Ninety-one Have Registered For Civilian Defense Effort

Registration Will
Friday and Saturday

By Mrs. A. A. Palmer
(Chairman local ODVO registration committee)

Ninety-one persons in Chelsea and vicinity have offered their services without compensation for duties on the home front. About two-thirds of this number were women, one-third men. Because of the inability of everyone to register on January 9 and 10, additional applications will be taken at registration headquarters at the library on Friday and Saturday, January 16 and 17, from 2 to 8 p. m. each day.

Registrants requested many fields of work, including home-nursing, child care, nutrition pre-requisite to can-teen work, light physical work, motor corps, mechanics, clerical, and practically all registrants physically able agreed to be blood donors if the need comes.

After initial registration has created a reservoir of available manpower and woman-power, training classes will be made available, after complete survey has been made by the committee.

If you have not registered and wish to offer your services for war work at home, now is your opportunity. Your services do not necessarily need to be offered just in case of emergency—there are many activities that may be carried on right now as a means of "Keeping the Home Fires Burning."

The government has asked us to save our paper, cardboard and boxes to turn in for re-use. Can we not have some volunteers to collect all of this material which is piling up in basements of homes in great quantities? Boys, here is an opportunity to serve your community. Perhaps too, someone may suggest a location where this accumulation may be centralized. Let's set this up as one line of defense.

Then too, a community chorus would not be such a bad idea. We must keep up the home spirit as well as the morale of our soldiers. That is a part of our defense program. Establishing of day nurseries is a very constructive suggestion. Parents who are employed will have complete confidence in an organization that can give systematized care to their children. These and many other home activities will help to keep our town 100 per cent American.

One branch of defense work is being carried on each Monday night at the high school under the heading of "Surgical Dressing." This is one of the Red Cross training classes which has been highly commended by the county office for having turned out more dressings than any other county unit. Close to 90 persons have responded to this call and should not only be congratulated on their quantity and quality of work, but for their willingness as Defense Volunteers.

If you are already doing war work of any kind, you may still register to make this inventory of volunteer participation complete for your home town. If you have a limited amount of free time, you may sign up for as many or as few hours as you wish. If you are in doubt whether you can do anything special to help, let the registrar help you find a classification of work and training classes. The full facilities of the Volunteer Defense Committee is behind you 100 per cent.

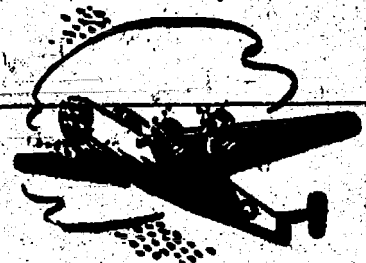

Victory Book Campaign Under Way In Chelsea

A project known as the "Victory Book Campaign" is being launched by the local library committee. Under the guidance of the American Red Cross, the American Library Association and other national organizations, a drive for books to be given to Soldiers, Sailors and Marines is being pushed so that this type of material will be at the disposal of these boys who are in service. Your donation of a book or books will be greatly appreciated.

A box in which you may deposit your gift is ready for you in the Public Library. If it is not convenient for you to bring your book, call Mrs. Geo. Walworth or Mrs. A. A. Palmer and they will be happy to see that collections of this material are taken care of. This is one way that you may be a volunteer in defense work.

DEPUTY COLLECTORS COMING
Two deputy collectors from the Internal Revenue Department will be at the local post office on Thursday and Friday, January 29 and 30, to help those who need assistance in making out their income tax returns. There will be no charge for this service. Those who have not received blanks through the mail may obtain them now at the post office. Collectors from the Revenue Department will be at both Ann Arbor banks from Feb. 18 to Mar. 10 to assist in making out returns.

Community Hospital In Chelsea?

(Written by a Local Physician)

For many years there has been occasionally expressed the thought, among Chelseaites, concerning the desirability of having a modernly equipped, well-staffed hospital located here.

That there is need for such an institution is beyond question, as the nearest places are in Ann Arbor, where in both cases closed staffs prevent outside physicians caring for their patients. Moreover, people would rather stay near their homes when ill so as to be near their relatives and friends. This has a certain psychological value.

Also, certain emergencies, and some surgical cases, would do better if not moved.

There are numerous other humanitarian reasons for local hospitalization.

How Can Such a Plant Be Built?

Nearly everyone in Chelsea is now able to donate a nominal sum toward such an enterprise. Furthermore, nearly everyone has some form of Sick and Accident or Hospital Insurance, the value of which has been shown by the experience of those finding use for it, to be inestimable. The old fear of a staggering hospital bill has been diminished for the patient and hospital as well.

It is proposed to establish an Endowment Fund in the local bank whereby community-conscious citizens, and organizations, could deposit their donations—the same being used only for the purpose of building a hospital.

Credit to the Donors

Every person becoming a donor to the fund will be given credit certificate which may be used against a (Continued on page eight)

Red Cross Activity Is Increasing Here

A greater number of people are becoming interested every week in doing Red Cross work. A large class meets for surgical dressings every Monday night. Several of the church chapters, circles, clubs, and some individuals are working for the sewing division. Other people are knitting. Mrs. McKune, knitting chairman, expects to receive another shipment of yarn sometime this week. Anyone who likes to knit and has some yarn left over from other knitting or crocheting, can knit six-inch squares, which are used to make afghans for the Base Hospitals.

Up to Tuesday noon the local chapter of the Red Cross has received $1,391.36 in the special drive for funds. Anyone wishing to donate for this worthy cause may leave their money at the Chelsea State Bank or with Mrs. A. L. Steger.

A list of those who knitted for the Red Cross during World War I has been found by Mrs. McKune, and is of sufficient interest to be published herewith, as it contains the names of many who are doing the same work now:

Kolb's Restaurant Was Burglarized Tues. Night

Kolb's Restaurant was burglarized Tuesday night and a total of about $50.00 in bills and silver was taken. The burglary occurred between 12:20, when the restaurant was closed for the night, and 12:30, when discovery was made by Marshal Sam Mohrlock that the place had been entered.

Entry was made through the transom screen at the rear of the building. The burglar or burglars climbed to the small rear porch roof, loosened the screen and as the transom window was open the building was easily entered.

It is believed the theft was by local talent, who knew the layout of the restaurant. Most of the money taken was in a box under the cash register which was kept there by Mr. Kolb for payment of sales tax. The cash register was also looted but there was only a small amount of silver there. Nothing else in the restaurant was disturbed.

Deputy Sheriff Tom Knight of Ann Arbor investigated the theft on Wednesday morning and obtained finger prints from the night light bulb which had been loosened in order to darken the room.

Masonic Banquet Will Be Held On January 23

Arrangements are complete for the annual Masonic banquet to be held at the high school auditorium on Friday evening, January 23.

"Dick" Lewis, Past High Priest of Birmingham Chapter No. 93, Royal Arch Masons, will act as master of ceremonies and will present his Masonic Guest. Night entertainers who have entertained more than 200,000 guests and members of the Craft in Michigan during the past year.

A dance band will be present to furnish music for those who wish to dance after the entertainment. Tickets may be obtained from members of Olive Lodge No. 456, F. and A. M., and from Mr. J. Baxter, secretary. Those who plan to attend are urged to make reservations early as the number of tickets is limited and the sale will stop on Wednesday, January 21. The entire state has been storm-bound and is just nicely getting itself dug out. It started to snow on Friday and when the world woke up on Saturday morning the mercury had fallen to 20 degrees below zero and the wind was blowing about 60 miles an hour. Roads were drifted full. People froze their ears, fingers, and toes. But two trains on the M. C. R. R. reached Chelsea on Saturday and Sunday there were no trains. The first passenger train from Chicago reached Chelsea on Monday morning at 8:30. It left Chicago on Friday at 5 p. m. and became stalled near Michigan City. The schools, which had been closed for four weeks, opened on Monday, but only four teachers were able to report for duty.

To meet the fuel famine drastic orders have been given for all businesses. All factories, stores, etc., will be closed on Mondays. Store hours from Tuesday through Friday are 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Saturdays, 8:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. Churches are allowed to be heated 4 hours a week. Outside lighting advertising signs are entirely prohibited. The Princess Theatre will be open only four nights a week.

Harvey S. Bayton of Lynden died on Saturday, January 12, 1918. A number of friends remained in their hall Saturday night to be in readiness for a call. Charles Martin kept a team of horses harnessed up during the storm to be in readiness in case of fire, but fortunately there were no calls.

The George Boyd farm in Lima has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Glenn of Highland Park.

SOUTH LYON—After reading in her newspaper a few days ago of a 1000-watt bulb of the Edison Company that had exploded after 20 years' service (it may have happened in Detroit), Miss Ella MacFenney says she can offer a news item just as good—better in length of years—any way. She can, too, because she has an electric light bulb in her home that has been in use there since 1918, when she had electricity installed—24 years ago. She says the bulb has been in use all over the house at different times, and right now lights a used bedroom. —Herald.

Ice-Fishing Weather

Bright sunny days are bringing fishermen by the score to hundreds of Michigan's ice-covered lakes, to fish for perch, smelt, bluegills and crappies, and to spear pike and other fish. New creel limit on bluegills is 15, between 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. A sample bluegill, the plump and tasty fish most popular with the majority of ice anglers, is shown here by a veteran fisherman on Houghton lake who is enjoying the sunshine in the lee of his tarpaper shanty.

Feeding Goldfish
Feeding goldfish is quite simple. They will eat everything within reason. The dry fish foods sold commercially are quite sufficient. They appreciate a few garden worms, however, or a few flies or other insects. In very large pools, a stiff mash of oatmeal boiled with shredded liver and put into the pool in lumps once in a while is sufficient to keep the fish in good shape.

The business meeting was followed by a short program during which Mrs. Franklin gave us a very interesting talk on Europe as it was when she was a student there. Following this a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. LeRoy Lord and Mrs. Augusta Holidge, the hostesses.

Our Neighbors

WILLIAMSTON—Justice Howard Wiest of Lansing, formerly of Williamston and present owner of the country estate near here known as Shagbark, member of the Michigan Supreme Court, will not sit during the court's January term because of illness. Court officials, said Justice Wiest, who will be 78 years of age next month, will enter Johns Hopkins university hospital at Baltimore for treatment of a leg ailment. Thrice chief justice, he joined the court in 1921.—Enterprise.

PINCKNEY—The airline of the Grand Trunk railroad, running from Pontiac to Jackson via South Lyon, Pinckney and Stockbridge, is shortening the running time from Pontiac to Jackson by putting in 100-pound steel rails. This work is now completed as far as Lakeland and will be completed to Jackson by spring. Rails and ties are now being unloaded in the Pinckney yards. The present running time from Pontiac to Jackson for freights is about 16 hours. With these new rails, the time will be cut to 10 or 11 hours. This is for local freights. Fast freights may be also put on, making the entire run without a stop. This was made necessary by the increased volume of business the road is now doing in freight traffic and the indications are that this will be still more increased.—Dispatch.

GRASS LAKE—Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Smith celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary Friday with a 6 o'clock dinner at the Grass Lake Cafe being a surprise. Freighting in China Is Done With Wheelbarrow

For the most part, China is a land of "hand-labor." Things that we do by machine are done by hand over there.

There are railway trains in China, but not nearly so many as the country should have. It is a common custom for loads to be carried on wheelbarrows, pushed for miles through the countryside, from a farm or a village to a city.

Chinese wheelbarrows are not like the ones common in our land. They are built so that the wheel is not so far to the front.

The wheel is of large size, usually from 2 1/2 to 3 feet high. Its axle, often is made of wood, and as the wheel turns, there is creaking and squeaking.

In Chinese cities we find some streets wide and well paved. In country districts, on the other hand, the highways almost always are narrow. Some are barely three feet wide and are fit only for wheelbarrow traffic.

Loading his wheelbarrow with goods weighing a quarter of a ton, a barrow man may spend 10 hours or more pushing it along.

Sometimes the framework on a Chinese wheelbarrow is made in a way that will allow people to take seats on it. They sit back to back, very much as passengers do on Irish jaunting cars.

Certain Chinese cities have a fair number of automobiles, but not nearly so many as cities on our continent. Outside of the cities there are few automobiles to be found in China.

Vitamin G Important for Healthy Nervous Tissue

Riboflavin, also known as vitamin B-2 and vitamin G, is necessary for growth and healthy nervous tissue as well as good digestion. Doctors recommend 2.7 milligrams (1,280 Sherman units) for a moderately active man of 154 pounds, 3.2 mgms. (1,320 units) for a very active man, and 2.2 mgms. (880 units) for a moderately active woman of 123 pounds. Children need from .6 mgms. to 3 mgms. according to age, and as in the case of nearly all the vitamins and minerals, the excellent and nursing mother needs extra amounts.

In general, the foods rich in riboflavin are also good sources of riboflavin with beef liver at the top of the list with 4,000 units of riboflavin in a quarter pound, and beef kidney, 840 units in a couple. Pork and ham are fair sources. Beet greens have 250 units per cup of raw greens, and there are 300 units in a cup of turnip greens. Kale has 100 units per cup and collards 100 per 2-3 cups. Other good vegetable sources are beans and peas, mustard greens and spinach. Four stewed prunes will give you 200 units, and 12 strawberries 120, but they are far above other fruits in this vitamin. Other good sources are: six oysters, 180; four sardines in oil, 250; tablespoon of peanut butter, 200; 1 glass skim milk, 65; 1 glass whole pasteurized milk, 62; 1 ounce cheddar cheese, 200; 1 cup wheat bran, 110; 2 tablespoons wheat germ, 300.

Discover Tiniest Meteorites
Discovery of the three tiniest meteorites on record, with a total weight of less than a tenth of a gram, has been claimed by three western scientists.

Making the announcement were Dr. Frederick C. Leonard, professor of astronomy at the University of California at Los Angeles, and Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Nininger of the Colorado Museum of Natural History.

The minute meteorites were found as the result of dragging alnico magnets through a number of ant hills near Holbrook, Ariz.

In the process evidence was discovered that falling meteorites are accompanied usually by showers of meteoritic dust and sand-like particles, which, according to the scientists, may mark the beginning of a "new and important" phase in the study of meteorites.

Dispelling Odor of Cooking

When a cooking odor permeates the kitchen, housewives have burned cinnamon, old newspapers, and any number of household remedies to dispel the odor. But they don't have to resort to these any longer, for a very simple gadget has been put on the market that does away with unpleasant cooking odors.

A simple glass container, that holds a cup of water, is put on the fire. When it comes to a boil, four or five drops of incense are dropped into it. After boiling for five minutes, the heat is turned off, and the odors disappear. Clean, simple and easy to use are a few of its good points.

Thief Likes Soft Rugs
An ingenious thief accomplished an amazing act of thievery, according to the manager of a Chicago apartment house. Police, while admiring the feat, would like to nab him and ask him how he did it.

One morning, recently, the manager discovered to his amazement that sometime before dawn, a thief, without disturbing any of the guests, had quietly pushed tables, chairs, ash stands and other furnishings out of the way and then departed with a 12 by 12 ankle-deep rug that was in the lobby.

And the doors and windows of the apartment are locked tight every night.

Lung Amputations Have Met With Great Success

Six years ago a middle-aged Pittsburgh physician with cancer of the lung made a long, painful journey to St. Louis to beg a crumb of hope from famed Surgeon Evarts Ambrose Graham. Both doctors thought that death was inevitable, and Dr. Graham decided on a last, desperate measure, never before tried in the history of surgery: complete amputation of the cancerous lung in one stage. An incision was made down the sick man's back, beside and below his shoulder blade. Carefully Dr. Graham slit through tough chest muscles, removed sections of seven ribs, neatly severed the lumpy gray lung high up where the windpipe separates into two branches. Then he tied the stump with a tight catgut knot. Finally he stitched up the chest muscles. To his great joy, his colleague survived.

Four years later the happy Pittsburgh doctor attended a convention of the College of Surgeons. Late for the meeting, he raced up two flights of stairs with a couple of friends. To their amazement, said Dr. Graham, the only one not winded by the climb was the doctor with one lung. His healthy lung had expanded, had completely filled the hollow space in his chest cavity.

Since that first dramatic case, hundreds of lung amputations have been performed throughout the world, with great success. "In suitable cases," continued Dr. Graham, "where the cancer is not too far advanced, the operation can be done with a mortality of only 10 per cent. When the cancer is advanced, however, the mortality jumps to 40 or 50 per cent."

Doctor Prescribes 'Lots Of Whisky' for Patient

In artery ailments, such as arteriosclerosis or Buerger's disease, patients are often attacked by muscular weakness so severe that their legs buckle under them. To tone up the muscles, doctors try to send a large supply of blood to the legs. For this they give drugs to expand the blood vessels, injections of salt solution, or even cut certain tracts in the sympathetic nervous system. As a check on the blood supply they take the temperature of the skin: if the temperature rises, they assume that the leg is getting a large supply of blood.

But Dr. Samuel Silbert of Manhattan's Mt. Sinai hospital has long been dissatisfied with this method of checking blood supply. He had a theory that there must be a difference between the temperature of the skin and that of the underlying muscles. With Physiologist Mae Friedlander and Physical Therapist William Bierman, he tested the effects of various common drugs on both skin and muscle temperatures.

Aspirin, the experimenters found, merely raises the temperatures of the skin. Tobacco is harmful; it lowers both skin and muscle temperature. In their tests they decided that the most valuable drug for arteriosclerosis is alcohol, for it sends muscle temperature way up. "I make my patients drink plenty of whisky," said gentle Dr. Silbert.

History Explains April 1

Historical explanations of the fooling on April 1 are quite varied. One man tells us that the custom came from India centuries ago; another that it is a relic of the time when in calendar reform the new year was transferred from April to January 1 and the jokers made bought "New Year's gifts," others that it is a survival of folklore in France, whence it was carried to Scotland by some of the gay lads who fought for France when there was no fighting to do at home. In France, and in French Canada, the victim of a joke on this date is called "un poisson d'avril." In Scotland he or she is a gowk, the local word for a cuckoo, reputed to be the most foolish of birds.

Depression Diet

Despite hard times, U. S. diets have grown more nutritious in the past 10 years. Reasons: (1) more home canning; (2) more truck farming; (3) wide government distribution of such vitamin-rich foods as oranges, grapefruit, milk, celery. In spite of all this, the average U. S. diet has plenty of room for improvement, especially in some southern rural districts where the people still live mainly on hog and corn. In a survey made from 1934 to 1937, says Dr. Cummings, "out of every hundred families throughout the country, only 23 enjoyed diets which, from the nutritional standpoint, were good; 51 had diets which were fair; and 26 followed poor diets."

Bats Have Extra Sense

Bats, which hunt their food at night and fly at terrific speed, might often crash into obstacles if they had to rely on their eyesight. Instead, they have a mysterious extra sense. Their ears, and possibly the delicate membrane of their wings, are so subtly sensitive to changes of air pressure and sound wave that they are able to "hear" an object in the darkness before they can see it. Scientists recently released a blindfolded bat in a room crisscrossed with a network of piano wires. The bat—rendered truly "blind as a bat" by the bandage—flitted about the room at top speed for more than an hour, and never touched a wire.

KIWANIS NEWS

The Kiwanians enjoyed another interesting meeting on Monday evening of this week. Henry C. Schneider delivered an excellent resume of the outstanding features of the Mid-Winter Convention of the Michigan District of Kiwanis International which was held in Lansing on Wednesday of last week. He stressed the necessity of civic groups such as the Kiwanis club assuming leadership in community projects as well as civilian defense in this critical period of our history.

Schneider urged the Kiwanians not to neglect their civic program even though they were exerting greater efforts toward aiding the national defense program.

The chairman of the various Kiwanis committees spoke briefly upon the projects which their groups would undertake during the coming year. These projects are very essential to the community, and it is hoped that the committees may successfully complete many of these worthwhile endeavors during the current year.

New Type Airship

Resembling a flying torpedo, a unique "Ray Ship" which has attracted governmental interest was recently unveiled by its inventor, Ralph A. Yelli, a civil engineer of Los Angeles. It is a lighter-than-air craft and is propelled on a principle that combines the features of a rocket ship and the vacuum power of Mother Nature's tornado. When completed it will weigh three-quarters less than existing dirigibles, carry four times the load and travel 200 miles per hour with the maneuverability of a plane.

French Mountain

Mount Blanc, (White mountain) located in France, near the Italian border, about 40 miles south of Lake Geneva, is the highest mountain in Europe, outside of the Caucasus rising 15,782 feet above sea level.

African Native Adopts Strange Method of Rest

Many of the dark-skinned natives of central and southern Africa knew how to raise crops before men from Europe came to their lands. Instead of hoes, they used digging sticks. Nowadays they are provided with hoes which they have obtained by trade with the whites.

The Belgian Congo is largely covered with forests, but there are stretches of grass land. When the grass is dry, it is burnt and the ground is broken up with hoes. Sometimes all the men and women of a tribe take part in clearing the land. The chief crops are corn and sweet potatoes.

When the crops are growing, children stand on guard, and are expected to scare away animals which might do damage. They throw stones, or shake sticks, at baboons and antelopes which come near.

The hippopotamus is another animal which likes to visit gardens, especially at night. To save the crops from that beast, fences are built. A hippopotamus might easily butt down a fence, but he seems to fear a trap and let it alone.

Another source of food is hunting. Some tribes depend almost entirely on the game they kill. Their weapons include clubs, spears, bows and arrows, throwing knives and swords.

When fighting against other tribes the warriors sometimes put poison on the tips of their weapons. The poison is composed of juice from certain plants or venom taken from snakes.

African hunters kill elephants, lions, leopards, and many smaller animals. Elephants almost always are captured in traps before they are slain. Hunters of the Baganda tribe are not allowed to eat the flesh of elephants they kill, so they use it in trading with other tribes.

Miracle Plastic Is

Perfect for Curtains

Imagine shower curtains which will not mildew, crack, crease, rot, fade, shrink or water-spot—and in addition are the most heavenly colors you ever saw and of a texture you love to touch. Sounds too good to be true, but along with the other miracles of modern chemistry which have given us such things as nylon stockings and lucite furniture, comes this new plastic for shower curtains.

This is not a coated or textile fabric, but is a plastic, similar to the glass-like suspensions and dyes which will stretch and then return to original sizes. The curtains will also give slightly if pulled, but the curtain always returns to its original shape. There are window curtains to match the shower curtains so that the bathroom may be ensembled.

'Cleopatra's Needle'

A plaque giving a few historical details about "Cleopatra's Needle," the first explanatory notice that has ever been attached to the obelisk during its 60 years in New York, has been placed on the west face of the base of the monument in Central park.

Many visitors had inquired of park attendants, and of the department by mail and telephone, what the tall shaft of stone carved with Egyptian hieroglyphs was. Accordingly, the park department designed a plaque, which the New York Historical society had cast in bronze and which was set recently. It reads:

"Cleopatra's Needle. This obelisk was erected first at Heliopolis, Egypt, in 1800 B.C. It was removed to Alexandria in 12 B.C. by the Romans. Presented by the Khedive of Egypt to the City of New York, it was erected here on February 22, 1881, through the generosity of William H. Vanderbilt."

Moving to Small Towns

A "back-to-the-country" movement of population seems definitely under way in Pennsylvania, but it is not exactly a trek "back to the land," H. R. Cottam, rural sociologist of Pennsylvania State college, commented in reviewing preliminary reports of the 1940 census.

More people leaving the big cities between 1930 and 1940 appear to have settled in small towns than actually became farmers.

This shift in population may have been partly a reflection of the close business conditions which prevailed during the decade. Current industrial activity stimulated by the defense program may bring a temporary reversal from the trend.

The population of the state as a whole increased only 2.8 per cent in the past 10 years in comparison with 10.8 for the 1920-30 period.

500 Alien Weeds

California is now playing host to more than 500 alien species of weeds that are costing the state millions of dollars annually. Some of the worst pests among them are comparative newcomers and one or two new species are slipping across the state boundary lines almost every year.

This estimate is made in a survey of weed problems in the state by W. S. Ball of the state department of agriculture and Dr. W. W. Robbins of the University of California college of agriculture.

Some 25,000,000 acres of California rangelands, says the survey, are now dominated by alien plants which have replaced much of the native vegetation.

Rural Women Invited To M. S. C. Feb. 2-6

How to feed and clothe a typical rural Michigan family during these days of changing prices, war emergency and shortages and substitutes will feature the program designed for women who attend home economics sessions during the coming 27th annual Farmers' Week at Michigan State College on Feb. 2-6.

Home economics programs are scheduled Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. In addition, many of the women will be on the campus for Monday events which include meetings of the leading dairy breed associations. Monday also is Poultry Day with dairy and poultry banquets in the evening. Friday with its livestock sales, finals in rural drama competition and features of the Michigan State Grange will draw other women visitors.

One of the traditional events retained for the women is the annual style show in which women students at the college model garments they have made in clothing and textile classes. This is scheduled for Thursday afternoon in Fairchild theater.

War and the cost of living are featured in home economics talks Tuesday, Feb. 3. In the afternoon a panel discussion on consumer buying will present ideas from eight participants, with Dr. Irma Gross of the college stage as chairman.

Wednesday is Nutrition Day. Dr. Marie Dye, dean of home economics, is also serving as chairman of the Michigan Nutrition Defense committee. She is to offer pointers on the state program. Fourteen men and women will exchange comments in an afternoon nutrition roundtable discussion.

Sociology and a description of women in wartime Britain feature the Thursday schedule, followed in the afternoon by the style show. Exhibits planned for the week include a consumer information center, a room adapted to family living in wartime, and nutrition materials for county committees.

CHILD STUDY CLUB

The Child Study club met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. John Hale for their regular business meeting. After a brief session the program was turned over to Miss Ida Brown, who read a paper on the early settlement of South America, in which she told of the life of the Indian tribes under the Incas. She then pointed out the changes that occurred in the system of government after a conquest by the Spaniards. This paper was interesting and enjoyed by all.

Our Seniors

John (Fireball) Hale was born in Ohio, October 29, 1924. He is 6 ft. tall, weighs 170 lbs., has brown eyes and blond hair and maybe we should add—a red face, as he is always blushing. Johnny goes to the movies and has especially liked "Sun Valley Serenade." On Saturday nights he often listens to Guy Lombardo or busy nights to the Hi-Y club. Last week, his favorite subject in physics was discussed by Rev. early in the spring Johnny got out of his golf club and "drives" away. At In a World at War, Mr. Marmory, the various exercise he likes, but his favorite is golf. He has been to the beach and any other thing, but long he remembered by the boys. Rev. Johnny says his ambition next year is to be employed at the Federal Reserve. Five feet, seven inches tall, weighs 154 pounds and has eyes like Jane. 20, 1923. Jean Haley. She likes the color blue and the movie "Birth of the Blues." After an entertaining evening show very often over the radio in hot days and hot beer. Jean finds listening to the radio an interesting pastime and likes to hear the song "Be Honest With Me" and the Lux Radio Theatre. Her favorite subject in Government and sports is baseball. Next summer Jean, like Johnny, is anticipating a job at the screw plant.

Boys Lose To Milan

Chester lost her third consecutive basketball game last Friday night at the hands of the Milan team. The final score stood at 41-13.

The first quarter was rather uneventful with Milan plugging in two baskets and three foul shots; while Stan Policht from Chelsea was able to get one basket along with a foul shot.

The second quarter proved more exciting with Reuben Westfall of Milan pulling up four baskets as well as one foul shot. Hawarny and Zentz also succeeded in bringing home the bacon with two baskets each. The score at the half was 24-5 with Milan in the lead.

The third quarter was Chelsea's turn to shine, but not too brightly. Kern sank a basket for the local team, with Kusterer getting two points on foul shots; and Stan Policht getting one of the same kind. Kusterer of Milan, boosted his team with both a basket and a foul shot. Thus the score, 28-9.

The fourth quarter was the scene of some fine playing by Westfall from Milan, who made three baskets and one foul shot, bringing his total points for the game to 18. S. Policht from Chelsea made a single basket for the second team also lost their game, 36-21, with Kelsey high point man from Milan, with six baskets. Only one of the only Chelsea player to get a foul shot on a basket.

Girls Defeat Pinckney

Yes sir, the girls finally did it! They won their first basketball game.

The struggle was a difficult one, but our girls proved that they had what it takes by coming through with a 10-7 victory. The margin was not as great, nevertheless, it was enough to decide the victors.

In the starting squad for Pinckney were: Gullagher, Craft and Read, forwards; Burns, Shirley and Lavey, guards. Read was high point man, with three points to her credit.

Chester's starting squad was: Mervin, Almond and Lucht, forwards; Harper, Collins and Grabowski, guards; Feldkamp, Schweinfurth and Lyons also saw action. Peg Almond led for Chelsea, with six points to her credit. Virginia Lucht collected four points for the team.

Johnny says his ambition next year is to be employed at the Federal Reserve. Five feet, seven inches tall, weighs 154 pounds and has eyes like Jane. 20, 1923. Jean Haley. She likes the color blue and the movie "Birth of the Blues." After an entertaining evening show very often over the radio in hot days and hot beer. Jean finds listening to the radio an interesting pastime and likes to hear the song "Be Honest With Me" and the Lux Radio Theatre. Her favorite subject in Government and sports is baseball. Next summer Jean, like Johnny, is anticipating a job at the screw plant.

The club also sponsored an after-school dance last Friday night, with a number of young people from Milan in attendance. The venture was successful and may be repeated in the future.

The Hi-Y club will act as hosts to representative groups from the League of M. Hi-Y District Monday, Jan. 19. This is the first mid-winter meeting to be held by the organization. The local club members were hosts to this district at a spring meeting two years ago.

The boys are also looking forward to their fourth annual Parents' Night, to be held Feb. 3, in conjunction with the Home Ec. Club. The girls have charge of the dinner, and the boys the program and general arrangements.

Make Furniture

Students of the school shop are making five hundred feet of black walnut and live hundred feet of cherry and white wood. Of this wood the students are turning out some very nice tables, magazine racks, table lamps, and tables and cabinets.

The forge is busy most of the time and some good cold chisels and hammers have also been hammered out by the students.

From the metal lathe, hammers, punches, screws and plumb bobs are some of the projects. The boys are learning what makes it tick.

Band News

The band has elected the following officers for the rest of the year: Larry Dietle, president; Lillian Allhouse, vice-president; and Robert Perkins, secretary. The treasurer will be appointed by Mr. Richards sometime in the future.

There are several new members who have entered the band in the past week, and others are expected soon.

After Game Dance

Friday night after the basketball game with Milan we cheered ourselves up by having a dance. The dance was sponsored by the Hi-Y club and a very good job they did of it too—judging by the super time we all had.

Most everyone who likes to dance (and we all do) was there. The girls as usual in that popular costume, skirts and sweaters. The favorite color seemed to be yellow and bloomed in sweaters everywhere. The Milan student body was given an invitation and a lot of the boys and girls took us on it. We certainly enjoyed having them here—especially some of the cheerleaders—didn't we boys?

The Swing Band really outdid themselves and played most of the evening. They looked as well as they sounded, with their new stands and white shirts and black ties to match. With our regular drummer boy in Florida a new one had to be enlisted and we must say Kenny Slocum sure can beat it out.

After refreshments (cakes and cookies) we danced some more. Promptly at 12 o'clock (a special late hour for parties) we trudged happily home.

Seeing Is Believing

Did you see?—Talk about flashy! I don't know whether I like them or not. I'll bet they're nice and warm, still they're kind of lumpy. Maybe we ought to let you in on what we're talking about. Here it is: Last week the girls started wearing boys' flannel shirts outside their skirts. Well, why not? When the thermometer goes sub-zero anything is acceptable. However, regardless of the mercury the shirts would be prominent. Many flandering remarks have been made and the boys and faculty fished out some disapproving looks. But we can take it. Mr. Cameron (for example) asked: "Where did she get the good-looking nightshirt?"

Anyway, time marches on and no doubt so will the shirts. Just be patient.

Girls' Athletics

Bowling scores:
Tigers' Lions.....525
Dinah's Bearcats.....502
Mina's Mousers.....498
Merkel's Greenhorns.....467.

As you can see, the bowling scores were very close this week with Tigers' Lions a scant 23 points in the lead. For the first time Mina's Mousers dropped down to third place. All this changing around will make next week's score interesting.

F. F. A.

A meeting was held Tuesday night at 7:30 for all the Freshman boys interested in F. F. A. work. After the meeting they played basketball and then refreshments were served.

The F. F. A. boys are also working on possibilities for F. F. A. basketball games with other schools.

Chorus

The Chorus is planning a tobogganing party for sometime this week. They haven't decided on the date so far. They are to meet at school and then go to the country. For transportation they are thinking of a horse and sleigh. They will then return to school for refreshments.

New Skating Pond

Robert Osterle and Philip Tompkins have been busy engaged during the past week in building a small skating pond at the east end of the school building. This pond, small as it is, may prove to be a popular place for boys and girls over the week-end.

Federal Income Tax Facts

Forms for filing returns of income for 1941 have been sent to persons who filed returns last year. Failure to receive a form, however, does not relieve a taxpayer of his obligation to file his return and pay the tax on time—on or before March 16 if the return is made on the calendar-year basis, as is the case with most individuals.

Forms may be obtained upon request, written or personal, from the offices of collectors and from deputy collectors of internal revenue in the larger cities and towns.

A person should file his return on Form 1040, unless his gross income for 1941 does not exceed $3,000 and consists wholly of salary, wages, or other compensation for personal services, dividends, interest, rent, annuities, or royalties, in which event he may elect to file it on Form 1040A, a simplified form on which the tax may be readily ascertained by reference to a table contained in the form.

The return must be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which the taxpayer has his legal residence or principal place of business on or before midnight of March 16, 1942. The tax may be paid in full at the time of filing the return or in four equal installments, due on or before March 16, June 15, September 15, and December 15.

In making out your income tax return carefully read the instructions that accompany the form. If you need more information, it may be obtained at the office of the collector of internal revenue, deputy collector, or an internal revenue agent in charge.

Remember that single persons or married persons not living with husband or wife, who earn as much as $1,443 a week for the 52 weeks of the year, and married persons living together who have aggregate earnings of as much as $28.85 a week for the year, are required to file returns.

The strength of the United States cannot be measured by the fighting skill of her soldiers, sailors, and aviators alone. We must have a home force that is capable of producing materials and supplies to make the men in the front lines realize that the folks at home are behind them in their fighting strength.

This cannot be done when we wantonly and recklessly maim, injure, and kill people in highway traffic, in the home, and in industry. Never before in the history of the United States has it been so important that you and I everybody attend strictly to production and do it as safely as possible.

You can help in this endeavor. What are you doing to assist in the prevention of accidents everywhere?

It's smart to be careful.

Home Accident Deaths Highest In Five Years

Infections arising from cuts and scratches play major role on the home accident front. Above: The kitchen butcher knife is a poor whittling blade, especially when it is drawn toward the body. Right: A pair last year killed 16,000 Americans in their homes. Never use a chair or other furniture as an improvised ladder.

Washington, D. C.—Carelessness is writing a new stanza to "Home Sweet Home."

According to the American Red Cross, home accidents last year accounted for their greatest fatality toll in five years. Some 33,000 persons lost their lives through falls, burns, poisoning and other hazards of everyday home life. Although less dramatic, consequently less apt to attract public interest—home accident fatalities ran a close second to death on the street and highway, trailing by 1,500 deaths.

With carelessness playing the leading role, more than half of home accident deaths were attributed to falls—occurring on stairs, slippery floors, insecure rugs and steps of chairs and other articles of furniture as improvised stepladders. Burns and accidental poisoning followed in that order.

Injuries causing varying degrees of disability accounted for nearly 5,000,000 cases involving hospitalization or care of a physician, the Red Cross pointed out.

To reduce accidents in the home and on the farm, the Red Cross is launching its annual accident prevention program the last week of October. Throughout the nation, in schools and through the Junior Red Cross, some 10,000,000 "check lists" listing accident hazards will be distributed. Homeholders will be urged to conduct a cellar-to-attic check-up to determine and correct hazards.

Lansing—A session of the Michigan legislature with no partisan politics!

If assurances from the leaders from both camps of the state's divided government carry through, Michigan citizens will witness a strange and unusual spectacle Monday, January 19, when the Republican controlled legislature answers the call for a special war session issued by Democratic Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner.

Calling the legislators back to Lansing, Governor Van Wagoner made it clear that he wanted the legislature to confine itself to "this war emergency." That means the Governor wants it understood beforehand that there will be no injection of partisan disputes or other controversy into the consideration of strictly necessary war measures.

Simultaneously, Republican Speaker Howard Nugent notified the Governor that the dominant Republican majority in the House of Representatives would cooperate fully in the consideration of wartime measures.

War Needs in State
Just what the wartime measures will include were not definitely outlined by Governor Van Wagoner in his announcement.

He may ask appropriations totalling $5,000,000 for wartime spending. Possible expenditures would include expansion and equipment of the Michigan State Troops (Home Guard organizations), further subsidy for the State Council of Defense to finance its program of civilian retraining, auxiliary police, fire protection, air raid wardens, medical units, state police expansion and tie-in civilian defense activities.

Echoes in State House
Echoes of the storm which wrecked the fragile structure of bi-partisan government in 1941 still ring through the State House as the legislature approaches its war special session.

Memories of the legislature which refused to adjourn are still fresh and the politicians in both camps are inclined to be a bit jittery.

The personnel of the legislature, which defied the governor at the regular session, is unchanged. There is no indication that the temper of the leaders of the opposition has undergone any definite change. The "show me" attitude is apparent in both houses on the part of at least some of the members, who will be alert for any semblance of an attempt to play politics in the special session.

At the same time there is strong evidence of the desire of Republican leaders to cooperate with the Governor to the fullest extent possible in the matter of wartime emergency legislation. Requests of the Governor within that category, will be speedily granted. No one seems to doubt that further, Republican leaders may be depended upon to avoid any controversy, which may tangle up the defense program or stall quick and united action on Michigan's part toward meeting the national crisis. It is to their party's best interest that a Republican legislature goes along in that phase of bi-partisan government.

Test At Hand
Governor Van Wagoner has stated that he does not contemplate injecting such issues as the appropriation of funds for civilian non-defense governmental activities into the special session picture. This does not preclude action of other matters mutually agreed upon, however. It is here that the bi-partisan government idea may be put to another test.

"We would need a pretty clear understanding that there would be no opposition to any non-defense items brought into the special session," the Governor has been quoted as saying.

There has been increasing pressure upon the Governor from several of the state departments and commissions for additional funds, with which to operate for the remainder of the year. One such request comes from the Labor Mediation Board, which has been concededly under-financed from its inception. Most departmental budgets have been upset by salary increases ordered by the Civil Service Commission.

Some of these requests for funds may be considered if the executive office and the legislature can reach a mutual agreement. They may furnish the test as to whether or not bi-partisan government is more than a dream.

Defying Superstition
Can Governor "Pat" Van Wagoner defy a superstition and get away with it?

The Governor's "advisors" are said to have called his attention, with fear in their voices, to an old superstition of the Capitol that the governor who calls back the legislature for a special session pays with his job. The rumor is that the Governor paid some attention to those who begged him to beware, but decided to risk his political neck anyway. So the legislature will come back. A survey of gubernatorial history does not bear out the superstition and indicates that some governors, who went down in defeat after calling back the legislature, would have lost at the polls anyway.

Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald called back the legislature late in 1935, but he had already been defeated at the November election and convened the special session at the request of Governor-elect Frank Murphy to consider social security legislation.

War-time necessity has chased away fear of the jinx from the "front" office.

Sometimes, in the whirl of governmental procedure, John Q. Public rises up and takes over a function usually performed by special groups and interests. He puts pressure on government for something HE wants.

From the outside, it looks as though public pressure is being recognized in the matter of bi-partisan administration of the state's defense program. At any rate, public demand for some such arrangement may have something to do with action of the state's officials, responsible only to the electorate. And such public pressure is not unwelcome to the officials of the bi-partisan administrative board, composed of all the elective state officers, because it may remove some of the party pressure from their own necks.

Are You a Free Reader?
By Ruth Taylor
Raymond Clapper, that most level-headed of columnists, wrote this trenchant statement recently: "I am less concerned about the freedom of the press than I am about the freedom of the reader. You won't keep a free press unless the reader also is tolerant, open-minded, interested in hearing both sides."

How do you read? How do you listen? Are you carried away by positive statements without stopping to consider they might have been made for that very purpose?

Or are you a free reader? Can you study both sides calmly and collectedly, weighing the source of each statement, judging by past performance and arriving at your own decision after careful thought and due consideration of all the facts in the case? If you can do that, you are a free reader.

Today there is a definite attempt being made to create panic among our people by false rumors authoritatively stated, by vitriolic charges against those in authority, by untrue accusations against various minority groups, by a constant harping criticism of anything and everything, by mushroom tales of disaster and ultimate chaos. This is definitely an enemy air-raid on the mind.

The wisest man I ever knew used to say, whenever anyone began to tell him anything—"State the facts. Don't characterize." Apply that to propaganda or to articles, or speeches. Shear them of characterizations and of all statements prefaced by the catch phrases "it is said," "everyone knows," "they say," etc., and see what you have left. You'll be surprised how little it is in almost every case.

Analyze what you read and hear, and study with an open, poised mind, ready to admit a point but not ready to compromise with a demagogic attempt to stir you to impatience or intolerance.

Books for Buddies

Ten million books will be sought for men of the United States armed forces and Merchant Marine through this poster, designed by the Nationally known illustrator, C. E. Falls. Sponsors of the Victory Book Campaign are the American Red Cross, American Library Association and the United Service Organizations.

A free press calls for and deserves free readers—men and women who so value the Bill of Rights which insures them this boon of knowledge, that they treat this right with reverence, keeping themselves ready to learn all the truth, and to form their own opinions according to their individual wills, not at the orders of any dictators. In this time of war, the only way we can keep a free press is to deserve it by being free readers.

Community Hospital In Chelsea?

hospital bill if and when one found it necessary.

Location and Type of Hospital
A tentative plan calls for a committee to select sites, collect funds, establish legal opinions, hiring of an architect, etc., but no funds would be expended until the finally accepted plan was acceptable to the Village Council.

Has This Ever Been Done Before?
Yes. There are numerous towns in the state having community hospitals. Tecumseh, Michigan, has a fine example of what can be done when the whole community supports such a program.

How About the Attention of Specialists When Indicated?
Certified specialists in Jackson, Ann Arbor and Detroit have shown a great deal of interest and would be more than willing to do work here when called upon to do so. All of the local physicians are in agreement that the locality is large enough to support a small hospital.

How Large Should Such a Plant Be?
It is estimated that for a start a 10-bed building (including delivery room, operating room and X-ray room) capable of ready expansion. Such a building, fully equipped, would cost approximately $20,000.00.

What Is the Feeling of the Local People Regarding Such a Proposition?
Casual investigation fails to show anyone opposed to the village owning their own institution. On the contrary, everyone is enthusiastic as to its worth and many have signified their willingness to contribute funds for this undertaking. One source has made a promise of $10,000.00. Remember that such payments are classed as charity and are deductible from your income tax report.

When Completed Who Will Manage the Hospital?
A board of trustees, elected for staggered terms and assisted by a rotating medical advisory member, would run the administrative part of the plant, similar to a board of directors in any corporation.

How Would Fees Here Compare With Other Places?
Since it is proposed to be sure of a sufficient sum of money to build and equip a ten-bed hospital completely, the cost of maintenance would be kept to the lowest minimum consistent with principles of good management. It is honestly believed that such cost would be less than similar services elsewhere.

Where Can Further Information Be Had?
You are invited and urged to write your inquiries to this office. Questions and answers will appear in this column in a later issue.

Shark More Valuable
In many respects the shark is more valuable to man than the pig. From the hides of these marine scavengers various grades of durable leather can be made; medicinal and other oils are obtained from the liver and intestines; the head can be converted into glue; the teeth sold to jewelers; fins exported to China; bones ground into fertilizer, and the flesh used as food. Shark meat not only being edible, but very palatable.
