Nurses Are Offered "Refresher" Courses

A war-time shortage of nurses in rural areas may be met by action of the Michigan Department of Health in arranging a six weeks' refresher course for inactive public health nurses. First two weeks, with enrolled nurses gathered in Lansing, will be a lecture period with emphasis placed on emergency adaptation of public health nursing procedures in communicable disease control, including tuberculosis and venereal disease, maternal and child health and school nursing, to be followed by a minimum of one month of training in the field with organized health departments.

Nurses' living expenses will be defrayed during the training period. Applicants without previous public health nursing experience may be enrolled if they have had acceptable training or experience.

The course will open next month and those nurses who complete it will be placed with health departments in rural areas.

Headaches In Store For New Administration

New Taxes And Reduced Expenditures Present Problems

By Gene Allaman

Two interesting alternatives face Michigan's new administration: First, imposition of new state taxes to meet an anticipated fall in state revenues during the next fiscal year starting July 1, 1943.

Second, reduction of state expenditures by legislative and executive curtailment or elimination of "less essential" public services.

Somebody is bound to be hurt. And, furthermore, political alibis will be hard to conjure. Republicans possess overwhelming control of both houses of the legislature. Only one state elective office—state highway commissioner—remains at the capital today, and the Grand Old Party can't logically pass the buck to him.

The two alternatives, just presented, are based on the assumption that World War II is going to affect state sales tax collecting adversely in 1943 and 1944.

Washington officials, who seem to jump periodically from over-optimism to dire doom, have warned that our 1943 economy will decline to the 1932 low level. And all that despite soaring pay rolls which are flushing the purses of workingmen and women. Privately, several secretaries of Michigan trade associations are forecasting a definite slump in sales. War priorities will hit the hardware, lumber and drug store business, they concede, when present stocks in many lines of merchandise are exhausted.

One hopeful sign in the state revenue sky is the memory of World War I when industrial workers insisted on spending money, even for $6 silk shirts. This philosophy of war-time spending goes something like this: After a depression drouth when people were frustrated from the pleasure of luxuries and non-essentials, you can't expect wage-earners to resist the temptation in 1943 when pay checks are bigger than ever and Washington (Continued on page two)

Death Takes Dr. Faye Palmer, Local Dentist

Dr. Faye Palmer, veteran of World War I and prominent citizen of this village, died suddenly Monday evening while returning from a meeting of the Chelsea Kiwanis club to his home, 164 Park street. His body was found in front of the J. W. Haselswerdt residence, where he had expired as the result of a heart attack.

Dr. Palmer was born Nov. 14, 1877, in Waterloo township, the son of James and Manda (Clark) Palmer. He graduated from Chelsea high school with the class of '09.

After completing a course at the University of Michigan Dental college in 1906, he opened a dental office in Grass Lake, but left to join the army as a member of the Michigan National Guards, during which time he was stationed at Waco, Texas. He enlisted in World War I, was made 2nd Lieutenant and later was promoted to the rank of 1st Lieutenant of Co. B, 126th Michigan Gun Battalion, 32nd Division of the Red Arrow.

He spent two years overseas and was engaged in battles at Chateau Thierry, Belleau Wood and in the Meuse Argonne sectors.

Dr. Palmer had been a resident of Chelsea since 1920, when he opened a dental office here. He was a member of the Washtenaw County Selective Service Board; was a former Commander of Herbert J. McKune Post, No. 31, the American Legion; a charter member and past president of the Chelsea Kiwanis club; a past patron of Olive Chapter, 108, O. E. S.; a member of the Methodist church and of the official board of the church, and a member of the Michigan Dental Association. He also was affiliated with Excelsior Lodge No. 116, F. & A. M., Grass Lake.

Dr. Palmer was married in Chelsea on Dec. 27, 1922, and is survived by the widow, Blanche; a daughter, Mrs. John V. Copren, and a grandson, John V. Copren, Jr. of San Francisco, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Harold Brown of Riverside, Calif., and a brother, Reuben Palmer of Fairmont, Minn.

Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at the Methodist church with Rev. Bert Ede officiating. Burial will take place in Oak Grove cemetery. Stores will close during the services, from 2 to 3 o'clock.

Headaches In Store For New Administration

Insists the war might continue for many years.
Consequently, some wage-earners are going to spend money even if it is for goods or services which they otherwise normally would not demand.
Liquor sales are soaring. Beer taverns and night clubs are crowded. Youth is enjoying another "last fling." Juvenile delinquency is mounting everywhere.

If this pattern of war-time living is going to prevail, then actual spending will be maintained regardless of restrictions. The state will get its share in taxes. Do you agree?

Because elections are often won on the basis of campaign promises, legislators may not relish the prospect of going to Lansing and cutting "non-essential" expenditures to the bone. And you can't blame them greatly at that.

The two-year term of a Michigan governor doesn't help matters either, for the governor is only human in hoping he may please enough voters to merit re-election in 22 months. Pleasing one voter by offending another is often the price of economy.
It merely emphasizes that economy in government is easier to talk about, and to write about, than to accomplish.

Some students of government are ready to concede that all this talk of government economy is a childish waste of time. Their argument runs as follows:
Our machine-age has caught us in a trap.

When someone invents a labor-saving machine which automatically will harvest sugar beets, for example, replacing human labor such as a Colorado inventor insists he has achieved, government must provide for the workers thus displaced.

And the argument continues by pointing out that social security, as we now understand it in the United States, is only a modest beginning of what is to come.

Bismarck introduced social security to Germany as a cure for socialism back in the 1880's. More than a half century ago Germany established a national system of accident insurance, sickness insurance and old-age pensions.

Back in 1908 the British government provided for old age pensions with compulsory deductions from pay of workers and earnings of employers.

In 1911 the British authorized state health insurance on a contributory basis, and followed it up in 1912 with unemployment compensations for 50 per cent of all the working population. It is estimated that one-third of the housing in England is government-financed.

And all this 20 years before F.D.R.
The advocates of state socialism, either on a basis of being inevitable or desirable, point with satisfaction to a report just submitted to British parliament by Sir William Beveridge.

Among many benefits, the Beveridge plan would create a state system of insurance for the public, offering a variety of policies at low premiums. The state would extend security to the individual from birth to death with maternal to burial payments also on a "pay in advance" basis such as we now have for old age pensions.

As Sir Beveridge sees it, here is the answer to "freedom from want" as proclaimed in the Atlantic charter. Obviously it has a tremendous propaganda value to the man and woman who are sacrificing heavily to win the war. Whereas the last war was motivated by that paradox of ideas—a war to end war—this conflict would offer the appeal of a war to secure individual freedoms.

Former President Herbert Hoover, addressing the manufacturers in annual session in New York City recently, called attention to the following change.

In the last war we trained and equipped six million men of whom we transported two million overseas, all of this being accomplished by a Washington bureaucracy numbering 425,000 persons.

In today's war, we have trained around four million men, of whom less than one million are understood to be overseas, while the federal bureaucracy is a veritable army in itself, more than 2,000,000 persons.

As Hoover sees it, the government is top-heavy. But, of course, many things have happened since 1918.

Every time a new public service is authorized, whether it be public welfare or unemployment compensation, government assumes a new obligation. More persons are needed to provide for the new benefits.

This trend has been clearly evident in all recent state administrations, Democratic and Republican.

New the question arises—Can the 1943-45 state administration in Michigan halt the swing? Will the voters back at home favor curtailments in services which have brought new benefits into their lives? Can state aid to local government be reduced? We don't envy the responsibility of the Michigan state legislators and state officials is wrestling with the problem. It's a tough nut to crack.

THIEVES STEAL GAS
Chelsea has a mean thief—a gasoline thief. Sometime during Saturday night thieves took five gallons of gas from the car of Robert Winans of Lambertville. The car was parked at the home of Mr. Winans' father-in-law, George Goodell on Lincoln street. The theft of the gasoline works rather a hardship on the Winans' as their daughter was a patient in the U. of M. hospital in Ann Arbor the past week and it is necessary to take her to the hospital for treatment. Persons who take gas from cars evidently want a little pleasure riding.

Red Cross News
Red Cross in Military and Naval Service
Fifteen years ago, Calvin Coolidge said that the Red Cross was the only organization he knew of that did good by looking for trouble. That is as true now as it was then. At present the Red Cross is engaged in the greatest war service program in its history.
The first duty of the Red Cross, according to the terms of its Congressional Charter, is to aid soldiers and sailors and their families in times of sickness and trouble. This follows closely the spirit of its inception; the compassion of the young Swiss who gathered helpers about him and ministered to the wounded of both armies as he repeated the words: "men are brothers" laying the foundation for the organization later to be known as Red Cross.
The well able-bodied soldier has comparatively little occasion to come in contact with the Red Cross. The moment that he, or members of his family are sick or in trouble, the Red Cross is ready and able to serve. This organization is the official social service agency of soldiers and sailors and their families.
Red Cross Nurses are on duty in every Army and Navy hospital. The Red Cross maintains a staff of competent medical technologists for service in these hospitals. It furnishes occupational therapy equipment, as well as professional instruction for its use, for crippled and convalescent patients, thus contributing to rehabilitation and recovery. Its trained medical and social workers are on duty in all its hospitals. It provides recreational equipment and trained recreational workers for all recreational buildings erected and operated in conjunction with military and naval hospitals. In this field, it is one of the world's greatest motion picture film exhibitors.
There are twelve types of social service specifically requested by the military and naval authorities and incorporated into Army and Navy regulations. Among these the Red Cross:
Aids service men's families in the event they have lost their earning capacities or have exhausted their resources until they can become self-supporting again.
Sends communications and food packages and clothing to prisoners of war.
Serves as the connecting link between the service men on active duty and their folks back home, thus maintaining the morale of both.
Prepares, presents, and prosecutes claims for compensation, insurance, and other benefits to which an injured service man, discharged with a disability, is entitled.
Provides assistance similar to the above to the survivors of a service man who has been killed, financial aid being extended when necessary until claims are adjusted.
At the present time, Red Cross is handling more than half a million service men's cases a year at an annual cost of more than $36,000,000 a year. Half of every Red Cross dollar is spent on services to the Armed Forces and their families.

Local Defense Topics

Under a new ruling by the Office of Defense Transportation, announced today by Leslie W. Patterson, ODT district manager, operators of commercial truck fleets will be saved a lot of "paper work" in reporting to ODT the day-by-day operations of their individual trucks.

Patterson said that an amendment to ODT General Order No. 21 eliminates the need to enter operating records on the reverse side of Sub-Certificates of War Necessity issued to truck owners. In cases of fleet operators, their weekly summary of mileage, load and gasoline consumption for each truck will be submitted on the master certificate covering the entire fleet.

"The only record that must still be entered on the sub-certificates for individual trucks are the inspection reports," Patterson added.

A streamlined procedure on appeals from commercial motor vehicle operators who consider their mileage and fuel allotments provided in ODT Certificates of War Necessity to be inadequate was announced today.

Leslie W. Patterson, district manager for the Office of Defense Transportation, in making the announcement, said also that farmers and other commercial motor vehicle operators whose ODT certificates do not allow sufficient gasoline for essential operations will be given enough gasoline to meet their needs through Jan. 31. Patterson, whose office is located at the Boulevard Building, Detroit, made the following announcement: "Certificates of War Necessity have been issued for the bulk of the state's trucks, buses, taxicabs and other commercial motor vehicles. However, a number of the original applications did not contain sufficient information for ODT to determine with reasonable accuracy the mileage requirements of the operators.

"In such cases, certificates were issued bearing mileage and fuel allowances designed to tide the operators over until additional information could be obtained through appeals and new or supplemental certificates issued. This procedure was necessary because in most cases there was not sufficient time to obtain the necessary additional information from the operators.

"In order to facilitate the issuance of the new or supplemental certificates to bring mileage and fuel allowances into line with the actual needs of the operators, all appeals will be handled by our ODT district office.

"Farmers wishing to appeal for additional allotments should file their appeals through the farm transportation committees of their U. S. Department of Agriculture County War Board. Other operators should file appeals directly with the ODT district office. These appeals may be filed immediately. The original instructions requiring that the appeals be withheld for 30 days are now cancelled."

THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME this Christmas Day!

Home is a long way from our men fighting in the jungles of Guadalcanal and the sands of Tunisia—yet not too far for thoughts and hopes to travel on Christmas Day. But millions of other young men in uniform are closer to the ones they love and the places they want to be—near enough for fleeting visits home before they are called to far battlefields.

Men on leave deserve first call on transportation—and get it. But because gasoline rationing for private motor cars has added so greatly to the civilian need for Greyhound service, the cooperation of every traveler is more important now than ever before. You will find it more comfortable to take your trip before the heaviest Holiday rush—and to return after it's over. Voluntarily saving a bus seat for a soldier or sailor the week before Christmas—that's the American way. At the same time, you'll be aiding the buses to carry as many as possible of those who have reason to travel—both military and civilian.

To help our boys get home, many of us can easily stay home during the Christmas rush season!

A few suggestions for wartime travel: go on mid-week days whenever possible—avoid holidays and rush periods—take less baggage than usual—get tickets and information in advance.)

SEE AMERICA NOW SO YOU CAN SEE AMERICA LATER
GREYHOUND LINES

You Came Down the Longest Assembly Line on Earth

YOU go roaring into battle . . . a huge monster . . . the deadliest engine of destruction that ever crawled over the earth!

A year ago the railroads began assembling the materials of your being—the rich, red ore of the Mesabi range . . . a mountain of limestone . . . scrap iron from a thousand small-town junk heaps.

Your steel came hissing hot from the mills—in billets, blooms and slabs—and was fanned out by rail to processing plants from coast to coast.

Back you came in pieces—tens of thousands of them—from five-ton hunks of armor plate to delicate hair-springs light as a feather.

Your engine from the East—your tracks from Cleveland—your copper wiring from upstate New York—your guns from the government arsenal.

You moved down the longest assembly line on earth—the railroads of America—then by rail again to the docks, swaddled in grease, with a sign chalked on your side—Bound for North Africa.

Vital war goods . . . troops on active duty . . . members of the armed forces on furlough . . . men and women engaged in essential war activities . . . all must be transported in ever-increasing volume in the months that lie ahead.

Above all else—the war transportation demands of our country must be served. To this limit of capacity remaining, the railroads will spare no effort to meet the travel requirements of the general public. But it will not be possible at all times to meet these requirements fully.

Steel is not available for new passenger cars . . . so the present fleet must suffice for the travel needs of all.

The continued understanding and acceptance of this limitation by the American public is one more way in which it may patriotically contribute to winning the war.

THE HOME FRONT IN MICHIGAN

Estimates of Uncle Sam's production of combat armament in 1942 assure Mr. and Mrs. Michigan that any trouble and inconvenience caused by cutting of civilian goods and services will be rewarded. By the end of 1943 the United States, alone, will produce almost as great a volume of fighting weapons as all the rest of the world combined. The United Nations already are producing twice as much as the Axis.

A greater war effort will mean less food and consumer items in coming months—but those items that are available will be distributed as evenly and fairly as possible. After the first of the year the new "point" system of rationing will start for rationing certain commodities not yet announced. The system will not replace straight coupon rationing of sugar, gasoline and coffee. It will be used only for groups of related or similar commodities.

Santa Claus—and all the kids in Michigan—got a break the other day when three governmental agencies ruled that no restrictions will be imposed this year upon the production, distribution and sale of Christmas trees. But the kids, and their mothers and fathers, will have to do without chocolate Santa Clauses, St. Valentine's hearts, Easter bunnies and eggs and other chocolate novelties. The War Production Board is prohibiting their manufacture after Dec. 15 because of the shortage of imported cocoa beans from which chocolate is made.

By the way, if you can't always buy your favorite candy bar, it's because soldiers need candy when they go to war. The soldiers' "extreme emergency" food package, Ration D, for example, contains hard chocolate and sugar—lots of body fuel, little bulk.

Everybody soon will have to stretch their chewing gum a little further. Chewing gum chewers must cut down about 130 sticks per year because the boys in service are using more than they did when in civilian life and the sugar shortage has prevented an increase in output. However, the available supply is almost what it was in 1941—an all-time record year for gum chewers.

The Michigan fishing industry must exert every effort to increase current and future production in spite of all dislocations caused by the war, according to Harold L. Ickes, Secretary of the Interior and Coordinator of Fisheries. He explains there is now a vital need for every possible pound of fresh, frozen, canned and otherwise preserved fishery product.

Farmers and other Michigan commercial motor vehicle operators whose Office of Defense Transportation certificates of war necessity do not provide enough gasoline for essential operations will be given sufficient gasoline to meet their needs through Jan. 31, pending the issuance of corrected certificates.

War workers are advised to make Christmas day a holiday, if possible, because there have been no other full holidays in war production since the fight for freedom began. However, the WPB has announced that war factories would be expected to observe normal working schedules on New Year's Day.

DOTS AND DASHES: Men in the U. S. armed forces abroad can now send gifts of souvenirs to the value of $50 back home duty free... only about half of the excess tires motorists are turning in are usable or can be made serviceable by repairs and re-cappings... 3,500,000 volunteers are now doing Red Cross work... heavy cream has been made available for persons on special diets and for hospitals... our boys in Africa have the help of tens of thousands of among the most feared and effective soldiers of modern warfare... the dreaded Senegalese who come from the land of battling Siki in French West Africa... wartime burdens on transportation—and on the postal service make it more necessary than ever that you do your Christmas mailing early... more coal and wood-burning stoves are being made available for those who want to change over from fuel oil heating equipment.

Standings table with columns W, L, T. Cassidy 2, Spring 1, Kimunity 1, Fibre 1, Federal 1, Dexter 0.

In the first game last Thursday evening Kimunity proved themselves the team to beat as they defeated Federal by the score of 54 to 15. The passing of B. Miller was just too much for the Federal boys to stop.

In the second game Fibre met a fellow named R. Streets who paved the way for Spring in their 22 to 0 victory. This was by far the best and most exciting game of the night.

In the final game Cassidy made it two in a row as they defeated Dexter 37 to 29. Lack of reserves caused Dexter much trouble, but they were in there fighting all the time.

The following games are scheduled for tonight, Dec. 17: Spring vs. Federal at 7:00. Dexter vs. Kimunity at 8:00. Fibre vs. Cassidy at 9:00.

Safety for Farm Roofs Sparks lighting on combustible roofs are one of the eight major causes of farm fires in the United States even in peacetime. In war-bombers may attempt to set wheat-fields or woodlands ablaze, the danger of air-borne sparks is even greater. To protect his family and his vital produce against this menace, every farmer should see that the roofs of all his farm buildings are covered with some fire-resistant material.

Blood Bank Unit Set Up In Chelsea Tuesday

The first Blood Bank to be set up in Chelsea on December 16 was most successful. The Detroit Unit conveyed all materials to our headquarters at the Methodist church. In the unit were fourteen workers—one a doctor and the remaining personnel consisted of trained volunteer assistants. To these people under the direction of Mrs. Kent-Walworth, the local canteen unit planned and served a hot luncheon upon their arrival from Detroit, also a lunch upon completion of their work at 5 o'clock. The canteen volunteers served orange juice to the Blood Donors previous to their donation and sandwiches with a beverage following each completion.

The Detroit unit demonstrated to the local nurses who were assisting, the form and function of the Dry Plasma obtained from the blood of volunteer donors. This information, in turn, was relayed to the local donors that they might be fully informed as to the efficiency of the blood donation.

One hundred and nineteen pints of blood were obtained from our local volunteers. The plan had been so thoroughly handled by efficient committees with the cooperation of local factory chairmen that the functioning of the visiting Blood Bank was easily and systematically worked out.

The Detroit unit was most satisfied with Chelsea's response in effort and execution both from the volunteer workers and the blood donors. Another Blood Bank will be set up in the near future and those who were not taken care of on December 15 will have an opportunity of volunteering their services at the later date.

The thanks of the local Red Cross unit is expressed to all who participated in its first Blood Bank.

Resolutions 'Silly,' Psychiatrist Says New Year's resolutions are just a bit silly in the opinion of Dr. Francis J. Gerty, professor of psychiatry at Loyola university. He believes that a person who makes resolutions is something of an exhibitionist in addition to being quite childish. "And moreover," he adds, "he probably won't carry it out anyway."

Dr. Gerty asserts that New Year's resolutions have little value. "I don't think resolutions are the best method of curbing our little difficulties and correcting ourselves. The best method is giving some thought to what causes our troubles and trying to correct them rationally. "People must remember there are human limitations. Humans can't be perfect. They should do the best they can without straining, for the minute they strain, as they do with New Year's resolutions, they make a botch of their efforts."

Children especially should not be encouraged to make resolutions in his opinion. "A child should be taught to do the best job he can at all times and not save his difficulties for one particular time and tear them up by one superhuman effort that is almost sure to fail."

Obtain Bond Pledges

December 7th marked the first anniversary of our forced entry into the present world conflict, a date we will long remember in the history of our nation. A certain group of pupils in our school decided to do something about this day. They set out as a group to sell or obtain pledges for as many War Stamps and War Bonds as possible. As we all know they obtained pledges for over $2600.00 in bonds outside the school and sold nearly $500.00 in stamps and bonds at the school. This group was instrumental in selling over $3000.00 in stamps and bonds in one day. We might argue that a certain percent of this money would have been spent for the purchase of stamps and bonds regardless of the drive, but it is very likely that a good share of the money would have been used for other things.

The results of the drive show very clearly what can be accomplished if a group has the leadership and initiative to do a certain job. The rest of us might well take heed of this example. We have a big job to do in this world before civilians can again live peacefully and only through such united efforts can we expect to do the job.

Girls Defeat Pinckney

In their first basketball game of the season the Chelsea girls captained by Helen Grawbowski defeated the girls from Pinckney with a 13-5 score. After the first quarter the game was "fast and furious" with Lyons of Chelsea topping scoring with eight points. Lucht and Schweinfurth accounted for two points each and Lehman for one. For Pinckney, Gallagher and Craft each scored two points and Read made a free throw.

The members of the Chelsea squad are: Helen Grawbowski, G. (captain); Margaret Feldkamp, G.; Eleanor Harper, G.; Virginia Spaulding, G.; Marie Winter, G.; Elaine Schmidt, G.; Marilyn Lyons, F.; Wilma Schweinfurth, F.; Virginia Lucht, F.; Irma Brueckner, F.; Evelyn Lehman, F.; Helen Loeffler, F.; Ruth Paul, F.; June Vail, F.

Class News

Freshmen
A class meeting was held Wednesday and because the Freshmen were put in charge of the pep meeting, it was discussed and a committee was appointed to plan it.

Sophomores
This year the Sophomores are to have charge of the school's annual Christmas party. A committee consisting of James Gaunt, Marie Winter and James Gaken was chosen to plan the program. Robert Trinkle will be in charge of the Christmas tree.

As the Sophomores have chosen their rings, the measurements for the rings will be taken sometime this week.

Assembly

Two weeks ago Friday during activity period another boy and girl assembly was held. The girls met in study hall and the boys met in the agriculture room.

The girls discussed some new and different kinds of entertainment for the all-high parties and also the names that are written on the walls of the school building.

At the boys' assembly they took the names of all the boys in school and the time they have study hall. The purpose of this was to enable every boy in high school to participate in the physical fitness program. Mr. Johnson then talked to the boys.

Chorus

The chorus of Chelsea high school will have their Christmas program, "The Wondrous Story" next week Tuesday, December 22. It will be held in the high school gymnasium at 8:00 o'clock. A tableau of the manger scene will be posed by a group of students as the chorus recites the Christmas story in the songs of the cantata.

The tickets for "The Wondrous Story" will be sold by all the chorus members. We hope to make it a great success and the cooperation of everyone is needed.

"Girls At War"

What has been happening! Of course I mean in the girls' basketball practice. It looks more like wrestling to me. Maybe it is a bunch of Americans, Germans and Japs—I am sure it is nothing less than World War III. The girls' ammunition consists of long fingernails and those huge muscles built by Miss McDonald's callisthenics. How about it, Eleanor and Helen?

All of us found out it was all right because it led up to a victory (V) for Chelsea Friday afternoon. Keep up the good work, girls.

Graduates of '43 (?)

Richard John Weir, another local member of the Senior class, is 5 ft. 11 1/2 inches high and weighs 165 lbs. Probably no one knows who this is since everyone calls him Jack. Jack was born in Detroit on July 9, 1925. Before he came to Chelsea he attended Kindie High. Jack likes to hike very much and it isn't unusual to see him walking merrily along nibbling on a pork chop which is his favorite food.

Defeat Pinckney

Chelsea's first team defeated Pinckney's first team 43-32.

The starting team had Modack and Alber as forwards, with Kern and Policht as guards and Kusterer as center.

The game was a very fast one, with scoring rocking back and forth.

Chelsea's team proved superior to their smaller in weight and height opponents.

Chelsea's second team defeated Pinckney 30-7 in a fast game.

Homemaking News

The second and third year girls held a style show in the high school gymnasium last night. The girls' parents were invited and the candle light initiation was held again for them. The girls had previously presented this but the public was not invited.

These last few days of school before Christmas vacation, the girls have been busy making Christmas projects.

Student Council

The matter of visiting other large schools to find out the kind of entertainment they have at parties was discussed and it was decided that we would visit them after school hours.

Latin Club Party

On Wednesday, December 9 a Latin club party was held with 35 members present. The meal was served at 6:30 and after the meal, part of the members played games in the gym, while the rest tried to clean up the Home Ec. room. More noise seemed to be coming from there than from the gym so the clean-up kids must have had a pretty good time too! After the kitchen chores were completed everyone went to the gym to dance. After the dancing there was singing and then the kids all went home after spending an enjoyable evening.

F. F. A.

Joe Merkel exhibited a Hereford steer at the state 4-H livestock show last week. His steer received eleventh place in a class of forty-eight. He sold it for $170, which was above market price.

Charles Downer exhibited three Shropshire lambs which were put in third place. He received $17 for each which is considerably above market price.

Senior News

At the regular monthly class meeting last Wednesday the Seniors elected the Annual staff.

Due to the shortage of candy and gum the Seniors are now selling "John's" anise, popcorn, and green spots.

It was also decided at the class meeting to have blue caps and gowns for graduation.

Hi-Y News

The members of the Hi-Y are planning a parents banquet to be held in January. This may be held with some other organization of our school. There will be a pot-luck dinner after which there is to be a program.

They are also planning an after-the-games dance to be held some time in January.

Athletic Board

The cheer leaders have made a request for new uniforms. The Athletic Board has decided to set aside the proceeds from the Alumni game for the uniforms.

Pep Meeting

The freshmen had a perfect pep meeting last Friday. If you don't believe it ask any freshman. No fooling—it really turned the tide. In fact all three basketball teams brought home victory. The pep meeting consisted of the usual cheers, talks by coaches and the school song.

Defense Council
An auction of War Stamps for the pupils of Chelsea high school will take place Thursday, December 17. There will be prizes awarded for the highest bidders. Each class and club are donating a prize so there will be a good chance for you to get a prize.

Also, there was discussion on whether or not to have a stamp booth put up during the noon hours on Thursday and Fridays.

Home Ec. Club

The girls of the Home Ec. club have selected Dick Lyons as the boy in the service to receive their Christmas box. Dick, who is a staff sergeant in the Medical Corps, is stationed at Pendleton, Oregon. The girls sent the package out last week.

Our Neighbors

BRIGHTON—When the deal was completed last Saturday for the sale of 240 acres by Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Ross to C. H. Reynolds, of Royal Oak, land passed out of Ross ownership which had been in their family for over a century. Mr. and Mrs. Ross have retained 80 acres of land on the side of the road opposite the buildings and containing a small house. They will remodel this to some extent and move into it in May.

—Argus.

PINCKNEY—We have heard some criticism because the scrap pile accumulated on the school ground last October during the scrap drive and estimated to contain around 100 tons has not been moved. This scrap was sold to the Howell Auto Parts who also purchased the Fowlerville scrap pile and the one collected at Cohoctah, previously to buying the Pinckney scrap. Howell sold theirs to the Howell Scrap Iron Co. and Brighton theirs to Jacobs of Flint and none of these has as yet been cleaned up by the junk dealers for the reason that they have neither trucks, men or the storage space to do it. It probably will be spring before all this scrap gets to the steel mills. —Dispatch.

TECUMSEH—Lenawee County Potomac Grange at its regular meeting held Thursday at Hudson Center, adopted a resolution requesting the state legislature to pass an act at the January session, returning Michigan to Central Standard Time. Michigan was moved from the Central zone to the Eastern zone several years ago, and when war time was adopted set the clocks two hours ahead of the original Central Standard time. The farmers find this a detriment in their work and along with the increasing shortage of labor, threatens to curtail production of food. —Herald.

Boots for Russia
 Britain has sent 3,000,000 pairs of boots to Russia. Mrs. Churchill's Aid to Russia fund has raised over $7,000,000, by means of which the British Red Cross has already sent 500,000 blankets, 250,000 woolen garments and large quantities of medical supplies. British cotton and woolen mills have been working overtime to produce the clothing needed.

Don't Grind Feed Too Fine
 As much as eight cents may be saved on each 100 pounds of feed by grinding coarse rather than fine, when electric power costs six cents per kilowatt hour. Experiments show that fine grinding requires from three to eight times as much power as for coarse grinding. The procedure may well make the difference between profit and loss for the livestock feeder.

'The Night Before Christmas' In Uncle Sam's Armed Forces

"The Night Before Christmas" remains unchanged by olive drab and distance from home, because the boys in Uncle Sam's streamlined, mechanized army of 1942 are still fully imbued with the Christmas spirit, although Santa Claus has gone "panzer." Discarding his old-fashioned sleigh and reindeer, Santa has picked up a fast, tough "jeep" car, and is on Christmas maneuvers.

Just before Santa Claus leaves his "jeep-sleigh," the guard of honor stands on each side presenting arms to the Christmas visitor.

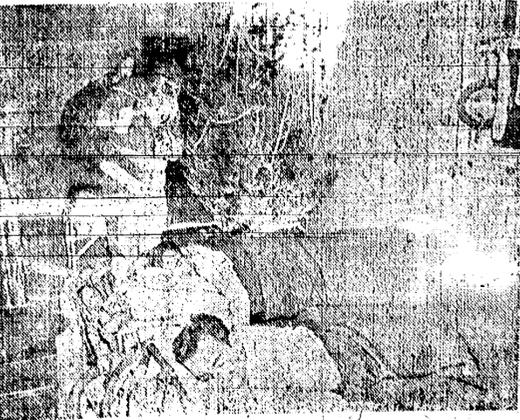

These soldiers from widely separated sections of the country take keen enjoyment in making a yuletide hearth out of the center of their squad room.

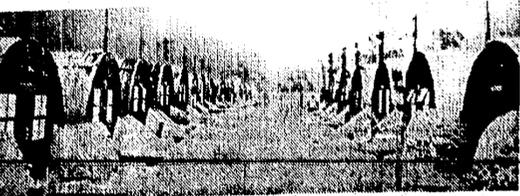

Santy may find a barracks chimney too narrow and try the windows, so that's a good place for socks and a helmet, say Privates Kotula and Quen. And it seems to be a pretty good way in which to intrigue the jolly old Saint.

All Pennsylvania soldiers in Company B of the 10th Regiment in Camp Lee's Quartermaster Replacement Center gather to sing carols around the tree to show how men of the Keystone state demonstrate the Christmas spirit.

And here is the good Army Kris Kringle ready to unload his pack while the brave doughboys sleep. But alas! One doughboy seems to be sleeping with one eye wide open!

Christmas with the U. S. troops in Iceland. The huts are insulated and pretty comfortable. Note the lighted windows.

MSC Pledges War Aid To Farmers Of State

Nearly a century of service to Michigan agriculture becomes a wartime fountain of information for farmers of the state faced with unprecedented demands for food in 1942 as Michigan State College gears itself through its agricultural division.

Some of the special efforts to get useful information to farmers have been outlined by E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture.

"Every county in the state has ready access to any aid that the college's representatives can offer," the dean promises. "Through the extension service, farmers locally can contact their county agricultural agents or families can get information and other aid from county club agents and home demonstration agents."

Some of the specific steps the college staff is taking include a county-by-county schedule of local meetings which will bring into every county in the state teams of qualified specialists who will offer time and labor-saving tips, short-cuts to better quality and greater volume of feeds and foods.

State and county war boards will also be active in this effort as they contact each of the state's 186,000 farmers to acquaint individuals with state and county production goals and gain an indication of how Michigan agriculture can meet the war crisis.

On the college schedule will be the 28th annual Farmers' Week, streamlined to three days, Feb. 2, 3, 4. Earlier, the state-wide extension service staff will gather at East Lansing, Jan. 6, 7, 8, to map out the wide-spread distribution of information on crops, soils, poultry, dairying, animal husbandry, 4-H club work, agricultural engineering, insect control, forestry, horticulture, conservation, home economics, farm management and animal pathology.

Farmers Must Share Home Meat Supplies

Even a farmer with fat stock and equipment and knowledge for home butchering should remember to share American meat supplies with the Army, Navy and our less fortunate Allies.

That is the answer to puzzled Michigan farmers who are appealing to George A. Brown, head of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College.

"A farmer who has produced his own meat in the past and understands its curing and preservation should go ahead as usual this year. This home process saves transportation of live animals and a return trip with the meat and reduces a farmer's food costs. Even this farmer should confine his consumption to the amount allowed the rest of the consuming public," suggests Professor Brown.

Other farmers wonder if they are permitted to dress out meat animals for sale to the public. Consumers are seeking out such extra sources of meat.

"It is not advisable for the farmer who did not market his animals in this way last year to start doing it this year," the college authority comments. "Such action would defeat the purpose of the restrictions and regulations which have been placed upon the packers."

"The farmer who did sell his animals after butchering last year should keep within the spirit of the regulations and not sell more than 70 per cent as much dressed out beef as he did last year, and not more than 75 per cent as many dressed hogs. In this way the average American can share the meat supplies and yet permit shipping an adequate supply to our armed forces and to our Allies."

Road Builders Have Big Job, Says Kennedy

St. Louis—G. Donald Kennedy, Michigan state highway commissioner told United States road builders this week that their main task is keeping three million miles of public roads in shape to win what is largely a war of transportation.

Speaking for the first war-time convention of the American Association of State Highway Officials, of which he is president, Kennedy predicted that after the war there would be a world-wide transport system with American highway engineers leading the way.

"There will be now air-highway coordination with highway flight strips and service for air traffic from land terminals," Kennedy declared.

He said that the basis for post-war highway projects had already been laid with progress on the establishment of a master plan for the country. "We must have definite blueprints ready and a sound and adequate financing program set up," Kennedy said.

He further warned the delegates that new Federal war agencies stand ready to expand their post-war supervision of highway activities if state and local road men fail to meet present responsibilities.

Kennedy said that some departments, discouraged by falling revenues, dwindling construction or war restrictions, seem ready to take the easy road and concede that war-time highway problems "are Federal problems."

One U. S. army ordnance plant located one day's railroad haul from its supplies requires 2,000 freight cars to keep it in operation; another three days removed from its materials needs 4,000 freight cars.

Fine Job, Well Done

When France fell in 1940, Britain was left alone in the Near East with a force of 40,000 men against 260,000 Italians in Libya and over 300,000 in Abyssinia. During General Wavell's campaign in Libya, his striking force never exceeded 30,000 men. In eight weeks, he had taken 130,000 prisoners.

Girls Win Honors In State 4-H Meat Show

Two girls, one of whom had been trying for the championship for nine years, ran away with the two top honors in the 18th annual Michigan 4-H Club livestock show held Dec. 8, 9 and 10 at the Detroit stockyards.

Mary Lesser, 19, Dexter, exhibited an Angus which was judged the best beef animal among the 118 in the show. In the auction which concluded the three-day event, the steer brought 58 cents a pound in spite of wartime control over retail beef prices. A packing house at Ferndale offered the best bid.

The other girl, Frances Koepfgen, 17, Cass City, showed a pen of three Southdown lambs that took the judges' eyes for a grand championship for best individual lamb and a similar award for the best pen. Last year she was runner-up in the lamb show. A Detroit packing concern bid the top of $2.30 a pound for the grand champion lamb.

Exhibitors from Washtenaw county included: Mary Lesser, Carl Lesser, Norwin Lesser and Jay Hopkins, of Dexter; James Henning, South Lyon; Armin Kuhl, Joe Merkel, Jr., George Merkel, Charles Downer and Thomas Merkel, of Chelsea; and Janet Mall-read of Ann Arbor.

Two boys captured the reserve honors. Robert Chapman of South Rockwood in Monroe county was awarded ribbons for reserve champion pen of lambs and reserve champion individual lamb. His best lamb sold for 50 cents a pound and the other two for 26 cents. Forty-nine pens of lambs were judged.

In the beef contests, the reserve championship was awarded Don Doerr, Cass City. His Shorthorn calf went out of the auction ring at 29 cents a pound.

Sponsors of the show included Detroit livestock commission firms, the Detroit Stock Yards company, the Michigan Livestock Exchange, the Michigan State Department of Agriculture and the Boys and Girls 4-H club staff and the extension service of Michigan State College.

Girl's Suggestion Okay

Members of the office staffs of war production plants frequently win suggestion prizes, too. Helen O'Neill suggested an improved method of handling correspondence and received recognition from the labor-management committee of the W. L. Maxson corporation, New York city.

NO CHANGE in Shell Horsehide—the world's most amazing work shoe leather. It's still the way Nature makes it—the only leather on earth with a tough center layer or shell that reinforces the leather as steel rods do concrete. There's also no change in the unique Wolverine secret triple-tanning process that makes Shell Horsehide soft as buckskin—so it even dries out soft. So, naturally, there's no change in the money-saving longer wear nor in the foot-saving house-slipper comfort for which WOLVERINE Shell Horsehides have long been famous. Drop in for a try-on.
