Accident Forms Sent To Police and Sheriffs

Report forms on which all drivers involved in bodily injury accidents after the new Financial Responsibility Law takes effect on July 30 were delivered this week by Herman H. Dignan, secretary of state, who has charge of administering the new law, to all police and sheriffs' departments in Michigan.

The forms are simplified so that anyone may easily answer the required questions, and it is mandatory under the law that a form be filled out within ten days of a bodily injury accident by every driver involved in the accident. A copy of the form is published in this issue of The Standard.

Questions asked include the information contained on all car registration certificates and operators' licenses, plus data on time and place of the accident, names and addresses of all owners or drivers involved in the accident, persons injured or killed and information on whether the car involved was protected by public liability insurance at the time of the accident, and if so, the name of the issuing company and the policy number.

A notation at the bottom of the form warns that failure to render the report to the Department of State within ten days of the accident constitutes a misdemeanor and is sufficient grounds for the suspension or revocation of the operator's license and registration certificate.

Secretary Dignan pointed out that the information on liability insurance is required in order that his offices may determine the financial liability of the driver. If acceptable insurance was in force at the time of the accident, his office need proceed no further. If no liability insurance was in force, his office is required under the law to demand a deposit of cash or a bond up to an amount of $11,000 for satisfaction of any damage claims arising from the accident. Liability to furnish either cash or a bond will result in revocation of the operator's license, car registration certificate and license plates until such time as damage claims are satisfied and proof of future financial responsibility is furnished.

Governor Appeals for Help In Farm Areas

Lansing—Granting of supplemental gasoline allowances to harvest workers is expected to help clear the way to save Michigan's fruit and vegetable crops.

An appeal that workers promptly respond in force in the farm areas dependent on itinerant labor has now been made by Governor Harry F. Kelly, who announced that the district OPA offices in the State will approve extra gasoline rations needed for transportation.

Agreement of the OPA followed consultation with the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense, the United States Employment Service and the Extension Service of Michigan State College, Governor Kelly said. Facilities of the Office of Civilian Defense have also been offered in the labor recruiting program.

"We are confronting an emergency that must be met without delay," Governor Kelly emphasized. "All of us realize that every ounce of food that is produced must be used. I appeal to those persons who can make themselves available for the harvests to do so at once. Bringing in the crops is a patriotic duty and those who take this employment are soldiers in the farm army."

Most pressing emergency at this time is the 15,000,000-pound cherry crop in the Grand Traverse region, where 7,000 to 10,000 pickers have been employed in past years. The cherries are ripe and must be harvested, now. To get assistance, farmers are paying higher wages. Other crops which will require thousands of migrant helpers are peaches, apples, grapes, string beans, cucumbers, and onions.

Harvest workers should report to the United States Employment Service or the county agent's office in their home area for job assignments or to show they have jobs waiting for them. They will then be certified for gasoline for the round trip. Not less than two must travel in a car. Additional gasoline will be allowed for essential use while in the farm area.

Recently OPA also authorized supplemental gasoline for emergency farm workers employed near their homes.

The "Swing Band" will furnish the music for the dance to be held Friday evening, July 23, beginning at 9:00 p. m. The admission will be 30c. Be sure you have your signed pledge with you so you are not held up at the door. Don Alber and Jim Gaken were the coldest pop in town at these dances.

Two new captains have been selected to organize teams of boys under 15. See Jim Miller or George Heydlauff if you wish to play ball on these teams.

Fred Weber and Martin Tobin were the winners of the croquet tournament for boys under 12. They successfully defeated the teams of George Heydlauff and Carl O'Dell, Kenneth Hale and Danny Maroney, G. Knickerbocker and George Smith. The prizes will be awarded at the end of the season.

There are entries to be made in the tennis tournament to be played at the high school tennis court. Make your entry at the playground with Grace Riemenschneider or Charles Cameron. Any boy or girl may enter the tournament.

A horseshoe tournament for boys 12 to 15 will be held Monday evening, July 26, beginning at 7:00 at the athletic field. Find a partner and start practicing so you might win the prize for this contest.

An archery tournament for boys under 15 will be held on Wednesday evening, July 28, at the athletic field, beginning at 7:00 p. m.

All girls interested in a croquet tournament meet at the athletic field at 7:00 o'clock Friday evening, July 23.

A singles horseshoe contest for boys 12 to 15 will be held at the same time at the athletic field.

The Chelsea Recreation Council invites the public to participate in the activities of the recreation program. Send your children to the high school playground during the day. The program begins at 10:00 a. m. and the playground closes at 6:00 p. m. The evening activities are carried on at the athletic field. Come out and use the games and equipment provided for you by the Chelsea Recreation Council.

Former Local Resident Is Missing In Action

Staff Sgt. David L. Butcher, 25, a tall gunner in a Flying Fortress, has been missing in action since a bombing raid over France on July 4, according to a War department telegram received by his mother, Mrs. Mary Butcher, at Oak Park, Ill.

Sgt. Butcher was the first Ann Arbor man to enlist in the Regular Army when a pre-induction office was set up there in August of 1940. A native of Oak Park, Ill. he received his first two years of high school education in the Chelsea public school, when the family resided here for a time, and later graduated from the high school in Oak Park.

From 1938 until the time of his enlistment he lived with his brother, R. T. Butcher and family, in Ann Arbor.

Assigned to the Air Corps in 1940 as a regular Army man, Sgt. Butcher was stationed for two years at Scott Field, Ill. after which he was sent to gunnery schools at Las Vegas, Nev. and Salt Lake City, Utah. He then visited every state in the Union except Washington and Oregon during training flights. He has been overseas since May, stationed in England.

WFA Announces New Commodity Allocation

Civilians will receive nearly 70 per cent of the prospective supply of canned vegetables, including soups, and 53 per cent of the canned fruits and juices during the next 12 months, the War Food Administration said this week in announcing the allocation of these commodities.

The quantities allocated for civilians will provide during the 12 months beginning July 1 about 4 per cent more of the vegetable products than were consumed of the average during the 1935-39 period, but about 40 per cent less of canned fruits. In terms of total quantities of both groups of products, this represents about 213 million cases for civilians during the next 12 months, compared with estimated civilian consumption of 278 million cases in 1942 and an average of 225 million cases during 1935-39. These supplies will be augmented by heavy home canning production.

During the next fiscal year, allocable supplies of canned vegetables including soups, baked beans, and baby foods are estimated to total 822 million cases, with this prospective supply divided as follows: 70 per cent to civilians, 26 per cent for military and war services, and 1.2 per cent for our Allies, and the remainder for other exports and contingency reserves.

Allocable supplies of canned fruits and juices, including citrus, are estimated to total 61 million cases. Civilians will receive approximately 53 per cent, military and war services 40 per cent, less than one-half of 1 per cent to our Allies, and the remainder for reserves and other exports.

Mrs. George L. Staffan gave a birthday dinner for her grandson in the evening.

Schools Invest Heavily In Stamps and Bonds

Final tabulation in the War Investment Campaign carried on by the Washtenaw county rural schools during the past school year indicates purchases of stamps and bonds in the amount of $40,494.99. This represents an average of about $1125.00 per week and of more than $115.00 per year for every boy and girl attending rural schools.

The Braun school in Ann Arbor township, with Ida Mae Beattie as teacher, has made the largest contribution towards the war investment fund. This school, with an enrollment of twenty-four pupils, made purchases in the amount of $5,947.95.

Her new assignment at the flying school will make an enlisted man available for combat duty.

Some time ago I read in a newspaper where the driving privileges of approximately 1100 persons were revoked or suspended in about four months' time. This represented an increase of 116 per cent over the number revoked or suspended in the corresponding time in the previous year. This state is taking a very active part in the enforcement of traffic regulations. Mandatory revocation of licenses following conviction for manslaughter, negligent homicide, drunken driving, and the like, should be enforced in all states. I said once before that it is a privilege to drive and those people who enjoy that privilege and who obey laws should never be endangered by people who cannot appreciate the rights of others.

If Hitler wins, the issue for you will be living itself and not just the cost of living. Think that over and figure it out for yourself how much beyond 10 percent of your family income you should put into War Bonds every payday.

HOME-CANNED BERRIES TAKE LITTLE SUGAR

Home canned berries play leading roles in the pantry because they contribute vitamins and minerals for health, can be used in many ways, and are easy and inexpensive to can.

Blackberries, blueberries, boysenberries, raspberries, elderberries—can them all and others, too, with little or no sugar. Sugar gives them better flavor and more calories, but has nothing to do with keeping qualities.

Berries are too precious to waste and none will be wasted if you will see to it that every step taken is the right one. First of all, wash, rinse and examine your jars. Be sure to inspect the top edges of those to be sealed with glass top seal or two-piece vacuum seal closures because top seals refuse to work unless tops of the jars are perfect. Cover jars, glass lids, and zinc caps with lukewarm water.

Heat to boiling and keep hot until needed. Wash and rinse rubbers and vacuum seal lids and drop them in boiling water—they don't need boiling unless you plan to do old-fashioned open kettle canning—then they must be boiled a few minutes to sterilize.

Every berry must be fresh, sound, ripe, and firm. Wash them carefully and then take your choice of canning methods. Gladys Kimbrough, Home Service Director of Ball Brothers Company, prefers to hot-pack berries. This is how it is done. Place berries in a wide, shallow pan; add one-half cup sugar; for each quart of berries, set the pan over hot heat and simmer until the berries heat through and the sugar dissolves (remember you don't have to use any sugar); pour the hot berries into clean, hot jars and process five minutes in hot water-bath canner.

Idle Land in Michigan Needs Special Handling

More than a million acres of Michigan crop land probably will lie idle in fall this summer. It is not unusual to have six or eight hundred thousand acres of idle or fallow land in Michigan but usually most of this is second or third class land. Some of it is fallowed to control quack grass or other perennial weeds.

This year, however, there will be several hundred thousand acres of good southern Michigan land not producing crops because a cold April, an exceptionally wet May, and a shortage of experienced farm labor made it impossible to get the land planted.

A very substantial acreage of this fallow land will undoubtedly be planted to wheat this fall. This is a desirable procedure, according to H. C. Rafter, head of the Michigan State College farm crops department, for it will distribute both labor and crop hazards. Furthermore the soft wheats grown in Michigan are special purpose wheats needed for crackers, breakfast foods, pastries, and home baking as well as for feed and export.

Another very important use for fallow land, Rafter points out, is to cover it with summer seedings of alfalfa or sweet clover. Seedings of these legumes may be made with safety up to August 15, although late July dates are preferable. Alfalfa seedings made without grain are nearly always more certain than when sown with a grain crop although seedings with grain are more economical when successful.

"Since no grain will be harvested from these fallow lands in 1943, the question of economy of seeding is not involved and seeding the legumes without a companion crop becomes highly appropriate.

Additional advice from Rafter suggests that summer seedings of alfalfa or sweet clover should be made on clean, firm seedbeds with the seed planted at a shallow depth or sown on the surface and covered with a cultipacker. There is no more effective use for commercial fertilizer than to apply it in liberal quantities for a legume seeding. Many thousands of acres of Michigan alfalfa are now being seeded with bromegrass and the combination makes exceptionally good hay and pasture.

Sweet clover to be used for green manure will stand the winter better and be more effective in preventing erosion if 10 to 15 pounds per acre of common ryegrass is added to the standard quantity of 10 to 12 pounds of sweet clover seed per acre.

Vitamins for Winter Provided By Tomatoes

Vitamin C can't be stored up in the human body, but a supply of properly canned tomatoes can be put away for next winter's use, it is pointed out by home economics extension specialists at Michigan State College. Experienced home canners need only the suggestion, but brides and older housewives who have relied on fresh produce or the can opener may have to follow the book to get tomatoes processed properly.

Clean equipment, rapid handling and the use of fresh, sound fruit are recommended to prevent spoilage of juices or canned whole tomatoes. One bushel of tomatoes should yield 16 to 20 quarts when canned. Eight to 10 tomatoes, about three pounds, should yield a quart. A boiling water bath canner is recommended by the MSC specialists. Any clean vessel will do, if it has a good lid and is large enough to hold a convenient number of jars and deep enough to cover jar-tops with at least two inches of water. A wooden or wire rack is required, to keep jars off the bottom of the canner.

Pressure canners are not recommended for tomatoes. The high temperature attained under pressure robs the tomatoes of flavor and color.

Jars should be filled to within a half inch with tomatoes or juices brought to a boil after sorting, coring and peeling. One teaspoon of salt to each quart is added, just before sealing and processing. After processing, jars should be tightened, but the seal should not be broken any time after processing until the tomatoes are to be used.

Bessie

"All right, Bessie," said the boss of the little factory which was making jackets for soldiers. "Did you want to see me about something?"

The thin middle-aged woman stood up from the chair in the outer office and looked earnestly at the boss with her huge, grave gray eyes.

"It's about this ten percent pledge," she began.

"Oh, that's all right, Bessie," the boss said. "I'd been meaning to speak to you about that. We don't expect you to pledge ten percent of your pay for War Bonds like the others are doing. We know you have a hard time making ends meet. You've got five kids, didn't you? Eleven kids, isn't it? That's quite a lot of mouths to feed. Let's see, you make $25.50 a week including overtime, don't you?"

"Yes, sir, but—"

"Don't give it another thought, Bessie. You've got your hands full now. Uncle Sam knows you haven't got a penny to spare. Don't let it worry you. We understand."

The boss turned to go back into his private office.

"But what I wanted to say was—"

"Bessie raised her voice and the boss looked around. 'I wanted to say, would a dollar a week be too little? You see, after we get the living expenses paid, there's just about a dollar a week left—would they be willing to accept a dollar a week?'"

"They'd be more than willing," the boss said quietly. "They'd be proud."

Bessie looked relieved.

"All we have to do is scribble a little," she said. "I'd feel just terrible if we couldn't give something."

Back in the boss's office a representative of the Treasury Department was waiting. The boss shut the door and sat down.

"I've just seen the greatest single sacrifice I know of," the boss said.

"Listen, if you want to hear what American women are made of—"

(Story from an actual report in the files of the Treasury Department.)

Preserve Vitamins In Home Canning of Food

The Washtenaw County Nutrition Committee suggests that fruits and vegetables be prepared so that none of the vitamins and minerals are lost between the time they come into the kitchen and the time they are served at the table. In these critical times, none of us can eat too many vitamin-rich fruits and vegetables, and we certainly should not waste any food.

To make sure that no food values are lost or wasted, vegetables and fruits should be cleaned and put into the refrigerator until needed. Valuable food values are lost by overcooking and by soaking in water. Vegetables should be cooked quickly in a small amount of water, and the water can be saved for making soup and gravy. Soda is a destroyer of vitamins and should never be used in cooking vegetables.

Some of the most important food values of fruits and vegetables are found in the skins of, just under the skin. These values, lost in peeling, are saved when such foods as tomatoes, potatoes, cucumbers and apples are served without peeling. Carrots should be cleaned with a stiff brush, never peeled.

Almost every part of a fruit or vegetable can be used. Onion and celery tops can be used for seasoning and soup. Beet tops make delicious greens. Left over salad greens can be used in soup or chopped and used in sandwiches.

Fruit juices left from fresh or canned fruits make a very good base for fruit drinks. Juice left from fresh berries may be boiled to a syrup-like consistency, cooled and added to cold milk or water. Juices from sweetened cooked fruits may be used for the same purpose.

Back the attack by upping your payroll savings your very next payday. Measure your savings by your new higher income.

PROTECT YOUR OPERATOR'S LICENSE

Much has been said and written about Michigan's New Automobile Law which becomes effective July 30, 1943.

It applies to every owner and operator of an automobile in the State of Michigan. The irresponsible motorist is destined for a lot of trouble.

Many careful motorists are procuring insurance for the first time because they realize the most expeditious and cheapest way to conform with the law is through Bodily Injury and Property Damage Liability Insurance.

Our policies meet every requirement of the Law.

Put Your Small Change Into War Stamps This Month

Last July $53,000,000 worth of War Stamps were sold... an all time high for one month. This July the Treasury hopes to double this amount... to sell more than a hundred million dollars worth... Actually, this goal is an easy one to reach... a dollar from every American... just an extra dollar's worth of War Stamps will be $181,669,275... Every man, woman and child has a job to do. Let's fill the forgotten books, fill more new books... let's buy more War Stamps. Let's show the Axis what small change can do... nickels, dimes, quarters... straight from the pockets of the American people.

Armies Land on Hostile Shores in Nameless Ships

The grim drama of invasion could not be staged without the aid of hundreds of nameless little ships. These small craft, troop and tank barges, take over when the big ships have performed their task of bringing troops, tanks and equipment as close to the enemy shore as possible.

The little nameless ships, some of them not even distinguished by a number, circle the troop ships, the tank lighters and, at a given signal, swoop toward one of the troop transports and armed troops swarm down the landing nets and into the barges which roar away toward the shore—a perfectly co-ordinated effort carried out with speed and precision.

From other ships, tanks pour down runways and into heavy steel barges. Each of the little ships has a bow that drops when it reaches shore and men and tanks are quickly landed.

The thunder of guns, the deadly and sinister chatter of machine guns isn't a signal that the work of the little ships is done. It has barely started for the same invasion barges race endlessly back and forth bringing in artillery, munitions, food, water, gasoline, trucks and jeeps and hospital supplies—all of the material needed by an invasion force. They work fast and hard, making dozens of trips.

They are probably expendable craft. No single one of these small and nameless craft will ever go down in history surrounded by fame and publicized glory.

Russ Use Butylene Gas To Speed Tree Growth

The Russians have studied the use of butylene gas, says Chemical and Engineering News, showing that it has a stimulating effect on the speed of growth of trees, such as the apple, apricot, pear, cherry, plum, peach, and walnut, bringing them to fruition much faster.

Where the growth season is too short to allow the full maturing of trees owing to the inclement weather in parts of Russia, so that flower formation and fruit setting are delayed, butylene has been used to hasten the growth period.

The method of treating a tree is to enclose it in a tent for two weeks before the normal or desired leafing, that is start of the growth cycle. Butylene is passed into the tents in concentrations of one part in 100,000 parts of air at temperatures between 69 degrees and 100 degrees Fahrenheit for a period of one to two hours.

Small heaters are probably used to raise and maintain the temperature of the air around the tree in order to obtain maximum effects of the growth-inducing hydrocarbon, butylene.

Cereals Nutritive

Instead of stressing foods that are scarce, homemakers should put more emphasis on foods which are available in as large amounts as we are likely to want them. Outstanding in this class are cereals. There is every prospect of ample crops both here and in Canada.

As a group the whole-grained cereals have the most nutritive value than most people realize. They are rich in several important minerals and vitamins. Used as meat extenders—as breakfast food and in puddings—as well as bread, large portions of cereals can be introduced into the diet without our being especially conscious of them. Recent information has been released that all of our white bread will be enriched by the addition of some of the nutrients which are removed in the milling process. This is certainly a step forward. Nevertheless, the original whole wheat itself is to be preferred, for in it is every thing that wheat can contribute.

Tribes Aids Chinese

Lisu tribesmen have gone to war against Japan, 100,000 strong. Their homeland—of immediate strategic importance—is the mountainous border between Japanese-held Burma and China's Yunnan province. China has armed about 10,000 Lisus, replacing their traditional weapon—the poisoned arrow—with rifles.

The Lisus are peaceable, but they like their freedom. Among their neighbors Lisus are famed for their dancing. They are the official dancers for inter-tribal ceremonies. They dance to the twanging, waspish music of bamboo jew's harps. Men and women join in the simple yet graceful figures. One dance is performed to the accompaniment of the crooning voices of the tribesmen. Their songs are all variations of "There's No Place Like Home." They sing of their misty mountain-top homes, of dim, dripping forests where they hunt.

Developed Mobile Artillery

Reforms effected by General Gribeauval of the French artillery in 1776 have been steadily carried further. Alleviated to the importance of mobility, simplicity and ease of supply, he eliminated many types and calibers, reduced weight, improved range and accuracy, and introduced interchangeability of parts. Examples of modern developments along those lines are the dual-purpose gun used both for antitank and antiaircraft; the split trail which permits greater elevation and hence greater range; other carriage improvements such as wider traverse which gives a broader field of fire.

Molly Pitcher Tag Day, August 4

The modern Molly Pitcher will greet you throughout the nation on August 4th when brigades of Mollys will tag every buyer of War Bonds and Stamps. They will carry on the tradition of the Revolutionary War heroine who has gone down in history because she aided her fighters at the battle of Monmouth in 1776.

Nationwide Molly Pitcher Tag Day

Washington, D. C.—On August 4th, Molly Pitcher is stepping out of the pages of American history to sell War Bonds and Stamps. The gal who carried water to thirsty soldiers during the blistering Revolutionary Battle of Monmouth and took over her husband's cannon when he was wounded, has long been a symbol of the heroism of American women.

In her honor, brigades of modern Molly Pitchers will take their stands on nationwide Molly Pitcher Day at street corners, building entrances, and in public places to sell the bonds and stamps that back up our modern fighting men.

A red-white-and-blue Molly Pitcher Tag will be given to everyone who purchases a bond or stamp on that day. Members of the American Legion Auxiliary and of the Independent Food Distributors Council unit of Molly Pitchers, will aid and augment local Women's War Savings Staffs to make-up the volunteer sales force.

Priorities Will Rule All Telephone Installations

New telephone service installations will be subject to priorities, many probably for the duration, under a plan approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

The Commission approved a request by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company for authority to set up priorities on new installations for those whose service applications are not within the preferred categories previously established.

In approving the company's plan, the Commission said that restrictions imposed by the War Production Board respecting use of critical materials have made it necessary to delay many telephone installations.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Engelhart, Mrs. John Lucht, Christian Klein and Mrs. Mabel Williams were Saturday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Haist of Ann Arbor.

Miss Ruth Barais of Ann Arbor and Elsa of Detroit spent the week-end with their mother, Mrs. Bertha Barais.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ahling and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Rosenator and Mrs. Catherine Ahling of Ann Arbor were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Walz.

Sgt. Harold Hartman of Camp Pando, Colo., spent a day last week at the Albert Walz home.

Mrs. Lina Whitaker and Ray Gohn were at Somerset Center on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Notten and Mrs. Lina Whitaker were in Manchester on Monday.

SHARE CANNING EQUIPMENT

Because of approaching food emergencies and the scarcity of canning equipment, Marie Dye, Dean of Home Economics at Michigan State College and chairman of the Nutrition committee of the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense, urges that persons who do not wish to make outright loans of pressure cookers and boiling hot water bath containers enter into arrangements with friends and neighbors to work together in canning.

Dear Dye offered a suggestion on how to "manufacture" one piece of canning equipment. Water-tight tin cans 12 to 14 inches high and large enough to hold three to five jars can easily be converted for use as a boiling water bath.

Dear Dye offered a suggestion on how to "manufacture" one piece of canning equipment.

British Import Alcohol
Most British alcohol distilleries, including those normally used for whisky, are out of use or are being used for storage, says J. Justrial and Engineering Chemist. Instead of taking over the whisky making plants for the manufacture of alcohol for military purposes, the government prefers to import alcohol from the United States and Canada, as a considerable saving of shipping is effected by importing alcohol rather than the raw materials required to make it.

Give Not Take
Calvin Coolidge once said: "No person was ever honored for what he received; honor has been the reward for what he gave."

Young Boy Should Eat Vegetables for Vitality
In planning meals for an adolescent boy try out all those foods that he never would eat earlier in life. Spinach and collards, for instance, or the various salad greens which he, like many other boys, called "rabbit food"; or the cooked cereals he thought beneath the dignity of one of his years. He needs them all, or he will fill up on the less-nutritious foods.

Most boys, especially if they are athletically inclined, want to grow up and gain weight as rapidly as possible. This isn't always so easily accomplished, especially if he insists upon participating in athletic activities and fails to give due attention to this business of proper diet. Meat and potatoes are good, but they do not contain enough vitamins and minerals. He would have to drink milk to keep those rapidly growing bones well supplied with calcium and phosphorus. Milk also provides riboflavin, one of the B vitamins, which is necessary for proper growth and eyes. A quart of milk daily should be the rule.

However, important as milk is, it cannot furnish the iron which is essential for the formation of blood cells in his growing body. Meat, especially liver, contains iron but probably not enough to do the trick alone. Spinach or other green vegetables would help; eggs would also contribute iron; old-fashioned molasses—on baked beans would do equally well. Green vegetables and eggs supply vitamin A, another vitamin that helps in normal growth and in normal eye functioning. This important vitamin A might help his skin if he is troubled with "adolescent acne."

Pruning and Fertilizing Rejuvenates Fruit Trees
One worthwhile project for gardeners is to rejuvenate neglected fruit trees which are on the farm or in the yard. Pruning, fertilizing and spraying trees which have been neglected in past years will add appreciably to the family food supply.

Pruning should be completed before the buds begin to open but it can be done later if necessary. Dead wood and enough other branches should be removed to permit sun to reach the center of the tree and to allow spray materials to be applied effectively, but extremely heavy pruning should be avoided.

The second important item in rejuvenating fruit trees is the application of a fertilizer containing a high percentage of nitrogen. These are hard to get now but sulfate of ammonia may be available. Cyanide is satisfactory if it can be obtained. Five pounds of sulfate of ammonia for a 20-year-old apple tree is recommended, and mature peach trees will need about two pounds. Chicken manure will help the trees if commercial fertilizer is not available.

It is unnecessary to cultivate the soil beneath fruit trees but a heavy growth of grass should be discouraged. Mulching with old straw, or other plant residue will keep the weeds and grass down and will help conserve moisture.

Make 'Tun' a Ton
A half-century ago there was a brisk trade between France and Great Britain in French wines shipped in wooden casks or tuns. So heavy was this channel traffic that ships were measured according to the number of tuns they could carry, the National Council of American Shipbuilders tells us.

The crafty French wine merchants, however, tried to sell as little wine as possible for as much money as possible, steadily decreasing the size of the tuns or casks. Thrifty, thirsty Britons resented this fraud and prevailed upon parliament to do something about it. A law was passed that a tun (tun) of wine should contain 252 gallons, old English measurement, or approximately 2,240 pounds avoirdupois.

Historic 'Ghost Town'
Less than 50 miles east of Colon, Atlantic terminal of the Panama canal, rocky headlands jutting above surrounding jungle guard the entrance to one of the most picturesque harbors on the Caribbean. Far down a placid bay, on a narrow strip of lowland between water and mountains a dirty little fishing village wages half-hearted battle against poverty and nature. The dying town is Porto Bello, erstwhile "Lovely Port" of the Spanish Main, in its day one of the richest and most romantic cities of the Western hemisphere. The spell of "Porto Bello gold" still lingers over juvenile and period fiction, but Porto Bello itself has been forgotten in its decay.

Evolution of Artillery
Developments of modern artillery stem from the catapults and ballists of the ancients and the heavy siege artillery—wooden or iron staves held together by rawhides or iron hoops strung and hurling round stones often weighing as much as 700 pounds—employed as early as 1331. Mobility has advanced steadily since Gustavus Adolphus of Sweden introduced infantry-accompanying guns in the Thirty Years war and Frederick the Great first adopted horse-drawn artillery. The high-speed gun-carriage, with its pneumatic tires and self-propelled and airborne artillery are the latest developments.

Musarachi From Mexico
The manufacture of Mexican huaraches, which have become popular for sports wear in this country, has grown into a sizable industry and Mexico has become the largest foreign supplier of shoes to the United States. Imports of Mexican huaraches have grown from almost nothing a few years ago to more than 750,000 pairs a year, with a wholesale value of $1,500,000 to $2,000,000. Huaraches are still made largely by hand in small establishments. Individual manufacturers are usually so small that they pool their production with other factories for sale in this country.

Milk Soups
Vegetable milk soups offer a great deal of nourishing and delicious sustenance, and they are a good wartime dish since they contain food that might otherwise go to waste. Bones and the trimmings of meat, left-over vegetables and the liquid left from cooking vegetables can make a big contribution in the soup pot.

Lawnmowers Sharpened

Photograph Explosion
Films taken of the detonation of various types of explosives show wide range of detonation velocities. Nitroglycerin detonated in a glass tube has been recorded at a velocity of detonation of 300 miles a minute, or 25,600 feet a second, which is approximately 25 times the speed of a sound wave.
