training in January, 1943. Selected for officers' training, he graduated as a 2nd Lieutenant in July of the same year and was sent to Fort Devens, Mass., where he volunteered for overseas duty and reached England in time to celebrate his 21st birthday.

The following letter tells a few of his experiences since that time.

Thursday, June 15, 1944.

Dear Lucile and all:
At last I can write a few notes to bring you up to date on the events over here. Censorship restrictions have been lifted considerably and so much has happened in the last few days that it's hard to know where to begin. Guess the best thing to do is start back in England.

We arrived via the "Queen Elizabeth" at the "Firth of Clyde," Scotland about October 20 and after the usual processing, moved to Newquay, Cornwall which was our home station up until shortly before invasion time. Our days in England were spent entirely in preparation for the part we were to play in the event the whole world was waiting for. We did a lot of work in preparing the mock beach and surrounding country on the southeastern coast of England, which was used for beach landing practice and then took part in the many practice invasions which took place there. For a while we were moving from land to ship and back so often that (Continued on page two)

Message Admits Error By War Department

After receiving messages from the War Department to the effect that their son, Pvt. Neil Foster was killed in action in France on June 6, and at the same time receiving letters from Neil, written following that date, Mr. and Mrs. Terrance Foster, on July 27, received the following telegram from the Adjutant General, which clarifies the situation:

"I am pleased to inform you that a report just received from the Commanding General, European theater of operations, states that your son, Pvt. Neil J. Foster, was not killed in action as reported in my telegram of July 9. Report further states that he was hospitalized for fractured scapula and that his condition is not serious. I deeply deplore grief caused by previous report but share in your joy that your son is alive. It is my sincere hope that good news concerning his condition will soon be forthcoming. You will be advised as reports of condition are received. Letter follows."

The Adjutant General.

Pfc. Beeman Tells of Conditions in France

Just what it's like to be in France is told in some interesting letters received by Mrs. Wilbur Beeman and his parents and relatives, from Pfc. Wilbur Beeman.

Pfc. Beeman arrived in France shortly after D-Day. The first letter received was dated June 15. He is with a Radio Squadron Mobile Unit, which is connected with the 9th Air Force.

Excerpts from his letters tell of conditions in France and some of the experiences he has had:

"You should see some of these French people. I feel sorry for them. Most of them are wearing wooden shoes, and no socks, and baggy clothes. Some of the towns look like a-rook-pile. Boy! the people in the States don't know how lucky they are. I would like to see some of those guys that are always striking live under these conditions for awhile. I think they would be willing to work when they got back."

"You ought to see this French money. It's mostly paper, very few coins. One franc is equal to two cents in our money. It's a lot easier to figure out how much we have (in American money) in France than it was with English money. There are 20 franc notes in 10c, 50 franc notes in 1.00, etc."

"Now that sufficient time has elapsed I can tell you about some of the other things I saw, or have seen. We came over on a landing barge, and we had to drive off in about three feet of water. Before we started I was wondering if we were going to make it, or get stuck, but we were fortunate enough to make it OK. You see, I was the assistant driver for my truck and I could look right out there at the water. Well, that night we camped at a place that the paratroopers had taken. They were telling us there were still German snipers in the vicinity. Of course, I happened to catch guard duty that night. You can imagine how I felt. I wasn't too darn comfortable, I can tell you that. At one time we were only two miles from the front lines, because of getting mixed on our directions."

"For a month now we have lived on C rations, but we just received some new supplies because yesterday our dinner was swell—beer, mashed potatoes, bread and jam. It was really good. We also had fruit juice for breakfast, along with hot-cakes. They really hit the spot, but the only trouble was, I could have eaten more. You know how I like them."

Pfc. Beeman is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Beeman of Lyndon township. They have another son, Cpl. George Beeman, who is connected with the Ordnance Regiment in North Africa.

Weight and Gas Tax Funds Are Distributed

Lansing State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler last week (July 28) submitted vouchers to the Auditor General's department for the distribution of $2,179,172.03 in weight and gasoline tax money to the various counties of the state.

Current returns include the second quarter of 1944 weight tax payment and the first half of 1944 gas-tax payments in accordance with the statutes providing for these returns. The weight tax returns total $904,172.03, compared to $1,102,234.12 for the first quarter of 1944. First-quarter weight tax returns made last May totaled $1,989,087.07, making $17,956,259.10 in weight tax returned to the counties so far this year.

The gas tax return is the usual first quarter amount set by law. A similar payment is made for the last quarter each year, an additional $4,000,000 is returned annually for use on McNitt roads and $200,000 is paid to northern counties for snow removal, making a total of $6,750,000 of gas tax money which goes to the State Highway Department as its sole source of state funds.

Washtenaw county receives second quarter weight tax amounting to $17,091.02, and first half gas tax amounting to $24,974.91.

Lieut. Barr Writes of Overseas Experiences

we were beginning to wonder whether we were soldiers or sailors. That accounts, in some measure, for the many times you didn't hear from me as often as usual.

We arrived here on the French coast at H plus seventy minutes and as we walked off the ramp into water up to our necks it was obvious that we were about the first to hit our sector of the beach. The Germans were thicker than flies and the obstacles on the beach and in the water were still all intact. As we made our way out of the water and across the sand they opened up on us with machine guns, artillery, mortars, and in general everything they had. Their fire power was terrific and the accuracy of the inland artillery was almost unbelievable. We were still trying to pick out some of the machine gun emplacements when the ship we had just left received a direct hit and exploded. I glanced back long enough to see the two sailors who had wished us lots of luck just minutes before hanging over the side in flames. About that time I decided this was not a job to take up as a career. It all looks exciting in the movies but no one can ever realize what it's really like from seeing it from a comfortable seat in the theater. Reinforcements poured in behind us and many of us moved steadily forward but many of my best friends are buried just above the beach road.

Since those hectic hours we have advanced considerably and our beach head has grown and changed greatly in appearance. I had an opportunity to go back near the beach the other day and could hardly imagine it to be the same place. I dare say it's the busiest piece of coast line in the country and the flow of supplies is terrific. The Navy and Air Corps have done a wonderful job in the operation and we have all got to hand it to them. They're really in there pitching.

It's now 0100 hours and the Jerry's usual one or two night raiders are overhead now. They never show up during the day but every night they turn out about this time and the fire we turn on them makes our July 4th celebrations of the past look pretty sick.

The weather has been very good to us since the landing and every evening about 2000 hours our own bombers go over, in huge numbers, headed inland. The high altitude bombers fill the sky with beautiful graceful vapor trails. It's a sight that will never be easily forgotten.

Our first mail since long before D-day arrived today and there were certainly a lot of smiling G.I.s when the old familiar "mail call" was given. There are more letters in England which will probably be shipped over in the next few days. Believe me, they are really appreciated these days.

I was very surprised to find the Germans as well equipped as they are and in the condition of the equipment they have. I've inspected several captured supply points and I've seen the fire arms, clothing and equipment on their dead and wounded and they seem to be pretty well supplied. In general their personal equipment is every bit as good and in some cases better than ours. One thing is certain though, they could never hope to keep up with the pace we have set in production.

This section of France is quite similar to England, good farm lands and lots of hedges. The people have been very helpful in many ways but our lack of French limits our personal social contacts considerably.

Before I get away from German equipment, I forgot to mention that I'm writing this with a German officer's fountain pen and now that I've tried it out I think it might just as well have been left to be sent home with his personal effects. A "machine pistol," an officer's rain coat and a pair of field glasses are also in my possession and I'll tell you a few interesting stories about them when I get home. Guess all "Yankees" are alike—fighting for souvenirs.

Now that everything is pretty much under control and the front line is progressing as normally and as rapidly as possible, our engineer work keeps us pretty well away from the excitement (if it can be referred to as excitement).

Our kitchen trucks arrived today and we have visions of hotcakes, butter and syrup for breakfast. They will be quite a treat after several days of "K" and "C" rations. The rations are really not bad after you get used to them but I don't approve of them as a steady diet.

It's getting near time for me to go off duty and that means hitting the ole bedroll which will feel pretty good about now.

Be seeing you,
Merle.

The bandits who robbed the Grass Lake bank last Thursday, secured about $70,000 in cash and bonds, all of which was recovered with the exception of about $1300. The men were captured at Wolf Lake as they were in a room in the club house annex to the hotel dividing the loot. Under Sheriff Harry Worden of Grass Lake was shot and instantly killed, and Deputy Sheriff Veri Kutt was wounded in the head as they were forcing an entrance into the room. According to the confession of one of the men the gang members were not inexperienced and had stolen more than $500,000 in the past three months.

No ration will be granted for passes, for liberties or for leaves or furloughs of less than three days, at the suggestion of the Army and Navy. The member of the Armed Services should apply for gasoline rations to the War Price and Rationing Board having jurisdiction over the automobile he is to drive and he should present proper leave or furlough papers.

Ceilings On Restaurant Prices

By August 18 every eating and drinking establishment in the country is required to post its ceiling prices on 40 basic meals and food items on an official poster supplied by the War Price and Rationing Board, OPA announces. Prices are to be the same as those charged during the week of April 4-10, 1943, except that coffee is to be five cents a cup or pot unless the establishment charged more during the week of October 4-10, 1942. While ceiling prices on their posters must be week-day prices, those concerns that charged more for Sunday meals may continue such extra charge. Exempt from the regulations under certain conditions are places operated by schools, colleges, fraternities, hospitals, private clubs and recognized charitable, religious and cultural organizations.

More than 1,000 Veterans G. I. Jeas already have applied to the Veterans Administration for Educational Benefits offered them under the so-called G.I. Bill of Rights. In addition, 4,000 written inquiries and many additional telephone inquiries about benefits offered under the Bill have been received. To be eligible for Educational Benefits, a Veteran must have had his education interrupted and must have had 90 days active service since September 16, 1940, with separation under conditions other than dishonorable. Veterans who entered service before they were 25 years old are presumed to have had their education interrupted.

The Four-H Clubs of America, 1,700,000 strong, are making a vital contribution to the war program helping in the gigantic problem of keeping the food supply line strong and in buying War Bonds. LETTER FROM ENGLAND

Mrs. Ren Hutzel recently received the following letter from Bristol, England:

Dear Mrs. Hutzel:

Your husband has been with us for a few weeks and he asked me to tell you he was very well while he was here.

He has gone away again now—we do not know where, so if you do not receive any mail for a week or two, please do not get alarmed or worry as the mail may be delayed.

We were so very pleased to have Ren with us. We liked him very much, and we have missed his company since he has been gone. He was most kind and helpful to us in every way, especially to my husband, who is not very well just now. Ren enjoyed our lovely garden too, and was interested in the different flowers we have to what you have at home.

We do hope and pray that he will come back home to you before very long and be happy again in your own home. My husband and I think about you in your anxiety and loneliness, and may God bless you and comfort you and keep Ren under His protection until you meet again.

Our best wishes to you from Yours sincerely,
E. J. and Emma Sheppard.

are simply delicious when made into frosty, cooling drinks. Use the directions on the package for mixing, garnish with a cherry and sprig of mint and you have a drink without the trouble of extracting fruit juice. Use the fruit powders also for making light sherbets that solve the dessert problem nicely.

Sherbet.

(Makes over 1 quart)
1 package flavored fruit powder
1 cup heavy cream, well chilled
1 cup sugar
2 cups milk

Dissolve fruit powder and sugar in milk. Turn into freezing tray and freeze $\frac{3}{4}$ to 1 hour or until slushy. Whip cream until stiff. Add to first mixture and beat through until blended, keeping as cold as possible. Return quickly to freezing tray and freeze at coldest point. When frozen, set cold control back to normal.

The hotter the weather, the more willed you become. Nothing quite picks you up as a nice salad, and even the thought of cool, crisp greens brings back the starch to your spirits. Here are some suggestions which are perfect for summer:

*Ham-Supper Salad.
(Serves 4)

2 cups diced-cooked ham
1 cup diced celery
2 hard-cooked eggs, diced
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup mayonnaise

$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon sweet pickle relish
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon chili sauce
Salad greens

Combine first three ingredients. Then stir in next three ingredients which have been combined together. Mix thoroughly and chill until ready to serve. Serve on any desired salad greens.

Summer Dream Salad.
Watermelon balls
Grapefruit sections
Fresh whole raspberries
Pineapple segments
Orange sections
Honeydew slices
Blueberries
Mint

Salad dressing
Arrange fruit on a bed of salad greens according to a pattern. Serve with salad dressing and garnish with mint sprigs.

Salad Dressing.
2 tablespoons currant jelly
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup lemon juice
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup salad oil
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons granulated sugar or honey

2 teaspoons chili sauce
Crush jelly with fork and beat smooth. Add remaining ingredients and beat with hand beater until blended. Serve over fruit salad or mixed greens.

Sandwich Hints
In making sandwiches, soften butter or margarine before using. Avoid melting butter or margarine as it seeps into bread and makes a greasy filling.

A good way is to mix $\frac{1}{4}$ cup peanut butter, apple butter, or jelly with $\frac{1}{4}$ cup of butter to extend the butter supply. This makes enough spread for 18 slices of enriched bread.

Varieties of fruit-nut bread, orange bread or cheese bread make a combination that really is a victory special. Wise use of enriched flour saves needed ration points.

If you have a conning problem, write to Miss Lynn Chambers, Western Newspaper Union, 210 South Desplaines Street, Chicago, Ill. Please enclose a self-addressed envelope for your reply.

Company Nights

You may be on a strict ration budget, but it isn't necessary to ration hospitality if you plan the food and entertainment wisely. Food and pleasant conversation shaped with friends make the long, cool nights and work-filled days easier to share. Plan soon to have someone over for you can do it with today's recipes without stretching the ration or budget book out of joint.

Dishes should be hearty enough to satisfy any man-sized appetites you encounter, but—pretty enough to draw compliments, too. Have things easy to fix so that you can have plenty of time to take part in the social activities of the evening.

Enlist the help of the children in setting up the tables, polishing silverware and glasses. They'll like doing it and it will ease the load on you.

Baked beans are grand for fall entertaining and they really make those points go a long way. They certainly answer the need for heartiness to satisfy appetites fanned by the coolness in the air, and when served in attractive casseroles with gay table background, they answer the beauty requirement.

If you make the beans yourself, a little pork goes a long way when it travels with other such savory foods as mustard, molasses, brown sugar, tomato sauce and vinegar.

*Home Baked Beans.
(Serves 6 to 8)

2 cups navy beans
 $\frac{1}{4}$ pound fat salt pork
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cup brown sugar
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons molasses
1 small onion, quartered
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup catsup, if desired

Wash beans. Cover with water and soak them overnight. Cook slowly until the skins burst or until just tender.

Drain, reserving liquor. Place half the beans in bean pot or casserole. Bury a slice of pork in beans and another slice in the remaining ingredients. Add remaining beans and seasonings. Place remaining salt pork over the top. Cover with bean liquor. Cover and bake in a slow oven (250 to 300 degrees) 6 to 8 hours. If necessary, add more liquid.

Individual bean pots make serving simpler. The beans may be baked in small pots, or, if desired, baked in a large pot, ladled out into small pots before serving.

Relax your tight nerves and forget war worries by serving a delicious decaffeinated coffee—hot or cold. If making the coffee in a percolator, it needs slightly longer to bring out the full, rich coffee flavor.

Boston brown bread is the traditional accompaniment for baked beans. Slice it very thin, spread with butter or cream cheese, whichever suits your palate best.

Lynn Says:

Point Savers: Discarding leftovers is waste, for they can make many a meal, and a nice one. Use leftover meats or poultry and a combination of vegetables, and tuck that under a flaky pie-crust for a wonderful meat saver. Remember pie crust is packed with energy value because of the shortening.

Try high quality shortening for making pastry. It is fresh and sweet, doesn't have to be kept in the refrigerator and is of a nice texture to blend with flour.

To roll pie dough thin, cover board with a heavy muslin, and rolling pin with a child's white sock.

Mill Lake vs. Old Timers. One of the best games of the year was played on the local diamond Monday evening, July 31, and the Old Timers once again proved they deserved consideration when the Camp's outstanding team is chosen this fall to play the Wallied City's best for by defeating such a team as Mill Lake Counselors, a team that hasn't lost a game in two years, gives the Old Timers the privilege of going about camp smiling and content with the feeling that the youngsters will now listen when they speak about softball. Last Friday the Cassidites (student team) dropped their game to the Mill Lake club by a score of 11 to 0.

Chelsea Springs vs. Cassidites: The vast improvement in team play the Cassidites have shown in the past month is responsible for their last three wins. And after winning from Chelsea Springs they have every hope of being in on the final play-offs. We do hope that the Chelsea Spring ball club will be one of the teams to help decide the pennant.

Our Thanks of the Week goes to Rev. Skentelbury, pastor of the Congregational church, Chelsea, for the honor of taking part in Sunday services. The friendliness of the congregation and their apparent enjoyment of our choir's renditions were heartwarming. The entire personnel of this camp wishes to express their sincere thanks to the ladies of the church for the delicious cakes and ice cream, which we enjoyed at our Sunday supper table. Our Camp Director, Lieut. Parish, extends an open invitation to all members of the Congregational church to visit Cassidy Lake Honor Camp at any time.

Colvia, son of Mrs. Elva Hildebrandt of Detroit, took place Thursday evening, July 27 at 8 o'clock at St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church in the presence of the immediate families. Rev. P. H. Grabowski performed the double ring ceremony.

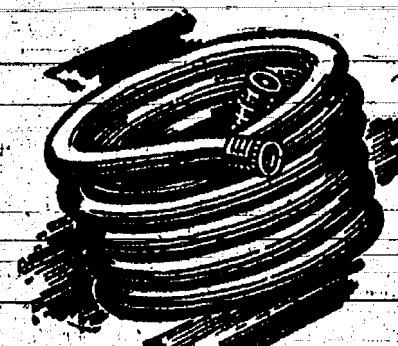

The bride chose a floor length gown of powder blue sheer, made with a sweetheart neckline, and a matching net fingertip veil and a tiara of small white carnations. She wore an heirloom necklace belonging to the groom's sister, and carried an arm corsage of white gladioli and blue bachelor buttons.

Her sister, Miss Evelyn Lehmann, was her maid of honor and wore a similar gown of dusty rose sheer and a shoulder corsage of pink roses and blue bachelor buttons.

Donald Hildebrandt of Detroit, the groom's brother, was best man. The bride is a graduate of Chelsea high school, Class of '41, and is at present employed at the Federal Screw Works. The groom is with the U. S. Coast Artillery, stationed at Fort Miles, Del.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gage, daughter Patricia, and Mary Ann Gage moved to Fort Huron on Sunday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilcox. Mary Ann remained for a longer visit.

Let these guys start it!

There's a day coming when the enemy will be licked, beaten, whipped to a fare-thee-well—every last vestige of fight knocked out of him.

And there's a day coming when every mother's son of us will want to stand up and yell, to cheer ourselves hoarse over the greatest victory in history.

But let's not start the cheering yet.

In fact, let's not start it at all—over here. Let's leave it to the fellows who are doing the job—the only fellows who will know when it's done—to begin the celebrating.

Our leaders have told us over and over again that the smashing of the Axis will be a slow job, a dangerous job, a bloody job.

And they've told us what our own common sense confirms: that if we at home start throwing our hats in the air and easing up before the job's completely done, it will be slower, more dangerous, bloodier.

Right now, it's still up to us to buy War Bonds—and to keep on buying War Bonds.

Let's do that. Let's keep bearing down till we get the news of final victory from the only place such news can come: the battle-line.

If we do that, we'll have the right to join the cheering when the time comes.

By GENE ALLEMAN
GAYLORD—"Holy Mackinaw! So you think this 1944 summer is hot and dry 'Hump!"

"Old Eagle Eye" Jim Bunyon, the same old spindly-legged, tobecco-chewing printer of yore, squinted through his spectacles as he snorted. The tone of his voice was enough to indicate an old-timer's scorn.

We hadn't encountered Jim since we visited Gladstone last August, when we were surprised to find him, busy at his printer's trade, at the office of Paul MacDonald's Otsego County Herald-Times here. En route to a publisher's meeting at Sault Ste. Marie, from whence next week's Mirror will be written, we paused for a minute while Jim unfolded the story.

"I was just a youngster, that summer of 1871. Pappy was working in a sawmill at Alpena, and I was being weaned on a plug of Kentucky. There's never been a town in Michigan so burned out as Alpena. Back in 1862 the slash in the cut-over lands caught on fire, and flames raced along Thunder Bay river, wiping out the big sawmill of Lockwood and Minor. Alpena was left a smoking ruin.

"Alpena folks built her up again, but forest fires returned in 1868, and 1867, and 1869. By the year of 1871, Alpena lumberjacks were kinda getting lonesome. The town hadn't burned down for two years, and life was almost in a rut.

"That big fire of 1871 came after a long, dry summer. The sun shone day after day, and nary a cloud appeared in the sky. Crops were parched, and by the time of Sunday, Oct. 8, the whole northern country was crisp as tinder.

"Holland was the first town to be hit by forest fire, fanned by a high wind. The Hope College town was pretty near razed to the ground. College buildings were in smoldering ruins, and 73 business houses were cleaned out. At Manistee, some 150 miles north of Holland, the fire jumped out of the woods Sunday afternoon and destroyed 206 homes.

"At Lansing the Michigan Aggie students turned out and saved the state capitol. Yes sirree! And in Midland county the shingle mills of George Rockwell, Collier & Garber, and Reardon & Anderson, and Downers, all at Midland, were laid waste. Gratiot county, too, was badly hit, while flames raced through the entire Saginaw valley from St. Charles to Birch Run.

"And up in the Thumb! Why the forest fires on that same Sunday, Oct. 8, back in 1871, destroyed a lot of bustling towns, such as Sand Beach, Huron City, Elm Creek, Richmondville, Forestville and White Rock. Most likely you never heard of White Rock; except on a bottle. White Rock was a booming town, on paper anyway, and when Douglass Houghton, state geologist, visited it on his way to northern Michigan, it was just a naked rock, plastered with seagulls' droppings, where White Rock creek emptied into Lake Huron.

"Other towns in the fires' path were Ulysses, Bad Axe, Port Huron, Tawas City and Cass City. The big lumber town of Saginaw was spared, somehow, although five buildings were destroyed over in East Saginaw.

"All in all, about two million acres of land were blackened by the great fire of Oct. 8 in the Lower Peninsula alone. And up in the U. P.—well, maybe you've heard of the big Peshtigo disaster seven miles south of Marinette in Wisconsin. This story was reported by Luther B. Noyes in his Marinette and Peshtigo Eagle which he had started in June of that year. More than 600 persons died in a raging inferno that swept Peshtigo.

"My pappy often told me that this Oct. 8, 1871 fire was the greatest forest fire in the history of the United States. They estimate the total dead at 1,152 of whom more than 600 were lost at the town of Peshtigo.

"But strangely enough, this 1871 disaster up in the north country and across the lower peninsula of Michigan wasn't reported in the newspapers for several weeks. Not that the journals in those days weren't on the job. They were. Their headlines for many days were all about another news story you've heard about. The Chicago fire started also on Sunday, Aug. 8, and it was weeks before Harper's Weekly printed anything about Michigan and Peshtigo. Can you beat that?"

Gaylord, with its altitude of 1,350 feet, has had its fires too. Paul MacDonald, who owns the local newspaper, tells of the time when the smoke of great forest fires could be seen on all sides of the town.

To old-timers such as Jim Bunyon and his tribe, forest fires have been a familiar part of the life of Michigan's north country. In the fall of 1923 a fire sprung up near Silver City, in the Porepines, and swept over at least 500,000 acres of timber, and several lumbering camps. Near Escanaba, as late as 1938 a forest fire burned stubbornly from August to September 29, despite the efforts of more than 600 men.

Michigan, once a lumber-producing state, has become a great industrial empire, world-famous for its automobiles and furniture and other products. Its north country is becoming, more and more, the healthful haven for vacation-seeking city dwellers from cities through the mid-west.

And when the hot and dry summers appear, a few ageless natives, such as

Jim Bunyon, scan the cloudless skies and sniff the air and then spin those yarns about old Michigan when lumber was king and forest fires were something to tell your children about.

We almost forgot to tell you about Jim Bunyon's grand-pappy. He was a Michigan lumberjack whose stature was befitting such a great state. Yep, his first name was Paul.

Flu Inhalants Use of inhalants of finely atomized specific anti-serum for the prevention and treatment of influenza is not now desirable. The Journal of the American Medical Association for December 18 warns. It says that it has just been reported that serious reactions and death have occurred among animals being tested with such a procedure and that further human studies should be pursued with great caution.

Flu Contagious Flu is very contagious, especially when the patient coughs and sneezes. A person who does not cover his cough or sneeze deserves prompt and emphatic crowd disapproval, as he is a thoroughgoing saboteur. He should reach the height of his unpopularity in movie theaters and any other crowded places where it isn't absolutely necessary for him to be.

Summertime Meal Suggestions Given

When the weather is hot, the home-maker's thoughts turn to keeping cool while cooking, and to serving meals not too hot and heavy. Here are some summertime hints from extension home economists at Michigan State college.

First, continue to serve balanced meals—the kind that include during the day milk, fruit, a green and yellow vegetable, and so on. Anyone who does the same job the year round needs enough calories in food to provide for the energy spent.

Keep meals simple. Dishes that take short cooking and little preparation often have the most appetite appeal on a hot day. Many egg dishes are quick to prepare. Cooking on top of the stove leaves the kitchen and the cook cooler than baking.

Make the most of fresh vegetables and fruits. They are natural summer foods; neither rich nor calorie-loaded. Raw juicy fruits make quick, appetizing desserts. Serve raw crisp vegetables often—carrot strips, turnip or cucumber strips, wedges of cabbage, pieces of cauliflower and sliced or quartered tomatoes.

If iced beverages are the family choice, do not let them prevent the family from getting the regular quota of milk in some form, such as in cooked foods, cheese or ice cream. Milk itself is refreshing when served cold, as it should be to keep safely.

If there is a porch or other place to eat, cooler than where meals are regularly served, this change of setting adds to comfort at mealtime.

Serving cafeteria-style, letting the family fill their plates at the stove, saves one person from taking many trips back and forth on a hot day.

Timber Sales In selling timber, a farmer must compare bids from buyers on the basis of the log-scale used. It pays to take 10 per cent less on sales by International or Scribner rule than by Doyle rule, since the Doyle rule underestimates the timber particularly in small logs.
