Safety Legion Units Organized In Schools

The Chelsea public school and St. Mary's school have enrolled in the Safety Legion of America, brought here through the efforts of Waldemar Grossman, local police officer.

Captain H. C. Berry of the Legion was in Chelsea recently, organizing the schools, and was assisted by Mr. Grossman.

The Legion issues membership cards on which are numbered one to four in each of the four corners. A corner is torn off for each violation of safety. So long as one corner remains the member may enjoy the privileges of the club. They are given a safety book, song book and parents manual, with a special lesson and song for each week. Local officers give out theatre tickets each week to those observing the safety rules best, this through the courtesy of the Sylvan Theatre.

Teachers in the schools and students have enthusiastically accepted the Safety Legion program, according to Mr. Grossman.

The best safety slogans submitted by school children to their teachers will be published in The Standard each week, and free tickets to the Sylvan Theatre will be given for these slogans.

Called To The Colors

Rolland (Rolly) Spaulding reported at Detroit on Wednesday and was sent to Fort Sheridan, Ill. for preliminary training.

Rolly was born near Chelsea on June 11, 1920 and has made his home with his grandmother, Mrs. Nelle Whitmer. He graduated from Chelsea high school in 1938 and received the Michigan Alumni Honor Trophy in recognition of his attainments in scholarship, athletics and leadership. He attended the University of Michigan one year and since then has been working with his father, Harold Spaulding, in the service department of their Chevrolet dealership.

David R. Poda, of the Army Air Corps Reserve, reported for active duty Monday, April 17, 1944 to Fort Sheridan, Ill. After induction he will be sent to Jefferson Barracks, Mo. for basic training.

He was born in Hot Springs, Ark., May 13, 1918. Until recently he was a Civilian Instructor in the War Training Program with the Army Air Corps. While in Chelsea he resided with his sister, Mrs. Rex Miller, and was employed at the Central Fibre Products Co.

Andrew Francis Policht reported today in Detroit for induction into the Navy, and will be sent to Great Lakes, Illinois.

Andrew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Policht, and was born in Chelsea on Nov. 5, 1922. He graduated from Chelsea high school with the class of 1941, and was active in all sports during his high school career. Since his graduation he has been employed at the Central Fibre Products Co. On Jan. 28, 1943 he was married to Marian Coltre of Clinton.

Included in the Army inductees who left on Wednesday to report at Fort Sheridan, Ill. is Ivan Gordon Alder of Chelsea.

County Divided Into Legislative Districts

The Washtenaw county board of supervisors has divided the county into two legislative districts, giving it a more representative to the state legislature rather than the one it now has.

District No. 1 embraces the six townships in the northeastern corner of the county—Webster, Scio, Northfield, Ann Arbor, Salem and Superior. Townships in district 2 are Augusta, Bridgewater, Dexter, Freedom, Lima, Lodi, Lyndon, Manchester, Pittsfield, Saline, Sharon, Sylvan, York and Ypsilanti.

Camp Waterloo Will House War Prisoners

An organization was perfected the past week by 50 Jackson and Ingham county farmers, who have contracted with the Army for the use of German war prisoners throughout this crop year. The prisoners will be housed under military control at Camp Waterloo, which was recently vacated by the Army.

Announcement of the program was made by Veril Baldwin, president of the organization, members of which are mostly muck farm operators, with a few upland farmers and two orchardists included.

The number of prisoners will be about 800 in May and June, then there will be fewer during July and August, as the group moves into the fruit belt for harvest work. Through the fall until about November 1, about 600 will be required for the muck land crop harvest. Most of the work of the prisoners will be on onion, potato, carrot and mint crops on muck land.

As explained by Baldwin, the employing farmers will pay a stipulated amount per day per laborer to the federal government, which will maintain the camp and supply guards for the prisoner workers. The farmers will furnish transportation of the crews to and from the farms and the prisoners will travel in groups of 10, each with a guard.

Baldwin predicted that this arrangement will solve the labor shortage problem which has bothered muck growers in this area the past two years, and stated that the season's program would mean a payroll to the federal government of more than $200,000.

USE MORE EGGS, SAVE LESS

PLENTIFUL FOOD, IS ADVICE

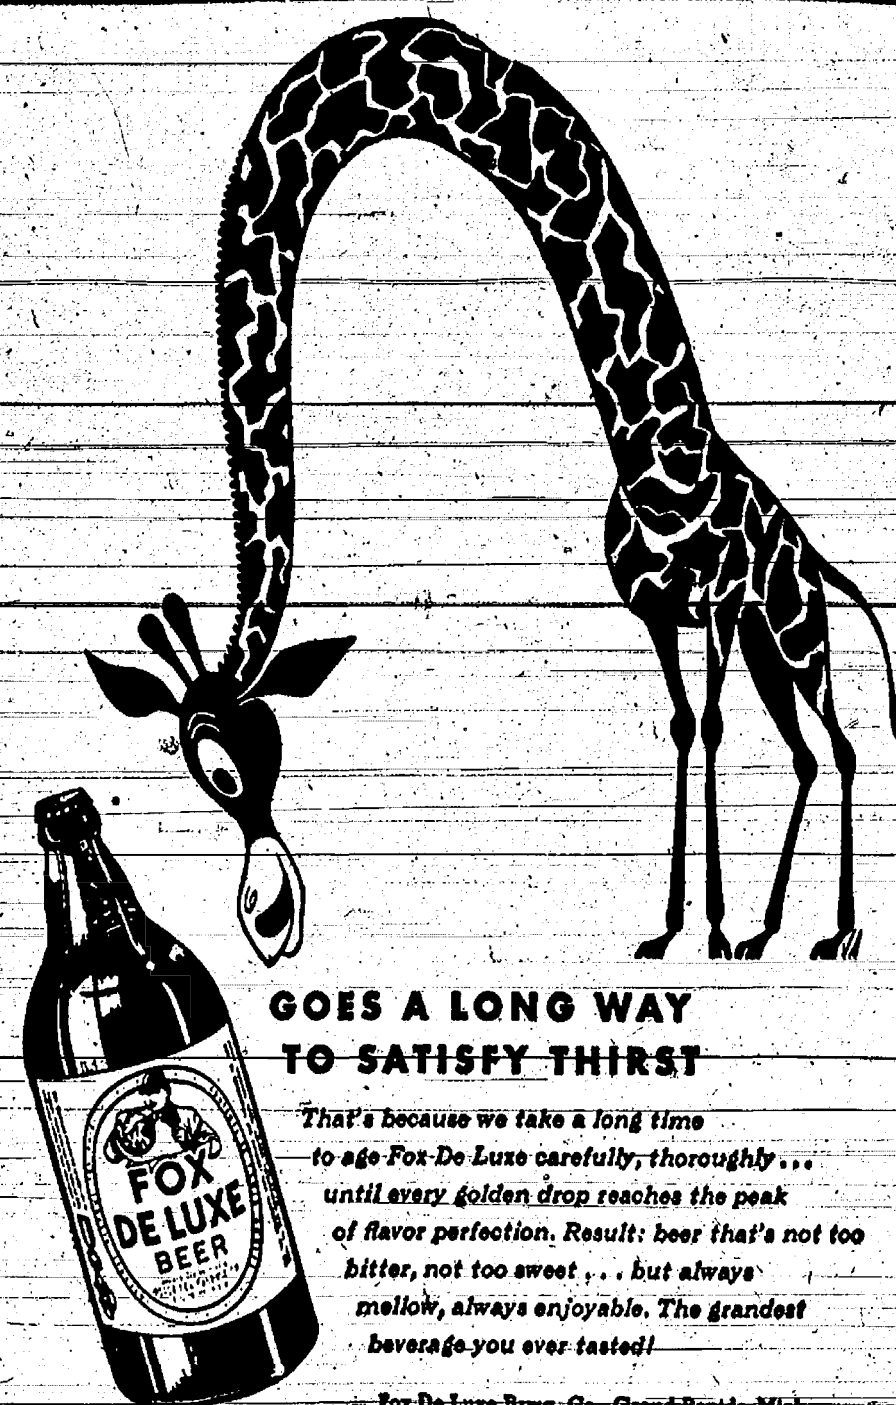

Toledo—Housewives of this area can make an important contribution to the war effort and save ration points by using more fresh eggs in daily meals, an official of the nation's largest food distributor said this week.

"Our company is glad to cooperate with other retailers and governmental agencies in the nationwide campaign to move surpluses in eggs into consumers' hands to avoid waste of this essential food," said R. R. Betz, vice-president in charge of A&P Tea Company operations in this area. "Housewives can help conserve less plentiful foods by using more of the nutritious, non-rationed fresh eggs at this time." The company official reported a seasonal surplus had resulted from the patriotic response of poultrymen who, despite manpower and food shortages, stepped up eggs production to all-time records.

The company is aiding the egg merchandising drive through newspaper advertising and store posters and displays which call attention to the fact that eggs are abundant in supply, of fine quality and an economical food.

Good Nutrition
An egg a day is the minimum set for good nutrition. Next to milk, eggs are the most nearly perfect food.

That's because we take a long time to age Fox-De Luxe carefully, thoroughly... until every golden drop reaches the peak of flavor perfection. Result: beer that's not too bitter, not too sweet... but always mellow, always enjoyable. The grandest beverage you ever tasted!

THE BEER OF BALANCED FLAVOR

This is you, lady... on some bright tomorrow

* Imagine coming home from the store with a package no larger than a lunch box, yet holding enough to feed your family for a week!

That day is coming! For, even now, dehydrated foods are being produced with all water and air removed, condensed down to a fraction of their normal size. Today, these foods are going to war. When peace comes, they will be available for your table... thanks to gas which is used in dehydrating processes.

Gas will do many new and different jobs after the Axis is crushed and the world returns to normal living. It will help American industry to produce the car you drive or the plane you fly. It will aid in turning out the new metals, plastics and other materials born for war and marked for conversion to peacetime uses.

You will find it a still more faithful and efficient servant in your home, too. Features and refinements in the kitchen range, the hot water heater and the house heating system of postwar days will make you want the comforts and convenience that only gas can bring.

Yes, lady, it will be a brighter, happier, more livable tomorrow for you and your family... because of gas!

"By the River of the Roses." She doesn't have a future ambition, but her present one is to graduate.

THE GOLDEN CROSS

By Phyllis Hopper, Grade 11

The tiny golden cross I wear
Is not a burden great to bear;
A thing of beauty, not of dread,
Like that on which Christ's blood was shed.

The cross of Christ was rugged, rude,
A burden heavy, rough and crude;
Upon his shoulders then was hurled
The sins of the entire world.

Each one has his own cross to bear;
It may be heavy, full of care;
It may be sickness, death or loss,
Or just a little golden cross.

WHAT EASTER LILIES TELL US

By Marie Winter, English 11

The Easter Lilies are so white,
They stand before us like a light;
They tell us the ancient story
That Jesus rose in all His glory.

He showed us that sacred day
Of that great power far away,
Which helps our many burdens to bear
So we can have a crown to wear.

HELP WIN THE WAR

When a person thinks about helping to win the war he thinks mostly of getting in the thick of fighting by joining the Marines, Air Corps or the Navy. A woman may think she can help by getting a factory job which will relieve a man for the armed services. A housewife thinks by saving waste fats and paper she is doing her bit; if she gives up an afternoon bridge party to roll bandages she has done "so much." This woman's husband may be working days at an aircraft factory, going on air-warden duty at night and buying bonds and stamps every payday.

All this does help to win the war, but there is something being overlooked and that one thing is very important. What is happening meantime to the millions of children of these people who are doing so much for the war effort? Nine out of ten times these children of such people are out on their own, doing anything which in "peace time" they would never think of doing and their parents would not think of letting them do.

Some of these children have organized clubs which teach the hatred of religion and groups of people, fantastic plans for getting control of a city and for destruction of the United States government. Later, when these activities are found out by the police they are taken before a juvenile court and are often sentenced to a reform school where they meet other offenders and they all gang together so when let out they are far from reformed and out for bigger things.

Young girls run away from home and meet some boy about 6 or 7 years older than themselves and lie about their age to get married because their parents seemingly don't care for them and they want someone to protect them. Still other groups of these youngsters go out on innocent petting parties, many of which have ended in a murder.

These home-front troubles could be avoided somewhat if parents would make their children feel that they could "help win the war" by taking over certain tasks in the home which make them feel important. The children should have a place where they go and spend the evening without being pushed around; clubs which teach the members love of their fellow-man and the building of strong government.

The younger generation is the government of tomorrow, so why not plan for a strong Democracy of the future?

ALL IN VAIN

By Elaine McClear

The usual slam of the big front door,
The footsteps in the hall;
Then, "Hey, is anybody home?"
His old familiar call.

The squeaky step when he came in late,
His laughter bright and clear!
But what's the use of remembering these?

The things we've known for years,
These are things that marked our son,
The things we loved so well!

That now will make us finish with pain,
Like the tolling of death's own bell.
No, he didn't die in glory,
And there will be no bright gold star.

For he didn't die in his country's name,
He died at the wheel of a car!
There had been a week before he'd go,
The Marine Corps was his aim;

But now he's gone like a million more,
So many; so much in vain.

SEVENTH GRADE NEWS

The stamp sale this week was $25.75. We are very proud of the percentage, which is 61.

We had a spell-down in current event facts, and for four days Mary Jane Jarvis and Mary K. Palmer were tied. Finally Mary K. won.

The seventh grade boys won a basketball game from the sixth grade by a score of 17 to 13.

Ernest Mitchell has joined our room from Ann Arbor; Junior Risner came back from Kentucky.

On Thursday, April 6, we had perfect attendance for the second time this year.

History is becoming much harder, with much more to remember.

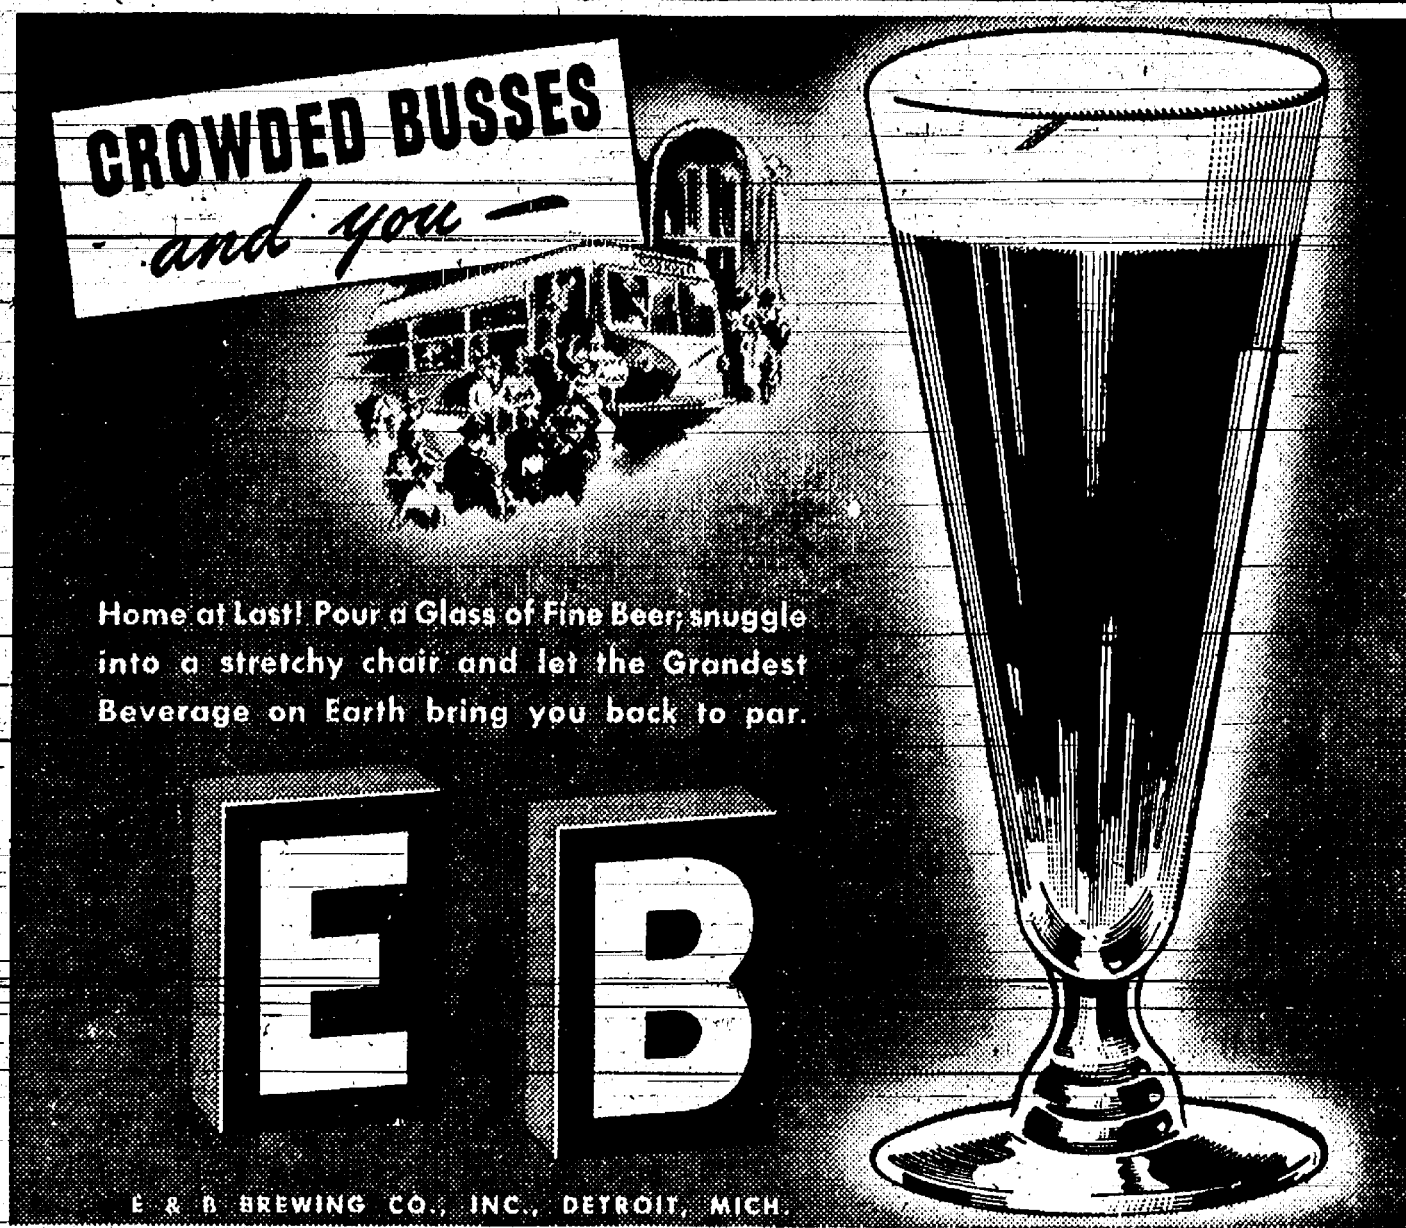

Most people had a very nice vacation. Billy Lyons went to Zanesville, Ohio. Marlene Heydlauff and Ellen Jane Geddes visited Detroit.

Crawford visited Kingston, Michigan and Joanne O'Dell visited Dansville, Michigan. Everybody was disappointed when vacation was over.

Flowing Corridor

The Adriatic sea is significant as a flowing corridor that leads to south-central Europe from the Mediterranean life line of trade and traffic. It is about 500 miles long from its entrance at Otranto strait to Venice, near its northernmost point. At the broad, central stretch of the sea, the Italian shores now held by Allied forces are less than 150 miles from the Yugoslav coast. The narrowest jump, across Otranto strait, is between 45 and 50 miles.

MY CALL WENT RIGHT THROUGH!

Yes, most Long Distance calls are handled as quickly as ever — while you hold the line.

But many others — especially those to war-busy centers and to far-away points outside Michigan — meet delay. They must pass over lines crowded with war calls and through switchboards loaded to the limit.

The tip-off that lines are extra busy is the operator's "Please limit your call to 5 minutes." This request means that others are waiting a turn to talk.

By being brief on your call, you will help other important calls get through.

It was decided to hold the regular meetings on the second Thursday of the month. This will bring the next meeting on Thursday evening, May 11, at 8 o'clock. This meeting will be held in the agricultural room. It was decided also that members should bring a picture of their sons or daughters in service.

The dues may be paid at any time to Mrs. Clara Hutzel, treasurer. If membership is applied for before the 21st of this month, the applicant will be considered a charter member. The president, on recommendation of members, instructed the corresponding secretary to send for the charter.

The president appointed Mrs. Irven Weiss chairman of Ways and Means committee, with Mrs. William Birch to assist her. Also, Mrs. John Fischer was asked to take charge of the sending of birthday cards.

A motion was made and carried unanimously to present Moms pins to the two Gold Star mothers, Mrs. Doran L. Rogers and Mrs. Howard E. Walz.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The war stories I like best, Judge, are the ones by the special writers overseas who live right with our troops. They give us a better idea of how our men react to things going on over there and back here at home."

"I agree with you, Sam. I never miss one of those stories in the papers or magazines. And there's one thing those writers seem to agree on no matter where they are stationed with our men... and that is that the men who have left their homes and families to go away and fight this war don't want to come back and find that prohibition has been put over on them while they were away... either nationally or locally. They have heard about the attempts being made and they resent it bitterly."

"I agree with them, Judge, even though I don't happen to drink myself. Furthermore, I don't think it's fair for us at home to be making any major changes while 10,000,000 of our fighting men are away and have no chance to express their opinions."

KNOW ALL THE TRICKS by Blackstone

WORLD-FAMOUS MAGICIAN

THE BALANCED MATCH

Can you knock it off without touching the glass or moving the nickel? (See explanation below)

NO TRICKS... JUST GOOD BEER

Some tricks are easy to do, and good fun into the bargain. Everybody likes to be fooled now and then.

But only for entertainment!

When it comes to beer, it's a different story. No presto-change-o stuff here, if you please!

You want your good old Altes to be the same tangy, zesty beer it's always been, whether there's a war on or not... and even if it means taking a little less than usual.

You see, all brewers are on strict rations of malt these days. That means they can make only a certain amount of beer... much below usual production.

We at Altes have pledged to you that Altes quality must and shall be preserved. We can't just make a magic pass and double our output. Not if we are to keep Altes Lager the same fine full-bodied brew... not if we want to preserve that Aged-in, Sealed-in Flavor. And we do!

HOW IT'S DONE—Anybody can do the trick pictured above. First, you balance a nickel on edge. Then tear out a paper book match and lay it crosswise on top of the nickel. Cover with a glass and invite your audience to knock the match off if they can, but without jarring the table, touching the glass, or moving the nickel. It can be done! Take a rubber comb from your pocket, run it through your hair a few times, and move it around the glass. The static electricity will pull the match off the nickel!

By GENE ALLEMAN

There is no way to evade the question. Here it is:

Is it sufficient that Michigan men—perhaps YOUR son or husband—should die on foreign soil in 1944, as other Michigan men did a quarter century ago, just to vanquish an enemy and to win for ourselves another war?

Michigan people are greatly concerned about tomorrow; many of them are not sure about what we are fighting for today.

They realize that the time of destiny is nearing, like the ticking of a clock that heralds the approach of midnight. When the German Luftwaffe is routed from the skies and when the spring rains have ceased and the poppies are flowering once more, the Americans and Canadians and British will unite in a mighty, determined assault upon Hitler's fortress. We have announced to the world that such is to happen.

Translate these words into home-town reality, and you have inevitable casualty lists that always do not affect the "other" family across the street.

Recently we heard an interesting talk by Margaret Bourke-White, the Life photographer who visited the Cassino front in December.

A young woman whose hair is already turning gray, she gave vivid word-pictures of the Italian front and the hardships which our American troops were undergoing. She closed with a poignant and unforgettable remark: "Surely, we must have a better world tomorrow to justify such a price!"

Well, how about our world of tomorrow? It is a little strange that while we have been concentrating our resources and energies to make things that are non-productive—for cannons and tanks and the such are intended only to destroy the lives and wealth of others—we have earned for ourselves a legacy of new and improved products. Let's consider some of them briefly.

As American lives are being saved today through the use of sulfa and penicillin—those "wonder drugs" that kill infection, so many American lives will be saved in post-war years by these newly developed aids.

Chemists have developed atabrine, a synthetic substitute for quinine. The army has an influenza serum that is surprisingly effective.

In the field of electronics, we will have a portable telephone—the military "walkie-talkie"—over which we can talk from a moving automobile to our home or office. General Electric has perfected a low-priced television tube for home use. Televised programs will be commonplace at theatres during the next decade. Radio is making rapid strides, too. Colleges are looking to frequency modulation as a means of extended adult education.

While the airplane will never supplant the automobile, it will become more popular as a speedy and safe mode for long-distance travel. Already a Michigan bus company is planning to inaugurate helicopter service.

This list is far from being complete. It suggests a few of the new benefits—"gasoline" from vegetable products, "rubber" from alcohol that is made from sawdust, plastic furniture and dehydrated foods and other new wonders, all for our world of tomorrow.

But will these wonders, and others like them, be sufficient to balance the cost of war, as Miss Bourke-White voiced in her report of Cassino?

A quarter of a century ago, we were a lad of 18. We enlisted as a volunteer in our home-town infantry company.

Money spent for War Bonds goes to the front. Sometimes it provides spectacular equipment like planes, oft times it buys a rusty donkey like this American soldier is taking ashore in Italy. The quicker your dollars go into action, the sooner it will be over. Buy More War Bonds. U. S. Treasury Department pany, a national guard unit, and became a soldier in a glorious crusade to "save the world for democracy."

We well remember the memories of the day when our transport convoy landed in England at Liverpool, our boat docked next to a hospital ship that had just arrived from France, and we witnessed the unloading of wounded men from the front.

Today, we are again at war. Convoys are again landing in England. Hospital ships are now in port, ready for the front that is soon to come.

Can we win the peace this time? We know now that we did not win World War I. Should not peace be included in our bargain for tomorrow?

In an interview two years ago, Thomas E. Dewey said that the United States must abandon its pre-war isolationism and be willing to cooperate with its war Allies in preserving the peace.

Leland Stowe, the war correspondent, in his new book "They Shall Not Sleep," warns that Americans are not prepared to play a role of leadership in the world; that we do not know our world neighbors sufficiently to get along with them; that "we do not know how to listen to our dead."

Stowe says other things that are disturbing, such as his conviction "that the odds are definitely against Americans winning the peace."

To men of the intellectual stature of Dr. Alexander G. Ruthven, president of the University of Michigan, the answer lies in the field of education. He points out that "the soldiers of a democracy should know for what they are fighting" and that "international cooperation cannot be assured by political guarantees, economic nostrums, force, blood relationships, or fear, but only through knowledge and the resulting mutual understanding."

Bring that idea home to Michigan. According to the 1940 census, the average amount of education—formal knowledge possessed by adults—was 8.6 grades. That is proof to the educator of the imperative need for continuing education through which we may attain a better understanding of our responsibility in a new world. Here is a challenge to the school, church, press and radio!

Just 100 years ago the governor of Michigan, John S. Barry, said in his message to the state legislature: "Universal education is the only sure basis on which republican institutions can permanently exist."

Today, we await the news of fantastic invasion of Europe. We wonder about the world of tomorrow. We ask ourselves, "Shall we win the war, but lose the peace—once more?"

Have we prepared ourselves sufficiently to win the peace, this time? We cannot escape. What will be our answer?

How yours truly got out of the "ower class"

I USED TO BE the kind of a guy who was always on the owing end of the deal.

I owed on the wedding ring. I owed on the house and the car and the furniture.

If I was even with the grocer, I owed the gas man. If I was even with the gas man, I owed the grocer. Golly, I got tired of it. (And so did the grocer.)

But, it's all different now!

After Pearl Harbor, I started buying War Bonds on the Payroll Saving Plan. Every pay day, regular as clockwork, I lent 10% of what I was making to Uncle Sam. Knew he needed it to win the war... and this Payroll Plan was the simple, easy way to do my part.

What's more, it's automatic. Keeps me buying Bonds regular, instead of forgetting and frittering away the money somewhere else.

Well, sir, I soon found out I could afford putting this money in Bonds. I'm making better money these days, and there's a darn sight fewer things for me and the missus to spend that money on. So, I'm actually coming out even, Bonds and all.

And the other night, fingering over those nice crisp War Bonds, I said to the missus: "For once," I said, "we got somebody owing us money. And that somebody is Uncle Sam. He's promising to pay us back $4.00 for every $3.00 we put in these Bonds. And, just between you and me and the lamp post, there's no surer promise in the world."

"My," said the missus, "why don't we try to buy more of those Bonds out of your pay? I could do some paring down here and there. Let's see if we can't make it 15% instead of 10%."

We did it, by golly! AND SO CAN YOU!
