A Thanksgiving Prayer

By Ruth Taylor

WITH humble and contrite hearts, we gather together this Thanksgiving Day, 1942, to give praise unto Thee, most bountiful Giver of Gifts. The shadows of war darken our lives. We are menaced by the enemy from without. From within we are hampered by our own self-will and personal ambitions. Our nearest and dearest are sent into danger all over the world. The even tenor of our ordered lives has been shattered.

Yet we give thanks to Thee, O God, and bless Thy name for Thy manifold mercies vouchsafed unto us.

We thank Thee for this land of ours, its fertility, its resources, its homes, its people who are still free to fight and work and strive for freedom for all the world.

We thank Thee that we are Americans; that the days of prosperity and peace have not sapped the spirit which is our heritage from those who came to this land seeking freedom to worship Thee according to their own consciences; that as Americans, regardless of class, creed or color, we can stand firm, shoulder to shoulder in the struggle for the rights of all mankind.

We thank Thee that we are a United States; that we can differ in details of theology, of economics, of politics and still be united in demanding for and in granting to all others the same freedom we claim for ourselves.

We thank Thee for the victories granted us, not merely over our enemies on land, sea and in the air, but on that battling ground within ourselves for the day-by-day clash between the forces of prejudice and ill will and the forces of neighborliness and fair play.

We thank Thee for Thy purpose in our lives as peoples and as a nation; that we may in Thy good time establish more firmly the democracy whose command is Thine—"Love thy neighbor as thyself," and bring Thy kingdom to reign on earth from now until everlasting.—Amen.

church in a great city. Since 1914 he has been at the Metropolitan Methodist church, Detroit where he preaches to one of the largest congregations in Michigan, worshipping in one of the finest church-buildings in America. "Dust and Destiny" is the best of several books which he has written. It is said of his preaching that it is its poetic expression which invests commonplace incidents and humble text with infinite meaning, giving beauty and strength.

Wonderfully endowed with physical energy, moral earnestness, Dr. Rice has and is giving invaluable service to the city of Detroit. Protestantism claims him as one of the clarion voices of this day.

Dr. Rice will speak at the local Methodist church Monday evening, Nov. 30. His topic will be "A Dog's Worth."

MILAN—Milan will feel another effect of the war during the Christmas season this year. For the first time in many years Milan will go through the Yuletide season without the benefits of the street lights and holly in festoons across the streets in the business district. This was announced this week by Paul Holcomb, president of the Milan Chamber of Commerce. The announcement came after the request of the War Production Board that as nearly as possible all outdoor decorative lighting during the Christmas holidays be eliminated.—Leader.

The Michigan coffee-lover, beginning with breakfast on next Sunday, Nov. 29, must face the world on about a cup a day. Starting on that day, stamp No. 27 in your War Ration book—the book you use to get sugar—will entitle you and each member of your family over 14 years old to one pound of coffee. This will have to last you for five weeks.

Most of the rules applied to sugar rationing will apply also to coffee. The main exception is that you will not be able to get coffee with coupons from the books of your children 14 years old or younger. And you probably will want to take care of your coffee purchases differently then you have sugar. Most women are accustomed to buying sugar in large quantities, but coffee loses its flavor and freshness and should be bought a pound or two at a time.

Advice to Christmas shoppers from the Office of Defense Transportation: Carry your packages home with you (store delivery has been cut 25 per cent under last year), but carry them on buses and street cars during off-peak hours between 10 a. m. and 4 p. m. In cases of purchases that cannot be carried, do your shopping immediately. Avoid the all-time record crush anticipated for mid-December.

Kitchen gadgets are out for the duration. The War Production Board has ordered that bare essentials must be the rule, which eliminates most of the varied and colorful array of metal gadgets, cooking utensils and housewares that in recent years have characterized the American home and kitchen.

Price reductions are always good news—and here's a report of them from the Office of Price Administration. The cost of knitted underwear is expected to drop from three to 20 cents per garment under an OPA order requiring that savings in material costs of these garments due to necessary war-time substitutions of less expensive carded yarn for combed yarn be passed on to the consumer.

To prevent a critical heating oil shortage in Lower Michigan and to insure adequate deliveries pending further study into price structures, OPA has just established new ceilings on distillate fuel oil for both tank wagon and refineries in this territory. Generally, the new ceilings are one-half cent higher per gallon.

The '43 garden season is a long way off—but Victory gardeners are advised by WPB that sufficient supplies of insecticides for next year will be assured.

Old jokes about the ice man may start popping up again soon. With curtailment of production of mechanical refrigerators, ice cards probably will start making their appearance in windows again. WPB is allowing the manufacture of 300,000 ice boxes next year—boxes which employ a minimum amount of iron and steel.

DOTS AND DASHES—Number of styles and colors of wallpaper has been reduced by WPB. . . war-time limitation on private home construction and shut-down of many non-essential industries were factors in determining the extent of the curtailment. . . umbrella production next year will be less than one-third of what it was in 1941. . . and umbrellas themselves will be generally uniform in size, shape and weight.

Honeybees were brought to North America by some of the early colonists. It appears that none existed on this continent before the white men came.

The first balloon voyage in this country was made by Blanchard, of France, in George Washington's presence on January 9, 1793. He took off at Philadelphia and landed at Woodbury, N. J.

WPB Asks There Be No
Outside Xmas Lighting

The War Production Board has asked city officials, civic clubs, chambers of commerce, merchants and citizens generally to dispense with outdoor decorative lighting this Christmas.

WPB pointed out that Christmas lighting requires the use of critical materials, electricity and manpower and is not in line with general conservation programs already under way.

The attitude of WPB toward Christmas lighting was announced because of numerous inquiries that have already been received from city officials, chambers of commerce and civic clubs asking what they should do this Christmas in regard to outdoor decorative lighting.

WPB is not asking that indoor Christmas lighting, whether in the home or in stores, be eliminated, but it believes that outdoor lighting, such as festooned store fronts and decorated streets, must be dispensed with in war time.

Although the electricity saving and the resultant fuel saving may appear small, as compared with the total annual usage, nevertheless the elimination of outdoor Christmas lighting is estimated to save 50,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity, enough to meet the lighting and power requirements of a city of 50,000 for a year.

RED CROSS NEWS

The Chelsea section of the Washtenaw County Red Cross is about to begin a new class in Home Nursing. It is not necessary to have attended a Red Cross First Aid course in order to be eligible for Home Nursing. The course will last twelve weeks, a one-hour class being given each week. The aim of the Red Cross is to have one person in each household who has been trained in Home Nursing. This should help to offset the great shortage of doctors and nurses available to civilians. Those who wish to enroll should contact Mrs. A. L. Steger as soon as possible.

Agriculture and Labor
 "Agriculture has excellent reasons to take concern for the welfare of labor," says Wheeler McMillen. "The situation after the war is over will be of particular importance to farmers. Men earning good wages full time are much better customers than men without jobs. Men steadily employed under satisfactory conditions are far less likely than men without work to become the prey of men who agitate for strange kinds of government. Agriculture ought not, therefore, to develop hostility toward labor and toward labor organizations as such. A wisecracker would be to try to use agriculture's influence for correction of those abuses which do no good either to laborers, farmers or the nation."

America's Real Stimulant.
 "In the United States, every man's value is determined by his activity, and every man is given the opportunity to develop his abilities. An American's real stimulant and pride consist in being a self-made man, in fighting, and in winning the war." —Javier Prado.

Military Mines
 The word "mine" had a military significance to the Romans before it developed its industrial meaning.

By Gene Allemen

Full-fledged support of Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, in his program of wartime education was voted recently by Michigan newspaper editors in a formal resolution adopted at Ann Arbor.

Coming on the trail of criticism by university regents concerning Dr. Ruthven's war attitudes, the editors' action was a significant prelude to the Congressional enactment last week of selective service for 18 and 19 year old youth. Students will be permitted to complete their studies this year through June.

It is another reminder that World War II is far different than the first conflict 25 years ago.

And it brings up an interesting situation, the plight of higher education in all-out modern war. Here is the story. You can be the jury.

What is the function of higher education in war?
 Is it that of providing technical training in the fine arts of killing and self-defense to the exclusion of general cultural knowledge, or should such institutions try to train youth to the responsibilities of democracy, to provide an understanding of the problems of the present world, and otherwise to instill an appreciation of the humanities, sciences and arts while combining with these immediate instruction of war technology?

Does all-out war mean the all-out abandonment of cultural training?

Should we return to the "three R's" and close down our colleges and universities "for the duration"?

Dr. Ruthven, president of the university of Michigan, set forth his ideas on the function of higher education in war-time in a formal address to the newspaper editors. The occasion was the 25th annual meeting of the University of Michigan Press club.

Here are a few excerpts, representative of Dr. Ruthven's thinking:

"Every professor fully understands that there must be a shift in emphasis in college and university programs during war periods. The curricula must be augmented by technical subjects, the student population and staffs decreased, and the educational facilities in many ways diverted to other purposes.

"Any doubt as to the appreciation of the nature and consequences of the war by college and university professors and administrators should quickly be dispelled by an examination of the changes made by these institutions in the last year. They have on the whole responded splendidly to the need of the war-machine as presented to them in requests and directives from the officials in charge of the various war agencies. In a few months they have become indispensable adjuncts to the regular training agencies of the military departments." As many unprejudiced and informed observers of the contemporary scene must conclude, the colleges and universities are now rendering their proper service in the emergency as fully as is any other type of institution or group of workers. Their response is particularly remarkable when one considers that they have been continually handicapped in their efforts by differing policies of draft boards, by vagueness and inconsistencies in the statements emanating from government officials, and by delays in getting information from federal agencies.

Dr. Ruthven then pointed out the recent trend of abandoning educational courses in humanities in favor of technical courses as a result of "pressures set up in an industrial civilization."

"Assuming that democracy is their goal, educators should insist that higher education is not a luxury to be enjoyed in peace times or mere training in the techniques of living—a matter of easy gain and endless amusements," said Dr. Ruthven.

"The chief business of schools in a democracy remains the same through the ages—in war and in peace—it is the forming of creative minds, the study of human problems, and the preparation of citizens to govern themselves intelligently. It is not to develop soldiers alone or skilled puppets but to enable men to possess in the 'form and substance of their own minds and spirits' the 'creative cultural tradition of Europe and the Americas'."

"Educators in times of national trouble must continue to emphasize the importance of instruction in the humanities and in pure science. Only by constant reference to instruction to the world after the war and by providing facilities for study in philosophy, art, language, literature, religion and science, as distinguished from technology, can the universities in this crisis continue to be centers of faith, repositories of new truths and the heritage of knowledge, and effective training centers for those who are to be responsible for preserving and improving our social order."

M. A. Gorman, editor, Flint Journal, read the resolution upholding

President Ruthven in his above stated general policy. George R. Averill, Birmingham Eclectic, proposed a resolution condemning "star chamber" sessions of state boards and a left-handed criticism of the university regents.

RED CROSS NEWS

The Chelsea section of the Washtenaw County Red Cross is about to begin a new class in Home Nursing. It is not necessary to have attended a Red Cross First Aid course in order to be eligible for Home Nursing. The course will last twelve weeks, a one-hour class being given each week. The aim of the Red Cross is to have one person in each household who has been trained in Home Nursing. This should help to offset the great shortage of doctors and nurses available to civilians. Those who wish to enroll should contact Mrs. A. L. Steger as soon as possible.

Agriculture and Labor
 "Agriculture has excellent reasons to take concern for the welfare of labor," says Wheeler McMillen. "The situation after the war is over will be of particular importance to farmers. Men earning good wages full time are much better customers than men without jobs. Men steadily employed under satisfactory conditions are far less likely than men without work to become the prey of men who agitate for strange kinds of government. Agriculture ought not, therefore, to develop hostility toward labor and toward labor organizations as such. A wisecracker would be to try to use agriculture's influence for correction of those abuses which do no good either to laborers, farmers or the nation."

America's Real Stimulant.
 "In the United States, every man's value is determined by his activity, and every man is given the opportunity to develop his abilities. An American's real stimulant and pride consist in being a self-made man, in fighting, and in winning the war." —Javier Prado.

Military Mines
 The word "mine" had a military significance to the Romans before it developed its industrial meaning.

By Gene Allemen

Full-fledged support of Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, in his program of wartime education was voted recently by Michigan newspaper editors in a formal resolution adopted at Ann Arbor.

Coming on the trail of criticism by university regents concerning Dr. Ruthven's war attitudes, the editors' action was a significant prelude to the Congressional enactment last week of selective service for 18 and 19 year old youth. Students will be permitted to complete their studies this year through June.

It is another reminder that World War II is far different than the first conflict 25 years ago.

And it brings up an interesting situation, the plight of higher education in all-out modern war. Here is the story. You can be the jury.

What is the function of higher education in war?
 Is it that of providing technical training in the fine arts of killing and self-defense to the exclusion of general cultural knowledge, or should such institutions try to train youth to the responsibilities of democracy, to provide an understanding of the problems of the present world, and otherwise to instill an appreciation of the humanities, sciences and arts while combining with these immediate instruction of war technology?

Does all-out war mean the all-out abandonment of cultural training?

Should we return to the "three R's" and close down our colleges and universities "for the duration"?

Dr. Ruthven, president of the university of Michigan, set forth his ideas on the function of higher education in war-time in a formal address to the newspaper editors. The occasion was the 25th annual meeting of the University of Michigan Press club.

Here are a few excerpts, representative of Dr. Ruthven's thinking:

"Every professor fully understands that there must be a shift in emphasis in college and university programs during war periods. The curricula must be augmented by technical subjects, the student population and staffs decreased, and the educational facilities in many ways diverted to other purposes.

"Any doubt as to the appreciation of the nature and consequences of the war by college and university professors and administrators should quickly be dispelled by an examination of the changes made by these institutions in the last year. They have on the whole responded splendidly to the need of the war-machine as presented to them in requests and directives from the officials in charge of the various war agencies. In a few months they have become indispensable adjuncts to the regular training agencies of the military departments." As many unprejudiced and informed observers of the contemporary scene must conclude, the colleges and universities are now rendering their proper service in the emergency as fully as is any other type of institution or group of workers. Their response is particularly remarkable when one considers that they have been continually handicapped in their efforts by differing policies of draft boards, by vagueness and inconsistencies in the statements emanating from government officials, and by delays in getting information from federal agencies.

Dr. Ruthven then pointed out the recent trend of abandoning educational courses in humanities in favor of technical courses as a result of "pressures set up in an industrial civilization."

"Assuming that democracy is their goal, educators should insist that higher education is not a luxury to be enjoyed in peace times or mere training in the techniques of living—a matter of easy gain and endless amusements," said Dr. Ruthven.

"The chief business of schools in a democracy remains the same through the ages—in war and in peace—it is the forming of creative minds, the study of human problems, and the preparation of citizens to govern themselves intelligently. It is not to develop soldiers alone or skilled puppets but to enable men to possess in the 'form and substance of their own minds and spirits' the 'creative cultural tradition of Europe and the Americas'."

"Educators in times of national trouble must continue to emphasize the importance of instruction in the humanities and in pure science. Only by constant reference to instruction to the world after the war and by providing facilities for study in philosophy, art, language, literature, religion and science, as distinguished from technology, can the universities in this crisis continue to be centers of faith, repositories of new truths and the heritage of knowledge, and effective training centers for those who are to be responsible for preserving and improving our social order."

MID-WEEK

A little change in your travel habits makes a big difference in wartime transportation. By taking your trips on mid-week days—Tuesdays, Wednesdays, or Thursdays—you avoid week-end crowds. And you save a seat for a fighting man or a war worker—week-ends are often the only time he can travel at all. You'll find it wise, also, to skip holiday trips.

Under present conditions you may be inconvenienced on occasion but you can make things easier and simpler if you'll get tickets and information in advance—be prompt at terminals and rest stops to save precious minutes now that wartime speed is reduced—and take along less baggage than usual. If everybody helps there'll be no "bottlenecking!"

"Don't Kid Yourself!"

We could lose
this War!"

MISTER, if you think this war's a cinch, better read your paper or listen to the radio. You'll change your mind—quick.

If you think we're going to march to Berlin and Tokio just because we're right—forget it!

People just as clean and decent as we are—just as righteous—just as patriotic, have been ground to the dust under the hob-nailed boots of other people trained and toughened for one purpose—war.

Choose now. Either we give our boys the planes, tanks, guns, and ships they've got to have to win—or we're letting them march to their defeat and our destruction.

Planes cost money. Tanks don't grow on trees. And the storks don't bring subchasers.

We've got to pay for them. "We" means all of us—including you.

How? By buying WAR BONDS. By putting 10 percent of every dollar we earn into the Pay-Roll Savings Plan. A dime out of every dollar—a dollar out of every ten—every payday. And every time our savings amount to $18.75 we get a Bond, worth $25 in 10 years. That's $4 back for every $3 we put in. Isn't that the least we who stay at home can do to help win the war? Stop and think about it—next time you're tempted to buy something you don't really need. Remember the President's words—"We cannot have all we want if our soldiers and sailors are to have all they need."

And if, every payday, we don't set aside every nickel, dime, or dollar we can possibly scrape together for War Bonds, we're letting our boys down.

That's the truth, every word of it—and we know it!

DO YOU KNOW?

When you buy WAR BONDS, you're saving, not giving! Series E WAR BONDS are worth 33% percent more in 10 years! You get back $4 for every $3 you invest! These BONDS, when held to maturity (10 years), yield 2.9 percent per year on your investment, compounded semi-annually!

Joining a Pay-Roll Savings Plan makes saving easy!

Joining your bank's Victory Club (it works like any Thrift or Christmas Club) is a convenient way to save for War Bonds for those who aren't members of a Pay-Roll Savings Plan.

You can have enough money to do a lot of things you'd like to do, and to buy the many things you'll need after the war is over, if you save enough in War Bonds every payday NOW!

You can start buying WAR BONDS by buying War Stamps for as little as 10 cents.

Keep 'Em Healthy

CheLSEA and vicinity is seriously threatened with an epidemic of scarlet fever, which, if not checked immediately, may endanger the lives of the school children as well as the defense workers. It is the duty of each individual to keep himself physically fit. Most of the people of Chelsea earn their livelihood in some defense plant and consequently they do not get enough fresh air, sunlight or the proper amount of exercise. These elements, along with plenty of sleep and a balanced diet are the essentials of good health. Our country is at war and although we can't all shoulder a gun we can do something towards the war effort by keeping our bodies in good health and thereby setting an example for other people. Let's all "keep 'em flying" by keeping Chelsea healthy.

Chorus

The Chorus group are scheduled to take part in the program at the Methodist church, Nov. 30, when Dr. M. S. Rice from Detroit will speak. "The Blind Ploughman" and "I Heard a Forest Praying" have been chosen as the two selections.

The music for the Christmas Cantata to be given by the Chorus group has arrived and they have begun work on it. The title of it is "The Wonderful Story." It is a series of songs, each representing a particular happening in the life of Christ. Together it tells the story which we celebrate on Christmas.

Mrs. Laudenslager with the help and cooperation of the entire Chorus hopes to make it the most beautiful and effective performance ever given by a chorus in our school.

Office News

School will be dismissed on Wednesday afternoon at 3:30, for Thanksgiving vacation. The pupils will have Thursday and Friday off, but they will return to school on the following Monday.

St. Paul's church will present their play, "Sunbonnet Jane of Sycamore Lane," on Dec. 4.

Following the theatre night, the Band intends to sponsor a High School Assembly featuring the playing of Christmas music.

Assembly

Last Thursday Miss Angel, director of the Junior Red Cross in Washtenaw county, visited our school. She told the student body the purpose of the Junior Red Cross and the various things that have to be made, such as ambulance pillows, games, favors, writing boards, etc. She had some of these things with her which she placed on display.

Defense Council

The Defense Council is sponsoring a "Buy a Jeep" program. The Council will try to sell enough defense stamps by Christmas to buy a Jeep.

One of the programs to help sell stamps will be a stamp auction. This will take place sometime before Christmas vacation.

Student Council

The Student Council has made arrangements for dancing teachers to come here this Wednesday night. This is an opportunity for all under classmen to get wise to all the latest steps. There will be a small fee for these lessons.

Also, there was discussion concerning getting another phonograph for a tryout.

These Teachers

Last week everyone was surprised at the absence of Mr. Bust. Later the word got around that he had gone deer hunting. What kind, Mr. Bust?

It must be Miss Fox has her troubles in class. Every so often one of her pupils (?) strolls into study hall. Then Mr. Chandler has his!

Miss McDonald recently had the great pleasure bestowed upon her by Mr. Johnson of taking care of the geometry class. Did she love it!!! Well—

Maybe "Richard's Jiffy Mix Chicken Feed" is just what the kids need to pep 'em up.

Everyone is still wondering why Mrs. Cameron wanted to get back at Mr. Johnson at the recent assembly. Come, come, Mr. Johnson!

The teachers worked (so they say) hard on gas rationing. Was Miss Crumbach ever surprised when she found she had made a mistake in the rationing board number. We will excuse you this time because even teachers make mistakes, even if they don't like to fuss up.

Have you ever smelled a peculiar odor coming from the Home Ec. room? Don't be alarmed; it is only the teachers trying to prepare a meal (!?)

Class News

Freshmen

The Freshman return party to the Sophomores has been postponed until later.

Junior

The Junior class had a class meeting Monday night after school. They will sponsor the All-Hi party to be held Dec. 11.

G. A. A. Exercises

The girls are still faithfully doing their calisthenics each night before they start anything else, but they are looking forward to basketball practice which is scheduled to start in the near future. Due to gas rationing the girls only had Tuesday night for G. A. A. last week.

Home Ec. Club

Members of the Homemaking club are busy making plans for the Candlelight Initiation which will be given with the style show. Evelyn Lehman, Rosemary Lyons, Dorothy Knickerbocker and Joyce Lentz are making all of the plans for the show.

Hi-Y News

The Hi-Y club has ordered their Christmas cards which will be on sale in the near future. They have also ordered Hi-Y pins. The swim boys have been planning for some time was held Monday, Nov. 23.

This week Minnie Howard moved away, John Walz had his appendix removed and Wilma Paul is quarantined. We miss them. Patsy Mahlock wrote us from Curtis, on her way north.

For book week we received seven new books, reported on a book we had read and made posters.

We voted to join the Junior Red Cross. A dozen people have already paid their dues. Our first afghan is nearly finished. Betty Marshall deserves a vote of thanks for being so faithful at sewing it together.

Tuesday, the Safety Patrol boys had a dinner and play evening. Miss Marshall, Miss Fox, Dutch Policht and Charles Slane took charge.

Our stamp sale for the week was $4.10.

Tubercular Deaths
There were 48.6 deaths from tuberculosis per 100,000 population in the United States in 1939, as compared with 48.0 deaths per 100,000 population in 1938.

House Flies Germ Carriers
The common house fly, the green-bottle fly and other varieties of flies are found to be carriers of the infantile paralysis virus and suspected of being the agent by which the disease is spread in epidemics.

Not Elm Trees
Out in Columbus, Ohio, they 1,500 elms in two years from disease. Even the forest trees died of the same trouble. The dreaded Dutch elm disease came in for condemnation again and the government agencies got busy. Then a discovery was made it was not the Dutch elm disease at all. It was reported that a virus was the trouble and "phloem necrosis" is the new enemy. In fact it is said the Dutch elm disease is on the wane and this new threatening condition opens up another battle front for scientists.

Real Americans
More than 70 per cent of the population of Guatemala is pure Indian.

Slow down at sundown! Days are getting shorter and night driving necessarily has many hazards in connection with the matter of safe driving.

Check your car so that your lights give the best type of light. Be sure that you dim your lights when meeting traffic. This is merely a courtesy requirement, but it means much to the other fellow and is a safety precaution.

Keep that windshield clean. Fog, snow, ice and sleet will reduce your vision, and if the windshield wipers are not in perfect order and your windshield is not clean, you will have difficulty seeing the road ahead as you should.

These are responsibilities of all drivers, and these points should be kept in mind to help reduce automobile traffic accidents.

Drive 35 miles an hour to conserve gas, tires and oil and reduce wear and tear on your car. It's safer, too.

First Aid Under Fire

SOMEWHERE IN EGYPT a medical corpsman of the Fighting French spots a wounded Senegalese comrade lying on the battlefield. After carrying him to safety they bandage him before taking him to the ambulance. Fighting French units are playing an important part in the new North African offensive.

United Nations Students and Teachers Fight Axis Attacks on Education

At 11 A.M. on Nov. 17th of this year, students all over the world will rise in their classrooms and stand silent for two minutes. For Nov. 17th is International Students Day, a day of dedication for the students of the United Nations in their fight against the Axis.

Nov. 17th was chosen because it is the anniversary of one of the first and worst Axis atrocities against students. On Nov. 17th, 1939, hundreds of students in Prague and elsewhere in Czechoslovakia were rounded up by the Gestapo and tortured.

This was only one Axis attack on education. In China the Japanese have made schools their special target for bombing and shelling. In Yugoslavia the Nazi occupation forces machine-gunned whole classes of high-school boys in Poland. The Germans have closed every university and every school above the elementary grades.

The truth is that free education is one of the greatest weapons against the Axis. The totalitarian powers do not want the people under their rule to be educated men and women, but only slaves. That is why, wherever the Axis has forced its way one of the first moves has been to close schools, to destroy books, to imprison or kill students and teachers.

But the teachers and students of the United Nations have fought back with determination, not only in the armed forces but in the underground movements and civil resistance campaigns. In Paris and in Athens students have been the leaders in patriotic demonstrations against Axis oppression, facing gas and truncheons of troops and police unflinching. In Holland and Belgium and Norway, where the Nazis have tried to introduce Nazi-minded teachers to the colleges and schools, pupils have refused to attend their classes. Norwegian teachers, when Quisling tried to force them to join a Nazi teachers' association, refused, even after hundreds had been arrested and shipped to concentration camps.

Everywhere in the occupied countries, around the world, the same firm spirit has overwhelmed all attempts to mould education into the totalitarian pattern. When students in China and the United States and Great Britain and Australia and India observe the two-minute silence this Nov. 17th, they are honoring that spirit.

Ersatz Coffee Aroma

Post-Hitler joyfully informed the Hungarian readers that in a chemical factory in North Germany preparations are being made for mass production of synthetic coffee aroma. A few drops on a handkerchief will suffice to satisfy the thirst for coffee through the nose.

GREEK STUDENTS lead a march through the streets of Athens to celebrate Greek Independence Day, March 25, 1942. This picture, which was smuggled out of occupied Greece, shows the beginning of the demonstration. Later the students laid wreaths on statues of Greek heroes. They were attacked by Nazi and Italian police and two were killed.

IN BRIEF

Rabbit Plague

"If the people do not kill the rabbits, the rabbits will kill the people" is an old Dutch saying which is now frequently being quoted in the Dutch press. The plague of rabbits from which Holland is suffering at present is due to the fact that the Germans have taken away all the inhabitants' guns. Peasants are forced to look on while the rabbits eat away their plantings.

Mourning Sign

At Beles in Luxembourg, the widow Kripler was sentenced to 10 months imprisonment. This is the reason; when her husband was buried she found two wreaths on the coffin adorned with ribbons bearing swastikas. She tore off the ribbons and threw them away.

Jugoslav Resistance

The unshaken resistance of the Serbian patriots has called forth new German threats. According to Novo Vreme, Nazi-controlled paper in Yugoslavia, the head of the military administration convened a meeting of the mayors and administrative chiefs and said to them: "I wish to make it clear once and for all that if Germany is forced to send more soldiers to Serbia in order to crush the revolt, Serbia will be utterly destroyed."

Famine and Malaria

A severe epidemic of malaria has broken out in Greece, where famine is rife. The situation is aggravated by the shortage of medicaments. Doctors' prescriptions must be countersigned by the police before they can be made up. A certain maximum amount of quinine is fixed for every individual patient; if it is exceeded both doctor and druggist are punished. If the patient is not cured by the amount allowed—well, that's just too bad.

Australian Lend-Lease

In return for U. S. lend-lease aid in planes, ships and munitions, Australia is providing Uncle Sam's soldiers with barracks, food, clothing, field artillery, transportation facilities and airfields.

WOMEN AT WAR

Letter From Holland Tells of Nazi Raids

News direct from occupied countries is still filtering through to the outside world, despite Nazi censorship. What follows is an excerpt from a letter, smuggled out of Holland to neutral territory. This Amsterdam woman writes:

"On July 7th we were informed that 500 people between the ages of 16 and 40 had to be medically examined. And so P., a 15-year-old girl was quickly sent to a nursery. She left the house with Miss A., a mutual friend and still wearing her Star of David. A while later the Nazis started a razzia; a police raid; as apparently they did not get the 500 people they had asked for. You can imagine the state of mind the girl's mother was in. She expected to hear the Gestapo at the door any minute and did not know what to do. It took a long time before we heard that P. was safe—for the time being at least."

"Although officially the Germans are supposed to take people between the ages of 16 and 40 only, they really recruit men and women below 15 and over 40. Most of us are convinced that the deported people (all of them Jewish) will never come back alive. . . . I was recently told that many who have reached safety cannot believe our peril is so great. But truly, entire families, including babies, are being deported. They even take pregnant women in their sixth month."

"The number of suicides is increasing daily. What is happening now is unforgivable. . . . My old teacher has disappeared. I suspect, and hope he will turn up again when the round-ups have passed. It was a hell . . . they seem to take women and girls by preference."

Chinese Conscription

A total of 11,120,572 able-bodied men have been conscripted into the Chinese Army from August, 1937, to the end of August of this year.

A Plan to Protect Agriculture After This War

For years the tragic results of the expansion of food-producing acreage during World War I has haunted American agriculture. Every farmer, as a matter of patriotism, interrupted his rotation of crops to produce food and more food for our armies and our Allies. Now again in World War II, to feed our soldiers and our Allies and to serve the special demands of war industry, we are dislocating our normal production as a matter of patriotic service.

It seems plain that by the end of this war American farms will have created a tremendous surplus production power which ordinary peacetime requirements will not absorb. By the end of 1942 our overall average increase—production over the average for the last 10 years will be more than 21 per cent. How then can American agriculture side-step a post-war farm tragedy even worse than that following World War I? Experiments in Rubber and Other Products.

Our Government is now experimenting with domestic sources for rubber. Some sixty thousand acres are devoted to the production of guayule and its possibilities as a source of domestic rubber. Emergency plants for the production of thousands of tons of synthetic rubber from oil and alcohol are now springing into production.

We have learned how to make paper from slash pine and starch from potatoes. We are learning how to raise medicinal herbs which we formerly imported.

Denied the use of kapok which we imported from the East Indies and used in life preservers, we have discovered that the floss from milkweed makes better life preservers than kapok ever did. Factories have been built and several thousand acres are now devoted to raising milkweed intensively.

Already we are producing tung oil successfully. Thousands of acres will be needed before we can supply even our present domestic market. Luckily, we have at hand the National Farm Chemurgic Council, an organization of research chemists from our several industries who compare notes and gain new enthusiasm in the research for new uses of old crops and new crops which can be cultivated in America. Our government has established regional research laboratories.

More than fifteen thousand different kinds of plants grow in the natural state in the United States. We use less than three hundred of these plants. Farm chemurgy will not be complete, nor the post-war problem of agriculture solved until every plant is re-examined in the light of modern science and made to serve its part in contributing to the comfort, happiness and security of our America of the future.

A Plan That Deserves Support. The United States Senate is considering a plan which will require the use of 20 per cent of war profits during the war for the purchase of Recovery Bonds by each company in order to have available the necessary cash to quickly change their business and industrial plants back to peacetime activities at the close of the war and to adjust the employment of their normal number of factory workers.

This percentage of war profits could also be used in a broad plan of research by industrial chemists to develop new uses for products of the farm by our domestic industry. If our industry has the knowledge and the money in hand to convert an all-out war effort to peacetime production, maintain employment and launch the new products discovered by science, we have a reasonable chance to absorb our farm surplus even in the post-war period.

Depression hit our rural areas longer and harder than our industrial areas. Our hope for the security, happiness and prosperity of Rural America is at stake. If we can develop this practical plan for taking care of our surplus in the after war period, we can go forward unafraid in an all-out production effort for the winning of this war and in providing the food necessary for starving people in the after war period. We will know that we have provided an ever-expanding America with new crops and new uses. Worth thinking about.

Span Tolls Lifted. Tolls have been removed from 27 bridges in four states in recent years with the aid of the federal government.

Don't miss seeing Ollie Dinkelberry try and get her man, "Jason Gouch," in "Sunbonnet Jane of Sycamore Lane."

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Gas masks which came into use in warfare for the first time when the Germans used poison and mustard gas in World War I, are much improved today over those used then. The Chemical Warfare Branch of the War Department issues these gas masks to every man in the service. We are taking no chances.

The type pictured here is the "can" and "elephant nose" mask and costs about $2.25 each. The headgear is transparent, made of material resembling cellophane and does not cloud with the breath. You can buy two of these gas masks with the purchase of an $18.75 War Bond. We need thousands of them. Don't fail to give at least ten percent of your income every pay day for War Bonds. Buy them at your bank or postoffice, regularly.
