Mad Dog Bites Three People Here Thursday

Three local people were bitten last Thursday night by a dog which is believed to have had the rabies. Ownership of the dog has not been determined, but it was killed after it had bitten Mrs. W. H. Skentelbury, Betty Platt and Jerry Light. The dog was chased by Policeman George Doe and others to Congdon street, where it was shot by Philip Vogel and Mr. Doe.

It is known that the dog bit several dogs about town and an outbreak of rabies is possible within a short time unless precautions are taken by the owners of all dogs to have them treated at once or to observe them closely for some time. Dogs bitten last week would perhaps become rabid within the next week or two.

The body of the dog, believed to be rabid, was taken to the University of Michigan for examination and the latest report from there indicates that the dog had rabies.

Those who were bitten by the dog are taking a course of medical treatment to forestall any ill effects.

As has been stated before there is an over-abundance of dogs about town which seem to have no home, or are neglected by their owners. If dogs are not cared for by their owners there should be some enforced procedure for "liquidation", and perhaps a repetition of last week's incident could be avoided.

President To Give Radio Talk on War Fund Drive

Firing the opening gun of the National War Fund Drive scheduled to be held in October and November, President Franklin D. Roosevelt will address the nation over the radio on Tuesday, October 5 at 10:30 p. m. E.W.T. This announcement was made by the Lansing Headquarters of the Michigan United War Fund, state representative of the National War Fund.

The importance of the War Fund Drive is also reflected by the fact that many magazines of national circulation will devote stories and editorials by famous writers to the War Fund in their October and November issues.

A special movie short, entitled "The Last Will and Testament of Tom Smith," featuring Lionel Barrymore and other Hollywood stars is now being shown at leading moving picture theatres throughout the state.

These announcements are being hailed by county War Fund officials whose organizations will seek to raise Michigan's quota of $5,749,425 this fall.

Prominent among the 17 war-related agencies which look to the War Fund for support is the USO, with 1265 clubs and centers, 118 USO-Travelers Aid Lounges, and 115 Mobile Service Units which take movies, games, letters and other comforts and entertainments to men on maneuvers or guarding our shores and the far-flung outposts of America's Defense lines.

In most counties, the organization of War Fund committees is now completed and volunteer workers are working out final plans for the War Fund Drive.

Quota of $325,000 Exceeded By Almost $200,000 As Industry and Individuals Purchase Bonds During Final Week of the Campaign

Chelsea is over the top in the 3rd War Loan Drive—and in a big way!

Tabulation up to Tuesday night reveals that sales of all types of bonds totaled $517,275, almost $200,000 more than Chelsea's quota of $325,000, and with extension of the drive to Saturday night it is expected that the grand total will approach the $600,000 mark when the drive ends.

The report of Henry C. Schneider, chairman of the local war bond committee, shows the following results:

"E" bonds sold, $136,175; quota, $120,250.
"F" and "G" bonds sold, $39,600; quota, $42,250.
Corporation bonds sold, $341,500; quota, $162,500.

The corporation bonds division was given a big boost this week when Federal Screw Works purchased a total of $250,000 in Series "C" tax anticipation notes, which sent the Chelsea total skyrocketing to exceed by far the quota assigned to the village.

Governor Proclaims Conservation Week

Emphasizing the necessity for conserving the state's natural resources even in war-time, Governor Harry F. Kelly has proclaimed the week of October 3 to 9 as Michigan Conservation Week. The governor urged all Michigan citizens to support the program of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, who are sponsoring the conservation week.

The official proclamation, issued at the executive office at Lansing, reads as follows:

"To use our resources more advantageously and with less waste has become almost second nature to many of us. Because we saw the need for conserving our natural resources before it was too late, and because we early began a program of reconstruction and wise use, Michigan today is able to exert a tremendous influence in our war effort by furnishing more than its share of timber products, oil, iron, copper, and other essential minerals. We are proud that our forethought has privileged us to make this contribution.

"But while we are at war, and it is our duty to give all of our physical energies and all of our facilities to help bring this war to a successful conclusion, we must not forget that if we do not continue to carry on our basic conservation practices—the wise use of our game, our fish, our forests, our minerals, our waters—it will be as disastrous to our state in the future as though these things had been ravaged by the depredations of war. We must continue to exert the same vigilance and care we have exercised in the past.

"The Michigan United Conservation Clubs plan a Michigan Conservation Week from October 3 to 9, as the third annual effort to focus intensified attention on the need for conserving our natural resources.

"The Conservation Clubs will issue special commemorative stamps, which will illustrate various aspects of Michigan's conservation program. These stamps will be distributed throughout the state, and the revenue they provide will be used to carry on educational work of a nature that can result only in direct benefit to the people of Michigan.

"Therefore, I, Harry F. Kelly, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby proclaim the week of October 3 to 9 as Michigan Conservation Week.

"In doing so I urge our citizens to use Michigan Conservation stamps on mail to advertise Michigan's natural attractions, and to join in various public programs which will stress the value of conservation of our natural resources."

PROHIBITION CONVENTION

A Prohibition party organizing convention for Washtenaw county is announced for Tuesday night, October 5 at 8 o'clock, in the Free Methodist church, Ann Arbor. There will be speakers, and prohibition and secret music. All in sympathy with the movement are invited to attend and take part.

LOCAL RATIONING INFORMATION

The rationing board will be closed Saturday evenings because of the necessity for conserving fuel.

The gas, tire and stove board is open Fridays from 1:00 to 3:30 o'clock.

The board which takes care of industrial, institutional, and consumer rationing of food, shoes, the issuing of War Books I and II, and the making out of applications for Ration Book III, and kerosene and fuel oil for everything but heating, will be open Fridays from 1:00 to 5:00 o'clock.

Sale of "E" Bonds Have Been Accelerated

In connection with the county-wide bond drive, it is announced by the county committee that two army jeeps will visit Chelsea this afternoon, appearing at the public school at 3:30 and later at industrial plants and in the business district.

The fact that our quota has been exceeded does not mean that there should be a let-down in the purchase of bonds the rest of this week. When our boys go "over the top" they don't call it a day; they look forward to another objective. The above figure is very gratifying, but if it goes to $600,000 so much the better. Buy all the bonds you can right up to the time the drive ends—and then don't forget to buy bonds regularly.

We're proud of our record—let's be prouder when the final gong sounds.

Rural Schools Benefit From Library Service

The Extension Committee of the Chelsea Public Library is again reaching out with its service to the rural schools.

Since the opening of schools this year, a number of teachers from the rural areas have called at the library for a loan of books to be put at the disposal of the students. This service is open to all rural schools in the surrounding communities and the Extension Committee is anticipating a year of benefits from this gesture.

Among the books that are available may be found a number of titles appearing in the "Reading Circle Lists," the reading of which gives the student credit and recognition by the state.

The rural schools and teachers should at all times feel free to take advantage of this material of interest and value which has been put at their disposal.

24 Years Ago

Thursday, September 25, 1919

The Congregational church held a patriotic service in connection with the demobilization of their service flag last Sunday evening. The old service flag with 27 stars was taken down by Paul Maroney, representing the army, and Warren Coe, the navy. A new flag with "28" representing the number honorably discharged from the service, and one blue service star for Ensign Carl Chandler, who is still with the navy, was then displayed. The principal address of the evening was delivered by Sgt. Clayton Heesler, who spoke vigorously on "What I Think of Uncle Sam."

The Chelsea Steel Ball Co. has the foundation for the addition to the plant completed, and the steel structural work is on the ground.

J. H. Boyd is having a residence built on his farm on the Manchester road.

The following appointments were made at the close of the Methodist conference in Owosso:
Chelsea—Rev. H. R. Beatty.
Dexter—Rev. W. E. Brown.
Grass Lake—Rev. W. E. Dudgeon.
Prosecuting attorney Jacob Fahner has notified the dealers in firearms that no revolver can be sold without a written permit for the purchaser. A stiff penalty is provided for violators of this law.

34 Years Ago

Thursday, September 30, 1909

During the past week the Chelsea Stove and Manufacturing Co. has been shipping out the dies, patterns, and partly manufactured parts from the former Gitzler Stove Co., having sold the same to the A. B. Stove Co., Battle Creek, recently organized to manufacture stoves.

Just what are the duties of a trolley car conductor? Not so very long ago, a man stopped the car between here and Ypsilanti, threw several letters on the car and money for postage and extended the request that the letters be posted in Ypsi. Not long ago a man with two milk cans full of milk got on the car, filling up the back platform with his merchandise. He expected to pay one fare and asked the assistance of the conductor in loading and unloading his merchandise. Recently several men, natives of Wayne, pushed out wildly flagging the car, only to inquire after the car had come to a full stop, what the baseball score was.

L. T. Freeman and O. C. Burkhardt were in the northern part of the state several days of this week, buying horses for the Chelsea Horse Co. Chas. Merker cut 30 acres of corn for Joseph L. Sibley in nine and one-half days. Guest that's going some. Among the offerings at the Sylvan theatre the first three nights of next week will be the "Merry Widow," the biggest New York hit in years. Chelsea is very fortunate to be able to see these players, direct from a big city.

Carlton Runciman, who has been employed at the H. S. Holmes Mercantile Co. for some time, has resigned his position, and is attending the Ypsilanti State Normal.

JERUSALEM SCHOOL NEWS

The Jerusalem school opened Sept. 7 with an enrollment of 21. We have nine grades, including the beginner. The president of our Civic Health Club for the first two months is Shirley Moore; the secretary is Raymond Moore. We have our committees working.

The 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th grades have their new geography books and test books to accompany them. We think they will work fine.

We have several pictures around the room appropriate for the season.

In Art we have enjoyed studying color harmony. We have found some good pictures to illustrate harmony. We have made some cloth covered animals. Some of us have started to sew some cloth blocks for a pillow or quilt.

The upper grades and the lower grades have each learned a new song. Each one in the 1st and 2nd grades have a new seatwork book to work in during their extra time.

Some of us have read some extra books which we have recorded in "Our Reading Book."

We have found some good current events for our work. We are learning place geography when we discuss them.

The 6th grade has been leading the discussion in health from the new health books. The rest of us have been helping and writing down some facts we want to remember.

In arithmetic we are trying to be accurate in our work so we will not get our bombers punched, so as to keep them flying.

Last week a few of us received a flag on our spelling chart for having 100 in spelling all week.

We have a new method of inspection this year. We all try to pass inspection so we can keep our airplane in the air.

The 8th grade is enjoying science. They made a very good collection of mushrooms last week; also a leaf, wildflower and weed collection. For Art we drew some trees in connection with our science.

So far we have bought $6.50 worth of defense stamps.

We did not have school last Thursday, because of the funeral of Mrs. Charles Jenks. She was the oldest person in our district.

Our teacher went to the group teachers' meeting at Chelsea on Tuesday afternoon.

News reporters—Shirley Moore, Arlene Haist.

Processed Foods—Blue stamps U, V and W expire October 20.

Cut Expected In Shoe Ration

The new shoe stamp, No. 1 on the "Airplane" sheet in War Ration Book Three, which becomes valid November 1, probably will have to last six months, OPA has announced. At the same time OPA said that stamp 18, originally scheduled to expire October 31, is extended indefinitely and will overlap the next stamp. OPA's present plan is to eliminate expiration dates on shoe stamps and to make new stamps valid as soon as supplies warrant. This enables a person to save shoe stamps until shoes are needed.

To Issue Ration Book Four—War Ration Book Four, which will last approximately two years, will be issued to more than 120 million persons through schoolhouse distributions during the last 10 days of October, OPA has announced. The book combines point and unit stamps. It has eight pages containing 894 stamps, printed in blue, red, green and black.

More Soap Provided

Consumers will have greater soap supplies within a few weeks. The War Food Administration has announced a program to provide a 28 percent increase in soap production for civilian use. WFA emphasized that there will still be no excess and urged soap-saving by every possible method.

Market Turkeys Now

Farmers are urged to market their turkeys as soon as possible so that the American Armed Forces overseas can have typical Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners. In a joint statement, Maj. Gen. E. B. Gregory, Quartermaster General, and Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator, appealed to farmers to "go over your turkey flocks carefully now with a view of offering as many as possible for sale to the government. Send them to your processor as early as possible. If you don't know where to market them, contact your nearest war board office or Quartermaster Market Center."

Cut Football Travel

All school, college and other football teams have been asked by the Office of Defense Transportation to confine the sale and distribution of tickets to the residents of the local area of the cities in which the games are to be played. By so restricting sales, ODT pointed out, football games can be held without increasing the already heavy load on intercity buses and trains.

U. S. Casualties To Date 105,205

Announced casualties of the United States Armed Forces from the outbreak of the war to date (whose next of kin have been notified) total 105,205, according to War and Navy Department reports. This total includes: dead, 20,104; wounded, 28,226; missing, 32,905; prisoners of war, 23,970.

More Leather for Shoe Repair—More leather will be available for repair of civilian shoes, as the result of a recent WPB order.

Army Spends Million for Recreation

The army is spending more than a million dollars a month for recreation and athletic equipment for its fighting men at home and overseas, the War Department reports. Equipment is provided for the favorite outdoor sports of the fighting men, particularly baseball and football. Those preferring less active recreation have the choice of cards, dominoes, darts, chess, checkers, backgammon, or bingo. Included among the purchases are musical instruments.

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARIES

Celebration of the 32nd wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd J. Allshouse of Chelsea and Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Bugbee of Adrian was the occasion of a dinner given Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allshouse on Washington St. Both couples were married in Adrian on Sept. 27, 1911. Carl Sanderson of Sylvan township was a guest at the dinner.

Conservation Practices

The main control practices in soil conservation are terracing, crop rotations, contour tillage and strip cropping. Some cultivated land should be retired to such erosion resisting crops as trees and grasses. Terraces must be properly maintained, woodlands protected from fire, and rotations continued.

Actions on the Sidelines
Now that the athletic season has begun each student should remember that it is his duty to follow certain rules while attending these games. His actions reflect the attitude of the school.

A student on the sidelines should not boo or jeer the opposite team. He should not begin a cheer to interrupt the opposing team when they are giving a cheer. A student will distract the players' attention if he calls a player by name or gives directions from the sidelines. Last, but not least he must remember that it shows good sportsmanship to be quiet or at least not make a lot of noise when a player is trying to make the kick or make a basket.

Let's keep these rules in mind while standing on the sidelines through this athletic season.

MILAN 18—CHELSEA 0

(By Doc Alber)

Cheelsea took a trip over to Milan on Friday to receive their first defeat of the season by the score of 18 to 0.

First Quarter

Milan won the toss and chose to kick off. Chelsea took the ball on their own 25 yard line, and while their running attack was good they were unable to gain much ground and were forced to punt.

Both teams had the ball several times before Milan went over for a touchdown on an end run from the 15 yard line of Chelsea. The attempt for the extra point failed. Score: Milan 6, Chelsea 0.

Neither team was able to score again before the first quarter ended. Score: Milan 6, Chelsea 0.

Second Quarter

In the second quarter both teams battled back and forth with Milan receiving a better share of the breaks. Poor was doing some nice running for Chelsea. McClear, Modack and Gaken were also playing good ball before the half ended. Score: Milan 6, Chelsea 0.

Third Quarter

Cheelsea received the kick-off and was able to move only a few yards before Chelsea was forced to punt. Milan took over and went on to their second touchdown on a line plunge. The extra point again failed. Score: Milan 12, Chelsea 0.

Cheelsea started off to a touchdown when Ortring made a beautiful catch of a long pass but when he fell to the ground the ball fell from his arms and Milan recovered. Another tough break for Chelsea. Then the third quarter ended. Score: Milan 12, Chelsea 0.

Fourth Quarter

Milan's strength was too much for Chelsea's tired ball and they went on their way to their third touchdown. The extra point failed. Score: Milan 18, Chelsea 0.

Balmer, for Chelsea, did a very nice job at tackle for Chelsea as the final gun ended the game. Final score: Milan 18, Chelsea 0.

This Friday Chelsea plays Belleville at the local field at 4:00. Most of you saw the Dexter game and know just what the boys can do. So be sure to be there and cheer them on.

I will go out on a limb this week and pick Chelsea to win by one touchdown. I will not try to pick the score.

ATTENDS ANNUAL MEETING

Mr. Johnson attended the annual superintendents' meeting which was held last Thursday, Friday and Saturday morning at Fort Custer and Lansing.

One hundred four superintendents arrived at Fort Custer on Wednesday evening and were stationed in one of the barracks which was reserved for them. After having eaten with the soldiers in the mess hall they attended the lecture given to men entering the army. About 1000 men were present at this lecture, including Robert Embury of Chelsea. On Thursday morning they were taken to the chapel where they were told how the chapel were tested, classified and placed into the section of the army that they were best fitted for.

The superintendents were then taken on a tour of the Induction Center. In the afternoon the men were taken on a tour of the Fort, observing the many types of training given the soldiers in the Military Police. They visited a class in "Judo," a class in which men are taught different holds and grips used in hand-to-hand fighting.

They also visited two infiltration courses; one was teaching the soldiers how to crawl under machine gun fire and to cope with land mines. The men had to crawl through mud and between land mines under a barrage of machine gun fire which was 30 inches from the ground, for a distance of one hundred yards. The other was called town infiltration in which the men worked in groups of three; one with a revolver, one with a "tommy gun" and the other with a rifle. They were to capture and search each house on a street as machine gun bullets were being fired down the center of the street.

They saw army dogs being trained and at the close of the day a retreat drill. The last lecture on Thursday evening was about army officer training.

The next morning the group went to Lansing. There they heard lectures by Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, Superintendent of Public Instruction in Michigan. A. J. Phillips, executive secretary of Michigan Education Association, and Governor Kelly, in addition to many short talks on various topics.

Why we still talk about

"QUALITY"
during a beer shortage

DAY AFTER DAY our friends

ask why we are so concerned about maintaining Altes "quality" . . . when there is such a big demand for more beer.

"Beer drinkers don't expect quality in war times," they say. "Why don't you use substitutes for scarce ingredients . . . and go to town?"

We answer them by saying that we feel it's our obligation to every Altes customer to see that the beer he gets meets the high Altes standards to which he is accustomed. We do not want a big extra volume now if the Altes we brew cannot be a quality beer. Every time you open a bottle of Altes we want you to taste that clean, clear, tangy Aged-In, Sealed-In flavor you know so well.

Prime ingredients are essential in brewing Altes Lager. If substitutes were used, there would be little reason for our exclusive Aged-In, Sealed-In brewing process . . . for this costly method of brewing was specially developed to completely preserve the natural flavor of the top-quality ingredients we have always used.

"So," we say, "it looks like Altes will have to go ahead right through the period of wartime scarcities, making as much as we can of the best beer we can."

OPA Must Be Advised Of Farm Auction Dates

Farm equipment auctioneers have been advised by the Office of Price Administration that they are required to notify the nearest district OPA office of every scheduled public or private sale of used farm equipment at least six days before the sale. The Detroit Office address is 600 Griswold Street, Detroit 26, Michigan.

The notice should include the place, date and time of the sale and a copy of any announcement regarding the sale. OPA officials explained.

At the same time, farmers and equipment auctioneers were advised that used hay loaders, side delivery rakes and manure spreaders have been added to the list of used equipment under specific price control.

These pieces of equipment have been added to those already under price control such as used combines, corn binders, corn pickers, farm tractors (except crawlers) and motor or tractor-operated hay balers.

The maximum prices for the three items will be determined in the same manner as are ceilings for the used equipment covered before. 85 per cent of the machine when new if the equipment is less than a year old and 70 per cent of the price of the item when new if the equipment is one year old or more.

All complete farm equipment, new or old, when sold by dealers is subject to the provisions of the OPA regulations. Also listed specifically as under price control are wire bale ties sold in lots of less than 2,500 pounds; irrigation equipment, logging sleds and wagons and portable, prefabricated poultry and hog houses.

Atkinson, with Mrs. P. F. Niehaus at the piano. Rev. F. D. Mumby of Milford was the speaker, taking for his subject, "The Day." His talk was very inspiring, and it was a pleasure for the Kiwanians to have him with them again as he was an active member of the club for several years while he was pastor of the local Methodist church.

'Normal Granary' Old Idea
Owing to the uncertainty of sea-sons and crops the government of old-day China purchased grain from the people in fat years and sold it to them at cost prices in lean years. This system seems to be the forerunner of the modern idea of ever-normal granaries and buffer stocks, and may be of interest to other nations.

By GENE ALLEMAN

To break bread at Zheshebe Minis with Chase Salmon Osborn, Michigan's world famous Iron Hunter and its oldest living ex-Governor, is a memorable experience, never to be forgotten.

In company with his son, George, and his daughter, Ethel, we journeyed recently from Sault Ste. Marie to Duck Island in St. Mary's river (Zheshebe Minis to the Ojibways).

Where Governor Osborn, 84 years old next Jan. 22 and now totally blind, lives humbly and happily. His domicile is of the same model in which he was born—a log cabin, symbol of the American frontier.

Here is a patriarch, departing in a few days for his Georgia Possum Poke in Possum Lane, who has repeatedly astounded and perplexed a world by a Nazarene's sacrificial generosity and a naturalist's philosophy of contentment—a pauper-to-millionaire who once commanded thirty million dollars in cold cash and then, except for an annuity investment, gave it all away!

Our brief visit was not the occasion, however, for quiet meditation, and studied reflection by the "Governor," as he still is called, but rather the explosive outpouring of a brilliant and versatile mind—dominant and vibrating in a human, gusty force.

To meet Chase S. Osborn, today as in the past, is to open a door and be overcome unexpectedly by the enthusiastic embrace of an old friend you have not seen for many years. He exudes an extraordinary warmth of personality, kindled by vitality and seasoned by an abiding love of his fellow men.

Taking a luncheon basket of sandwiches, celery and tomatoes, we proceeded by automobile from Sault Ste. Marie to the Sugar Island ferry and thence over winding island roads about 15 miles finally to the end of a narrow lane.

George and Ethel led the way down a wooded trail to a bayou in which nestled a small isle, crested by tall pine trees.

Schooled well in the lore of outdoors by their naturalist father, they noted and identified five golden-winged woodpeckers feeding on the ground and such northern plants as the partridge berry, sweet gale bush, moose maple, water hyacinth, June plums, ground dogwood, and evening primrose.

A hand-made foot bridge connects Sugar Island with Duck Island. Thence you go by rocky trail past a guest tent to the Little Duck, a cozy log cabin workshop where Chase was dictating to his adopted daughter, Stella-nova, who is his constant companion and eyes as well as a talented research-minded secretary. Although the eighth Osborn book, "Schoolcraft Longfellow-Hiawatha," was published only last February, the Osborns are already busy gathering and compiling data for another one.

Delighted by the sound of familiar voices, Governor Osborn greeted his son and daughter affectionately. His laughter was hearty.

He was bronzed as an Indian, wearing short rubber boots, khaki pants rolled up above the knees which were bare and tanned from sunshine, and a blue denim shirt opened at the throat.

He naps in the daytime and sleeps at night on an Indian-style bed consisting of balsam boughs and blankets, placed on the ground in the center of a thatched, rustic building which was constructed by his Indian camp assistant, Gibb, and thence known as the "Gibbwam."

A second log cabin, called the Big Duck, is used for serving of meals which are prepared by a housekeeper. Duck Island time is two hours ahead of Eastern Standard Time.

Gibb, the Ojibway, had built a roaring blaze in Salmon Glade, a secluded opening in the woods, about 26 feet from the river's edge and a short distance from Little Duck.

We were seated on a log facing the fire, with a long limestone slab for a table, when the "Governor" arrived. He had been walking gingerly down the trail alone, finding his way by the aid of a tall staff.

"Please remain seated," he said. Then he sat down with us and with the humility of a worthless beggar, asked a Divine blessing and voiced a fervent prayer for victory and peace and justice in a war-torn, weary world. It was the emotional cry of a man's soul.

Luncheon with Governor Osborn is not merely an hour of fellowship and a physical refreshing in partaking food. It is primarily a religious experience, the communing of man with his God.

A minute later, Osborn again became the boisterous, buoyant host, exploding retorts at George and Ethel and conveying tender affection to Stella and Gibb. He munched on six pieces of hollandaise toast, topped with arrowroot cookies, and drank a quart of lemonade.

To waste food, even a tiny crumb, is a sin against conservation of nature. So the governor catches crumbs as he eats, holding a cup beneath his chin. Someone tossed the center piece of a tomato into the fire, and Osborn heard the sound and snorted loudly, "Feed it to the animals!"

The week before, Gibb had declared a dividend, bringing five nice red squirrels into camp for dinner.

The Osborn philosophy is this: The world is an amorgasbord, provided by bountiful nature; take what you need, leave the remainder for others. One day, years ago, he discovered he was a millionaire. Promptly he got about giving away his fortune, and today is penniless, except for income of a lifetime annuity.

His mind, still alert, supplies the "Chase S. Osborn Corner" daily in the Sault Ste. Marie Evening News, published by his son, George. Recently in a letter to Anna N. Moulton, newspaper editor at Deatur, he expressed the belief that Michigan's Tom Dewey would accept the nomination for President, if given to him, without any solicitation whatever, by the Republican convention. When he was a baby, I dandled him on my knee. His mother and father were and are among my most intimate friends. His uncle was my partner.

Always a crusader for what he believed was right, Osborn is currently interested in correcting the U. S. Bureau of Census which persists in declining to count the Great Lakes area in the state's square miles. The Osborns maintain that Michigan is eighth among the states, not the twenty-second, in actual size.

When Governor Osborn leaves Duck Island next Sunday (Sept. 26) he will again proceed down life's pathway, a happy and contented man. Each curve of the road will bring new challenging vistas to behold and to explore. Chase S. Osborn, at 88, finds the world is good.

A FIGHTER'S LAMENT

(The following poem was submitted by Pete Bateakis who is soldiering in the Southwest Pacific. Pete is a nephew of James Bateakis of Chelsea, and his home is in Traverse City.)

I am sitting here and thinking
Of the things I left behind:
And I'd like to put in writing
What is running through my mind.

We have dug a million ditches
And have cleared ten miles of ground.
We have drunk our beer and whiskey
In every honky-tonk in town.

But there is still one consolation,
Gather 'round here while I tell:
"When we die we'll go to Heaven,
For we have done our stretch in hell."

We have built a million kitchens
For the cooks to burn our beans.
We have stood a million guard mounts
And have cleaned the camp's latrines.

We have worked a million mess kits
And peeled a million spuds;
And killed a million snakes and ants,
That tried to steal our grub.

When our work on earth is ended,
Then our friends on earth will talk:
"When they died they went to Heaven,
For they did their stretch in hell."

When the final taps have sounded,
When we lay aside life's cares,
When we stand our last inspection
On those shining golden stairs,

The angels will welcome us,
Their golden harps will play,
And we will draw a million canteen
checks,

And spend them in a day.
It is there we'll hear St. Peter
Tell us loudly with a yell,
"Take a seat, you boys from New Guinea,
For you've done your stretch in hell."

Protein Lack Lowered Stamina
It was observed that a large percentage of those suffering from "war dropsy" in Germany in 1919 also manifested an increased susceptibility to infectious diseases which caused the death rate to rise as food supplies became scarcer.

An intensive study following the war showed that this war dropsy was due in large measure to the reduced protein content of the blood which resulted from a lack of protein in the diet.

LIMA CENTER SCHOOL NOTES
Charlene is still at the head of the second grade spelling class. Earnest gets ahead of her now and then, but doesn't stay long. Carole was also at the head during one period.

Donald, one of our carpenters, put a handle on the screen door, and Jerold, our other carpenter, doctored up two kindergarten chairs.

Dorothy Mae brought a gourd which measured 32 inches long. We haven't decided whether it's a baseball bat, a huge snake, or a cavernman's club.

Charlene has beautiful long hair. Monday she had long curls.

The second grade children have been decorating the windows. The eighth grade girls have been pressing wild flowers. Pauline has two "A's". Rita has three "A's" in spelling. They are in the eighth grade.

We got out early Tuesday because there was a teachers' meeting.

Charlene and Earnest can both go around the arithmetic hoop in 15 seconds. David and Shirley in 25 seconds, and Donald in 36 seconds.

The eighth grade English learned "September," by Helen Hunt Jackson, and read "About Ben Adham."

The fifth and sixth grade English learned "The Owl and the Pussy Cat," by Edward Lear.

We were sorry to hear about the football game last Friday.

WALWORTH & STRIETER

The 3rd War Loan Drive Ends Saturday, Oct. 2

I'M HERE... the enemy's just over the hill!

MAYBE I'm your boy—or the boy next door. You know, Mary's sweetheart, Joan's husband, Timmy's daddy. Your son, Father! Your boy, Mother! Anyway, I've got something to say to you. I've got to make you understand.

This is it. This is zero. This is INVASION!

I'm here, with a million other boys just like me. We're your INVASION forces. And we're going to stay. It wasn't easy getting here, and it is going to be a lot harder before we're through.

WE'RE GIVING ALL WE'VE GOT

I said we were going to stay. I promise that, even if it means the thing—well, the thing we don't like to talk about. Because we're giving all we've got: Our minds, our strength, our blood.

But you see, this isn't going to be enough. Not unless those planes we need snarl down out of the sky on the enemy just over there. Unless those tanks get here. Unless the supply ships get through. Unless there are enough bullets for this rifle.

YOU'RE ON THE INVASION FRONT NOW!

It's that extra $100 War Bond, all of them together, making up the $15 billion worth they're asking you to buy in September, that will prove that you are on the INVASION front with him.

Your part is at least one extra $100 Bond during the Drive—at least $100. Of course, that's in addition to your regular bond buying. A $100 Bond is the rock bottom figure. Some of you will have to invest thousands to put this Drive across. Take it out of your pay check—or out of that nest-egg you were saving for a rainy day.

All you can spare is too little, all you've got is just going to be enough.

Look at it this way: You won't be giving anything. You will be investing in VICTORY—and your future.

Things like safety for your family and money after the war to buy a new home, or to educate your children.

You're buying a stake in VICTORY—and that means America, yours and mine!

I guess that's all I've got time to tell you now. The enemy is waiting, just over the hill. Don't keep us waiting for you!

So much has been written about production that it may seem needless for me to add a few comments here. However, people fail to realize that the automobile takes groups of men to work to help production, but at the same time is a very destructive power that removes them from the production line.

We are losing workers fast. According to the National Safety Council, 47,500 workers were killed last year. About half of the nine million injured were workers. Motor vehicle injuries caused the bulk of these injuries and death. The man-days lost from these accidents alone represented a shameful human and economic waste.

If you are a responsible driver taking men to work, assume that responsibility and drive carefully.

CAN VITAMINS CHANGE GRAY HAIR?

Read the amazing experience of gray-haired people in Calcium Pantothenate tests sponsored by Good Housekeeping magazine. According to this report:

Age—did not seem to affect results. The earliest response occurred in a 50 year old; the latest in a 72 year old.

Color—began to appear near the roots of the hair. The color may not appear all over the head at the same time; symmetrical areas, perhaps on the temples or the back of the head, may show traces of color first, after which the color will spread to other parts of the head.

Time—varied from 1 month to 6 months. Results—88% of those tested had positive evidence of a return of some hair color.

Now thousands use GRAYVITA, which contains 10 mgm. of Calcium Pantothenate (the same amount used in tests above) PLUS 450 U.S.P. units of B₁₂ GRAYVITA. See what a difference it may make in the way you look. 30 day supply—$1.50, 100 day supply $4.00. Phone write.

Legume Seeds Scarce
In Michigan This Year

War needs, cash for the crop and extra Agricultural Adjustment Administration payments all answer a farmer debating whether he should harvest a comparatively light crop of legume seeds such as alfalfa, red, alsike, white or sweet clover.

Farmers and seedsmen estimate the 1943 alsike seed production in Michigan is running larger than last year, but that red clover seed and especially alfalfa seed harvests are running behind those of 1942.

Even if the yield is only a few pounds an acre, farmers may find it profitable to run a combine over a field that has set some seed, suggests H. C. Rath, head of Michigan State College farm crops department.

Farmers can use the seed harvest as a means of earning a portion of the AAA payments to which their farm may be entitled. Such payments will be made at the rate of $3.50 an acre up to 15 acres for the harvest of seed of alfalfa, red clover, alsike, white clover, sweet clover, smooth bromegrass and Reed canary grass.

The $3.50 an acre should go far towards covering harvest costs. Rath comments, and the seed itself has unusual market value this year.

Harvest procedure appears simplest if the fully matured seed is combined from the standing crop. If seed is uneven in maturity, or if green weed seeds infest the crop, Rath recommends windrowing clover or alfalfa first, allowing the cut material to cure several days until dry, then threshing with a combine which has a pickup attachment.

"Every pound of hardy, northern grown alfalfa and clover seed that can possibly be harvested will be needed if legume acreages are maintained in the northern dairy states where legumes are vital to maintenance of milk production and a continuation of sound soil management," says Professor Rath.

Two Wheat Diseases
Abundant In State

Two diseases of winter wheat have been abundant in Michigan this year. These are scab and blotch, both of which affect the wheat kernel.

Scabby wheat is detected by the pink mold-like growth on the glumes at the base of the kernel while blotch produces a brown discoloration of glumes and kernel. After wheat is threshed, it is difficult to determine which disease is present.

Both diseases affect the wheat in the head, causing shrinking of the kernel and produce shriveled grain. Such grain planted for seed without cleaning and treating will produce weak diseased seedlings and a poor stand.

Since much wheat is affected with scab and blotch and other seed is scarce or unobtainable, all wheat planted for seed should be given special attention.

Seed wheat should be thoroughly cleaned and as much of the light weight diseased kernels as possible fanned out, advises J. H. Muncie, Michigan State College plant pathologist. The remaining seed should be treated with an organic mercury dust such as New Improved Ceresan. This material is recommended because it is effective against scab and blotch, also the stinking smut. Treat according to manufacturer's directions, using 1/4 ounce of the dust to each bushel of seed.

For treating, the wheat is placed in a tight rotary home made steel drum treater, the required amount of chemical added and the drum rotated until each kernel is coated with the dust. Many farmers will use the home made Minnesota seed grain treater. Plans for making this simple treater may be secured from the Bulletin Department, Michigan State College, or from a county agricultural agent.

Organic mercury is a deadly poison and care must be used in making the treatments. Cover nose and mouth with a handkerchief or respirator to prevent inhaling the dust during treatment. If treating is done inside the barn or granary, keep doors open and have thorough ventilation to carry away the excess dust when the grain is bagged.

Planting treated seed wheat does not prevent the spores of these casual fungi blowing from scabby and blotched wheat to clean wheat. A neighborhood treating of all wheat, however, would keep losses on large acreages to a minimum, according to Dr. Muncie.
