Fire Truck Chasers Will Be Prosecuted

Repeated warnings have been issued by village officials relative to motorists following the fire truck when it is answering an alarm, but regardless of these warnings many motorists continue to disobey the law. Fire Chief Howard K. Brooks states that mere warnings are to be discontinued and that the Chief of Police has been instructed to arrest anyone who violates the law in regard to following the truck, parking within a block of a fire, or who drives over fire hose.

The state law regarding the behavior of motorists during a fire run is as follows:

Upon the approach of any police or fire department vehicle giving audible signal by bell, siren or exhaust whistle, the driver of every other vehicle shall immediately drive the same to a position as near as possible and parallel to the right hand edge or curb of the highway, clear of any intersection of highways, and shall stop and remain in such position unless otherwise directed by a police or fire department vehicle.

It shall be unlawful for the driver of any vehicle other than one on official business to follow any fire apparatus traveling in response to a fire alarm closer than five hundred feet or to drive into or park such vehicle within one block where fire apparatus has stopped in answer to a fire alarm.

One Ticket Nominated At Tuesday Caucuses

Following the usual custom in Chelsea, very few people turned out for the village caucuses on Tuesday night—in fact, a total of only about 20 voters were sufficiently interested in the affairs of the village to attend the two meetings.

The Independent party failed to nominate any candidates, and voted to have Ernest Adam, chairman, appoint a party committee of three members to name a ticket. The committee consists of H. C. Schneider, M. J. Baxter and Henry Ahmiller.

The People's party caucus was held immediately following adjournment of the Independent party meeting, and the following ticket was placed in nomination:

President—A. D. Mayer.
Clerk—Olen Hart.
Treasurer—Gurney Hopper.
Trustees—Dahue Riker, Claude Spiegelberg, George L. Staffan.
Assessor—S. W. Schenk.
Library Board—Mrs. A. A. Palmer, Mrs. P. G. Schaible.
Party Committee—S. W. Schenk, Olen Hart, Dahue Riker.
The election will be held on Monday, March 9.

"V for Victory" Party Will Be Held Friday

Mrs. Dudley Holmes, chairman of the Red Cross dance committee, states that her committee has completed its plans for the "V for Victory Party" to be held in the Chelsea high school gymnasium on Friday evening, February 20, from 9 to 12:30. Gordon Hardy and his Orchestra will feature the evening. The committee has also arranged to feature a patriotic program and they have selected their excellent decorations with that end in view. A fine program has been worked out for all the attendants, and from all indications the party should be one of the best ever held in this vicinity.

A fine band of musicians will play for this affair. Gordon Hardy composed and directed the recent Union Opera at the University of Michigan and he is generally considered to be one of the most accomplished pianists in this district. His orchestra is currently rated as one of the best Ann Arbor dance bands. Gordon states that he will welcome requests for popular numbers and he has assured the committee of his wholehearted cooperation to make this affair a memorable occasion.

There will be a variety of games and cards for those who do not care to dance. All of the proceeds will be turned over to the local chapter of the Red Cross, and Mrs. A. L. Steger, local chairman, states that this money will be used exclusively to further the activities of the Chelsea chapter. Here is an opportunity for all to play a part in the Defense Program, so let's support this activity by attending the "V for Victory Party!"

Auxiliary Exhibit Will Feature Defense Effort

National Headquarters has asked each American Legion Auxiliary Unit to prepare and display a "Defense Window" in its town or city.

Chelsea's defense display will take the form of an exhibit of all the types of work done here for the war effort, with the highlight of the display to be the roster of names of Chelsea men now serving in the armed forces of the United States.

This display may be seen the week of February 23-28 in the large window of Vogel & Wurster's store.

The American Legion Auxiliary is most grateful to Vogel & Wurster for the use of their window.

FRESHMEN COLLECT OLD METAL

C. I. O. Loses In Battle To Control Employees At Fed. Screw Works

Employees of the Chelsea Division of Federal Screw Works rejected efforts of the C. I. O. to control the local labor situation when they voted on Tuesday to accept the Chelsea Industrial Workers' Association, Inc. as their sole bargaining agency.

Results of the vote were so decisive that there should be little doubt in the minds of the C. I. O. that Chelsea workers wish to have their negotiations administered by an organization which is controlled locally. The vote for the independent union was 489, with the C. I. O. receiving 137, and four voting for no union. About 25 votes were challenged, and about 50 workers who were eligible to vote failed to do so.

The election was held under the direction of the Detroit office of the National Labor Relations Board.

An intensive campaign has been carried on by both unions during the past few weeks, with the C. I. O. importing organizers from Detroit, Pontiac and Jackson in an effort to win the election.

The Chelsea Industrial Workers' Association, Inc. had a contract with Federal Screw Works which made their organization bargaining agent for its members. Results of the election make the independent union sole bargaining agent for all employees at the Chelsea Division of Federal Screw.

This independent union was incorporated under the laws of the State of Michigan in August, 1941. Officers are: President, Charles Thomas; secretary, Margaret Heselshwerdt; treasurer, Rha Alexander; and a governing body consisting of about 25 members.

March 1 Is Deadline On Heating Equipment

On February 16, 1942, the United States Government, through the War Production Board, issued an order which applies to Michigan and fifteen or sixteen other states in the Union, which prohibits the delivery by any utility or dealer of new house heating equipment that may be used for heating purposes in a home, or other central space heating equipment, after March 1, 1942.

The order does permit any builder who is in the process of building a home, and has gas in his specifications, if the foundation of the home is completed by March 1, to install a new heating plant. In the case of a home that is already occupied, and the owner contemplates changing to gas fuel, he must have this change completed within ten days after the effective date of the order.

Therefore, in accordance with this order, the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company will not be able to take on any new customers for household heating, or for commercial or industrial space heating, after March 1, 1942, according to Charles R. Henderson, General Manager. This order does not affect existing homes that are now heated with gas, nor does it affect the use of gas for cooking, water heating, gas refrigeration, and other sundry domestic usages.

This curtailment of new house heating customers becomes necessary due to the increased gas requirements for war production and civilian uses, and because the scarcity of materials for the construction of additional pipelines and other facilities have taxed existing natural gas pipelines in certain areas of the United States up to the capacity of meeting existing demands.

40 AND 8 MEETS HERE TONIGHT

Washtenaw County Voiture No. 957, Society of the 40 and 8, Carl Mayer presiding Grand Chef de Gare, will hold a dinner and initiation at the local Legion Home on Thursday evening, February 19 (tonight). Broesamle for their services as chief registrars.

Treasury Department

Bureau of Internal Revenue
Washington, D. C.Federal Income Tax Facts
No. 7

In the event of failure to make and file an income tax return as required by law within the prescribed time, a certain percent of the amount of the tax is required to be added to the tax unless failure to file the return within the prescribed time is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner to be due to reasonable cause and not to willful neglect.

The amount to be added to the tax is 5 per cent if the failure is for more than thirty days, with an additional 5 per cent for each additional thirty days or fraction thereof during which failure to file a return continues, not to exceed 25 per cent in the aggregate.

A taxpayer who files a tardy return and wishes to avoid the addition to the tax for delinquency must make an affirmative showing of all facts, alleged as a reasonable cause for failure to file the return on time, in the form of an affidavit which should be attached to the return. Alleged ignorance of the law does not constitute reasonable cause for delinquency.

Taxpayers should make every effort to file their returns within the time prescribed by law and thus avoid the possibility of the additions to the tax for delinquency in filing returns.

Do not forget that single persons or married persons not living with husband or wife, who earn as much as $14.43 a week for the 62 weeks of the year, and married persons living together who have aggregate earnings of as much as $28.86 a week for the year, are required to file returns.

JURECKI-WAHL WEDDING

At a morning ceremony in St. Mary church on Saturday, February 14, Helen Jurecki repeated her marriage vows to Lehman Wahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wahl of Sharon township. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Jurecki of Sylvan township.

Before the altar, banked with white gladioli, pink snapdragons and ferns, the nuptial mass was celebrated at 9 o'clock by Rev. F. Lawrence L. Dorr. The wedding music, including "Ave Maria," was rendered by the children's choir, with Sister M. Lorraine presiding at the organ.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin, fashioned with a lace yoke, fitted bodice and leg of mutton sleeves, the full skirt ending in a train. Her finger tip veil of tulle was caught in a crown of orange blossoms. She carried a gardenia on a white prayer book from which fell white streamers knotted with white sweet peas.

Veronica Jurecki, who was maid of honor for her sister, and Florence Heim, who attended as bridesmaid, wore floor length dresses of satin, fashioned alike with yokes and trimmings of lace and matching tiaras. The former was attired in pink and the latter in blue. They carried bouquets of mixed flowers tied with ribbons. The flower girl, dressed in white, was the groom's cousin, Doris Katz. She carried a basket of flowers. Richard Wahl served his brother as best man, and Joseph Kasl acted as usher.

A wedding breakfast for the families and friends was held at the home of the bride's parents after the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Wahl will make their home in the R. T. Butcher residence on Cavanaugh lake road.

CLEAR THE LINES FOR WAR CALLS!

Telephone lines are always busiest in mid-morning and mid-afternoon. Those are the "peak" periods for business calls. Right now, with the state and nation on a schedule of all-out production for war, this peak load is far greater than ever before. It takes a lot of telephone calls to make a tank or a bomber, and it's vitally important that such messages should not be delayed.

By doing your telephoning at off-peak hours and keeping your calls as short as possible, you'll improve your own service and give real help to America's effort in the war emergency.

A LETTER TO..

Chelsea

from Bridgetown, Barbados

(Written on the verandah of Cromer House, Shot Hall, Bridgetown, Barbados)

Everything but the kitchen sink. This article can serve as a summation for the Caribbean and the British West Indies—a sort of goulash of all the indigestible observations and facts which eventually clutter up the larger of a traveler's mind.

Probably nothing we have encountered has struck us so forcibly in the Caribbean as the number of people who talk to themselves. Everybody does it, black and white. They carry on interminable monologues while walking down the street, riding on the buses, everywhere. But there is a maxim down here which states that although one may talk to himself, he is quite all-right mentally. However, when he starts to answer himself back—look out!

The British are all right—at least the colonial editions of them. Naturally, some of them cannot avoid rubbing Americans the wrong way, but aren't there always people who are impossible, even in your own home town?

One thing they have been able to rub us about, and they have taken every advantage of it. Ever since 1930 we have been wont to poke fun at the English for Neville Chamberlain and Munich and their unpreparedness. But now they have Pearl Harbor. Frankly, we were caught napping, weren't we? American cocksureness was never before exposed in a worse light. And now we hear these words to the left and to the right of us: "I say, old boy, where were your intrepid aviators and your dauntless seamen when the bloody Japs came round on week-end leave?"

Incidentally, the colonialshere in the tropics do an incredible amount of imbibing. Usually there are gin swizzles in the afternoon, rum punches before dinner, and whiskeys and sodas in the evenings. And then some of the grizzled oldsters talk nostalgically of the "good old days" when drinking was begun in mid-morning! I have it on good authority that a bar in British Guiana has this placard displayed prominently: "If water rots your boots, think what it does to your stomach!"

Some Barbados prices: (in American money) gasoline per gallon, 33 cents; bread per loaf, six cents; fresh coconut, 18 cents; raw cane sugar per pound, 18 cents; butter all the way from New Zealand, per pound, 50 cents; haircuts, 22 cents.

A new sport discovered here: stick-fighting. Using sticks for swords, two duellists belabor each other about the head and shoulders until one of them is sufficiently bloody to call it quits.

Wages and standards of living are rather low in Barbados, when judged at American levels. Shopgirls toil long hours in downtown department stores for five Barbadian dollars, and workers in the cane mills work fiercely for twelve hours at a stretch for a dollar. Such standards result from the fact that the island is principally agricultural, with sugar and rum the most important products, and the war has decreased its ability to export cruelly.

During our Caribbean meanderings I have noticed the great number of former Great Lakes ore-boats which have been converted into freighters for the warring world. One lay in Bridgetown harbor for a time before she disappeared and I could swear the last time I saw her she was steaming under the Ambassador Bridge down the Detroit River!

We are very anxious to get to Rio as the next article is to be written from there. As a matter of fact, we shall believe that the trip has really begun when we hit Brazil. We have page after page of questions asked by people in Michigan—yourselves and your friends. And we are ready and willing to dive into the job of answering them.

Five minutes later... I have just had a phone call from Jones and Swan, our steamship agents. The boat for which we have been waiting patiently for five weeks, the boat which was to take us three thousand additional miles into the heart of South America, the most important boat of our trip—that boat is not coming!

It is the heaviest blow we have yet undergone. In the first flush of anger I thought of writing the Secretary of State, the President, Hitler, anybody; but I'm over that now. We have no way of knowing what the war has done to you so far; but it has merely meant to us that our boat isn't coming.

So now we must wait here in Bridgetown for another two weeks. Just between us, are you getting as tired of the Caribbean as we are? There is so much we have to do yet—all we can do is ask your indulgence for a short time.

If we have no luck in two weeks we may go to Panama and then down the west coast of South America through Peru and Chile, just reversing ourselves.

But we ARE going to South America. And we ARE going together.

You might do this one little thing for us. If you see the editor of The Chelsea Standard walking with an annoyed look on his face—reassure him—tell him we are doing all we can.

"... very special, or we have a nice pot
roast for less money"

You can take the pot roast, save your money, and still have a meat dish so delicious and tender that your family will rave about it.

Cheaper cuts of meat such as rump, flank, short ribs, round steak and chuck, are full-flavored, tender and appetizing when properly cooked over the simmer burner of the modern gas range.

The secret is sustained low-fire cooking with moisture for long intervals. If you have a modern gas range with a simmer burner you need not worry about the rising cost of meat.

Our Seniors

Charles Herbert Lane was born June 23, 1924. He has blue eyes, is 5-ft. 4 inches tall and weighs 200 lbs. His favorite sport is football—you can see why. Chuck likes to eat anything, but Chile in particular. On the radio he likes to hear Fred Allen and the song "White Cliffs of Dover".

He likes dogs and his favorite subject is mathematics. Even though Chuck spends a lot of time "tinkering" with his 1928 Chevie, he doesn't want to be a mechanic but a teacher and coach.
He, as yet, hasn't decided where he is going to school.

Chelsea Wins One!

Chelsea played one of its fastest and best basketball games of the season last Tuesday, chalking up their first victory of the season against Pinckney. Pinckney, as yet, had not been defeated, and Chelsea in turn had not won a ball game, making the outcome all the more spectacular.

Chelsea took the lead in the first quarter, bringing the score to 5 for the local lads and 2 for their opposition. Chelsea, managed to hold the ball throughout the rest of the game, inspite of the fact that the other team became determined to regain the ball in the last half. The score at the half was 18 to 16, and the score at the end of the third quarter was 28 to 11.
The final score, resulting in the win, stood at 33 to 18.

High point men for the local team were Kusterer (15 points) and Stan Policht (12 points). Palmer was the high point man for Pinckney.

Chelsea vs. Pinckney (Second team) Chelsea's march to victory was followed by blowing horns, cheers and whistles. Do you know why Chelsea won? Well, come a little closer and let me whisper into your ear the true facts of the game. In a small room under the high school Coach Miller barked out his orders; the boys then darted to the gym with confidence.

During the first quarter Chelsea took a lead of 8 to 1 and held it, the score at the end being 29 to 19.

This was Chelsea's second win and Pinckney's first loss.

We salute Bud Slane who led the scoring attack and we cheer our able and ambitious captain, Joe Hale.

Chelsea vs. U. High—Second team
The U. High boys toured to Chelsea Friday night for the game. The game started after Captain Hale dished out some orders. By the half, U. High led by a large margin.

In the fourth quarter with two minutes to play Chelsea made a comeback. The score at this time was 14 to 18. Rademacher then sank two foul shots which made the score 16 to 18. Chelsea then lost the ball and the game ended, 16 to 20 in favor of U.
High.

The high point honors were shared by Rademacher and Modack for Chelsea.

Lose To U. High

University High school, who had won only one game this year, defeated the local team last Friday night. After Chelsea's victory Tuesday night, the team was very hopeful, but fate intervened and they were defeated, 44-21.

Chelsea made only two points in the first half, both of them foul shots.
The Ann Arbor boys made a total of 24 points during the same period.

The second team lost their game, 40-16. The coach of the U. High second team was Dave Nelson, former star of the Michigan eleven.

Conservation Club

Recently the Chelsea Rod and Gun club has organized a junior branch of their club, the Junior Conservation club. The president is Charles Downer, and Don Heurion is vice-president.

One of the things the club is planning to do is to put game feeders in the country and bird houses in the city. Mr. Bust is the advisor and the club is planning some fishing trips, hunting trips, coon and fox hunts next fall.

Mr. Hart attended the last meeting and gave the boys a lot of tips on handling firearms in safety. He also showed the boys some excellent pistol shooting.

Mr. Murphy also attended a previous meeting and gave the boys a lot of advice about fishing through the ice.

Ben East is going to talk about "Alaska, the Great Land" in the high school gymnasium on February 25.
This is sponsored by the Chelsea Rod and Gun club and the public is invited.

Home Economics

The girls in Home Economics are making note books on good designing.
The covers of these books are to apply to good designing and to be the girls' own origination. The girls in Home Economics 2 are also making note books on types of furniture, how old furniture is adapted to the present furniture and space relationship.

The 7th grade is working on the sewing machine. Last week they had a contest to see who could thread the needle the fastest.

Chorus

The Chorus is learning a group of new selections. They are learning a song in Latin and "Old King Cole", which will be sung with the band in the spring.

They have also been learning to write notes on staves and learning major and minor chords.

Band News

The band started work on the content numbers Monday. These numbers are "Aurora" and "The Student Prince Overture". Much extra time will be spent by the band members in practicing on these numbers. Mr. Richards will give extra help to the reed section and Mr. Laudenslager to the brass and drum sections. As the band has never been to a contest before it does not expect a high rating but feels that the experience will be of great value.

Students In Service

Seems as though several of the old Chelsea High boys are in the service.
Richard White, who is in the Marines, is in Hawaii. Harvey Knickerbocker, a Navy man, is somewhere at sea.
And the last we heard from Frank Novess he was in Carolina. Wherever you may be, boys, we're thinking of you and will do our best to "Keep em flying".

What An Evening!

The gymnasium of C. H. S. was "the" spot to be on Friday night. After a dinner, at which everyone gobbled too much of the luscious food, and after a couple of games in which Chelsea came out on the short end of the score, there came some "super" music and dancing couples everywhere.

The Swing Band, with two added attractions (or should I say attractive attractions?) gave some highly enjoyable music.

The victors of the evening (U.
High) stayed for quite some time and believe it or not there were more fellows than gals, a rare sight around these parts.

The greatest thrill of the evening came (to most of the girls at least) when they saw, were introduced, and danced with Dave Nelson, U. of M.'s great half-back.

Lots of new clothes were also being sported and as it was designated as a "Sweater Dance" many colorful combinations were formed. It seems as though yellow is still the favorite shade, however.

The band also played at the game and this added to the GREAT evening.

Eighth Grade

(June Vail)

The sixth, seventh, and eighth grade boys played Grass Lake last Saturday in a playoff game, for each team had won one game. But the Chelsea boys came through this time and defeated them 16 to 15.

The eighth grade girls defeated the seventh grade girls, in a game of basketball, three to two.

Mr. Laudenslager was sick last week and Mrs. Flintoff substituted for him.

The whole class made diagrams of the phases of the moon for science last week. They turned out very well.

Seventh Grade

(Josephine Salver and Dale Collins)
Four seventh graders are trying out for the positions of cheerleaders.
Marcelline Hinderer, Clara Miller,
Cameron Colquhoun, and Robert Daniels are practicing hard. The latter two really led yells at recent games.

The eighth grade girls defeated our girls by a score of 3 to 2. Naomi Gordon made our only basket.

Our stamp sale for last week was $8.80.

Our valentine party was a great success. Everyone had a grand time, and lots of valentines were distributed. The room treasury made a small profit on the returned pop bottles, so everyone was happy.

Fifth Grade

We have elected new officers in our club. They are as follows:
David Knickerbocker—President.
George Miller—Vice President.
Elden Moore—Secretary.
Bill Lyons—Treasurer.

Two girls in our room trimmed a valentine box. We will have our party Friday afternoon.

After studying about Columbus voyages to America, we thought it would be fun to draw the Santa Marie.
Many of our pictures are very good.

Third Grade

(Duane)

The third grade had a valentine party on Friday afternoon. We had nice red apples, candy, cookies, and popcorn. We had postmen, who were boys and girls, to pass our valentines out.

We have been studying about pioneers and drew pictures of them at work.

On Lincoln's birthday we each wrote a story about him.

This morning we saw pictures of the Burma Road. We talked about it because it is the only way we can get help to China.

Ben East To Lecture Here On February 25

Chelsea's Rod and Gun Club will bring a treat to residents of this vicinity Wednesday night, Feb. 25, when it sponsors the appearance of Ben East, widely-known Michigan outdoor writer and lecturer, with his new motion picture lecture, "Alaska, the Great Land." The program will be presented at the Chelsea High school.

Mr. East, who with his wife, spent three months last summer roving Alaska's southern coastline making a pictorial story of the United States territory's scenic wonders and its wild life, will come to Chelsea through the courtesy of the Ann Arbor News, which annually sponsors his appearances in Westland county.

A highlight of this year's movie lecture will be showing of films of the Alaskan brown bear, the world's largest flesh-eater. Several rolls of film showing close-ups of the brownies are included in the pictures.

Kodachrome shots of Alaska's unparalleled scenery, the blue-white glaciers, snow-capped mountains, smoking volcanoes, dead craters, incredible sunsets and vivid wild flowers make up a goodly portion of the filmed story.

In addition to the brown bear pictures, Mr. East will show films of other Alaskan animals including blue foxes, caribou and sea otters.

Mr. East describes the current set of pictures as "among the best I have ever made." His other appearances in the county will be at Saline High school Monday afternoon, Feb. 23, at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor, Tuesday afternoon and Tuesday night, and at the Michigan Union Wednesday noon.

The Saline, Milan, Chelsea and the Ann Arbor Tuesday night appearances will be open to the public without admission charges.

Two Homes Destroyed By Fire Last Week

The rural home of Chris. Fitzsimons, near Wild Goose lake, a mile north of North lake, was burned Thursday afternoon, with nearly all of its contents. The blaze is believed to have started from a burning chimney.

Another fire, discovered about 2:00 o'clock Friday morning, started in the basement of the two-story frame structure at 131 Park St., formerly occupied by the Chelsea Creamery, destroying most of the building and its contents. The building, owned by Mrs. Mabel Hoppe, was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Borden and two other families. It was partially covered by insurance.

The Chelsea fire department answered both alarms. They were called again Friday afternoon when some smoldering coal in the Hoppe basement started to burn again.

A burning chimney called the fire department Monday noon to the Steiner residence property on Dewey St., occupied by Mr. and Mrs. George Doe and Mrs. Ina Miller. No damage resulted.

In Arithmetic the fifth graders are having fun with fractions. Fifth grade has also been making some interesting maps of the United States.

In Arithmetic the seventh grade is studying geometry. They are busy getting ready for the county tests on Feb. 25.

We have learned the dances and nearly all our songs now. We like "The Erie Canal" the best.

We elected new officers for our Health and Citizens club as follows: President, Dorothy Pashegoba; secretary, Mary Pashegoba; vice-president, Jim Ewald; and treasurer, Dick Schultze.

We have been having health reports and making posters. Also we have been having hot cocoa at noon since the first of the year. Then we received a letter thanking us for the scrap books which we made for the Red Cross at Christmas time.

Mrs. Rank is letting us use her easels. We like them very much. We have been studying color and design. All of us have been buying Defense Stamps from Miss MacGregor. We have bought quite a few.

We had our valentine party on Friday, Feb. 13. Jim Ewald and Mary Ann Gage made the valentine box of red crepe paper with white hearts of all sizes. Shirley, sister and Gladys, sister were invited to the party too. Everyone had a good time.

MORE LOADS and EXTRA YEARS...

That's JOHN DEERE Model "E" SPREADER PERFORMANCE

Retirement comes late in life for a John Deere Model "E"—only after thousands of loads of manure have been hauled. High in number of loads... low in cost per load... that's the unfailing economy of a John Deere Model "E" Spreader.

Those extra loads and additional years of service you get from a John Deere are due, largely, to mounting the main beater on the axle—the famous, patented feature of construction which has kept John Deere Spreaders ahead of the field for more than twenty-five years. This permits building a simpler, stronger, longer-lived spreader... one with fewer moving parts... a spreader that's easier to load... easier to pull... that does better work—a spreader that gives you more dollar-for-dollar value. See the Model "E" at our store the next time you're in town.

THE STORY SO FAR: Joan Leland, secretary to Arthur Mulford, San Francisco importer, is amazed and angry when he discharges her and refuses any explanation. Her sister Sybil, who shares an apartment, loses her beauty salon position the same day. Joan accepts a position in a night club, as secretary to handsome Karl Miller, who pays her a high salary in advance and gives the unusual hours as the reason. He obtains a job for Sybil and makes love to Joan, who is fascinated. Paul Sherman, his manager, interrupts them, returns later to invite Joan to dinner with him. Joan meets Karl's partner, Eric Strom. Both Paul and Eric seek to make dates with Joan. On one Sunday, when Karl, Eric and Joan were at dinner, Karl is called to the telephone. He then asks Joan to come to the office for some dictation. She writes one short letter and Karl suggests she go home in a taxi. While she is waiting, Paul shows up in his car. She tells him she had forgotten her purse.

Now continue with the story.

CHAPTER V

"I'll get it for you," Paul offered. "And let Karl know you're taking me home." Oh no! I'll go myself. Joan wondered why everything seemed to interfere with her romance with Karl. Both Paul and Eric seemed bent on making trouble. But she could not go—she had to go. After all, Karl seemed to like him.

The door of the club was unlocked as she slipped in and hurried down the corridor. Afterwards she wondered what instinct prompted her to pause for a moment as she stood with her hand on the doorknob of Karl Miller's office. The hall was dark, save for the crack of light beneath the door. An open window beside her led to a fire escape where the rain fell noisily on the metal balcony. Perhaps her hesitation was due to the fear that Karl would be angry with her. Perhaps the uneasy feeling that he might discover Paul was taking her home. But Joan paused and her heart was beating heavily.

It seemed a long time but in reality it was only a few seconds that she stood there listening to Eric Strom's voice.

"Ja, Karl! Bitte!"

Karl's reply was harsh. "Nein, Nein! Es ist verboten."

Joan did not understand but instinctively her hand drew back from the door. This was a private conversation. Karl would not want her to hear.

But her nervous gesture had made a small sound, which Karl Miller's ear caught immediately.

He threw open the door with a violent gesture. "Joan! What are you doing?"

"I forgot my purse," she faltered, feeling Eric Strom's sardonic eyes upon her.

Karl's relieved smile reassured her. "Of course! Here it is."

Joan made a hasty exit, closing the door quickly behind her, but as she walked down the dark hall she realized that she was shivering.

"What's the matter?" Paul demanded as Joan got in the car. "You're as white as a ghost."

"Nothing!" But the girls' hands were clasped nervously. "Let's go home, please."

Joan tried to tell herself that nothing was wrong. Just because Karl and Eric Strom had been speaking in their native tongue was no cause for alarm. But she found herself saying to Paul, "Do you speak German?"

"So that's it! You overheard Karl!"

"You haven't answered my question."

"And I am not going to," Paul said firmly as he stopped the car in front of her apartment building. "Do you mind if I come in for a minute?"

Joan was not very gracious about it. She was tired and confused. The last thing she wanted was to be forced to listen to Paul's subtle insinuations against Karl. Paul, however, settled himself comfortably before the fire, lit a cigarette and said, "Joan, why don't you quit working at the club?"

She stood before him, green eyes narrowed with anger, her head high. "I don't think it's any of your business what I do or where I work. I'm tired of your insinuations. If you have anything against Karl Miller, why don't you come out and say so? Why shouldn't I work for him?"

She threw her hat on the table and smoothed her hair in front of the mirror over the fireplace. Paul rose and touched her arm.

"I'm sorry, Joan! I guess I used the wrong approach. I suppose from your point of view I'm meddling where I have no right to."

Their eyes met in the mirror. His face was unsmiling, the brown eyes serious. "You don't seem like the type of girl to be working for Karl Miller. You don't belong at the club, do you?"

"I'm sick of hearing everyone say that. I'm old enough to know what I'm doing. I don't need advice from anyone."

"You are a very stubborn wom-

"Please!" Joan cried, exasperated. "Is there any good reason why I shouldn't work for Karl?"

"No," Paul answered. "The room was cheerful in the firelight. The polished brass shone and a large blue bowl of chrysanthemums lent a gay note to the somber furnishings."

"Do you live here alone?"

"With my sister, Sybil."

"And she doesn't approve of your working for Karl, either?"

"Please!" Joan cried, exasperated. "Is there any good reason why I shouldn't work for Karl? Do you know something against him?"

Paul stared into the fire but he was silent.

"Then you don't know anything?" Joan continued.

Paul tossed his cigarette into the furnace. "Okay, Joan. You win. I can't say any more. But remember this: Watch your step! Will you?"

"Thanks for the advice."

"It's for your own good," Paul Sherman said, picking up his hat. "How about that date tomorrow night?"

Joan smiled faintly. "Didn't you ever give up? I told you—I couldn't go."

They stood at the door measuring each other with their eyes. Paul's, a mask that told her nothing. Joan's, challenging him, daring him to speak one word against Karl Miller.

"I won't bother you any more then," Paul said quietly. "Good night."

In the bedroom, Sybil was propped up in bed, wearing a blue satin bed jacket, reading a magazine. "Was that Karl?"

"No, Paul Sherman, giving me some good advice about working at the club. He doesn't think I'm the type, whatever that means."

She slipped into her warm bathrobe and sat down on the edge of her sister's bed. "I met Karl's partner, Eric Strom, tonight. He tried to make a date with me, too. It's a shame the way everyone tries to double-cross Karl."

"How in the world did you happen to come home with Paul?"

Joan explained, but did not mention what she had overheard when she went back to get her purse. Before she could finish the telephone rang.

Karl Miller's voice came forcefully over the wire. "Joan? You are home safely?"

"Yes. I've been home for some time." She smiled, picturing Karl on the other end of the line. How sweet that he could be so concerned!

"I just wanted to be sure that you were all right. Good night, darling."

It was the first time that he had called her "darling." Her pulse leaped at the unfamiliar endearment.

"We will not work tomorrow," Karl informed her. "We shall have dinner together alone."

Joan went back to the bedroom with shining eyes to tell Sybil.

"Then you won't meet Paul?"

"Of course not! I wouldn't anyway."

Joan had not considered the possibility that Karl Miller might take her to dinner at the same place. Paul suggested but as they walked into the lobby of the hotel, Paul had mentioned, Joan saw him coming out of the bar. He nodded pleasantly as he passed them and Joan breathed a sigh of relief. Their meal was almost finished when Joan saw Paul again. He was sitting alone at a corner table directly behind Karl. When they left, Joan, looking over her shoulder, saw Paul behind them. Was he deliberately following her?

Was this his idea of a joke? But Joan did not tell Karl. He might have discharged Paul and she did not want him to lose his job on her account.

Karl drove swiftly along the Embargo. "Have you ever been on a freighter?" he asked the girl at his side. "Like to see one?"

"I'd love it," she answered.

"Sweet thing!" He reached for her hand.

They stopped at Pier 27. Joan could see the bulk of a small ship looming out of the mist. Karl too, her arm as they walked through a large storeroom, out into the foggy night, and up the swaying gangplank of the freighter.

On deck she followed Karl up a narrow staircase to the captain's quarters.

But though a lamp burned brightly in the cabin, there was no sign of the captain. Joan was intrigued by the round wooden table, the small desk, the faded curtains that inadequately draped the portholes.

"Start anyone on board?" she asked, drawing closer to Karl.

"There are a couple of sailors below. I saw them as we came up. We'll wait here a few minutes. Do you mind?"

"No. It's fun!"

Karl walked to the table, poured some whisky out of an old-fashioned crystal decanter, and quickly downed it.

"This ship has been to South America, all through the West Indies, even to Japan."

"How I'd love to go to some of those places! I'm so tired of living such an ordinary life. Just eating and sleeping and working day after day."

She moved her hands with an impatient gesture. Her figure was straight and slender in its black wool dress, her face pale ivory with its eager mouth and flashing emerald eyes.

By Gene Allaman

Michigan's "news story" of 1942, when recorded by historians, will probably be the unparalleled scrapping of the automobile industry and the latter's complete conversion to production of munitions.

Its import staggers the imagination. Developed for 35 years into one of America's leading industries—one accredited by economists with leading the nation out of the world war depression—the "automobile industry" does not exist today. Assembly lines are being torn out. Space is needed for war orders.

Try to comprehend this: War work of the Ford Motor company will require TWICE as many employees as were needed for making of automobiles and trucks.

Instead of 100,000 workers, Ford must have 200,000!

Chrysler's government contracts for army tanks today are TEN TIMES GREATER than the original order from Washington, large as it was.

General Motors is DOUBLING its dollar volume.

A labor shortage, such as Michigan has never experienced is regarded as inevitable.

Military needs will take tens of thousands of men under 44. Married men with family dependents—a wife with or without children—and single men supporting parents or other relatives face the prospect of ultimate military service.

Government aid for dependents will be supplied.

Furthermore, thousands of women will probably work in war factories before Victory is achieved.

Transportation of workers to Michigan war plants is a major problem. Conversion of automobile carriers into buses is proposed in Detroit. New highway and parking facilities are being studied. It's one of the numerous new headaches plaguing war planners.

Michigan dairymen are asked to increase milk production 10 per cent. Uncle Sam wants Michigan's 950,000 cows to produce an average of 520 MORE pounds of milk per animal than the 5,200 pounds averaged in 1941. To do this each cow will require 1,000 pounds additional hay and 500 pounds more of cereal grain. Sooo Bossy!

Layoff of 315,000 automobile workers and the financial burden of providing unemployment compensation were responsible for the second special session of the state legislature at Lansing this week.

Michigan's law permits maximum compensation of $288 per jobless worker, $16 for 18 weeks.

President Roosevelt has proposed that Congress supplement these payments to allow a total of $624 at the rate of $24 for 26 weeks. Since automobile plants are being converted by the government to war needs, the White House feels that the government should share the extra burden of unemployment compensation, ordinarily shouldered by employers.

Election year factors are seen in the action of the state administrative board (bi-partisan in control) to send Governor Van Wageningen and Secretary of State Harry P. Kelly to Washington for a bi-partisan recommendation.

Kelly comes from Detroit, hub of the motor industry.

Van Wageningen's political strength has been in metropolitan centers rather than upstate, as the election polls show.

Old-fashioned vacations, as contrasted to modern gypsy outings, may become the 1942 vogue in Michigan.

Steps Joan saw a figure disappear into the shadows of the deck and even in the fog she could see that it was Paul Sherman!

Three weeks had passed since the night Joan went to the freighter with Karl and was followed by Paul Sherman. She had not mentioned it to Karl. She wanted to solve the mystery of Paul's curious behavior for herself. She was sure that Paul meant no harm. Looking over Karl's appointment book, she saw that Paul Sherman would be at the club at ten-thirty that night.

"I'm going to try to see him alone," she decided, "and demand an explanation. If he doesn't tell me, I'll threaten to go to Karl about it!"

Her relationship with Karl could not have been more perfect since the night on the freighter when he told her he loved her. She felt much closer to him. At least three evenings a week Karl took her dancing. On Sundays they went for long rides across the Golden Gate bridge into Marin county, where the trees flashed their autumn reds and browns in the deep November sunshine.

Only Sybil was able to shatter her peace by saying, "If Karl is really in love with you, why doesn't he ask you to marry him?"

"He probably will," Joan said stubbornly, "in time. After all, we haven't known each other very long."

Karl not once had mentioned marriage.

"You still don't trust Karl, do you?" Joan asked as the girls washed the supper dishes.

His voice was controlled. "Just as you wish."

But as she preceded him down the Chief reason: Tire rationing.

That's the forecast from the East Michigan Tourist association which concludes that people are going to stay "put" for vacation duration, preferring a cottage or hotel to days of restless motor travel.

Our advisor, Frank Davis, adds: "We have already seen evidence of doubling up in automobiles and an increased amount of bus and railroad travel."

George A. Osborn, editor of the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News, offers several reasons why Michigan should have a fair tourist season in 1942:

(1) A survey of automobiles using the Straits ferry last summer disclosed a majority of cars were less than one year old. Tires should be in good condition.

(2) British have found that vacations were more necessary than before due to increased pressure of war work at long hours.

Less gasoline tax revenue is anticipated, however, by Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy.

In 1941 the gasoline levy produced $32,000,000.

Effect of tax cut: Road construction will be limited to defense needs.

Ben Koenigs, coordinator of the Grand Traverse county defense council, returned to Traverse City from a week-end trip "down state" fully determined to rush preparedness plans for enemy air raids.

"Perhaps it would not be policy to mention the location of the area I visited," he related, "but air raid instructions in all prominent places indicated that they fully expect to be bombed. These air raid warnings were significant enough, but when I saw 175 hospital beds all made up and reserved for air raid casualties I realized how serious the danger actually is."

FSA Loan Program To Expand Production

The Farm Security Administration's loaning program is being directed toward the immediate expansion of dairy, hog, poultry, feed crop, and garden enterprises to aid FSA borrowers and other farmers in meeting increased war production quotas, Donald Kline, county FSA supervisor, said today.

The supervisor stated that some months ago changes were made in our agricultural policy and increased production was asked. Since our country has entered the war, it has become necessary to set new and larger goals for many agricultural products. FSA is working closely with the AAA and County War Boards on increased production plans.

"In line with this policy," Mr. Kline added, "every effort will be made to finance farmers who are unable to secure credit from other sources. Loan funds will be made available for the purchase of cows, hogs, poultry, seed, feed, and any equipment or supplies necessary to place their farms on this higher production basis. In certain cases, FSA will help provide suitable shelter for poultry, dairy cattle, or hogs through use of temporary shelters and remodeling of present structures. These loans can be made for a period of one to five years at low interest rates.

"Children of any farm family who are members of 4-H, FFA, or similar clubs may obtain loans for the purchase of livestock, feed, garden fences, and the various other needs of their project work."

An expanded home food production program is receiving added attention this year in order that all families will provide for themselves and thus prevent a need for their buying from commercial supplies. Mr. Kline expects some borrowers to have garden products to sell. Present borrower families, in cooperation with FSA supervisors, are now revising both their farm and garden plans upward for the coming year, considering the production of needed food—the most important contribution they can make to victory.

Mr. Kline explained that loans are also available for needs other than those given. The purpose, however, must be one that will enable the borrower to improve his own condition and contribute to the nation's "Food for Victory" program. Interested farm families in this county should contact Donald Kline at his office in the Brooks building at 201 E. Liberty street, Ann Arbor.

4-H CLUB ENTERTAINS MOTHERS

The Flying Fizzers 4-H club entertained Miss Ardis H. Nugent, home demonstration agent, and their mothers, Mrs. Ghester Notten, Mrs. Oscar Kalmbach and Mrs. Kenneth Proctor, last Saturday afternoon at the home of their leader, Mrs. T. G. Riemen-schneider.

The girls brought their towels and modeled their aprons for inspection. Miss Nugent's compliments for their first year's work were very much appreciated, and encouraging. Thanks so much, Mrs. Riemen-schneider.

To Conquer or to Die!

By GEORGE WASHINGTON

Welcome to the day returning.

Dearest still as ages flow.

While the torch of faith is burning,

Long as Freedom's altars glow!

Editor's Note—One hundred and sixty-six years ago, George Washington addressed a few remarks to his soldiers before the battle of Long Island. Spoken in August, 1776, his first few sentences might well have been addressed to the American people and their armed forces today. The battle against tyranny and for liberty is still on. Washington's introductory remarks on that historic occasion follow:

THE time is now near at hand which must probably determine whether Americans are to be free men or slaves; whether they are to have any property they can call their own; whether their houses and farms are to be pillaged and destroyed, and themselves consigned to a state of wretchedness from which no human effort will deliver them. The fate of unborn millions will now depend, under God, on the courage and conduct of this army. Our cruel and unrelenting enemy leaves us only the choice of a brave resistance, or the most abject submission. We have therefore to resolve to conquer or to die.

Farmers—Stop--Think--Decide

Self-Governed Cooperatives or Dictatorship?

The farmers of Michigan and of the United States must answer this question themselves or be told what they can do. Outside organizations (not farmers) are already actively engaged in taking over control of farmers and farming.

They are getting help from certain people in the fringe of rural life who seem to prefer to string along with self-seeking dictators instead of cooperatively running their own show on democratic principles.

The Michigan Milk Producers' Association has for 25 years been managed by its members, everyone of whom has one vote and only one. Its policies, whether to regulate production, guarantee payment, guarantee a market, or any other service are all adopted by members voting in the American way.

Are red-blooded farmers ready to give up their rights? The answer is NO. Our members showed their mettle when non-farmer, organizers tried to forcibly tell them where they could not sell their milk. FARMERS WILL CONTINUE TO RUN THEIR OWN BUSINESS.
