HALLOWEEN PARTY FOR YOUNG PEOPLE WILL BE HELD FRIDAY

Chelsea Remains Intact!

(An Editorial)

Within the past week some metropolitan and nearby daily newspapers have seen fit to carry feature articles dealing with Chelsea's plight. In regard to the influx of Kentuckians to this community which no doubt would seem to anyone not familiar with the situation that our fair village has been taken over by southerners in a manner comparable to the occupation of Paris by Hitler and his legions.

In tracing the origin of these articles which are an insult to the community of Chelsea and its environs, it seems that the village was first started when two sociology students from the University of Michigan came here last week to collect material for their studies. They evidently overheard some remark about town that there were some Kentuckians in the vicinity and decided to play up that part of our community life. Then the story came out in print and the "graveyard" of the village was by leaps and bounds.

We are not disputing the statement that there are a number of Kentuckians here. There are also people in this vicinity who hail from many other states in the Union and a number from foreign countries. The point we wish to make, and emphatically so, is that Kentuckians nor any other group have infested the town to such an extent that it has caused any grave problems, and no great amount of concern to village officials.

Very little reasoning is necessary on the part of anyone to know that industrial prosperity in any town or section will result in an influx of itinerant jobseekers. Chelsea has enjoyed the same industrial acceleration that is being experienced by thousands of communities throughout the country and naturally many people from outside have come here seeking employment which they had heard existed. Some of them have been hired in local factories but countless numbers have been turned away and have proceeded to other industrial centers.

No fire or sanitation problems are being caused by the flocking in of itinerant seeking employment, and very few incidents have happened to worry our police force. Increased industrial activity has caused village authorities to take action to increase water supply, to seek a federal grant for improvement of the sewage disposal plant, and to cause anxiety in regard to fire protection which may necessitate the purchase of new firefighting equipment—but it is to be understood that this condition has not been forced upon the village by Kentuckians.

To the outside world Chelsea's latest communique again emphatically states that she is still in the hands of the "regular army" and that not even women and children have been evacuated—our churches and schools are carrying on as usual, and business is being conducted in a normal manner.

Past Presidents of Auxiliary Organize

The Past Presidents of Herbert J. McKune Unit No. 31, the American Legion Auxiliary, were entertained by Mrs. John Bird at a one o'clock luncheon on Thursday at Marilyn Inn.

Covers were laid for Mesdames A. L. Brock, J. Eisele, W. M. Hinderer, P. C. Maroney, E. Mayer, J. O'Hara and S. W. Schenk, past presidents, and Mrs. John Bird, the second district, who was the honor guest.

The purpose of the assembly was to organize a past presidents' club, and following the luncheon Mrs. Kopka spoke briefly concerning membership, and cooperation which is so essential for any type of club or organization.

Mrs. Bird then placed in nomination for president of the new club Mrs. Brock who also served as first president of the unit in 1933-34. She was unanimously elected. Other officers chosen were: Mrs. O'Hara, vice-president, and Mrs. Hinderer, secretary-treasurer.

Plans were made for the next meeting, which will be held in January.

SYLVAN HOME EC. CLUB

The Sylvan Home Economics club met with Mrs. Walter Gardner, at Francisco, for re-organization. Officers elected are as follows: President—Mrs. Frank Gieske and Mrs. Walter Gardner. Chairman—Mrs. Kenneth Proctor. Sec. Treas.—Mrs. T. G. Riemen-schneider. Recreation Leader—Mrs. Clifford Wolfe.

The second meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. T. G. Riemen-schneider on Friday afternoon, October 31, at 1:30 o'clock. Anyone caring to join the group should attend this meeting.

Children and young people of Chelsea and vicinity are invited to participate in the third annual Halloween party to be sponsored by the Kiwanis club, which will be held at the public school on Friday evening of this week.

The evening's festivities will start at 7:30 with a parade of the youngsters in costume. The parade will be led by the high school band and the Cassidy Lake clown band, and any organized groups, such as Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, etc. are invited to take part in the event.

All who plan to march in the parade are asked to assemble at the school not later than 7:15. Judging of the costumes will take place in the gymnasium before the parade starts, as it is believed this procedure will make the task much easier for the judges. Following the judging, noise-makers will be distributed to the children and the parade will start. The line of march will be south from the school to Orchard street, west to Main, south to Summit, west to Congdon, north to South, east to Main, north to Middle, east to East street, and south to the school.

There will be a huge bonfire on the school grounds and the Kiwanians will be there to serve sweet cider and donuts, following which the children will again assemble in the gym for an interesting program which will consist of acts by a tumbling team from the University of Michigan, awarding of prizes for costumes, and several reels of comedies to be shown by Walter Harper.

Following the program in the auditorium it is requested that all children and young people go directly to their homes rather than take part in any Halloween pranks. This project was originated with the idea of keeping children off the streets on Halloween night and its continuance will depend upon the behavior of those who benefit from the efforts of the sponsors.

Prize Classification Changed

A change has been announced in the manner in which classifications for prizes will be made. There will be a first and second prize for both girls and boys for the spookiest, most original and funniest of costumes. First prize in each classification will be $1.00 in Defense Stamps, and second prize will be 50c in Defense Stamps.

Chelsea Library Will Observe Book Week

Next week, November 3 to 7 inclusive, is National Book Week. During this week all the libraries and schools throughout the country conduct special programs and activities to impress upon the minds of adults and children the importance of books in the lives of people. The theme for Book Week this year is "Forward With Books."

The Chelsea Public Library has also scheduled a week of events to impress the importance of books to the citizens of Chelsea. The library will be on special exhibition all week during the afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock. Everyone, especially those not familiar with the library, are invited to visit during the week and become acquainted with the fine institution Chelsea and community now has. There will be various exhibits, including an exhibit of new books for children and adults which will go into circulation Monday, Nov. 10. There will also be an exhibit of a Loan Collection of Books for Boys and Girls of the Children's Fund of Michigan.

Special programs are being planned for Wednesday, Nov. 5. In the afternoon Miss Edith Thomas, Director of Library and Family Life, University of Michigan, will speak to the public school children in the library. At 2:15 grades one to four inclusive will gather at the library to hear Miss Thomas and at 3:40 grades five to eight will have the pleasure of hearing her.

Miss Thomas will speak again at a public meeting for the adults in the evening at 8 o'clock, at which time she will review books of current interest. A very cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend this evening meeting.

The library feels especially honored to have Miss Thomas for these meetings to contribute to a successful Book Week, and it is hoped the public will avail themselves of this fine opportunity.

Portion of Waterloo Area Open to Hunters

Six thousand acres on the south and east side of the Waterloo project were opened to hunters on Tuesday, for the first time since the land became a part of the national park system five years ago.

Conservation authorities in Lansing received notice from the national park service on Friday that this area, which is classed by veteran hunters as the richest for small game hunting in this region, will be open for the rest of the hunting season.

A large map showing the hunting area has been placed in conservation headquarters, and Hugh Lamley, in charge of the Waterloo project, advises hunters unfamiliar with the area to drop in at the office and make sure of the territory before starting to hunt.

Antlerless Deer Hunters Will Be Selected Nov. 4

Lansing—Hunters who want a chance to participate in Michigan's first antlerless deer season have just a few days to place their names in the lottery from which the conservation department will draw a list of 500 eligibles November 4. In fixing regulations for the special firearms season, December 1-10 on 20,000 acres in central Allegan county, the conservation commission limited the 500 to residents of Michigan.

Application blanks, available now at conservation department district and regional headquarters, the Allegan wildlife experiment station and at Lansing, must be sent to Lansing with the license fee and postmarked not later than October 31. Licenses and permits for the 500 lottery winners will be mailed by Nov. 10.

Issuance of a permit will not bar the hunter from hunting in northern Michigan during the regular season November 15-30, but he will be ineligible for the Allegan hunt if he fills his license in the north. At a checking station in Dunningville, north of Allegan, hunters must present their permits for stamping before hunting and return there with their kills for attaching of special seals. In the December season, killing of bucks will not be permitted.

In the bow and arrow season Nov. 1-14, archers in Allegan county may take deer of either sex, while archers in the north may take only bucks on individual licenses. During the regular deer season the Allegan area will be closed. The herd to be hunted in the posted area in Allegan county numbers about 500 deer, grown from a score introduced eight years ago for their aesthetic value into a nuisance for farmers.

Necessary conservation commission action to hold the Allegan deer season, authorized in game laws recently given immediate effect by the Legislature, was taken at a special meeting at St. Ignace. At the same meeting it also acted to maintain the same status for bears, skunks, mink and other that prevailed before other immediate effect measures gave the department discretionary control over these species. Taking advantage of still another provision, the commission opened 2,000 acres of Hartwick Pines state park and 1,000 acres of Wilder-ness state park to hunting and trapping.

The commission also added 680 acres in Goodwell and Big Prairie townships, Newaygo county, to the 68,000 acres in 12 counties of which the state-owned oil and gas lease rights will be auctioned November 6 and 7 in one of the largest of such sales that the conservation department has ever held.

Sharon Woman Killed In Two-Car Collision

Mrs. Harry Lenox of Sharon township was fatally injured and her husband and four soldiers from Fort Custer were hurt in a two-car automobile collision on US-12 five miles west of Chelsea at 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

All were taken to St. Joseph's Mercy hospital, Ann Arbor, where Mrs. Lenox died at 6:30, as the result of head injuries. Her husband, driver of the car in which she was riding, also suffered head injuries and the Fort Custer soldiers, Glenn G. Geoffroy, Beecher D. Workman, Alfred Justice and Earl Richardson, received minor cuts and abrasions. They were released after treatment at the hospital. Two other soldiers in the car which was driven by Mr. Geoffroy, were unhurt.

Officers were told that Mr. Lenox had driven out of a gasoline station and was traveling south on a side road across US-12 when Mr. Geoffroy's car, which the Lenox car was following, was demolished and the Lenox car was badly damaged.

RESERVE MALLEET MEETS HERE

The former members of the Reserve Mallet—a group of American soldiers who served in the French army during the World war—held a get-together Sunday at the Legion home, Cavanaugh lake. Of this organization, Elmer Mayer and Paul Maroney are the only members from this vicinity, but about 70 representatives, with their wives and families, were in attendance from the lower part of the state. An enjoyable afternoon was spent in renewing old acquaintances.

NUTRITION IS STRESSED IN "FOOD FOR FREEDOM" DRIVE

Nutrition—or better diets for a stronger people—has become one of the most important sectors of the "Food for Freedom" campaign of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to Miss Frieda Huggert, Home Management Supervisor of Washtenaw county for the Farm Security Administration.

With a nutrition unit organized, or to be organized, in every county in the nation, the Farm Security Administration is pledged to take part in the program, and will work in Washtenaw county in cooperation with other agencies.

"Every effort will be made," said Miss Huggert, "to enrich the diets of the low-income families on our program. Although this campaign has become a national movement, we feel that a special obligation rests upon the Farm Security Administration."

Contrary to the general opinion that rural families have better diets than other families, studies show that this is not the case. An alarming number of rural youth are found to be unfit for military service because of dietary deficiencies.

Farm Security's garden program is right in line with the 1942 production goals set by the Department of Agriculture, Miss Huggert continued, "and we will continue to place emphasis not only on the quantity of garden products but on the variety as well. Garden seed bought cooperatively by FSA borrowers in many counties last year helped increase the amount of vegetables raised, canned and stored. The plan also helped put variety in diets by introducing new vegetables in gardens. Most FSA borrowers now have a year around supply of canned goods."

Miss Huggert said that FSA will work to see that diets of FSA families measure up to the nutritional "Gold Standard," which includes: One pint of milk a day for an adult and one quart for a child; a serving of meat; one egg; two vegetables, one of which should be green or yellow; two fruits, one of which shall be rich in Vitamin C, which is found abundantly in citrus fruits and tomatoes; some butter; breads, flour and cereal, most preferably all whole wheat grain or enriched.

A LETTER TO. Chelsea from Miami, Florida

We have driven down to Florida through the extravagant beauty of an American autumn. We are like a gust of appreciative wind whipping the leaves to a custom excitement along the roads of Ohio, West Virginia, the Carolinas, Georgia. When we reach Jacksonville, the ocean—the Atlantic Ocean—which we have never seen before—is bluer than blue.

And I reflect once again as we devour over a thousand miles of the brawn and richness of our mighty America—why must Americans be so forgetful of their own good fortune that few of them can understand the terrible longing of other peoples for a comparable share of the world's wealth?

On the way down Katy and I were suddenly overcome by a tremendous sense of responsibility. It sneaked up behind us and fairly beat us over the heads. We are traveling eighteen thousand miles for thousands of people we have never known intimately—and yet we must inform them, interest them, and amuse them for an entire year! We must answer their questions, bring an occasional smile to their faces, help them to escape the tragedy of current events, and act as their personal emissaries to foreign nations.

For a year we must obey their desires—and not our own—where they would go, see what they would see.

We have contracted for a year of our lives. And believe me, no two young people ever entered into a contract with more seriousness of intent, more definite of purpose.

Speaking of a year, I wish you could have seen Katy's face when I informed her that she would be allowed to carry one suitcase. It was frightful. After a period of discussion and debate, guided, of course, by strict parliamentary procedure, she capitulated.

She is taking an evening gown, two play suits with sport shoes to match, a seasickness remedy, a skirt and sweater outfit, and several afternoon dresses—plus all the paraphernalia necessary or unnecessary to a woman's appearance. "What?" I asked her, "no sarong?" The ensuing silence meant that I could go to South America or even warmer climes.

Into my Gladstone I have compressed a light and dark flannel suit, two slacks, a stock of shaving cream, and an exquisite beachcombing ensemble.

We expect to arrive in Rio de Janeiro, the capital of Brazil, the first part of December. And in Brazil our "laboratory" method of investigation will receive its first test. Immediately after leaving ship we shall proceed by rail to a small town some fifty or one hundred miles in the interior. There we shall establish a residence, making ourselves an integral part of that community for a period of at least one month. We shall come to know as many people—business men, farmers, professional men, teachers, housewives—as intimately as possible.

That small town will be our Brazilian laboratory. It will furnish the background for our answers to the question: "How do most Brazilians think, feel, and live in comparison with most of us?"

I can think of no better place to study the people of any country than a small town. For there is to be found the backbone of a nation's population.

Naturally, a majority of the questions asked me in Chelsea before we left will apply particularly to the major republics of South and Central America.

For example, A. D. Mayer asked: "What are the average labor conditions in South America?" This is an excellent query, but I shall not have the first detailed reply until we have settled in our Brazilian "laboratory."

In the meantime, the next two months will be fully occupied following the trade winds through the Caribbean. We will touch at Havana, Haiti, Puerto Rico, Antigua, Dominica, and Barbados, and will undoubtedly spend some time on Martinique and Trinidad.

Miami does not interest us to any great extent. It is like a great bee-hive, busily preparing itself for the swarm which will infect it during the winter. We are drawn inexorably and at once to the beach. We strain our eyes toward the horizon, trying to look past the point where the blue Atlantic ends, where the purple Caribbean begins.

Do you know that out there, just a few hundred miles out, lie green islands with pink cities and white sands? That stars hang very low for the picking, that small trading schooners plot their iridescent courses through the night by the Southern Cross friendly in the skies? That peace and forgetfulness are everywhere about you—and that all these things are yours for but the opening and closing of your eyes?

Until now it has all been a preparation, a pouring out of energy, a restlessness. And now there is to be an actual beginning, a departure to a foreign land, a sailing—a wave-of-the-hand.

Probably nothing we shall witness or participate in during the next twelve months will thrill us more than the simple sailing of our ship from Miami to Havana tomorrow.

Come with us! For your companionship will make the thrill more thrilling, the year more wonderful. It will be the greatest year of all our lives—so come with us!

Only Yesterday---And What of Today?

Where only yesterday there was ample merchandise in all lines—today the talk is all a condition of scarcity in raw materials, in finished products.

Where, only yesterday, manufacturers were devoting their production efforts to making things that Mr. and Mrs. American use and buy every day—today they are working for Uncle Sam, helping to build a strength that none can surpass, nor equal.

We are prepared for the conditions facing us today. Now, when our customers need us most, we stand ready, as never before, to serve.
 Now, despite rapid price increases in all lines, we are still maintaining lowest prices that good merchandise can be bought for anywhere, of anybody, any place.

Remember it always pays to visit Foster's at Grass Lake when in need of good furniture.

Our store remains open evenings, Wednesday and Saturday.

LANSING—Conflicting economic forces are now converging on non-metropolitan cities and towns of Michigan.

Their movement has been accelerated by the deterioration of the Russian military front and a consequent realization of American leaders of the enormity of the production job facing the United States.

Like armies in head-on conflict, some of today's economic forces are positive; others are negative, in their ultimate effect.

An over-all picture of what is happening on Main Street today may be put together in a jigsaw fashion, from the segments which are at hand. While the picture is not complete, the focus is clear enough to justify comment.

Shortage of Supplies

One negative economic force that threatens the life of small towns is the growing shortage of raw materials needed for manufacture of non-defense products.

This bottleneck is the inevitable result of an attempt by this country to accomplish in a few years what Hitler did in seven years. That we have the capacity to do it is generally conceded; that we are falling down in attaining our maximum potentialities is also widely admitted.

The lack of supplies for factories now engaged in non-defense production was recently recognized by Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner when he testified before a congressional committee in Detroit.

"These factories," he said, "are now facing a serious shortage of raw materials. Michigan and the nation face economic chaos within three months which will bring about a welfare and economic problem far worse than the depth of the last depression."

Priorities Muddle

"Why this shortage of vitally needed supplies?" you ask.

In our present transition to an all-out defense basis, shortages are taking place for several reasons.

1. Actual shortage of raw material. Not enough copper, steel, aluminum or other urgently needed metals to meet needs of both defense and non-defense industries. Consequently, priorities favor defense and at the expense of non-defense.

2. Hoarding of materials induced by fear. C. E. Wilson, president of General Motors, recently declared before a Congressional committee that "people are getting scared—who will keep it in the mind for months."

3. Poor planning and maladjustments in priority schedules.

The National Association of Purchasing Agents in its latest bulletin points out, "Undoubtedly there are hoarded supplies on hand in many places, and attempts will be made to smoke them out."

A steel trade review also revealed that "filing of priority claims is having the effect of wiping considerable duplicate tonnage off books, and the existence of some large inventories is revealed."

Choice of Small Industries

If small industries cannot obtain needed supplies with which to continue production schedules, then the choice becomes a temporary and perhaps permanent shutdown with resultant unemployment of many workers or a transition over to production of defense goods.

Governor Van Wagoner believes that Michigan's industrial capacity has only been partially tapped by the government; that the state could produce 50 per cent more for defense if energies of small industries were utilized.

Threatened unemployment may be eased temporarily, he feels, by distributing work to all employees in hard-hit industries on a shorter work week basis, say 32 hours instead of 40, and so on, and also by the assistance of unemployment compensation for 18 weeks at $16 a week.

He also has pointed out that migration of workers into Michigan from other states will only accentuate the unemployment problem here.

What To Do

This pinching shortage of materials has inspired Washington to create another alphabetical clearing house, the Supplies Priorities and Allocations Board, known as SPAB, with Donald M. Nelson (former Sears executive) as executive director and Floyd Odum as angel No. 1 to whom small business must look for relief.

Odum intends to do something about the situation whereby 56 large corporations, such as General Motors, Ford, Packard, Chrysler, and Hudson have received 75 per cent of defense contracts.

In getting its tremendous armament program under way quickly, it was logical for the government to go first to the big manufacturer. Thus the Ford Motor Co. is not only completing a plant to make Pratt & Whitney motors, now nearly ready for production, but is building a gigantic new plant near Ypsilanti for making of 75 bombers and 100 plane sub-assemblies each month. Packard is just getting into production for Rolls-Royce aircraft motors; Hudson is finishing a naval arsenal for ordnance production; Chrysler expects capacity tank production in its new plant by Jan. 1, while General Motors is tooling up for $1.2 billion of defense contracts, 70 per cent of which are not normally made in G.M. plants.

But now the little manufacturer's turn has come. Odum hopes to open 200 field offices for handling of defense sub-contracts. In the meanwhile, small manufacturers are urged to write to the Division of Contract Distribution, Office of Production Management, Social Security Building at Washington, D. C. for contract forms. Positive relief is possible for those who act promptly.

Higher Farm Income

Another positive counter-force to priorities pinching small businesses is the prospect of higher farm income in 1942. Assurances have been given to Michigan farmers that agriculture is to be put on an all-out production basis for the coming year.

Unless inflation neutralizes gains made by higher farm income, Michigan farmers will have more money. The big problem is going to be shortages of labor and farm equipment, and a state conference is to be held soon at the call of the governor to draft plans for trying to overcome them.

Some Pumpkins!

Pumpkins with faces! Don't you believe it?

Well, it's true. An agricultural wizard by the name of John Cz (and we do mean Cz) of Madison, Ohio, is actually growing pumpkins that resemble anyone that Farmer Cz chooses to caricature. Take a look!

Smiling at you here is Farmer Cz who induces Mother Nature to produce pumpkins that resemble Jimmy Durante, Clark Gable, Greta Garbo, or—but just name your celebrity. He calls them "personality pumpkins" and finds growing them a lark. (Incidentally, he finds it quite profitable.) Here's the procedure:

Mr. Cz first makes a plaster mold of the face he is wishing on the pumpkin, and then an aluminum cast from this mold. While the pumpkin is in its early stages of growth he impresses it in the mold. Nature does the rest. When maturity is reached the mold is removed (as shown above) and Mr. Cz inserts eyes, skillfully tinted, and teeth. The result is striking, if not alarming.

Mr. Cz does not "personelize" all his pumpkins. People still like their pumpkin pie impersonal.

and she is purty but dum like all the dames I know. Ma ast her have she got any relligges views and she repide and sed no but she have got so xalent views of the Rockie mountans.

Construction Started On Six New Cruisers

An announcement, made public recently by the United States Navy Department, that construction has been started on six 27,000-ton super cruisers, indicates that work on our new "Two-Ocean" Navy has been further accelerated. This latest statement concerning Naval shipbuilding brings the total number of new ships ordered since January 1, 1941, to 2,831—with 968 of these ships already under construction. Production line methods are being used wherever possible and a pronounced speed-up has been accomplished by the institution of a 48-hour week and a three-shift 24-hour day. 375,000 men are already employed in shipyards and another 125,000 men will be added to this force of workmen who are speeding ships down the ways at the rate of at least one every ten days.

So coordinated and precise is the current naval shipbuilding program that many months are being out from the normal building time of American-made warships.

This expert planning and new speed in construction of our ships from 45,000-ton dreadnaughts to small torpedo boats opens the way for the Navy to accept new qualified men for training at the rate of 12,000 to 15,000 a month. These men, enlisting in either the regular Navy or the Naval Reserve, will be sent to one of the four Naval Training Stations and may have a chance to go to a Navy Trade School even before assignment to the fleet. During this period they will receive regular Navy pay and the free Navy schooling is valued at hundreds of dollars.

Every new ship in our Navy will require not only hundreds of additional sailors but many more Navy men will be needed to work in Navy dry docks, machine shops, ordnance depots and other shore posts to keep the new ships in action.

"Never in the history of the United States has there been greater opportunity for loyal young Americans to serve their country and build their futures than right now," Secretary of the Navy Knox recently said.

At the suggestion of Secretary of Navy Knox, W. W. McClure has been made Navy Editor of The Chelsea Standard to help the Navy in giving ambitious young men information about the opportunities the "Two-Ocean" Navy offers for technical training and advancement.

As Navy Editor, Mr. McClure has just received from Washington a supply of free illustrated booklets for young men interested. In addition, he will welcome inquiries from young men who wish to look into the new and greater opportunities the Navy and the Naval Reserves now offer for training for later civilian careers as they serve their country now in its emergency.

Smaller than one and one-half inches in diameter (culls) could not be shipped from these states under the proposed marketing program. A North Central potato committee of twelve growers and four handlers would be assessed to defray authorized expenses of the committee.

This committee would be able to recommend further limitation of shipments of low grades and small sizes.
To meet varying local conditions, exemption privileges would enable growers to ship limited lower grades if the quality of their potatoes is below the average for the area. More flexible than the one operating during 1937-38, this potato marketing program would also provide for the suspension of the cull regulation under certain conditions. Similar potato programs are now operating in Colorado, Idaho, and Malheur county, Oregon. The potato marketing agreement program can be made effective by the Secretary of Agriculture if issuance of an order to make the terms of the program applicable to all handlers is favored by two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum, and if the agreement is signed by handlers of 60 per cent of the potatoes handled in the four states during the last marketing season.

Any producer who, during the period January 1, 1940 to July 31, 1941, has been engaged in the production of Irish potatoes for market in the four states will be eligible to vote in the referendum, Mr. Cole said.

KIWANIS NEWS

The Kiwanis club held their regular meeting this week at the Methodist church on Monday evening and entertained the cast of "Everybody's Here" with a delicious dinner chairman introduced Chief Torpedoman Louis Gilbertson of the Naval Reserving Station, Jackson, as the principal speaker of the evening. The speaker commenced his address by announcing that the foreign situation made Navy Day 1941 one of the most important in the history of this country. He then gave a short interesting resume of the growth of our present Navy, its high standards of advancement, and the reasons why its present morale is now so excellent. Mr.
Gilbertson stressed the many advantages of the Navy in building young men physically, in teaching them valuable trades, and in permitting them to play their part in defending this Nation against aggression. The speaker concluded his interesting talk by urging the young men of this community and country to aid their native land in this crisis by joining the Navy immediately and to thereby protect the United States in its first line of defense.

Mr. Gilbertson then showed pictures which described and explained the size and the many activities of the United States Navy. However, the picture machine was in poor working order, and the speaker was only able to show one reel of films instead of the six reels which he had planned to show the gathering. Mr. Gilbertson concluded the program by urging the Kiwansians and their guests to assist their country in this time of need by enlisting in the community the many worthwhile, educational, and service advantages of the Navy.

Potato Growers To Vote On Marketing Program

A referendum will be held among Washtenaw county potato growers and among potato growers in all other counties in the state during the first week of next month, November 3-8, to vote on a proposed marketing agreement program to regulate potato shipments out of the purchasing area and at the same time, a marketing agreement will be submitted to potato handlers for their signature.

The referendum will be conducted by the Surplus Marketing Administration of the Federal Department of Agriculture with the assistance of the State and County Triple-A committees, according to Harry M. Cole, secretary of the Washtenaw County Triple-A committee. Similar referendums will be held this fall in Wisconsin, Minnesota, and North Dakota.
 tentatively approved by the Secretary of Agriculture, following public hearings in the four states, the mar-and sizes of Irish potatoes shipped in

My Responsibility

By Jane Schlosser
Noah Webster, author of one of the most useful books ever published, has defined responsibility as "trustworthiness, ability of undertaking, or liability."

It has been said that each succeeding generation lacks more and more the quality of responsibility. Reasons for this can sometimes be traced back to the parents and the methods of bringing up the children. During the past two weeks I have been trying to prove that the younger generation is not as lacking in responsibility as it is believed. However, no matter how hard I tried, various incidents occurred which somehow made me inclined to agree. I discovered the statement to be true and found that I was no exception to the rule.

First and foremost comes the responsibility of being responsible to myself. If I can't depend upon myself to be responsible for things how can anybody else see fit to trust me. I am responsible to myself for the manner in which I conduct myself in public and private places. I am responsible for taking care of myself. My responsibilities should include the ability to distinguish between right and wrong, the ability to make right decisions at the proper time, and the ability to live up to the decisions which I make.

It is a known fact that a majority of parents in this world have felt a great responsibility for their children. Therefore, through love for my parents, I should assume a great deal of responsibility toward them. Among these responsibilities are the duties of them and the formation of habits that will show I have been "brought up" according to high standards. When my parents become old and feeble, my responsibilities will include giving encouragement and help to them.

Every one who is privileged to be born and raised in the United States of America should realize that this country was made possible by honest, freedom-loving people. Therefore, our responsibilities should include unflinching faith in our government and its actions. Everyone should strive to be an upright American citizen.

It has been said and I quote: "True friends are like diamonds, precious but rare; False friends are like leaves, found everywhere." Naturally, everyone wants friends and I should feel a responsibility toward gaining and keeping them. Several qualities that illustrate my responsibilities to my friends are kindness, truthfulness, and last but not least, charity to all mankind.

School is one of the major factors in the development of our character. My responsibilities to school are helpfulness in making it a progressive institution, true sportsmanship, both in the classroom and on the athletic field, obedience to the school's rules and regulations, punctuality in all things, and honesty in contacts with other students and teachers.

In order to be responsible to myself, I must be able to obtain happiness. Happiness is due to different obstacles, people and this is quite a problem and they are forced to make their own happiness in quite a number of cases. This has been the situation with a great number of our most responsible people. I must be able to decide the proper behavior that will aid me in assuming responsibilities. Someone has said that a reputation is hard to attain and easy to lose. I must bear in mind that I alone am responsible for my reputation among my friends and fellow men. Good health is necessary to cope with the battles of life. I am responsible for my success because if I can't make myself successful, who can?

In conclusion I would say that takes health, happiness, good behavior, and a good reputation to make me successful. These factors also make me responsible toward my parents, country, friends, school, and last but not least, myself.

The drill press is used on a very large variety of work. A column forms the main part of the machine. It is held upright on a heavy floor plate that is also used as a support for large work. An arm is fitted on the lower part of the column to carry the table on which the work is held. This arm may be lowered or raised as desired. The drill spindle is raised from the hole being drilled by a handle located at the operator's right. A depth adjuster stops the drill at a required place in the work being done. Come pulleys adjust the speed at which the drill is operated.

Student Council

The Student Council has decided that the next All-High party shall be held November 14. The following committees have been appointed: Seniors—Decorations; Juniors—Entertainment; Sophomores—Clean-up; Freshmen—Food.

Senior News

We still haven't received our pins, but are expecting them any day. So have your money ready when the seniors come round.

There was quite a lot of discussion as to whether caps and gowns would be worn this year but upon putting the matter to a vote it was found that most of us still think that it wouldn't really be like graduating without them.

Office News

The Kiwanis club is sponsoring their annual Halloween party on Friday, October 31 at the school. A large number of the pupils in our school are planning to attend.

Miss Vossbrink of the State Board of Control for Vocational Education will visit our Home-making Department on Thursday, Oct. 30 (today). Each year our school receives money from the vocational board for the Home Economics and Agricultural departments. To receive this money the school must come up to the requirements as determined by this board. Last year our school received about $1500 for our vocational education departments.

An assembly will be presented on Monday, November 4 at 8:30 a. m. This program will be presented by George Lyons and is sent to us by the National Program Service of Des Moines, Iowa.

The Pep Meeting

The pep meeting last Thursday started off with a number by the Chelsea Band. Jim Grant, a freshman, was master of ceremonies and the school song was played by Miss Eleanor Hopper, after which our two well known cheer leaders, the numbers, Notre Dame Victory March and On Wisconsin were played by the band, followed by two cheers.

Everyone agreed that the meeting was the best this year.

Presenting Seniors

Once again another year is slipping away from us. Soon the year '41 will be but a memory. Now we are going to look forward to '42 and the Seniors. We thought perhaps you, the public, would like to know who the Seniors are and what they plan to do in the future.

About seventeen years ago last February 3rd a brown-haired, brown-eyed baby was born. His name was Carl Henschelwerdt. He attended a country school and then joined the Freshmen in 1938. After three years of high school we find him president of the Senior class. 5 ft. 10 in. tall, he tips the scales at 175 lbs. A dog (any kind) is his choice in animals; teal, blue his color; physics "the" subject and roller skating as an enjoyable pastime. Although Carl does not play football, he likes it best as a sport.

On the amusement side we find his favorite movie is "Gone With the Wind"; radio program, Ben Bernie; a special treat on his menu, spaghetti; and an orchestra playing "Time Was" to put him to sleep. Next fall Carl expects to further his education by attending the University of Michigan School of Pharmacy.

Many of us thought Virginia Barr was born in Chelsea as she has lived here nearly all her life. But no! She was born in Pontiac, July 30, 1924. She has pretty blonde hair and eyes of blue. In stocking feet she stands 5 ft. 4 in. and weighs 132 pounds. She has gone to Chelsea for all her schooling. Scarlet-red is her favorite color—maybe because it matches her complexion when she blushes! She likes Collie dogs. Typing and sewing are a pastime and very good ones they are, too. Virginia finds swimming her most enjoyable sport and then after a good dip a nice dish of chili con carne. She likes to hear News-Comes-to-Life on the radio as well as "Don't Want to Set the World on Fire," her favorite tune. After graduation she has not definitely decided what she will do. However, she thinks it will be business school. Virginia is vice-president of the Senior class.

Girls' Athletics

Bowling scores:
Lyons' Tigers 382
Min's Monarchs 380
Merkel's Greenhorns 350
Birch's Bearcats 336

The high score for the week was 129, rolled by Miss McDonald. Either because it was blue Monday or because of the large audience which the teams had many of our best bowlers failed to break 100. This week promised to raise her last week's score by at least 50 pins. Especially Min's Monarchs, who averaged a close 60!

During the last week the weather wasn't too good so the girls had their athletic meetings in the gym. If you happened to walk past the door and saw what you looked like a tribe of Indians running around, you may rest assured it was not. They were merely Miss McDonald's girls getting into shape for the coming basketball season.

Perhaps some mothers have been wondering why their daughters have been coming home tired and stiff. The answer is Newcomb. This game is a mixture of volley ball and basketball and at times becomes rather rough. So far Grabow-Ki's team has won over Eisele's team by approximately five points.

Along with other things the girls this year are learning military marching and drilling. This training they hope will help correct their postures.

Home Economics

Last week Thursday the first year Home Ec. girls went on a field trip to Ann Arbor to go through the famous Bakeries. The girls watched them make cinnamon rolls and later they treated them to a cinnamon roll. Some of the girls bought bread and other baked goods.

The Home Economics club had a party Oct. 28 (last Tuesday). Their tables were decorated with pumpkins and candles. They ate by candle light.

Hit and Miss by Mac

This year the first year Latin book was changed. The new books are profusely illustrated, and it is no longer necessary to look in the back of the book for the words, as they are contained in the text. Looking up words is a fine physical exercise, but we never could figure out what it did to benefit our Latin! Education bows to modern thinking.

Pictures in the study hall include a view of the coliseum, a print of the Mona Lisa, and a nondescript copy of what seems to be a mixture of whom, people, dogs, and mythical. Above the door leading to Mr. Cameron's room is a picture of some Roman ruins. So much for Art.

In the new Lab. is a ladder. Our curiosity rewarded us by bringing to light the fact that the state fire marshal ordered it put there because there is only one exit from the room. There is an outside door, but nothing leading from it. Our observation is that all second floor rooms have two or more doors.

This morning (Monday) some of the boys in the high school met and discussed a Junior Conservation Club. Mr. Johnson explained the value of such a club. The boys were enthusiastic, and in all probability the future will see the formation of such a club in Chelsea.

Chorus

The Triple Trio started last week on Wednesday. They are working on three new songs. Tea for Two, Little Boy Blue, and My Little Gray Home in the West.

Both girls and mixed chorus are working hard getting ready for their fall concert.

F. F. A.

The Chelsea F. F. A. entertained their parents and guests at a game supper on Thursday evening, Oct. 23. After supper moving pictures were shown concerning the various uses of fertilizer. Mr. Oser from Ann Arbor, Mr. Oster from the Washington County Agricultural Agent. To conclude the evening Mr. Rust showed the guests the new high school laboratory and shop.

Dancing

Dancing classes met again last Wednesday in the usual procedure. A variety of dances which had been learned last year were reviewed. The class is very helpful from social training point of view. Teaching the rules of etiquette will continue as the class progresses.

Band News

On Dec. 2 the band will present a half hour program after the movies at the local theatre. The program will be given at school before Dec. 2 to serve as a rehearsal for the band members.

Mr. Richards stresses the fact that the band needs more members to play certain instruments. Lessons are given free of charge to pupils who wish to play an instrument. These pupils will take lessons until they are able to play and will then join the band.

BAKE SALE

A bake sale shall be held Nov. 1 at the Chelsea Hardware. It is to be sponsored by the Band and Orchestra Parents' Association.

Elementary News

Eighth Grade

The eighth grade girls are taking home economics this first semester. Right at this time we are preparing to make our blouses. We have shrank our material but before we start our blouses we are reviewing the parts of the sewing machine, basting, and how to stitch on the sewing machine.

The boys who are taking shop are working on their projects. Some of the boys and their projects are: George Slane, a three-cornered shelf; Leroy May, a bookstand; Edwin Lentz, a floor lamp; John Wellnitz, a bookshelf; and Robert Breitenwischer, a recipe shelf.

Seventh Grade

Sue McManus and Ray Knickerbocker in the formation of a room club last week, we elected Robert Daniels as president, Jackie Winans as vice-president, Frances Hale as secretary, and Clara Miller as treasurer. We call it a Variety club.

Brigitte Baylow has been absent for some time due to illness in his family. Jack Wellnitz had a birthday last week, but we weren't allowed to do much about it.

We have been talking about the formation of a Honor club and a Service or Safety Patrol.

To be sure that we have our arithmetic and science assignments on the board, Frances Hale took charge last week and Eleanor Eisele this week.

Our quotation for the week came from Benjamin Franklin: "Three may keep a secret if two of them are dead."

Fifth Grade

Our Activity club held its election of officers Thursday. Mary K. became president, Mary Jane, vice-president, Doris G. secretary, and Mona, treasurer.

The tobacco plant which J. Niehaus gave us has six pink star-shaped blossoms.

Last week two new members came to our room. They are Ralph and Roy Guenther. Joyce Peck went to Flint. We shall miss her.

Some of our members are all. Phyllis has whooping cough; Robert B. chicken pox; and Bill Lyons had his tonsils out.

We sold Star Commonwealth tickets too. Our prize winners were Helen Jarvie and David Myers.

Next week, Nov. 2-8, is Book Week. Each of us has a chart on which we are keeping a record of the books we read. Miss Brown is cataloging a lot of new books for the library. We can hardly wait to read them. They will be on display during Book Week.

We have been making Halloween lanterns with which to decorate our room. They are black, orange, and yellow, and designed with pumpkins, bats, cats, owls, and witches.

The weather is the topic in our science lessons. Mrs. Palmer brought us a barograph; we have an anemometer and a witches barometer. David K. has kept an hourly record of the temperatures. Then we have learned to read the weather map.

Fourth Grade

Mary Ann Schneider, Joyce Umstead, William Aldrich enrolled in our school on Monday. Now we have 28 in our class.

We are saying our multiplication in the tables of 6.

Our class elected officers last Thursday. Phyllis Munro is president; Peggy Schauble is secretary, and Marilyn Johnson is treasurer.

We made clean hands posters for health class.

The boys and girls who have been here every day since school started are: Virginia C. Helen E. Richard S. Betty J. Neil L. Barbara M. Danny M. Shirley N. Roslyn R. and Peggy S.

Third Grade (Buddy J.)

We elected all new officers for third grade this week. The new officers are: President, Teddy Slane; vice-president, Carl O'Dell; secretary, Roma Vaughn; girls' health officer, Veta Mary Clark; boys' health officer, Buddy Lee Johnson; to pass the waste basket, Duane Gentner; and to open the fire escape doors, John Radd.

Championships In the Making!

Loafing—Andy Modack. Gum chewing—Carlton Christwell. Arguing—Phil Vogel.

Whistling—Dick Kern. Ignorance of school regulations—Seniors and eighth grade. Tardiness—Albert Doll.

Apple polishing—Many contestants, outcome undecided. Hard work—Why, Journalism club, of course.

BRIGHTON—The plant of the Vagabond Coach Manufacturing Co. at New Hudson was totally destroyed by fire early Friday morning. The loss is estimated at approximately $150,000, and the loss of the plant, a disaster which affected both New Hudson and Brighton, threw over 200 men out of work.—Argus.

Borers Advance In State's Corn Crop

Add another note to Michigan's unusual weather in 1941:

Some of the early corn borers matured soon enough to lay eggs and hatch a second brood of the pests, according to C. B. Dibble, Michigan State College extension specialist in insect control.

Considerable advance to new farms and new areas was observed in 1941 in corn-growing sections, Dibble reports.

Some of the fall work that will mean fewer borers in 1942 includes cutting corn stalks close to the ground, ensiling as much as possible, or at least shredding and using for feed or bedding. Because the shredded stalks soak up so much moisture which in stalls contains large amounts of nitrogen, the shredding pays for itself and the borer control is free.

Dibble suggests, however, that cutting only kills a third, as against a complete control by shredding.

Where mechanical pickers operate in the corn fields, the stalks should get attention. That is where a test of plowmanship is involved. Wide bottom shares should be used. Instead of using 14-inch bottoms, a 16 or 18-inch plow does a better job. The plowing must be free of debris after protection aboveground.

Next spring brings on other controls. Any cornfield refuse must be disposed of or plowed under before June 1. The fact that 1941 seemed to be a good corn growing year also meant that the growing season was kindly to the borers, further indication that control measures will pay in 1942.
