John Bugas, FBI Agent, To Speak In Ann Arbor

John Bugas of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will be presented to an audience composed of persons from all parts of Washtenaw county when he speaks on "Citizens' Responsibilities to Law Enforcement Agencies" on Monday, May 11, at 8:15 p. m. in Hill Auditorium, Ann Arbor. This is the fourth lecture in the series being sponsored jointly by the County Council of Defense and the War Board of the University of Michigan.

Mr. Bugas, whose public appearances at the present time are limited due to pressure of work, has been in charge of the Detroit office of the FBI. Since May, 1938 all investigative matters in Michigan are under his immediate supervision, including kidnapping, extortion, bank robberies, and espionage. He works under his chief, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI. Mr. Bugas began his career after receiving a law degree from the University of Wyoming, his home state, and practicing law in Cheyenne. In 1935 he entered the service of the FBI as "Acting Agent in Charge" at Los Angeles. Since that time and before coming to Detroit, he served as "Special Agent in Charge" at Juneau, Alaska and Birmingham, Alabama.

This lecture is open to the public free of charge and the audience will have another opportunity to hear, preceding the speaker, patriotic selections by the R. O. T. C. band.

Juniors Will Present Annual Play Friday

(By H. S. Staff Writer)
What's this all about, anyhow? Of course, everybody wants to banish Aunt Tillie. But how is it possible to do this, and who is Aunt Tillie? Well, we'll tell you! Get your date book out and write down this date: Friday, May 8, at 8:00 p. m. It is on this particular evening that the Junior class will offer for your approval Wilbur Braun's latest and most successful farce entitled "Aunt Tillie Goes to Sea!" at the Chelsea high school gymnasium, and it is as the central character of this play that you will meet Aunt Tillie whose comedy antics will banish all of your cares.

The entire action of the play takes place on an ocean liner and Aunt Tillie becomes the life of the party. Write that into your date book. It is the evening of May 8, at 8:00 p. m., and next assured that this grand three will surely banish all of your cares and worries!

See "Aunt Tillie Goes to Sea!" with the following cast:
Aunt Tillie, who unexpectedly goes to sea—Margaret Feldkamp.
Movin' Tucker, who is always in a peck of trouble—Bob Strieter.
Pamela Tucker, his wife: Aunt Tillie's charming niece—Evelyn Lehman.
Daniel Doom, Steward on board the "S. S. Hazard"—Duane Le Van.
Jinx Jackson, a colored maid—Jean Dexter.

Dr. Ferdinand Fischer, a noted chiropractor—John Stone.
Evangeline Fischer, his wife, who has a passion for food—Caroline Bietenwischer.
Luther Lorrimer, who is engaged on a secret mission—Luther Kusterer.
Sylvia Frayne, his secretary—Marylyn Lyons.
Bette Barbour, a mysterious figure—Jeanette May.
Bernie Oakie, the ship's reporter—Dwight Gadd.
Lucinda Talbot, Aunt Tillie's former maid, who is hoping to be married—Helen Grabowski.

Bond Pledge Drive Starts Next Monday

100 Volunteers Will Canvass Village To Stimulate Bond Sales

Next Monday and Tuesday will be red letter days in the history of Michigan, for at the appointed hour the greatest all-out effort on record will get under way in a voluntary pledge by every income-earning citizen to aid in financing America's war cost by the systematic and regular purchase of U. S. Defense Bonds and Stamps.

No worker will be overlooked. Systematically, block by block, in the cities and towns, and mile by mile in the rural areas, a vast army of Minute Men and Women will see that every income received is pledged to Bond and Stamp purchases on a regular and continuing basis. And this money so lent the government in time of war will go to buy the food, the guns, the tanks, the ships and planes, the ammunition and supplies, and to bridge the oceans so vital for the support of our Army, Navy, Marines and Air Corps in the total war in which we are engaged against the Axis powers.

In Chelsea, Henry C. Schneider, general chairman, is organizing a canvassing force of about 100 volunteers to cover the village in the two-day period. Each canvasser will have from 10 to 15 names, which will make it possible to conduct a thorough campaign in a short period.

Generally speaking, the Pledge campaign is aimed to reach every person in America who earns an income and to make of these income earners stockholders in their government by their purchase of a share in America.

Not only do they buy a share in America, but the persons who pledge their dime and their dollars, as much as they can afford, become the owners of the safest investment in the world—the securities of the United States Treasury, backed by the government of the United States.

The widespread objective of the Treasury Department is three-fold: First, to make every citizen a shareholder in America; second, to raise money through voluntary purchase of Defense Bonds and Stamps to help meet the cost of war; and third, this money lent the Government in the war effort is taken out of competition for consumer goods, thereby preventing inflation and building up a cushion of savings for the individual when the war effort ceases.

Following are instructions which Mr. Schneider has issued to each canvasser:

1. Canvass all persons living in the homes or areas assigned to you. Include roomers. The place where a person sleeps is considered his home.
2. Start working early on Monday, May 11, and complete your canvass on that day if possible. Each canvasser is being assigned not over fifteen homes, so the work should be fairly complete by Monday night.
3. Each pledge is in triplicate (use the carbon paper supplied). Original and duplicate are to be returned to H. C. Schneider, 149 E. Middle. Triplicate copy is to be left with the person who signs the pledge. Do not leave the pledge for someone to sign later. If necessary call again with the pledge.

4. The purpose of the canvass is to secure a signed pledge, from every receiver of regular income, that he will systematically buy War Bonds or Stamps for the duration of the war, either through Payroll Savings Plans, or some other form. The general suggestion is that one should so invest 10 per cent or more of his income. For schedule see pamphlet, "Enlist Your Current Savings To Help Win The War."

5. Note that the Pledge is not an order that the pledgor will carry on a regular systematic purchase plan as long as he is financially able to do so.
6. Be sure you make a pledge yourself. Each canvasser will canvass his own home, and will make out, sign, and turn in his own pledge.
7. The blue window-sticker, "We Are Buying U. S. Savings Bonds and Stamps," is to be given to each person making a pledge.
8. On another sheet, report in writing the names of persons who do not pledge, giving their reasons in brief, but be sure every person is accounted for in your area, either by a pledge, or in your written report. If necessary, make follow-up calls.

Bonds and Stamps with a face value of more than $125,000.00 have been sold in Chelsea up to the present time.

CAFETERIA SUPPER
The ladies of the Methodist church will serve a cafeteria supper on Thursday evening, May 14, starting at 5:30, until all are served. Adv.

Announcement has been received of the birth of a son on Thursday, April 30, to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Faist of Lynwood, Calif. Mr. Faist, son of Mrs. Mary Faist, is a former Chelsea resident.

Twilight Ball Season Starts Next Monday

By Rolly Spaulding
With the formation of our league settled for another year, our first game of the season will be played next Monday night at 8:45 on the high school field, with games following on Tuesday and Thursday, and three games a week after that throughout the season. The six teams that make up our league and the first week's schedule are as follows:

Monday, May 11—Cassidy Lake vs. Central Fibre.

Tuesday, May 12—Kimunity vs. Chelsea Spring.

Thursday, May 14—Spaulding Chevrolet vs. Federal Screw.

The twilight part of our games will be a thing of the past this year and a good many of our starting players will be playing for Uncle Sam before our season closes. However, in times like these we feel that our open gate ball games, within easy walking distance of all of you, will be greatly enjoyed, and on behalf of the League I think we can promise you a full season.

John Ford, manager of the "Screw Plant" gang, claims to have a team composed of "flat-footed, one-eyed players," and we should have enough players left out of the other five teams to insure a second team remaining at the close of the season.

See you all Monday night.

Named Sales Analyst Of Student Publications

James Daniels, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Daniels of Chelsea, who is a student at the University of Michigan, has been appointed sales analyst of the Student Publications of the University.

This position of analyst has just been created at the request of the

JAMES DANIELS

Gargoyles, Ensign and Daily business staffs to fill a current need for a general publications analyzing and promotional service.
Daniels' duty will be to observe the market conditions and to advise the various business departments on what policy they should pursue in regard to their sales and advertising. He will also act as consultant on matters of personnel and business policies. He was Service and Publications Manager of The Michigan Daily this past year.

Annual Meeting Held By Community Fair

The Chelsea Community Fair Association held its annual meeting Monday night at the high school.

Officers elected for the following year are:

President—Darwin Downer.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. Paul Schaible.
Secretary—Thomas Bust.
Treasurer—Carl Mayer.
Directors who were elected for terms of two years are N. W. Laird, Darwin Downer, Walter Harper, Henry Schneider, Roland Waltrous and Mrs. Paul Schaible. Directors who will continue for one year are N. H. Miles, Mrs. W. R. Daniels, John Keusch, Duane Rowe, Joseph Merkel, Sr., Paul Niehaus and Mrs. A. A. Palmer.

Dates for the 1942 fair are to be October 2 and 3. Committees for the various departments will be appointed and announced later.

CANTEEN CLASS POSTPONED

The final meeting of the Canteen class has been postponed from Wednesday evening, May 13 to Wednesday evening, May 20, at 7:30 o'clock. At this time each group will meet with its chairman to make necessary plans for all emergencies.

The Emergency Group must be provided with canteen equipment; Merkel Bros. Hardware has offered to provide an oil stove if this group is ever called out. The unit will need a truck and it is hoped that someone will offer one to be used if ever the need arises. If anyone has equipment that could be used by this group, please notify Mrs. Paul Maroney.

THE HOME FRONT IN MICHIGAN

It never has been necessary to defend the patriotism of Michigan. It can be taken for granted that the people of Michigan, whether they live on farms, in cities or rural communities, will give full support and wholehearted cooperation to the President's battle against inflation—which he prefers to call the high cost of living. The high cost of living no longer is a vague threat. It has become a grim reality.

In issuing a series of orders, which placed virtually all prices and rents with specified exceptions under a ceiling for the duration, Price Administrator Leon Henderson commented: "This action is one which the American people know to be necessary. It is, after all, the citizens' charter of security against rising living costs and it will be so recognized. Therefore, I knew every citizen will look upon this program as his own and will do his part to make it work."

Attempts of any classes or groups to gain exemptions or special privileges surely would be giving comfort to our enemies and, as such, would be unpatriotic.

Michigan is sending her boys to the battle lines in increasing thousands. How little in comparison seem the things which we are asked to do on the Home Front.

Just as the Selective Service is mobilizing our fighting forces, so must we who remain at home mobilize our economic resources. The Selective Service has brought few evaders. It hardly seems conceivable that any man or woman would dodge our less important economic duties.

But there are teeth in the price rent orders for any Home Front slacker. Penalties for willful violation include fines up to $5,000 or a year in prison, or both; also civil suits for triple damages and loss of seller's license for 12 months.

Rent gouging is an evil which generally does not exist in rural areas. As crowded industrial centers overflow into small towns and farm communities, this problem may arise.

Twenty-one Michigan counties are classed as defense-rental areas in the recent order and rents will come under federal control. This includes rural as well as urban districts in these counties—Lenawee, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw, Wayne, Genesee, Kent, Muskegon, Ottawa, Jackson, Calhoun, Kalamazoo, Clinton, Eaton, Ingham, Berrien, St. Clair, Bay, Midland, Saginaw and Monroe. Others are sure to be added, if the need arises.

One out of every four workers in Detroit will have to be a woman worker in order to meet the tremendous war demands, the WPB Detroit Region Labor Section has estimated.

Five pounds of extra sugar per person will be allowed for canning purposes, the OPA has ruled.

special certificate must be obtained from the local rationing board to make these purchases. Enough iron and steel scrap was salvaged in 374 Detroit plants in April to build two 35,000-ton battleships and a 6695-ton heavy cruiser. Patience and tolerance are old virtues with new importance in our war effort. Prices of mixed fertilizer, super-phosphate and potash have been stabilized at levels established under a previous order.

Prices of many items not listed in the general over-all price order will be established in separate orders. Cotton goods, for example. More than 1,000,000 workmen are producing war materials in factories where joint labor-management committees have taken over the job of increasing production. Traverse City was host the past week-end to more than 150 analysts, managers and directors of the WPB Priorities Division from 22 states. Ernest Kanzler, director of the WPB Detroit Region, warned manufacturers that discrimination against employment of workers because of race, creed, color or national origin is against the national war policy. Only if your gas stove, hot water heater or furnace is completely beyond repair can you expect any relief from the WPB order, which restricts the sale of new plumbing and heating equipment.

CASSIDY YOUTHS IN WAR WORK
A total of 36 youths employed at the NYA's Cassidy Lake war production and training project were placed in private employment during the past two weeks; all of them going into industries manufacturing war supplies, with the exception of one, who left to work on a farm.

The greater number of youths found employment in Detroit industries, 13 of them being employed in that city. Nine were employed in Adrian, three in Ypsilanti, two in Ann Arbor, one in Dearborn, one in Lansing, two in Owosso, one in Battle Creek, two in Benton Harbor, and two in Plymouth. Orin W. Kaye, state NYA administrator, said these placements were indicative of the way NYA projects throughout the country were supplying experienced labor for the country's war industries.

Currently, the NYA is supplying war industries with experienced workers at the rate of 1,000 a day.

KIWANIS NEWS

The Kiwanians held their regular meeting this week at Marilyn Inn. Harold M. Langworthy of the Wayne club, who is lieutenant-governor of this district, was the principal speaker of the evening.

Mr. Langworthy discussed briefly the importance of Kiwanis service in times of stress and urged the Kiwanians to devote as much of their time as they possibly could in aiding the present war effort.

The speaker mentioned that the four important ideals of Kiwanis International are work, play, service, and religion, and he concluded his talk by urging the Kiwanians to adhere to these sound principles in their everyday lives.

President Russell A. McLaughlin announced that the Kiwanians purchased approximately $75.00 worth of War Savings Stamps at regular club meetings during the month of April. He thanked George Doe and Lloyd Heydlauff for their efforts in selling these stamps to the members and he urged the Kiwanians to actively promote the sale of Stamps and Bonds in the community.

SHE LOVED A SPY

by SYLVIA TAYLOR

© BELL W-M-U-RELEASE

THE STORY SO FAR—Joan Leland, secretary, falls in love with Karl Miller, her employer, owner of a night club. She pursues secret invitations from Eric Strom, Karl's business partner, and Paul Sherman, his manager. Her sister, Sybil, does not approve of Karl, but Joan blindly defends him, even when Paul, in a friendly manner, warns her about Karl. Karl shoots Eric in Joan's presence, tricks her into placing her finger-prints on the gun, then admits he is a Nazi spy with a wife in Germany. He tells Joan unless she continues to work, and remain silent about the matter, he will blame it on her. The terrified girl agrees and later Paul reveals himself as Paul O'Malley of the FBI, working to trap the higher-ups of the spy ring. Sybil fails to come home, and a suicide note later is thought by them to mean Joan agrees secretly to help Paul, and reports that Karl has hired a beautiful young girl to sing, and is already making love to her. It's Paul's runaway sister, Joan gets her to share her apartment. Paul and Joan search the beauty shop of Mrs. Murdoch, who had employed Sybil at Karl's suggestion.

Now continue with the story

CHAPTER XIII

The light revealed a desk, a short wave radio set and three large filing cabinets. He drew on a pair of gloves. "Don't touch anything," he cautioned Joan.

Joan's heart was in her throat. "Oh Paul, what if Karl should find out we were here?"

"By that time," Paul replied grimly, "it will be too late."

Joan looked curiously at the radio set. "Do you suppose Karl has a receiver too?"

"Probably, though where it would be I don't know."

He opened a drawer of the desk. "Doesn't seem to be anything here."

"Wait!" Joan cried. "What's this?" She seized a gray glove lying among pencils and bits of papers. "This is Sybil's glove!" she said excitedly. "She always wore these with her suit, and she was wearing that suit the day she disappeared."

Paul gazed speculatively at the slender gray glove. "It could mean that Sybil discovered this room, that she knew what was going on in here, and that's why Karl put her out of the way."

Joan pressed the glove against her cheek. "Oh Sybil!" she wept. "I still think Sybil is alive," Paul said. "Karl is saving her as an ace up his sleeve. In that way she is of more use to him living than dead. Anyway, that's my hunch. It will be better if you can believe it too."

"I'll try," Joan gulped, controlling herself with an effort.

Half an hour passed while Paul's nimble fingers explored the contents of drawer after drawer.

He tapped the walls but they revealed nothing. It was Joan who cried, "Paul! Look at this desk. There's something odd about it."

There seemed to be a panel on the side of the desk. "You're right," Paul said, and gently forcing the wood, he pulled it to one side. "Here we are!" he said as they both gazed into a small hidden compartment. Eagerly Paul thrust in his hand and drew forth a large envelope. He opened it. "Look Joan! These are the plans for that bombing plane. We were right!"

Joan peered over his shoulder at the unintelligible writing. "What do they say?"

Paul smiled excitedly as he ran his eyes over the pages. "Plenty! There's enough here to convict Karl and Mrs. Murdoch as well as some others."

"Let's get out of here, quick," Joan begged, glancing back at the half-open panel which had admitted them.

"While we're here I'm going to take a last look around to see if I can find a copy of that code."

Joan watched his brown head bend over the drawer. Her heart went out to him in gratitude for his kindness. "This is really the end of our search," she said.

"It looks like it."

"I wish we were out of here," Joan repeated. "I have a feeling something else is about to happen."

Paul laughed. "You women and your intuition!"

But Joan shivered nervously as she waited for Paul to finish.

In a downtown hotel, Karl Miller was dancing with Pat.

"You're a darling!" he murmured against her hair.

"Oh Karl, I love you so much," she smiled. "You are happy, Liebchen?"

"I still can't believe it," Pat said, turning her radiant face to his. "Just think . . . Mrs. Karl Miller."

"We can't be married for two or three months yet," Karl told her.

"I don't care. I'm so happy," Pat gazed down at the emerald, a magnificent jewel which flashed green fire from her hand. "It's such a beautiful ring! Joan will be so surprised."

"No doubt," Karl smiled.

"And Paul too?"

"Paul? Why should Paul be surprised?"

The music had stopped now and they returned to their table.

"What has Paul got to do with us?" Karl demanded.

Pat looked embarrassed. She had promised not to reveal Paul's identity under any circumstances. "Oh, nothing," she faltered.

But Karl was not to be sidetracked. "What is there between you and Paul?"

Pat laughed. "Are you jealous?"

"Jealous? Of course I am. I insist upon knowing."

"I promised I wouldn't tell anyone," Pat hesitated.

Karl's voice was smoothly persuasive. "But, Liebchen, we are going to be married. You must not have any secrets from your husband."

Pat's brown eyes were troubled. "Well, I don't know."

Karl took her hand. "You must tell me," he insisted.

"I suppose now that we are engaged, it's different," Pat admitted. "Anyway it's really nothing for you to be jealous about. You see, Paul is my brother. He's using an assumed name because some time ago he used to work for the government."

"Indeed?" Karl Miller said, rising quickly. "I find that information extremely interesting."

It seemed to Joan that Paul was taking an unnecessarily long time looking for the code. She watched impatiently as he rechecked each drawer, wondering at his calm deliberation.

"Please hurry, Paul! Let's get out of here!"

"Queer I can't find it. They must have it here somewhere."

"What does it matter now? We have the other evidence. You said these papers incriminate Karl. Isn't that enough?"

"I always like to do a thorough job while I'm at it."

"Wait! Oh Paul, I hear something! Someone is coming down the hall!"

She ran to the open panel and gazed through the office to the hallway leading to the street, but she could see nothing.

"You're just nervous," Paul said. "I'll be through in a minute. Sit down and relax."

"I'm sure I heard someone. What if Karl has found out?" Joan said, sitting down at the desk where Sybil's glove remained among the pile of papers. "He's too clever to let us get away with this."

"Karl's not as clever as you may imagine," Paul told her, "or he wouldn't leave these papers for me to find."

"It all seems too easy," Joan insisted. "There must be a catch to it."

"We've waited long enough to get Karl," he reminded her. "I knew that eventually we'd catch up with him. Haven't you ever heard that crime does not pay? He actually seemed amused."

"I don't see anything funny about it!"

"You're a sweet kid!" Paul said. "And you've been a big help to me."

"Please let's get out of here!" She was on the verge of tears.

Paul glanced around the small room. Papers were strewn on the floor, even carelessly over the radio equipment.

"This untidy mess will be quite a surprise to our friends," he commented.

"Are we going to the authorities now?"

Paul picked up the envelope. "Right. And in here we have enough to keep Karl Miller out of circulation for good."

Joan took Sybil's glove and put it in her purse, but before she could fasten the clasp, Karl Miller's voice came to them from the open panel.

"I thought I'd find you here."

His powerful figure filled the small doorway. He held a gun. Paul reached for his coat, but Karl was too quick for him. "No use trying that, Mr. O'Malley."

Joan backed against the wall, her eyes fastened, as though hypnotized, upon Karl's face.

"You need not be frightened," Karl told her. "I am principally interested in Paul. Too bad he has such a talkative sister."

"So Pat told you?"

Joan marveled at Paul's indifference.

"Yes. It might interest you to know that she thinks I am about to become your brother-in-law."

At last Paul's anger was aroused. "You dirty rat!"

Karl smiled. "I assure you I have no intention of going through with it. As you no doubt know, I already have one wife."

"What have you done with her?" Paul demanded.
