Rationing of Sugar Begins April 28-29

An estimated 1800 establishments dispensing sugar to consumers either through sale or service of food will register at high schools throughout the county on April 28 and 29, inaugurating the sugar rationing program in Washtenaw county. The registrants will at the same time be issued Sugar Purchase Certificates which will enable them to replenish supplies of sugar as present stocks are exhausted.

Registration and the allotment of sugar to the trade and to bulk users of sugar will be conducted by high school teachers under the direction of School Site Administrators. The administrator for this area will be Sept. A. C. Johnson.

Seven areas have been designated by the Washtenaw County Rationing Board to be served by the respective high schools, as follows: Area number one, comprising Lyndon, Sylvan and Lima townships will be registered at the Chelsea high school; area number two, comprising Sharon, Freedom, Manchester and Bridgewater townships, at the Manchester high school; area three, Lodi and Saline townships, at the Saline high school; area four, York and Augusta townships, at Milan high school; area five, Dexter, Webster and Salem, at Dexter high school; area six, Ann Arbor, Northfield and Pittsfield, at Ann Arbor high school; area seven, Ypsilanti, Superior and Salen townships, at the Ypsilanti high school.

Registration for trade rationing will be held at the Chelsea high school on the above dates from 9 to 6 p. m. If possible, all dealers should be at the high school at 3 o'clock on Tuesday for instructions. If it is necessary for them to return later with required information they will have time to do so.

At each place of registration trade rationing advisers appointed by the superintendent of schools will be present during registration hours to advise teachers and registrants upon any questions arising in connection with the registration or the allotment of sugar quotas. Those required to register (Continued on page eight)

At the suggestion of the National Housing Agency, the local Council of Defense has appointed a Chelsea Housing Committee to work with the national agency in an effort to obtain a "Defense Area" designation for this village. Lt. Comte Will Lecture Here Next Thursday

A public meeting, sponsored by the Chelsea committee of the Washtenaw County Air Force Sponsors Association, will be held at the public school auditorium on Thursday night, April 30, starting at 8 o'clock.

Lieut. George R. Comte, Public Relations Officer of the Aviation Cadet Training Examining Board, will give a lecture and show moving pictures based on the history of aviation and its development, and the training life of an Aviation Cadet. Lt. Comte is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin and immediately following graduation was employed as University Lecturer. For many years he was a senior commentator for the Milwaukee Journal.

At the outbreak of the war he volunteered his services to the United States Air Corps for public relations work.

While the primary purpose of the meeting next week is to interest young men in the air force, adults are also urged to attend the meeting in order to become better acquainted with this branch of the service.

Uncle Sam needs men for enlistment in the Air Corps. Men between the ages of 18 and 28 inclusive, married or single, are eligible for enlistment. Many opportunities not available in other branches of the service may be obtained in the Air Corps, and it is believed that many young men will be interested in enlisting in this branch when they learn of the opportunities offered.

Lt. Comte's pictures and lecture will be very interesting to all age groups, and it is hoped by the committee that the school auditorium will be filled to capacity for the occasion.

War Savings Party Nets Total of $3622

A very successful War Savings Party at the public school gym last Friday evening gave further evidence that Chelsea is doing its part financially as well as industrially to win the war. The committee in charge of this affair announces that the residents of Chelsea purchased $3,622.75 worth of stamps and bonds at the party. The total amount of War Savings Bonds sold was $3,450.00, while the sale of stamps amounted to $172.75. The committee wishes to thank patrons of the party for their wholehearted cooperation in making this dance and card party such a success.

The party was sponsored by the American Legion and the Kiwanis club, and the Legion Auxiliary, Red Cross, and the Senior class of the Chelsea high school all aided greatly in completing this patriotic enterprise. The committee also thanks Maurie Baker and his talented band of musicians, and Miss Charlotte Wheat for their excellent musical contributions to this community project which was thoroughly enjoyed by all the attendants.

The committee in charge of the War Savings Party included: Henry C. Schneider, chairman; Merle Barr, L. D. Christwell, Lowell Davidson, Wilbur Hindere, Paul C. Maroney, M. W. McClure and George E. Sperling, Jr.

THE HOME FRONT IN MICHIGAN

Hisao Okumura, official Japanese spokesman, recently stated:

"We will not only command the communication lines of Britain and America, but we will carry the war even to Washington and London. We must destroy their power. We must also destroy them politically and economically, and even culturally. We must rid ourselves of any trace of their culture—in its place our Nipponese spirit will dominate the world." America accepts the challenge, Hisao. Come take a look.

See that big building? That's the Willow Run bomber plant. Biggest single plant in the world. Cost 60 million bucks and then some. One hundred thousand men can work under one roof. Next month, the plant will be working, too. Hisao, building those giant bombers that will blast you and your kind to smithereens.

Just a year ago, this was a soy-bean patch, Hisao, with a peaceful little creek, named Willow Run, trickling down one edge. We like to be peaceful, Hisao, but you've got us riled up now.

Come on, Hisao, we've just started. Here's a new 1942 model, put out by one of Detroit's automobile companies. Isn't she a beauty? Weighs 40 tons and you'd better not get in her way. I won't tell you how many of those we're turning out but that one plant is seven months ahead of schedule and has taken on a program to turn 'em out at three times the present rate.

Here's the next step, Hisao. Honest, you wouldn't believe it but if you had visited this same spot just last July, you would have seen a big circus tent pitched right here, with side shows and elephants and clowns. We like circuses in America, Hisao. We like to take the kids and laugh and have a good time. That's one of the things we are fighting for, Hisao. That's the reason you can't whip us.

That circus will be back, Hisao. Maybe next year. But it'll be back. You can bet your boots on that. It'll have to find a new field, though. This one's kinda cluttered up, isn't it?

There are 1000 men and women working in those buildings, Hisao. They're working on four different kinds of airplane production. Our President has asked us for 60,000 airplanes in 1942; Hisao—and we're going to give 'em to him. He's not a dictator, Hisao. He's our leader.

You're talking about coming to Washington, Hisao. Here in this plant are a few little toys that'll be there to welcome you. They call them Bofors guns.

Sure, they're turning 'em out fast. They don't make all of 'em here, in that one plant. Let me explain it to you. You see, there are two assembly lines—One is for the Army and one is for the Navy. There are nine other plants which are feeding parts for these guns into these assembly lines. These workmen just put the parts together and bingo, we got another Bofors gun.

We learned to do all this, Hisao, by making automobiles, so people could drive out of the country and see the beauties of nature. Say, Hisao, did you ever find the whole family into a enough food for 300,000 additional flavor—kids, dogs and all—and go to sleep, while the cuffs from just 21 see your Aunt Mame? I bet if you pairs of trousers save enough cloth to make a complete army uniform.

nasty things which you are doing now—like you did at Pearl Harbor.

Come along, Hisao, I'll show you the Navy arsenal, Ford's Rouge plant, Packard, Murray Body, Dodge, Plymouth, Pontiac, Oldsmobile and a few others in Michigan. What they're doing will throw a few million monkey wrenches into your infamous ambitions.

What's the matter Hisao, you look sick. Gosh, he's out cold. There are lots of things I wanted to show him, too. I wanted to take him by and see Mr. and Mrs. Joe Doakes.

You know this war against Hisao and Hirohito and Hitler and Mussolini isn't all being fought on the battle lines, or even in the big factories.

Joe Doakes and his wife are doing their share. They're buying defense stamps. They are cleaning up all the old papers, rubber, rags and metal and will sell it to the junk man, where it will be turned into bullets and guns and other war goods. Joe's an air raid warden and Mrs. Joe has taken a course in Red Cross first aid. Joe takes his neighbors to work so they can save their tires. Their boy is in the Army. They've got plenty to eat but they're not hoarding—sugar or anything else. Joe got a big laugh out of his new pants without any cuffs. But he wears them rather proudly to church on Sunday and when he dresses up to take Mrs. Joe to the movies.

They're not going around belly-aching either because they can't buy that new electric refrigerator for which they had been saving.

Throw a bucket of water on Hisao and let's send him back home. Gosh, I don't know when I enjoyed a day so much!

ST. PAUL'S WOMEN'S GUILD

The Women's Guild of St. Paul's church assembled at the church hall on Thursday afternoon for their April meeting, with Mrs. Dale J. Claire and Mrs. Wilbert Breitenwischer acting as hostesses. Following the opening devotionals a poem, "God's Dream," was given by Mrs. Ernest Fitzmiller, and a reading, "A Prayer," by Mrs. Oliver Walker.

The topic for the month, "What the Negro Wants," was presented by Mrs. Paul G. Schaible. Announcement was made of an Ann Arbor Regional Women's Guild convention which will be held April 30 at St. John's church, Owosso.

The president, Mrs. N. H. Schmidt, appointed the following committees for the Mother-Daughter banquet: Program—Mrs. Otto Lucht, Mrs. W. Breitenwischer.

Dining Room—Mrs. Oscar Stierle, Mrs. Leroy Satterthwaite.

Kitchen—Mrs. P. G. Schaible, Mrs. Arthur Schaefer.

A hot-luck supper was served, with places for 30.

CHRISTIAN J. KOCH

Christian J. Koch, 64 years old, died Saturday morning, April 18, at his home in Lima township. He was born Jan. 9, 1878 in Lima; the son of Jacob and Katherine (Elegel) Koch. He married Tema Horning on November 28, 1906.

Surviving are the widow; three sons, Wilbert, Leon and Lawrence, all at home; two daughters, Mrs. Hilda Horning and Mrs. Rubena Gross, both of Scio township; his stepmother, Mrs. Christian Koch of Ann Arbor; five brothers, Albert, Otto, Arthur, Oscar and Reuben, all of Ann Arbor; and three sisters, Mrs. George Bareis of Lima township, Mrs. Clara Sommers of Pittsfield township, and Mrs. Emma Phillipport of Ann Arbor.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Plankell funeral home, with Rev. P. H. Grabowski officiating. Interment was in Oak Grove cemetery.

By keeping the cuffs off trousers already manufactured or in the process of manufacture, WPB will save your family into a enough food for 300,000 additional flavor—kids, dogs and all—and go to sleep, while the cuffs from just 21 see your Aunt Mame? I bet if you pairs of trousers save enough cloth to make a complete army uniform.

Our Line of Defense

A representative from the Federal Bureau of Investigation, John Bugas, will be the speaker at the fourth in the series of lectures on civilian protection now being sponsored jointly by the Washtenaw County Council of Defense and the University War Board. Speaking in Ann Arbor at 8:00 p. m. on May 11, Mr. Bugas will have as his topic "Citizens' Responsibilities to Law Enforcement Organizations". (Meeting place will be announced later).

Volunteer registrations are now complete in eleven townships of Washtenaw county. Northfield was the first, followed by York, Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Lima, Webster, Lodi, Pittsfield, Saline, Superior, Scio, and Bridgewater. Several townships used the house-to-house method of enrollment; these localities include Superior, where Mrs. Earl Quackenbush is in charge, and Bridgewater, under the direction of Mrs. Lewis Blaisdell. Augusta township is now conducting its registration by this method, according to the chairman, Mrs. Harlow Laing, and Manchester township is canvassing each school district door-to-door, under the supervision of Mrs. William Palmer. Scio township is also enlisting its residents for volunteer work by school districts, according to Mrs. Alvin Marsh, chairman.

Michigan, from Metropolitan Detroit to the most isolated rural community, has begun a registration of the occupational status of every man and woman not registered by the Selective Service Board in a mobilization drive directed by Loran Glendening of the Michigan State Employment Service.

The survey will be conducted from door to door by women of all patriotic organizations, under Mrs. Mary Kopka, and 600 women from the various branches of the Civilian Defense Volunteer Office in the county. Its purpose is to mobilize labor for war production purposes in farm and factory and to create a labor reservoir which can be drawn upon if the increasing induction of workers into the armed forces should eventually make such a move necessary. This will include all women from sixteen and up and all men of sixteen and seventeen and over sixty-five.

The drive began on Monday and will continue through April 25. Since Michigan is the first state to institute civilian mobilization, the federal authorities are watching the experiment with interest, with a view of undertaking a similar experiment should this prove successful. Registration does not insure anyone a job nor does it carry the obligation to accept work if offered. However, as the demand for labor, unskilled as well as skilled, increases as a result of the need for maintaining a growing army and navy, these registrants will probably be called upon. Therefore, in the interest of the national war effort, all are urged to cooperate with those making the survey.

Employment Service To Recruit Farm Labor

In Washtenaw county, recruiting and placing farm labor will be handled through the office of the Farm Placement representative of the United States Employment Service, R. Rex Stanchfield, whose office is at 312 E. Huron St., Ann Arbor.

has directed the chairman of the Washtenaw County War Board, Fred Blumhardt, to cooperate with the Farm Placement representative of the U. S. Employment Service. It is the aim of those interested in the farm labor problem to channel the activities of all groups who have a contribution to make toward solving local farm labor problems through the farm placement representative. Farmers who are looking for hired help are advised to contact the office of the farm placement representative, or the chairman of the county U. S. D. A. War Board whose office is in the county AAA office, 201 E. Liberty St., Ann Arbor. Anyone looking for farm work is advised to follow the same procedure.

If all equipment used in war work were so used for 168 hours each week, man-hours going into U. S. war production would be about doubled.

Michigan Mirror

By Gene Alleman

Sugar hoarders can't sweeten up Uncle Sam.

When the consumer registration period arrives in Michigan May 4 to 7, each family will be required to declare the amount of sugar stocks on hand. Failure to declare the accurate amount will make a citizen liable, upon conviction, to a fine of $10,000, to 10 years' imprisonment, or both.

How the boarding penalty will work is one of the questions a lot of Michigan people would like to have answered. There are reports of persons who have hoarded as much as 1,000 pounds of sugar, an amount which would be sufficient according to government rationing to meet the needs of a family of four persons for nearly 10 years!

A family of four will be permitted to use four pounds every two weeks. The maximum stock per home is six pounds.

All retailers and wholesalers must register at a local public high school April 27 to May 6 or 8.

Transportation, not scarcity of sugar, is said by the government to be the determining factor for sugar rationing at this time.

Sinking of freight ships by enemy submarines, plus a growing need to limit railroads to war shipments, are responsible for a shortage of supply.

Rationing of automobile tires, whether new tires or recapped used tires, has not pinched the average family in Michigan yet. However, according to the best advice available at Lansing, only a miracle discovery by some chemist will save Michigan workers—farmers, industrial workers—from severe transportation hardship by 1943 and 1944.

New tires can now be obtained by a very restricted group of persons, and the quota for each county is so small each month that few persons have the courage to file an application. You must be a physician, a police officer, fireman or someone whose business has recognized urgency to the public welfare.

The "B" tire recapping list includes industrial workers at war plants and farmers who depend on their passenger cars to transport farm supplies—seeds, etc.—and who do not have a truck.

The average citizen is plainly out in the cold. When his present rubber tires are worn out, he must depend on getting a used tire—or else.

While the average automobile in Michigan has tires good enough to last out the summer, family transportation must come generally to an end by fall or winter unless rubber chemists come to the rescue.

From Dearborn comes news that the Ford Motor Company has "discovered" how to make a tire that requires only one-sixteenth of the rubber used normally in tire manufacture.

Tests are now being conducted. Fabrics are used chiefly. If the Ford processed tire is found to be practical, it will extend by many months the driving expectation of millions of American families.

A rubberless tire is also being studied by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber company. Officials have revealed that fabricated tires, made entirely without rubber, are being given road tests today.

Paul W. Litchfield, chairman of the Goodyear board, declared 18 to 24 months' time would be needed before any large amount of synthetic rubber tires would be available from the government-financed synthetic rubber plants already authorized.

William Palmer, manager of the Michigan Petroleum Industries committee, says the best Washington information he can obtain is distinctly bearish as to the prospect of synthetic tires for general civilian use.

Instead of synthetic rubber being made available to civilians, much of it may be required by our allies—British and Russians—for their own military needs.

The "Pontiac Plan" for cooperative automobile transportation, whereby neighbors ride together to save tires, will be adopted by dozens of industrial centers in Michigan, not as a matter of preference but as the only feasible method of solving the critical rubber situation.

Hope that the situation will be cleared up soon is declared by War Production Board officials to be wishful thinking, not justified by the facts. J. P. Buckley, acting director of the "Pontiac Plan" for the state highway department, is of the belief that Americans are going to continue to kid themselves until President Roosevelt informs them of the rubber emergency. Living habits are not changed readily, he concludes.

A new kind of isolationism may result from this scarcity of rubber tires, changing living habits of Michigan families very noticeably as the months pass by.

People will shop at home; travel less to nearby cities.

They will take vacations close to home; travel less to nearby states. Summer cottages are in demand; cooperative delivery of food is being planned for lake resorts. Michigan's tourist business should be good this summer at hotels and cottages; just fair for roadside taverns, cabins and isolated spots.

People are going to get better acquainted with their neighbors—especially the man who has an automobile with good rubber tires!

It takes the work of 18 men back home to keep a single soldier on the fighting front.

Sudden emergencies must be expected in wartime. The important thing is to be ready—to know what to do.

One of the first rules to fix in your mind is: Leave telephone lines as free as possible to speed the work of rescue and defense.

In black-outs—during air-raid alarms and other local emergencies—you add to public danger if you use your telephone needlessly. You may clog the lines and hinder the efforts of the fire-fighters, police and rescue squads.

In any time of public emergency, use your telephone only for vital messages.

WHILE AMERICA IS AT WAR
Help vital messages go through without delay by:
• Keeping telephone conversations short.
• Avoiding the busy hours—10 A. M. to noon, 2 to 4 P. M.
• Answering your telephone promptly.
• Giving the number when placing Long Distance calls.

Mrs. Lord gave a reading which was dramatically enacted by the assemblage in response to her periodic breaks in delivery.

A guessing game appropriate to the season and along the line of Victory Gardening was most entertaining. Group singing completed the evening, with a closing from Dr. Leroy Lord.

OPA Form No. R-301

I hereby make application to the Office of Price Administration, an agency of the United States Government, for the issuance to the person whose name, address, and description are set forth above, of War Ration Book One and all War Ration Books hereafter issued for which the person named above becomes eligible under National Regulations. I hereby certify that I have authority to make this application on behalf of the person named above, that no other application for a War Ration Book has been made by or on behalf of such person, and that the statements made above are true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

I hereby certify that I have witnessed the Applicant's signature and that War Ration Book One, bearing the above number, has been delivered to the Applicant, with the above-stated number of stamps removed.

(This space reserved for later entries by Local Board or Applicant)

The undersigned hereby certifies to the Office of Price Administration that he received the following War Ration Books on the dates indicated below on the back hereof, and that with each receipt he reaffirmed the truth of the statements in the foregoing application.

Date Book No. Serial No. Signature of Applicant

Applicants for sugar rationing books are urged by the Office of Price Administration to study carefully the application card, illustrated above, and have the correct answers when they register on May 4, 5, 6, and 7. A separate application must be made for every person for whom a ration book is issued, but only one member of each family-unit is to appear at the nearest elementary school to apply for all members of the family.

This is the biggest registration job ever undertaken in so limited a time in the United States. Within four days the nation, 130,000,000 men, women and children will be registered and will receive their ration books. To accomplish so big a job in that short space of time, the Office of Price Administration, which administers rationing, is urging every applicant for a ration book to come prepared with accurate information to all questions which the registrars will ask when filling out the application form.

If you answer these questions promptly, OPA estimates it will only take four minutes to fill out this form. One and a quarter million school teachers will serve as registrars.

1. Applicants should come prepared with a list of the members of their families, giving the exact name of each.

2. An exact description of each member of the family-unit, giving the height, weight, color of eyes, color of hair, age and sex of each one.

3. The person who registers for the family unit must state his or her exact relationship to each member of it.

4. It is necessary to know to the pound just how much sugar is in the possession of the household. The amount of sugar will be divided by the number of people in the family units and stamps will be torn out by the registrar for all sugar in excess of two pounds per person. If more than four stamps have to be removed, issuance of the book will be withheld until later.

One—and only one—member of each family unit is to go to the elementary school nearest to the person's residence to register and to apply for ration books for the whole family, OPA emphasizes. Single people not members of a family unit, even if they board with a family, must apply for themselves.

A family unit has been defined by the Office of Price Administration as "a group of two or more individuals consisting of all persons who are living together in the same household who are related by blood or marriage."

A LETTER TO.
Chelsea

from

Aux Cayes, Haiti

We have begun the most thrilling experience of our lives—a 1700-mile journey by sea from Curacao to New York.

We spent one week in Willemstad trying to arrange passage to New York. Americans were leaving South America and the Caribbean area like rats deserting a doomed ship. Plane passage was out of the question; planes are booked months in advance and all military and governmental personages have priority on seats.

The steamship company was unable to sell us tickets until its captain had stated his willingness to take us aboard—and he was extremely reluctant to do so. Finally he gave in.

Then they told us: "Here are the tickets. You may purchase them on your responsibility. Your chances of reaching New York are 50-50." We took them.

We left Willemstad on a bright Monday noon. Our convoy of three ships was protected by an average of two American destroyers and two fighter planes. At four o'clock in the afternoon the other two freighters sailed away in another direction, the fighter planes disappeared, the destroyer headed for home, wallowing heavily in the trough of the Caribbean. We were left alone—a tiny, ten-knot freighter without a gun of any kind—oh, I exaggerate—our Captain had a revolver.

I was amazed that the destroyer left us so soon; he might at least have hung around until darkness fell. But the Dutch sailors had a ready explanation: they recalled that Monday night was "Pal Night" at the Curacao theaters, and naturally the American sailors would wish to be back in time to take advantage of the bargain. It was bitter—but the Dutch were bitter—they had every right to be.

Our little tub rolled northward across the Caribbean for two and one-half days. Then the green, mysterious mountains of Haiti frowned at us over the horizon. We pulled into a long anchorage at seldom-visited Aux Cayes. We had arrived O. K. at Aux Cayes—yes, they're pronounced, the same!

Haiti looked interesting, and, as we were to take on 3000 bags of coffee here we were rowed the mile to shore. Haiti was interesting—somehow typical of every island we had visited.

At the dock we were appropriated by two guides who spoke in French and swore in English and a crowd of four tiny black beggars. The eight of us started out, picking up momentum as we went. When we reached the main thoroughfare we were fourteen in number.

Aux Cayes streets are wide and unpaved, replete with heat and dust and stables. The proprietor of a laundry sat idly strumming a guitar. Our procession inspected the Catholic church, a tremendous edifice, the town square, with its dilapidated bandstand which obviously had never been used by any band—and finally the market place.

Everything that Haiti had to offer could be found for sale here. Kate immediately became interested in a broad-brimmed straw hat. The black woman wanted fifteen cents; our guides vociferously and profanely asserted this was too much. A quarrel started, and we remained quietly in the middle. Finally we left, but the woman pursued us down the street, waving the hat in question. That made fifteen.

We dodged into a tiny shop, ostensibly for a Coca-Cola; really to escape the crowd and the woman. The proprietor seated us, sent someone out for ice. We waited fifteen minutes. No ice. No Coca-Cola. We left in a huff, followed by the proprietor waving a warm bottle of coke, the woman waving their palms. Now there were sixteen of us. All Aux Cayes gaped. The noise was terrific. We were terrified.

Conversation with several Haitians brought out the facts that this all-black republic is officially at war with the Axis, that when war was declared all Axis nationals were put in a concentration camp, their properties seized and sold at public auction. Haiti hadn't had as much fun in years. Also, they told us, there had been many sinkings by submarines off their coasts; right at that time no place in the Caribbean was more dangerous. We smiled optimistically if weakly. This was getting to be an old story.

Aboard ship, we watched the process of taking on coffee with some interest. Without any doubt there will eventually be a shortage of coffee in the States. The United Nations just haven't enough bottoms to fight the war and supply Americans with caffeine. Very few ships call at Haiti any more. Fewer will call in the future.

All in all our ship carried 18,000 one-hundred-sixty pound bags of coffee from Haiti to New York, a distance of 1400 miles. The hauling charge was 75c per bag, or a total for the shipping company of $13,500. Roughly, this Haitian coffee, which you may be buying any day now, cost four cents per pound to bring to New York—cheap at half the price!

Our ship left that night, completely blacked-out, hugging the coast. Two more Haitian ports, a few more thousand bags of coffee, and we shall proceed northward into the Atlantic towards home—home—it has never seemed so far away!

Farmers Will Vote On Wheat Program May 2

Wheat marketing quotas are to be voted on Saturday, May 2 by farmers who are going to be affected by the quotas, according to Harry M. Cole, secretary of the Washenaw County Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

Under the AAA farm program, those farmers who are to be affected decide for themselves on the issue of whether or not they wish to use quotas to assure the orderly marketing of their enormous wheat supply that threatens price collapse and waste of grain.

Quotas do not apply to farms on which the acreage planted to wheat for harvest is not more than 15 acres, nor to farms on which the normal production of the acreage planted to wheat is less than 200 bushels.

By not affecting farmers with 15 acres or less of wheat planted, marketing quotas are consistent with non-allotment provisions of the AAA farm program which allows farmers to plant up to 15 acres of wheat without deduction. Farmers using the non-allotment provision of the AAA farm program do not have the privilege of getting a loan on their wheat, nor do they receive a parity or special AAA payment.

Washenaw county has a total of 3,727 farms, of which 6,407 are not affected by wheat marketing quotas by reason of planting less than their wheat allotments or less than 15 acres.

Wheat farmers eligible to vote from the townships of Augusta, Lodi, Saline, York and Ypsilanti will vote at Saline city hall.

Ann Arbor, Pittsfield, Salem, Selo, Superior, Webster and Northfield at the county office at Ann Arbor.

Bridgewater, Freedom, Manchester, Sharon at Manchester village hall.

Dexter, Lima, Lyndon, Sylvan, at Sylvan town hall in Chelsea.

The community voting places will be open from 8 o'clock a. m. to 6 o'clock p. m.

Class in Nutrition Will Complete Course Tonight

The Nutrition class, which has been meeting each Thursday evening for the past ten weeks, under the supervision of Miss Clark, completes its course tonight, April 23.

The course has proven a most practical one as well as most interesting, and has covered not only the study of food and nutrition in relation to the well balanced diet, but also the use of food substitutes without loss of food value. It has also studied the various special diets, the low cost menus, the well-balanced lunch box for the school child, the clerical worker and the factory worker, and last, but by no means least, the economy in food buying in relation to the nutritive value of the foods for which the homemaker spends her dollars.

Gov. Van Wagoner To Head Defense Meeting

Hoarding a spring offensive to speed the tempo of Michigan's civilian defense effort, the staff of the Michigan Council of Defense, headed by its chairman, Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner, and Lt. Col. Harold A. Furlong, administrator, will stage an all-day conference culminating in a parade and patriotic rally at Jackson on April 28.

Designed to discuss problems intensified by a nation at war, the meeting will present questions and answers of all phases of civilian defense. It will serve as a springboard for renewed action by every civilian volunteer in the second Citizens' Defense Corps district, so that the State council's detailed planning will be translated by trained personnel into a smoothly functioning defense organization.

Chairmen of county and local councils of defense have been invited to attend, as well as plant protection men and public officials.

The general plan for the meeting is as follows: a general session in the morning, sectional meetings in the afternoon and a public patriotic mass meeting in the evening.

Following registration at 9 a. m., Mayor Daniel J. Hackett will open the meeting. General organization of civilian defense, the Citizens' Defense Corps and Civilian Mobilization will be explained by Lt. Col. Furlong; Donald S. Leonard, Commander, Michigan Citizens' Defense Corps, and Robert J. Byers, executive secretary of the State council.

A question and answer period will follow the speeches.

Special sessions for the Citizens' Defense Corps and Civilian Mobilization will open the afternoon program. Sectional meetings will then be held dealing with the following subjects: CDDVO, high school councils of defense, victory gardens, information, salvage, agriculture, public works and recreation and physical fitness. Chairmen of the sectional meetings will be members of the State staff.

"Ready on the Home Front," a motion picture depicting the operation of the Citizens' Defense Corps, will be shown at 4 o'clock.

High spot of the meeting, as far as the general public is concerned, will come in the evening with a parade at 7:30, and a patriotic rally at 8 o'clock. The keynote address will be given by Gov. Van Wagoner.

Child Welfare Plan Expanded by Britain

London—With the evacuation of children from bombed areas and the increasing number of women entering war work, the British Ministry of Health has expanded its day nursery and child welfare program far beyond peace-time needs.

Spread throughout the country today are 465 day nurseries, taking care of nearly 20,000 children of school age. The children are looked after, educated, and entertained by specially trained girls and women. Under a scheme worked out by the Board of Education and Ministry of Health, suitable women and girls take a course of 12 lectures with practical demonstrations. They then supervise and assist in nursery classes and schools.

The success of the program in the maintenance of child morale and health can be gauged from the fact that in the last six months over 150 new day nurseries have been set up in various sections of England, Scotland and northern Ireland.

VICTORY GARDENS

Michigan Council of Defense

By George Tomlinson, Director, Michigan Victory Garden Program

Registration for Victory Gardens is being launched throughout Michigan this week by Victory Garden committees of the Michigan Council of Defense. If you have space and fertile soil in your own yard, or if you wish to join a community Victory Garden program, you are urged to volunteer and submit registration cards to either your local Victory Garden committee, your local or County Council of Defense, or at Public Libraries or for community gardens through the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Registration cards and free pamphlets charting the planting time of various garden crops were made available this week by the state Victory Garden administration. A supply has been shipped to each county war garden chairman.

Volunteers in the garden program are asked, even if gardens are not to be grown. Helpers are needed to organize, harvest, store or preserve vegetables and fruits for school or community use; to help in a neighborhood garden; or a school or community garden; to distribute donated flowers from gardens to hospitals, service camps and so forth; and to do the necessary office work involved in supervision of the gardens.

Plan your garden in advance. Remember that a small garden, well-planned and well-tended, is better than an acre neglected. A carefully planned layout will save many hours work in planting and cultivating your Victory Garden.

Every individual has his own problem as to where a garden should be located. Therefore, it is best not to follow too closely any suggested plan laid down by a magazine or by someone attempting to establish an ideal.

Get out a paper and pencil, draw an outline of your available garden space, and then plan from there just what flowers and vegetables you want and where to put them. Every experienced and amateur gardener finds that a good seed catalog will contain an almost unlimited fund of information about the heights, colors, growing habits and cultural needs of flowers and vegetables.

What size garden should you have? The best advice we can give as to size of a garden is not to grow food which cannot be used, or which is greater than our own needs. Great care, rather great space, makes the successful Victory Garden. A small garden, viewed psychologically, does not tire one out when you consider weeding or cultivating on hot summer days.

Rows running north and south are best to let sunshine reach the soil after the plants are well grown. The distance between rows may vary considerably. In small gardens, well supplied with plant food, rows of low-growing crops may be as close as six inches. The best distance for crops not exceeding two feet in height is 18 inches, which enables you to cultivate each aisle in one trip with a wheel hoe.

Plan your garden for the whole season. This means, in some cases, two or more crops grown in the same row. You can sow early, midseason and late bearing varieties at the same time, waiting for them to come into yield at different times, or make several sowings of the same variety, 10 days or two weeks apart.

Plan straight rows and narrow rows, as they are easier to cultivate. Plan your garden's size in accordance with the tools you have to work your garden. A spading fork and a strong back will prepare the soil of a small plot. A plow will prepare the soil of a large garden. The plowing can be hired done by a farmer. A small garden may be hoed a large garden must be cultivated. Take these things into consideration.

County Health Dept.

Civilian Defense Volunteers who will assist the Health Department and local physicians in conducting the immunization clinic scheduled at Chelsea on May 5 spent Monday morning at the Health Department taking preliminary training for the work. The volunteer from Chelsea was Mrs. Ruth Fletcher.

Instructions received at the Health Department were concerned with the scientific background for the immunization of children and with the procedure to be employed in the handling of the children at the clinic. The volunteers were introduced to the method of vaccinating children for smallpox and of giving children toxoid for diphtheria prevention. Care was also taken to explain the method of keeping records of children treated in the clinics.

Dr. Engelke emphasized the importance of having children below school age report for both diphtheria and smallpox preventative treatments. He also stated that this year it was especially desirable that all children ten years of age or younger be given another injection of toxoid rather than a Schick test in the clinic. Children who have had toxoid as recently as a year ago will have their immunity brought up to its peak by this procedure. This, it was felt, was important in view of the influx of population expected.

THE STORY SO FAR: In love with Karl Miller, her handsome night club employer, Joan Leland, secretary, refuses to listen to her older sister, Sybil, with whom she shares an apartment. Her Paul Sherman, big manager, Karl tells her they cannot be married for months and sends her on mysterious trips with letters. He shoots his business partner, Eric Strom, in Joan's presence, then tricks her into putting her fingerprints on the gun. He then threatens her with a murder charge, unless she remains silent and obedient to work for him. He also admits he is a German citizen, part of a spy ring and that he has a wife in Germany. Paul Sherman reveals to Joan he is an FBI agent, working under cover to trap the higher-ups in a spy ring and asks her help. She agrees and when Sybil is found missing, they suspect she is being held as a hostage. Later police find her clothes and a suicide note near a bridge. Karl hires a new beautiful girl singer, and Joan is disgusted with herself when she sees the new girl falling for the same game. She visits Mrs. Murdock, proprietor of the beauty shop where Sybil got a job through Karl's influence. Now continue with the story.

CHAPTER XII

"I know you'll excuse me," Mrs. Murdock explained, "but I'm frightfully busy. It was nice of you to come. I hope you'll be a regular customer."

Joan replied courteously and left feeling that her visit had been a failure. She stopped at a drugstore for a sandwich and a cup of coffee. It was all the dinner she would have time for tonight. She was staring into the broad mirror behind the fountain when she saw Pat Hines. The girl did not reply. "Pat!" Joan said.

The girl smiled then and came toward her. "Oh, Miss Leland, I'm glad to see you. I thought I'd have a cup of coffee before I went to the club. I'm too nervous to eat. This is my first night, you know."

As Joan watched Pat sipping her coffee, she had an idea. Perhaps she should have asked Paul first, but there was no time for that, so on the strength of her impulse she said: "Where are you staying?"

Pat smiled. "At the Y. M. C. A. I didn't have much money."

"How would you like to share my apartment?" "Oh, I'd love to! And," she added childishly, "I'll have plenty of money now. Mr. Miller is paying me fifty dollars a week."

"Yes, I know," Joan said, thinking how furious Karl would be when he found out that his new discovery was living with his secretary. But this arrangement might permit Joan to keep an eye on Patricia. Perhaps she could warn her against becoming too involved with Karl.

Paul did not make an appearance for two days during which time Pat was installed in Joan's apartment. Joan's heart ached to see her in Sybil's place, yet the girl would be a comfort to her. It would take her mind off her own troubles.

It was almost one o'clock in the morning when Pat and Joan arrived at the apartment. Karl had driven them from the club. He made no comment upon the arrangement, though Joan could see that he was not pleased.

"Karl," Pat confided later, "is the most wonderful man I've ever met. He's different from other men. There's something about him."

"Don't you think he's a little old for you?" Joan asked, remembering that Sybil once had said the same thing to her.

"Old?" Pat's delicate eyebrows shot up. "Oh, older men are so much more interesting. Don't you think so?"

Joan sighed. What could she do to save this girl? She was sure that Pat Hines had never sung in a night club before. She was not a professional and sooner or later she would find herself involved too deeply to get out.

When the doorbell rang both girls were in bed. Joan switched on the light and fastening a robe about her, went into the living room, calling, "Who's there?"

It was Paul. "Let me in, Joan!"

Quick.

Joan unlocked the door. Paul stepped in and demanded, "Where is she?"

But Pat had already risen and was standing wide-eyed in the bedroom door. When she saw Paul, she gave a little cry, "Paul!" and the color drained from her face.

Paul looked angry. "What in the world are you doing here, Pat?"

The three of them stood in the living room, staring at one another. Joan switched on the lights, revealing the strain on each face.

"What is it, Paul?" she asked.

"Pat happens to be my sister."

"But she told me her name was Hines!" Joan cried. "She said she lived in Los Angeles."

Paul laughed shortly. "Her name is Patricia O'Malley and she's from Brooklyn, New York. How she ever got to California I wouldn't know. She's seventeen and she has never sung in a night club or anywhere else in public in her life."

Pat took his arm and looked pleadingly into his face. "Oh, Paul, I've always wanted to sing. I want to have an exciting life, something different! I ran away from home, but I wrote to mother last night and told her that I was safe and had a good job. And now that you're in San Francisco she won't worry about me." She paused and looked from Paul to Joan. "By the way, what are you doing here? I thought you were in Washington."

Paul's face was serious. "I am not working for the government any longer," he said, with a warning glance at Joan. "I am Karl Miller's manager."

SHE LOVED A SPY

by SYLVIA TAYLOR

When she saw Paul, she gave a little cry, "Paul!" and the color drained from her face.

"Why, Paul O'Malley?" As Joan and Paul exchanged glances, she realized that Pat must be told something about this strange situation.

Paul was speaking nervously. "Listen carefully, Pat! You know when I worked for the government, there were a lot of people who had reason to dislike me."

Pat's brown eyes, so like her brother's, widened, as she asked, "Well?"

"So I'm using another name. I am known here as Paul Sherman."

Pat shrugged. "You're a fine one to scold me," she said crossly.

"Go to bed," Paul ordered. "I want to talk to Joan."

Reluctantly Patricia obeyed, closing the bedroom door behind her. Obviously she had no idea of the havoc her appearance had caused.

Paul spoke in a low, distressed voice. "This is a fine mess."

"Can't you make her go home?" "She wouldn't do it. We O'Malleys are like that. Besides, she'd tell Karl and the whole game would be up. My job has to come first. This business is more important—than my own sister."

Joan put a gentle hand upon his arm. "I know how you feel," she comforted. "But since Pat is living with me, I may be able to protect her."

"We must get this business finished up quickly—before Karl has a chance to pull anything."

"Then we won't tell Pat anything?"

"No! And tomorrow I want you to make it plain that she is not to reveal my identity. She must understand that it is very necessary for me to use another name."

Joan was more convinced than ever of Karl's power by the many complications which seemed to be closing in about them.

"I'm afraid, Paul! This can't end except with more trouble."

"You're right, Joan. We've got to be very careful, but I think the whole thing's going to blow up soon. So be on your guard."

"Do you know anything?" Joan pleaded.

"Can't say yet," Paul said abruptly.

Two weeks passed. Fearful weeks of watching and waiting for Joan and Paul. Happy weeks for Pat who bloomed under the influence of her romance with Karl Miller. A romance which it seemed impossible to stop. Pat would not listen to anything against Karl. She sang his praises day and night, yet so far as Joan could discover Karl had not used her services in connection with the spy ring. And Pat had accepted their explanation about her brother's identity and promised not to reveal it, even to Karl.

Then one day in mid-January an unexpected clue came. Paul had arrived at the apartment to drive Joan to work. Paul had just risen and was eating her breakfast in the kitchen. Her brown eyes were clouded. She had scarcely spoken to Joan.

"Something is wrong with Pat," Joan confided to Paul. "Maybe you can find out what it is."

Paul went into the kitchen. "Hello, youngster, how's everything?"

"Fine," Pat said briefly.

"Look here, honey, if something is troubling you, why not tell me?"

"Because you can't help me—no one can."

Joan stood in the doorway regarding her with pity. "Maybe I could, if you would trust me."

Pat was silent for a moment, then she burst out, "It's Karl!"

"Karl? What about him?" Paul demanded.

them through the front of the shop down the hall to Mrs. Murdock's private office. Paul opened the door softly.

He tapped the walls softly. "There is probably another room opening off this one." His fingers beat a tattoo against the wood as he moved slowly around the wall. "There it is!" he said, quietly, and even Joan could detect a hollow sound as his knuckles rapped on the panel.

She stood close behind him, apprehensive as his hands silently explored it. "There should be a button here," he said, frowning. "Wait—here it is." A piece of casing slid from its place, revealing a small iron switch. At the pressure of Paul's finger the panel began to swing aside.

Joan gasped as she watched it move, with its strange grating noise. It swung around to reveal a small room enveloped in darkness.

Paul's flashlight played into the dark. "There doesn't seem to be any light switch in here. Wait a minute! Here's a lamp."

CO-EDITORS

Allyn Kohnman and Phillip Vogel

Editorial

The school, as you have probably heard, has its new shop going full speed ahead. All sorts of projects are coming off the line—tables, chairs, book shelves and various projects from the steel lathe and forge.

The school shop cannot make machinists, cabinet makers and blacksmiths but merely starts them on their way. The machinist or tool and die maker has about twelve years experience before he is recognized as an expert. But as all these skilled laborers had to start sometime, I feel our school shop is doing its part.

Office News

The upper six grades of our school will be closed on Friday, April 24, because of the Schoolmasters' Club meeting in Ann Arbor.

The boys' baseball team is scheduled to play Ann Arbor High at Ann Arbor on Friday, April 24, and at Manchester on Tuesday, April 28. The girls' team will play Dexter on Thursday, April 30 at the local athletic field.

The track team played Milan at the local athletic field on Wednesday, April 22 and they are scheduled to play Saline on Wednesday, April 29.

The school will hold open house for the public to attend on Friday, May 1. At this time the morning classes will be held from 7:00 to 8:30 p. m. After the class periods the high school band and chorus will present a program in the gymnasium.

Miss Gladys Love of the State Board of Control of Vocational Education will visit our school on Thursday, April 23.

Tuesday, April 21 the Latin Club presented an assembly program in the gym in the form of a radio broadcast to celebrate Latin Week. The president of the Latin Club, Dorothy Grau, presented Eleanor Harper, chairman of the program, who in turn introduced Robert Strieter, the announcer.

People taking part in the assembly were Leota Kohnman, Phillip Vogel, Esther Kienmieschneider, Mary Christy, Luther Kusterer, Rosemary Wallace, Ruth Osterle, Joyce Foster, Donald Alber, Rhea Clark.

Tonight there will be a Latin banquet for all members of the club. Margaret Feldkamp is head of the menu committee. Wilma Schweinfurth and Marilyn Lyons are in charge of the evening's festivities.

Underclassmen

The Sophomores spent most of their class meeting discussing their Victory Book Party which will be held in the gym on Friday, May 15. Kenny Sloucum, the chairman, says that such effort is being put forth to make this party a success. As you may have heard, the theme of the party is to be like a "nite" club. There will be an orchestra (they hope), a complete stage show, waitresses and believe it or not, a bar! Sounds like a swell party. Also class dues were discussed and it was stressed that they should be paid. Incidentally, this applies to all classes.

The Juniors spent their entire meeting appointing committees concerning their play. The committees are makeup, properties, ushers, tickets and publicity. The persons appointed will be announced later.

Manchester Defeated

Chelsea defeated Manchester in the first baseball game of the season on April 17 at the local athletic field, by the score of 8 to 2.

Manchester opened the first inning by starting off in typical Manchester fashion. Bud Slane, pitcher for Chelsea, had little control and walked one, hit another batter, and these, combined with two errors gave Manchester a 2-0 lead as the ball game first started. Chelsea went down in order in the last half of the first.

From the second inning on it was all Chelsea's ball game. Strieter and Lane drew bases on balls, but there the rally was almost stopped as Arnold struck out Dan Ewald and Dietle, and then with out two and two on LaVan hit a single, driving in Lane and Strieter. Slane hit a single, advancing LaVan to third and then Gadd slammed a three and two pitch into deep left center field for a triple, clearing the bases. Gadd came home on a wild pitch to make the score 5-2, Chelsea's favor.

Chelsea was not threatened from then on as Manchester could not hit Slane after the first inning. Chelsea got one run in each of the third, fourth and fifth innings also.

Arnold, pitching for Manchester, had fourteen strikeouts, five bases on balls. Slane had eight strike-outs and one base on balls.

Chelsea line-up: Gadd, 3b; Policht, 2b; Edgar, ss; Strieter, c; Lane, 1b; D. Ewald, lf; Dietle, cf; LaVan, rf; Slane, p.

Senior News

On Wednesday, April 15 our monthly class meeting was held, at which time plans were completed for the Annual.

It was decided that each Senior will be responsible for selling six Annuals.

The following people were selected to write: Class Will: Ruth Collins, Arlene Koenigster; Class Prophecy: Marian Eisele, Charles Lane; Class History: Pearl Alexander, Nancy Fleming; Giftatory: Mary Birch, Allyn Kohnman.

Band News

The band and chorus together will take part in the program on parents' night which will be May first. On May 11 the band will have a special assembly and present as guest soloist a member of the University of Michigan band. On May 19 the band and chorus will give their combined concert in the gym. Preparations are also being made for Memorial Day.

Assembly

Last Friday afternoon Guy Green came to our school and presented an impersonation of Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Green, who was in costume, told the inspiring life of Lincoln. The school children and faculty thoroughly enjoyed the program which was made possible by the National Program Service.

April showers bring out the flowers—and baseball players. Anyway, the perfect weather—or maybe it was just Spring—spurred the fellows on to defeat Manchester last Friday afternoon. Personally we think maybe the fine new cheerleaders and the roaring crowd helped out or even the long hard practices after school—but whatever did it we were pretty proud of our team and thought they looked right sharp in their long black stockings.

We saw a lot of the players doing their part at the War Stamp Dance last Friday night—and incidentally having themselves a time. Aside from the usual couples—and we can't forget the wolves—we found Bob B. with one of our new students—the of the a-burn hair. The Senior class was there in all its glory selling food and drink. From what we hear the girls overestimated everyone's appetites. Anyhow I guess Arlene and Lillian will be eating hot dogs and doughnuts for weeks—maybe months—(perish the thought) to come!

Even more difficulties arose before the night was over—it seems both Alida and Marian prefer blonds.

Girls' Athletics

Softball is now in season—and the girls are jumping right into practice. They practiced Tuesday and Thursday last week with about 28 girls in attendance. They will practice on Tuesday of next week, which will give them three practices before their game with Dexter next Thursday, April 30.

Hi-Y News

At their regular Tuesday afternoon meeting last Tuesday the Hi-Y club elected their new officers for the year. Robert Strieter was elected president; John Stone, vice-president; Donald West, secretary; and Dick Kern, treasurer. These boys will attend the district meeting in Manchester on Monday, and will probably go to camp this summer.

The Hi-Y club entertained about 20 boys of the high school at the Intramural building in Ann Arbor last Friday night. Many of the boys went swimming, while others used the gym and other recreational facilities.

Individual pictures of the high school and grade students will be taken Thursday, April 30 instead of April 20 as originally announced. Students are not required to purchase the pictures, but may purchase as many of them as they desire. Pictures will be taken from the kindergarten on up through the twelfth grade.

Elementary News

Seventh Grade (Eunice Lehman and Paul Rudd)

Our stamp sale for the week was $23.80.

We had two debates last week during English periods. Eunice Lehman and Marcelline Hinderer debated the affirmative of "Resolved: that all boys should be required to learn to cook," while Loren Munro and Charles Poppe defended the negative. On the question "Resolved: that the radio is more valuable to mankind than the newspaper", the affirmative team was Cameron Colquhoun and Bob Daniels, while the negative was upheld by Frances Hale and Clara Miller. The group became very much interested, not only in the procedure, but in the subject matter as well.

We had three visitors this week: Marjorie Bemis and Naida Olson from Ann Arbor, and Caroline Beal from Macon.

May Come Any Time, Any Place, Day or Night—Are You Ready?

Nothing left! Home swept away! $2,800 gone with the wind! No insurance! $420 would have protected this home in the Michigan Mutual of Hastings.

During the past two years nearly every county in Michigan has suffered heavy financial damage from windstorms. The fine reputation this company has for fair adjustments of losses and early payment of claims, together with other known advantages, makes it the choice of 128,996 owners of $471,762,589 worth of Michigan property. The cost for protection in this company is as low as can be furnished by any company with safety to the insured. The Michigan Mutual of Hastings has purchased $50,000 in Defense Bonds in co-operation with our government's defense program.

enter fall into two classes: (1) Wholesale and retailers, (2) Industrial and institutional users such as restaurants, hospitals and hotels.

From the information provided on the application it will be determined whether or not sugar purchase certificates are to be issued and, if so, the amount of sugar each applicant is entitled to purchase during the months of May and June, 1942.

Wholesalers and retailers will be permitted to replenish their stocks by turning in war stamp cards to which will be attached rationing stamps of War Rationing Book One issued to the consumers when they register. Industrial and institutional users will replenish their stocks through subsequent applications for Purchase Certificates.

Trade rationing will be followed on May 4, 5, 6, 7 by consumer registration at which time the grade schools in the county will issue War Ration Book One to every man, woman, and child. The ration book will have stamps which must be turned in with each purchase of sugar. Stamps are in turn passed on cards by retailers, entitling them to replace their stock. The stamps may also be used in connection with rationing of other products as rationing becomes necessary.

World's Biggest Bomber

HEAVIEST AIRPLANE in service in any part of the world today is the four-engine British "Stirling" bomber. As this picture shows, it dwarfs the "Spitfire" fighter which is comfortably tucked under one wing. The "Stirling" can carry a load of 8 tons of bombs for 2,000 miles and then fly back to its base. It weighs 30 tons when fully loaded, carries a crew of seven men, and has a speed of 300 miles an hour. Its four engines develop a total of 6,400 horsepower. Squadrons of these powerful attacking machines of the Royal Air Force are now smashing heavy bombs into the German war factories, to hinder enemy preparations for the much-vaunted "Spring offensive" against Russia or the Middle East.

KIWANIS NEWS

The Kiwanians held another interesting meeting on Monday evening of this week. Herbert Cassett of the Dexter club showed the group some fine moving pictures of his recent trip to Florida. These pictures were all made in technicolor and showed two of the most popular sports in the South—dog racing and shark fishing. The speaker explained the dangers of shark fishing and the many fine points of catching such large game.

President Russell A. McLaughlin briefly discussed the feasibility of the Kiwanis club sponsoring a summer recreation program for the coming season. He mentioned the possibility of promoting the construction of tennis courts in Chelsea and appointed a committee to investigate the community interest in such a project.
