Rev. Bert Ede Assumes Methodist Pastorate

Rev. Bert Ede, who was assigned to the Chelsea Methodist church by Bishop Wade at the recent Detroit Annual Conference, assumed his pastorate here on Sunday.

A native of England, where he received a major portion of his education, Rev. Ede served almost four years as a chaplain in the British army during the first World War.

After coming to America in 1920 he attended the Garrett Biblical Institute at Evanston, Ill., graduating from that institution. His pastorates include Saffee, Swartz Creek and Flint, coming here from Trinity church in the latter city.

Rev. and Mrs. Ede have one daughter, Mrs. Franklin Crawford, of Pontiac.

USO Contributions Furnish Recreation For Boys In Camps

Perhaps you haven't a son in military service, but you have a country for which someone's son is fighting. There are times when the routine of camp life has to be met by refreshment in the form of recreation and spiritual uplift. When the boys are free to look for these outlets, where do they go? Perhaps the best way to answer this question is to quote various authorities.

The past week two of our local boys were home for short leaves—Paul Rogers from Texas and Claude Rogers from California on his way to a new assignment in Maryland. The latter gave the expression that the USO clubs along the west coast were doing a wonderful job in furnishing a place of relaxation and entertainment for the men in service. He recommends them 100 per cent. Last week, your editor referred you to the edition of Life Magazine for June 29 in which appeared the picture of Paul enjoying a game of ping-pong in a USO club. He says that is only one of the many activities that you may find in these centers and any time that the boys are free, they know they can always find the best of company and entertainment in USO groups. There are no improvements that the boys could suggest.

Major General George E. Stratemeyer of the Southeast Air Corps Training Center, who spoke at the formal dedication of the USO club at Montgomery, Alabama, said: "The USO plays a great part in our national war effort. To our men under arms it imparts a spiritual spark—let's call it Vitamin 'W' for Victory—which helps them to go forth and win; that ours shall remain a free and strong united nation. We must bring spiritual power to our fighting forces if they are to be invincible. That is the high task of the USO."

A large proportion of the men in the military service are young, and this is the first time they have been away from home environment. It is well for them that there is such an organized effort as the USO to provide the proper recreational facilities for them when at liberty.

There is a coast-to-coast radio hour each Tuesday night from 9:30 to 10:30 over the Columbia Broadcasting system. It is the only full-hour all-soldier show on the air and draws its talent from men in uniform in the United States and Canada. Each week it originates in a different post and the men are hoping that you are benefiting with them.

Last week the Girl Scouts in Detroit gave the money raised from their annual cookie sale to their local USO.

The high school seniors in Franklin, New Jersey, placed the good cheer of the armed forces ahead of their own personal pleasure and gave a fund of $500 saved for a graduation trip, to the USO.

One of the most unusual contributions to USO is reported by Holman D. Pettibone of Chicago—a gift of $1566 from the permanent personnel of the Great Lakes Training Station. USO made no solicitation at the station, but a phone call said some money was being sent in. Later a station wagon arrived, in charge of two Navy yeomen, who loaded a big box into the office, turned it over, and emptied out a quantity of silver and a few bundles of bills. The idea was the sailors' own. The personnel at the station set up collection boxes and the money was dropped in.

If others can do it, why can't we? Chelsea's quota has fallen short of its goal. The time is being extended to give YOU an opportunity to furnish entertainment for our men who are giving protection to you.

The volunteers completed their house-to-house canvass in Chelsea on July 1 but because of the time shortage it was not possible to call in the rural sections. The local committee is working with plans daily, trying to stimulate the response of our population both in town and the surrounding neighbors. If you have not contributed and will help to meet our quota, call any member of the committee or leave your money at the Chelsea State Bank.

To be prepared to render all services it is called upon to perform and to meet the known increase in war efforts which all America will feel in the coming year, USO will need your help.

Plankell Sells Funeral Home To Detroit Man

Announcement is made by Bruce I. Plankell that he has sold his funeral home and equipment to Martin E. Miller of Detroit, who took possession of the business on July 1.

Mr. Miller has had eleven years' experience as a funeral director in Grosse Pointe Park. He will operate the local business under the name of Plankell Funeral Home. Mr. Plankell will assist Mr. Miller in conducting funeral services. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will move here as soon as the Plankells vacate the property.

Mr. Plankell, who has operated the funeral home for the past 16 years, has purchased the DuBois & Hughes wholesale and retail merchandising business in Lansing, taking possession on July 1. Mr. and Mrs. Plankell have purchased a new home in Lansing and will move there in the near future.

Preparations For Fairs Still Proceed In State

Lansing—Preparations for Michigan's county fairs this fall are proceeding without interruption despite recent developments which threatened for a time to result in their cancellation.

The green signal to go ahead was decided upon by members of the Michigan Fairs association, after considering requests by Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, that the public refrain from attending such exhibitions to save rubber and gasoline and that fairs, conventions and similar gatherings be suspended for the duration of the war.

Members of the association met in Lansing with A. C. Carton, director of fairs for the state department of agriculture, to discuss Eastman's announcement. Opposition to cancelling the fairs was unanimous, the opinion being held that little, if any, rubber or gas would be saved by such a move.

It was pointed out that Eastman's statement did not include theatres, horse races and many other forms of amusement whose patrons use hundreds of times the amount of rubber in their transportation than is consumed by those attending fairs.

In addition to the valuable stimulus that fairs give to agriculture, including this year the Victory gardens, it was stated that the government is urging all who can to take vacations for needed rest, and for many farmers the fairs will be their only holiday.

The fair officials said, however, that if it is essential to the conservation of rubber, they will be glad to comply with any government closing order or request if it is applied to all forms of amusement that should come within such a classification. Unless there is some such development the fairs will be held as scheduled.

Second Band Concert Scheduled For Tonight

Second in the series of seven concerts to be given by the Chelsea Summer Concert Band, under the direction of Marshall Richards, will be presented tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock on the lawn in front of the public grade school building. The program will be as follows:

W. M. B. March—Hall
El Capitan March—Souza
Iron Count Overture—King
Our Director March—Bigelow
Washington Post March—Souza
Royal Palm Overture—King
American Patrol—Meacham
Men of Valor March—Klohr
Star Spangled Banner

The band presented a fine concert last Thursday night, which was well attended. The series of concerts is being financed by the Federal Screw Works.

Annual School Meeting Will Be Held Monday

The annual meeting of School District No. 3, Sylvan and Lima, will be held at the public school auditorium on Monday evening, July 13, at 8 o'clock.

Three-year terms of J. N. Strieter and Geo. W. Walworth expire this year, and it will be necessary to elect a third director for a period of two years to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Bruce Plankell, who is moving to Lansing.

Other matters pertaining to business of the district will also be submitted to voters of the district at this time.

The annual meetings of rural districts will also be held next Monday night.

How to Clean the Top Burners of Your Gas Range

Uncle Sam wants us to take good care of the things we have so they will last for the duration, in order that America's plants will be free to concentrate on war production.

This is the FIRST of a series of messages on the care and correct use of gas equipment. Your gas range is durably made and will give you long and satisfactory service if cleaned regularly.

It is well to wipe the top burners of your gas range with a damp cloth after every meal or at least once a day. When necessary, clean enamel, aluminum or chromium burners with a mild cleaner only. Rinse with clear water and dry thoroughly.

Burners of modern gas ranges are of the non-clog type and require little cleaning, but if the flame openings become clogged, clean with stiff brush or gently insert small wire to free obstruction.

If the burner has a removable top section for cleaning, be sure that it is screwed in firmly but not tightened when replaced. Frequently wash tray under burners or top grate. Do not boil aluminum or enamel burners in water to which soda has been added.

Use a stiff bristle brush to clean the burner heads and flame openings of the star-shaped top burners of cast iron used on the older type of ranges. If the burner rods are greasy, remove burners by lifting each section from its groove.

This type of burner may be boiled in a deep utensil containing one tablespoonful of soda to each three quarts of water. Then wash clean in hot soap suds, rinse in clear water, wipe dry and turn upside down to drain thoroughly. Be careful not to change the original position of the air adjustment shutters at end of burner tubes. When thoroughly drained and dry, replace burners in their exact original position.

THE HOME FRONT IN MICHIGAN

A good deal of the news from our fighting fronts has been bad of late. There never has been any excuse for easy optimism in this war.

We know we are going to win; but we know, too, that it will be victory the hard way.

The mounting roar of war production breaks through the gloom of battle defeats. Nowhere is this more marked than in the automotive industry, key unit in our industrial offensive. Reports from 432 plants, representing 72 per cent of the industry on the basis of employment, show that war shipments increased from $239,000,000 in February to $349,000,000 in April, an increase of 46 per cent. Man hours on war work increased 92 per cent from 39,000,000 in February to 74,000,000 in April.

The U. S. Army will be 4,500,000 strong by the middle of 1943. The Army food bill will be $1,290,000,000 next year.

Agriculture Secretary Wickard said the U. S. will have to rely more and more on the contribution small farmers can make toward meeting wartime food needs. He said the Agriculture Department is doing everything it can to help these small farmers purchase new equipment and stock for expanding crops.

He asked Americans to substitute cheese, chicken or dried beans to replace 40 per cent of pork production which is being sent abroad to our soldiers and allies. The 1942 pig crop was estimated at 105,500,000 head compared with 85,000,000 in 1941—an all time record.

Milk production on June 1 was more than 3 per cent greater than last year. One fourth of the season's total pack of canned apricots will be bought for lend-lease.

Farm employment on June 1 was reported at 11,917,000 persons, 1,121,000 more than on May 1. Farm wages were 183 per cent of the 1910-14 level.

If you can find two pounds more of scrap rubber around the house, turn it in, for that'll be enough to make a gun tank, which may save the life of an American soldier.

As soon as the scrap rubber drive is over on July 10—and that doesn't mean to stop saving old rubber—a new campaign will be launched for scrap iron, steel, copper, aluminum, fats and greases.

It's not going to be an easy war. We'll need every bit of materials that can be salvaged. Your saving and salvaging must be continuous.

Our huge ship-building program is limited only by the available steel plate, said Donald M. Nelson, WPB chairman.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson said that if price ceilings hold during the next 20 months, the entire war effort will cost 62 billion dollars less than it would if prices rose as they did during the last war. Passenger service on railroads and buses is 50 per cent greater than it was last year.

The Office of Defense Transportation has called for an end to all unnecessary travel for the duration. Beginning July 13, beef and veal must be graded according to government standards and must be plainly stamped. From now on the housewife will know exactly what she is paying for. Bicycle rationing will start July 9 to persons who need them to get to and from their jobs.

There'll be 240,000 adult machines for distribution. Safety razors will continue to be produced at 70 per cent of their 1940 rate. The CAA has embarked upon a program of training 13,360 pilots for the Army Air Forces Enlisted Reserve as glider pilots, airplane co-pilots, service pilots and pilot instructors. Men between 18 and 37 are eligible. The national income for 1942 is estimated to reach 117 billion dollars, of which 31 billion dollars will be returned to the government in taxes and war bonds, leaving 86 billion dollars to be spent for 60 billion dollars worth of available civilian goods. Unless controlled, this surplus buying power will inflate prices which would be the equivalent of a 20 per cent cut in wages.

PHILIP CERWINKA

Philip Cerwinka, 84 years old, died Thursday morning, July 2 at his home on Lincoln St.

Mr. Cerwinka was born Sept. 24, 1857 in Wurttemberg, Germany. He was married to Bona Mohrlock and for many years they made their home in Sharon township, moving to Chelsea in July, 1941. He was a member of the Rowe Corners church.

Survivors include the widow; a daughter, Bena; a son, Philip, and one granddaughter.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at Rowe Corners church, with Rev. A. A. Weinert officiating. Burial was in the Rowe Corners cemetery.

The oldest bridge in Minneapolis—a 70-year-old landmark, is going to war. The city has given it to the U. S. for its salvage value and its 450 tons of wrought iron will be processed into steel for military equipment.

The 70,628 tons of lead which were used last year in autos, golf clubs, toys and refrigerators figures out at about four pounds for each of 35 million American families. This four pounds of lead would provide all the lead needed in making five big shells for 240 mm howitzers.

BUY BONDS! — BUY STAMPS!

By Gene Alleman

Salute your home-town war heroes next Friday, July 17.

The occasion will be "American Heroes Day".

And the sponsors are Michigan's 90,000 retailers who exceeded quotas of bonds and stamps of all other states in May and who are out to do it again in July.

The national quota is a billion dollars' worth of insurance for freedom, a goal which may decide the fate of the system of voluntary savings. The alternative, already proposed, is enforced payroll deductions. So buy war stamps from your retailers next Friday!

Michigan retailers, like those in other states, find themselves literally "twix the devil and the deep blue sea."

On the one hand is price control whose wholesale and retail ceilings were set for March, 1942. Small retailers who must replace merchandise, much of which was bought last fall at pre-March wholesale prices, are finding the profit margin of many items at current wholesale levels to be small indeed.

Manufacturers are being asked to absorb some of the wholesale price increase. This cannot be done in many cases, it is admitted, based on the experience of Canada which controls wages as well as prices. Either the ceiling must be raised, as has already been done for several commodities, or Congress must provide subsidies to manufacturers. Such is the picture as given to us by Otis Cook, manager, Michigan Retail Institute.

And even then, according to Leon

Henderson, federal price administrator, the threat of inflation still exists as long as ceilings are not placed on wages and farm products.

In testimony before the House appropriations committee, Henderson expressed belief that there was "a very real danger" that "our present price ceilings will not hold."

As an illustration that the purchase of war bonds and stamps has a direct relation to the fate of price control, Henderson went on to explain:

"What we will be able to do rests on the tax bill, and not only the amount of it but the nature of it, how much is withdrawn from current spendable income. It depends upon the amount of savings; it depends on the degree to which wages are stabilized; and it depends upon the course of farm prices, and it depends upon the rate at which the war effort proceeds."

With their business already in jeopardy, as the fate of the present price control determines in part whether we are to have further inflation, Michigan retailers are out to sell war bonds and stamps in July in an aggressive campaign.

Both independent and chain stores are participating in the July drive.

The Independent Food Distributors Council, representing 200,000 independent grocers, has built its promotion around the Revolutionary war heroine, Molly Pitcher. There are Molly Pitcher war bond booths, and there are Molly Pitcher war bond wardens selling 25 and 10 cent stamps.

The Institute of Distribution, the national chain store clearing house for 16,000 retail outlets, is operating separately under a slogan, "Buy War Stamps—This Store's Best Buy."

Within a few weeks another big war campaign will break.

Following the current collection of scrap rubber by the petroleum industry will be a steel salvage drive sponsored by the American Steel and Iron Institute, a glorified name for American junk dealers.

Endorsed by the War Production Board as a greatly needed effort, the junk salvage collection will seek to get every available piece of unused metal in Michigan.

An old flatiron will provide enough scrap to make two steel helmets or 30 hand grenades. An old heating radiator would make seventeen .30 calibre rifles; a medium sized garbage pail, one thousand .30 cal. cartridges. Even a wash pail can be converted into three bayonets.

That is putting scrap in terms everyone can understand.

The tremendous demand for steel in war production has created a serious problem. The collection of scrap iron and steel is said by the War Production Board to be urgently needed.

A heavy tank, for instance, requires 36,000 pounds of steel for which 28,000 pounds of scrap can be used.

A 3-inch anti-aircraft gun, which might possibly protect the Sault Ste. Marie locks during an air raid, requires 20,000 pounds of steel for which scrap iron can be used for 10,000 pounds.

Communities will be asked to spur their efforts by a house-to-house or farm-to-farm collection of scrap iron. This war is getting serious. We are not winning yet. Hence, Michigan is being asked to do its part, not only for buying of more war bonds and stamps, but in turning over to local junk dealers every available piece of unused metal and rubber.

As the slogan makers put it: "Keep 'Em Firing—With Junk."

Need a New Car? then-better get it!

Think things THROUGH on buying a new car!
If you are Eligible under Newly Liberalized Rules it's Smart to BUY NOW! And here's why!

The Government wants us all to save gasoline.

The Government wants us to save rubber.

The Government also wants to make most efficient use of transportation facilities now available—including cars now built and ready for sale.

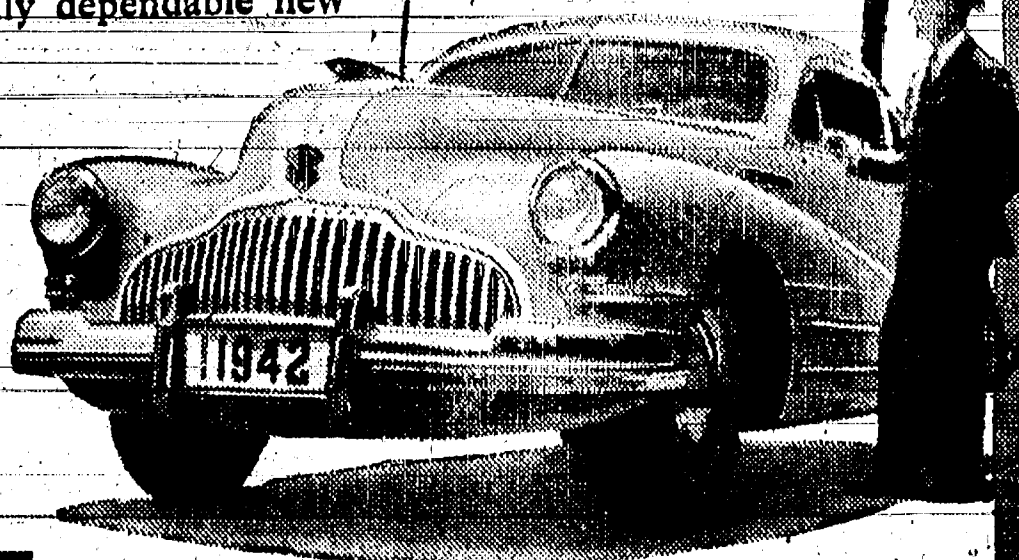

You do not help the country by continuing to "get along" on a car no longer fully efficient, safe or dependably able to serve you in any necessary use.

If you can qualify under latest rationing rules, you are recognized as an essential driver.

As such, you are not only entitled to your share of available gasoline and rubber, but are in reality expected to make the best use of them.

Your Buick dealer can show you that you can more efficiently do this in a brand-new, gas-thrifty, solidly dependable new 1942 Buick than in an older car which may have seen better days

So before jumping at conclusions, get the whole story on new-car buying. Drop in on your Buick dealer for full details. He is at your service—any time.

If you're eligible to buy—

Better Buy Buick!

Are you included in this list?

ARE YOU directly or indirectly engaged in the production of war materials or the prosecution of the war?

ARE YOU a physician, surgeon, nurse, veterinarian, clergyman or farmer?

DO YOU use your car in public service, such as fire or police, public health, highway maintenance work or the like?

ARE YOU owner of a taxicab or other vital means of public transportation?

ARE YOU a newspaper wholesaler, or a salesman in essential fields connected with war work?

THESE ARE the broad groups who are eligible under present rationing rules to buy new automobiles. There are other details of eligibility, of course, but if you are included in the above, it will pay you to see your Buick dealer now and get full information. Get the facts before you assume either that you can't or shouldn't buy a new car now!

The attractive red, white and blue window sticker, pictured above, is the new yardstick of patriotism in the War Bond drive throughout the nation. With the slogan, "Everyday every pay day, ten percent," sweeping the country, patriotic Americans on the home front are rallying to the Government's appeal for funds with which to help finance the war. The home which displays the "ten percent" sticker is doing its share towards Victory for America and the United Nations. The stickers are being distributed through local War Savings Chairmen.

Work Shops Training
State's CD Workers

Lansing - To help county and local civilian defense volunteer offices establish more efficient organizations, the Michigan Council of Defense is training volunteers at "work shop" meetings.

The first was held July 8 at Michigan State College. Guest speaker was Miss Wilmer Shields, U. S. Director of Volunteer Office Section, Office of Civilian Defense.

On July 22 at Gaylord, a similar meeting will be held to accommodate CDOV workers from northern Michigan. John Dillencourt of Chicago, Regional Representative of Civilian Mobilization will be the principal speaker.

Michigan Men at School - Six Michigan men are attending the War Department's Civilian Protection School at Purdue University. The two-week course, which began June 29, covers various phases of civilian defense activity, and will qualify them to serve as instructors.

These War Department schools will continue through August 23, a new group beginning training every two weeks. Governmental agencies, industrial concerns and educational institutions are invited to submit applications of prospective candidates. These will be considered by the Michigan Council of Defense, to fill quotas for future sessions of the school.

Clearly Warns of Sabotage - Speaking to the annual meeting of county agricultural agents at Michigan State College, Lt. Col. Owen J. Cleary, Michigan's chief air raid warden, emphasized the importance of cooperation in rural areas, with civilian defense work.

Although danger from bombing may be rather remote in agricultural districts, the possibility of sabotage to farm crops exists. Rural communities should participate in blackouts, Col. Cleary said, as their lights might guide enemy bombers to industrial targets.

Rubber Drive Nears Close - With the national rubber salvage campaign nearing its close, the Michigan Salvage for Victory Committee and county chairmen throughout the state are making special effort to push collections higher. Michigan is still below its quota of 5 pounds per person.

During the time remaining, all citizens are asked to make a further search for unused rubber articles. In view of large stores of scrap found on farms, Michigan farmers particularly are urged to remove every scrap of rubber from their land.

Victory Garden Meeting - George Tomlinson, Director of the Victory Garden program of the Michigan Council of Defense attended the first national conference on victory gardens at Highland Park, Ill., at which Victory Garden Directors from eleven states were present.

Delegates endorsed Michigan's plan of giving certificates to persons registering Victory Gardens with state headquarters, and some are adopting a similar plan.

CHRISWELL-POZZA WEDDING - The marriage of Jane Chriswell, daughter of Carlton Chriswell of Chelsea, and Albin Pozza of Iron River, took place at 8 o'clock Saturday evening, July 4 at the Methodist parsonage in Bryan, O. with Rev. Foer officiating. The attendants were Barbara White and Charles Stickle. Mr. and Mrs. Pozza will make their home in Jackson, where the groom is employed.

From Luxury to Every-Day Food - Much of the growth of the citrus industry, which has expanded from 35,000 boxes in 1919 to nearly 135,000 boxes annually, has been credited to the development of more efficient distribution methods which have made the health-giving fruits available in all parts of the country the year round.

Hot Pack Is Logical
Method For Canning

Arguments about whether it is fashionable to can Michigan's Victory Garden products by cold pack or hot pack methods brings the answer that the hot pack method appears to be the logical method for preserving vegetables and meats.

The reasons include getting more in jars, being more certain the food will keep and saving extra vitamins, explains Miss Roberta Hershey, extension specialist in foods and nutrition at Michigan State College.

Green or wax beans, for instance, need five minutes of simmering before they are packed into jars. Peas and greens take the same time before packing and processing.

For a scientific timetable for canning, housewives throughout the state are obtaining copies of a college-canning card that gives the information. Copies can be obtained in offices of county agricultural agents or from the Bulletin Room, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

Examples of the timing include processing in a pressure cooker. For pint jars of green beans, the timing is 30 minutes at 10 pounds pressure and 35 minutes for quart jars. Greens take longer. They require an hour at 15 pounds pressure for pints and 65 minutes for quarts. Peas, best packed in pints, are processed 45 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

ROGERS-HART WEDDING

Doris M. Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dorman L. Rogers of Chelsea, became the bride of Second Lieut. Theodore W. Hart, of Fort Robinson, Ark., son of Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Hart of Detroit, at a ceremony which took place at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the First Congregational church, with Rev. Ray W. Barber officiating.

The altar was decorated with garden flowers and candelabra bearing white tapers. Mrs. Lawrence A. Wacker, the church organist, played the wedding music.

The bride wore a dress of white pique, fashioned on long torso lines, with square neck, short sleeves and full skirt. Her finger tip veil was caught in a pique halo and she carried a bouquet of shasta daisies.

Betty Fletcher and Winifred Palmer were the bridesmaids. The former was attired in yellow dotted Swiss and the latter in periwinkle blue pique and organdy. They carried black-eyed Susans and had circlets of the same flowers in their hair.

J. Warren Hart of Chicago assisted his brother as best man, while the guests were seated by Andros Gulde, Jr. of Saginaw, Robert Johnston of Battle Creek and Pvt. Paul Rogers of Tyler, Texas, the latter a brother of the bride.

After the ceremony a reception for 60 guests was held in the garden at the home of the bride's parents. A bouquet of red, white and blue flowers decorated the table, which was centered with the wedding cake.

The couple left on a short wedding trip, and for traveling Mrs. Hart wore a black sheer crepe dress with tiered skirt, black accessories and a corsage of red rosebuds.

The bride, who graduated from Chelsea high school in 1937, later attended Michigan State Normal College and the University of Michigan. She was affiliated with Delta Gamma Sorority. The groom was a student at Michigan State College and is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity. He is now stationed at Fort Robinson, near Little Rock, Ark. Lieut. and Mrs. Hart will leave July 13 for Little Rock, where they will make their home.

Attending the wedding were guests from Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit, Ann Arbor and Chelsea.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE

By Rolly Spaulding

Schedule

Thursday, July 9—Federal Screw vs. Kimunity.

Friday, July 10—Federal Screw vs. Central Fibre.

Monday, July 13—Cassidy Lake vs. Federal Screw.

Tuesday, July 14—Spaulding Chevrolet vs. Chelsea Spring.

Thursday, July 16—Central Fibre vs. Kimunity.

Standings	W	L	Pct.
Spaulding Chevrolet	7	1	.875
Cassidy Lake	5	3	.625
Central Fibre	3	4	.428
Kimunity	3	4	.428
Chelsea Spring	3	6	.333
Federal Screw	2	5	.286

Last Thursday night saw one of our few double headers of the season. Kimunity defeated Central Fibre in a close game that ended 10 to 7 in favor of Kimunity, while Federal Screw staged a real upset with a decisive last inning rally to defeat the boys from Chelsea Spring by one run.

Monday night Chelsea Spring took on Central Fibre and didn't do so well. Andy Policht was back in the Fibre lineup and with him in there playing third and short with Charlie playing over towards second—Spring didn't have a chance. Game ended 12-2 in favor of Central Fibre (this information is absolutely correct as I got it straight from Andy Policht).

Tuesday night Spaulding Chevrolet set themselves up another notch with a win over Cassidy Lake. Neither team had played for almost two weeks and they looked like it. According to the Cassidy Lake coach it was just like their last game with Kimunity only Spaulding Chevrolet had their own equipment.

Are you entitled to wear a "target" lapel button? You are if you are investing at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day. It's your badge of patriotism.

KIWANIS NEWS

The Kiwanians enjoyed another interesting program and a fine dinner at the Methodist church on Monday evening. M. W. McClure had charge of the program and told of his recent trip through the Ford Bomber Plant. He stressed the immense size of the factory and the length of the assembly line as two of the most important features of the project. He discussed many of the duties of the workmen and revealed some interesting figures regarding the potential output of the bomber plant for the coming year. The speaker concluded his brief talk by showing pictures to the group, which indicated the type, size and other features of the bombers to be produced at Willow Run. After the meeting he answered questions which the members asked about the scope and nature of the Ford plant.

George L. Staffan talked for a short period on the need for improvement of roads and highways leading into Chelsea. President R. A. McLaughlin appointed a committee to work out the details of this project with Mr. Staffan and mentioned that this was one of the present Kiwanis projects for the coming year.

Henry Morgenthau Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, today made public the official War Bond Quotas by States for the month of July, which places the nation on a billion-dollar-a-month basis to aid in meeting the War cost. The above table also gives May War Bond sales in the various states in comparison to the May Quotas. (June sales by states will be available for publication shortly.) The percentage of Quotas range from 71.3 percent above quota in Utah, to 22.6 percent below the quota in Montana, but puts the nation as a whole above the $800,000,000 total May quota. Vulnerable Alaska and Hawaii led all states in sale of War Bonds on quota basis.

"Everybody every day ten percent" is the Treasury slogan which is expected to place one of the attractive new window stickers on every American home. "We're Buying at Least 10%," reads the sticker, printed in the national colors. The new window stickers and the new "10%" label, which indicates the wearer is investing at least ten percent of his income in War Bonds every day, are yardsticks of patriotism in the War Bond drive. U. S. Treasury Department.

State Highway Dept. Shows Large Balance

Lansing—The State Highway Department started a new fiscal year this week with a cash balance of $7,609,005.25.

State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy pointed out that the cash balance was unusually large at this time, but that a large portion of it has been obligated to meet the State's share of wartime construction projects assigned to Michigan which now total more than $17,000,000.

These projects, headed by the Detroit Industrial Expressway which will link the giant U. S. Army Bomber Plant at Willow Run with the city of Detroit, call for building and improvement of the equivalent of 153 miles of conventional two-lane pavement.

Commenting on the financial statement, Kennedy stated that all bills were paid, bond sinking fund payments up to date, and returns to counties have all been made when due.

Gas tax receipts for the fiscal year were $34,627,444.55, an increase of $502,892.59 over last year's figures. The Federal government contributed $4,460,059.65 in Federal Aid for construction work during the year, while miscellaneous receipts, including out-state motor bus license fees, amounted to $513,148.06.

Fixed disbursements totaled $14,517,470.45, including returns to the counties of $6,550,000 under the McNitt Act and the gas tax apportionment, and bond sinking fund payments of $4,082,059.78. Maintenance and operations charges were $7,945,749.45.

Total expenditures for construction were $16,727,969.34. This included $11,771,771.29 for roads, $2,240,514.13 for new bridges, and $2,715,683.92 for right-of-way costs.

The cash balance at the beginning of the 1941-42 fiscal year was $4,800,701.24.

SALEM GROVE W. S. C. S.

The executive committee of the W. S. C. S. met at the church Wednesday night, June 24.

Mrs. Nelson Peterson was hostess to the monthly meeting of Salem Grove W. S. C. S. at her home Wednesday afternoon, July 1. The president, Mrs. Glenn Rentschler, presided.

Opening song—Faith of Our Fathers.

The devotions were in charge of Mrs. Dillman Wahl.

Reports of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. Geo. Heydlauff, and the treasurer, Mrs. A. Schweinfurth, were read and approved.

Good reports were given by the vice-presidents.

Mrs. V. Winter was mission leader. Topic, "America's Stake in Africa."

Mrs. Chester Notten had charge of the program.

Closing song—Only a Whispered Prayer.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Proctor on August 5.

Soli Has Effect, Too

It is of course true that the Puerto Rican coffee plantations have been highly cultivated for hundreds of years and the culture of coffee on our island territory has been developed as an art, but this is only one of the factors which contribute to the marked superiority of the crop. The fertile clayish soil of the Puerto Rican mountains, warmed by the tropical sun and cooled by the ever present trade winds, provide an ideal environment for coffee culture, and since 1738, the Puerto Ricans have been making the most of it.

Kenneth Proctor was in Ann Arbor on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Riemenschneider and H. Wyand were in South Bend, Ind., on Sunday, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rowland. Mr. Wyand remained there and will visit his daughter at Rochester, Minn.

Mrs. B. C. Whitaker is spending this week in Wayne, with the Henry Glazier family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Beal and daughters, Iris and Esther, were Adrian visitors on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Harper and family of Chelsea were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Kalmbach on Thursday evening.

TROOPS IN AUSTRALIA MAY SEND MESSAGES BY RADIO

The American Red Cross, with the cooperation of the Mutual Broadcasting System and the Australian Broadcasting Commission, has originated a daily series of radio programs of personal messages from American troops in Australia to their families in the United States. These programs are broadcast by Mutual daily from 10:15 to 10:30 a. m. CWT, and some stations, unable to carry the programs at that time, make transcriptions to be broadcast at a later period during the day.

National Headquarters makes individual phonograph records of each message and sends them to the local chapter in the soldier's home town, with the request that the chapter deliver the record to the person to whom it is addressed, and, if necessary, provide a portable phonograph so that the message can be played when it is delivered.

Since the programs are sent by short wave from Australia there will be times when the names and addresses of the soldiers are indistinct, and the chapter will have to try to locate the persons involved.

This service is a part of the Red Cross Congressional Charter authorization to serve as the official link between soldiers and their families. Of course, no charge is to be made for this service.

It's Flat Down Under

The highest point in Australia, Mount Kosciuszko, is only 7,328 feet above sea level. By contrast, the highest in North America is Mount McKinley, which reaches to 20,300 feet and highest in the world is Mount Everest at 29,141 feet.

Four Rules To Guide Individual Worker

Four rules to guide the individual worker in connection with the mobilization of manpower have been suggested by L. H. Glendening, manager of the Ann Arbor office of the United States Employment Service. The rules are:

1. If employed in war industry, stay on your job until the government advises you through the U. S. Employment Service that you are needed more on another war job, or until the Selective Service Board tells you your services are needed by the armed forces.
2. If employed on a peacetime job, look for a war industry job for which you are fitted. Check with the U. S. Employment Service to learn where the present and future jobs are to be found and what types of workers are needed.
3. Whether employed or not, explore the possibility of obtaining training for an essential war job, preferably in this community.
4. If you are a college student or an advanced high school student, stay in school and seek to prepare yourself for technical work, either through the regular courses or by taking special short courses set up in the technical schools and universities to train workers for specific war jobs.

"A misplaced worker represents waste of time and energy," says Mr. Glendening. "If we match men and jobs properly, the output of our production lines will be increased greatly. We know that a trained skill is being wasted if a capable machine operator or toolmaker or welder spends his working hours behind a counter, at a desk, or at the wheel of a truck. He belongs in a war production plant."

"We must have no waste of manpower," A worker who moves from job to job represents a waste of the time of the employer who must break in a replacement. Workers should not migrate haphazardly around the country looking for war work. They should check with the U. S. Employment Service to learn where their services are needed."

LEHMANN-ARTZ WEDDING

The marriage of Miss Nadine Emma Lehmann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truman Lehman of Francisco, and Austin A. Artz, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Artz of Waterloo, took place on Sunday afternoon, June 28 at 2:00 o'clock, at the Asbury Methodist church, South Tacoma, Washington. The Rev. Frank Haley was the officiating clergyman, using the double ring ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated with white lilies and ferns. Mrs. Frank Haley played Lohengrin's wedding march and "I Love You Truly".

The bride was attired in blue and white silk jersey. Her accessories were blue and white and her corsage consisted of gardenias and roses. Miss Phyllis Hirschman, who attended her as bridesmaid, wore red and white silk jersey, with a corsage of gardenias. The groom was attired in his army uniform, and was attended by Corp. Joseph Urene.

The bride is a graduate of Grass Lake high school, Class of 1939, and also of Cleary Business College. The groom is a Private First Class in the U. S. Army, and is stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash.

Co-ops Are Adaptable

In fitting into the wartime program the co-operatives are proving their flexibility. In many instances they are completely changing their types of operation.

JOHN FINKBEINER
Representative"The Mission Had Been Accomplished"

"A running fight between the bomber and the 18 Japanese pursuit planes continued for 75 miles . . . continued until the remaining pursuit ships exhausted their ammunition and turned back. With two engines gone and the plane practically out of control, the American bomber returned to its base after dark and made an emergency landing. THE MISSION HAD BEEN ACCOMPLISHED."

—President Roosevelt, in his Fireside Chat, April 28, 1942

THERE, in the words of President Roosevelt, is one of the war's most stirring episodes—a demonstration of how, with one man killed, another man's hand shot off, and a third man injured, our American boys stuck to the fight, bombed their objective, and brought their plane home. Undoubtedly you felt a thrill when you heard it over the air, and maybe you'll have another thrill reading it again.

But your thrills won't win the war!

It takes planes—thousands of them—and tanks—thousands of them—and shells—millions of them—and bullets—billions of them! It needs ships and guns and jeeps.

It takes money.

It takes the money of all of us—the girls at their typewriters, the men at their machines—the clerks, the farmers, the messengers, the bookkeepers and the salesmen.

It needs a surging, patriotic Nation of people who love their country enough to buy a share of America by investing 10% of their wages every payday—a dime from every dollar—in War Bonds.

It needs—and it's getting it!—the cooperation of Labor and Management to put the Payroll Savings Plan over the top.

Your money in War Bonds—10% of your salary every payday—not only will help pay the bill to create the most powerful blasting force ever put together—but you'll do yourself and your family a favor, too.

Because every time your savings amount to $18.75, you'll get a War Bond—worth $25 in ten years.

You don't give your money—you invest it, both for Victory, and for your own personal security.

*That's your mission—will you accomplish it?EVERYBODY—come under the head of chem-

Dr. Toenjes, from Amsterdam. He likes you, he may be able to answer your questions.
I couldn't count on it," he said,
"another flash of teeth." "Dr.
Toenjes is quite jealous of his position. I expect will produce a better fruit than Associated is the river."

Curt was turning this over in his mind. Senior Montaya pulled at his lip—a lip unusually red for his swarthy skin.

"I could be well for me to say nothing now, Mr. Curtis," he continued, his words falling precise and true. "I have secured the best men in the field for the salaries I can pay for a line of work. All I ask of you is to produce results in the field. This is fair enough, but problems arise which overlap
the other department, those problems taken up through my office.
I encourage short cuts because of departments."

"I expect you to work along with us in this fashion. You are responsible for the engineering work as soon as you, just as Dr. Toenjes is responsible as Agricultural Superintendent, just as Mr. Lanfestoock is responsible for aviation and Mr. Ryden for transportation."

"Is that so, Mr. Curtis?"

"That is so. Of our contract employees there are Swedes. These two are Swedish. I brought them here as pilots.
They are no longer needed two full-time pilots. As Mr. Ryden proved himself in transportation matters, I have given him charge of that department."

"I had a long-established habit of smoking with his pipe when multiple some point that needed
it. He suddenly discovered me stuffing it during this pil-otage. Since the senior while he had been leading the way open, Curt now lit up, exposed a huge cloud of smoke behind him, said mildly, with a smile:
"Which is by way of telling me of my own business? Well, it is all right. You've hired me for engineering end of your venture, that's where my interest is. I try to curb my wandering mind."

Montaya eyed Curt a moment.

"I am quite sure we shall get along," Mr. Curtis."

"I took a rapid look-see in the office. Montaya introducing himself, actually, then returned to Lee and children, seated on their baggage. The boys' leashes were fastened to them again, much to their disgust."

"A lot of quick toots now came from the river steamer that had been waiting all morning, even as the baggage was docked. The baggage was unloaded aboard, the little party went ashore. As they headed slowly down the river, Senior Montaya made his self comfortable under a deck chair."

"Coffee was served as the children, exhausted from heat and exercise, slept on a sarape spread across the deck, each jealously clutching his hat, big as himself."

"Montaya Jeff said casually, "I think there's no reason why you should say who recommended me to you."

"None," admitted his host. "It was Mitchell."

"Well!"

"I'll tell you myself. Though perhaps I'll explain. Many times
I've warned him about his attitude toward the men under him. Of course, what do you say? ah, yes,
I told him to get the work done."

jealously clutching his new hat as himself.

"I have much to do before the evening, and it has not gone too late. I certainly did not want to antagonize the workers."

"No, no—ah, drive some men, that's it. It is a fine point to know how far one can go with workmen. I saw the many men Mitchell was making. I think this is unfortunate. I think, an accident." So it was that he told me that I led him into the hands of incompetent engineers. You have mentioned above other men."

Building Tips Result From Storm Damage

Damage or destruction of 300 barns in central Michigan recently gave Michigan State College agricultural engineers a wholesale laboratory for practical proof of why buildings fail to stand up in storms.

More than a hundred of the structures were examined by C. H. Jefferson, who contends the wind damage offers six vital lessons in good construction.

Some of the barns blew down because of poor foundations. He advises footings and foundations should extend at least two feet below grade.

The next step, proved by the storm, is that buildings need to be securely anchored to the foundations.

Point three in his survey is that the roof should be tied to the walls by diagonal braces. Another storm lesson is the need for storm braces for extra strength.

Weakness in timber framing was evident in many of the damaged barns. In mortise and tenon joints, especially, the amount of timber actually holding the buildings together often becomes only a small portion of the remainder of the timbers.

Height is another consideration, according to Jefferson. His proof lies in the fact that many barns but relatively few houses suffer in wind storms. Tall buildings bear more of the brunt of a storm than those that hug the ground. An approach to streamlining is one answer, Jefferson says, using plans that reduce unnecessary height in construction.

Can Find—When a telegraph company was unable to locate the mother of a soldier in the Far East, the Home Service chairman of the Dillon County, S. C., Chapter began a search that lasted 72 hours over a wide area—from Bellingham, Wash., back to Charleston. The mother, Mrs. Nancy Hood, was then officially informed of her son's death—the first soldier from South Carolina killed in action in the Japanese conflict.

Stenciled Floor—An old floor can be glamorized with stencils. In a young girl's room the floor was enameled white and a two-color flower stencil applied at widely spaced intervals gave real swank to an old and badly worn floor. In another—a study-bedroom—one large square design repeated to make an all-over pattern worked magic in camouflaging the uneven floor.

Auto Fuel From Coal—If all the bituminous coal mined in the United States in 1935 had been subjected to low-temperature carbonization, it might have yielded—allowing for refining losses—about 100,000 barrels of motor fuel, or about one-fourth of our domestic demand.
