Farmers Oppose New Recreational Project

More than one hundred farmers attended a meeting in the Chelsea high school assembly room on Tuesday night to hear a discussion of the facts in regard to the land use program, which is now underway in Washtenaw county, and the recreational land acquisition program as proposed by the State Department of Conservation.

Speakers from the conservation department, from Michigan State College and the county extension office explained that the two programs have nothing to do with each other but that it was merely a coincidence that the land use survey was progressing in this county at the same time an announcement was made by the conservation department that it would undertake to acquire large tracts of land within easy driving distance of Detroit, to be used for recreational purposes.

However, the farmers made it very clear to the conservation department speakers that they would oppose any project of the department to acquire land in this area, and demanded that if any area in this section is to be developed it should be the Waterloo Project, containing about 13,000 acres acquired by the Federal Government, and which has not yet been developed to be of much benefit to the public.

Many helpful suggestions were made by the farmers for development of the Waterloo area in a way that would make it a worthwhile project, and the conservation speakers agreed to present these suggestions to their superiors in Lansing.

Navy Men Demonstrate 20 mm Gun

Tell of Experiences and Ask for Greater Effort On Home Front

"Hitler and Hirohito would gladly pay you a full week's wages for each day you are unnecessarily absent from your work," stated Warrant Gunner James B. Schafer of the United States Navy, when he addressed employees at the Federal Screw Works last Thursday preceding a demonstration of the 20 millimeter anti-aircraft gun.

"Every day and every hour counts in the battle of production as well as on the battle fronts," said Schafer. "The boys out there need every weapon that can be produced—they are doing a swell job and they will do a better job if everyone on the home front makes an effort to be on the job every day and puts everything he has into his job to increase production."

The speaker related a number of exciting experiences at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, and told of the sinking of the aircraft carrier Lexington, as well as several incidents during other battles in which he participated in the Southwest Pacific. He also told of the short rations which were available for members of the crew on his ship when they were absent from their base for 56 days, and chided those who are complaining about the rationing program which curtails the buying of foods which are needed to feed the fighting men throughout the world.

Accompanying Schafer were Chief Gunner's Mates Leslie H. Vories and Mark Phelps, who gave a demonstration of the 20 millimeter gun in action. This gun, for which many precision parts are made by the Federal Screw Works, is said by the Navy to be one of the most effective anti-aircraft weapons now being used.

These three veterans of the Pacific war campaigns were selected by the Navy to visit about 125 industrial plants throughout the country in an effort to stimulate the production of the 10 millimeter gun and ammunition.

Vocational Ag Dept. Will Aid Gardeners

Many Chelsea residents who plan to have Victory Gardens are wondering if they will have difficulty finding someone to plow the land.

Every tractor and plow in this area will be needed to help make preparations for greatly increased crop acreages. Anyone who is prepared to do this kind of work should contact the Vocational Agriculture Department in the high school.

Lists of work to be done and of labor and equipment available will be prepared. This should save much time and trouble for all concerned.

RENEWAL OF TRANSPORT RATIONS

Application for renewal of a Transport ration will be made by filling in the pertinent information on the face of the original application Form OPA R-536 for the period for which the ration is required and by executing the renewal certificate on the original application. Except in the case of military vehicles, a Certificate of War Necessity must be submitted showing gallonage approved by the ODT for the period for which the ration is sought.

Notations regarding the ration books issued shall be made on the Certificate of War Necessity (see page 4) of Gasoline Rationing Guide No. 1).

On and after March 1, 1943, no Transport ration for a vehicle for which a Certificate of War Necessity is required shall be issued or renewed unless the applicant presents to the Board a Record of Inspection or a Certificate as to Inspection showing tire inspections as required by the Office of Defense Transportation.

Local Group Entertains Meth. Youth Fellowship

Thursday evening, February 26, the Methodist Youth Fellowship was host to the Methodist youth groups of Salem Grove and Grass Lake. Over fifty young people and counselors enjoyed a candle-light supper served at tables decorated in red, white and blue, with a lighted globe as the nucleus. During the supper informal songs and rounds were sung, after which Rev. Ede led devotions, with Mrs. Warren Daniels offering prayer.

Miss Joyce Foster, who had charge of the program, then introduced Miss Dorothy Knickerbocker, president of the Chelsea group. She welcomed the visitors, including Rev. Robert McLean and Mrs. McLean of Grass Lake, Mrs. Lauren Snyder, district young people's secretary for the W. S. C. S., and Mrs. Rentschler, president of the Salem Grove W. S. C. S. Also introduced were the Chelsea leaders: Mrs. Warren Daniels, general counselor; Rev. Ede, Worship; Mrs. Augusta Hollidge, World Friendship; Mrs. Leigh Palmer, Community Service; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cameron, Recreation and Leisure.

After a short business meeting, Miss Foster introduced the speaker of the evening, Miss Marguerite Bugby, a missionary who has been in India for twenty years, having returned to the United States less than two years ago. Miss Bugby held the interest of the audience from the beginning when she said that were she attending a banquet in India she would be sitting on a rug-like "chair" and the waiters would be serving her a double handful of rice and curry. This favorite food would be eaten from a plate made of leaves sewed together with grass. The remainder of Miss Bugby's talk consisted of the experiences of young people in India, including the love story of Charles and Hannah Wesley. The listeners were especially interested in the display of ornaments and pictures which the speaker exhibited.

Night School Planned For Victory Gardeners

Preliminary arrangements have been made for a special night school course for any adults interested in vegetable gardening. A qualified instructor will be hired, and the class will meet at the high school twice a week for a period of five weeks.

Various problems connected with preparation of the seed bed, planting, cultivating, disease and insect control, and harvesting will be studied.

The entire cost of the course will be met by the State Board of Control for Vocational Education. Any adults interested should communicate with Marshall Richards, teacher of vocational agriculture in the local schools.

ENTERS ARMY SERVICE

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Trafford, formerly of Chicago, were guests the past week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Dancer. Mr. Trafford, who left on Sunday for Fort Crowder, Mo., to enter army service, was honor guest at a party on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell McLaughlin, when he was presented with a gift. Mr. and Mrs. Dancer entertained at a farewell dinner on Saturday. For the present, Mrs. Trafford (formerly Agnes Dancer) will make her home with her parents.

ANNUAL REPORT

Chelsea Public Library

At the Village election in March, 1942, Mrs. P. G. Schaible and Mrs. A. A. Palmer were elected for a term of three years to succeed themselves as trustees of the Chelsea Public Library Board.

According to the By-Laws, officers were elected on March 17 as follows: President—Mrs. W. R. Daniels; Vice-President—Walter Harper; Secretary—Mrs. A. A. Palmer; Treasurer—Mrs. Waldo Kusterer. The following committees were appointed to function for the year:

Books—Mrs. P. G. Schaible, Mrs. Waldo Kusterer; Publicity—Mrs. Schaible; Maintenance—Mrs. A. A. Palmer; Walter Harper; Public Relations—Henry Schneider.

A movement to secure pamphlets and folders to follow the channel of thought in the minds of persons in war time resulted in the collection of data concerning Victory Gardens, First Aid, Nutrition, Buying, Greeting, Conservation of Materials, etc. This collection grew to such an extent that filing cabinets became a necessity.

These were purchased by the Board and wonderful strides have been made in filing the source material for those interested in topics for reference. Another channel of thought along which modern libraries work is in cataloging files. This application requires an untold amount of technique, but our librarian has been efficiently engaged in this phase of work as a follow-up of the Board's action in purchasing an up-to-date cataloging file.

The State Library outlined inspirational Summer Institutes for librarians and trustees to be held in Hartland in May. In response to this announcement, Mrs. Walworth, the librarian, accompanied by Mrs. Daniels, representing the Chelsea Library Board spent three days full of value and enthusiasm at the conference. Several recommendations were relayed to the group and throughout the year various projects have been promoted in response to the inspiration gathered from the lectures and discussions carried on at that time.

In cooperation with Mr. Johnson, Superintendent of the Public Schools, the Publicity and Book committees worked out a plan for summer reading for children. Through registration blanks, the students were enrolled for this project. The courtesy was extended also to the Parochial school and children in the rural areas, with the slogan: "Not how much you read, but how well." As an accompaniment to the children's efforts, a chart was planned for display in the library, to hold stars in recognition of books read. When the summer program had been completed and after the opening of school in September, the awards were given in individual grades rather than in an assembly as in previous years.

Another worthy summer activity was that of a Story Hour conducted for children two mornings a week. Under the able direction of Mrs. Kusterer, a list of sixteen volunteer storytellers was assembled, and each worked individually with groups of children who would otherwise have been unoccupied during that particular hour of the day. Much enthusiasm was displayed, both by the children and the story-teller, with the result that the project will be repeated in the summer of 1943. The volunteers were invited to meet with the Board at the library on the morning of September 2 with the request that they come prepared to give suggestions of interest and value for the story program of 1943. One suggestion seemed to lead to another until the secretary had listed a most profitable group of ideas upon which to base future plans. These suggestions are listed in the record of the meeting set down in the secretary's book for September 1942. A duplicate list was sent to Mrs. Howard Flintoff who was appointed chairman for 1943. To assist her, the president named Mrs. Alfred Mayer, Mrs. Lawton Steger, Mrs. Wilbur Hinderer and Mrs. Waldo Kusterer.

An indefinite loan of a duplicate set of Encyclopedias was made to the Manchester library. That organization in turn accepted the loan and hoped at some early date to reciprocate.

As is the custom during National Book Week in November, Mrs. Schaible, who throughout the year so capably handled her many assignments, worked out a splendid program that was extremely expansive and far-reaching. She outlined very specifically all of the points accomplished by the library since its inception and planned to use this data as a basis for her program. Her subject was divided into sub-topics and presented in the first November meeting of the Chelsea Study Club, whose members were the instigators of the library idea—various members presenting certain phases of the library from its birth to its present functioning. This material, in turn was handled by Mr. Schneider, who presented it to the Kiwanis Club, where it was received with equal enthusiasm. Along with her club projects, Mrs. Schaible worked out committees consisting of community personnel who are library patrons, resulting in store window displays of Old Bibles, Old Books, Favorite Books, Book Marks and Book Plates. As a climax to Book Week, the library was open to the public for an evening meeting, at which time Miss Ruth Barnes of the Michigan State Normal in Ypsilanti, gave a lecture on books, old and new.

No small town library can boast of more interested friends than that in Chelsea. Letters are always appreciated, as well as the useful gifts that have come to our doors. Among those received which we do appreciate are: "Du Pont 140 Years," sent by the Du Pont Company of Wilmington, Delaware; a bequest of books from the late Mrs. Mabel Blum of Ann Arbor; Book Plates designed by Miss Ida Brown and presented by our own member, H. Schneider; a group of books from D. L. Rogers; a set of three bound volumes of pamphlets relative to steel in its many uses, presented by the United States Steel Corporation; a number of books from Orla B. Taylor, including history, biography and encyclopedias; an inspiring group from Mrs. Wm. Chapin of Detroit; a book written by Louis Doll of Ann Arbor, formerly of Chelsea. These are all appreciated by the Board and are placed at the disposal of the community for reading and reference. These books are all marked with the Book Plates mentioned above and may by this means be identified as gifts.

Among the fine contributions which have come to us in the past year is the attractive American Flag presented to the Library by Mrs. Kusterer. It is one of the very fine gestures made by our trustee who in her work has been one of our worthy members. Her withdrawal as a candidate for re-election leaves a vacancy very difficult to fill.

Along the line of outside interest may be mentioned the exhibit, which Miss Ruth Foster of Grass Lake loaned to the library for several weeks. It consisted of rare shells and fungi gathered by Miss Foster on the beaches of the Atlantic Ocean and the Gulf of Mexico. She has made this a hobby and by placing it in our library, gave the benefit of her careful study to the patrons whom we serve.

One of the patriotic gestures of the library was its cooperation in the sale of Defense Stamps. The librarian has kept a supply on hand and to date has sold stamps to the value of $792.50.

These are days when every support for Victory counts for much even though we may feel that it is not enough and any part of the library may have in the light of helping in the present emergency has the support of the Board 100 per cent. We may look back on a year that has meant growth in equipment and growth in service to our patrons, which is our contribution to the community.

The following quotes the annual report of the President, Mrs. W. R. Daniels:

"All flattery aside, I believe the Chelsea Public Library has the very great opportunity for promoting education in this community. What are we doing about it?"

"A library is either a custodian or an educator and I do believe the general public in Chelsea is becoming more keenly conscious of our indispensable part in this community's education."

"On our shelves one may find a well balanced group of books and in our vertical file we are collecting last minute material on various subjects. The children's corner is attractive and full of fine juvenile books. The magazine and newspaper section is popular and more and more do we find people dropping in to read and look up reference material."

"I do think that our library can do more than any one agency to see that the public is honestly informed. I believe that the library is inherently a weapon to help the war effort by aiding in the process of education, both on a national and a local scale."

"During the past year we have endeavored to exist as a vital force in our community life. We can no longer measure our success by the number of books we circulate. We must interpret service anew. As Mildred Bruder, Director of Publicity at the Chicago Public Library says, 'We must resolve to know and understand. To help others to realize the dignity of faith and mind and character and work. To develop the ability of Americans.' All this is education and part of the task of the Chelsea Public Library."

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Looks like a pretty expensive cigar you've got there, Judge."

"Yesiree, it's a real good one, Bill. Won it from Chris down at the cigar store yesterday. He got pretty positive in a discussion we had and I had to take him up on it. Bet me three good cigars to my one that the three states that still have prohibition have less crime than the other states. Well, all I had to do was step across the street to my office where I had some recent F. B. I. figures in my desk drawer. Why, on the average, those three states have a worse crime record than the whole rest of the country. And there's a good sound reason for it, Bill. There's no such thing as a dry community. It's only a question of whether liquor is sold legally or illegally. And when it's sold illegally it means bootleggers, gangsters and more crime."

Vocational Ag Will Be Taught In 9th Grades

Vocational agriculture will be taught in the ninth grade in Michigan schools offering vocational agriculture beginning July 1, 1943, following action taken by the State Board of Control for Vocational Education at its meeting recently, George H. Fern, director, announced.

"The State Board considered the importance of gearing its regular program of vocational agriculture into the national war effort, and voted to take this step which will make vocational agriculture instruction available to approximately additional farm youth," Mr. Fern said. Before this time, vocational agriculture has not been taught until the tenth grade. There are now approximately 7,000 boys in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades taking this instruction.

"The action of the State Board will open courses in vocational agriculture to approximately 50 per cent more farm youth, and others, beginning in July," Mr. Fern said.

In addition, the State Board decided to train high school youth who wish to be employed on farms, in the farm worker training courses. These are short unit courses of about 15 hours and are confined to a specific type of instruction, which the boys will need to work on the farms next spring.

As an example of what can be accomplished, Benton Harbor has been training 60 city boys to operate tractors, thus preparing them to work on the fruit farms of the area this spring.

CHELSEA DEFEATS U. HIGH

By Bob Strieter

During the last week the Chelsea High basketball team broke even when Manchester defeated them but Chelsea in turn defeated U. High to win the Huron League Western Division Championship. Manchester scored a 19-16 victory to win their first game this season. U. High lost by a 31-30 count in the best basketball game played this year.

Manchester had lost 13 straight games when they beat their old, traditional rival, 19-16. Chelsea played a very poor game offensively but held their own defensively. They failed to control the backboard and consequently never got started. The four boys who have been sitting on the bench most of the season started the game and gave a very credible account of themselves. The other five who have been playing started the second quarter but never got to clicking. Bob Edgar seemed to be the only one who was playing basketball and ended by being high point man with 7 points.

Our second team continued on its winning ways by defeating the Manchester seconds 20-15. Bahnmiller was high point man with 9 points. These boys have lost but one game this year when Dexter defeated them 29-26.

However, last Saturday, our boys journeyed to Ypsilanti to engage U. High for the Western Division Title and the right to meet Lincoln for the Huron League Championship. The last game with U. High ended in a 28-25 tie which, according to league rules, necessitated this game. Both teams started at a fast but somewhat cautious clip. The first quarter ended in a 7-7 tie. At the half the score was 14-13 in favor of U. High. The referees were the best this year and were right on the ball all the time. The officials called the fouls very close and at half-time, both teams had quite a number of fouls. However, most of the players finished the game.

The third quarter saw U. High forge ahead when Bedford sank six straight foul shots. Kern kept Chelsea in the game by scoring a couple of field goals but U. High led 26-22 at the end of this period. With but eight minutes to overcome this lead, Chelsea poured on the steam. Kusterer and Edgar led the attack. With the score 30-26 Kusterer tipped in a shot to make 28 and then Bob Edgar sank a shot from the middle of the floor to tie it up. At this point, with 40 seconds to go, Policht fouled Jamison but he in turn missed the foul throw. Then with but two seconds to go, Bob Edgar was fouled. Bedlam broke loose in the gym. If Bob could sink this shot, the game would be over; if he missed the game would go into overtime. However, with the pressure on, Bob SANK the shot. The game then ended. However, all the credit should not go to Bob and the rest of the team. Certainly, most of it should go to Coach Cameron for developing such a team. There has been many close games which Chelsea has lost but at last one was reversed.

CO-EDITORS

The second team again scored a victory over the opponents' seconds. With Bahnmiller leading the way with 14 points, U. High was defeated 30-11.

Tomorrow night, the Huron League Championship will be decided when Lincoln Consolidated, victor of the Eastern Division, takes on the Chelsea quintet. Lincoln has a good team but Chelsea has proved that they have too. This game will be played on the U. High court at Ann Arbor. The preliminary game will start at 7:00. The first team game will start at 8:30. Certainly the citizens of Chelsea owe it to the team to go to this game. The season this year has been very successful and if Lincoln is defeated, it will be the crowning feat of this great season. So let's all turn out at U. High tomorrow night.

The tournaments this year are to be held the 12th, 18th and 19th of March. Because of this, the Senior play has been postponed to the 26th.

Beat Fed Nation

Are you having difficulty with the food problem? I think not, if you plan your meals ahead of time and allow rationing points accordingly. Rationing of food is merely a fair way of proportioning food so as to protect the majority of the people against hoarders. Many housewives are going to find it necessary to allow considerable more time for preparing meals now than when it was possible to use all canned foods. The canned foods, which we would have eaten, will be sent to the armed forces, who, I'm sure we all feel, need it much more than we.

Perhaps many of you have noticed the pink meat rationing stamp in your Ration Book 2 and have wondered if meat rationing really will come. Authorities say it is bound to come within the next six weeks for even now meat, in some parts of our country, is impossible to buy. However, this ration is going to be ample amount for the average person.

So, with a little more time and foresight on the part of the housewife and a little more consideration from us, we are, by nutritional reports, going to be among the best fed nations in the world.

Defeat Manchester

By Cameron Colquhoun
The Junior basketball team traveled to Manchester last Saturday to come home with their fourth straight victory.

The game was played on an even basis throughout the first quarter. Manchester led at the end of the first quarter, 9 to 8. Throughout the second quarter the score rose in Chelsea's favor, 17-10.

From then on the game was Chelsea's. The final score was 55 to 14 in Chelsea's favor.

Chelsea's lineup was as follows: Guards, R. Knickerbocker with 15 points; J. Miller, 4 points; C. Colquhoun, Center, 8 points; Forwards, Daniels, 10 points and Elsiele, 7 points. Chelsea was minus Loren Munro, regular forward.

Chelsea J. B. B. has gone through the season undefeated.

Our school was visited last week by John Hall, agricultural specialist from the State Board of Control for Vocational Education. Mr. Hall explained how the new point system may be used in claiming the $50 fund which is available annually to each F. F. A. chapter in Michigan. The object of the plan is to promote larger and more profitable farm projects. Checks for $10 or less will be given to each boy winning a prize.

The Vegetable Garden committee has prepared a large diagram showing the location of each 40x80 ft. plot in the McKinley street tract. These gardens are being rented for the summer for $2.50 each. The rental fee includes plowing and fitting of the land and the use of certain F. F. A. tools. A factory-made garden tractor has been loaned to the school, and during the coming weeks it will be repaired and re-conditioned in the Farm Shop Department.

The District Basketball Tournaments will be played March 12, 19, 20 at Michigan Center. Drawings have not yet been made but will be announced at a later date.

Pep Meeting

A pep meeting was held last Wednesday morning in preparation for the Manchester game that was held last Wednesday night.

Bob Strieter was chairman. Short talks were given by Tom Lyons and L. Policht. Mr. Cameron also gave a short pep talk. The pep meeting was concluded with the singing of the school song.

U. High Defeats Girls

U. High played the Chelsea girls Friday, February 26, defeating them by a 10-7 score. The starting line-up was Lucht, Lyons and Schweinfurth at forward, Harper, Feldkamp and Grabowski at guard. Substituting were Geddes, Lehman, Perkins and Vail at forward, Eisenbeiser, Kohman, Spaulding and Schmidt at guard.

At half time the score was 5-3 in Chelsea's favor but in the second half the girls were unable to cope with U. High's fast playing and U. High won the game, 10-7.

All arrangements have not been made, but Pinckney is expected to play a game here next Friday.

STOCKBRIDGE—Charles A. Runciman was born in Sylvan township, Washtenaw county, Aug. 14, 1881 and died at his farm home near Gregory after a long illness, on Friday, Feb. 19, 1943.—Brief-Sun. He was the son of the late George Runciman of this place.

MILAN—Another new record was set Tuesday when the Red Cross Blood Donors Unit of the Detroit Area established a blood donors clinic at the Milan Federal Prison. An average day's work for the blood donors unit is an average of 125 to 135 pints of blood. At the prison Tuesday 184 pints of blood were donated by the inmates and staff. Of the total number of donors, 140 were inmates and 44 were members of the custodial and clerical staff. Only 26 volunteers were rejected by the attending physicians, most of these on account of slight colds.—Leader.

MORENCI—Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Stone have recently had a very unusual experience. For some time now Mrs. Stone has been commenting upon the fact that it took two bushels of corn daily to feed, sufficiently, her flock of 200 chickens. On Monday, Mr. Stone decided to look into the matter. Upon investigation he learned ed that rats had been busily at work in that particular chicken coop, and with the help of his wife and their dog they were able to capture and kill 163 rats, which they placed in a gunny sack and brought to town.—Observer.

PLYMOUTH—For the first time in the history of the Plymouth postoffice, no carrier is available for rural route 4, along Plymouth road, east of the city. Postmaster Harry Irwin has announced that effective immediately, deliveries of mail to the residents on this route will be made only every other day, instead of every day.—Mail.

Mrs. Housewife, you and your family are patriotic citizens—eager to aid the war effort in every way you can.

Long Distance telephone lines are communication channels that help make America's war production fast and efficient. Many of them are crowded with essential war messages today, and the less important civilian calls must not interfere.

You can do your part by following these rules:
Do not make a Long Distance call unless it is really important.
Keep every call as brief as you can.

"TOWN AND FARM IN WARTIME"

A weekly news digest from the Rural Press Section of the Office of War Information News Section

May Still Get Ration Book One
Any person who did not register for War Ration Book One before January 15, 1943 may get it from his local War Price and Ration Board after February 22, provided the necessary application has been examined and approved.

Get Your Coal Supply
Because certain kinds of coal are now difficult to obtain, those planning to convert to coal should make arrangements to secure their supply before starting actual conversion. Coal consumers are urged to place orders for their entire next winter's supply immediately, to accept the coal as it can be delivered, and to place it in protective storage during summer months when production and transportation are more readily available.

Increase Canned Vegetables for Civilians
Civilian supplies of canned vegetables from next summer's estimated pack will be increased by approximately 10 million cases under new food orders, which provide changes in the amounts of certain processed foods that must be reserved for Government requirements from the 1943 pack. Most of the increase will be in canned tomatoes and snap beans with no significant change in fruits and juices.

Gas To Drive To Work
Car owners who drive to work and do not get enough mileage from their Ration book may now get additional allowances—if they show they cannot get to their jobs any other way.

Applications must be made to local rationing boards and must fulfill the following conditions in addition to needing more gas: 1. That driving is between home and a fixed place of work, in connection with their principal occupation; 2. That either a ride-sharing arrangement has been made or that the vehicle carries a full load; 3. That alternative transportation is inadequate.

Sugar Stamp 12—Worth Five Pounds
Sugar ration stamp No. 12, which becomes valid March 16, is worth five pounds, but it must last through the end of May, a period of eleven weeks. Stamp 11, good for three pounds, is valid from February 1 to March 15.

More Rubber for Recapping
Owners of tires smaller than 7.50x20 will soon be able to get their castings recapped with reclaimed rubber "camelback" without applying to their rationing boards for certificates. This does not relax the need for continued observance of rubber conservation measures. The change was made to reduce the demand for replacement tires by encouraging recapping, which takes less than half as much reclaimed rubber as a new war tire.

V-Mail Safest
More than fifty thousand individual V-mail letters from American soldiers in England to relatives and friends in the U. S. were destroyed when a Canada-bound RAF plane crashed in Newfoundland. The original letters were reproduced at the Army postal service's V-mail station in England and dispatched by a later plane for the U. S. This incident shows the value of V-mail over ordinary letters.

Farmers Get Gas for Six Months
Farmers may obtain gasoline for their tractors, engines, and other non-highway equipment for a period of six months instead of three months under a change in rationing regulations announced by the OPA.

The change is being made because of the variability of farming operations which frequently make it difficult for farmers to estimate their requirements for only a three-month period. It will also save the farmers' time.

Youth Farm Training Is Getting Good Start

The Michigan Youth Farm Labor program, designed to enlist and train high school boys and girls to meet the emergency of a farm labor shortage, is under way. Benton Harbor high school is the first school to report installation of special courses with 40 boys already attending classes in farm tractor operation.

Saline high school is reported to be enrolling students in farm training courses. County Farm Labor committees, appointed by county Councils of Defense, are organizing the program in many sections of the state, with agricultural communities taking the lead.

The training program is being conducted under the direction of the State Board of Control for Vocational Education, authorized to employ special instructors and additional labor where necessary.

The general design of the courses aims at basic training in the simpler farm tools, with instruction methods left to the instructors. Week-end field trips and visits to farms will be included in the courses.

Encouraging interest is being shown in the program by high school youths in all sections of the state, according to C. B. Dibble, State Administrator of the training plan, and farmers are cooperating in a way which assures success of the program.

Announces Garden Contest
A State-wide Victory Garden contest which will give both city and farm home gardeners chances to win prizes has been announced by Paul R. Krone, Chief of the Victory Garden Section, Civilian War Service Division of the Michigan Council of Defense, who is also general chairman of the contest.

Awards will be made in the following classes:

Best farm vegetable garden; best urban or suburban vegetable garden; best home grounds in which all work is done by owner or tenant; best home grounds in which some help is employed; best school garden; best children's garden and best home grounds entered by the Michigan Horticultural Society.

The contest is sponsored by the Michigan Horticultural Society in cooperation with the Michigan Horticultural Council and organizations it represents, including the Michigan State Florists' Association, the Michigan State Nurserymen's Association, the Michigan State Seedmen's Association, together with the State Department of Agriculture. The Council of Defense is cooperating.

Prof. Johnston To Speak At Young Mothers' Club

The Young Mothers' Child Study club and their guests will meet at the home of Mrs. Lawrence Riemenschneider, 175 Park St., on Tuesday evening, March 9, at 8 o'clock.

The speaker for this occasion will be Professor Edgar G. Johnston, Associate Professor of Secondary Education and High School Visitor in the Bureau of Cooperation with Educational Institutions at the University of Michigan.

Prof. Johnston is a graduate of Wooster College at Wooster, Ohio, and of Columbia University where he received his Ph. D. He has had a wide teaching experience in the secondary schools of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Utah, Washington and California.

Prof. Johnston's subject for discussion will be "Leisure Time Activities for Children." In this topic he will discuss the necessity of the American public secondary school, the institution that has become the concrete expression of the desire of citizens in general for the training of youth in leisure pursuits as well as work.

TRAINING AT GREAT LAKES
Great Lakes, Ill.—Charles S. Walker, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walker, 116 Dewey St., Chelsea, Mich., has donned the Navy blue of a sailor and is undergoing "boot" training at the U. S. Naval Training Station here, the world's largest. Upon completing recruit training he will be given a nine-day leave, after which he will be assigned to a service school for further training to learn a specialized Navy trade or be sent to active duty with the fleet of a shore station.

Recruits are given thorough instruction in the fundamentals of seamanship and Naval procedure and customs. They are physically hardened through participation in the Navy's vigorous physical conditioning program. They also take a series of aptitude tests to determine what type of work they will be best qualified for in the Navy.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish in this way to express my appreciation to the neighbors and friends who sent cards, letters and flowers; also to the gang at Plant 2 of the Federal Sewer Works for their donation.

Get Your Coal Supply
Because certain kinds of coal are now difficult to obtain, those planning to convert to coal should make arrangements to secure their supply before starting actual conversion. Coal consumers are urged to place orders for their entire next winter's supply immediately, to accept the coal as it can be delivered, and to place it in protective storage during summer months when production and transportation are more readily available.

MURDER AT PIRATE'S HEAD

By Isabel Waits
Released by WNU

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I—Judy Jason, who is spending her vacation at Pirate's Head, receives an anonymous letter enclosing a key and asking her to bid for an abandoned church to be auctioned the next day. She suspects, in turn, each of the guests at the inn where she is also staying. They are the Reverend John DeWitt, Lily Kendall, Thaddeus Quincy, Al Potter, Hugh Norcross and his sister, Bessie. Other possible suspects are Uncle Wylie and Aunt Nella Gerry, who operate the inn. But the sender of the letter is still unknown when Judy bids for the church and gets it. That night she finds a hand protruding from an old chest in the basement of the church. By a ring she recognizes it as Roddy Lane's. Roddy is, or was, the son of an unscrupulous banker who once owned the black-promontory called Pirate's Head.

CHAPTER II—When Judy returns to the inn she finds a new guest, Victor Quade, who has parked his trailer nearby and who will take his meals at the inn. The telephone wires are cut.

CHAPTER III—The party at the inn is further isolated when the bridge from the "Head" to the mainland is blown up. Now Aunt Nella's piercing scream has been heard from the direction of the sea.

CHAPTER IV—A delegation sent to the church to investigate finds the chest empty.

CHAPTER V—Later Victor tells Judy that he found a bloodstained golf club near the chest.

CHAPTER VI—A fish shed burns, apparently killing an old man named Brown who is supposed to have lived there, although no one has ever seen him. Uncle Wylie's pipe is found near the ruins of the shed.

flugh turned to her. "What Quade means is that, if we all come clean, this murder will OUT. Evidently he thinks it's one of us. Just as some of us think it might be funny HE should turn up when he did."

Victor looked at me. "Guess I'll have to tell them, Judy."

"It might be better, Mr. Quade," Victor came around where he could see us all. "I'm not too flattered none of you recognizes me," he said. "Anyone ever read 'Blood on the Neckline'?" Lily Kendall's eyes were scattered on the porch.

"I have. Gee, it was swell! Why you ain't? Now don't tell me!"

"Or 'Window Ledge' or 'Ghost in the Chasm'?" Victor rattled on.

"I've heard of them," Bessie said. "And I've read 'em all, Mr. Victor Quade." He sat back and spoke up. "Mighty good reading. A fellow named them to me in 'Once'."

State's Prison, did he mean? His face was purple. Would he explain? I wondered, but he didn't. There was an uncomfortable shuffling till Victor went on to say:

"You're right. I'm Victor Quade, but my real name's Quade, Victor Quade. The others just a pseudonym. And I am recovering from an attack of rheumatic fever. Therefore the trailer and the rest by the sea. You can verify that much, later. Chose to come on my own name for a little seclusion so I could do another book. Well, you've given me the book."

"You mean you're going to cut us all in a book? How terrible!" Lily shrieked.

"I don't know. If I do it would be nothing personal—nothing you'd get wish that your friends might identify you by. A writer can change a story so you wouldn't recognize it as ever having happened to you. But that's not here nor there. Being Victor Quade doesn't give me an alibi."

"I'll say it doesn't," Quincy shot at him.

"However," Victor ignored the interruption, "it does place me—give the rest of you something to go on."

"How do you know you didn't cook up the whole thing? Get even with Lane and hide behind your vocation?" I was ashamed for Mrs. Quincy.

Victor looked at me and said his first book was about Mrs. Jason having been killed in a room at the inn. It would be a good time to search his golf bag, I thought, but Victor only shrugged again and said nonchalantly, "Oh, nothing. Just wondered whose masher might be missing. Saw one back of Judy's hope chest in the church basement. It had blood on it."

"See here, Mr. Quade," Potter said in a voice that trembled, "you had no right to keep this to yourself."

"Yes, why didn't you show us?" "I didn't see any club with blood on it."

"Funny, you should be the only one."

"They were all talking at once. Hugh Norcross started down the steps. 'The minister—Mr. DeWitt there—just said he was using my club on the lawn. Well, if he was, I can soon prove it. All my clubs are initialed. I'll get my masher.'"

"But, Hugh, where are you going?" Bessie cried.

"The tent. Left my bag in the tent and forgot to take it in afterward. Don't you remember?"

billfold, but stuffed it back again. "Guess you've got me. Thought I had a statement from my publisher, but I must have left it at home when I dumped the rest of my pockets. That's a good one. You'll have to take me on faith, mingled with doubt, of course—unless it's in another pocket in the trailer. Shall we go see?" He shrugged. "Personally I can think of a dozen more important—"

"Well, I can't. You come to the Head and hell busts loose. Give Judy and Norcross the keys to your trailer and let 'em look. Only take a jiff. Mr. Quincy tapped the end of each sentence with a cane.

All we needed was direction, Norcross said, then done stuff, to relieve the tension. "The two of us ran up the pasture to the lovely new trailer. It'd never been inside one before. Compact! Why it had everything. Everything but the publisher's letter. We looked it up again and hurried to report."

"No letter," Norcross said. "Put you on the same spot with me, Mr. Quade."

"Except that he did have a type-writer. And—and there was a sheet of paper in it," I said.

Hugh Norcross said accusingly: "Go on, Miss Jason. Tell what he'd written."

"It said—it said—there was just a title in capitals."

"Yes. And the title was—'Murder on the Bluff'!" Hugh finished for me. "Now was that a coincidence or was that a coincidence?"

Thaddeus Quincy thumped furiously. "Either he's the maniac or it lets him out and he is Victor Quade. Mystery story, don't you see? I move we let it lie and go on. Mr. Quade will have to stick around where we can keep an eye on him, anyway. What were the dozen more important things you spoke of a moment or two ago?"

Albion Potter leaned forward, wide-eyed. "May I say something?" He seemed awfully self-conscious, speaking up before us all. "It's about—you'll think me foolish, but—don't forget, he took my turpentine. If I'd only discovered it before I went to town I could have bought some more."

I saw Victor give him a half glance, then turn his attention to Bessie Norcross. "The fire does make that missing turpentine seem more portentous. You—you didn't try to clean that spot off your white coat with a little of Mr. Potter's turpentine, did you, Miss Norcross?"

"What spot?" Bessie twisted around to look where we were all looking. There, sure enough, was a big, black, greasy-looking smudge, fading away into yellowish rust. Good grief! How did I get that on there? She pulled at the offending skirt and murmured regretfully. "My new white coat!"

Hugh stared fixedly at the spot. "That's my guinea," he said. "Sorry. I said I made it worse, Bessie."

CHAPTER VIII

"You cleaned it for her? With turpentine?"

"Uh-huh. Gave me a little. Don't you remember, Potter? You were working on that painting of the Quaker church and I asked if turpentine would do the trick and you said it would and gave me some on my handkerchief."

"That right, Mr. Potter?"

"Sorry, Norcross," the artist said. "I recall no such incident."

Bessie's face flamed. "I don't see what difference it makes if my coat has a spot on it except to me. If my brother tried to clean it off I'm sure that was very kind of him. Aren't all artists proverbially absent-minded? It's where your old turpentine went. It wasn't stolen at all. You used it up, Mr. Potter."

Albion didn't answer her, but he looked shocked as he edged away to the other side of the group back to Mr. Quincy's chair.

"There's a question I'd like to ask," Victor said. "How many of you have golf clubs here?"

Hugh and Bessie admitted they'd brought theirs, and Aunt Nella reminded us that the minister had some by a significant nod. He had kept silent until the force of unspoken glances made him say:

"That shot I made on the lawn last night. Wasn't my club. Belonged to Mr. Norcross, I think. Didn't bring my own downstairs yet. Why, Quade?"

It would be a good time to search his golf bag, I thought, but Victor only shrugged again and said nonchalantly, "Oh, nothing. Just wondered whose masher might be missing. Saw one back of Judy's hope chest in the church basement. It had blood on it."

"See here, Mr. Quade," Potter said in a voice that trembled, "you had no right to keep this to yourself."

"Yes, why didn't you show us?" "I didn't see any club with blood on it."

"Funny, you should be the only one."

"But, Hugh, where are you going?" Bessie cried.

"The tent. Left my bag in the tent and forgot to take it in afterward. Don't you remember?"

If she did, Bessie looked pretty anxious. "Did you see any initials along side the blood?" Mr. Quincy banged the railing and made us all jump.

Victor shook his head. We were all watching Hugh Norcross emerge from his tent without any bag.

"Queer. They're not in the tent. Must be upstairs after all."

Uncle Wylie, who'd been fiddling with his beloved pipe, now sprang up suddenly. "What you looking for, Mr. Norcross? I carried in those clubs. You'll find 'em in your room behind the door."

White Ants

Termites, which commonly, but erroneously, are called "white ants," are about one-quarter inch long with soft, grayish-white, oval bodies. They make flights in the spring and the fall, but their wings are weakly attached to the body and are easily cast off.

They feed on dead cellulose tissues, burrowing underground, and hollow out wooden beams and foundations.
