Mich. Naval Activity Since "Pearl Harbor"

Thirty thousand Michigan men have enlisted in the Navy, since Japan's thrust at Pearl Harbor, in a defiant effort to open the gates of freedom.

Comparable to the success of the Navy's fighting units during the historic year, has been the expansion and growth of Naval activities throughout the state of Michigan.

The greatest number of Navy recruits from the state for a single month was 3,020 during September. Navy enlistments since July in Michigan and throughout the nation have attained an all-time high.

Lieut. Byron E. Flechner, officer-in-charge of the Navy recruiting for the lower peninsula, attributes the record number of Navy enlistments to the indignation of the citizenry to the sneak attack, and to the Navy's "Earn-While-You-Learn" program which enables men to obtain training in 50 different trades and specialties.

Cooperating with Lieut. Flechner's Detroit office to produce the impressive recruiting record, are the 12 Navy recruiting substations, which are in a great measure responsible for the success of the manpower drive. They are located at Alpena, Benton Harbor, Flint, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Monroe, Pontiac, Port Huron, Saginaw and Traverse City.

The office of Naval Officer Procurement and the Naval Aviation Cadet Selection Board in the Book Tower building, Detroit, headquarters for the state officer procurement program, have kept pace with the record established by the recruiting office. The Cadet Selection Board has broken all records in the number of cadet enlistments since Pearl Harbor and is the world's greatest source of supply for future Naval aviators. The Office of Naval Procurement has expanded to great size and handles hundreds of applications weekly for entrance into the Navy's V-1, V-7 and SeaGee college program as well as specialist commissions and WAVES enlistments.

Taking no backward to the growth and expansion of the recruiting offices are the principle naval training activities at the Detroit Naval Armory, Dearborn Naval Training school, and Grosse Ile Naval Reserve Aviation Base.

Hundreds of men can be trained, fed, and housed in the Detroit Armory and sent out as electricians with the fleet after the 16-week training period. In addition to the electrical school, the armory provides barracks for the important diesel engine operators school and the marine engine school.

The Dearborn Naval Training school built and presented to the Navy by Henry Ford, has grown into a miniature Great Lakes training thousands of Bluejackets to become machinists.

The Grosse Ile Naval Reserve Aviation base has grown since Dec. 7, 1941, from a small base with one hangar to one of the largest in the country. So large has it become, that eight additional secondary fields have been established throughout the surrounding countryside.

Chelsea Basketball League Opens Tonight

Again this year the Chelsea Basketball League has been organized to furnish wholesome entertainment for the community of Chelsea. Everyone is in a state of turmoil and faces the problem of entertainment. The league realizes this problem and is offering an easy solution by providing a more interesting schedule for a larger audience than ever before. No admission is charged and the league has been very capably planned under a trio of officers—Al Johnson, Willard Guest and Norm Phelps.

This week's schedule (Thursday night) is as follows:
Federal Screw vs. Dexter—7 o'clock
Central Fibre vs. Community—8 o'clock
Cassidy Lake vs. Chelsea Spring—9 o'clock.

Don't miss the first games of the season at the high school gym at 7 o'clock tonight.

Walter Mohrlock Heads Transportation Group

The office of Civilian Defense has been engaged in making plans for the establishment of a Transportation Conservation committee. Heading this group is Walter Mohrlock who is now engaged in formulating plans for handling any problems arising along the lines of transportation.

The question of "Swap-Riding" has become a paramount issue in "I" and "C" rationing of gas. It is essential that those persons who are traveling for occupational purposes shall register with Mr. Mohrlock and he will help riders and drivers to arrange groups of persons that have the same destination in view.

If you have a ride to swap or want to swap a ride, register today. The exception to this registration is with those persons who live in Chelsea and are employed in local industry. These organizations handle their own swap-ride plan.

WAR RATION BOOK I REGISTRATION

War Ration Book I will be used to ration coffee. It will also be used to issue War Ration Book II, and may be used to ration other commodities.

It is, therefore, essential that every individual have a War Ration Book I, regardless of whether or not he buys sugar or coffee. Nobody will be able to obtain War Ration Book II unless he has War Ration Book I.

All consumers who have not registered for War Ration Book I, shall register by Dec. 15, 1942. No consumer may register after that date unless his case is a recognized exception listed in the regulations. If in doubt inquire of your local board.

Babies must be registered within a month after their birth. The local rationing board office will be open at the high school on Friday afternoon, Dec. 4, 1942, from 3:30 until 5:00 o'clock. It will also be open on Saturday evening, Dec. 5, from 7:00 to 9:00 o'clock.

Be sure to register. This is very important!

New Location of Local Gas Rationing Board

The new location of the Gas Rationing Board is at the Chelsea Electric Light company. The Board will interview applicants each week-day except Saturdays, from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m., until further notice.

Applicants must bring the following with them:

1. Certificate of Registration.
 2. "A" Ration Book.
- If the applicants will be patient and wait for the action of the Board, it will speed the rationing. Postcards notifying applicant when to call for Ration Books, will be mailed.

Aviation Cadet Board Returns to Ann Arbor

Returning to Ann Arbor for the first time since June the Army Aviation examining board, No. 2, will set up headquarters at the Elks' Temple, Tuesday and Wednesday, December 8 and 9, to interview and examine applicants for Air Corp. personnel.

The president of the examining board is Captain George Samsen. The flight sergeant is Capt. Kenneth Crawford. Men will be enlisted as pilots, navigators and bombardiers, and for ground crew work in the air crew. Formerly only pilots were enlisted by the traveling board.

Applicants must pass the physical examination and the general knowledge and aptitude. Men between the ages of 18 and 26, both married and single are eligible for enlistment of pilots, navigators and bombardiers. Cadets will receive $75.00 and at graduation will be commissioned as Second Lieutenants or flight officers and receive up to $327.00 a month.

Commissions will be given to men specializing in armaments, communications, engineering and photography, who qualify between the ages of 18 to 26, inclusive. Those qualifying in meteorology may be 30 years of age. Upon completion of training they will be commissioned and receive up to $260 per month.

Captain Samsen further pointed out that there had been some relaxing in the requirements in both the mental and physical screening.

Three Young Men Are Inducted Into Service

The following Chelsea young men, who were inducted into army service, left Wednesday morning for Camp Grant, Ill.

Alton Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Parsons, who was born in Chelsea, April 30, 1919, and for the past four years was employed with the Hoover Ball Company, Ann Arbor. He was honored with a family party on Sunday evening and was presented with a watch.

Richard H. Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Collins, was born in Chelsea Jan. 29, 1919, and graduated from the local high school with the class of 1938. He was employed at the Federal Screw Works.

Theodore R. Combs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Coral Combs, was born Feb. 1, 1922, is a graduate of Chelsea high school, class of '41. He has also been employed at the Federal Screw Works. His parents gave him a farewell party at their home on Sunday.

SURGICAL DRESSINGS CLASS

On Monday evening the Surgical Dressings class completed one year of work and the total number of dressings made in that time were 45,491. The dressings that are now being made are all used for our own forces. The class meets in the Home Economics room every Monday evening and on Wednesday afternoon over Loeffler's market.

Campaign for Sharing Of Meat Is Underway

The local nutrition chairman, Mrs. A. L. Brock, is engaged in organizing a group of "Block and Neighborhood Leaders" who will promote in their various localities the need for "Share-the-Meat" campaign.

In spite of the fact that our meat supply is the greatest in history, it will not be enough to meet the needs of our armed forces, both at home and abroad, the needs of our fighting allies and the total civilian demands.

Facing these facts the Food Requirements committee of the War Production Board has determined that the amount of meat going to civilians must be restricted. The organizing of rationing machinery requires several months. In the meantime, we are asked voluntarily to share the meat so that all citizens will be able to get their fair portion.

This is essential now and will also prepare the home-maker for actual rationing. We must see that our meat supply lasts throughout the year. It has been calculated that the fair share of meat for each able-bodied person over 12 years of age is 2½ pounds per person per week (for each child under six, ¾ pound per week, and for each child 6 to 12, 1½ pounds per week is allowed). That includes all meals eaten at home, in somebody else's home, or in a restaurant.

Our fighting men come first. Our fighting allies—who now have much less meat than will be provided for us—must also have meat. Self-discipline by civilians, staying within allowances set, will provide the meat for NUMBER ONE war needs.

Unless people who go early to the store and the public dining place hold down their purchases, those who come late in the day or the meal period will find no meat. Many of the housewives in war work cannot get to the meat shops until the end of the day. It is unfair to ask workers to bear the whole brunt of sharing with our fighting men and our allies. It is fair for all to share and share alike. By limiting our consumption of meat now, we can be sure that we will have an adequate supply of meat to last throughout the year.

When your "Block Leader" calls at your home, be sure to give her your patriotic cooperation. Join the movement of "Share-the-Meat" campaign.

School Children Will Solicit Bond Pledges

One duty of every patriotic American is to buy War Savings Bonds. In the first place, our government needs the money we lend it in order to pay the tremendous expenses of current and future campaigns. Tanks, bombers, transports, destroyers, and the thousands of items needed by an expeditionary force are all expensive. Those of us who have relatives in service want our boys to "have the best" instead of having "too little and too late."

In the second place, the buying of bonds will absorb a large share of the extra purchasing power now present in our country. Large purchasing power plus small amounts of civilian goods equals inflation. Inflation is the greatest danger we have to face, and to fear, on the home front.

The best way to avoid inflation is for everybody to buy bonds, lots of bonds, regularly. In the third place, the War Savings Bond is one of the best investments available at the present time. It carries a rate of interest high enough to be attractive, it is backed by a government that has never, in a hundred sixty-seven years, failed to meet an obligation. The only possibility of not getting your money back lies in our losing the war. By a strange paradox, the more money we lend our government, the more certain we are to win the war.

Within the next two or three days, the seventh grade children of the public school will ask you to sign a pledge to go to your bank or post office on December 7, the date made "famous in infamy" and buy a bond. There are only thirty of the kids, and maybe they won't get to you, so buy an EXTRA bond anyway. If they do reach you, praise their efforts, sign the pledge, and help your country.

BUYS RECREATION INN

Harold Howe of Ann Arbor has purchased the Recreation Inn from I. L. Klumpp and took possession of the business on December 1. Mr. Klumpp, who has operated the business for the past nine years, has no plans for the immediate future. Mr. and Mrs. Howe will move to Chelsea as soon as possible.

HOLD CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Past Chiefs club of the Pythian Sisters held their annual Christmas party on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ethel Haelswerdt. Cards furnished diversion for the occasion and at this time the identity of the mystery sisters was revealed. Gifts were exchanged, after which refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Vogel entertained Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Dunstone and children of Ypsilanti as guests on Thanksgiving Day.

GRASS LAKE—Just one hour after the season opened Glen Harshbarger and son-in-law, Winston Schenk, who hunted in Manistee county, shot a 6-point deer weighing 160 pounds. The Harshbargers are entertaining their nephew, Pvt. Harold Hallam of McChord Field, Wash.—News.

PINCKNEY—Less than 250 persons registered at the Pinckney school last Wednesday, Thursday and Friday and received their gasoline ration cards. Only about 50 per cent of the car owners who were to be serviced by the local school. The date of the next registration is December 2, at Howell. A queer thing about the rationing was that it caused a run on the post offices for use stamps which was so great that stocks of these became exhausted here and in Howell and in other places. Many motorists evidently forgot to buy use stamps in July.—Dispatch.

DEXTER—Mrs. Inez Hadley underwent a major operation at St. Joseph's Mercy hospital Monday morning. She is doing as well as can be expected.—Leader.

Mrs. Bucklin was Marjorie Weimer before her marriage. The son has been named David and is the fifth great-grandchild of the J. C. Weimer's.—Press. Face Fitness Problem Program Is Underway

The Michigan Council of Defense is preparing its organizational facilities to meet another serious problem arising from the war. At a meeting of the Recreation and Physical Fitness committee, Nov. 23, the need was established for a coordinated program, which would bring recreation, relaxation and physical health to war workers and citizens on the home front of all ages.

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, has received the committee's report.

ported to the Council the need for such programs on the community level, and his report has been accepted. The physical fitness program in schools, colleges and the armed forces is well established. The task remains to bring similar benefit to other citizens through community organization, which will be undertaken within a short time.

Standard Liners Bring Quick Results!

By Gene Alleman
Appointment of new councils of defense in some upstate counties will be on the 1943 calendar of Governor-elect Harry F. Kelly.

But whether the state council of defense will be revamped, as to its membership and its administration, is a less pressing and less likely matter. Lieut. Colonel Harold A. Furlong, World War hero who is its administrator, has earned a prominent niche in the national defense picture, and the council generally has been regarded by Washington as decidedly above average.

In a recent conference at Washington, James M. Landis, director of the Office of Civilian Defense, said that Michigan and Pennsylvania were the "two most outstanding" states in civilian defense organization. Landis ought to know. He raided the state set-up to get Dr. Donald Hayworth, director of the council's speakers' bureau and head of the Michigan State college department of speech, to take the reins for a national speakers' bureau at Washington.

But as for some local councils of defense—well, reshuffling of appointments is a good bet for the Kelly program after New Year's Day.

While the state council and the civilian defense organization were authorized by the 1941 state legislature, the administrator and the 12 council members together with the county councils of defense were appointed by Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner and they serve at the governor's pleasure.

Governor-elect Kelly could legally change the entire set-up from the state council down to county councils.

In his campaign Kelly charged the Van Wagoner administration with putting war defense on a partisan basis. He meant what he said. And he isn't likely to forget it.

Another campaign pledge was economy. Efficiency of the office of secretary of state was held up as a model for the new administration, should the voters elect Kelly to the governorship.

The Republican governor-elect believes that economy can be achieved through a one-year state budget. The state legislature would return in 1944 to consider another 12-month appropriation.

The one-year budget proposal has met with considerable favorable comment. Here is a typical newspaper comment, this coming from the Barquette Daily Mining Journal:

"Much could be said of Kelly's plan even in normal times. In wartime it is almost impossible for private or public business executives to anticipate conditions more than a few months ahead."

When budgets are lowered, state services or local government services must be curtailed. It isn't solely a Lansing problem.

Let's look at the state problem first. As Auditor General Vernon J. Brown said wryly, it is going to be difficult to convince state officials that their work is not important, that their appropriations should be cut.

Leo V. Card, commissioner of agriculture, has asked for an increase of $90,000 for the next fiscal year. With wartime emphasis on food, Card declares he needs more inspectors instead of fewer. This state service is essential, the commissioner adds. It's like replying: "Don't economize in my department. Try someone else."

On top of this attitude, obviously sincere on the part of Mr. Card, the state civil service commission has been granting salary increases to many state workers. Why? Competition of state government with private industry. High war plant wages. If the cost of living keeps rising, how can wages be reduced?

So you see the state viewpoint is complicated.

"Well, how about the home governments?" you ask.

Let's look at the figures. During the last fiscal year, ending June 30, 1942, the State of Michigan distributed $129,287,850 to local governmental units.

It was an all-time high.

More than 61 per cent of all state funds are returned to home governments—counties and cities, schools, public health and medical assistance, public welfare and highways.

What should the state do with this money?

Remember, the increase in local aid was nearly eight million dollars over 1941.

Highway improvement and maintenance, together with snow removal, constituted the first demand on state funds. Whereas more than $20,000,000 were distributed by the state to local highway departments, the state retained $26,000,000. On the welfare side, the state turned over more than $36,000,000 to counties for local welfare needs, while keeping around $6,000,000 for its own functions.

And so it goes.

We sympathize with any governor in his dream of curtailing state spending, especially during the war. But somebody's toes are bound to be stepped upon. And it may be the folks back at home, not at Lansing.

Like the daughter who hung her clothes on a hickory limb but couldn't go near the water, the CIO employees of the Consumer Power company may go out on a strike, but they can't shut off the power.

At least, Governor Van Wagoner says the generators must be kept going.

The CIO union wants a closed shop agreement. The company says that only 1,023 out of its 2,467 employees voted for the union and that it has offered the same maintenance of membership clause which prevailed for the competing A. F. of L. union.

How to hold a strike without leaving ing your job is a ticklish problem, to put it mildly. Especially when the lives of American boys may depend on the tanks and guns and shells which are being manufactured right here in Michigan war plants, all dependent upon electrical power.

Casting Large Bell
When a large bell is cast, it is customary to leave it in the mold for a considerable length of time to complete the cooling process and to avoid cracking.

Highly Porous
Wood charcoal is an extremely porous material, its bulk being approximately one-third the bulk of the wood from which it is made.

The Lights are Green from Coast to Coast

LISTEN—that sound you hear tonight—

it's a nation at war!

From the chattering machine shops of Syracuse to the roaring airplane plants of Detroit... from the thundering furnaces of Pittsburgh to the pounding, clanging forges of St. Louis...

Millions of men are shaping the weapons of war.

Listen again and you'll hear the endless echo of railroad whistles... the click of steel against steel... the roar of harnessed steam as the fast freights thunder by.

The American Railroads are at war.

Twenty years ago they began preparing for whatever emergency might come.

Since then... tracks... bridges... signals... yards... shops... terminals... have been greatly improved.

More powerful locomotives and better cars have been put into service.

Shippers have cooperated in a great voluntary movement to make better, more efficient use of railroad facilities.

These are some of the reasons why America's railroads have been able to meet the heavy demands of the greatest emergency.

In their history—why this year they have been able to carry just about double the volume of freight and passenger traffic that they moved in 1939, when Hitler invaded Poland.

But there is a limit. As seen by Joseph B. Eastman, Director, Office of Defense Transportation, there is "a clear and definite need for new locomotives and new freight cars... and if we are to attain and maintain maximum utilization of existing facilities, they must be kept in prime order and repair."

Facing still greater demands upon their facilities in the coming crucial year, railroad men are steeling themselves to meet whatever lies ahead. Given the tools—the steel—to work with, they mean to see to it that the lights guiding vital railroad transport remain green from coast to coast.

POTATOBURGERS

A Tasty Meat Stretcher

Here's a dish your family will like, and one that will make your meat go farther. It possesses important nutritive values.

Unpeeled potatoes supply Vitamin C as well as calcium and phosphorus, needed for bones and teeth. Beef supplies protein for body muscles and tissue, and iron for blood cells. Potatoes are a good energy food.

This dish requires only one pound of ground beef to make eight servings, which helps the budget. Green pepper, added for flavor, is a source of Vitamin A.

POTATOBURGERS

(8 Servings)

- 1 pound ground beef.
 - 2 cups coarsely grated, unpeeled potatoes (3 medium size).
 - 1/4 cup coarsely grated onion.
 - 1/2 cup diced green pepper, optional.
 - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt.
 - 2 teaspoons pepper.
 - 2 tablespoons shortening.
 - 1/4 cup water.
1. Combine ground beef, potatoes, onion, green pepper, salt and pepper. Knead thoroughly.
 2. Shape into 8 patties.
 3. Melt shortening in a frying pan.
 4. Brown patties in shortening, allowing about 3 minutes on each side.
 5. Add water; cover; turn flame to simmer position or very low.

THE MOST IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT EVER MADE BY THE U.S. TREASURY DEPARTMENT

The 9 Billion Dollar Victory Loan Drive Is On!

This week the United States Government begins the task of borrowing nine billion dollars from accumulated savings and idle funds in the next several weeks as an essential part of winning the war more quickly and more completely.

During these critical weeks you probably will be visited by a representative of one of the securities firms or banks which are contributing their time and effort—without compensation of any kind—to the Victory Fund Committee. He will explain to you, for instance, the benefits that you can obtain from the new Victory 2½'s—available for the first time. Welcome him as a war worker when he calls. If you miss him, ask your banker or securities dealer for full particulars. There is no limit to the amount that you can purchase.

Today many American families are torn apart. Millions have left their homes or their jobs; thousands have given their lives and many more are prepared to do so.

But the government, your government, is not asking you to give anything to this Nine Billion Dollar Drive. It is asking you to lend it all of the money you can possibly invest in what is the safest investment in the world—at a good rate of interest.

When the Victory Fund representative calls, please remember this: it is in your own interest, as well as that of your country, to listen to him—and to invest.

BUY THESE VICTORY 2½'s NOW

Rural Schools Lead In Drive to Collect Scrap

Lansing.—Kaleva Rural Agricultural School, Manistee county, with an enrollment of 244 pupils, won top honors in the three-week Michigan school campaign for scrap. Kaleva pupils collected a total of 259 tons, an average of 2,122 pounds per pupil. Popkins consolidated school in the same county took second honors with slightly less than 2,030 pounds per pupil, and third honors went to Onekama school, Ann Arbor township, Washtenaw county, with a contribution of 2,000 pounds per pupil.

A total of approximately 55,000 tons of scrap material was collected by the school children in their whirlwind campaign.

Representatives of the three schools will attend the launching of a Victory ship as guests of the American Industry Salvage committee. A committee composed of Governor Van Wagoner, Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, and Kenneth M. Burns, chairman of the salvage committee of the Michigan Council of Defense, has chosen the name Woodbridge N. Ferris for the Michigan ship as that most preferred by school children.

One of the ships now under construction, will probably be designated to carry the name of Michigan's one-time "good gray governor" and former U. S. Senator.

Wins County 4-H Meat Animal Contest Prize

Loren Koenigster of Chelsea will receive a specially embossed gold watch for making the highest score in the county in the national 4-H animal contest, extension agent, H. J. Hart, announced today.

The boy is 19 years old and has completed 7 years in club work. His leader is Tom Bust. County winners are eligible to compete for the State award.

This is the thirteenth consecutive year of the competition, which is supervised by the extension service, and all awards provided by Thomas E. Wilson, Chicago packer, and chairman of the national committee on Boys and Girls club work, who has supported the activity since its inception.

A gold watch will be awarded to the State winner. The highest scoring participant in this extension section will receive an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Victory congress scheduled to be held in Chicago next November, where a $200 college scholarship will be awarded to each of three national winners.

Same Rules Apply To Farmers And Packers

Detroit—While farmers who raise their own meat animals and slaughter them for consumption on the farm are under no restrictions so far as family meat eating is concerned, they cannot peddle meat to others, without subjecting themselves to the same rules that govern packers and slaughterers generally.

If city dwellers think they can get around the meat shortage by going to the farm to get their meat, both the farmer who supplies it, and the purchaser, will probably run afoul of the meat regulations of OPA.

The Office of Price Administration pointed out that large slaughterers and small slaughterers are restricted in the amount of meat they may deliver in the current quarter. For example, the small slaughterers may deliver no more than the amount they delivered during the corresponding quarter of 1941, while the large packers can deliver only certain percentages of their last year's production.

A farmer, who during the corresponding quarter of last year, sold meat off his farm, can continue to sell, but cannot sell any more than he sold during the same quarter last year. He must keep records. However, if he wasn't in the retail meat business last year at this time, he can't enter it now.

If a farmer sells meat direct to the consumer, even as much as one animal, his business comes within the scope of the meat restriction regulations.

The Junior Red Cross is an organization that furnishes school children with the opportunity of serving their country. The work is very much like that of the Senior Red Cross.

Among the kinds of work it offers is making afghans for army hospitals, making ambulance pillows, knitting soldier's clothing and making various other similar necessities. It also includes the making of picture albums, table favors, flower vases, games and recreation tables. This is excellent work and experience for both boys and girls alike.

Although many schools are taking a keen interest in this sort of work, there is still a large demand for more of these needed articles. The leaders of this great organization are working hard toward filling the quota, and it is the patriotic duty of the children of America to contribute their services as best they can.

Chester schools are organizing a Junior Red Cross and several pieces of work have already been turned in.

War Council Writes To Soldiers

Several members of the Journalism Club have been chosen to write a letter to the boys in service as one of the projects undertaken by the Chelsea high school war council.

Letters were sent to over 40 boys who graduated from Chelsea high or who attended school here recently. This week the Council received letters from: Pfc. J. R. Seitz, G. E. Raboy, A. U. N. 32, Lt. Moritz, P. Bruckner.

Vacation

Thanksgiving vacation started off with a bang last Wednesday. School was dismissed at 3:30 and everyone went to the gym to dance.

The snow that fell over the weekend certainly made people more cheerful. Let's hope we still have snow for Christmas.

We did have a few cases of mumps and chicken-pox over the weekend, but the majority of us thoroughly enjoyed our vacation.

Office News

Twenty-five football players and the coaches attended the annual football bust on Monday night.

The St. Paul's church will present a play, "Sunbonnet Jane of Sycamore Lane," tomorrow night.

Christmas chorus concert will be held on Tuesday evening, Dec. 22.

The city league basketball will start tonight.

The Catbird

Insects and bugs make up 41 per cent of the catbird's food and it is doubtful if it would poach on domestic fruits if a sufficient supply of wild varieties were on hand.

Boys' Basketball

Last Tuesday the first basketball practice of this season was held with a good attendance.

This is the schedule which is not yet complete:

Dec. 11—Pineville—here.
Jan. 15—Roosevelt—there.
Jan. 22—Saline—here.
Jan. 26—Manchester—there.
Feb. 5—Milan—here.
Feb. 12—U. High—there.
Feb. 26—Manchester—here.

Athletic Board

Due to the rationing of gas, four basketball and football teams have to find a new way of transportation. Steps have been taken to find out whether it is possible to use the train to go to and from games.

Also, there was discussion about taking steps to prevent the theft of money from the boys' locker rooms during games.

Homemaking News

The Homemaking I girls are studying box lunches.

The Home Projects will soon be handed in. About 40 girls will hand projects in. Some of the garments being made are skirts and blouses and these garments will be modeled in the style show in the near future.

Defense Council

The Defense Council is sponsoring a "Buy a Jeep" program. Danny Ewald is drawing a poster for advertising.

Only a few members were present at the last meeting, so very little business was discussed.

Senior News

The Seniors will be selling basketball pencils in the future.

Elementary News

For December 7, the "date in focus in history," the seventh grade plans a flag-stamp and bond sale. They plan to try to have every child in Chelsea school buy a stamp, have lots of people in Chelsea buy a bond. Reminders in the form of posters will be placed about town. Let's all get together and boost.

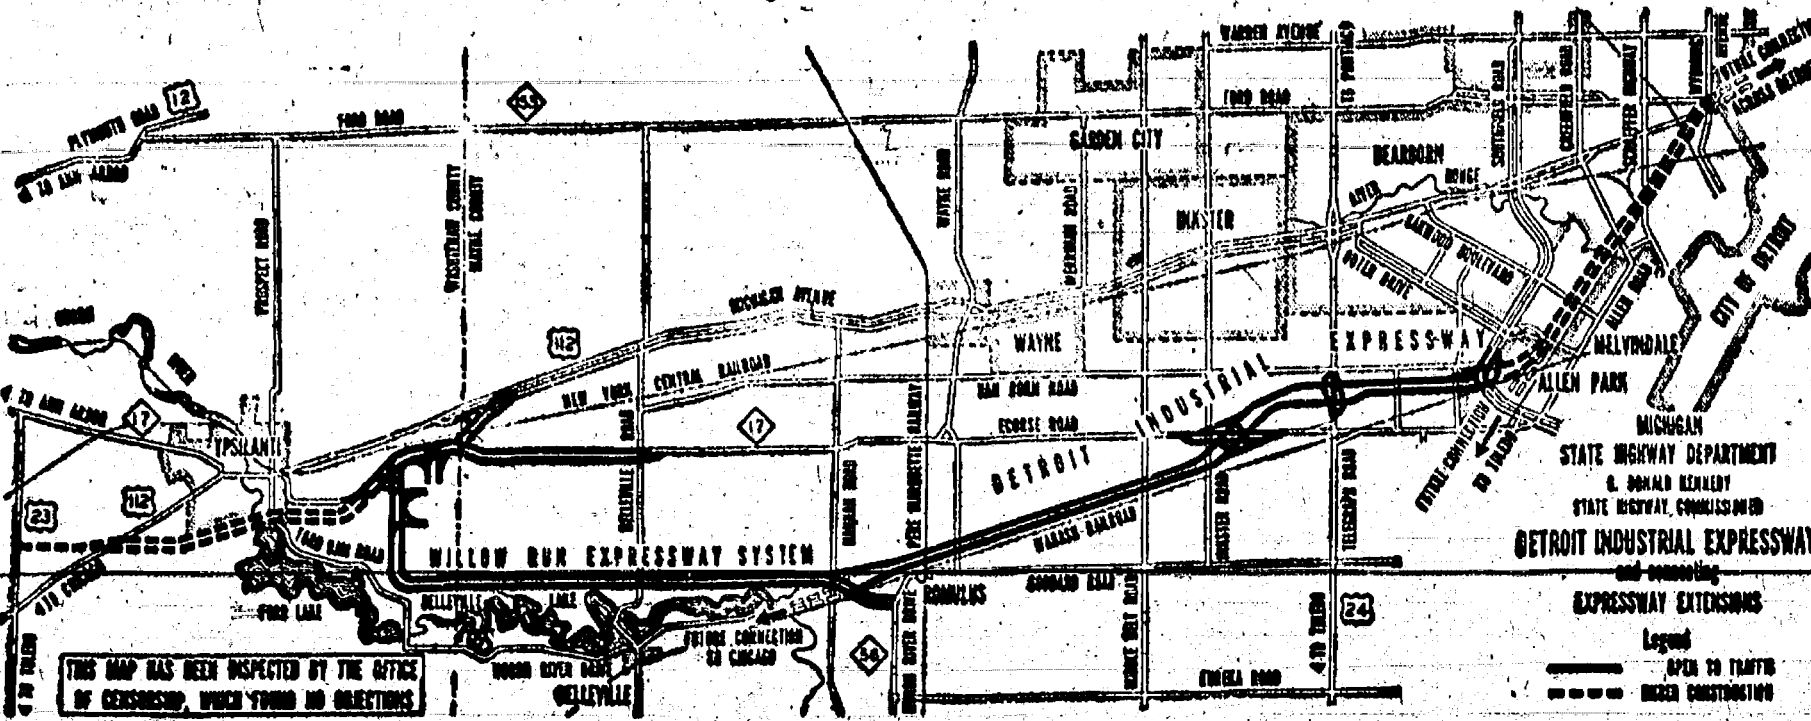

We are glad to have Wilma Paul, Dorothy Grob, Iria Scripser and John Walz back in school with us. Douglas Vogel, Dale Thomas, Mary Belle Lantis are still ill.

Iria Scripser and Martha Stevens visited Toledo during Thanksgiving. Lee Wyatt, Donald Baldwin, Ruth Fox went to Detroit. We hope everybody had a pleasant Thanksgiving.

Willow Run Access System of Divided Lane Highways

Lansing—Not a single intersection, traffic light, nor railroad crossing is included in the first link of the Detroit Industrial Expressway connecting the Willow Run area with metropolitan Detroit, State Highway Commissioner G. Donald Kennedy announced today.

A portion of Section 2 of the Expressway was opened for traffic this week. It extends between Hamman Road and Middle Belt Road. Completion date for the entire 11.5 mile section is set for December 15.

Providing adequate highway facilities for the transportation of men and materials from Detroit to the bomber plant, the highway will serve as an outlet to the access road system recently built around three sides of the Willow Run plant.

The Willow Run access system of divided lane highways, two tri-level road separations and two other grade separations, makes it possible for works to leave the main roads and drive directly into their parking lots.

No intersections, railroad crossings, pedestrian crossings, nor other hazards remain to impede their movements.

Built in the war era to serve an emergency need, the Expressway is now between Hamman and Southfield planned to tie in with the proposed Detroit-Crosstown Expressway and eventually become part of the Detroit-Chicago interregional expressway, which will afford a speedy means of transportation for trucks and passenger cars between those cities.

According to Kennedy, the portion of the highway now completed contains no reinforcing steel in its concrete slabs. By substituting less vitally needed materials, all structures have been stripped of the last ounce of steel or metal that could be replaced.

Michigan's first continuous limited access highway has a high design speed with interchanges all of the directional type. This means that traffic can turn either right or left without sharp intersections. Also, a driver wishing to turn left can do so without having to complete a circle to the right first, and vice versa.

So that part of Section 2 could be opened to traffic this week, before heavy snows and freezing weather delayed paving operations, one of the greatest concentrations of men and equipment ever assembled for a road job has been working at top speed since construction started. During a typical week last month, 250 skilled men, 483 unskilled workers, 238 trucks, 40 large shovels and 31 mixers were working on this section of the limited access highway.

War Department certification for Section 2 of the Expressway was received in February. Contracts totaling approximately $4,500,000 have since been approved. The Federal Government, under the Defense Highway Act, pays 75 per cent of the costs other than right-of-way, which is paid by the state.

The Expressway is being built on a minimum 300-foot right-of-way with two 12-foot lanes, or 24 feet of concrete pavement for both east and west bound traffic. Traffic flowing in opposite directions is separated by broad dividing strips which are 140 feet in minimum width. Grade separations carry the roadway either over or under all streets and other crossings that must be kept open. Thirteen road and two railroad separations are required on this section to eliminate all cross traffic. In general, all Expressway traffic is carried at a grade 3 to 4 feet above ground level, with cross traffic passing under the road.

The Expressway has wide, stabilized shoulders and flat slopes throughout except immediately adjacent to structures. Planning provisions were made for future widening.

Kennedy said that an extension of the Expressway from Southfield Road, passing the Ford River Rouge plant to Michigan avenue at the Detroit city limits, is slated for completion by next summer.

THE HOME FRONT IN MICHIGAN

With news from the fighting fronts far better than seemed possible a few months ago, it would be nothing short of disastrous to lose a major battle on the home front. Yet that very danger confronts us. Bluntly, this battle is the drive to save our rubber-borne transportation system from collapse at a time when it must carry a staggering but necessary war load.

In some parts of the country—Michigan included—agitation has spread against gasoline rationing. Opponents of this rubber-conserving program plead that gasoline is plentiful, that people are observing the 35-mile speed limit. Slow driving, tire inspection and car sharing—all are good, but they emphatically are not enough to insure an adequate supply of wartime tires. Unless every possible measure is taken at once to save tires, up to one-half of the nation's desperately needed passenger automobiles will be laid up by next April.

The Baruch rubber committee, which had full access to the facts and had the confidence of the American people, stated simply and emphatically: Early adoption of nation-wide gasoline rationing, as an absolute check on unnecessary driving, is essential to tire saving. Tires on civilian cars are wearing down at a rate eight times greater than they are being replaced.

This nation's battle against high living costs, in spite of occasional setbacks, has made progress. Price control measures have saved American families about $5,000,000,000 (eight and a half billion) this year, and next year—if present lines can be held—the saving will amount to $15,500,000,000 (fifteen and a half billion). But these huge savings can only be made possible by complete cooperation among the buying public, retailers, wholesalers, and manufacturers and other producers, including farmers.

Shirt tails have become a war casualty. The War Production Board has ordered two to three inches clipped from the length of new men's and boys' shirts made after December 15. More than 10,000,000 additional shirts will be manufactured from the material saved.

Here's a good hunch on gasoline rationing! By properly endorsing your ration coupons at once, you will avoid the inconvenience of having to do so when you buy gasoline at the service station. Also, this advance measure will help protect your ration book from possible misuse in the case of loss or theft. The Office of Price Administration points out that it is not necessary for ration holders to wait until they buy gasoline before endorsing coupons. So write your name on the back of your coupons immediately.

Every city and cross-roads town in Michigan and the nation will be combed for skilled men and women who are needed on war jobs. Chairman Paul McNutt of the War Manpower Commission has instructed U. S. Employment Service offices to make every effort to persuade workers to shift from peace-time jobs to work in war production plants. Many occupational scarcities of labor have developed.

Boys and girls; take good care of your toys. The War Production Board has ruled that no more toys, games or repair or replacement parts for toys and games may be produced that contain certain metals and other critical war materials. Even the use of metal, plastic and cork for fishing tackle is forbidden.

DOTS AND DASHES—School children who work on farms have been made eligible by OPA for purchase of bicycles needed for transportation between school and home and farm. The December quota of new passenger automobiles for rationing in Michigan is 1,601... construction of a sound and comfortable family dwelling is still possible under restrictions imposed by war housing standards; the National Housing Agency has announced.

Keep an eye out for any old jalopies in vacant lots in your neighborhood and report them to your nearest salvage chairman... these old junkers are needed badly in war production... a big "jalopy round-up" will be in progress throughout Michigan until December 15.

Standing Pat "Standing pat" originated in draw poker and similar games when the player rats his hand to show that he does not wish to draw additional cards. The expression came straight from the card table.

Over the Top by New Year's Is the Plea of Secretary Morgenthau

November 13, 1942

As of today twenty-one million American workers are investing eight per cent of their salary—every pay day—in United States War Savings Bonds. This is a very remarkable tribute to our armed forces who are fighting this war. But this job is only two-thirds accomplished.

There are nine million additional American workers who are not investing in War Bonds every pay day.

This appeal is directed to two groups of Americans:

First—the twenty-one million people who are investing eight per cent of their wages. We ask them to increase their investment to ten per cent or more.

Second—the other nine million whom we ask to join the Payroll Savings Plan and to invest ten per cent or more of their earnings.

It is our earnest hope here at the Treasury Department that by New Year's Day thirty million Americans will be investing ten per cent or more of their wages in War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Henry Morgenthau Jr.
SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY

Gallup Poll Reveals War Bond Percentage

Washington, D. C.—A recent survey by the Gallup poll revealed that 78 per cent of Americans have bought War Bonds or Stamps.

Reporters for the poll asked a representative cross-section of the voting population this question:

"Do you happen to have bought any war bonds or stamps?"

The result was:

Yes 78 per cent
No 22 per cent

Dr. George H. Gallup, head of the Institute of Public Opinion, said the findings were splendid testimony to the effectiveness of the Treasury Department's War Savings Campaign.

Seeking the answer to the failure of one out of every five adult Americans to buy War Bonds or Stamps, Dr. Gallup made a further study and found that two large segments of the population—the lower income group and farmers—are responsible for this situation.

Following is a table comparing the purchase by the various groups:

	Have Bought	Have Not Bought
Middle Income and Well-to-do	90%	10%
Lower Income Group	63%	37%
Farm	71%	29%
Cities (10,000 or over)	81%	19%

A breakdown of the bond and stamp purchases by occupations reveals that the professional man, the businessman and the white-collar workers are well ahead of other occupational groups in their bond and stamp buying.

Here is the comparison by occupations:

	Have Bought	Have Not Bought
Professional	92%	8%
Businessmen	88%	12%
Whit-collar Workers	88%	12%

Skilled and Semi-Skilled 78% 22%

Unskilled and Service Workers 65% 35%

Furthermore, some sections of the country are far better bond and stamp buyers than the others. The East Central section, comprising Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan, is highest on the list, in the relative proportion who have bought bonds or stamps, 81 per cent of the voting adults having bought bonds or stamps in this area. The New England, Middle Atlantic and West Central areas are next, with 79 per cent holding bonds or stamps. Next comes the mountain area and the far west, with 78 per cent. The south stands lowest in the sectional groupings, with 66 per cent of the voting population having bought bonds and stamps.

Houses Bombproof

Houses built in dry, warm caves 12 miles southwest of Birmingham are bombproof, and the dwellers defy Nazi raiders. The caves were built for all sorts of queer people in a long ridge of sandstone known as Kniver Edge. In the last century a builder turned them into houses. The fronts were built of rough stone and the parts of the roofs projecting from the front of the caves were covered with heavy stone slabs. The houses were approved by building inspectors, and so came into existence the village of Enville. The back part of these houses are as perfectly bombproof as any subway station in London.

Stationary Traveler The equivalent of 250,000 miles in five years' normal operation is traveled by the compressor motor of an electric refrigerator.

Pearl Harbor Attack
War Bond Drive Dec. 7

Monday, Dec. 7, will be the first anniversary of the cowardly attack on this nation by the Japanese.

Frank N. Isbey, chairman of the U. S. Treasury Michigan War Savings committee, is asking the citizens of the state to remember Pearl Harbor in a substantial way—by buying an extra United States War Bond with the commemorative date of Dec. 7, 1942. No matter what the denomination of the bond from $25 to $100,000, if enough people in Michigan buy this one extra bond, it will hasten the ultimate Victory of the arms of our nation.

Arrangements are being made for all War Bond issuing agents in the state or acted to the request by the purchaser and date any War Bond purchased between December 1 and December 7, 1942, with the validating stamp dated December 7, 1942. All that the bond purchaser will have to do is to mark his application, "Pearl Harbor Commemorative Bond."

At the offices of the Michigan War Savings Staff, Mr. Isbey stated: "I know of no better manner in which the civilian army on the home front can answer the treacherous attack of the Japanese than by buying one extra War Bond to commemorate the deeds of those who died that Sunday morning at Pearl Harbor. This War Bond should be an extra bond to those that the people are already buying. We were attacked at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941, but on December 7, 1942, we'll let the Japs and the Germans know that we are wide awake. I hope that everyone in Michigan will do their utmost to buy an extra War Bond to 'Remember Pearl Harbor.' Let's make that phrase mean more than just the opening line of a song. Let it go down in history with 'Remember the Alamo' and 'Remember the Maine'—as our cry of Victory."

Air Scouting Increases
Throughout The County

Many of the Scout Troops in this county are beginning to include Air Scouting in their program, according to a report made by Scout Executive Walter MacPeck.

Eventually separate groups of Air Scouts—boys 15 years of age and over—will be organized, but already Air Scout emphasis is in effect in many troops.

Any Tenderfoot Scout may qualify for the rank of Tenderfoot Air Scout candidate by presenting an acceptable model airplane which he has made and submitting a list of ten safety practices relating to aviation. He is then entitled to wear the Two-Blade Propeller beneath his Tenderfoot badge. A Second Class Air Scout candidate wears the Three-Blade Propeller as a recognition of having earned the Merit Badges of Aeronautics, Airplane Structure and Weather. The First Class Air Scout candidate wears the Four-Blade Propeller as evidence of having qualified for Merit Badges in Aerodynamics, Airplane Design, Mechanical Drawing or Electricity, and Signaling or Radio.

When the Scout is 15, he may become an Air Scout and advance in the Air Scout program. He starts as an Apprentice Air Scout, advances to Observer, then Craftsman and then Ace by meeting certain requirements.

Winter is coming!
We all have to face the driving hazards brought on by the ice and snow, so let's study the report on special problems of winter driving (increased by war conditions) issued by the National Safety Council thru its Committee on Winter Driving Hazards.

The following are nine specific winter traffic problems:

1. Snow and ice cause traffic delays and accidents for the unwary.
2. The war program requires winter maintenance of heretofore secondary roads that now are direct routes to industrial plants, military camps, and other defense centers.
3. The need for speed and promptness in deliveries.
4. An increasing number of motorized military convoys which must get through in all kinds of weather.
5. The normal winter travel drop is likely to be less this winter due to war necessity.
6. More night traffic as a result of night shifts in industry and increased highway transportation.
7. Expanded industry means more drivers with little winter driving experience.
8. Increased travel means more exposure to accidents, an ominous fact in winter when motor vehicle death rates are at or near their peak.
9. Fewer new vehicles and the increased demand for transportation have lowered the general condition of vehicles (this is especially important in winter).

Follow up on this. Next week I will write on how to offset the added hazards of winter driving.

Citrus Hybrids
Some of the citrus hybrids are: the tangemon, which is the offspring of the lemon and mandarin; the tangor, whose parents are an orange and a mandarin; the tangelo, whose ancestors are grapefruit and mandarin; the orangelo, born of grapefruit and orange; the oramon, from the lemon and orange; and the lemo, from the grapefruit and lemon. One of the most successful products of crosses has been the tangelo. The most likely to succeed variety of tangelo has juice like that of a grapefruit, and looks and smells like a mandarin. It is resistant to disease.

Pygmies in America?
The late Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, noted scientist, claimed that there existed in North America about the middle of the Pliocene period, a high form of Anthropoid, to which he gave the name Hesperopithecus.

Great Indian migrations of prehistoric times, shown on mapped illustrations of the Smithsonian Institution, might have some bearing on the race of people from which this specimen came. Those maps reveal the routes by which prehistoric tribes marched for generations from west of the Mississippi toward the Atlantic ocean, pioneering in exactly the opposite direction taken by the whites.

The dingo is the only living wild dog of our present era. Its habitat is Australia, but facts have been established to show that it was brought to that continent, rather than having found its ancestral origin there.

A REAL CHRISTMAS

By Vera Ashton

"O. H. lookit, lookit, Jimmie. Doesn't it look like a real baby? Just 'magine it's for me!" And little Sally's face was radiant with the imagined joy.

"Ah, that's nothing but a doll! You girls!" and Johnnie's nose turned up with disgust. "If you're lookin', just lookit that!" and he pointed to a scooter that leaned proudly against the wall in the show window. "That's what Santa Claus has picked out for me." And Johnnie's eyes shone.

A well-dressed man standing near them heard the words, and looked curiously at the ragged children. As he saw his wife approaching, the children started on, but not before he heard the boy say to his sister, "It's no use 'magining anything this year. Aunt Meg doesn't even have a chimney for Santa to crawl down, and he probably doesn't even know that daddy and mother aren't here any more," and his brave little lip quivered.

The man turned to his wife, who had just reached him. "Madge, look at that window."

But her voice was shrill with a hysterical grief, as she exclaimed: "Oh, Phil, I can't look at those toys. You know I can't. When little Elsie is dead, and we have no one to make Christmas for."

"But Madge, that's what I mean. We have someone to make a Christmas for. See those kids there, just going round the corner? They are the Mayne children, whose father and mother were killed in that factory fire last month. They're living with their aunt, who already has four children of her own, and her husband is only working part time since the fire." He said no more but watched his wife anxiously.

Her look of grief turned slowly to one of questioning and then pleasure.

"We'll do it!" she exclaimed in glad tones.
"I heard them tell each other what they wanted," Phil said joyously.

So on Christmas morning Sally and Johnnie were surprised to have an auto drive up in front of their Aunt Meg's house, and have a fine big man ask them to go home with him to dinner. And there, when they had taken off their coats and hats, they found a lovely Christmas tree with a beautiful doll and a perfectly grand scooter, and a new suit for Johnnie and a dress for Sally which made her dress sparkle with joy.

"We don't want you to go home," Mrs. Vignars said when the children began to talk about having to go after the dinner of turkey and cranberry sauce and all the fixings. "We want you to stay, don't we Phil?"

"Indeed we do, for we need a little boy and girl in our house," Phil Vignars replied, with a happy smile on his face. And he added, under his breath, as he gave his wife a mighty hug, "This is a real Christmas. Madge, I'm glad that there was plenty of room at this inn."

Antituberculosis Seals

Sold in Forty Nations

Besides the United States, more than 40 different countries throughout the world now have, or have had, Christmas seals or stamps that are sold wholly or partially for tuberculosis work. Little did Elmer Holboell realize, when he conceived that first Danish Christmas seal, launched in 1904, that his simple idea would in a generation circle the globe.

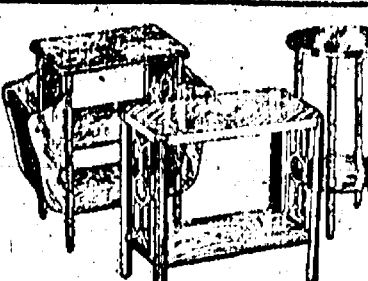

Claiming the honor of having originated the Christmas seal sale, Denmark has, with its neighboring country, Sweden, held seal sales annually since 1904. In the United States, seal sales began in 1907.
Up to 1934, the sale of Christmas seals in the United States alone totaled $75,000,000, all of which has been devoted to the control of tuberculosis.
