Curfew Regulations To Be Enforced By Village

There have been numerous complaints from time to time by village residents to the effect many children under 17 years of age have been permitted to loiter upon the streets during the night, and on many occasions large groups have congregated at various places late at night, causing a great amount of disturbance by loud and boisterous noises.

It must be realized that under present conditions there are people working at all hours of the day, and consequently it is necessary for them to have proper rest in order to do their best work. It is not the purpose of the village officials to prevent minors under the age of 17 to be upon the streets at a reasonable time and on any lawful business, but more particularly it is designed to prevent children from wandering about the streets without any lawful business, making themselves a public nuisance by their behavior. It will be advisable for parents and guardians of minors under 17 to give this matter their close attention.

The Michigan State legislature recently passed a law to take care of this type of situation. The law provides that no boy or girl under 17 years of age shall be allowed to "loiter or wander" about the streets in the night time without being on any lawful business or occupation. The statute also provides, "Any child committing any of the acts mentioned herein shall be deemed a juvenile delinquent, person, and shall be proceeded against as such in the manner provided herein." Punishment for misconduct is probation or detention in a juvenile home.

The village police officials have been instructed to enforce this law, and anyone found violating it will be apprehended and dealt with according to the law.

County Red Cross Drive Will Start Next Monday

Washtenaw county's quota of $53,000 in the Red Cross War Fund Campaign will be sought in a drive which will get under way on Monday, March 1.

Plans for the county-wide campaign have been completed by C. R. Henderson, who is chairman of the fund committee. Chapters in each of the cities and villages in the county will have charge of the fund drives in their respective communities. The campaign will also extend throughout each of the townships in the county.

Washtenaw county's goal of $53,000 is part of the nation-wide total of $125,000,000 which is being sought. Of the $125,000,000, the Red Cross plans to use $80,000,000 for national and international needs, while the remainder—$45,000,000—will be retained by the various local chapters to finance their numerous and essential activities.

The Chelsea quota has been set at $1000.00. The local committee, consisting of Mesdames A. L. Steger, J. E. McKune, E. J. Quirk, L. G. Palmer, Alfred Mayer and Frank Edgar, met at the home of Mrs. Steger on Wednesday night to make final plans for the house-to-house canvass which will start on Monday.

It is hoped by the committee that they will be greeted with the same generous response that has always put Chelsea above the quota assigned when such an appeal for funds is made.

New Factory On Old US-12 In Operation

Dexter Machine Products Equipment Was Moved Last Week

A new industry was added to this community last week when the Dexter Machine Products, Inc. moved their plant from Dexter to the new building which they had just completed at 2401 Old US-12, about one-fourth mile west of the Chelsea intersection.

This company, which was founded in Pinckney in 1933 and moved to Dexter in 1934, is engaged in the manufacture of various types of precision gears for all branches of the war production program.

The new building is constructed of cement blocks and face brick, and is very attractive from the exterior as well as on the interior. Offices of modern design are located at the front of the building, with the general office, directors' room, private offices and engineering room. The large manufacturing department is just back of the offices, and at the rear of the building is located the heat-treat room, ladies' and men's rest-rooms, an inside loading dock, and a large room which will ultimately be used for a kitchen and cafeteria for employees.

E. B. Sorensen is president of the company; Ward A. Tupper, vice-president and superintendent; Hugh E. Sorensen, secretary-treasurer; and Wesley Phillip is office manager. The property where the factory was built was purchased from Mrs. G. W. Palmer, and the Sorensens purchased the Boyd and Foster farms, where they reside.

The factory was built by the Henry DeKoning Construction Co. of Ann Arbor, and the architect was Douglas Dean Loree of Ann Arbor.

Employees of the Dexter Machine Products, Inc. had the honor of being the first in Washtenaw county to be awarded the Bulls-eye Flag by the United States Treasury last August, when more than 90 per cent of the employees were investing more than 10 per cent of their wages in War Bonds. According to the management of the company this percentage is greater at this time.

Company officials state that employment will be handled through the Ann Arbor office of the United States Employment Service. It is expected that the factory will be under full production within the next few weeks.

F. F. A. Rents Two Acres For Community Gardens

The rental charge for the entire season for each garden will be $2.50. This fee will also include the following services:

1. Plowing and fitting of the land.
2. Use, on a cost basis, of the F. F. A. garden tractor and cultivator.
3. Use of F. F. A. potato duster, potato planter, and corn planter.

A diagram of this tract of land has been made, showing the location of each garden. Anyone can reserve a garden plot by paying the $2.50 rental fee. Beginning Friday morning, Feb. 26, reservations may be made in the Vocational Agriculture room on the first floor of the high school building.

Land Use Planning Meeting Held In Lima

Several farmers and business men attended a Land Use Planning meeting for Lima township at the Lima Center school Thursday evening.

The program was discussed from many angles before a final decision was reached by adopting the following resolution:

"Resolved, that we go on record as opposed to any expenditure of money or manpower for a Land Use Planning Project for the duration of the war, as all these efforts should be used toward the war effort, to win the war. Also, due to the effect that so many of our sons and citizens are with the armed forces and that they should have a voice in planning the future—for they are the future."

A future meeting was planned, with higher officials in attendance, at which time the resolution may be reconsidered.

The exact date of holding another meeting has not been determined, but as it is an important meeting, farmers will be notified by telephone when this information is received.

Care of Electric Motors Essential In Wartime

Thousands of electric motors on the 140,000 Michigan farms, which have electric service must be kept running if the farmers in the state are to continue producing large quantities of food.

This is the assertion of Richard Witz, extension specialist in rural electrification at Michigan State College.

A burned-out motor on the water pump of the milking machine may cause a serious breakdown now, that available labor is working at a peak capacity. Mr. Witz offers some pointers to keep the farm motors humming.

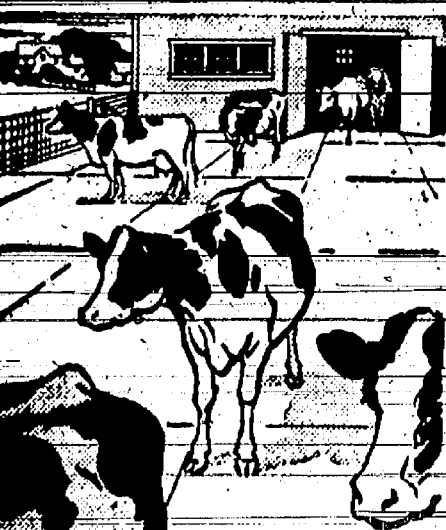

Proper lubrication for fractional horsepower motors with sleeve bearings means but three or four drops of S. A. E. 10 or 10W oil every three or four months. Ball bearing motors should be greased every one or two years with ball bearing motor grease.

Motors should be kept free of water and oil. Water will rust the motor and oil will affect the insulation. Either will cause serious damage.

Dust should be removed at regular intervals. A tire pump, blower or vacuum cleaner or a hose attached to the valve of a spare tire can be used to remove dust. Dust or dirt acts as insulation and helps cause motors to burn out.

On a condensation induction type motor, the commutator segments should be cleaned by washing with a rag on the end of a stick dampened with kerosene or fuel oil. Rough commutators may require sanding with a fine grade sandpaper. Do not sandpaper. Emery paper should not be used. Carbon brushes occasionally need replacement.

Belts too loose or out of alignment cause excessive wear on the belt. Belts too tight cause wear on the motor bearings.

Cleaner Cows Less Labor with CONCRETE PAVED BARNYARD

A concrete paved barnyard is a big aid to dairymen producing high quality milk. Fall, winter, spring and summer it helps keep cows out of mud, dust, dirt, cuts down work of cleaning cows before milking. A big factor now that farm help is short and every effort is being made to increase milk production.

When cows wade through mud they waste energy needed for producing milk. Owners say a paved barnyard soon pays for itself by helping produce more and better quality milk.

Paste coupon on penny postal and mail today for free instructions for paving your barnyard or building other durable, thrifty, sanitary structures with concrete.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

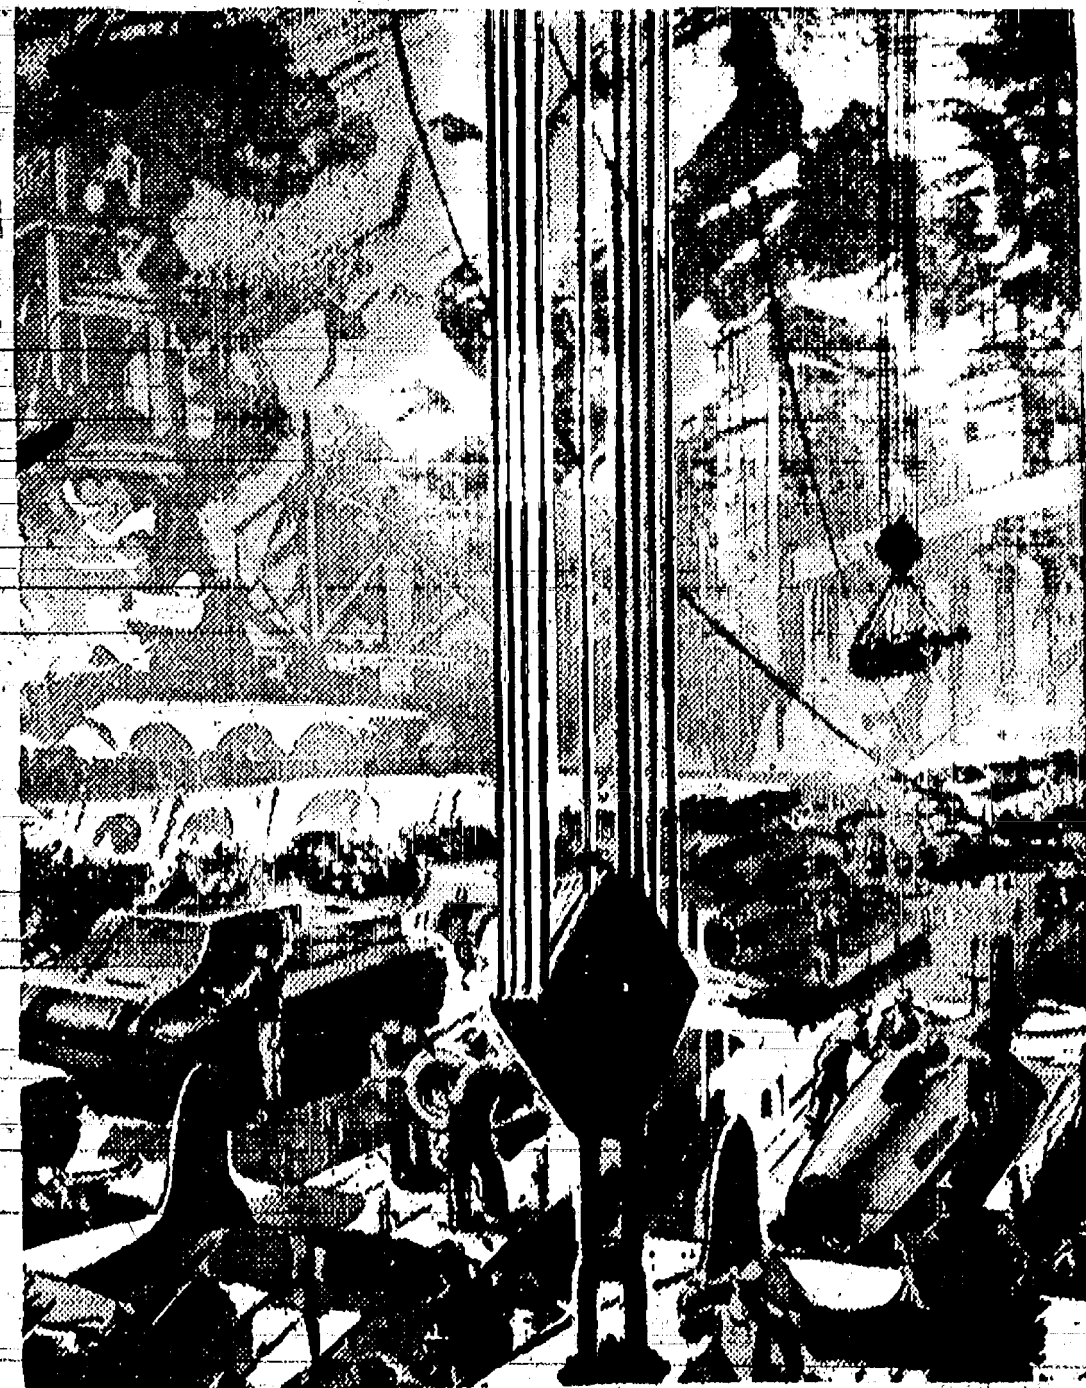

"Judge, there's been quite a bit of talk going around about prohibiting liquor in various spots around the country... around the Army camps for one thing. What do you make of it?"

"Well, Henry, I size it up about like this. It looks to me like the folks who are doing the talking are shooting a little bit higher than most people seem to realize. Sort of like the salesman who gets his foot in the door and before you know it he's sold you a bill of goods. Wouldn't surprise me a bit if what they're really aiming for is to take in the whole country again. We all know it didn't work the last time. All we got was bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor... plus racketeers, gangsters and the worst crime wave the country ever saw.

"Seems to me we've all got our hands full to win this war without starting up an argument we just got through settling a few years back."

Gas... IS MAKING IT HOT FOR HITLER

Enormous are the quantities of natural gas being used in the manufacture of armor plate, shells, tanks, airplanes and other war materials.

Because of its intense heat and its flexibility, it is being employed in a thousand industrial ways to speed the war effort.

So urgent are the war requirements that the government is asking every family to use Gas wisely in the home. Here are some ways to economize on the use of Gas:

- 1—Do not use the oven of your gas range for room heating.
- 2—Keep the room temperatures as low as possible. Do not heat unused rooms.
- 3—Insulate your home and install storm windows so that less gas will be needed for heating.
- 4—Use no more hot water than necessary. Repair leaky faucets. Insulate hot water tanks and pipes.

WINDSTORM INSURANCE CO. MAKES FINE RECORD

The 56th annual meeting and election of officers and directors of the Michigan Mutual Windstorm Insurance Company was held at the home office, Hastings, Michigan, on Wednesday, Jan. 20, 1943. The officers and directors of the company are as follows:

Officers chosen by the directors are the same as for the past year, namely, Harrison Dodds, president; Guy E. Cook, vice president; M. E. Cota, secretary-treasurer. Directors elected for a term of three years are: Horace Powers, Hastings; Fred Likins, Memphis; W. P. Green, Hillsdale; M.
DeYoung, Muskegon Heights; E. T.
Gibson, Lansing. All of the officers and directors were re-elections.

Other members of the board of directors, besides the officers, are: Clare
O. Thorpe, Kalamazoo; Orr G. Stanley, Indian River; W. H. Burd, Ann Arbor; Robert F. Bessmer, Owosso;
W. A. Bartlett, Merrill; V. P. Mott, Scottville; C. C. Conway, Lupton.

The yearly report of the company will make interesting reading for its 129,084 policy holders, an increase of 1,000 over 1941. The report also shows an increase in insurance in force of nearly $21,500,000, bringing the total amount to $422,206,070, a close approach to the $500,000,000 goal which should be exceeded in 1943 if the present progress continues.

Claims for losses paid during 1942 numbered 8,897 and the total amount paid on these claims was $395,575.53.
Promptness in adjusting losses and paying claims, courteous treatment and square dealing throughout the years have resulted in building confidence in the company and in the rapid growth shown each year. Scattered throughout the state are fifteen adjusters and several special adjusters who attend as promptly as possible to every loss reported. Their strict attention to details and their fair adjustments of claims are other factors that have helped in building up the business.

This company was organized in 1885 and since that time it has paid out in losses the stupendous sum of $7,644-772.10.

This newspaper is publishing from week to week a schedule of announcements, giving additional information about this company and its service to those who suffer loss by windstorm.—

"One, two... Arms up! Stretch! Back, wa-a-a-y back!"

Sharp orders ring out on the parade grounds.
It is 6 a.m. on a crisp morning in Maine, Virginia, Texas, Illinois, California. Five million of the world's finest men are starting the day right... getting fit to fight and outfight the toughest of their Axis foes!

On the home front also in this second year of war, millions of civilians are keeping fit for their war work... guarding their health, getting plenty of sleep, eating nourishing energy foods! For never before has fitness for work been so important to ourselves, to each other, to America.

And never before has it been so important that the railroads keep fit, too—fit to fight the battle of supply and transportation that involves double the volume of passenger traffic, double the freight carried in 1939, when Hitler invaded Poland.

To do that job—to keep this primary supply line fit for its gigantic war task means constant inspection of every available car and locomotive... speeding repairs so that no vital equipment shall remain idle... keeping 240,000 miles of track and roadbed in prime shape for greatly increased traffic and heavier loads.

On the New York Central alone there are now more than 55,000 people devoting all their time to maintenance and repair work! And that's equal to 22 full U. S. Army regiments!

Because the railroads are doing a double job —they occasionally cannot supply just the accommodations you want... on a particular train... or at a certain time... or sometimes on even the day that is most convenient for you.

But by accepting these necessary wartime conditions... by sharing available accommodations... by traveling during the week instead of the week-end... you, as a civilian passenger, can help immeasurably to keep America's railroads fit to fight—and win
—the battle of transportation.

State's 4-H's Enlist In Rural Safety Drive

Michigan's 4-H club members are now being enlisted in "The National 4-H Safety Activity" to wage a concerted drive to make rural America safety-conscious. As there are roughly 1½ million 4-H's throughout the United States, the drive promises to be the most comprehensive and intensive rural safety campaign ever conducted in this country.

The chief objective of this nationwide campaign will be to reduce the appalling annual loss of manpower resulting from preventable accidents, and of property damaged by fire due to carelessness, on farms and in rural communities. The activity, in which 4-H participants with outstanding records of safety achievements will receive awards provided by the Mennen Company, will be conducted in conjunction with other highly noteworthy wartime jobs of production and conservation under the direction of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, State Agricultural Colleges, and county extension agents.

The awards include medals of honor to county winners, and a special plaque to the top ranking county in each state; a $100 War Savings Bond to the highest rating individual in each state, and trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, as well as $200 college scholarships, to the national winners.

4-H club members will strive to cut down the tremendous annual toll of 18,500 deaths and 1,500,000 injured in the farm field, by conducting actual farm and home surveys, and making demonstrations, talks, and exhibits. These rural youth are well qualified for the task, as they have conducted individual campaigns to safeguard their own homes, with excellent results.

State Farmers Could Raise Million Turkeys

Could Michigan farmers profitably produce a million turkeys in 1943?

The answer is yes, according to a survey recently made by C. G. Card, head of the poultry husbandry department at Michigan State College.

Card said that the number of the meat birds is obvious from the population concentration in and near to Michigan, says Professor Card. Michigan has an estimated 5,256,000 population including more than two million in Detroit. In addition there are five million more persons within the Michigan marketing radius.

In wartime, at least, the turkey is more than a holiday bird, according to Professor Card. "At least the marketing could be expanded into three seasons, such as the September and October period, Thanksgiving, and the Christmas and New Year holidays."

In 1942 the state's turkey growers marketed more than a half million birds. Labor was not too plentiful, feed prices increased, yet the demand was great enough to make the turkey business profitable for those who know how, the poultry authority points out.

To get more eggs for hatching, breeders are encouraged to feed their breeding flocks a proper diet in plenty. Next point in wartime expansion is to stretch out the hatching season. Poults, or young turkey, buyers need not get the earliest birds, but can plan on reaching the market at a later season after the early birds have been fattened.

Food Requirement for Year Makes Big Total

Proof that one person in a year eats a sizeable quantity of fruits and vegetables is being used by the Michigan State College home economics extension service to indicate that in 1943 it will pay every family to produce some or all of that food at home.

A person's needs for a year total enough to fill 209 pint jars of canned fruit and vegetables. In addition, 250 pounds of stored vegetables are needed, such as cabbage, potatoes, onions, squash, beets and carrots. The food budget also should include two bushels of apples.

On the pocketbook side, the average good diet for one person would total nearly $200 in a year, if purchased. Home food production includes the factor of patriotism, the college specialists report. Every pound of food produced at home need not be transported, thus relieving rail and truck facilities for the job of conveying war necessities.

Meetings scheduled for every county in the state are taking specific home economics information to Michigan's homemakers. The home economics staff is cooperating with the college horticulture specialists in advising farm and city families on 1943 food budgets.

Intangible Tax Return Must Be Filed In March

On or before March 31 next some 60,000 or more Michigan residents will be required to pay their 1942 "intangible tax" to the Michigan Department of Revenue. Forms of return for reporting this tax have been mailed to all taxpayers of record and unless payment is made by March 31 delinquents will be subject to costly penalties.

The intangible tax is imposed on the ownership of intangible personal property such as money on hand or on deposit, shares of stock, bonds, annuities, accounts and notes receivable, real estate and chattel mortgages receivable, land contracts, receivables and similar obligations. War bonds and other government obligations, as well as state, county and municipal bonds are exempt.

Rates applied to the Michigan intangible tax are as follows: 6 per cent of income from all of the above described properties, but not more than three-tenths of 1 per cent of face, par or contributed value. Non-income producing intangibles are taxed at the rate of one-tenth of 1 per cent of face or par (not market) value or one dollar per thousand.

Fortunately for thousands, the owners of small amounts of intangibles do not have to pay the tax. Only those must pay who own a tax of $10 or more. Also exempt are bank deposits and building and loan company investments less than $3000.

Wanted - An Answer!

(An Editorial)
There is much discussion locally concerning the necessity for establishment here of a branch office of the Secretary of State, as has been done in many towns which are much smaller than Chelsea.

Applications have been sent to the Secretary of State for such an office here, but the local applicant was not even accorded the courtesy of a reply.

This same applicant had previously made personal appeal at Lansing but to no avail. The big question is "Why?" Where is the opposition to setting up a branch office in Chelsea, when it is obvious that a great need for such a service exists here?

We doubt if there is a town in the state with comparable population that can produce the employment record that we enjoy. Hundreds of motorists who are working seven days a week are forced to spend their time and use their precious gasoline and tires to make a 30-mile trip to get their license plates. Others have the same problem, of course.

It is true that it is too late to do anything about the matter during the current season as plates must be obtained this week, but the big question upmost in the minds of many local people is why towns with less than half the population of Chelsea can have branch offices of the Secretary of State when the need is so much greater here, and we receive no consideration. Where is the opposition?

ECONOMICS CLUB MEETS
A meeting of the South Sylvan Home Economics club was held at the home of Mrs. Leon Chapman on Thursday. The lesson, "We do our own repairing," was in charge of Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Wilbur Hatt.

Light refreshments were served to 15 members, with Mrs. Harley Hatt assisting.

MURDER AT PIRATE'S HEAD

By Isabel Waitt

CHAPTER VII

Potter offered to drive as many as could crowd into his car down to the wrecked bridge, and the rest of us started for the inn. Victor whispered to me to search the absentees' rooms for that square diamond. "Too valuable to be left, Quincy says. I felt glad he trusted me to do it."

I got a look into nearly every room—not thorough, of course, but a glance in the most likely places. Bessie stayed in her room, so all I could do was toss her bed together and peek around. Personally, the search seemed silly. Who'd steal a ring under such dreadful circumstances and then leave it for a chambermaid to find? Down in the ashes of the fire, they had it.

Uncle Willie bumped into me on the stairs. "Seen my pipe, Judy?" He fished futilely from pocket to pocket, and then went on down to the kitchen to hunt. He looked tired and chastened and worried. Aunt Nellie must have bawled him out plenty, and the guilt of what he might have done the night before didn't help his hangover any. Meek little man, he'd be good for a long time now.

I followed him down to the kitchen. Aunt Nellie began hissing at him right before Lily Kendall, who'd gone out to talk with auntie because she didn't want to be alone. Uncle Willie went down to the ruins of the old shed. He was lifting the shawl when I called to him not to touch anything. Then he just walked around, eyes on the ground, hunting for the pipe Victor had in his pocket. I hadn't told him about it, because I didn't want to alarm him, too much with speculations; he'd know sooner or later. But I felt better after him, only to see the car coming back.

They'd tossed a net to see who'd be left behind. Aunt Potter was chosen, but he seemed so reluctant to stay alone that a preacher volunteered. Since he had the best voice to carry the news against the wind to whoever came along, his offer had been accepted.

As to the bridge itself, it just wasn't any more, that's all. The old wooden planks had been blown to splinters and washed away by the swirling waters below. Only the jagged edges, abutting the Head and the Neck, were left of the long-used, low crossway. They told a story like a song without words. The police might dredge around that point toward the cove side; the best chance was to scan the shore. They might find bits of a time bomb, but the men all doubted it.

You see, it had to be a time bomb, Victor had explained; or else have one of the cars stop and someone get out and set off the dynamite fuse, or whatever was used. And the cars didn't stop. No one got out.

"But why couldn't someone from Rockville have blown up the bridge right after we crossed?" somebody asked. (I was told about this afterward.)

That, of course, was possible on account of the darkness. Or it might have been one of those at home on the Head that evening—Hugh or Mr. Quincy or Victor Quade or Lily or Aunt Nellie or I. I felt I could eliminate my aunt, Mr. Q., Victor Quade and myself. After all, I was only sure of myself.

The general consensus was that either Mr. Brown had blown the bridge after killing Roddy, or vice versa. Only after the identification of that charred, grisly corpse could one be sure. Even so, I shivered to recall Roddy hadn't used his car; and Brown was frail and old. Was he capable of removing a dead body from the church basement to the fish shed?

Victor said: "Let's try to help one another. Shall we sit on the porch? Judy, go get your uncle."

So I called Uncle Willie, who came slowly back, looking rather sheepish before his guests, sitting in the hammock, the porch rockers, and even on the steps. I painted the minister. Had he, too, gotten cold feet? Said he'd get his field glasses and could see anyone approaching, from the inn piazza.

We were still at a standstill. Although so early in the morning, the air was warm. A land breeze had sprung up, which was rapidly dispersing the fog.

At Victor's request I got Aunt Nellie to join us. "You'll only get plain chicken for lunch," she scolded, untying her blue checkered apron and taking the chair. Hugh Norcross brought her. "Go ahead with the third degree. Only I didn't set the fire and neither did Wy—my husband. Here's his pipe." Bless her, as Victor would say. She held up an old corn-cob I'd never seen my uncle smoke in my life.

Willie Gerry flushed. "That's not the one, my dear. Mine is a little briar. Had it in my pocket when I went to town. Smoked it all the evening down to the plumbin' shop with the boys until—" he contentedly platted his shoes a minute and then looked Quade squarely in the eye. "We had a snifter or two. I came home with the preacher, didn't I?" Albion spoke up: "In my car. You didn't want to come, but we persuaded you, between us."

"Wait a minute," Victor Quade interrupted, reaching into his pocket. "Is this your pipe, Mr. Gerry?" Uncle Willie reached for the dirty old thing, then he beamed all over. "Why, yes. Yes, that's it." He stuck it comfortably between his teeth. "Where'd you find it? I've never seen it."

"Down by the fish shed, during the fire. Certain it's yours?" "Sartin I'm sartin. However it got there."

Aunt Nellie gasped and began to bristle all over, but before she could say anything the minister cried: "There! What more do you want? Gerry lay on the bench and his pipe rolled out of his hand and started the fire!"

"But he wasn't smoking," Albion protested. "I ought to know; he was in my car. You ought to know, too. De Wit. You saw him sitting in the car when we rushed into the inn, excited about the explosion."

"If the pipe set the fire, why didn't it get burned?" I asked. "The bench was burned to cinders."

"How could the pipe have set the fire?" Hugh Norcross cut in. "No pipe stays lit that long. Besides, while we were all down there—I dropped my cigarette case. Had to light a match to find it. Looked all around that bench and didn't see any pipe."

Victor was looking at him coolly. "So you lit a match?" "What of it?"

"Nothing. Only you told us you were over by the Lane castle right after dark when Judy and Mr. Quincy spoke to you. Didn't take another stroll in the same direction and light another match later, did you?"

Hugh nearly fell off the railing. "Say, what is this? You've got a nerve insinuating a thing like that in front of all these people. I had a score to settle with Lane. I'll admit, but not the way things have been turning up around here. I'm not a killer. Nor an incendiary. I guess they're right. I guess I'm a little bit of both."

They'd tossed a net to see who'd be left behind. Aunt Potter was chosen, but he seemed so reluctant to stay alone that a preacher volunteered. Since he had the best voice to carry the news against the wind to whoever came along, his offer had been accepted.

Our country is calling for 3,000 nurses a month to serve in the Army, Navy, Red Cross and other organizations. This means that more young women of our high schools will be called upon to go into the nursing profession, because even student nurses are being enlisted. Many civilians are going without proper care in our hospitals and homes because of the shortage of nurses. Nursing has its opportunities after the war as well as during it. After the war there will be the wounded to take care of. Other courses open to nurses are Public Health, Laboratory Technology and Hospital Administration. Miss Maier, the county school nurse, a student nurse at the University of Michigan, and a student nurse from St. Joseph's Mercy hospital at Ann Arbor told the girls of Chelsea last week that the need of nurses in the U. S. is very great. I'm sure that many of the girls who heard this splendid talk will answer to their country's call by enrolling in a Home Nursing class, thereby releasing many nurses for army duty, or make plans for going into training as soon as they are old enough.

Athletic Board

At the last meeting of the athletic board it was decided that it would be compulsory for all boys taking physical education to take out insurance. They also discussed the problem of things being taken from visiting teams and it was decided that the girls' shower room, which is the room the visiting teams use, should be locked on these occasions.

Last Wednesday Mr. Tallman met with the Hi-Y Club for dinner in the Home Ec. room. Mr. Tallman gave a very interesting talk to the boys. The Hi-Y Club served hot cocoa and cookies to both teams after the Dexter game last Friday.

Defeat Chelsea Again

By Bob Strieter
Last Friday, Dexter again defeated the Chelsea basketball team by a score of 29-27. However, during the evening Chelsea salvaged one victory when the second team defeated the Dexter seconds, 32-23.

The game started at a fast clip with both teams staying even. At the end of the first quarter, the score stood 8-8. Chelsea was handicapped by the loss of Dick Kern midway through the first quarter. He had scored a couple field goals when a bad cut on his thumb was reopened. His loss showed up when Dexter surged ahead in the next quarter to lead at half-time, 18-12. Fox led the Dexter team this first half by scoring 10 points.

With Kern again in the game, the Chelsea boys still couldn't get started. The score at the end of this quarter was 25-16. Up to now the Chelsea offense had been nil. But with three minutes of the last quarter gone, the boys found themselves. Basket after basket was scored with the gap between the two teams steadily closing. The question was: would there be enough time. With Kusterer and Kern leading the attack, Chelsea trailed by 2 points with 30 seconds to go. But here the Dexter quintet staged a magnificent defense and the game ended. Had the Chelsea team played the entire game the way they did the last quarter they would have trounced Dexter. Kern was high-point man with 10 points.

The second team avenged its only defeat of the season, handed them by Dexter, by defeating them 32-23. Bahrmler and Orbring led the attack by scoring 12 and 10 points respectively. The seconds played a fine game, one which showed their knowledge of basketball when they put on a rally in the 3rd quarter to take the lead, 23-11. From there on they coasted to victory.

Next Saturday night, Feb. 27, Chelsea plays U. High at Ypsi. This is the playoff game and will be played at the Ypsi Central gym. The victor will play the winner of the eastern division for the Huron League championship. The last game ended in a 28-28 tie, so this should really be a good game. The preliminary game between the second teams of both schools will begin at 7:00 and the playoff game at 8:30. Ypsi is quite far from here but if as many people will go as can they won't be disappointed.

Chorus

Although still a month away, committees for the "Harmony-Hop" are busy making plans for this All-Hi party given by the Mixed Chorus. We were lucky to obtain a good orchestra for the occasion through Henry Orbring, whose brother is in charge of the group. Special decorations are being planned and everything indicates that this will be a party you won't want to miss. Keep the date in mind—March 26!

Shoes

Where have all the different shoes been coming from all of a sudden? It seems that everyone is digging down deep in their old shoe bags and bringing them out to wear again. Of course, this gives all the shoe repair shops a lot of business these days, but it doesn't seem to set very well with the high school pupils. It seems that quite a few of them have been doing just this. They've been digging way down deep to get these old shoes so they can save the good ones. Anyway, this shoe rationing will keep a lot of people digging and sure will keep the shoe man busy!

The girls on Audrey's side are Madelyn Rowe, Jean Dexter, Jane Downer, Marilyn Schooley, Helen Ridley, Mildred Schabbe, Dorothy Hafner, Anna Marie Armstrong and Mary Lou Platt. Caroline Beal and Audrey White were selected to make the posters for this drive.

F. F. A.

The F. F. A. club is now studying the possibility of starting a chick brooding project this spring. Joe Merkel and Dick Umstead are in charge of this project. Since it is difficult to get materials for building a brooder house, efforts are being made to rent a suitable place. Any one having an empty barn, garage, or poultry house available for renting should communicate with Marshall Richards, teacher of Vocational Agriculture, or with any member of the agriculture classes. The Garden Tractor committee is trying to find a 2 or 3 horsepower motorcycle motor. Any information that will help to locate such a motor will be appreciated.

Girls' Athletics

The girls have been faithfully doing their calisthenics every morning. They are improving. That is, they have to. If something is done wrong, the faulty one is sent through the rickets—ask Eleanor Harper and Virginia Lucht. The girls are playing U. High Friday. They lost the last game with them, but hope for better success tomorrow.

Shop

Among the many busy boys in shop we have one who is especially busy. He is busy as a bee now making a cover model cradle. It is four feet long and two feet and a half wide and is made of pine and oak. This is a very clever model but it takes a very clever one to make it, how about it Dutchie? He is making this cradle for his sister and will give it to her when it is completed.

MILAN—Three days of confusion, with the battle cry of Main street being "What Time Is It Now?" ended at 2:00 o'clock this (Thursday) morning, when Milan's town clock, the kitchen clock and many of the wrist watches were set ahead again one hour to make up for the hour they were set back Sunday night. Confusion reigned supreme for a few days with the Milan Ford plant, the Federal Prison and the American Foundry on Eastern War Time and the rest of the town, including school schedules tagging along about sixty minutes later.—Leader.

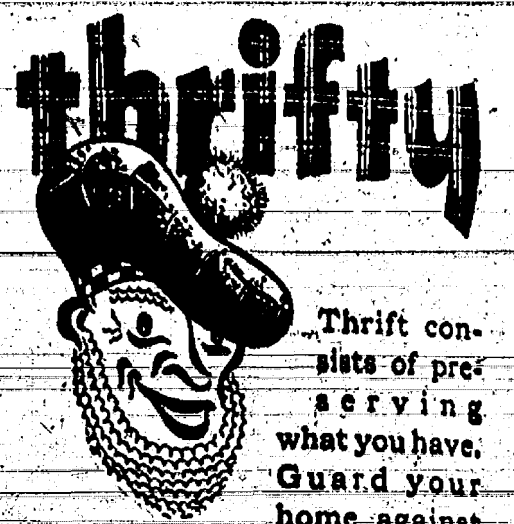

TECUMSEH—One of the strangest pets to be found on a Lenawee county farm may be seen almost any day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Spence, who reside on the Goshen farm, four miles northeast of here. The pet, a five-point buck, plays with the Spence dog, chases the chickens and most of the time is "boss of the barnyard." The deer came to the Spence farm last November and at first was a bit shy. In a few days, however, he learned that Mr. Spence was his friend and now he follows his adopted master as does the faithful family dog. The buck sleeps each night in the barnyard, on hand at meal time for his corn and oats, and he is very friendly with the horses. Chickens, well, at times he likes to chase them, and he really enjoys a sprint down the snow-covered pasture with the dog. The buck is a bit shy when strangers appear. Mr. Spence says, and he looks to the farmer for protection when a strange dog comes onto the farm.—Herald.

Fletcher, guardian for Vincent Arthur Merkel, a minor, of the Village of Chelsea, Washtenaw County, Michigan, by assignment of mortgage, dated November 16, 1937, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Washtenaw County, Michigan, on May 8, 1940, in Liber 26 of assignments of page 330, at 8:50 o'clock A. for

VILLAGE ELECTION

MONDAY, MARCH 8, 1943

To the Qualified Electors of the Village of Chelsea, State of Michigan:

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the "Michigan Election Law", I, the undersigned, Village Clerk, will upon any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration in the name of any legal voter in said Township or City not already registered who may apply to me personally for such registration. Provided, however, that I can receive no names for registration during the time intervening between the 20th day preceding any such election or primary election, and the day of such election or primary election.

The last day for General Registration does not apply to persons who vote under the Absent Voters Law. (See Registration by Affidavit.)

Notice is hereby given that I will be at Sylvan Town Hall, on TUESDAY, FEB. 26, 1943, the twentieth day preceding said election, as provided by Sec. 1, Chapter 3, Part 2, Michigan Election Law—Revision of 1941, from 8 o'clock a. m. until 8 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of reviewing the Registration and Registering such of the qualified electors in said Village as shall properly apply therefor.

In any village in which the clerk does not maintain regular daily office hours, the village council of such village may require that the clerk of such village shall be at his office or other designated place for the purpose of receiving applications for registration, on such other days as it shall designate prior to the last day for registration, not exceeding five days in all.

Notice is hereby further given that I will be at Sylvan Town Hall on Saturday, February 27, 1943, from 8 o'clock a. m. to 8 o'clock p. m.

The name of no person but an actual resident of the precinct at the time of said registration, and entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

Registration by Affidavit
Sec. 10—Registering of Electors. Any absent voter, as defined in this act, whose name is not registered and who shall claim the right to vote by absent voter's ballot at any election or primary election, may at the time of making application for absent voter's ballot, present to the village clerk an affidavit for registration, which shall be in substantially the following form:

"I am not now registered as an elector therein and that I am voting by absent voter's ballot at the election (or primary election) to be held upon the day of 19... I, therefore, make this application for the purpose of procuring my registration as an elector in accordance with the statute; that I make the following statements in compliance with the Michigan Election Law: Age... Race...

Birthplace... date of Naturalization... I further swear or affirm that the answers given to the questions concerning my qualifications as an elector are true and correct to the best of my knowledge and belief.

Signed... Taken, subscribed and sworn to before me this... day of 19... Notary Public in and for said County, State of Michigan. My commission expires... Upon receipt of such affidavit in the time specified herein, the clerk shall write in the registration book the name of the applicant together with the other information required by this chapter and such applicant shall thereupon be deemed to be duly and properly registered.

Registration of Absentee by Oath. If any person whose name is not registered shall offer and claim the right to vote at any election or primary election, and shall, under oath, state that he is a resident of such precinct and has resided in the township, village or city 20 days next preceding such election, designating particularly the place of his residence, and that he possesses the other qualifications of an elector under the constitution, and that, owing to the sickness or bodily infirmity of himself or of some member of his family, or owing to his absence from the township, village or city on public business or his own business, and without intent to avoid or delay his registration, he was unable to make application for registration on the last 2 days provided by law for the registering of electors preceding such election or primary election, then the name of such person shall be registered, and he shall then be permitted to vote at such election or primary election. If such applicant shall, in said matter, wilfully make any false statement, he shall be deemed guilty of perjury. Provided, that any city may provide by its charter or by resolution approved by a majority of the members of its legislative body for the registration of such sick and absent voters on the last Saturday preceding any election or primary election at the places of voting in the several voting districts of such city, instead of on election or primary election day.

All the provisions relative to registration in Townships and Cities shall apply and be in force as to registration in Villages.

Dated this 8th day of February, 1943.
