What You Buy With WAR BONDS

It's not a pleasant picture to contemplate, but War calls for "blood and sweat and tears." And the Army Medical Corps, with its efficient nurses and its volunteer Red Cross "Angels of Mercy," needs thousands of surgical beds for field and base hospitals on every front.

These beds cost approximately $22 each. They are the latest thing in modern hospital beds, with elevating springs. In some instances surgical cots are used in temporary field hospitals and there is a folding bed which may be used in ambulances. Your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps can buy many of these beds for the Army. You'll sleep better if you know our boys have every hospital comfort. Buy War Bonds every pay day. Invest ten percent of your income.

Kimunity Takes Lead In League Playoff

By Rolly Spaulding

With three teams, Central Fibre, Spaulding Chevrolet and Kimunity, in the Twilight Softball League playoff series this year, Central Fibre drew the by and Kimunity and Spaulding Chevrolet met for the first game last Tuesday night. Len Novess won the toss as usual for Spaulding and chose the field but it took two innings before Spaulding's team realized what they were supposed to be doing, while Kimunity was at bat and the score stood 12 to 1 in favor of Kimunity at the beginning of the third inning.

Things went along quite smoothly for the next inning or so including the flow of Kimunity batters crossing the plate to score. Then in the 6th Spaulding Chev. staged a rally that helped things somewhat but Kimunity came through to break this up before their hold on the ball game was anywhere near threatened and with each side picking up a run in the seventh the game ended 19 to 11 in favor of Kimunity.

Our playoff series this year has been arranged in a two game knockout, with the next scheduled game to be played tonight (Thursday) between Central Fibre and Kimunity. The loser of tonight's game will play Spaulding Chevrolet next Tuesday night and the winner of that game will play the final game next Thursday night for the championship of the League.

A bit of cheer for Central Fibre—Charlie Cameron tells me he'll (please note apostrophe) be on his vacation and will not be here to play tonight and that without him Kimunity is just a bunch of lugs!

Distribution of Hunting License Blanks Started

Lansing—Michigan's 2,400 local dealers who sell hunting licenses will be well equipped for the trade this fall whatever the demand may be, the conservation department reported as distribution of more than a million license blanks got underway.

Last minute legislative changes a year ago resulted in some temporary shortages of camp permits when, taking advantage of the opportunity to use antlerless deer for camp venison, hunters bought 20,000 instead of the usual 800. This year the camp permits are good for one antlerless buck only, and 5,000 have been printed to provide dealers with plenty to cover the anticipated demand.

With gasoline rationing, workers' leisure and the extent of the depletion of hunters' ranks by army and navy service still unknown quantities, there are no "official estimates" of what fall hunting pressure will be.

Protect State Against Enemy Raiding Planes

Lansing—The Michigan Aircraft Detection Corps, a new defense unit to be responsible for the detection and reporting of enemy planes in areas determined by the Army, is being created by the Michigan Council of Defense. The new corps will have a special status under jurisdiction of the Michigan Council of Defense but will be placed at the disposal of military authorities. For operational purposes it will be attached to the council's Civilian Protection Division of which Capt. Donald S. Leonard is director.

Capt. Leonard has announced the appointment of Capt. Laurence A. Lyon, superintendent of the Uniformed Division of the Michigan State Police, as Chief of the MADC, with Durward Robson, of the Conservation Department, as his deputy. Members of the corps will be recruited from veterans' organizations and other sources and will be given intensive courses to fit them for the work.

The plan resulted from a recent conference in Detroit, called by Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner.

He was alone against nine
Jap bombers

Alone and unaided, Lt. Comdr. Edward H. O'Hare saved his aircraft carrier from serious damage by shooting down five Japanese bombers and severely damaging a sixth in a single action far out over the Pacific.

Lt. Comdr. Edward H. O'Hare, who received the Congressional Medal of Honor as a result of his gallant action.

How O'Hare shot down five Jap planes in four minutes

As Told by Himself

The young naval air ace who, in his single-seater fighter plane far out over the Pacific, saved his aircraft carrier from serious damage, told this story of his exploit:

"I was alone against nine Jap bombers. They were flying fast and straight for the carrier which they had apparently been ordered to get at all costs. I got above them and prepared for the first group to pass. Quickly I dropped, pressed the trigger and I saw two of them get hit and drop out. They burst into flames and fell.

"These bombers were coming in formations of three. On the first pass I hit planes on the right after end. Then I went over the left side and started up the line. In this way I shot down five and damaged one or two of the nine bombers. My whole action took only three or four minutes. They tell me there were sometimes three falling planes in the air at once. By nighttime we had shot down 18 of 20 Jap planes seen that day. "From what I have seen of the Japanese, I'd say that if we can meet them on anything like even terms, we can beat them.

Just give us enough trained men, enough ships and planes to approach even terms, and we'll come out on top."

Make no mistake: WINNING THIS WAR DEPENDS UPON YOU, AS WELL AS OUR FIGHTING MEN—and on the guns, tanks, planes and ships you give those privileged to do the actual fighting.

For all of us, the time has come to take the offensive—to attack. Make this your personal "Declaration of War" against the enemies who would destroy your home, your freedom:

"As we here at home contemplate our own duties, our own responsibilities, let us think and think hard of the example which is being set for us by our fighting men."

President Roosevelt, in his fireside chat April 28, 1942.

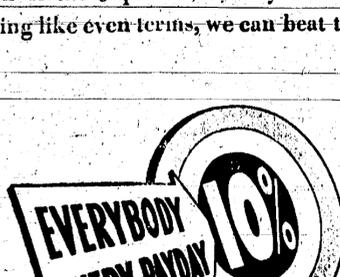

Put at least 10% of your earnings into War Bonds every pay day—starting now! War Bonds not only offer the one sure way to help equip our fighting men and guarantee America's continued freedom, but provide the safest way on earth of guaranteeing your family's financial future too.

No matter what sacrifice it may entail—be sure you make your War Bond "quota" every pay day.

Remember, that any sacrifices we make must be puny, indeed, compared to those being made by our boys on the fighting fronts.

Remember, too, that the Japs and the Nazis will not wait while you "put off" buying Bonds until your NEXT pay day. No! It's 10% invested in War Bonds now, with $4 back for every $3 when Bonds are held to maturity—or its 100% LATE—taken, not borrowed, by your Jap and Nazi masters!

Save—or slave? Bonds—or Bondage? IT ALL DEPENDS ON YOU!

BOMBS BURST ONCE
By Granville Church
WNU Features.

"Here is a considerable depression in the Quebrado range. The Rio Negro at this point is a good deal higher than our valley. We do not have free access," he admitted. "Cuts here and here would be necessary to connect these ravines leading into the bowl, and an earth dam would have to be thrown up here. Also, we'd have to bore through these hills in order to bring the water out to the valley. But."
Curt's point was that a dam large enough to serve most of the valley by gravity could be carved out of the hills. It would need more earth-moving equipment, and Montaya held in his hand Curt's memorandum listing what he wanted. He looked at Curt with increased interest and respect.
"But the cost of this equipment, Mr. Curtis."
"I know where you can get some perfectly satisfactory, second-hand machines at a fair price. What's more, you can have immediate delivery and get them here in two weeks or so. In my opinion, none of the work is progressing fast enough. We'll need everything we can put on the levee to complete it in time."
In the end Montaya agreed, and by phone, then and there, ordered the necessary radiogram sent to his New Orleans office. Other business followed, disposed of item by item. Montaya glanced at his wrist.
"There are two men you have not yet met. Knowing you would be free at this hour I asked them here. Sunday seemed a good time, not to interfere with the routine of any one."
He opened the door to the outer office, nodded to someone outside, held the door open.
In-marched two young men, in freshly starched whites, punctilious and stiff of manner. They could be only the Swedes whom Curt had heard mentioned so many times. Both were tall, both dark blond, with fair skin and blue eyes, both wide of shoulder and hard as nails.
There the resemblance ceased. One was round of face, with full lips that held a curious quirk in the corners. He had wavy hair. Not too strong a countenance, this.
The other's face was square, with thin, straight lips, frosty eyes, and stiff cropped hair. There was an old scar on his left cheek.
"Mr. Curtis, this is Mr. Ryden, who smooths out our transportation problems." Square-face bowed stiffly. "And Mr. Lannestock, our Chief Pilot." The other followed suit. "Neither smiled."
Curt extended a hand but felt no warmth in their response. Palpably, they were ill at ease, and Curt presently put this down to their poor command of English. They seemed to understand the language well enough but expressed themselves haltingly and with an effort.
"Flying always seemed an adventurous life to me," Curt said by way of conversation. "Do you enjoy this sort of utility flying?"
Freighting, laying chemicals, that sort of thing?
"It is a job," was Lannestock's answer. He had trouble with his "it."
Ryden was more voluble. "A good flyer likes any kind of flying. It is not always work. There was the map." He cast a glance at the big map on Curt's wall. "And the alligators."
Montaya explained.
"Before the swampland was drained of surface water, alligators were quite a nuisance. And, yes, some danger. As fast as the clearing progressed, Mr. Ryden bombed them from a low altitude with grenades. Those that were not killed were driven down the rivers into the marshes between Tempujo and the sea."
A curious look lived on Ryden's eyes as Montaya spoke. They took on a merciless slant. Lines of cruelty tensed his thin lips. Features that a moment before had been merely cold took on a hint of leashed fury and hate. Here was a man capable of anything.
The sudden transition hit Curt like an electric shock. He shifted his gaze to Lannestock. There was no viciousness in this man's face but Curt got the impression that Lannestock was dominated by the other.
"Karl and Gosta," Montaya continued in a tone shaded with affection, "were invaluable to us when we needed two full-time flyers to freight materials. There is still much work for them to do. I could not get along without them."
Here was another surprise—warmth from "The Dark Lily!"
"Planes have their uses," Curt admitted. "What make of plane do you use?" He'd asked Montaya this question before, and got no answer.
"They are old planes!" Ryden spit this out, with it giving Montaya a dirty look.
The Spaniard's teeth shone affably. Here was nothing new. He was, indeed, mildly amused.

"Always they ask for new machines." He shrugged expressively. "But if the planes they have will fly, I cannot be putting several times the price into new equipment for this heavy work. They, too, become at once second-hand."
"But repair work," asked Curt. "To keep them in
