More Hunters Got Deer In 1943 Hunting Season

Lansing—More hunters got their deer in the 1943 deer hunting season, making the highest total deer kill on record except for the 1941 season when antlerless deer could be taken on a camp license, the conservation department's tabulation of returned game kill report cards reveals.

The final count places the number of deer killed at 65,087 and the number of hunters in the field at 211,576. In the 1942 season 215,084 hunters took only 61,722 deer. Thirty and eight-tenths per cent of hunters in the field got their buck in the 1943 season while only twenty-eight and seven-tenths per cent of the 1942 hunters were successful.

Although many hunters believed the deer herd was seriously reduced in 1941 because of the taking of 17,097 camp deer, a large proportion of which were does, the increased kill of bucks in the last two seasons disproves this theory, the game division points out.

VISIT SCENE OF PLANE WRECK

A number of local people went to see the wreckage of the Civil Air Patrol plane, missing since last week Monday on a flight from Benton Harbor to Detroit, which was discovered Friday morning in a woodlot on the farm of Mrs. Carrie Smith on Parker Rd., one-half mile north of U.S. 12. The bodies of the pilot and two passengers were thrown clear of the plane, parts of which were scattered over the woodlot, with the engine thrown several feet from the plane. The wreckage and bodies were discovered by three boys as they were riding on horseback through the woods about 10:30 Friday morning.

ACCIDENT DELAYS TRAIN

An eastbound freight train on the Michigan Central was delayed about five hours last Friday afternoon, just west of the Methodist Home crossing. The freight had stopped on signal, and when it started a heavily-loaded flatcar pulled apart. Traffic on the MC proceeded without interruption, with the use of the long siding adjacent to the crippled train.

Laird Home Destroyed By Fire Friday Morning

The farm residence of Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Laird, 1675 Guthrie Rd., in Sylvan township, was destroyed by fire early Friday morning. The fire started in the attic which was all ablaze when discovered by Mrs. Laird about 1:30.

Chelsea's fire department responded to the call and, assisted by members of the American Legion post (who were returning from a party at their Cavanaugh-Lake hall), and surrounding neighbors, they held the fire under control until most of the contents of the 10-room house were removed. A high wind carried the blaze to the outbuildings, consisting of a large barn, garage, well house and chicken house, and the fire-fighters fought the blaze for two hours before it was extinguished.

Mr. and Mrs. Laird expect to occupy the Butcher residence on Guthrie Rd. in the near future.

Food Preservation Program Announced

Lansing—Michigan housewives who plan to preserve the products of their Victory Gardens are offered aid from many sources in the 1944 Food Preservation Program announced by Capt. Donald S. Leonard, State Director of Civilian Defense. Under the plan, several agencies concerned with maintaining a supply of essential foods will cooperate to provide expert advice and instruction.

The Michigan Office of Civilian Defense, through its Victory Garden and Nutrition Sections, will serve as a clearing house for information regarding all phases of the program.

Classes in planning, producing and processing the family food supply will be organized in local schools with the assistance of the State Board of Control for Vocational Education. Schools which meet certain requirements may qualify for reimbursement, and aid in providing necessary equipment will be given in rural communities.

The Home Extension Service of Michigan State College will offer class demonstrations, consultation and radio information on all methods of home food preservation. The extension service will also provide federal and state bulletins on accepted processing procedures. Home Agents established permanently in many counties will assist organizations, neighborhood groups and individual homemakers, and additional Emergency Food Demonstration Agents will be located in several counties and cities. Should there be a sufficient number of requests, the Home Economics Division of the college will conduct a refresher course in home food preservation.

Other agencies cooperating in the state-wide program include the Office of Distribution, War Food Administration, which will serve as a consultant to local organizations interested in establishing preservation plants and several utility companies which will further the program with demonstrations and exhibits.

Preservation of home grown foods is being emphasized this year because of increasing demands upon commercially grown foods for military and lend-lease purposes.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Quite a stack of newspapers I left you yesterday, Judge. Aren't you in the newspaper business, are you?"
"No, I just enjoy reading different papers so my nephew George sends them to me whenever he takes a business trip. I got a big kick out of some he sent me from several counties where they still have prohibition. Particularly from some headlines that read 'Drunk Driving Arrests Rise'."

"Bootleggers must post Ceiling Prices," "Federal Agents seize 'Trick' Liquor Truck." Doesn't that go to prove, Joe, that prohibition does not prohibit?"
"I watched conditions pretty carefully during our 13 years of prohibition in this country. The only thing I could see we got out of it was bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor...plus the worst crime and corruption this country has ever known."

When he's ready to "turn in" his shovel

★ Someday, those lads of ours over there are going to "spade under" the last hope of the Axis. Then, they'll be home, expecting to enjoy the comforts of home... and deserving them.

It's going to be what seems the small things that give them the biggest kick. Things like getting out to the trout stream again. Like going to the ball game. Like a pleasant poker session in the recreation room where just a glance at the automatic gas heating unit is a gratifying reminder that shoveling days at home are over, too.

If yours is one of the homes fortunate enough to have gas heating—protect your investment by having the equipment serviced when necessary. If you have not yet enjoyed the comfort, convenience, cleanliness and economy that gas heating can bring into your home, make up your mind now to install gas equipment as soon as the war is done.

Do it for yourself, your family, and for the boy who'll be coming back to his comfy slippers, his easy chair... and to "turn in" his shovel for good and all.

TO A SERVICE FLAG

There's a new flag in our window today, Emblem of those who have gone away; Giving their all for the country they love, Putting their faith in the Master above.

Can you recall the look of each little boy As he sat on the floor with his book or his toy?

His troubles and fears dispelled by your loving care, Never dreaming that you would not always be there.

Those days are gone, and now he's a man, With a gun for a toy, to fight for his land;

While you stay at home and patiently wait For news, good or bad, to tell you his fate.

Dear little flag in the window there, Hung by a mother with such loving care;

Daily remind us of the debt that we owe To some mother's son who has had to go.

The YELLOW Painter and His DARK Deed

One wonders why some people, instead of talking to another face to face, will do them an injury behind their back or in some other under-handed manner.

Every man, no matter how hard he tries, has trouble enough building up his good name, and can ill afford to have some night prowler try to besmirch it.

One prefers to ignore such tactics, but to do so, is to encourage the evildoer. Some other ignorant person may follow the bad example, and there is always the risk of the mob taking hold, and then no one would be safe.

Let us hope that the person who does such a deed does not appreciate the enormity of his crime, and does not realize that the people of Chelsea would deal promptly and emphatically with any person who is so egotistical as to set himself up as a judge of other people.

Such persons must really know that this is true or they would not stealthily perform their dirty work at night.

Rubber Situation Still Stringent

Although the nation is now producing synthetic rubber faster than raw rubber was consumed in this country any time prior to 1941, military and civilian demands still exceed the supply, the Office of Rubber Director discloses. Low speed limits must be enforced and all tires recapped if essential driving is to be maintained during the critical months ahead, the Rubber Director warns. He reminds motorists that the life of a tire at 35 miles per hour is 50 per cent longer than at 50 miles per hour and three times longer than at 60 miles per hour.

Must Surrender Books To Station Attendants

Motorists are required to surrender their gasoline ration books to station attendants before delivery of gasoline can be made and station attendants are required to deduct coupons from the books for the amount of gasoline delivered, according to OPA regulations, W. E. Fitzgerald, Detroit district director for OPA, announced.

Fitzgerald pointed out that the regulations have not been changed, but that considerable misunderstanding has arisen recently because of the intensive drive against the gasoline black market.

"These two requirements are our greatest safeguard against the black market," Fitzgerald said, "and our greatest weapon against counterfeit stamps."

"I know that the vast majority of honest motorists will not object to this minor inconvenience when they realize that their cooperation is not only helping to smash a vicious black market run by the worst type of criminals, but also is protecting the business of their gas dealer."

"I know also that the honest dealers are willing to cooperate in this because it is the one way they can guard against acceptance of counterfeit stamps."

"The simplest procedure is for the motorist to give the attendant his book at the time of ordering gasoline. The book can then be checked, the stamps deducted and the proper amount of gasoline delivered with payment as usual."

"The retail dealers, the distributors and the oil companies have assured us of 100 per cent cooperation. I know we can count on the motorists to do their share."

"To help smash this black market do not accept nor offer loose coupons. Use only those issued by a rationing board. Write the state and license number on all coupons as soon as they are received. If for any reason some stamps have become detached surrender the book to the issuing board immediately so that it can be replaced."

Fitzgerald said the drive against black market gasoline has already driven counterfeit C-2 coupons, as shown by spot surveys, from 80 per cent down to two per cent. OPA will not relax, he stated, until all loose and counterfeit stamps are driven from the market completely.

How a home-town friends of Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner happened to become the press secretary for Governor Harry F. Kelly is one of those stories that indicate the changed attitude of Michigan state officials at Lansing.

Maybe the civil service amendment to the state constitution had something to do with this newly arrived recognition of merit.

Or perhaps it merely reflected the thinking of Governor Kelly who, as everyone knows, is no starchy-eyed dreamer in the world of politics. Did not Kelly appoint Dr. William DeKleene to be commissioner of the state department of health without knowledge of the doctor's personal political beliefs? So insists the governor's office which ought to know.

Michigan state government has traveled far. Such non-political appointments would have been the height of heresy 20 years ago. As we view the capital parade, the modern trend is all to the good.

Ted Hayhow was the best city editor the Pontiac Daily Press ever had. He was a quiet chap who had a way of getting things done with a minimum of noise and fuss. He never waved his arms, shouted instructions to reporters, or lost his temper. His mind, always cool and collected, handled the day's "grind" with ease and efficiency.

Late in the afternoon he would slide into his car, drive out to an 80-acre farm near Davisburg, where he resided with his wife and two children, and take care of the chickens, pigs, cow or two, together with other general farm chores. And, now and then, he would find time to do some concentrating fishing for bass in his 12-acre private lake.

We met Ted for the first time, a number of years ago, when C. W. Lucas, press secretary for Highway Commissioner Van Wagoner, organized a bus safari to Houghton for an Upper Peninsula highway conference. Lucas, a Harbor Springs boy, was an alumnus of the Pontiac Daily Press; previously to that he had reported for Elmer Hannah's Harbor Springs Graphic. Ted was invited to join the group, a friendly gesture from "Luke" to a newspaperman whom he liked.

"Luke" had a way of remembering his friends; today he is top-flight public relations executive, assistant to Manfred Burleigh, president of the Great Lakes Greyhound Lines.

But to return to Governor Kelly's press secretary.

One spring day, after serving 15 years as city editor, Hayhow glanced up at the blue sky and decided it was time to quit. His youngsters were growing up. He wanted more time to enjoy his home, his farm—and also that bass-stocked lake.

Harold Fitzgerald, publisher, and Conrad Church, managing editor, received the unexpected decision like a thunderbolt on a cloudless day. No, Ted wasn't dissatisfied. He just wanted to be his own boss—free of any newspaper desk with its exacting responsibilities—yes, that was it.

Life on the farm led to another adventure—running an old-fashioned country store at Davisburg. His miniature Wanamaker emporium contained everything to automobile hub caps, with a coal business and lumber yard thrown in for good measure. The gross one year was close to $30,000.

Somewhat in the rush of doing unimportant things at Lansing, we lost track of Ted until we read the news, late in 1942, that he had been named assistant secretary of the state safety commission. We read between the lines—"Luke," the governor's press secretary, was still remembering his friends. It turned out that Hayhow had injured a foot while cutting hay; thought a desk job would be fine if he didn't have to "play" politics.

When the genial Van Wagoner turned over the executive offices to Harry Kelly, the newsmen at the press room wondered what "Luke" was going to do. He had been accepted as being both an efficient newspaperman and a loyal Democrat. Governor Kelly gave no inkling of any disposition to replace him, and finally Lucas resigned on his own free will and rejoined the highway staff. His new title, as we remember it, was "Director of War Activities," but everyone knew the duties were the same—getting information to the public.

When the governor's office finally got around to settling on the vacancy, after Pete Miller of Plymouth had done some pinch-hitting, the announcement was made that Ted Hayhow was to get the assignment, a $500-per-month position with increasing compensation under civil service tenure. It was a long jump from country farmer and proprietor of the Davisburg general store!

Ted took over, cool as ever, never batting an eye.

Following the rush of the 1944 special session, Governor Kelly took Ted with him to the Upper Peninsula. At the office of an Ironwood newspaper,

Ted confided: "I am working for the hardest working governor the state has ever had. Although I live in the same town as a former governor, my boss has never asked me whether I am a Democrat or a Republican. He works so hard that at the end of the day I am all worn out trying to follow him."

The governor's day is a task in itself. He arrives usually at the office about 9:30 a.m. Press conference is at 10. Engagements and business matters make the lunch hour very indefinite, the governor going to lunch anytime from 1 to 2:30 p.m.—no two days being the same. The entire executive staff—John (Pat) Aarons, executive secretary; Elmer Hannah, administrative assistant who owns a country newspaper at Harbor Springs; Arlon Ley, office manager, and the others—make it a practice to wait for the governor before going to lunch.

The governor's afternoon is filled with conferences, usually lasting to 6:30. A recent session dealt with Michigan's potato surplus and how consumers might be encouraged to purchase more Michigan potatoes. Agricultural Commissioner Charles Pigy and potato growers wanted the governor to help. Of course, he would be glad to do what he could. Then, several nights a week, the governor and some members of his staff will return at approximately 7:30 o'clock; the "day" is over at midnight or later.

Currently, we might confide, the office staff is conspiring to induce the governor to slow down a bit, for his pace is severe and, if maintained, would undermine inevitably even a strong man's physical vitality and rugged health.

Why did Governor Kelly appoint Ted to be his press secretary?

Well, figure it out for yourself. Not because Ted was a Republican or a Democrat. The governor has never asked Ted about it, and Conrad Church, Ted's boss at the Pontiac Daily Press, doesn't know either. As a matter of fact, as Church puts it, "I never thought to ask him." Which probably goes, too, for Governor Kelly.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Lyons and family are moving this week to Merritt, Mich., where they have purchased a farm.

KIWANIS NEWS

Lieut. Geo. F. Parish, director at the Cassidy Lake honor camp, addressed the club on Monday evening, revealing very candidly the conditions which youths must face when they are confined behind the "big walls" of prison, where they must mingle with the hardened criminals. Lt. Parish described the work which is being done at the Cassidy Lake camp, where young men with short terms are being taught trades which will enable them to again be a useful part of society when they are released. After several months' operation of the camp Lt. Parish reports that there has not been one violation of the rules which govern the camp.

President Davidson read the following letter from Kiwanis International: Mr. Lowell A. Davidson, President Kiwanis Club, Chelsea, Michigan.

The monthly activity reports we have been receiving from the Chelsea Club have been a source of great interest to us. The February report contains such a wide range of activities that it could be used as a model report for new clubs. The providing of 9500 bottles of milk during the present school year and the assistance of your club members in the Fourth War Loan campaign, which resulted in the sale of nearly half a million dollars in bonds, are two particularly impressive activities. Without intending to stress these activities any more than the many others that are reported, I congratulate you and the members of your club on the remarkable contribution you are making to the community life of Chelsea.

With kindest regards, I am
Sincerely yours,
Frederick M. Barnes,
Director, Dept. of Activities.

Food Rationing News
From now on all food stamps will be good indefinitely, unless advance notice of expiration is given; the Office of Price Administration has announced. Housewives may budget their food purchases on the basis of three Red 10-point stamps every second Sunday and five Blue 10-point stamps the first of every month. To release cold storage space for other food, all frozen fruits and vegetables will not be rationed through April 29. Land will remain unrationed, ready-to-eat hams will be one point lower, "dry-cured" hams are to be only one point above fresh hams, and other meat point values will remain almost unchanged. Food expected to be in good supply over most of the country during the next three months are potatoes, cabbage, spinach, lettuce and other leafy greens, carrots, beets, citrus fruits, canned green and wax beans, tomatoes and other fresh vegetables, frozen vegetables, shell eggs, fluid milk, bread, flour, noodles and spaghetti. The War Food Administration says each civilian will have on the average 182 pounds of meat in 1944, or one pound more than he had on the average during the decade, 1934-40.

"The GOOD-NEIGHBOR policy" applies to party line service, too!

Lots of us have found out lately that it's no hardship to share with others. Pulling together in friendly co-operation is one of the valuable lessons of the times.

Today, as a war necessity, more and more people are being asked to share party line telephone service. By treating others on the line as they themselves would like to be treated, good party line neighbors help to improve everybody's service.

MICHIGAN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY

A GOOD-NEIGHBOR CREED

A good party line neighbor thinks of it this way: "Somebody else on my line may be waiting to make a call, so I won't talk any longer than I have to. When the line is in use and I'm waiting my turn, I won't interrupt. When I finish a call, I'll make sure I've hung up properly, because if one instrument is left off the hook, it puts all the telephones on the line out of service."

The house of the MICHIGAN MILK PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION is founded upon a rock of confidence, efficiency and honest service to all.

Organized in 1916 for the common good of all, it has withstood the rains of criticism by detractors, floods of falsehoods by self-seekers, and the winds of destruction by "labor evangelists."

28 YEARS OF FAITHFUL OPERATION has built a structure of capable and efficient management, well trained personnel, a background of substance in capital and equipment, and an unimpeachable record which has stood against all assaults of skeptics and potential destroyers.

Can You Picture MICHIGAN without its Fire Fighters?

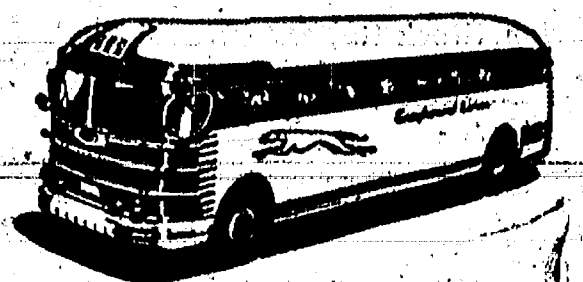

Maybe you've never had to call the fire department — maybe you never will. But it's a mighty comforting thought to know that it's there, ready night and day to save you and yours from one of man's most treacherous and terrifying enemies.

The heroic work done by fire fighters in so many of the towns and cities of our Allies, which have been showered with incendiaries and explosives, is drama itself. The job of our own firemen right here at home in Michigan may be less spectacular but it's no less important—particularly to us. Yet most of us give little thought to this vital safeguard of our everyday life—until an emergency comes along.

There are 3,438 men in Michigan whose full-time job is the protection of lives and property of the citizens of this State. These are the regular firemen—but there are thousands more who are ready to do their share at a moment's notice, the volunteer firemen.

To all of these valiant men, we of the Greyhound Lines pay sincere tribute. We're proud of these fellow-citizens—thankful for them, too. And we feel we have at least one thing in common with them. They're fighting hard to improve the safety record of our State and so are we. In these tense and busy days, we feel that Greyhound, in providing safe, convenient transportation between this community and its good neighbors, is also playing its part in making Michigan a safer, happier place to live.

J. D. PORTER CO.

The first official release of the accident toll for 1945 was given me by the National Safety Council and here it is:

Killed 94,500
Injured 9,700,000
Cost $5,000,000,000

That was the toll exacted from America in the war year of 1945—not by bullets on the battle front but by accidents on the home front.

It is reported that the time lost during the year through accidents to workers, on and off the job, was equivalent to a complete shut down for an entire year of war-time plants employing a total of 150,000 workers. Think that over. More figures will follow.
