Capt. K. O. Beach Sends Message To His Mother

Mrs. D. E. Beach received a postcard on Saturday from her son, Captain Kenneth O. Beach, stating that he is a prisoner in the Philippine Military Prison Camp No. 2.

Although Mrs. Beach had been informed by the War Department some time after the fall of Corregidor that her son was a prisoner of the Japanese, she had received no direct word from him and was unaware of his location.

The "Imperial Japanese Army" postcard was a form which the prisoner was permitted to fill out, send a short message, and sign his name. The statements made by Capt. Beach are as follows:

"I am interned at Philippine Military Prison Camp No. 2.

"My health is good.

"I am not under treatment.

"I am well.

"Please see that your health is taken care of.

"I hope you, Mother, Dwight, David and all are well. Do not worry about me. My love to all. Please give my best regards to relatives and friends."

This was the first direct message received by Mrs. Beach from Kenneth since Christmas, 1941, when he sent a telegraphic greeting.

Captain Beach was a member of the 31st Infantry and arrived in the Philippines in June, 1941, just about six months prior to the outbreak of the war. The date of his capture is unknown, but it is believed he escaped from Bataan and was on Corregidor when it fell to the Japs.

Ammunition Released For Michigan Hunters

Lansing—H. D. Ruhl, chief of the state conservation department's game division, reveals that the War Production Board has approved release of 625,000 shotgun shells, 850,000 rounds of center fire rifle ammunition, and an undetermined quantity of .22 caliber cartridges for Michigan hunters for this fall's hunting seasons.

Although Ruhl admitted that some type of rationing of ammunition to hunters is likely, he stated that the method of rationing has not yet been decided upon. It is probable, he predicted, that the amount of ammunition to be allowed each hunter will not exceed one box of 25 shotgun shells and one box of 20 center fire rifle ammunition.

The Michigan allotment of shotgun shells, based on the number of hunting licenses sold in each state, was the largest assigned to any state. Only California exceeded the Michigan allotment of rifle ammunition, which was based on the size of each state's big game population.

Ruhl, who is a member of the Ammunition Committee representing state game departments which advised the WPB on apportionment of ammunition, explained that jobbers will get about one-sixth of the amount of ammunition which they sold last year. The method by which jobbers will ration the ammunition to hunters has not yet been settled, he said.

WPB approved release of a total for the entire country of 82,250,000 shotgun shells, 12,000,000 rounds of center fire rifle ammunition and an as yet undetermined quantity of .22 caliber cartridges.

Ruhl pointed out that the major portion of the shotgun ammunition is being made with steel bases and does not require critical brass, and that the manufacture of a reasonable quantity of ammunition for civilians will not interfere with production for war use.

Gamble Store Robbed Of Clothing and Cash

The Gamble store on North Main street was entered early Saturday morning and about $15 in loose change, a quantity of men's clothing, a suitcase, gun and other items were stolen.

According to Don Martin, owner of the store, there was a double lock on the front door. The thieves had removed a padlock and then unlocked the door with some device.

Police Officer Waldemar Grossman stated that he had checked the door about two o'clock in the morning, so the theft occurred after that hour, and was discovered when Mr. Martin went to the store in the morning. Sheriff's officers were summoned to investigate but no clues have been found.

BACK THE ATTACK —WITH WAR BONDS!

The Third War Loan drive starts today—Thursday, September 9, with the national goal set at $15,000,000,000.

Will Chelsea meet the emergency in the same spirit that she has had in going over the top in previous drives? The answer must be YES!

Only a few facts and figures are necessary to prove that this community should meet its quota without any difficulty. Chelsea's quota for the September drive is $325,000, including all types of bonds. It is expected that local industries will purchase more than one-half of this amount in Certificates of Indebtedness bonds, and some of the larger investors will purchase the Series F and G bonds. Taking all this into consideration the quota in Series E bonds—those purchased by the smaller investor—has been set at $120,250.

Local bank deposits total almost two and one-half millions of dollars. Chelsea's monthly payroll is estimated at about $350,000—which is approximately three times the amount being asked for the purchase of E bonds this month.

It is obvious that there is sufficient wealth here for the purchase of the larger denomination bonds, and if each worker in the industries and in other lines would invest only one week's pay in E bonds this month Chelsea would go over the top in a big way.

Your argument may be that you are already investing 10 per cent of your pay in war bonds. That is fine, but it is not enough. Many are investing 25 per cent or more of their income in these securities and plan to invest more during this drive.

You may think you are making sacrifices if you deny yourself some of the luxuries of life in order to buy war bonds. You can't put your finger on one person on the home front who has made any real sacrifice yet—the small inconveniences caused by some of the rationing regulations may be called sacrifices by some—but think again—

Just stop and think of our Roll of Honor with more than 300 names—boys who are training in camps or are in actual conflict on the various battlefronts. To mention only a few, think of the sacrifices being made by Dale Kern, Harley Prudden, Alfred Eise-man and others in the Pacific area; of George Prinzing, Charles Ritter, Moritz Bruckner and others in the Mediterranean area; think of others you know on these battlefronts and of those you know who are in England and other points awaiting the call to invasion of Hitler's European Fortress. These are the boys who are making the sacrifices and casualty lists will doubtless show that some of them are yet to make the supreme sacrifice.

We on the home front are making a very small contribution to the war effort if we deny ourselves a few unnecessary pleasures in order to invest every cent we can in the best securities in the world—it is our duty to loan our government the funds with which to properly equip every one of our boys so that they will have a better chance of returning to the comforts of home which we are still enjoying.

These boys have given up the good jobs which others are now enjoying in order to answer their call to the colors—you do your bit by investing a just share of your earnings to help bring a speedy victory.

The Unity of Nations

By RUTH TAYLOR

Some people today are disturbed by the phrase "United Nations," feeling that it is a union in which we will do all the giving and none of the getting, that it is an alliance which is definitely entangling and which will be a handicap once the war is over.

They overlook the fact that the United Nations were not united by the plots of dreamy-eyed internationalists, but by knife thrusts of the Axis realists. It was the attack upon the nations that united them. And whether we like it or not, we must remember that no one nation could have survived alone against the powers arrayed against us. We would have put up a good fight alone, but it could only have been a struggle against hopeless odds.

England would have gone down fighting had our isolationists and "party liners" been able to stop the flow of supplies from here. Then the Nazis would have had air bases from which to destroy our cities at ease. They would have brought the war home to the Mississippi.

It was common danger that brought the United Nations together. If we do not stay together, our fight will have been in vain. We are but one of the champions of the rights of mankind.

The unity we have learned is an intangible thing, difficult to comprehend in its larger sphere. Enforced cooperation in the common fight has brought us nearer to understanding each other. In our personal relations it is easier of comprehension. Men from different nations, from different backgrounds, of different speech, worked together, fought together, joked together and learned that they all have one thing in common—the desire to protect their homes and families and their way of life.

We must keep this unity of nations intact in peace as well as in war. Raymond Clapper after his trip to the war and neutral fronts made this stirring observation. "This time peace is going to take the same qualities that war demands. Peace will not be the opposite of war but a continuation of it. Peace this time must consist of disarming the enemy, of keeping him disarmed and our side armed. The Allies must stand together after the fighting or they will be defeated one by one as they almost were in the war. Peace will require the same aggressive, confident, realistic collaboration that has meant the self-preservation of each of us in this war."

We must stand together in a common cause, but that does not mean not-mean accepting their way of life as ours. We will not compromise our own ideals, but we will work together toward a common goal—the permanent peace of a world of free men.

Jap Beetles Prefer Yellow

Now that the unwelcome winged immigrants from Nippon, known as Japanese Beetles, are again in season, so are beetle traps. The color of the traps may make a difference of as much as 50 per cent in their attraction for the beetles, according to estimates which have been made during the past several years. The department of agriculture has found yellow to be the most successful color for helping to attract the maximum number of beetles to the traps.

Correct Cultivation

On a correctly-adjusted cultivator, the teeth are spaced on the gang frames to thoroughly cover all the area between the rows. All teeth are set at the same depth with the shovels, making a 45 degree angle with the ground to give easy and quick penetration.

Indians Gave Us Corn

Corn and potatoes came to us from the Indian country of South America.

By GENE ALLEMAN

How Tom Dewey won the 1943 endorsement of the Native Sons of Eagle Harbor in Keweenaw county, and how Ping Foster rose to legendary glory as a hunting guide in the Michigan Copper Country were related to us the other day by Homer Guck.

Guck, a former $50,000 a year executive for William Randolph Hearst, is Eagle Harbor's most distinguished summer citizen.

He also is a loyal, native son of the Copper Country, having been managing editor of the Houghton Mining Gazette for 12 years and functioning between editions as head of the mining college's English department. He also wrote sundry items for both the Detroit Journal and Detroit News until their state editors discovered the accomplishment. Then fortune smiled at last, and from 1929 to 1936 Guck was publisher of the Chicago Herald-Examiner.

It was at Eagle Harbor, a picturesque resort in Keweenaw, sleepily existing this summer due to lack of tourists, that we met the colorful newspaper personality. He was effervescent with bubbling humor, a genial gentleman of carefree leisure, as he met us at the blue door of a white cottage overlooking the harbor and welcomed us graciously inside.

"Have you heard the story of how the Native Sons of Eagle Harbor endorsed Tom Dewey?" he asked. We had not.

"No?" he seemed disappointed. "Well, you should know about it. The story appeared in the New York Herald Tribune, Knox's Chicago Daily News, Pulitzer's St. Louis Post-Dispatch and several downstate newspapers of Michigan."

"Some of the natives gathered. Fourth of July morning, on the steps of the Foley and Smith general store. The conversation centered on Tom Dewey. I decided to organize the Native Sons of Eagle Harbor Club and to have the club endorse Dewey for President, using the sentimental idea that Tom's grandfather had once run a newspaper in Eagle Harbor, years ago. I even sent the story to the Los Angeles Times, whom we designated as our Pacific coast representative. Among our sponsors were Walter P. Gies (Negaunee resident who is chairman of the state welfare commission) and Thomas Uren, Thomas Parks and William E. Kling."

And here was the piece de resistance of reputed historical lore, around which the Dewey story was fabricated. The paternal grand-sire of Tom Dewey acquired a newspaper press in Detroit, shipped it by boat through the Sea to Eagle Harbor, and published a newspaper there one winter, many years ago.

By spring the elder Dewey became discouraged, and despite the friendly assistance of Horace Greeley who used to assist him with his editorials, Dewey decided to return to the Lower Peninsula.

"And so he put his printing press on the first boat," concluded Guck, and sent it back to Detroit from where it was taken overland by wagon to Owosso. And there, as far as I know, the press is still running!"

Guck chuckled as he detailed, as a perpetrator of waggish humor, how the story had caught on. Although the Keweenaw natives had agreed that Dewey was their presidential choice (Guck admits he still has a Willie button around somewhere), the account of Grandfather Dewey's printing press at Eagle was purely and intentionally fictional, as the Dewey family at Owosso has since verified. George Dewey, the grandfather, left a sedate principalship at Niles to publish the Hastings Banner, a weekly journal. His two sons, George J. Dewey and Edmond O. Dewey, later went to Owosso where they founded the Times and set precedence by becoming respectable Republican bosses in Shiawassee county.

A few years ago Guck conceived the capricious idea of building a bridge from Eagle Harbor to Isle Royale. He proposed facetiously that the structure should be built with WPA money and labor, and to this day the joke is being taken seriously by some of the Keweenaw natives who insist that the bridge just couldn't be put together. Why, it would be 30 miles long!

In a mellow mood of reminiscence, the ex-Chicago newspaper publisher told us about Ping Foster. Ping, a hunting guide for many Houghton business men, ("I raise my yun, and ping! down goes the bird") did not appear at his hunting camp one fall. When the word reached Guck, who then was managing editor of the Houghton newspaper, the latter instructed Pat Cook, an enterprising reporter, to prepare a story headed, "Where is Ping Foster?"

The mystery grew as the winter lengthened, and it was not until the first boat returned from Isle Royale, whence it traveled traditionally on St. Patrick's Day, that the news reached Guck's desk how the missing Ping had spent the entire winter snowbound with a trapper friend, the two men alone together, on the big Isle near Canada.

"I sends Pat down to find Ping, and to get the story," related Guck. "Pat takes Ping over to the Douglass House bar, and he gets a wonderful yarn. It seems that Ping and his friend had spent a most remarkable winter. One day they had venison, the next day duck, the next day partridges, the next day some brook trout. Everything went along fine until Ping notices, one morning, that his side was starting to swell, like a rubber balloon. He recalls how he had been operated on, the previous year, for appendicitis. The swelling keeps getting worse, and Ping's belly grows bigger and bigger, until finally he tells his friend to get out a hunting knife and to operate."

"Not me," says his partner, "I don't want to be convicted of murder. You would die, and I wouldn't have a witness to prove my innocence."

"All right," replies Ping. "I'll do it myself!" And so he sharpened a spike to the fine sharp edge of a needle, packs the swollen side of his body with cakes of ice, and punctures his side with the spike. The freezing serves as an anesthetic, and in time Ping gets well.

"I reads Pat's story and smiles until I get down to the part where Ping freezes himself and sticks his side with a nail. 'Pat,' says I, 'You've got to cut out that nonsense. You've gone too far.'"

"Pat looks at me in disappointment, and replies, 'Sorry, boss, but it's too late. I queried the New York Times and the Chicago Tribune on the news, and each paper asked me to send 500 words. I sent them a half hour ago. You wouldn't want the Gazette to be scooped on its own story, would you?' And so the tale was printed. It is a Copper Country classic."

It is a bit of factual Houghton history that Ping Foster, while serving as a hunting guide for the late William G. Rice, publisher of the Gazette, was caught red-handed with eight partridges in his possession at Otter Lake before the season opened one fall.

St. Clair Willson, the game warden, took Ping to Justice of Peace Little's court upstairs on Isle Royale street. When Judge Little, haughty as the chief justice of a supreme court, asked Ping how he was going to plead, guilty or not guilty, Ping rises and astounds the packed courtroom: "Your honor, I plead insanity."

Later it was revealed that the unconventional plea had been suggested to the uninformed woodman by Mr. Rice himself, who had once been a lawyer and who, incidentally, paid Ping's fine of $5 a bird. It was Bill Rice's $64 joke.

When a retired metropolitan newspaper publisher, fortified with savings from a $50,000 a year salary, selects a scenic end-of-the-road as Eagle Harbor to spend his summers, his creative talents must find a public outlet of expression.

If you read in the press one of these days that the Native Sons of Eagle Harbor propose to put 10,000 unemployed miners to work after the war, digging a tunnel under Lake Superior to Isle Royale, you'll know that puckish Homer Guck is at his typewriter again.

The Chelsea Elevator Co. had the following ad: Peas wanted. Try our threshing coal. Our Pennant flour still pleases. Bring us your huckleberries. Prices right. Lumber and building material.

Farm Population
Minnesota's farm population today is the lowest on record. By January 1, 1943, the farm population of the state had declined to 850,700. In 1920, when the farm population in the state was first enumerated separately, it was 897,181. Reaching an all-time high in 1934 of 834,000, it has declined steadily to the present.

Lies Lower Poultry Output
It is possible to keep a flock of poultry entirely free from external parasites at small cost in labor and material. While losses from lice and mites are not always apparent—they lower the production of a flock and probably predispose the fowls to poultry diseases.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Good morning, Doc. Your good wife tells me you're working night and day now that many of the younger doctors are in the army."

"That's right, Judge, and I'm glad I'm able to do it. Had a long letter from Harry that bright young fellow I was breakin' in to take over my practice. He said the boys in the service are getting the best medical care of any armed force in our history. They really should with all those brilliant doctors and plenty of supplies to work with."

"Speaking of supplies, Doc, not many people realize that a large part of the war alcohol required to make the medical supplies that are being used right this minute to alleviate pain, combat infection and save human lives, is produced by the beverage distilling industry. This entire industry stopped making whiskey months ago and has been working night and day producing nothing but war alcohol."

"Nobody knows better than I, Judge, what an important contribution to our war effort that really is."

THE 3rd WAR LOAN DRIVE STARTS —TO BACK THE INVASION!

What you will be asked to do—

MARK WELL the date—Thursday, September 9th. For on that day, you must answer to your country's call.

On that day, the 3rd War Loan Drive opens. To you—and to every other true American—a clarion call goes forth to rally to the support of our flag.

You will be asked to back our fighting forces to the very limit of your resources. You will be asked to go ALL-OUT FOR INVASION by investing in EXTRA War Bonds—more War Bonds than you perhaps think you can possibly afford.

To meet the national quota, every individual in the country who earns a wage or draws an income or has accumulated funds must invest; if he possibly can, in at least one EXTRA $100 War Bond. Those who can, must invest more—thousands of dollars' worth more. Each and every one must do his full part.

Scrape up the money from every source you can... turn in all the loose cash you carry with you... dig out what you had tucked away "just in case." Go without pleasures, luxuries, even necessities this September. And give our fighting men the things they need to fight with—and win.

These men are throwing everything they have into this fierce invasion push. They are giving their blood, their lives. No one can put a price on such courage, self-sacrifice, devotion. But you can show you're with them to the limit! You can say it with Bonds... EXTRA Bonds this month.

Blood poison bugs will always be at work so long as there are protruding nails and people who wound themselves on the nails.

Any piercing wound, especially those caused by rusty nails, are very serious. There is always the possibility of tetanus (lockjaw). Avoiding cuts, scratches and piercing wounds is the best way to avoid infection. This is just a matter of caution and common sense.

The house and yard must be kept free of any upturned boards with nails in them. The best practice is to pull the nail out of the board. If you turn the board over, someone may turn it back again. Also, watch where you are stepping or walking.

There are other sources, too, which cause dangerous wounds. Ice picks, needles, razors, and knives must be handled in the safest way to avoid the possibility of injury. Cans should be opened with can openers only, preferably the revolving-motion type.

Use the safest tool in the safest way.

"Bear a Hand" is a term used in the U. S. Navy meaning "hurry up."

U. S. Coast Guard Needs Hundreds of Recruits

The U. S. Coast Guard has sent out a rush call for several hundred seventeen-year old recruits from the Michigan-Ohio area at once.

Additional ships and equipment being put into commission has put a severe drain on Coast Guard manpower, necessitating the present recruiting campaign. The Coast Guard has been given many new landing vessels, transports, and other ships to man. A great deal of land equipment, too, has been recently added to Coast Guard rolling stock. These include jeeps, command cars, and transport trucks.

Additional beach patrols have recently gone into service, requiring men with a knowledge of watch-dogs and horses. These have been, and are being used extensively for, patrolling east and west coast shorelines.

Seventeen-year-old Michigan youths may enlist at 533 Lafayette Bldg. in Detroit.

Ecuador Makes Panamas

Most panamas worn in the United States come from Ecuador and Colombia where they are hand-woven by Indians from split and bleached leaves of the palmlike toquilla. Hat-making is a home industry, generally a side line to farming. A simple hat may be in the making for six months.

Home Front Volunteers Start Today To Put Over Third War Loan Campaign For World's Greatest Financing Drive

With the Slogan "Back the Attack—With War Bonds," Every American Citizen Is Asked to Buy at Least
One Additional $100 Bond in September

WASHINGTON, D. C., September 9.—America's Third Army marched forth today to capture the most important immediate objective on the home front.

As 2,000,000 volunteers swung into line to put over the Third War Loan campaign, they were met with helping hands from millions of workers in the home front production battle, and cheers of encouragement from men on the fighting fronts—to whom the success of the Third War Loan is literally a matter of life and death.

To "Back the attack—with War Bonds"—every American who can do so will be asked to buy at least an extra $100 War Bond. The quota for those who are able to invest more from income or accumulated funds will be much higher.

Speaking of the great drive to raise $15 billion—a major portion to come from individuals—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, Jr., said:

"The United Nations are on the march. The first rumblings of the big offensive are being heard in all the Axis nations. Thousands of our men have stormed Sicily. Tons upon tons of bombs are dropping on Germany. We are attacking Jap-held territory as never before. This is a great day for us. But it means that the time has come for us to really tighten our belts here on the home front. We have come to a most crucial period in the war, and the success that we will have on the fighting fronts will depend to a considerable extent upon the degree to which we here at home are willing to work and sacrifice for ultimate victory."

WASHINGTON.—The war department disclosed that a new submachine gun, small enough to be carried in an ordinary brief case, is now in mass production.

Known officially as the M-3 submachine gun, the new .45 caliber weapon weighs less than nine pounds, compared with the 12-pound "tommy gun." It is capable of firing 450 rounds a minute.

The new gun is of all-metal construction and has a collapsible metal stock. When the gun is in a closed position, its length is only 22 inches.

The gun's unusual weight distribution and its comparatively low rate of fire make it highly accurate whether used as a pistol, and fired from the hip, or whether with stock extended—it is fired from the shoulder. Working parts of the M-3 machine gun are fully inclosed to protect them from dirt, water and mud.

The new gun, described by Col. Rene R. Studier as principally a few pieces of tin, breaks down in three principal pieces, none more than a foot in length.

After exhaustive tests, the infantry reported that the new M-3 was more accurate and easier to control than the standard submachine gun. Its lighter weight and collapsible stock appealed to the parachute troops. Amphibious troops found rain, salt spray, and even complete immersion in sea water had little effect on its reliability. Both the armored force and the tank destroyer command commended its rugged construction and its resistance to dirt and dust.

The first deliveries of the new weapon were made last April. The guns cost less than $20, compared with $40 for former types.

New Type Ship, Frigate,
To Be Used for Convoys

WASHINGTON.—The navy announced that a new type of twin screw, heavy duty corvette, designated as the "frigate," now is in service and that scores will be built for use on North Atlantic convoy duty.

The vessels have an overall length of 303 feet and a beam of 37 feet 6 inches. They are of simpler design and easier construction than the destroyer escort ships already being constructed by the score for anti-submarine service.

Use of the term "frigate" restores a name made famous in early American history. The first American frigates were authorized by congress in 1794.

Record British Harvest
Seen by Food Minister

LONDON.—Britain faces the prospect of reaping the greatest harvest she has ever had, according to Lord Woolton, minister of food. He made the announcement to 1,600 land girls at Aylesbury in thanking them for helping Britain to produce food at home and save shipping space.

He admitted that at one time he was anxious about the 1943 harvest, but he recalled that he had also said that if Britain got food this year he was confident the country would be all right.

A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, sent the land girls a message reminding them that the U-boat still was the greatest threat to the United Nations.

Rubber Workers Exempt
From Army in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO.—The Brazilian government in a move to stimulate production of natural rubber declared all rubber workers exempt from army mobilization for the present.

The order, signed by War Minister Gen. Eurico Gaspar Dutra, came as plans were being completed for "national rubber month," beginning June 1, during which efforts will be made to increase the movement of workers to the Amazon valley, locale of major Brazilian production, while scrap rubber will be collected throughout the country.

Widow of Plane Victim
Granted $77,637 Award

LOS ANGELES.—Mrs. Ralph Rainger, widow of the composer of "Love in Bloom" among other popular tunes who was killed in an aerial collision October 13, held a $77,637 award from American Airlines for his death. A superior court jury deliberated three hours before returning its verdict.

Mrs. Rainger had asked $227,637 for herself and three children, maintaining the airline was negligent. Rainger was killed with 11 others when the airliner and an army bomber collided over Palm Springs.

Man Complains of Brother's Driving

KEWANEE, ILL.—A gasoline rationing board said a complaint advised them that:

"My brother holds a 'C' gasoline ration book and he's driving his car all around the country and using it for trips that have nothing to do with his work. I want you to crack down on him."

"Brother" was put on probation.

WEDDINGS

Jarvis-Werner

Leonore Jarvis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Jarvis of Detroit, and William F. Werner of Detroit, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Werner of Chelsea, spoke their wedding vows at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning, September 4, in Epiphany church, Detroit. Rev. Fr. John V. O'Connor celebrated the nuptial mass. At the offertory "Ave Maria" was sung by Mrs. Dorothy Jones, who also rendered "Panis Angelicus" and "Mother, At Your Feet I'm Kneeling" before the recessional.

The bride wore a princess gown of ivory satin buttoned down the back with a sweetheart neckline edged with seed pearls. A tatra of seed pearls held the full-length veil of illusion and she carried a white satin nosegay topped with gardenias and a cascade of white roses.

Patricia Jarvis was her sister's maid of honor and she was attired in shell pink sheer crepe with a matching Juliet cap. Her bouquet was of American Beauty roses.

Florence Guinan of Detroit, formerly of Chelsea, who attended as bridesmaid, wore an aqua dress, with a basque of brocade and a full skirt of plain material. She carried Tallman roses and wore flowers in her hair.

The flower girl, Peggy Todd, who was gownned in pale green sheer with matching poke bonnet and veil, carried a nosegay of pink roses.

Best man for the bridegroom was Leonard Matthews and the ushers were Timothy Jarvis, the bride's brother, Charles Caldwell and James Todd.

Breakfast for the wedding party and immediate families followed at the home of the bride's parents and in the evening a reception was attended by about 100 guests.

The bride is a graduate of St. Cecilia's school, Detroit and the groom of St. Mary's school, Chelsea. Both are employees of the Standard Accident Insurance Co. They will reside at 10028 Archdale, Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Werner and Mrs. William Merker of Chelsea were attendants at the wedding.

Fleming-Wood

At a ceremony solemnized on Monday morning at St. Mary's church, Nancy J. Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Fleming, became the bride of Rev. Clarence W. Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood of Sylvan township. Rev. Fr. Lee Laige officiated at the nuptial mass and the bride was given in marriage by her father.

For her wedding she chose a floor-length gown of white satin with high neckline of lace embroidered with seed pearls, and long, pointed sleeves. Her finger-tip veil was caught in a Juliet cap of lace.

Mrs. Al. Mshar, sister-of-the-bride, as matron of honor, wore a dress of pale pink taffeta. The bridesmaids were Virginia Barr, Ruth Collins and Grace Merker.

Barbara Ann Mshar, niece of the bride, accompanied the bridal party as flower girl and the ring-bearer was Donald Lee Mshar, nephew of the bride.

John W. Steele assisted the groom as best man, and the ushers were Wil-

NUTRITION TIPS

Do You Eat Three Meals a Day?
Most of us do eat three meals, most of us eat a sufficient quantity of food, but do we eat the right food?

The Washtenaw County Nutrition Committee points out that according to surveys, even before the war many people were not getting proper nourishment, because they did not choose their food wisely. Now that war has necessarily limited the selection and amount of produce available it is more than ever important that people become aware of food values. It is necessary to study alternatives and become familiar with new foods, choosing from the things available those that will furnish the essential elements for good nutrition. The Committee reminds us that among the most important of the protective foods are milk and fresh fruits and vegetables which contain the vitamins and minerals we need for body building every day.

It is deplorable when grown people do not eat protective foods; it is a tragedy when children do not have the foods necessary to proper growth and health. Milk and fresh fruits and vegetables are still easily obtainable for most people today, yet a recent survey of school children in one Michigan county revealed that 26 per cent drank no milk at all and only 17 per cent the four glasses that every child should have daily. Fifty-four per cent of the children had no raw fruit and vegetables and only 27 per cent had the recommended two daily servings. There were even greater deficiencies in leafy green and yellow vegetables.

For adequate nourishment every person, child or adult, must have three good meals a day, every day, if they are to have healthy bodies, keen minds and calm nerves.

The Washtenaw County Nutrition Committee presents the following food guide called the Basic Seven. For health eat some food from each group each day:

1. Butter or fortified fat.
2. Green and yellow vegetables—raw, cooked, frozen or canned.
3. Oranges, tomatoes, grapefruit, cabbage or salad greens.
4. Bread, flour, cereals, whole grain or restored.
5. Meat, poultry, fish or eggs, or dried beans, peas, nuts or peanut butter.
6. Milk and milk products, fluid, evaporated, dried or cheese.
7. Potatoes and other vegetables and fruits, raw, dried, cooked, frozen or canned.

In each group there are alternatives, as for example beans are an alternate for meat or cheese instead of milk. This means that even in wartime our population can be properly nourished.

Even if it were not necessary, the Committee concludes, it is fun to go food adventuring, to acquire a cosmopolitan taste and free ourselves of provincial food prejudices.

Occupants of oil heated homes are urged to return their applications for next year's fuel oil to their ration boards promptly and when issued new rations to place orders with their dealers for summer fill-ups.

Sugar—Stamp No. 14 good for five pounds through October. Stamps No. 15 and 16 are good for 5 lbs. each for home canning purposes through Oct. 31. Housewives may apply to their local ration boards for more if necessary.

Shoes—Stamp No. 18 (1 pair) is valid through Oct. 31.

Farmers' War Bond Quota

Farmers have a war bond quota of $12 billion dollars in the 15 billion dollar third war loan drive which begins September 9 and continues through the month. During the campaign, canvassers expect to call upon at least 3,000,000 of the nation's six million farm homes. Farmers' income figures point to big bond subscriptions. It is estimated that their cash income from marketings will be 12 billion dollars this year.

To Save Using Ration Book III
The first brown "point stamp" in War Ration Book III will become valid September 12. This stamp, A, is good for 16 points through October 2. Brown stamps will become valid on successive Sundays and will always expire on the Saturday nearest the end of a month. They will be used for rationing meats, fats, oils, canned fish, cheese, canned milk, and all other commodities now rationed with red stamps in War Ration Book II. The small stamps bearing pictures of field guns, tanks, ships and airplanes are not yet in use. Anyone who has not received Book III may obtain one by applying to his local ration board.

Farm Items Under Price Control
Used hay loaders, side delivery rakes, and manure spreaders were recently placed under specific price control by OPA. This ruling applies when these items are sold by any persons, such as farmers or auctioneers. Maximum prices will be determined on the following basis: 85 per cent of the price of the machine when new, if the equipment is less than one year old, and 70 per cent of the price of the item when new, if the equipment is one year old or more.

Overseas Christmas Mail
More than 10 million individual Christmas parcels for overseas soldiers are expected in the mailing period, September 15 to October 15. The Army Postal Service will need the full cooperation of the mailing public if packages are to reach soldiers in time. The public is asked to be sure to put the correct overseas mailing addresses on the packages and to wrap them securely, but in such a manner as to permit inspection prior to their dispatch. Every overseas package must be opened, inspected, and re-wrapped at the port of embarkation. The Army Postal Service and the U. S. Post Office Department strongly urge that packages be mailed September 15 or immediately thereafter.

Ration Point Changes
Reflecting an improvement in civilian meat supplies, the ration cost of most lamb and bacon cuts, sirloin steak, and rib roasts has been reduced from one to two points for September. In addition, several variety meats also have lower point values. Creamery butter increased two points to 12 points per pound. Country butter, however, has been assigned a value of six points per pound. The purchasing power of meat-fats stamps in September will be a little larger than in August because the decrease in meat point values more than cancels the higher ration cost of creamery butter.

Prunes and Raisins Rationed
Dried and dehydrated prunes and raisins were restored to rationing September 5. Values were placed at four points per pound. Allocations of dried prunes and raisins to Government agencies will be large. However, the balance of raisins and dried prunes available from the year's production for civilian distribution is expected to be over 90 per cent of the average annual civilian supply for a five-year period preceding rationing.

"Home Front Pledge" Drive On
A nation-wide, cooperative campaign by homemakers and merchants to hold down the cost of living and combat black markets is being conducted by volunteer civic committees in more than 100 communities through local drives to secure signers for a "Home Front" pledge. Nearly one million pledges have been signed already. Those signing agree (1) "I will pay no more than top legal prices" and (2) "I will accept no rationed goods without giving up ration stamps."

Rattlesnake Flag
Historical records of the U. S. marine corps show that the rattlesnake device first appeared on the drums of Revolutionary marines who were recruiting a marine regiment in Philadelphia in December, 1775. A yellow silk flag bearing the device and motto "Don't tread on me," was hoisted by John Paul Jones on the flagship Alfred at Philadelphia the same month.

Chemical Treatment Breaks

Rest for New Potatoes

Chemical treatment is the quickest means of breaking the rest period of new potatoes used for seed in order to prevent delayed, uneven sprouting.

Rest periods for immature potatoes are less readily broken than for the mature tubers. The latter, which normally show little or no

peeling, should be used for seed when it is necessary to break the rest period. The potatoes should be cut immediately before treatment.

Materials found to be most effective are ethylene, chlorohydrin and thiocyanates or sodium and potassium. Seed may be treated with ethylene—chlorohydrin—either by soaking or gassing. For soaking, the pieces should be dipped in a 6 per cent solution and placed in an air-tight container for 24 to 48 hours. The freshly cut seed may be gassed by placing it in an airtight container with ethylene-chloro-hydrin in a shallow pan. The chemical should be used at the rate of one pint for each 3.2 cubic feet of space for a period of 12 hours.

Temperature during treatment with this chemical should be held between 70 and 90 degrees Fahrenheit.

With sodium thiocyanate, the seed should be dipped in a 1 to 2 per cent solution and held in an airtight container for 24 hours. Temperature during this treatment does not seem to be important.

Use First Aid Measures

To Control Mildew Fungus

Seasonal rains, humidity and floods launch the active season for mildew. This small fungus growth, while it not only leaves unsightly stains and a musty odor but often causes decay in wood and weakens fabrics such as cotton, linen, rayon and wool, is subject to simple first aid and preventive measures.

Home economists of the department of agriculture recommend treating fabrics while the mildew spots are fresh and before the growth has had a chance to attack the fibers.

Simple sudsing with soap and water followed up by sunning will usually remove fresh stains, but if they persist moisten the spots with salt and lemon juice and place the garment in the sun.

Old and stubborn spots are difficult and sometimes impossible to remove without damaging the material. Don't risk a bleach on colored fabrics, but on uncolored linens, cottons, or rayons a bleach such as javelle water, sodium perborate or a weak solution of oxalic acid will often do a satisfactory job of spot chasing.
