Enforcement of Dog Quarantine Ordered

Laxity in enforcement of the dog quarantine in Chelsea has been quite evident for some time, resulting in many complaints from local residents. Village officials have given police officers strict orders to enforce all provisions of the local ordinance covering the dog quarantine, which makes it possible to shoot dogs not under the control of their owners, and to fine the owner of dogs which are allowed to roam at random.

A member of the public school faculty was bitten by a dog near the school on Saturday, which brought the dog quarantine enforcement issue to a climax. The dog is being kept under observation to determine if it is rabid.

In addition to the danger involved in dogs running wild, they are a nuisance this time of year when they invade the gardens and flower beds about town. It is hoped that the officers will carry out a strict enforcement of the law. If a dog is not worth caring for by the owner there can be no objection to its "liquidation."

Study Club Will Hold Annual Rummage Sale

Chelsea Study Club will hold their Annual Spring Rummage Sale on Friday afternoon, May 19, from one until five o'clock, and on Saturday from one until five and from six-thirty until nine in the evening, at the town hall. Proceeds from this sale are used for the philanthropic work of the club.

Because of the worthy use which is made of the profits from the rummage sale, the committee asks the whole-hearted cooperation of all the townspeople in donating their rummages. Housecleaning time should locate many articles and the town hall will be open on Thursday, May 18 in the afternoon from one until five o'clock to receive all donations. Safety Plaque Awarded To St. Mary's School

Excellent traffic work in seven Washtenaw county schools was recognized this week by the Safety and Traffic Division of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

A banner was awarded to the Saline public school for regular and uniform reporting of Safety Patrol activities. Honor Trophy plaques were awarded to St. Mary's school, Chelsea, and to Ann Arbor Fritz school, Milan public, Willow Run Ross, Simmonds and Spencer schools, not only for patrol activities but also for a high standard of safety instruction during the school year. Banner awards were made to 471 Michigan schools, and 1,287 schools were awarded plaques.

"Michigan schools' record in safety work this year has been very gratifying and has been greatly extended," said Ernest P. Davis, director of the club's safety and traffic division. "In a society upset and nervous because of war activities—at a time when ordinary American courtesies are taking a terrific beating through disuse and thoughtlessness—it is good to know that our schools are trying to keep alive the principles of safety that will face their supreme test when peace comes."

"Reports to my office do not show any alarming increase in traffic accidents among the lower age groups, as might be expected when parents are forced to relax somewhat their supervision because in many instances both parents are active in war production. The schools must be given much credit for this condition. We must, however, be prepared and vigilant for the day when wartime restrictions are removed from travel and traffic hazards will of necessity become greatly multiplied. Our hope of avoiding heartless losses of life and limb lies in training our children in good safety habits."

Group singing—Led by Mrs. Gladys Breitenwischer.

TRAINING AT SANTA ANA

Bob Edgar, formerly of Chelsea, writes that he is now in training at the Army Air Base at Santa Ana, Calif. Bob says:

"I arrived here last Wednesday and they have had me on the move ever since. Thursday I took a '84' physical and they checked everything from head to toe, inside and out. This afternoon I am going in the Pressure Chamber. First we go up to 18,000 feet without oxygen and then after 10 minutes at 18,000 feet, we put on our masks and go on up to 38,000 feet. Sounds like fun but it is very important as to whether I will ever be able to leave the ground for air duty."

CRASH DRIVER FINED

SUNSHINE CAKE No. 85 of the Nutrition Series

Eggs are now plentiful and should be used freely. No points required. They are an excellent alternate for meat, and supply needed vitamins and minerals. They classify with low-cost foods because there is no waste.

The color of the shell does not affect the food value. Grade B eggs are considered table quality by the United States grading service when served scrambled, boiled or sunny side up.

This recipe calls for six eggs and makes a cake 10 inches across. You'll find it a choice light dessert, and nice for serving in the evening. Goes well with fresh, frozen or canned fruit.

6 eggs
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
1 cup sugar
1 cup sifted cake flour

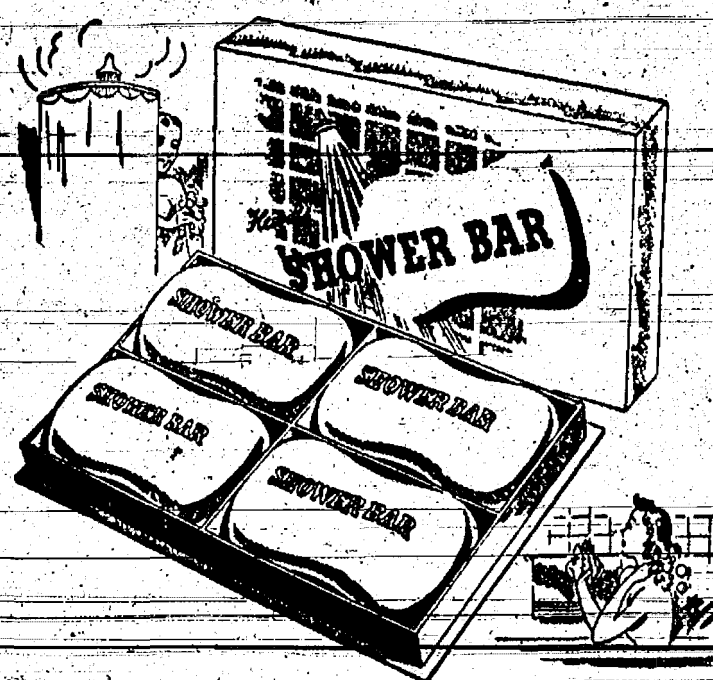

1. Separate yolks from whites of eggs.
2. Beat egg yolks until they are thick; add lemon rind and mix well.
3. Beat egg whites until they are foamy, add salt and cream of tartar and beat until the egg whites stand in peaks when the beater is lifted.
4. Gradually fold sugar into beaten egg whites and then fold about 1/2 of egg white mixture into the beaten yolks.
5. Combine egg yolk and egg white mixture.
6. Carefully fold in the flour.
7. Pour batter into tube pan (10 inches across the top, 8 1/2 inches across the bottom and 4 inches high).
8. Bake in a preheated oven at 325 degrees F. about 1 hour.
9. Remove cake from oven, invert it and allow to stand inverted about 1 hour.
10. Remove cake from pan.

A reception was given after the ceremony for about 40 guests.

Mrs. Hines is a graduate of Manchester high school. The bridegroom, who is a corporal technician, is a graduate of Richmond, W. Va. high school, and had made his home at Rogers Corners for five years before entering the service. Cpl. Hines left for Camp Phillips on Sunday.

Robinson-Conard

The double-ring ceremony was performed at the marriage of Alyce Louise Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Robinson, Island Lake, and Walter M. Conard, Jr., Y-2C, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Conard of Fenton. The wedding took place Friday, May 5 at 8 p. m. in the Church of the Holy City (Swedenborgian), 92 East Forest, Detroit. The Rev. W. H. Beales officiated.

The bride wore a dress of white satin fitted bodice and bouffant net skirt and finger-tip veil, carrying a bouquet of white roses and baby mums. The matron of honor was Mrs. G. Vern Willard of Muer Drive, Farmington, who wore a jonquil-yellow dress of taffeta bodice and net skirt, and her bouquet was tallman roses. She wore a tiny yellow ostrich feather in her hair.

Miss Roxie Ober of Appoline Ave., Detroit was bridesmaid, and her dress was of ice-blue taffeta bodice and net skirt; her bouquet was of yellow roses and she wore a small blue ostrich feather in her hair. The ring-bearer and flower girl were nephew and niece of the groom—Billy Vroman and Carol Conard. They were dressed as tiny replicas of the bride and groom.

The mother of the bride wore a dove grey dress with rose accessories and her corsage was a lavender orchid. Mrs. Conard, mother of the groom, wore a print dress in black and white, with white accessories, and her corsage was white gardenias.

Elwin C. Greer of Dearborn, was soloist, and sang "Calm as the Night" and "Because." Mrs. Greer was organist.

The bride was given away by her father. The groom was attended by his brother-in-law, Ray Vroman. Robert Conard, brother of the groom, and Bud Vandenberg of Detroit were ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Conard left for a honeymoon in New York and Philadelphia.

The groom has just returned from seventeen months' service in the Aleutians. Mr. and Mrs. Conard will make their home in California, where he is to be stationed for the next six months.

He's No "Glory Boy"

He may not go in with the first wave... but he keeps stepping on their heels...

For the shells are still whining overhead, and enemy strafing planes are still churning the beachhead sands with machine gun bullets, when G. I. Joe, of the Army Service Forces, starts hustling in the supplies... tanks, guns, jeeps, shells, ammunition, medicines, food.

There's nothing glamorous about this work-horse job...

But it's helping win a war for Uncle Sam!

Because whether it's from beachhead to firing line... or from factory to embarkation port... the transportation of fighting equipment is one of the war's biggest jobs.

And as our armies move closer to Tokyo and Berlin, that job will grow constantly bigger with each advancing step.

We of the railroads already know how big our part of it is. We know that, in spite of growing manpower shortages, we must meet in full the increasing transportation demands of the armed forces—no matter how great they become.

And we know that this will call for even closer cooperation between the railroads and the shippers and receivers of freight.

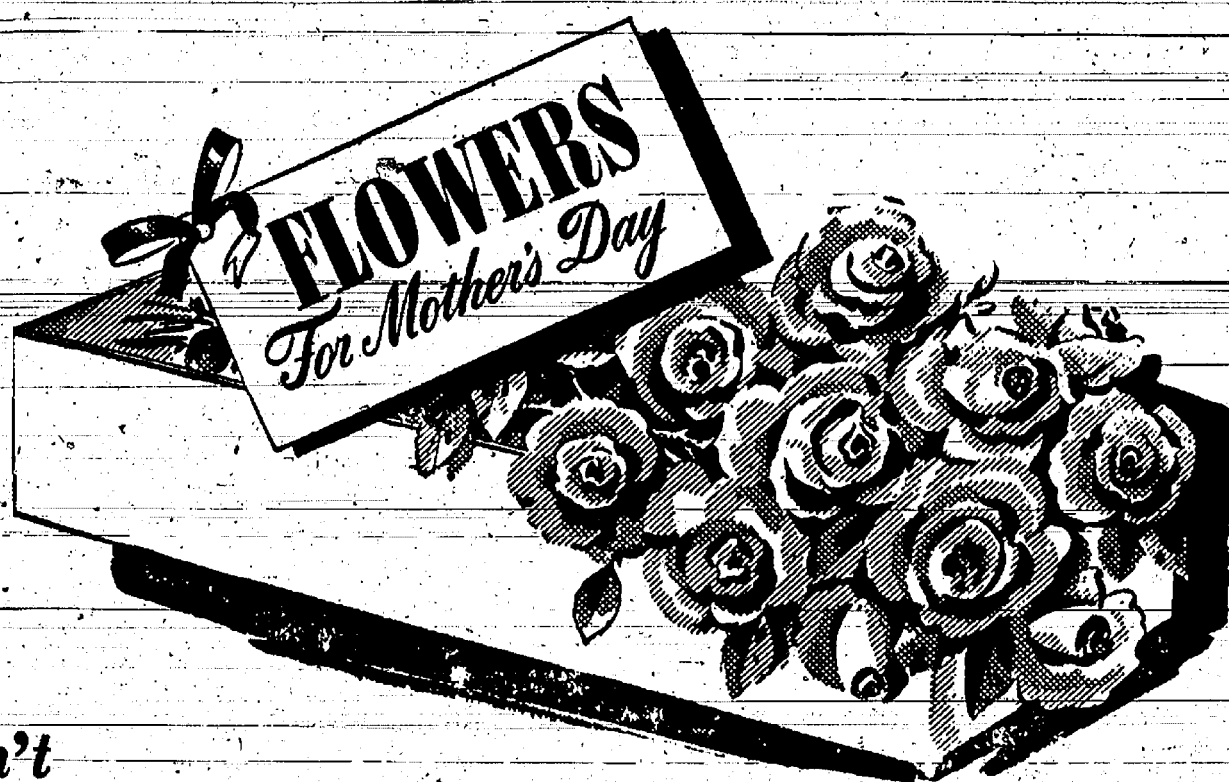

And to those of you who plan to travel by rail, we urge once again that you first consider whether your trip is essential.

For you and we and G. I. Joe are in this fight together... and only by working together can we get this bigger job done.

Where Blows The Wind?

By RUTH TAYLOR

Some time ago there was a very striking cartoon in the London Daily Herald which was reprinted in the New York Times. It showed two Nazi soldiers on the way back to Germany, each bearing a big bag of loot. Behind them is a ruined city whose flaming buildings blaze against the sky. With fear in his eyes, one soldier is crying to the other, "But the wind's in THIS direction!"

Where blows the wind? The holocaust started as a small blaze. Japan moved into Manchuria. We shrugged our shoulders and said that the fire was on the other side of the world. Italy attacked Ethiopia and we said, "Isn't it too bad?" The Nazis began their persecution of the Jews and we shed crocodile tears and said, "We can do nothing—we don't interfere with the internal affairs of any nation." Then Hitler's legions started their relentless march over Europe and we said, "It does seem as though Europe could clean its own house."

We should have known better—we who have had experience with forest fires, who know that a dropped match or a carelessly thrown away cigarette can bring devastation to acres of timberland, engulfing farms and villages as it spreads.

Where blows the wind? Ask those who first bombed civilians—ask them as they stand in their ruined cities with their dead around them. Who started all this? The German people can suffer and complain, but they had surrendered their bodies and souls, even before the war began, and they are now powerless to control their destiny. Where blows the wind?

It is right to be merciful—but not right to be maudlin. Twice in a generation have these fires been lighted. We were not blameless in that we might have used an ounce of prevention but did not—but neither were we the ones who started the fire. The wind is blowing—the fires are blazing—and racing with the speed of demons back toward those who started the blaze. They that sow the wind shall reap the whirlwind.

It is a breakfire—that protection known to the pioneers. Many of our ministers have told us we must not emulate the tactics of the enemy. We are not—but we are turning the wind of wrath in his direction—keeping the fire from our own homes. Surely our own people are as entitled to protection as those who exulted in the bombing of Coventry?

Not cruelty but justice! Not vengeance but the immutable laws of life! The wind blows in their direction—may it sweep clean that free men with naught to fear, men of good will to all, may stand—again—and work to rebuild—not the old hatreds, but the new world of peace for all.

Poor Pasture

Only good land should be used in developing permanent pastures. Poor land gives little grazing and the food a cow gets from such a pasture is used up in supplying the energy required to gather it. She has no food left for milk.

Feed Wastage

One way to conserve chicken feed, prevent wastage and at the same time see that chickens get all they need is to fill hoppers only about two-thirds full instead of completely full so that the birds will not bill it out on the floor. Also, in many hoppers it is possible to put a "lip" just inside the edge of the hopper in order to make it difficult for the birds to bill out the feed. -v-

Mother's Day 1944

On Mother's Day American soldiers all over the world are reminded of the many services they once took for granted at home. K. P. duty has taught them that mother's task was no easy one. These "housekeeping" pictures were taken in the Aleutians and might well inspire the following sentiments.

"Isn't this a fancy mop-wringer? But I still don't like it—it weighs about five times as much as yours. And our mess hall is about as big as our whole house. To think I used to gripe when you asked me to wash off the back porch with the garden hose."

"Sometimes, Mom, I think the army ought to make it a rule that potatoes should always be baked with the jackets on!"

"After a year in the army I've finally gotten so I can sew a button on a shirt, but this mending tears in pants stuff gets me. Honest, I thought all you had to do to mend a rip is sew it up. But it's a complicated affair. Probably the wrong kind of thread."

"Seems funny, my being a cook, doesn't it? I couldn't even cut a pie straight and now I'm carving meat like an expert, and cooking it too."

"I baked these cookies all by myself. It gets a bit cold nights in the Aleutians and the boys like hot cocoa or coffee with cookies to warm 'em up. The boys say they taste pretty good—but they're just kind-hearted."

KIWANIS NEWS

State Representative Jos. E. Warner of Ypsilanti addressed the Kiwanis club on Monday night, discussing state affairs, and particularly the laws passed and appropriations made by the last two sessions of the state legislature. Mr. Warner especially praised the juvenile delinquency law passed by the legislature, which places responsibility directly upon the parents for the behavior of their children. He stated that in many instances it has been discovered that parents were in taverns until a late hour while their children were left sleeping or crying in a car. Mr. Warner advocates the early evening closing of all taverns and other places where intoxicants can be obtained, as well as all-day Sunday closing of such establishments.

Mr. Warner's talk was very interesting and enlightening to members of the club, giving them an understanding of the magnitude of the business conducted by the state governing bodies.

FBI Conference Will Be Held In Ann Arbor

Robert A. Guerin, Special Agent in Charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Detroit, has announced that the Spring FBI Law Enforcement Conference for this area will be held in Ann Arbor on Thursday evening, May 18, at 7:30 o'clock.

Geo. J. Burke, Ann Arbor attorney, will be one of the principal speakers, and will discuss various phases of law enforcement.

In past years it has become increasingly apparent that law enforcement is a highly specialized profession and that scientific experts can be of tremendous assistance in crime detection and investigation. In view of these facts, and due to numerous requests received from law enforcement officers throughout this area, special arrangements have been made with J. Edgar Hoover making it possible for Donald Parsons, Assistant Chief of the FBI Laboratory, Washington, D. C., to be at this conference. Mr. Parsons will conduct a practical discussion on the possibilities of scientific examinations of evidence and their value of law enforcement generally. He will explain the various phases and facilities of the FBI Laboratory which are readily available to all duly constituted law enforcement officers.

Mr. Parsons is one of the outstanding technical experts of the Laboratory, having testified in hundreds of important criminal cases throughout the country arising from his examination of evidence submitted to the Laboratory by various law enforcement groups.

All law enforcement officers are invited to attend the meeting, and through their discussion with Mr. Parsons of particular problems now facing them.

Dairy Rations
There appears to be little evidence that normally fed cows need vitamin supplements. Sunshine and vitamin D that is needed except possibly for a short period at freshening in the case of very heavy milkers, and pasture grass in summer and good quality hay or silage in winter supply enough A. So far as we know, other vitamins do not constitute a problem in the ration for the milking cow.

Promotes Spoilage
Freezing in itself does not spoil canned food. However, the food swells in freezing and this may cause a break in the glass jar or a leak in the can. When the seal is broken on a can or jar, spoilage organisms may then reach the food and result in its loss. Cans showing any such leakage should be used immediately.

Giant Among Rabbits
The Flemish Giant is the giant of all rabbits. At the age of 3 months, if well fed, it will attain a weight of 7 to 8 pounds, and at a year should weigh 14 pounds. The fur is of good texture, and the meat is palatable.

Force Out Animal Heat
The hog carcass should be allowed to hang or lie in a clean, cool place just warm enough not to freeze, for 18 to 24 hours before it is cut. This is the best way to force out the animal heat, thus making the carcass more easy to cut.

So You Can't Buy Another Bond

Take a good look at this American soldier—he lies in the mud of Rendova Island in the Southwest Pacific, victim of a Jap air raid. It is not a pleasant scene, is it? When you are asked to buy an extra War Bond to Back the Attack think of this picture of your fellow American blasted by the concussion of a Jap bomb thousands of miles from home. Then brother, don't you think you will want to dig a little deeper to back up his comrades?

The Seniors expected to have their annual spring magazine sale about May 1, but so far they have been unable to obtain any information from the publishers.

SENIORS OF '44

Mary Rose Wood was born in Peru, Ind. in 1927. Mary has brown hair and brown eyes and her favorite color is blue. Basketball is her sport and her favorite song is "I Love You." Mary has made no plans for her future as yet.

CHIVALRY

Chivalry is lost! You know it is! And we've thought it over, thank you. We're still trying to find even a handful of boys, just a few, who always open a door for us and who never pass notes via other pupils in study halls and classes. Confidently, we can't find enough acts of courtesy to warrant our recognition.

One act of courtesy that our "gentlemen" of today seriously neglect is this matter of securing dates before the last minute. Asking the girl a day or two ahead is a lot better than the day of the dance. None of us like to feel like a second-thought.

And boys! Why not think about the language you use in front of us BEFORE you use it? Determination can be expressed just as firmly in a nicer way.

So before you criticize us girls of today—check up on yourselves.

TO SPONSOR PARTY

The Homemaking Club girls will sponsor a "Spring Frolic" party Friday night. All girls are to wear cotton dresses and ankle socks. A door prize and a prize for a dancing contest given to the best couple will be given. The teachers and students will be the judges for the dancing contest. Shirley Dorner is in charge of decorations, Virginia Lesser is in charge of refreshments and Jane Downer is in charge of the program.

HOMEMAKING

The Homemaking II class prepared and served the Hi-Y dinner last Wednesday night. Rosemary Lyons, Jane Downer, Audrey White, Melva Myers, Dorothy Knickerbocker and Pauline Klink were on the serving and cleanup committee. This same class is busy making plans to serve their practice dinners Thursday noon. The girls are divided into family groups, each group inviting a guest. The guests will be: Mr. Cameron, Mr. Janke, Miss Fox, Nancy Booker and Miss Davies.

Homemaking Department entertained the Study Club last Tuesday night. The hostesses were Jane Downer, Clara Miller, and Dorothy Knickerbocker. Girls who modeled cotton dresses made in class and at home were: Marjorie Ferguson, Helen Harker, Genevieve Hafner, Amelia Kiss, Joyce Lentz, Loretta Lindauer, Barbara Luick, Mary Alice Markwardt, Ruth Stone, Dorothy Ulrich, Gloria Fouty and Janice Weir. Barbara Luick was the pianist for the modeling.

Refreshments prepared by the hostesses were served at the end of the evening, with Jane Downer and Clara Miller pouring at the tea table.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Donna Burman, Marjorie Whipple, LeRoy May, Donna Perkins hope to visit Manchester Council on the 12th.

F.F.A.

Walter Freysinger has started to plow the Victory Gardens on Flanders St. Garden plots are 50x182 and are available for five and six dollars. The more expensive plots are fertilized and all are plowed and completely fitted for planting. Those plots which are not rented by May 15 will be used as an experimental garden for various types of hybrid corn by the high school agriculture classes.

Anyone interested in one of these garden plots can secure more information from any member of the Ag class or from the school principal, Mr. Richards.

PLAY DAY

Last Friday and Saturday 11 girls from school went to Ypsi for the Annual Play Day.

Friday night there was a big dance which lasted from 9:00 until 12:30. The girls went to their rooms in the dorm and had room check and then many of the girls gathered in other rooms and talked with girls about the college.

The next morning breakfast was at 8:00 and at 9:30 the girls gathered in the gym for the day's activities. Some of the girls went swimming, played ping-pong, tennis, badminton, and volleyball. There were swimming demonstrations in which Wilma Schweinfurth took part. At 12:30 everyone went over to McKenny Hall for lunch. At 1:30 there was a tour of the campus, and at 2:30 there was a program which was very interesting. All arrangements for the Chelsea girls was made through the G.A.A. All the girls reported a very wonderful time.

WHAT HAPPENED TO JUNIORS? Have you seen those Juniors? They really are busy. You'll never guess what they're up to. They are preparing for a very special occasion—not only special to them but also to the Seniors and maybe a few others. It happens only once a year and they look forward to it all year. What could be more important than the Junior-Senior Reception. Oh! Dear! I wasn't going to tell you, but it just slipped out. It is a lot of work but the Juniors think it is worth it. This is one time during the school year that the Juniors do something for the Seniors and enjoy it. Of course, it couldn't be that they benefit from it too!

Here's hoping every Junior and Senior will attend the Reception and make it a night to remember.

BAND NEWS

The band is completing their plans for a pot-luck supper which will be held Wednesday night. This is an annual affair. The officers for next year's Band-Parents' club will be chosen at this time. The summer plans for the band will be made out then.

HI-Y SUPPER

Last Wednesday the Hi-Y club had a supper in the Home Ec. room for its members and the girl each member wished to ask. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Alpervitz and Mr. and Mrs. Cameron were also present.

The supper consisted of chicken pie, mashed potatoes, a salad, rolls, coffee, and for dessert, ice cream and cake.

After the supper, Don Schanz, the M.C., gave a short talk and then Mr. Alpervitz, the club advisor, made a short speech. Others who talked were Mr. Johnson, Tom McClellan and Tom Rademacher. The boys' trio sang a group of songs, after which there was dancing until Mr. Alpervitz said "Good Night."

Chelsea Loses League Opener

Because of the weather the game was played on Wednesday, and then the Bulldogs lost a heart-breaker to Roosevelt, 4 to 2.

Ypsi drew first blood in the game by scoring in the last half of the first to lead 1 to 0. But Chelsea came back for one run in each of the second and third and the lead. Once more Roosevelt came back to collect three unearned runs in their half of the third to end the scoring for the game.

Alber and Niehaus led Chelsea's hitting attack with two hits apiece, while Bahnmiller, Schanz and Orbring each collected one.

Alber was on the mound for Chelsea, giving up but three hits, while Gaken was his battery mate. Vir-cryusse pitched and Chisel caught for Ypsi.

Our stamp sale this week was $22.30, with 11 people buying, making our percentage 32.35.

In English we are reviewing sentence diagramming. We have learned how to diagram sentences with adjective phrases and adjective clauses. Some found them easy, and others hard.

We had a history test and those who study found it easy; for those who didn't, it was hard. We are now reading our last chapter for this year. After we finish this chapter we will start reviewing for final tests.

In science we have been reading individual books and giving reports on them. We have also been studying food and calories.

We had an arithmetic test and we have been having problems about electric, gas and water meters.

About nineteen pupils of our class are planning on raising victory gardens this year. We hope that most of them will enroll in the victory-garden contests.

Last Wednesday report cards were issued. Some of us were pleased and others not so.

We want to thank John Copren for bringing in fifteen blocks for our afternoon.

On Friday we elected officers. They are as follows: President, Bob Barlow; vice-president, Ellen Jane Geddes; secretary, David Slane; treasurer, David Knickerbocker.

Army Transport
To transport overseas one armored division with its 3,700 vehicles and equipment requires 15 Liberty ships. Once the division is in action and on the move it must have each day 1,300,000 pounds of gasoline, 1,200,000 pounds of ammunition and 70,000 pounds of food. Such requirements could only be met by a Liberty ship arriving every eight days. And this for only one armored division.

Clinton County Farm Family of 14 Honored As State Observes More Michigan Food Month

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Thelen and their 12 children, pictured above, have been chosen as the "first family" of More Michigan Food Month, being observed during May throughout the state. The Thelens' daily struggle to keep up productivity of their 610 Clinton county acres typifies the courageous efforts of Michigan's thousands of farm families.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Thelen and her twin brother, Donald, and their 12 children, of Clinton county, make up a self-sufficient "combat unit" of Michigan's vast Food Army of 1944. At top, right, is pictured a "general staff" meeting in the dining room of the comfortable plant last year until the needs of the farm home four miles south of Fowler. Standing between Mr. and Mrs. Thelen is Paul, 20, who with his brother, Leo, 18, are the mainstays of the Thelen forces. Little Theresa, 4, listens in from her mother's knee. Mrs. Thelen is pictured (top, left) gathering eggs from the flock of 175 layers. "Theresa isn't too young to learn," says Mrs. Thelen, voicing the thought back of the training of each of the children. The "school battalion" (bottom, left) stands inspection just before piling into the family car and setting out for the Fowler Public School. Left to right, back row, they are Elwin, 17; Jerome, 15; Stanley, 13; front row, Doris, 12, of fluid milk instead of pork

Thirty steers are to be bought as feeders and the sheep flock is to be slightly increased. At right Theresa pets one of the spring lambs from the family's flock of 175 sheep. The eldest of the children, Betty, 21 (not pictured), worked in a defense plant last year until the needs of the farm help brought her home. In addition to caring for the flock of chickens, the sheep and the 30 dairy cows, this year produced 64 acres of field beans, 66 acres of wheat, 90 acres of oats and barley, 55 acres of corn, 22 acres of buckwheat and 90 acres of clover for seed. Two hundred and twenty-five fat hogs were sent to market. Increased production of beans to 80 acres, and corresponding increases in corn and wheat, line with national wartime needs, are planned for this year. The livestock program is being shifted somewhat, too, with the emphasis being on the production of fluid milk instead of pork

Recruiting Youths For Farm Production Crisis

Fifty-thousand Michigan boys and girls who had some farm experience in 1943 are being recruited with thousands of others to help win the battle of Michigan farm production in 1944, according to C. B. Dibble, state leader of the Victory Farm Volunteers. Work of recruiting and training is a part of the emergency farm labor program directed by the extension service of Michigan State College. County agricultural agents, vocational teachers with training classes in schools, school superintendents and private individuals are among those participating. Those boys and girls who got some actual farm experience in 1943 include more than 5,000 who lived temporarily away from home. Some of the in-school youths already are at work part time in nurseries and greenhouses. Others will soon be asparagus. Special classes are giving extra instruction in such specialties as sheep shearing and poultry culling. More than sixty training classes are preparing boys and girls for farm experiences. In Detroit the work is under the guidance of E. L. Kunze; in Lansing, George Beckwith; in Roseville, Elmer Fuhr. School superintendents are being encouraged to adjust school hours. Marshall Shearer, superintendent at Stevensville in Berrien county, has changed school hours to 8 to 1 in high school and the seventh and eighth grades. The school system at Bridgman is operating similarly. In asparagus sections the schools likely will follow the 1943 practice of opening school at 10 a.m. to permit crews to use early morning hours for farm harvest. Farmers are urged to register needs with county agricultural agents. Every county in the state is being served with an emergency farm labor office which helps enlist recruits and where needed.

State Motorists To Get Emergency Brake Test

A new simplified war emergency brake test will be introduced to Michigan motorists during May when safety and traffic organizations and officials will unite in a campaign to encourage the motorist to help himself in the interests of reducing accidents and prolonging the life of vital automotive transportation. According to Maxwell Halsey, executive secretary of the Michigan State Safety Commission, the new test is known as the "one inch pedal travel test." Research has shown, Halsey says, that when the brake pedal can be pushed to within one inch of the floorboard before the brakes take hold, double the legal stopping distance of approximately two car lengths at 20 miles per hour is required. The new test identified only very bad brakes. Cars which pass the test may still have brakes which are unsafe for reasons other than lack of adjustment. The need for a state-wide brake testing effort was indicated, according to Halsey, by spot checks which revealed that as high as 30 per cent of the vehicles in some areas had dangerously unsafe brakes. At the same time records reveal that traffic deaths have increased steadily for six months in Michigan, the total increase being 38 per cent. If this rate of increase continues 880 more Michigan people will lose their lives in traffic accidents in 1944 than in 1943. To reduce these home-front casualties and to preserve vital war transportation which cannot be replaced, the Safety Commission has developed a State-Wide Preventive Maintenance Safety Campaign for the month of May. Most of the state's police chiefs and sheriffs have been in attendance at nine pre-campaign meetings and have agreed to participate. The automobile industry—car companies, dealers and garages—has agreed to make a special effort to give brake repair service during the month.

Approximately a million educational leaflets will be distributed by police, sheriffs, factories, schools and state agencies. Thousands of posters will be displayed.

"Thousands of motorists will have their brakes tested by police and sheriffs' officers during the campaign," Halsey said. "Those who fail to pass the test will be subject to regular enforcement procedure."

"There is no excuse for dangerous brakes."

"The motorist is being made aware of the importance of safe brakes."

"The garages have offered to do their best."

"The police and sheriffs' departments are prepared for an intensive campaign. To save himself, his transportation and to assist the war effort, each motorist should accept the following advice:

"Drive it carefully, brother, you can't get another."

"You're only a foot from trouble."

"You're only an inch from disaster."

"And you don't build war materials while you are in the hospital."

Our battle song is the whisper of the wind among the fruit blossoms, the rhythmic patter of rain on new green leaves, the humming of the tractor as its plow turns over the soft brown earth, the clatter of the seed drill..."

"Some of our weapons are new as the modern weapons of war, some old as the hills of Judea. For ours is a war that has no beginning, no end. Ours is the battle of food."

"Our sons, like yours, are off to the war of planes and tanks and guns and ships. Many of those who fight our fight now forge the weapons for these valiant sons. To feed them all, our battle must be won."

"To feed you here at home is half the task. To feed our fighting men, to aid our allies whose fields are drenched with blood, to make new friends in countries freed from hate... that, too, is half our task."

"We achieved the impossible last summer. Now we must do it again."

"Michigan, the Arsenal of Democracy, might well be called the Cupboard of Democracy, too. No state can match the variety of its foodstuffs, nor outrank it in so many products of the soil."

"We bow in grateful tribute to the food retailers in your own community who have matched our efforts with their own. From the smallest independent to the largest chain store, they fight their battle, too, against well-nigh hopeless odds."

"They bring you our luscious berries, cherries, melons, peaches, pears, plums and apples from our fruit areas... sugar from our beets, millions of gallons of health-building milk, cream and other dairy products for your children and war workers, golden honey, top-grade potatoes in abundance, poultry, eggs and meats from our farms... fresh vegetables in never-ending streams and much more packed in our canneries... peas and beans and tomatoes and body-building, vitamin-enriched root vegetables... carrots, turnips, beets... all from Michigan farms and orchards and processing plants."

"With their cooperation we face this new season. We face it uncomplaining and unafraid... with resolute courage and the will to win."

"We are marching into battle, we the farmers of Michigan—marching side by side with all who do battle on the home front that Victory on the fighting front may be achieved the sooner."

Chilean Flag Described

The Chilean flag consists of two horizontal bars. The lower half is red and the upper half is white with a blue field and a white star near the mast.

Animal Fat

The raw fat recoverable from one opossum would produce enough glycerine to fire five antiaircraft shells, and that from one skunk would fire four antitank shells.

By GENE ALLEMAN

That the Republican party of Michigan is due to undergo a knock-down, drag-out fight in the 1944 primary is now regarded as Lansing to be highly probable, if not practically certain.

The decision of Vernon J. Brown, an ace vote-getter, to become a candidate for the party nomination of lieutenant governor rather than for the office of auditor general which pays $3,000 more a year was predicated on Brown's conviction that Keyes had definitely aligned himself with Frank McKay, the Republican national committeeman, and that Republicans should have a clean-cut choice between an "anti-McKay" slate for governor and lieutenant governor and a "pro-McKay" slate for the same state offices.

It is no political secret that Auditor General Brown is regarded by Republicans and many Democrats as the Republicans' best vote-getter today, next to Governor Kelly himself. He has served three terms as auditor general and five terms as a representative in the state legislature. In the 1940 general election Brown ran close to Governor-Elect Murray D. VanWagoner; in the 1942 general election he polled more votes in Wayne county than Keyes and Homer Ferguson combined.

It is also no secret to add that Brown would rather serve as auditor general. The auditor general's compensation is $7,500 per annum, divided as follows: Auditor general—$2,500; member of state administrative board—$4,000; chairman of state land board, $1,000.

As lieutenant governor, Mr. Brown would receive $3,500 as a member of the state administrative board, and $3 a day as the presiding officer of the state senate—just $3,000 less than he has been receiving. The duties of this office carry less responsibility and less compensation.

Following the state Republican convention in Detroit which resulted in virtual ouster of McKay as the party's boss, Governor Kelly expressed his keen displeasure over the persistent opposition of Keyes to his policies. The Kelly-Keyes feud has been growing in intensity.

Kelly felt that Keyes had flirted with forces who were friendly to McKay—namely, Mel McPherson of Lowell and Mayor George Welsh of Grand Rapids—and that a partnership of Kelly and Keyes on the fall ballot would be both inconsistent and illogical.

How could Kelly go all-out for a man who had opposed him with regularity and who continued to hint that he might drag out their personal differences into the arena of political debate as a 1944 candidate for governor? Had not Keyes asked his supporters to circulate petitions for both the governorship and lieutenant governorship, saying that he would make up his mind later on?

Such was the pressure by the governor on the Auditor General. Brown had previously announced that he was a candidate again for auditor general, because of "unfinished business" in which he was greatly interested.

Brown mustered arguments to convince the governor that he could perform greater public service as auditor general than as lieutenant governor.

Finally Brown became convinced that, for the good of the party, Republicans should be afforded the opportunity of nominating candidates for governor and lieutenant governor who were acknowledged to be opposed to McKay. His decision to become Kelly's running mate, subject to primary approval, was predicated entirely on a personal belief that the people of Michigan had been good to him, as expressed in democracy through party ballots, and that he should support the party's efforts, as crystallized at the Detroit convention, to rid itself of so-called "boss-control."

The governor's office expects that this choice will be given to Republicans this spring in the form of a Read-Keyes ticket, supported by McKay.

There also is speculation that McKay followers may not take a primary defeat without making an effort, at the November election to inflict ballot retaliation by swinging Barnard McKay followers into the Democratic camp, possibly under some pre-arranged deal of political coalition.

A factional split will be welcome meat for the Democrats, who apparently have settled on State Chairman Earnest Brooks of Holland as their choice for the governorship after weeks of hesitation and unsuccessful attempts to draft Picard, VanWagoner, Fry and others. As Republican factionalism grows, democratic hopes will rise.

Auditor General Brown's knowledge of state government is profound. He is a successful country newspaper publisher at Mason who served ten years in the state legislature and is concluding six years' service as state auditor general. He is known to be dry; his newspaper will not accept alcoholic beverage advertising, and, in fact, has even refused cigarette advertising because of the editor's personal ideals.

He is a Protestant and thus a good team-mate for Kelly, a Roman Catholic. He is a farmer by original vocation and owns a farm today; Kelly is a lawyer. He has been a vigorous supporter of generous appropriations for civilian defense; Kelly is a distinguished veteran of World War I whose limping walk is a constant reminder of his own personal sacrifice as a soldier-patriot. Brown is an up-stater; Kelly hails from metropolitan Detroit.

Back of his new decision is also a belief that the office of lieutenant governor, in today's modern world of many complexities, should be elevated into new dignity akin to that of an "assistant governor." This official would be truly a partner to the governor and thus fully qualified by intimate knowledge of daily problems to preside with efficiency and wisdom should fate ever impose responsibility of the office upon him.

Keyes' rise as an unknown comet into the Michigan political sky dates to the 1940 primary when nine candidates vied for one nomination. He is a crusader at heart, a man who thinks of himself as a knight battling for the people in a world of scheming, greedy politicians. Keyes' strength has been ability to impress others of his sincerity and his seal, in Vernon J. Brown he will find more than a real match.

Processed Foods—Blue stamps A8 thru Q8, good indefinitely.

Sugar—Sugar stamps 80 and 81, each good for five pounds indefinitely.

Sugar stamp 40, good for five pounds of canning sugar through February, next year.

Fuel Oil—Periods 4 and 5 coupons, good through August 31.

Shoes—Airplane stamps 1 and 2, good indefinitely.

Mulch Berries

Raspberries and blackberries can be mulched. Neither of these fruits should be pruned until spring. Actually it is just as well not to prune red raspberry bushes at all, except to remove dead canes, particularly if they have a wire or trellis support to keep the bearing bushes from falling over to the ground when they are full of nearly-ripe fruit.

Here's a message for your children if they have bicycles. Urge them to read and observe these rules suggested for their protection and safety.

Bicyclists on streets and highways have the same responsibilities in traffic as do motorists, and, therefore, must obey all traffic signs and rules.

Other suggestions for cyclists' safety are:

Always signal before making turns. Keep to the right and ride single file; don't weave about.

Keep out of car tracks and ruts. Never "stunt" or race in traffic. Never "hitch" on to other vehicles. Always get off the roadway to make repairs.

Wear light-colored clothing at night and equip your bicycle with a head light and tail light or reflector for night riding.

Keep yourself and your bicycle in the best condition. Never ride when you are tired, faint, or ill. Always be wide-awake and alert when riding your bicycle.

Mother'll Understand

If you don't call her on Long Distance this Sunday

Mothers are understanding and patriotic. They know that under the steadily increasing burden of war-created calls, Long Distance telephone equipment is seriously overloaded.

Of course, they'd like to talk with you on Mother's Day, but they'd rather be sure the lines are kept clear for vital war messages.

This year, send your love in a letter. And if you'd like to give your mother a present, she'd truly appreciate a United States War Bond—a gift of fighting dollars to back our boys and girls overseas.

Please make only really urgent Long Distance calls this Mother's Day.

Religious Book Week
Never before have religious novels been so popular. The "Robe," by Lloyd Douglas, has kept close to the top of the list all year. "The Nazarene" and "The Apostle" by Sholem-Ash have been close seconds. This evidence in civilian reading has been a noticeable reflection of the return to religious thinking among people.

Your Mother

You'd like to wrap up the stars for her, but you're no magician. Instead you'll please her with a gift from Gamble's, prettily tied and presented with love. It may be a lovely pair of hose, a classic blouse or a cute dress. Whatever it is, she'll treasure it like a thoughtful deed.
