable pools of small firms to obtain contracts for "bits and pieces."

Agriculture

Agriculture Secretary Wickard told Northeastern farm leaders and agricultural workers Britain will need between now and June 30, 1942, cheese, evaporated milk and dried skim milk that will require processing of more than 4 1/2 billion pounds of milk; a billion and a half pounds of pork and lard; about 500 million dozen eggs; 18 million pounds of poultry meat, and quantities of tobacco, vitamin-rich fruits and vegetables. He said the British need a minimum of $1,000,000,000 in food between now and February 28, 1942.

SPAI announced special attention will be given provision of equipment necessary for expanding dairy production to meet domestic and British requirements. The Agriculture Department said total income from farm marketings will reach $10,000,000,000 in 1941.

Army Preparedness Status

Assistant War Secretary McCloy, speaking in Jackson, Mich., said the U. S. has an army and an air force "in the sense that one is in process of production. . . . Some of its elements are prepared to meet any foe."

Yet that army is just becoming an army."

He said the army has its full amount of the fundamental weapons—rifles, bayonets, machine guns, artillery, grenades—but does not have its full equipment of light and medium tanks, anti-tank and anti-aircraft weapons. He said there is sufficient equipment for training but heavy production will not come until this winter or next spring. He said the Army has much to learn about the tank-plane and anti-tank-plane combinations and "we still have a long way to go in our coordination between air and the ground but we are beginning in earnest in Louisiana now."

He said plane production "at this time is still not satisfactory as a result of shortages in manufacturing facilities and essential raw materials but it is coming up." He said several U. S. planes far exceed any others in the world.

CHILDREN FAVOR BUYING OF DEFENSE SAVINGS BONDS
Washington, D. C.—If given $100 "all his own", one out of every three youngsters in the United States would invest the entire amount in United States Defense Savings Bonds, results of a nation-wide poll just made public indicate.

William T. Reed, Chicago manufacturer, informed the Treasury that ten thousand children between the ages of eight and thirteen were included in the poll conducted by his organization with the cooperation of the Y. M. C. A. and other groups sponsoring summer camps. Children from families of all income groups were included in the poll.

Thirty-five per cent of the boys and twenty-eight per cent of the girls, representing thirty-three per cent of all children in the poll said they would invest the $100 in Defense Bonds. Forty-seven per cent said they would put the money in the bank, one per cent would buy toys, seven per cent would purchase clothing, and two per cent would take "special lessons."

RUSSIA:

Adding Machines

While Berlin had been making its adding machines ring out to them joyous accounting of the utter Soviet collapse of resistance to the south, asserting that 685,000 prisoners had been taken, and "some 300,000" had been slain, the Russians still painted a different picture.

Berlin had announced that "Russia has been all but knocked out of the war and the real turning point has come."

At the same time Russia had reported a sort of "inland Dunkerque" on the southern front, claiming that Marshal Semeon Budenny had succeeded in withdrawing considerable of his army, and that of 15 Russian divisions admittedly trapped in the Kiev battle, 10 divisions had escaped, and the other five "were in a position to give a good account of themselves."

Two towns had been named by the Russians as the critical points, one Achtyrka, and the other Kontstantinograd, where Marshal Timoshenko had been reported as attempting to separate the German forces to permit trapped troops to escape.

Two of the divisions the Russian communicate dated the same as the German had said, had completed their junction with the Timoshenko forces "only that morning."

The Russians admitted the Crimea was cut off from the mainland, but asserted that defense lines had been holding firm both from frontal attacks and from an air-borne invasion from the rear.

In fact the Russians claimed that the positions of her troops in the Crimea and at Odessa constituted a menace to the German right wing which the Nazis were fighting desperately to remove.

The Germans listed, in addition to the Kiev-southern successes, which they had maintained were complete and in the mopping up stage, drastic defeats of Russian naval forces, the "dorming" of Leningrad, and that it was "too late" for effective aid from the United States or Britain.

North American and British help for Russia, said the German state, ignoring the reports of British planes actually on the front and fighting, "is on paper and will stay there if Russia must depend on transport through Iran and through Arctic seas, or through Siberia."

OIL NEED:

Seen by Reds

The Soviet, declaring that the advent of heavy snows will be a death blow to Nazi hopes of quick victory, pointed to the all-out German drive toward the Caucasus as a sure sign that Germany needs oil to win the war.

The Moscow News had published an article saying, in part:

"It is only on the east front that winter plays a big part, and on the west front, where Hitler has unsolved problems, the need of oil is terrific."

"He is playing for big stakes in this furious drive toward the Caucasian oil fields."

"Effective action east and west is essential to foil Hitler's attempt to keep his war machine going."

The paper further stated that Germany had used up two-thirds of her oil reserves in the war against Russia.

ITALY:

Italy, according to reports both from Rome and from Alexandria, showing both sides of the picture, had been suffering heavily in late weeks of the war.

It was a "black" sea-month for Italian vessels, said the British African command, claiming that sinkings had totaled more than 200,000 tons, that four liners of more than 20,000 tons each, and each of them capable of carrying 5,000 German troops to Africa, had been put out of commission.

UNREST:

Spreading

Reports of unrest in Italy succeeded to stories of uprisings in most of the occupied countries of Europe, and the latest dispatches along this line came from the London radio describing conditions in Czechoslovakia, second of Europe's countries to be taken over by the Nazis.

It had been announced that Reinhardt Heydrich, former chief of police in Berlin, had been placed in charge of the protectorate of the Czechs, succeeding Baron Von Neurath.

Reports were, it had been stated, that there had been mysterious breakdowns in factories, explosions in munitions plants, train derailments, and that friction between Czechs and the German authorities was becoming "open."

Heydrich, London reported, would immediately set up courts martial with power to mete out death sentences for anti-Nazi activities.

Berlin sources reported an attempted revolt by part of the army in Czechoslovakia had been uncovered and at least 24 persons executed for their part in it.

At the same time Berlin declared that two residents of Germany itself had been condemned to death for listening to foreign radio stations, the first capital penalties exacted for this crime.

Also it had been reported that 22 more executions in occupied countries had been carried out.

A Brussels paper had reported 20 of these in connection with the belief by the authorities that Communists had stolen explosives from a storage place in northern France, and had used them to attack French trains and German army transport trucks.

One of the Germans sentenced for radio listening had been publishing pamphlets against Hitler, it was said, while the other was a Polish woman working for a German doctor. She was accused of using her employer's radio for her nefarious and illegal listening.

PROFITS:

And Patriotism

Profits-of-restriction of them, had been linked to patriotic war efforts by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau in a proposal for a bill for a profit ceiling of 6 per cent on invested capital.

This had received a warm reception in certain capital circles, and not so warm in others. Senator George of Georgia, head of the senate finance committee, bitterly attacked the proposal on the ground that it would "result in incalculable hardship to legitimate business, would disrupt defense production and crush and kill small business."

He urged congress to "let the ink dry" on the $3,500,000,000 tax bill before entering into another, larger revenue producer on a basis to take all of the profits of business save 6 per cent.

Most senators and representatives had been slow to comment, contenting themselves with saying they'd like to "think it over," and to "know more about it." It was when the word had gone out that Morgenthau had been drawing up such a bill, and when senators began to believe that it must have White House approval that Senator George launched his attack.
