Schneider & Kusterer Partnership Dissolved

A business transaction was completed on Monday which dissolved the partnership of Schneider & Kusterer, with the Schneider family purchasing the interest of Waldo H. Kusterer and assuming full ownership of the business as of that date.

This partnership was started in 1922 when Mr. Kusterer purchased a half interest in the grocery business of O. D. Schneider, then located in the building now occupied by the Recreation Tavern. The store has been in its present location, corner Main and Park streets, for 15 years. Since the death of Mr. Schneider in January, 1941, the business has been operated by Mr. Kusterer and the Schneider family.

Carl Fletcher, former manager of the local A & P store, has been employed by the Schneider family as manager of the store, and assumed his new duties on Tuesday. Carl Schneider reports today for army duty.

Mr. Kusterer has no plans for the immediate future except to enjoy a well-earned vacation.

Servicemen Families To Be Aided By Legion

By Julius L. Eisele, Commander,
Post No. 31, American Legion

In each community of our country, the impact of the War is felt daily in many ways by our fellow citizens. This is especially true of those families who have sons, daughters, brothers, sisters or fathers in the armed forces.

Here in Chelsea we have many servicemen families who frequently feel the need of experienced advice about problems affecting them in connection with the service of their men or women in the armed forces. Herbert J. McKune Post No. 31 of The American Legion, through its Service Officer, Employment Officer, Child Welfare chairman, or other of its officials who have interested themselves in the problems of the World War II servicemen, considers it a privilege to confer and advise with these families who feel in need of such counsel.

This Post has trained personnel who are familiar with such matters as servicemen's allotments and allowances, national life insurance, hospitalization applications and compensation or pension claims, assistance to dependent children and parents, re-employment problems, etc.

Through the agency of this Post, the nation-wide facilities of the Department and National organizations of the Legion with their skilled full-time personnel is available for the solution of many of the problems which confront our service families.

The name and address of the Service Officer of Post No. 31 is Paul C. Maroney, 227 East Middle St., Chelsea. This Service Officer will welcome the opportunity of advising World War II servicemen families, without cost.

LET'S HAVE SMOOTHER RAILROAD CROSSINGS!

(An Editorial)

Many are the complaints heard about the roughness of the railroad crossings in Chelsea, and these complaints are certainly justified.

During the good old days when it was possible to buy new cars and tires such a condition would not be quite so objectionable except for the danger of breaking your neck when your head hit the top of the car if you crossed the tracks faster than five to ten miles per hour.

During the past few years, or during the period of our memory, these crossings have been repaired many times by New York Central workmen, but the roughness was eliminated to a very small degree, and at the present time they are so rough that to say the least they are dangerous.

We realize that there is a labor shortage because of the war, but we can see no reason even at that why the New York Central should be guilty of such neglect, as is so evident in Chelsea.

If village authorities would take proper action in calling to the attention of railroad officials the shameful condition which exists here, and demanding that the crossings be repaired in a manner which would be more or less permanent, we believe that results could be obtained which would be to the satisfaction of all.

This action should be taken by the village at once and it is our belief that if properly approached, the railroad officials will see to it that Chelsea is given smoother crossings.

Women's Softball League

At least 50 young women of Chelsea have enjoyed the privilege of participating in the softball league. There are four active teams of ten girls each, with a few substitutes. Federal Screw Works is represented by three teams and Chelsea Spring by one. The teams are captained by: Lorna Kiss, No. 4; Bernice Rabley, No. 6; M. A. Coltre and H. Toth, No. 2; and Virginia Gilbert, Spring team. Each girl has given Helen Toth, league treasurer, the sum of one dollar. This sum is her insurance against possible injury obtained during a game. In case of injury, the team would stand the expense.

IT IS OUR TASK

By Ruth Taylor

We who have boasted like the Pharisee of old—"I thank Thee, Lord, that I am not as other men," have had a rude awakening in the mob attacks and riots that have sprung up like poison weeds in various parts of the country.

We thought it couldn't happen here, that we were too well balanced, too secure in our own freedoms from prejudice and hatred to flare beyond the bounds of talk. We underestimated the greatness of the tensions of war. We overestimated our own strength of character. We forgot how we had permitted it to be sapped by group thinking, stirred up by subtle propaganda, undermined by careless criticism, poisoned by suspicion.

Our faith in democracy is now being tested. We who have prated of freedom have to decide whether we fear freedom for others. It makes no difference whether the recent troubles were the work of enemy saboteurs, or of groups within our own country. It makes no difference on whose side the mistakes were. If the other side makes mistakes, so do we. And it is more important for us to humbly acknowledge our own errors than to spend our time criticizing those of the other side.

We must apply democracy to all groups within our country if we are to get that democracy for ourselves. We must champion the rights of all people to fair treatment if we expect fair treatment for ourselves. We must stand up for the rights of all, if there are to be rights for any.

The responsibility, as always, lies with the majority. There is no real minority problem—it is always the problem of the majority. This does not mean that the majority must coddle the minority—far from it. But, as the stronger power, the majority is charged with enforcing the laws which it has made, and with such fair and equal treatment to all minorities within its ranks, that there is no room for resentment from those minorities.

To serve our own best interests, we must follow the course of right. There is nothing that can endure that is built on unfair treatment. And the remedy for what has happened begins in and with ourselves. We must set a seal upon our own lips, we must watch our own actions—that none of the hatreds of the world we are fighting be permitted to devastate our own fair land of freedom. Not only abroad must we defend the defenseless, but not only abroad must we succor the weak. Here as well as abroad must we shackle injustice, greed and hatred that peace may come again and the American way of life, which is democracy, prevail.

Seed Used as Flavor

The "cumaru," is a huge Amazonian tree with crown when in flower, bright rose-colored from its abundance of fragrant blossoms. Its egg-shaped fruits are often oily to the touch and exude an aromatic odor. The seed is the "tonka bean" exported for "coumarin," a common substitute for vanilla and a flavor for perhaps your own brand of cigarettes not to mention perfumes or medicine.

By Gene Alleman

Esacaba—Because Robert Fulton invented the first steamboat to go up the Hudson river from New York City to Albany, and the state of New York built the Erie canal from Albany to Buffalo, and the ambitious pioneers of Michigan wanted a railway canal connection on Lake Erie at Ashtabula, Michigan, the newspaper publishers of Michigan's Upper Peninsula are going to meet at Escanaba this Friday (Aug. 6) to honor a fellow publisher who runs a newspaper in Michigan 100 miles west of Chicago.

Yep, it's a long story. Up here in "God's country," as the natives modestly call these parts, we heard the tale. "Old Eagle-Eye" Jim Bunyon, spindly-legged tobacco-chewing printer for Joe Sturgeon's Delta Reporter at Gladstone, confided it to us. And since Jim got it from his grand-pappy when he was knee high to a grasshopper, come middle of August, we know that it is true. Here it is, just as Jim told it:

"Old Bob Fulton, pal of Ben Franklin, was responsible for it all. A native of the state of Penn., Fulton had high-faluting ideas of art. He also liked to tinker with wheels and to make drawings of them. It was just natural for this fellow to want to study art in London, and so went there in 1786. A right smart boy, he became a good friend of the Duke of Bridgewater.

"Now this duke was a smart chap, too. He built a canal from Worsley to Manchester in England, and Fulton became interested in canals, and in 1796 he wrote 'A Treatise on the Improvement of Canal Navigation,' and he sent a copy to President Jefferson.

"Oh yes, the steamboat. We were getting round to that.

"In 1810 our Congress at Washington voted $10,000 to study Fulton's submarine and torpedoes but they weren't so hot. Then Fulton launched a steamboat on the river Seine, but it sunk. He then ordered an engine from Watt and Boulton in England, had it sent to this country, and in August of 1807 this steamer, the Clermont, steamed on its own power up the Hudson river to Albany in just 32 hours—Yes, sir.

"New Yorkers were all excited, and the legislature voted to dig a canal from Albany to Buffalo, connecting the Hudson river with Lake Erie and Fulton was put on the commission to do it.

"It was some canal—363 miles long and 40 feet wide and 4 feet deep—but it was the biggest and best we Yankees had ever dug.

"Soon American-made goods were arriving at Albany and put on steamboats to go west. LaSalle's Griffin was a favorite by comparison with the wood-burning Ontario, for example, the first of the American steam boats on the Great Lakes. J. J. Astor's batteaux were good enough in their days, but you couldn't beat hot belching steam.

"Oh yes, the town of Ashtabula, Michigan. We were getting round to that too.

"Because Fulton's steamboats could haul goods from New York to Albany, and canal boats could take them from Albany to Buffalo, and the Ontario and other lake boats—Walk-in-the-Water, Superior, Chippewa, Niagara, Frontenac, just to mention a few—could haul stuff from Buffalo to Ashtabula and Detroit and Mackinac, the old folks in Ohio and Michigan decided to build railroads and canals.

"Canadians voted to build the Welland canal, connecting Lake Ontario with Lake Erie at Niagara Falls. Governor Mason of Michigan advocated a canal around the Sault Ste. Marie rapids.

"The territorial council in Detroit had chartered two railroads—the Erie and Kalamazoo and the Detroit and Maumee—and Michigan wanted to keep Maumee-bay as a terminal for these rail lines. There was a village on the bay by the name of Ashtabula. And the Ohio and Indiana legislatures were planning to build a canal linking Lake Erie with the Ohio river at Evansville. Everything was booming.

"Of course, you couldn't blame Ohioans for wanting Ashtabula. And the Indiana folks didn't like the idea either of Michigan getting land at the southern end of Lake Michigan.

"This territory in dispute with Ohio and Indiana was 400 square miles. Michigan Governor Mason got 1000 rifles from Fort Wayne at Detroit, and 200 good Michigan men started to march on Ashtabula, but the Ohio militia beat 'em there. Folks talked of bloody war.

"Lucious Lyon, a territorial delegate to Washington, had been surveying parts of the Upper Peninsula. He was a good friend of Henry Schoolcraft who was then in Washington conducting an Indian treaty.

"And so when Congress considered this matter of Michigan claiming 400 square miles from Lake Erie to Lake Michigan and going to war with Ohio and Indiana, Lucious Lyon and Hank Schoolcraft and old General Lewis Cass had a smart idea. Why not give Michigan the Upper Peninsula in return for Ashtabula and the Maumee bay?

"And that's just what Congress did. But if it hadn't been for Bob Fulton inventing the steamboat, the Upper Peninsula wouldn't be a part of Michigan today."

And that is Jim's story.

Now the meeting at Escanaba. Linwood J. Noyes, who publishes a mighty fine newspaper at Ironwood, recently was elected president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association. It's a big honor for Michigan, and a bigger honor for Upper Peninsula newspapers.

Although Ironwood is 100 miles west of Chicago, it is a good old Michigan town and Lin Noyes is a brilliant newspaperman.

"Oh yes, we forgot to say that Ashtabula, Michigan, is now Toledo, Ohio. And you might have heard of Jim Bunyon's grand-pappy. He was some man. His first name was Paul.

Silk Producers

Chief silk producing countries are Japan and China, and the lands bordering the Mediterranean—especially Italy, France, Greece, Turkey, and western Asia. Japan in recent years has produced most of the raw silk of commerce. Persia and Central Asia made sizable gains. The common silkworm is a native of China, where the value of silk was first recognized.

Home of 'Irish' Potato

Peru was the world's greatest tamer of wild plants. The potato, not gold, was the real treasure of the Incas. Irish adoption has dimmed its Peruvian origin. Other important crops of ancient Peru included Indian corn, sweet potato and cassava. Domestications were many and diverse—peanut, pineapple, cotton, bottle gourd, lima bean, and guava, for examples.

Clean Wool Before Storing

Before you store wool garments, be sure they are clean and free from pests. Grease spots and body soil not only tend to weaken the fiber, but are a special invitation to moths and carpet beetles to set up housekeeping. Dry cleaning kills both pests and destroys their eggs and larvae, so be sure to have it done before the garments are stored, rather than waiting until fall.

● If Joe Smith heard you call him a hero, he'd laugh.

A hero wears medals, and shoots down Zeros. But Joe? He wears faded overalls, and pilots a plow instead of a plane.

There's nothing heroic about his job to Joe. It's a thing he's got to do. He's got to raise more hogs, ship more milk, grow more food... and he's got to do it with less help and less new machinery.

Joe Smith might be any one of the more than 2,440,000 farmers who live in the rich farming area served by the New York Central... whose farms this year are producing over 3 1/2 billion dollars' worth of America's food.

We of the Central know the magnificent job these Joe Smiths are doing, for we work with them every day... transporting their crops to processing plants, industrial centers, army camps and docksides.

In the first three months of this year, for example, Central trains carried 4,896,724

TONS of farm products... grain and flour... live stock, dressed and cured meat... fruits and vegetables, fresh, canned and dehydrated... and all the other things people eat. This was about one-third more than in the corresponding months of 1942.

But the transportation of food—important as it is—is only one of the Central's wartime responsibilities. Troop movements, military supplies, essential war freight and passengers on war business have more than doubled our traffic since World War II began.

So when you travel or ship by rail, please remember that railway space, like food, is a perishable commodity. And, like food, it must be conserved... so that every car, every precious inch of space, can do a full-time job for Victory.

Bulging Suits Wear Out Much Sooner

Beware of bulging pockets overloaded to the stretching point or of keys carried unprotected—these are causes of speedy clothing wear, warns Marjorie Eastman, home economics extension specialist at Michigan State College.

Every man in civilian clothes takes care of his suit if he is patriotic and aware of wartime necessity, the specialist points out. Three ways to add life to any suit, she said, are to give good care every day, reinforce where wear will come, and repair places as soon as signs of wear show.

Retreading suits is a wartime thrift trick-for elbows, or the knees or seat of trousers. A piece of rayon material is applied to the wrong side of the spots that get the most wear. The retread piece is held in place with stitches that do not show on the right side. As an example, a knee retread is set in from seam to seam as a rectangle large enough to take the wear from that point. Incidentally, this also helps to hold the press at the crease.

Shields to take the wear and damage done by perspiration, darning of worn spots, reworked buttonholes and reinforcing under buttons are other thrifty mend ideas that may add months of wear to a suit.

Wear guards of heavy tape five-eighths of an inch wide, sewed to the inside of the cuff or button of the trouser leg, protect the fabric from the rub of the shoe.

The method of sewing a button on may mean the difference in a hole in the cloth or just broken thread when an extra strain is placed on the button.

A "shank" of thread helps by giving space between the cloth and the button so there is no crowding when the coat is buttoned. A pin is laid across the top of the button, the thread put over and over in sewing. The pins are removed and thread wound round and round underneath the button to form the shank.

Potato Blight Strikes At Late Crop In State

Scattered infestations of late blight indicate serious threat of the disease in the 220,000 acres of Michigan's 1943 potato crop.

In the Lower Peninsula the late blight has made its appearance in Oakland and Wexford counties. In the Upper Peninsula the blight has been found in Menominee, Iron and Delta counties.

Cool nights, heavy dews and showers have brought conditions favorable for spread of the blight, comments H. G. Moore, potato specialist at Michigan State College. A cut in yield can be accompanied by rot in storage if widespread damage occurs.

Two methods of control are open to the commercial grower: the patch grower or the Victory gardener.

For the commercial grower with large acreage, the spraying program is recommended by Moore. This should have been started as a safety measure when the young potato plants were four to five inches out of the ground. Spraying with bordeaux requires a supply of water, preferably near the potato fields.

The other method, usually used for small acreages or patches such as those in farm or Victory gardens, consists of dusting, using a fixed or insoluble copper dust, already mixed for application. Supplies of the dust are available in stores of feed or seed dealers or at farm supply warehouses.

Either the dust or the spray, according to Moore, helps control leaf hoppers which alone can reduce yields 20 to 25 per cent unless held down by applications of sprays or dusts.

State Farmers Supply Large Quantity of Food

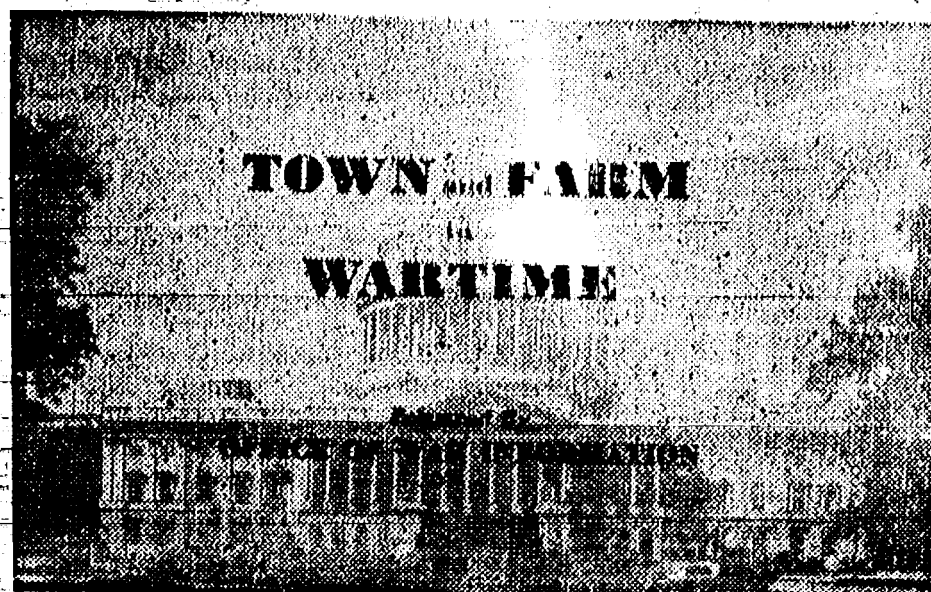

Michigan farmers and food processors supplied more than 12 million pounds of food products, including 22,400 bags of dried beans for overseas shipment to Allied Nations, Red Cross, and territorial requirements during June, according to a report of food purchases issued by the War Food Administration.

The purchases by the agency included: pork meat products, 1,668,000 pounds; lard, 1,174,000 pounds; evaporated milk, 60,000 cases; condensed milk, 49,841 cases; dried whey, 140,000 pounds; and dried whole eggs, 803,850 pounds, according to the report.

Additional large purchases of Michigan farm products were made by the War Food Administration at processing centers in nearby states, the report stated.

"The food products supplied by Michigan farmers and processors for shipment to our Allies in Europe have been a great aid to our Allies, especially in Russia and England. Food shipments to Russia are made for direct use by the men at the front, and they certainly have been giving a good account of themselves. English workers in war industries also depend for much of their needed food on shipments of American foodstuffs," WFA officials said.

Sponge Dampens Clothes
A sponge kept in a small quantity of water close by the ironing board will enable one to dampen clothes as they become too dry when ironing. Such a sponge is also convenient to use while ironing seams or any other parts of a garment that need to be especially damp in order to iron well.

Third War Loan Drive

Fifteen billion dollars is the goal for the Third War Loan which President Roosevelt has proclaimed will be launched September 9. In his proclamation the President said, "Our need for money now is greater than ever, and will continue to grow until the very day that Victory is won; so we must ask far more sacrifice, far more cooperation than ever before."

Supply of Fats, Oils

Despite heavy wartime demands on the supply of edible fats and oils (principally lard, butter, shortening, and margarine), 44 pounds per capita—about 5 pounds less than in 1942—will be made available to American civilians during the 12 months ending June 30, 1944, the War Food Administration has announced. Of the total civilian allocation, approximately 9 ounces per week per capita will be available for direct purchases, and an additional 4½ ounces for indirect consumption in such items as restaurant meals, bakery products, mayonnaise, etc.

Cost of Living Drops

With other living costs relatively stable, a drop in fresh vegetables and butter prices cut the cost of living for city workers by 0.2 per cent in the month ending June 15—the first month to show a reduction since a year before Pearl Harbor, the U. S. Department of Labor reported recently. Food prices as a whole, making up over 40 per cent of the cost of living index, declined 0.8 per cent. The cost of living index now stands at 124.8 per cent of the 1935-39 average. Food prices are 45 per cent above January 1941 and more than 16 per cent above May 1942.

The term "canning powders" includes boric acid and its compounds and substances like metabisulfite which yield sulfur dioxide.

Personal Telephone Number Booklets

YOUR Telephone Company has prepared personal telephone number booklets for you in two convenient sizes. One fits your pocket or handbag, and has space for 215 names, addresses and telephone numbers. The other, for home or office use, will hold 228 numbers.

Even now, when operators are busier than ever before with vital war calls, more than a thousand hours are lost each day by unnecessary calls to "Information"—requests for numbers that are listed in the directory.

To help eliminate that waste of switchboard and operators' time, here are two things you can do—

1. Look up the number in the directory first. Call "Information" only when it is not listed.
2. If you must ask "Information" for a number, write it down in your personal directory so you will have it next time.

You can obtain your handy directory booklets—free—from any Michigan Bell business office, either by writing for them or calling in person.

Your Victory Garden

(By Paul R. Krone, Chief, Victory Garden Section, Michigan Office of Civilian Defense.)

The extremely heavy infestation of corn borers in Michigan this year will prove one handicap that Victory Gardeners will find hard to overcome. Recent inspection in several counties indicates the borer will take at least half of the early sweet corn crop in Victory Gardens.

There is still time to save at least part of the late crops by dusting or spraying with Rotenone. It should be applied before the corn tassels out, if possible. Four or five additional applications should be made at five-day intervals. The Rotenone should be dusted or sprayed carefully into the top of the stalk and into the axils of the leaves.

Undoubtedly, much of the infestation this year is due to the fact that many farmers left their corn in the fields over winter. All corn stalks in the garden should be destroyed, either by plowing completely under or removing and burning to prevent carrying the pest over for another year.

Those Victory Gardeners who failed to spray their potatoes are starting to see the results of their neglect. Leaf hopper injury is becoming increasingly apparent throughout the State and early blight is starting to put in its appearance.

Potatoes should be sprayed throughout the growing season with Bordeaux mixture and Calcium Arsenate or lead arsenate. This material can be purchased already made up in the form of a spray or dust or you can make it yourself by using a combination of 4 pounds of copper sulphate, 4 pounds of lime and 50 gallons of water; plus one pound of lead arsenate to the 50 gallons. If you haven't previously sprayed your potatoes, start now to avoid extensive damage from leaf hopper and blight, particularly on late potatoes. Be sure to hit the undersides of the leaves with the spray to control the leaf hoppers.

Mexican bean beetles are putting in their appearance on green bean plantings in many sections. These bugs, which chew the leaves, usually live on the under surface and do a considerable amount of damage. Dusting with Rotenone, being sure to hit the under surface, will take good care of them.

Be on the lookout for cucumber wilt, which we have already seen in many gardens. It is evidenced by the wilting of individual leaves on the cucumber plants and eventually the entire plant will die. The disease is spread by the cucumber beetle, which can be controlled with calcium arsenate-gypsum dust or Rotenone. If you use an arsenical on cucumbers after the fruits are formed, they must be very carefully washed before being eaten.

Many People Reached In Loose Talk Drive

Lansing—The security of information experimental speaking campaign conducted in Lansing and Detroit at the request of the War Department reached more than 1,200,000 persons, or several times the 10 to 15 per cent of the population of these cities the Army hoped would hear the appeals. It is reported by Paul D. Bagwell, State Director of the Victory Speakers Bureau of the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense.

The campaign was begun July 1 and continued for 30 days. Although final reports are not in, Lansing audiences totaled not less than 40,000 and those in Detroit exceeded 1,160,000.

Victory speakers gave nearly 1,000 talks to gatherings at churches and band concerts, club meetings, patrons of theaters and baseball games, and other assemblies.

Lansing and Detroit were among 42 communities selected throughout the United States by the War Department for the test to determine if this would be an effective approach to solving the problem of silencing loose talk which is endangering the war effort and imperiling lives. If the overall results prove satisfactory, it is planned to broaden the program to cover the country.

Ambulances for Target Areas
The national Office of Civilian Defense is planning to distribute 800 four-seater ambulance bodies to cities in target areas and it is expected a share of them will be allocated to Michigan according to information received by Capt. Donald S. Leonard, State Director of Civilian Defense. The ambulance bodies, when mounted ed on the chassis of used passenger cars, will be provided by each community, will represent an important step in strengthening Civilian Defense measures in these cities, Capt. Leonard said.

The OGD ambulance body is made of wood and non-critical materials and can be mounted on the rear portion of the chassis of three of the lower-priced makes of cars. It is roomy enough to carry four stretchers and leave space for an attendant to ride. The bodies will be distributed without cost to the selected cities which have the chassis on which to mount them.

WEDDINGS

Stroup-Helm

The First Methodist church of Coldwater was the scene of a very impressive service at 9 o'clock Sunday morning when Miss June Stroup, of that city was united in marriage to Private Vincent Helm, now stationed at Syracuse, New York.

The service was read by Rev. King in the presence of the immediate families and close relatives. Soft organ music provided a touch of beauty and was impressive.

The bride was attractive in a gown of sheer white and wore a halo of orange blossoms. Her flowers were roses, Canterbury bells and gladioli. The bride's mother wore royal blue with black accessories, while the groom's mother chose pale blue with navy accessories. Both mothers wore corsages.

Following the marriage ceremony motion pictures were taken of the bride party and guests, and a wedding breakfast was served at the Coldwater hotel.

The bride is a graduate of the Coldwater high school and was formerly employed by the Federal Screw Works. She is now affiliated with a business concern in Coldwater. The groom, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Helm of Sylvan township, is a graduate of Chelsea high school and was employed at the Federal Screw Works prior to entering the army.

After completing his basic training at Fort Hancock, New Jersey, Pvt. Helm was one of those chosen from his company for engineers' training after a series of competitive tests, and was assigned to Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y.

After a brief wedding trip the groom returned to Syracuse.

Keller-Howe

Miss Ruth Keller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Keller of Ann Arbor, became the bride of Maurice Howe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howe of Chelsea, at a ceremony which took place Saturday forenoon in the rectory of St. Thomas Catholic church, Ann Arbor.

Rev. Warren Peck read the marriage service at 11 o'clock, after which a wedding breakfast was served at the Allen Hotel.

The bride was attired in a two-piece dress of pastel blue crepe with self trimming, and she wore a small blue hat with matching veil and ribbon flowers. Her corsage was of pink roses.

The bride was attended by her sister, Ensign Clara Lee Keller, who has just completed her training at Smith College, Northampton, Mass. and was home on a one-day leave and the groom's sister, Mrs. Albert Hoover, of South Bend, Ind.

Ensign Keller wore her summer white uniform of the Waves, while Mrs. Hoover wore a light green suit with white hat and accessories, and a corsage of sweet peas. Robert Howe attended his brother as best man.

Boyce-Howe

Miss Arlene M. Boyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Boyce of Stockbridge, and Charles C. Howe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Howe of Chelsea, were united in marriage at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at St. Mary's rectory, with Rev. Lee Laige officiating.

The bride wore a pink shantung suit with black accessories, and a corsage of white orchids. Her sister, Virginia, as bridesmaid, was attired in a dusty blue dress. Her accessories were black and her corsage was of gardenias. Robert Howe was best man for his brother.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, after which the couple left on a wedding trip to Chicago.

The bride is a graduate of Stockbridge high school, Class of 1936, and of the School of Nursing, University of Michigan, Class of 1943. The groom is proprietor of the Chelsea Recreation, 159 Park St.

Pre-nuptial parties honoring the bride-elect included a miscellaneous shower last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Dale Boyce, Ann Arbor, which was attended by her classmates, and a shower given by Mrs. Paul Boyce on Monday evening.

Eat 100 Pounds Pasture

It is not uncommon for a cow only medium in size to eat 100 pounds of pasture daily.

'Olive Oil' Is Now Made From Peanuts

Synthetic Products Relieve Wartime Shortage.

NEW ORLEANS.—Cocoa butter from cottonseed, and olive oil from peanuts have been produced successfully at the regional research laboratory of the department of agriculture here.

The cocoa butter is made for food and confections, the olive oil for industry. Both are wartime substitutes, but probably will carry over into peace for uses where they are either superior or cheaper.

Both synthetics differ from the natural products in that special qualities can be given to them in manufacture, to fit special needs that natural cocoa butter and olive oil might not meet.

They were produced under direction of A. E. Bailey and K. S. Markley. Natural cocoa butter is made from cocoa beans, and is hard until heated almost to body temperature; then it melts quickly. It is never sticky or greasy. These qualities are useful in candy and other food coatings.

The cottonseed cocoa butter has all these natural cocoa qualities, and a couple of advantages to boot. It is synthesized so that it will remain hard to a higher temperature than cocoa butter, yet will melt just as readily at body temperature.

The cottonseed butter is at least equally as healthy as cocoa butter. It is an altered form of the cottonseed oil which human beings have used for years.

The peanut olive oil is produced by processes similar to the cocoa butter. Peanut fats are used but, instead of converting them into a solid, they are made into an oil by giving them a lower melting point.

Uncle Sam's Fliers Are

Modern Knights in Armor

WASHINGTON.—Modern knights in armor are manning Uncle Sam's planes, plying over Axis territory. The war department reported that the eighth air force in England has clad some of its member crews in thin-steel plates, covering breast and back, to protect them from flak from anti-aircraft guns.

Such missiles, which cause a majority of wounds, can be stopped by the plates, which weigh about 20 pounds and are slipped into pockets of a new sleeveless jacket to form a cuirass from neck to hips.

The garment, suspended from the shoulders, can be removed instantly by pulling a release cord. It has been found particularly effective for waist and turret gunners, who expose the upper part of their bodies. The war department said one gunner wearing the armor was struck by a piece of flak the size of a marble which knocked him across the plane. The armor stopped the missile, although the steel plating was bent.

'Coronation Scot' Train To House Army Officers

WASHINGTON.—The "Coronation Scot," de luxe British passenger train which was exhibited at the New York World's fair, was presented to the United States to provide temporary living quarters for army officers.

A deed transferring the train to the government was executed by R. B. White, president of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, acting as agent for the London, Midland and Scottish Railway company.

The deed stipulated that the train be turned over to Maj. Gen. Edmund B. Gregory, quartermaster general of the army. It will be stationed at Jeffersonville, Ind., for use of officers of the quartermaster depot there.

The "Scot" consists of eight cars, two coaches, a coach lounge, a first-class diner, a third-class diner, a kitchen, a sleeper with 12 berths and a club car.

Mother, Son and Father, Last a Flier, Doing Well

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA.—Mother and son are doing well, but the father, First Lieut. Willis Neesen of Visalia, Calif., is doing even better.

Lieutenant Neesen, co-pilot of a Flying Fortress, had just returned from bombing the Foggia Airfield in Italy into a shambles when a fellow pilot rushed up to his plane, brandishing a letter. It told Lieutenant Neesen that his wife had given birth to a nine-pound boy.

"My Gawd," bellowed the new father, "nine pounds!"

"Hiya, Pop," hollered his crew. Lieutenant Neesen told the world, "I'd like to go on missions every day. The more I go on, the sooner I can go home and see just what he looks like. Nine pounds! Can you beat that?"

Wager Paid, Returns

As Wedding Present
MENTOR, OHIO.—Last year when Roger Haker left to enter the army, he bet $10 with Police Chief Wayne Lingfelter that he would remain single for 10 years. Lingfelter recently received $10 in a letter from Haker which explained that the soldier had married. The police chief sent back the $10 as a wedding present.

WATER THE TREES!

If the hundreds of trees which the village authorities purchased and had set out along the curb throughout the village this spring are to be kept growing they must be watered during dry weather. If some of these young trees were planted at the front of your property don't fail to water them regularly.

What's Mrs. Petrov got that you haven't got?

Meet Mrs. Petrov, citizen of the Soviet Union.

When the Nazi Panzer Divisions approached the small Petrov farm in the Ukraine, she knew what to do:

The wheat, so near to harvest time, went up in flames. The potatoes, stored in the cellar, were soaked with kerosene. The jars of fruits and preserves were smashed, and the cow, which had given her children so many quarts of precious milk, was shot.

After piling her two young children, a few blankets and some food on the farm cart, Mrs. Petrov did one more thing. She went back to the house where she and her husband had been so happy . . . where they had worked so hard to make a home for their family—and applied the torch.

Now, everybody in this country knows that Americans are as patriotic—as capable of sacrifice—as grimly determined to beat Hitler as are the Russians or anybody else on earth.

But—by the Lord Harry—do we have to wait till a Nazi tank comes rolling up the street before we prove it?

We aren't being asked to burn our homes and destroy everything we own. Please God, we never will be.

But we are being asked to join the Payroll Savings Plan and put at least 10% of our earnings into War Bonds! We're being asked—not told—to loan money—not give it! And to loan this money at a good rate of interest and for good reasons! We're being asked to buy War Bonds to help win the war—to provide a nest egg for the future—to provide peacetime jobs and peacetime goods and a generally decent world that the fellows who are doing the fighting can come back to.

That's our job. And it's a job that won't be done until every mother's son of us is buying bonds until it hurts.

There are, right now, still people who ought to be buying War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan—and aren't.

Right now, while some of the people in the Payroll Savings Plan are setting aside more than 10%—a lot of others are investing less.

Let's change that situation—quick. If you aren't in the Payroll Savings Plan—sign up tomorrow. If you're already in, but haven't hit 10% yet—raise your sights. And if you can put in more—do it.

What's Mrs. Petrov got that we haven't? Nothing! Let's prove it!

What You Should Do

1. If you are . . .
1. Already investing 10% of your pay in War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan—boost that 10% if you can.
2. Working in a plant where the Plan is installed, but haven't signed up yet—sign up tomorrow.
3. Working in a plant where the Payroll Savings Plan hasn't been installed—talk to your union head, foreman or plant manager—and see if it can't be installed right away. The local bank will be glad to help.
4. Unable to get in on the Payroll Savings Plan for any reason, go to your local bank or wherever bonds are sold. They will be glad to help you start a Plan of your own.

Light Districts
The worst of all possible seeing conditions is where the large field of view for the worker is bright and the area on which he must concentrate is dim. In general, the contrast factor should be no light reflectance factor should be no more than 40 per cent (white), and optically reflects 100 per cent, and optically reflects a light-reflectance factor of 40 per cent is just tance factor. That's an important factor to keep in mind before specifying that walls should be white.

Safetygrams

Some time ago I spoke about 29,000 workers being killed off the job by accidents. Many of the job accidents occur at home, and about half of all home fatalities result from falls. Preventing falls will help keep workers on the job and their families safe, too. Falls from good ladders aren't nearly so common as falls from makeshifts like chairs loaded with boxes and from faulty equipment. People will not use a ladder whose steps are broken or cracked, but they will get a small chair and pile box over box on it to reach a light, and usually a serious accident results. Let's all help to cut down the toll of home accidents which is robbing so much productive power in our war effort.

GLASS JARS FOR VICTORY CANNING

Plan to can every extra vegetable from your Victory garden and don't worry if your dealer hasn't jars with the kinds of caps you have been accustomed to using. Gladys Kimbrough, Home Service Director of Ball Brothers Company, tells us that very few of the all-time favorite zinc caps are left on the home front because zinc is needed on the battle front, but all Mason jars (any brand) with smooth, even top edges can be sealed with glass top seal or two-piece metal vacuum seal closures.

Glass top seals consist of glass lid, rubber ring, and metal screw band. The rubber is placed around the projection on the bottom of the lid, then the lid with rubber is placed so that the rubber rests on top of the jar. The bands are screwed down tight, then loosened slightly before the jars are put into a canner for processing and screwed tight immediately after the jars are removed from the canner. After the jars have stood twelve or fifteen hours, the bands are removed and used to seal more jars with glass lids and rubbers, thus making a little metal go a long way.

That's one reason Government officials smile upon home canners who use glass top seals.

Another good top seal for Mason jars is the two-piece metal cap, called vacuum seal. The lid is slightly dome shaped, lined with white enamel and has a rubber sealing compound around the outer edge to take the place of a regular jar ring (don't let anybody fool you—all sealing compounds contain rubber). If one is using old-fashioned open kettle (never use this method for canning vegetables), the lids are boiled a few minutes to sterilize, but need only to be dropped into boiling water and kept hot if the jars of food are to be placed in a canner for processing. After the lid is placed on the jar, the metal band is screwed tight once for all. Retightening the band after the jars are taken out of the canner is likely to prevent sealing. The bands are removed from the jars twelve or fifteen hours after the canning is done and used to seal more lids on other jars. Jars sealed with two-piece metal caps are suitable for all types of canning except oven—a tightly sealed jar is likely to break when subjected to the dry heat of an oven. Bands for glass top seal and vacuum seal caps are not interchangeable because a deeper band is needed for the glass lid, but the two have one thing in common. Neither is rust-proof, that's because of the zinc shortage, but a quick wipe after each use with a cloth moistened with paraffin will prevent serious rusting. It will save time and trouble too, if a cloth is prepared ahead of time and kept in one of those glass jars that can't be used for home-canning. Then when the cloth is needed, set the jar in a pan of warm water until the paraffin softens.

The "lightning" jar (so called because it is quickest to seal) requires very little metal and not too much rubber for sealing. Several manufacturers make this type jar. It seals with a glass lid and rubber held in place with wire balls. The wires used on one nationally known brand are of heat-treated, high-tension, stretch-proof spring steel. This is the ideal jar for home canning any year because it is so easy to seal. The rubber is placed on the sealing surface or shoulder, the lid comes next, then the upper ball wire is pushed up until it rests in the groove in the top of the lid. Pay no attention to the lower wire, it takes care of itself until after the jars are removed from the canner, when it is pushed down against the side of the jar and that's all there is to sealing it.

When buying jars, choose pints for peas, corn, and shell beans, and quarts for all other vegetables. Half-pint jars aren't being made, and half-gallons are unsuitable for canning vegetables because it takes too long for heat to reach the center of the jar.

Some Victory Rules for Canning Victory Vegetables

Canning without rules is like driving in a strange country without a road map—one is likely to go in the wrong direction. The wrong direction in canning leads to spoiled food—loss of canned food through spoilage is deplorable and unnecessary in time of peace, and inexcusable in time of war.

Gladys Kimbrough, Home Service Director of Ball Brothers Company, gives the following sure-fire rule for successful home-canning:

1. Use jars intended for home-canning. Every one of them has a name lettered on the side.

2. Examine every jar to make sure that it is in good condition. Give special attention to the top edges of Mason jars. Most of them may be sealed with glass top seal closures or two-piece metal vacuum seals, because the zinc that used to go into the one-piece Mason caps has gone to the battle front. The glass top and vacuum seals can take the zinc cap's place on the home front only when used on jars with perfect top edges.

3. Do not stretch rubbers to test. Wash and rinse jars, lids and rubbers. Then cover jars, zinc caps, and glass lids with lukewarm water, heat to boiling, and keep hot. Jars and lids to be used for old-fashioned open-kettle canning must be boiled 20 to 30 minutes. Wash rubbers and vacuum-seal lids, drop into boiling water, and keep hot until needed for use for processing (cooking food in jars). They must be boiled to sterilize for open-kettle canning.

5. Use vegetables that are fresh from the garden. The alien enemies, mold, yeast and bacteria, stand ready to sabotage any and all vegetables left standing over night or all through a long, hot morning.

6. Be sure that everything to be canned is at the right stage for canning. Shelled beans and peas should be young and tender—a few over-size or over-mature ones can cause the loss of the whole batch. The pods of string beans should be crisp and meaty—corn in full milk stage—and tomatoes red-ripe, firm, and sound. Wash all fruits and vegetables before breaking the skins.

7. Not pack all vegetables except tomatoes. Hot pack means to cook the food a few minutes, then pour it into hot jars for processing. This is also the best way to can most fruits.

8. Fill no more jars at a time than your canner will hold.

9. Leave ample head space and plenty of room for liquid to circulate between pieces of food when filling jars for processing.

10. Tighten metal bands on two-piece metal vacuum seal caps before processing. Do not tighten again.

11. Partly seal for processing, all jars on which a jar rubber is used.

12. Place jars in the canner immediately after packing and process the time called for in the recipe. Remember, time guessing has no place in canning.

13. Take jars out of canner as promptly as possible after the processing time is up and complete the seal on all that are partly sealed for processing (see Rule 12).

14. Set hot jars as far apart as possible so they will cool quickly, but do not place in a draft.

15. Be sure every jar of canned food is sealed before it is put away.

16. Take the bands off glass top seals after the jars have stood overnight and test the seal by pulling gently on lid with finger tips. Don't put the bands back on the jars.

17. Remove bands from vacuum seals 12 or 15 hours after canning and test the seal by pressing on the lid with the finger. If tightly sealed, there will be no "give" to the lid. Don't put the bands back on the jars.

18. One-piece zinc caps are drawn down flat when sealed. Do not turn Mason jars upside down—this rule applies when using glass top seals, vacuum seals, and zinc caps.

19. Test "lightning" jars after they are cold by holding them upside down and examining for leaks.

20. Be finicky when it comes to cleanliness. Get rid of house flies. Remember they prefer food to foot tub for foot washing.

21. Don't ask your neighbor how to can. She may not be as up-to-date as she thinks she is. It is far better to get a good recipe book and follow directions to the letter. As good a one as can be bought costs only a dime.

22. The secret of growing any of the vine crops successfully is to keep the plants well dusted, especially when they are small. So-called cucumber-melon dust gives the best control of insects. Do not wait until the bugs are on the plants. Watch out for cucumber beetles, squash vine borers, and "stink bugs" as all can do much damage. The cucumber beetles, in addition to chewing and sucking juices from the plants, spread diseases such as mosaic and wilt. Small plants should be kept covered with a light coating of dust. Apply the dust after every shower that washes off earlier applications.

State Laws Passed to Ease Manpower Shortage

Bulk of state labor legislation adopted this year was designed to swell the nation's manpower pool, with many of the new laws relaxing or suspending provisions governing employment of women and children and in a few cases, aged pensioners. Nearly all legislation of this type will be effective for the duration of the war only.

Most of the new laws governing employment of women during the war contain protective restrictions, though in some cases controls must be enforced by administrators of the laws.

Nearly a score of states relaxed labor laws to encourage employment of women. Typical of such action was Ohio's in relaxing limitations on hours of employment of women and minors for the duration by raising ceilings on hours they may work per week and permitting employment of women in some occupations previously barred to them—driving taxis, shining shoes, operating freight elevators.

Other states taking such action include Texas, which now allows a 10-hour day for women; New Hampshire, which excepted fruit and vegetable canneries from limitations on working hours for women and minors; and Arkansas, California, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Maine, Montana, North Dakota, Tennessee, Utah and Wyoming.

The "lightning" jar (so called because it is quickest to seal) requires very little metal and not too much rubber for sealing. Several manufacturers make this type jar. It seals with a glass lid and rubber held in place with wire balls. The wires used on one nationally known brand are of heat-treated, high-tension, stretch-proof spring steel. Attack Strawberries

The small, reddish brown leaf roller moth appears in strawberry fields during early May and stays there for about a month, laying eggs which hatch in about a week. The young, greenish brown caterpillar feeds on the upper surface of the leaf for a short time, then draws the two halves of the leaf together and spins a cocoon inside. There are usually three broods a year.

Treatment Saves Timber

Chemical treatments providing resistance to fire and to decay are enabling builders to use timbers of smaller and cheaper sizes to accomplish the same results ordinarily obtained only by the use of oversized timbers of steel and concrete.

Miles of Piping in Ships

There are miles and miles of piping in each Liberty ship. Water systems must be provided: One for fresh or drinking water—one for salt water. Live steam travels through another system of pipes controlled from one central point where it is possible to direct steam into any portion of the hold smoothing a fire which might occur. The drainage system requires quantities of piping. -V

National Income

National income contributed by all manufacturing groups in 1942 was 30.6 per cent of the total, though the same groups contributed only 24 and 25 per cent in 1939 and 1929 respectively. Diamond Brings Luck

According to tradition, wearing a diamond assured many kinds of good fortune. Among other beliefs are the following: The diamond should be worn on the left side for there it has greater virtue than when worn on the right. It gives hardihood and manliness and keeps limbs whole. It gives victory in plea and in war if the cause be just. -V

Standing Requires Energy

Standing up requires about 18 per cent more energy than sitting or lying down, according to the findings of Harriet Graham McCormick, associate in health and physical education at Columbia university. -V
