With Our Men In Service

SGT. ALLSHOUSE

March 2, 1942 where he was stationed until August 1943 when he was sent to England for two or three months, then to Northern Ireland and stationed there until July 1944 when he was sent to France, where he is at present. Sgt. Allshouse was born in Lenawee county on May 23, 1914.

Mr. and Mrs. Allshouse received the following letter from Robert last week:

July 21, 1944.
Dear Folks:
Just a line to let you know that I am fine and hope you are too. I suppose you probably wondered why I haven't written before but we've made another move. This time it's France, so all the help you people give us on the production lines just helps hasten the time for this to get over.
I can't say very much on what we've been doing so will have to let your imagination take care of that. Maybe a little later when they aren't so strict I can give you a written picture of some of the scenes. Maybe you've already seen some real ones at the movies.
Well, space is short so will close. As ever—Bob.

Capt. Morris F. Bruckner, in command of the 688th Tank Destroyer Battalion in Italy, has sent to his parents, Rev. and Mrs. M. W. Bruckner, Rogers Corners, the following copy of a commendation issued to his battalion:

"The 688th Tank Destroyer Battalion is commended for outstanding performance of duty in action, on 13 and 14 September 1943, during the invasion of Italy. The 688th Tank Destroyer Battalion was assigned a 1500 yard sector in the vicinity of La Cosa Creek and the Calore River when an armored attack by the enemy was anticipated. Following two hostile air attacks, the expected armored assault was launched directly at the positions occupied by this battalion. Some of the enemy tanks succeeded in crossing La Cosa Creek, overrunning the positions held by the battalion's reconnaissance company. This emergency outpost line held, with members of the unit firing machine guns and rifles point blank into the approaching tanks and engaging the enemy vehicles with hand grenades. The enemy supported its attack with a heavy artillery concentration, but throughout the engagement the officers and men of the 688th Tank Destroyer Battalion courageously held their positions and delivered withering fire from their three-inch tank destroyer guns into the enemy armor. During the battle 14 Mark IV enemy tanks and one ammunition vehicle were destroyed and the enemy attack so overwhelmingly crushed that no further attempt was made in this sector. The courageous performance of each man in the battalion contributed materially to the prevention of a breakthrough which would have threatened the solidarity of the entire beachhead. The 688th Tank Destroyer Battalion's performance is worthy of emulation and reflects the highest traditions of the Army of the United States."

By command of Lieutenant General Clark.

Mrs. Stephen Slane returned Saturday from a ten-day visit with her husband in Gulfport, Miss. S-2C Slane is attending Armed Guard School at the U. S. Naval Training Center in Gulfport, as a gun crew captain, and wishes by this item to say "Hello" to all his friends in Chelsea.

Mrs. Edwin M. Dickelman (formerly Geneva Brown) received the following letter from a family in England where her husband, Edwin M. Dickelman, RM-8C, had been a guest:

July 11, 1944.

Dear Mrs. Dickelman:
You will probably be surprised to have a letter from a complete stranger, but your husband gave me your address and said that he thought you would like a letter. It has been so nice for us to have the chance of meeting your husband and his friends. They came here once or twice and spent the last week-end here before they were off to the Marshall Area, and to our great joy turned up again the Sunday before last and again on Sunday.

I know you will like to hear how your husband looks. The first Sunday after his return, he did look very shaky and nervous, but last Sunday looked so much better. They had such a very rotten time on the beaches, but he really did look fit again on Sunday. I thought you might like to hear this, I know husbands so often forget to say how they really are, and you being so far away, must be very anxious.

It has given us such great pleasure to have him here. It must be a little dull for him to come to see two middle aged people, but it just breaks the monotony of camp life and he has seen one type of English home. We have a small house and a pretty garden and we collected a good feast of fresh peas, which he sheltered for me and we all feasted on peas and home-produced eggs. We had difficulty at first in persuading your husband to have a meal with us, he was so afraid that he would be taking our rations and cutting us short, but we told him that garden and hens did their job so well that we could really manage it with comfort. In fact we do get plenty of food, its only fault being that it is rather monotonous, but we certainly get enough.

We are lucky too in being in the S. W. of England, away from the flying bombs, which are horrid things. People are standing up to them with the greatest courage, but they are very tired. They are far worse than the raids, which are unpleasant enough (as I know from personal experience).

If you were over here you would find our houses and ourselves very shabby after five years of war—very little paint on the houses and rather old clothes on ourselves, but we have got to the stage when personal possessions do not mean very much to us, if we are lucky enough to have those we love unharmed and ourselves alive that is all we worry about.

All the same, when you come over here for a holiday after the war, with your husband, as I hope you will, I expect a little of the shabbiness will have disappeared.

We are all hoping that the war will be over in the not too distant days, and I know you must feel the same. We both realize what a very anxious time you must be having, so far away from your husband. At any rate be assured that he is really looking fit again after those bad days after D-Day on the beaches.

With best wishes for your happiness now and always.

Yours very sincerely,
Katherine Carter,
Seaways, Coombe, Malborough,
Kingsbridge, S. Devon.

Another local boy now stationed in France is Cpl. James H. Grissom, who sent the following letter to his mother, Mrs. Hilda Grissom:

July 18, 1944.

Dear Mother:

Just a few lines to let you know I'm OK and feeling fine. Hope this letter finds you well.
I haven't had a letter or a paper from home for some time now. Would like to hear from all of you.

I had my Bond made bigger again and want you to let me know how they are coming through. Hope they are reaching you OK. Starting this month I put $75.00 in Bonds per month. Not bad, huh?

Well Mom, sure would like to see you and the kids. Give them my love and send me a snapshot if you can.

Am somewhere in France now. Will write again soon.

Jim.

Mr. and Mrs. John Myers, Wilkinson street, received word during the past week from their three sons now serving in the Army. A letter from Pvt. Clifford Myers says that he arrived safely in France on July 11. Pvt. Earl Myers writes that he is now serving as a squad leader at Camp Blanning, Florida, and Staff Sergeant Jay Myers has been transferred to Camp Breckenridge, Kentucky.

Herman Reed Injured In France On July 11

Notification has been received from the War Department by Mrs. Doris Reed of Whitmore Lake that her husband, Mr. Herman A. Reed, was injured during a battle in France on July 11 and is at present being treated in an English hospital. He writes home to his people that he is recovering satisfactorily.

Herman, who is the son of Mrs. Martha Wagner of Chelsea, has been on active duty in the European theater serving with the Army Combat Engineers since January. He completed his basic training at Fort Lewis, Wash., spent three months on maneuvers in Oregon and then returned home for a short furlough before being sent overseas. His wife and infant son, whom he has never seen, are living with Mrs. Reed's parents at Whitmore Lake.

Advice On Polio Given By State Commissioner

A warning against removing tonsils during the polio season was sent to all health officers in the state early in August by Dr. William DeKleine, State Commissioner of Health. This message stated, "The presence of poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) cases in Michigan raises the question of the danger of the removal of tonsils during the polio season. There is very suggestive evidence to indicate that the removal of tonsils may predispose children to an attack of poliomyelitis. This evidence furthermore suggests that the type of poliomyelitis most commonly observed in tonsillectomized children is of a severe type."

Eighty-two cases of poliomyelitis occurred in Michigan during July, compared with eleven cases in July 1943. Ordinarily poliomyelitis increases during the summer months, reaching its peak in September. Only once in the past ten years have there been this many cases of polio so early in the season, according to Dr. DeKleine. In 1939, a total of 82 cases were reported in July and 885 in August. Polio caused 40 deaths during the 1939 epidemic.

SEAMAN EISEMANN HONORED

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Eiseemann and son of Ann Arbor were guests on Tuesday evening.

HONOR SON AND DAUGHTER

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bycraft entertained at a 7:30 lawn pot-luck dinner party Saturday evening in honor of their daughter, Rita, and son Charles Jr., both of whom were home on furloughs—Rita from Seattle, Wash., and Charles from Wildwood, N. ## 24 Years Ago

Thursday, August 12, 1920

O. C. Burkhardt has purchased N. H. Cook's 123-acre farm in Sylvan. Consideration, $12,300.

Adam Eppel underwent an operation for chronic appendicitis, at St. Joseph's sanitarium, Ann Arbor.

M. J. Noyes received a telegram Monday morning announcing the death of his brother, Kirk W. Noyes, of South Haven. Mr. Noyes was a veteran of the Civil war, and an officer of his regiment.

The airplane that made several flights here Thursday and Friday flew so low over the farm of Jacob Hummel that his team with which he was dragging became frightened and ran away. One of the horses was badly cut by being caught in the drag.

Several head of registered Jersey heifers belonging to Fred Notten were killed on the Michigan Central tracks the latter part of last week. Fred Mensing lost one at the same time. The cattle were being driven home and ran over the cattle guard onto the track.

The marriage of Mrs. Diana E. Russell and Mr. Elmer E. Smith of Chelsea took place at the Congregational parsonage Aug. 11. Rev. P. W. Dieberger officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left after the ceremony on a short eastern trip.

Nail-Making Patents

As many as 120 patents for nail-making machinery were granted between 1790 and 1825.

34 Years Ago

Thursday, August 11, 1910

Reports from southern Michigan indicate that the early potato crop is nearly a total failure because of dry weather and extreme heat.

Christian Miller, for the past thirty-four years a resident of Sylvan, died at his home in that township, Monday, Aug. 8. He was born in Germany Jan. 18, 1828. Mr. Miller immigrated to this country in 1853. He was married in 1858 to Miss Mary Lehman, who died four years ago. He is survived by one son, John H. Miller of Sylvan, and a daughter, Mrs. Henry Riemenschneider of Port Huron; four grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Interment in Oak Grove cemetery, Rev. J. E. Beal officiating.

Master Paul Willis Kern, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kern, Jr., Sylvan, died Aug. 7 at the age of six.

The second annual sports day celebration of the Chelsea Fire Dept. was held Wednesday and a good sized crowd was present to enjoy the day. The program of sports was a good one and events were nearly all won by men of the community. The horse race was won by horses owned by R. B. Waltrous, first; Wm. Wheeler, Jr., second; Mr. Dettling, third. The new arch lights on Main St. were turned on for the first time and proved a very attractive feature of the evening, lighting up the streets in better shape than ever before.

RIEMENSCHNEIDER REUNION

Mrs. P. H. Riemenschneider was hostess to 60 members of the Riemenschneider family at their annual reunion on Sunday, when a potluck dinner was served at 1:30 at her home on Cavanaugh Lake Rd.

At the business meeting following the dinner, Lawrence Riemenschneider was elected to serve as president and Mrs. Lawrence Riemenschneider as secretary for 1945, when the reunion will be held the first Sunday in August at their home, 175 Park St., Chelsea.

Features of the afternoon program were the address of welcome by Walter Riemenschneider; a talk by Rev. Lewis Green; a solo, "The Lord's Prayer," by Rex Broesamle, and brief talks by P. M. Broesamle, F. W. Notten and T. G. Riemenschneider. "Blest Be The Tie That Binds" was sung in closing.

Seal Forage

Forage should be cut fine and thoroughly packed with moisture enough to seal tight without leaking.

By GENE ALLEMAN

Sault Ste. Marie—Here at one of the oldest and most famous points of North America, Sault Ste. Marie presents today—anno domini 1944—a convincing and powerful argument that the day of American military isolationism from Europe is forever gone.

The new meets the old amid dramatic surroundings.

Here at the first permanent settlement begun by Europeans in Michigan, 200 years before Fort Dearborn was built among the wild onions that the Indians called "Chicago," is located the war department's headquarters for the air defense of 17 Mid-West states.

And only because the German Luftwaffe has been beaten from the skies of Europe and the filthy Nazis are once more on the run in Normandy and Italy and on the Russian front, citizens of Sault Ste. Marie no longer view anti-aircraft balloons day after day and 10,000 volunteer airplane watchers no longer scan the northern skies, in shifts round the clock, from northern Michigan to Labrador.

Returning to Sault Ste. Marie after a year's absence, this reporter was newly impressed with the strategic importance of this town of 18,000 souls along the St. Mary's river between Canada and the United States.

The war department released a news item at Washington a few days ago, telling how more than 10,000 American airplanes had been sent to Russia under lend-lease. Highly significant was this fact: Approximately 5,000 of these planes were flown to Russia over the northern circle route by way of Alaska! Delivery of Yank aircraft is being made in 1944 in this manner—over the Bering sea between Alaska and Russia, a route heretofore considered by the public as barred to air transportation because of natural hazards.

Modern air power has annihilated space. Sault Ste. Marie, hub of the only international military zone on our North American continent, is proof of this truth.

It was our privilege, one year ago, to inspect the army air defense headquarters here at the Soo. Then the peril of German raids across the northern circle from Europe was a military reality. Throughout the Upper Peninsula and in many northern counties of Michigan, as well as hundreds of distant outposts in Canada's vast wilderness, volunteer airplane watchers were on the job, each hour of the day, ready to dispatch information by telephone to the Soo headquarters any minute an enemy plane was sighted. Col. Norman M. Nelson, commanding officer, led us into the control room where uniformed Wacs were on duty to receive telephone messages and to place signal flags upon a large flat regional map.

On his desk was a small globe. Colonel Nelson picked it up. He pointed to Sault Ste. Marie.

"Here is the most direct route from Europe to the United States," he said. "If an enemy wanted to attack us, the St. Mary's canal locks at the Soo would offer a vital target. Munition plants in the Mid-West—Detroit, Chicago, and elsewhere—would be next. Yes, the Soo is our front line defense."

Remembering the city's ring of military airports, the concrete strips of which are wide as super-boulevards, we nodded in understanding.

It was Jacques Marquette, the Catholic explorer-priest, who established the first settlement of Europeans in Michigan at Sault Ste. Marie. Thus you have the ever-astonishing fact that this northern city antedates all but two cities on the North American continent and the entirety of Michigan.

Father Marquette founded a church for 2,000 Indians who lived along the loud rapids of the river here. He had left France in 1666 at the age of 29. Marquette's arrival had been preceded by Etienne Brule, the first man to reach the northern lakes, who visited the rapids in 1612.

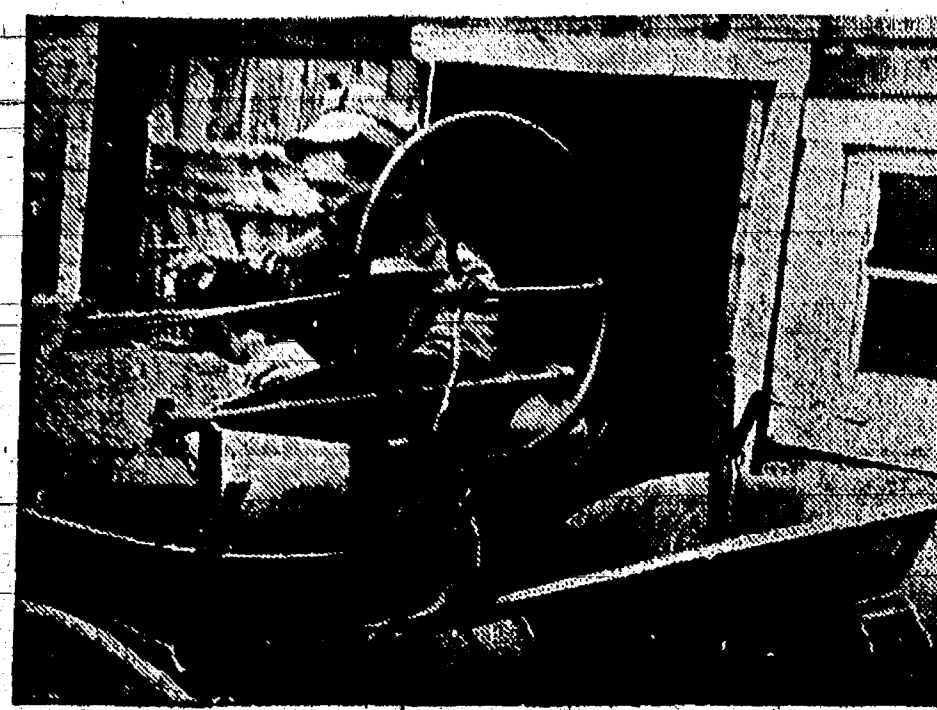

When the Jesuit priests first gazed upon this spot, they are said to have exclaimed "Sault" (falls) and later "Sainte Marie," believing that only the Blessed Virgin could possibly approach anything so beautiful.

To the north lies the Canadian Laurentians, for the most part a vast wilderness known to Canadians as the "bush."

The abundance of the whitefish in St. Mary's river, together with the availability of maple sugar at Sugar Island, had provided a paradise for the Chippewas. To the west was Gitchie Gumee, Lake Superior, the greatest body of fresh water in the world with a depth of 1,800 feet, 800 feet below sea level. This was the land of Hiawatha, made famous by Longfellow and first recorded by Henry Rowe Schoolcraft in his "Algic Researches."

The story of Sault Ste. Marie is the tale of an American northern frontier

OVERHEAD GAS BARRELS SAVE TIME

For a long time, Jim Besko, St. Johns RFD route 6, went through the usual chore of climbing on a chicken crate, ladder, or perching one foot in the tractor drive pulley while lifting a five-gallon can of gasoline to the rim of a high gasoline tank funnel. With the advent of metered gasoline delivery trucks, Mr. Besko mounted his gasoline storage barrels overhead in a shed, making possible the transfer of gasoline by gravity through a hose to the tractor. He attached an ordinary kitchen anti-splash faucet strainer to strain the gasoline before it enters the tractor tank. Often he lets the gasoline run into the tractor tank while he greases some part of the tractor or tool, thus doing two jobs at the same time.

The importance of this labor-saving device begins to be realized after one has handled 30 gallons of gasoline a day for a few days in the old way in five-gallon lots, says Mr. Besko. (Furnished through courtesy Michigan State College Extension Service and Agricultural Engineering Department.)

which saw in 1944, just a century ago, the sinking of the first shaft for copper at Copper Harbor in the Keweenaw peninsula.

The copper boom led to building of the Soo canal which was finished in 1855. Before the canal's completion, 15 large boats totaling 3,000 tons had been hauled over the portage (now Portage street). Soo merchants opposed the canal because of the portage revenues, and so did the military at Fort Brady for selfish reasons. Henry Clay denounced the venture in Congress as "a work beyond the remotest settlement in the United States, if not in the moon!"

Captain Eber Ward, largest owner of lake steamships in the 1850's, said the canal locks were "entirely too large" to be financed successfully.

In this summer of 1944 a ceaseless fleet of lake boats traverses through the St. Mary's locks, carrying iron ore from the Mesabi, Gogebic and Marquette iron ranges and copper from the Keweenaw trap range at Houghton.

The armored might of American armies in France and Italy has been dependent, for the most part, on production of tanks and cannons and other mechanized equipment and munitions made out of steel and copper.

Here at Sault Ste. Marie is the vital artery through which go ore-carrying boats linking the mines to "arsenals of democracy."

Look at the globe, and you'll see for yourself why the United States must henceforth protect the Mid-West, as well as the strategic locks, from possible enemy air attack by maintaining strong defenses at the Michigan Soo.

This fact alone, indisputable in its logic, should add an attractive "lure" to Michigan's postwar tourist trade. The Soo locks thus become a symbol of American vigilance for security and peace.

Land o' Lakes

Lakes of all sizes and shapes dot Canada, exceed some of the Great Lakes on the border. Waterways provide easy access to the heart of the country. Nearly half the Dominion's area is drained by three great rivers, the St. Lawrence, the Nelson, and the Mackenzie. No difficult natural obstacles divide their basins. Travel by boat or canoe throughout northern and eastern Canada has been fairly easy.

HOME COOKING

By RUTH TAYLOR

What America needs is old fashioned home cooking. You know the kind I mean. Those big hearty country dishes that simmered in an iron pot on a big stove for hours, and that came to the table in a steaming aroma that made your mouth water. Cooked slowly, you could distinguish the taste of every ingredient so blended together that it made a delicious whole.

Pressure cooking may be modern—but as a people we resent it. We want to know what is cooking. We want to see what is in the pot. We want to know what we are eating. We don't want our vegetables and meat so mixed we can't tell which is which. We are a beef stew country. And we want our stew made just right. Not one of those quick conglomerations hastily thrown together—but a carefully blended dish with due respect shown to the beef and the onions, the carrots and the potatoes. Any good cook knows the longer you simmer it together, the better it is. In fact the old school holds it should never be eaten until the second day!

Another analogy. We are mixed pickles—all ingredients needed and none better than any other. Each at its best and each adding to the favor. You know, after all we have a right to be pretty proud of our melting pot. Our nation grew from transplanted stock—and like a fruit tree, the transplanting and grafting have worked to give better fruit.

This admixture of other bloods, this heterogeneity has been our strength in the past. It will be our strength and safeguard in the future. Not for us the deadly monotony of uniformity. The spice that adds zest and savor to the dish comes from the mixing of the ingredients.

This does not imply that any one ingredient in our national life must be more predominant over any other. This does not mean that each ingredient must be separate and apart—cooked in compartments where the aroma cannot blend. It does mean that the cooking of the national "stew" must be a drawing from all ingredients of their finest, a utilization of them so as to draw out their goodness and to combine it so as to blend the flavor of each separate ingredient into a harmonious whole.

We don't want formulas or short cuts. We want home cooking, not pressure cooking—and we are not afraid to set up our national dish against that of any other nation!

Leave Jobs

Twenty thousand workers leave their jobs in the aircraft plants every month. Average of 66 per cent give "personal reasons" for quitting: marriage, want a vacation, returning to former job, etc.

Cassidy Lake News

Cassidy Lake personnel are busy preparing the buildings and grounds to make welcome the members of the Michigan Press Association, who are holding a group meeting at this camp Saturday, August 12. The camp's public address system is being put in order so that the following program of class A entertainment will be presented at its best. The Airliners Orchestra, masters of sweet and swing, will open and accompany throughout other featured acts. The Swanee Quartette, radio singers of songs, old and new, are sure to please all. Brown Buddies, artists of tap and shuffle dancing, make their first appearance with a new routine of steps. A fast moving Hill-Billy Band, the Arkansas Ramblers, featuring the Haynes brothers, singers of western ballads, will surely win the approval of those present. For the final act those present will witness the Walled City's famous Zouave Drill Team, perfectionists in precision close-order drill. This fine program of entertainment was arranged by Warden Harry H. Jackson and Camp Director Geo. F. Parish.

At a recent meeting of the maintenance softball team they elected to call their club the "Cassidy Lake Bombardiers." A fitting name for a club which possesses the fighting spirit and team-work they have shown since its organization. They are to play the deciding game of a home and home series on the Munnith Leaguers diamond, August 9. Previous scores were: Bombardiers 10, Munnith Leaguers 9; second game, Munnith Leaguers 8, Bombardiers 5. The deciding game should be hard fought and well played as both teams are eager to register a win.

Of the many achievements that can be directly attributed to Cassidy Lake Honor Camp, none is so proudly acknowledged by officials and inmates alike as that of being partly responsible for the training of men who have left this camp since its inception eight months ago. All of these men have returned to and are filling their rightful places in society. The officials who have pioneered and fought for this form of correction are justly proud of this fine record.

Fox Damage Will Be Controlled By Trapping

Lansing—A plan worked out by the conservation department to control fox damage by trapping the animals in areas where losses are excessive and by instructing farmers in methods of trapping goes into effect this week.

Trapper-instructors have received final instructions and are assigned to trouble areas in southern counties.

The department has $20,000 to use for fox control, a special appropriation voted by the legislature early this year. Conservation commissioners turned down bounty payment proposals in favor of the trapper-instructor method of control, basing their decision on the department's successful application of the latter plan in controlling coyote damage in 1937 and 1938.

The 1937 legislature voted $75,000 for coyote control that year and a like amount for the year following, $50,000 to be spent annually for bounty payments and $25,000 annually for salaries and expenses of trapper-instructors. The department's contribution toward bounty payments was fixed as a sum not to exceed $40,000 annually. First time bounty payments have gone over the $40,000 mark since was during the fiscal year ended last June 30, when it was necessary to ask the state administrative board for permission to use $5,000 additional of law enforcement to cover bounty obligations.

Trapper-instructors, back in 1937 and 1938, took enough nuisance animals in trouble areas to satisfy sheep raisers, the principal complainants, and taught enough farmers to trap coyotes to effectively check complaints since that time.

County agricultural agents will work closely with the department in carrying on the present fox control program, receiving reports of damage to be turned over to trapper-instructors and arranging meetings of farmers which will be addressed by department representatives.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT—

With the temperature in the nineties on Saturday, a car was stuck on the ice in the village parking lot—and this is absolutely a true story. This is how it happened: A lady (name unknown) had purchased a cake of ice and placed it on the front bumper of her car. As she started to drive the ice fell off and the front axle of her car came to rest on top of the ice, immediately melting a groove in the ice so that it was impossible to move the car either forward or backward. Another lady (name known but not for publication) came to the rescue with her car, pushing the stalled car across the parking lot until it finally got off the ice. So, motorists are warned to carry their chains at all times, as they may become stranded on ice in most any temperature.

CAVANAUGH LAKE GRANGE Cavanaugh Lake Grange met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allmendinger, Crooked Lake, on Tuesday evening for an outdoor picnic. After a short business meeting, the program opened with group singing and readings were given as follows:

"Why Worry"—Tena Riemenschneider.

"The Picnic Grove"—Bertha Notten, "Teaching Us To Drive"—Irene Proctor.

The children enjoyed swimming.

British Food

Check Lambs Now For Worm Trouble

Michigan sheep owners are urged to inspect their lambs carefully to make certain that worms are being controlled. Even though phenothiazine may be in the salt, lambs may be too heavily infested to get a sufficient amount for worm control, warns E. L. Benton, extension specialist in animal husbandry, Michigan State college.

Thin lambs on good pasture indicate parasite trouble. If several thin lambs are present, they should be given individual treatment. A 12½-gram phenothiazine capsule may be used, or if the lambs are small, a drench of ¼ ounce of phenothiazine powder per lamb should be given. Benton suggests: "Mix one pound of phenothiazine and a small quantity of water to creamy consistency. Add one pound of molasses and enough water to make 1 1-3 quarts of liquid. Two ounces of this solution may be given lambs under 60 pounds, or 4 ounces to sheep weighing over 60 pounds.

Benton mentions that this material is insoluble and must be stirred constantly. If mixed the night before using, little trouble is encountered with it. The mixture may be given the sheep in a drenching syringe or a pop bottle. Some commercial phenothiazine carries a wetting agent and will mix with water alone. Instructions on the container will carry directions in that case.

If no dip has been applied to the flock for tick and lice control since shearing it should be done at the first opportunity. If a tank is not available, the lambs may be dipped in a wooden tub or barrel. The solution may be poured or sprayed over the ewe flock after crowding them together. If an arsenical dip is used, one treatment per year is sufficient.

Lambs, when parasites are controlled, should go to market off pasture, before any dry feed is necessary and should bring a price above that paid for feeder lambs.

Detailed directions for controlling sheep parasites are contained in Extension Folder F-52, a copy of which may be obtained from your county extension office.

WEDDINGS

At a candlelight service performed Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock in St. Paul's church before an altar decorated with palms and baskets of white gladioli, Miss Virginia Valdeen, daughter of Mrs. Grace Taylor, became the bride of Lt. Lawrence C. Dietle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dietle. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. P. H. Grabowski, pastor of the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Paul P. Belser, wore a white gown with satin bodice and a white marquisette skirt which extended into a short train. Satin and tulle trimmings and her hair and fingernail veil, fell from a net Juliet cap. Her bridal bouquet was of white roses centered with gladioli.

Miss Helen Grabowski, as maid of honor, wore a gray blue dress with a full skirt and a deep square neckline. A matching half-hat was trimmed with pink rose buds and she wore pink lace mitts.

The two bridesmaids, Miss Marilyn Ford and Miss Patricia Jones of Dearborn, wore identical gowns of dusty rose faille and carried bouquets of blue bachelor buttons.

Sharon Dancer acted as flower girl. Her floor-length dress was white faille and she carried a basket of rose petals.

Marion Dietle attended his brother as best man and Frederick Belser, cousin of the bride, and Robert Shutes of Detroit, cousin of the groom, served as ushers.

As the guests were being seated, Miss Gwendolyn Price of Battle Creek sang "Because," and before the vows were spoken she rendered "I Love Thee."

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall for 125 guests. A four-tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table and low bowls of white gladioli and tall taperes completed the setting.

The bride is a graduate of Dearborn high school and attended Michigan State Normal College. The bridegroom graduated from Chelsea high school, class of 1942, and was recently commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Air Forces after completing bombardier training at the Carlisle, N. M. Army Air Field.

Lt. and Mrs. Dietle left Tuesday for Carlisle, where Lt. Dietle will be stationed as an instructor. Many beautiful gifts were received by the bride-elect at a shower given by Miss Marilyn Ford and Miss Patricia Jones at the former's home in Dearborn on Sunday, July 30. Guests from Chelsea included Mrs. Paul Belser, Mrs. C. F. Dietle, Mrs. Helen Grabowski and Mrs. Grace Taylor.

Cooperation Is Urged By Post Office Dept.

Cooperation of the public is urged by the Post Office Department in the following message:

Transportation and communication systems are important necessities in any emergency. The present emergency is no different, in fact its magnitude has severely burdened these systems.

Despite the loss of experienced help the Post Office Department has not only shouldered this additional burden but also encouraged the sending of frequent morale building gifts and messages to the armed forces, both in the United States and overseas.

Ways and means have been and still are sought to simplify mail handling, in an effort to avoid delay of this added burden. Many have been suggested and adopted. Others have proven to be of no benefit. Many require the cooperation of the mailing public in preparation, presentation and addressing of mail.

The greatest boon to prompt mail handling has been the Postal Unit Numbering System, which was inaugurated in 122 large cities about 15 months ago to offset the loss of experienced mail clerks to the armed services. Addressing mail to these cities with the zone number after the name of the city, identifying the unit effecting delivery, has most successfully provided an opportunity to use inexperienced help on a part-time basis. Currently a good share of available help is school youngsters, working only a few hours each day or every other day, in order that school work may also be kept up.

Thus far a fine response has been shown by the mailing public in adopting the numbering system. Without it and this cooperation serious mail delays would be common and prompt handling extraordinary. While good results have been achieved, there are still many mailers who fail to address mail in this manner. This has been especially noted with respect to mail sent by people residing in cities where the numbering system has not been instituted, to correspondents living in those that have.

There are six cities in Michigan to which mail matter should be so addressed, namely Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Lansing and Pontiac. If your friends reside in these cities, ask them for their delivery zone number, jot it down and always use it when addressing mail to them. Postmaster Withersell will be glad to tell you the name of the other cities in the United States to which mail should be so addressed. Persons having lists of addresses in these cities should submit them to the postmasters concerned to be keyed to show zone numbers.

We will soon be into another holiday mailing season which always severely overtaxes the facilities, equipment, manpower and space of post offices. Now is the time to check mailing lists and learn the zone numbers of each address in large cities. Now is the time to shop because of scarcity of gift merchandise and start saving boxes and packing material which are difficult to obtain.

The mailing period to the armed forces overseas is September 15 to October 15.

Do your part—plan now to prepare and address mail correctly and also be ready to mail early.

WANTED—"HOLLIER" PLATE
A letter from a disabled veteran in Glendale, Calif., addressed to the Chelsea Chamber of Commerce was delivered to the village council. This veteran is a collector of antique automobile radiator name plates, and we publish the letter herewith in the hope that someone here may have what the veteran wants:

Glendale 8, Calif.
Chamber of Commerce,
Chelsea, Michigan.

Dear Sirs:
From 1915 to about 1925 there was an automobile manufactured in your city called the "Hollier," by the Lewis Spring & Axle Co.

I am a disabled veteran and have as my hobby the collecting of antique automobile radiator name plates, hub caps and serial plates, of which I now have plates off of 280 different cars, which I hope to let some museum have some day.

I would appreciate it very much if you could put me in touch with someone there that possibly could aid me in locating the Hollier plate, for which I am willing to pay a fair price or for that matter, any old Michigan auto emblems.

Thanking you, I am,
Sincerely,
E. J. Blackwell.

Vaccination of Hogs Will Prevent Cholera

Michigan farmers who immunize their hogs against cholera, well in advance of the time the disease usually occurs in the state, save themselves money and worry, says Dr. B. J. Killham, extension specialist in animal pathology, Michigan State college.

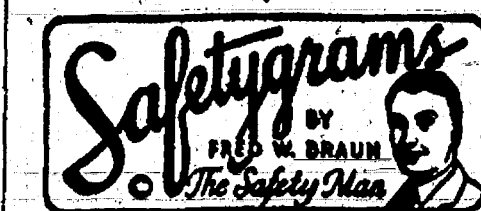

Most severe outbreaks of the disease occur in late summer and early fall. In 1943 more than two million hogs died from cholera in the United States.

Usually, only a single animal becomes sick at first. This animal may display symptoms that should warn the farmer to suspect cholera, Dr. Killham says. An affected animal at first shows lack of appetite. Later as the disease becomes more advanced, it shows signs of weakness, particularly in the hind legs and may walk in a characteristic, weaving manner. The animal should be isolated at the first symptoms and a veterinarian called to determine the trouble.

Use of the regular serum-virus, sometimes called the simultaneous or double treatment, on pigs that have not already contracted the disease gives lasting protection. To insure success, this treatment should be given by a trained veterinarian, Dr. Killham says. Recently, some newer products have been marketed that will provide protection, but these require a period of time before the animals are fully immunized. If it is necessary to protect the herd at once, the regular serum-virus treatment is the safest, Dr. Killham explains. This treatment will also afford protection to hogs that have been recently infected.

Many outbreaks of hog cholera have been traced to garbage. As a result, Michigan laws require that all hogs fed garbage coming from off the premises must be vaccinated.

Most of the conditions that cause accidents on our highways are created by us. We, the drivers, are responsible for the steadily mounting national traffic toll.

For instance, how many times have you come upon highway "visitors"—two cars parked directly opposite each other and headed in opposite directions? One may be on the shoulder and the other directly in the traffic lane.

At the same time, two other cars going in opposite directions are about to meet at this point, and because these "gag fests" are frequently over the brow of the hill, it is too late to stop. The result is a smash-up—a real "get-together"—involving four cars.

Many of these highway accidents could have been prevented had those involved used more care and common sense.

Let's put an end to thoughtlessness. Let's use our heads and save our lives.

WAC Enlistments Show Big Gain In Michigan

Lansing—WAC enlistments in the Lower Peninsula of Michigan showed an increase of 27 per cent in July over June, bringing the area from 75th to 15th place among the 59 recruiting districts of the United States, according to information transmitted to Capt. Donald S. Leonard, State Director of Civilian Defense, by Lt. Nina Muncy, Commanding Officer of U. S. Army Recruiting in District No. 1, Sixth Service Command.

While actual figures are restricted information, enlistments in the Women's Army Corps in the district for June and July combined were almost double those for the preceding two months, Lt. Muncy said.

Lt. Muncy attributes the upsurge mainly to the invasion and a revamping program in which the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense has, at request of the Army, taken over responsibility for all organized civilian cooperation in WAC recruiting. Although the Army-OCD program is in operation, it also is still being developed, leading to the expectation that when fully under way enlistments in the Lower Peninsula will show a further high increase. The Upper Peninsula is not included in the program as it comes under the jurisdiction of the Wisconsin Service Command.

"More and more women are realizing that their job in this war is serving with the WACs," Lt. Muncy said. "The further we advance into enemy territory, the greater the need for WACs. And every job a WAC fills brings us that much closer to victory. They have already proved their services are invaluable in all branches of the Army."

There are 239 jobs of various types open to WACs, ranging from assignments as typists, personnel work and telephone operators to technical jobs such as control tower operator, photographer or medical technician. WACs draw the same pay rate as men in equivalent ranks of the Army and enjoy the same financial and other security benefits.

Careful Management Aids In Breeding Good Rabbits

Good breeding and sound management provide the foundation of successful rabbit husbandry, R. E. Callender, wildlife specialist, says. The beginner, he says, may make the mistake of handling the rabbits too much, when they should be handled as little as possible.

"Never lift a rabbit by the ears or feet, but take hold of the loose skin over the shoulders with one hand and place the other hand under the hind quarters so that most of the weight will be supported from beneath," he cautions. "Keep the feet turned away from your body so that they won't be scratched. Fryers should be handled with special care so they will not be bruised and their value reduced."

It will pay rabbit raisers, whether they are producing meat for their own table or undertaking a commercial venture, to keep records, the specialist says. Notations should be made of the time of breeding, time of kindling, number in the litter, deaths, number weaned, the date of weaning, expenses, and receipts and other pertinent information.

Mr. Callender has other suggestions on the care of litters. Hutches should be cleaned thoroughly a day or so before the young are expected, and the doe should be provided with a nest box containing plenty of straw. When the rabbits are a day or so old, the weak ones should be disposed of. The number of rabbits left in the litter should not exceed the number which the mother can feed, which will be about six or seven, he points out. Sometimes the extras can be given to a nurse doe, Mr. Callender said.

Says Rate of Rejections Due to Youth Coddling

Coddling of the nation's youth by automobiles, double feature movies, and the radio is reflected in the recent War Manpower commission's announcement that more than 40 per cent of draft registrants are being rejected, according to Prof. Leon Kranz, head of Northwestern university's department of physical education.

"Before gas rationing it was a common practice to see youngsters riding to school in the family automobile," he said. "They sit through three or four hours at a stretch in the movies and then lounge before the radio for several more hours. These practices are going on at a time when the youngsters should be building bodies for the future."

"We are not beginning in this country to do a proper job of training our youth in helpful physical pursuits. When physical education was introduced it was not meant as a play period, but to take the place of something we had lost, namely muscular activity."

Americans have fallen a long way from physical grace, in Kranz's opinion. They have glorified the white collar worker and abandoned the use of the hands except for getting food to the body and dressing themselves. Even walking is avoided whenever possible, he said.

Don't Soak Vegetables

Fresh vegetables should be washed quickly but should not be allowed to stand in water. Vegetables are especially valuable as a source of vitamins but water will extract the vitamins before they are served. The outer leaves of cabbage and lettuce contain more minerals and vitamins than the inner bleached leaves contain.

Vegetables should be cooked as short a time as possible and should be served promptly. The cooking water will contain minerals and vitamins and should be used in gravies or soups. Soda destroys some of the food values of vegetables.

Vegetables cooked or baked in their skins are better food than those which are cooked after peeling. This cooking method also saves time and labor in preparing the meal. Peas should not be shelled until they are needed.

Tender cuts of meat should not be overcooked and should be cooked in an open pan. Less tender meat cuts should be browned, covered and cooked slowly in a minimum of water, and only until tender. Eggs should be cooked at low temperatures.

Draft Varies

The amount of draft in the chimney depends on the barometric pressure. This varies with the weather so that on some days the draft will be stronger than on others. Thus, it is possible that on a "muggy" day there will not be sufficient draft to take all the products of combustion out of the furnace, if the check-draft damper has been set for a clear, windy day. By reducing the opening in the check-draft door on the smoke-pipe the draft will be increased and smoke from this source eliminated.

Names Distinguish Quebec

Many towns and parishes in Quebec take their names from rivers; early explorers attached the names of their birthplaces in France to Canadian settlements; others perpetuated the names of early settlers; as new parishes developed, religious authorities gave each place a patron saint and the profusion of saints' names in Quebec bears testimony to the faith of the founders of the province.

Farm Inflationary Signs
Elements that might contribute to inflation continue to be seen at the end of the second quarter of this year as compared to the end of the same period last year, according to data made available by the Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Demand deposits in country banks, consisting largely of checking accounts, were up 28 per cent—an increase partly accounted for by large deposits of Government funds. These checking accounts would be inflationary if used to bid up the price of land and scarce goods. Another inflationary sign is that average per acre value of farm real estate as of July 1 was up 15 per cent over a year ago. For the quarter, cash receipts from farm marketings were up six per cent over a year ago and prices paid by farmers for the things they buy—including interest and taxes—were up five per cent. The only non-inflationary factor, more than offset by increased receipts from farm marketings, was a decline of one per cent in prices received by farmers.

Stories of Two Harvests
Many of the German prisoners of War captured in Normandy have volunteered to help with the harvest in Great Britain, according to a BBC broadcast reported to the Office of War Information. Inexperienced workers are paid six pence a day and experienced workers, one shilling. The broadcast also reported a story about the harvest in Northern Italy, where the facts were quite different. Italian patriots drove the German occupying troops from one village and captured the entire harvest, which was all ready for shipment to Germany.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Good morning, Doc. Your good wife tells me you're working night and day now that so many of the younger doctors are in the army."

"That's right, Judge, and I'm glad I'm able to do it. Had a long letter from Harry... that bright young fellow I was breakin' in to take over my practice. He said the boys in the service are getting the best medical care of any armed force in our history. They really should with all those brilliant doctors and plenty of supplies to work with."

"Speaking of supplies, Doc, not many people realize that a large part of the alcohol required to make the medical supplies that are being used right this minute to alleviate pain, combat infection and save human lives, is produced by the beverage distilling industry. I or nearly two years this entire industry has been working night and day producing nothing but alcohol for the government's program."

"Nobody knows better than I, Judge, what an important contribution to our war effort that has been."

He Makes The Miracles...

He doesn't have time to think about being a hero...

He's too busy winning the war.

When a landing is made, he often leads the way. When a river is crossed, he is among the first to go over. When a town or a pillbox is tough to crack, he moves in and cracks it wide open.

He's the guy they call on for miracles... and he makes 'em in his stride.

He's G. I. Joe... the doughboy... the mud-slogging Infantryman. He's doing one of the biggest jobs in the war... and it gets bigger every day.

Our job over here... the job of backing him up... is growing bigger and tougher, too... as we speed more men, more guns, more fighting equipment on the way to the front lines.

Last year, the nation's railroads hauled more passengers and freight than at any time in history. And this year, in spite of manpower shortages, they are carrying even more.

That's why we ask you—when you use the New York Central or any railroad—to remember that railway space is more vital today than it has ever been before... and that every inch must carry its full wartime load.

For only by even greater cooperation and understanding, on the part of shippers and receivers of freight and the traveling public, can we get the things done over here that help the doughboy make his "miracles" over there.

"My neighbor on the next street had a telephone installed. Why did he get one before me?"

Possibly your neighbor is a person to whom a telephone is essential in performance of important war duties, or for public health, welfare or security. Such orders come first today, and are filled promptly.

Or he may have moved from elsewhere in the same exchange or an adjacent one where he already had service. Or, it may be that your neighbor ordered a telephone before you did, in which case it's only right that he should have the preference. Such orders can be installed only as present users give up service. In handling them, we follow a uniform and fair procedure provided for in orders of the War Production Board and in tariffs filed with the proper regulatory bodies.

Problems like this are unavoidable in wartime, when the armed forces need almost all the telephone and other communications equipment that can be manufactured. We, too, will be glad when we again can supply all the service everybody needs—immediately.

Apples Stick

Apple and pear growers now are using new sprays and dusts containing a plant hormone or growth substance that practically eliminates pre-harvest drop of these fruits. This new means of increasing the salable yield of apples and pears was discovered by scientists of the department of agriculture. The first orchard trial in June, 1939, on an early summer variety of apple produced a striking result in two days—two bushels of windfalls under apples on the ground under two treated trees.

Frost Yourself!

When the thermometer rises to the hundred mark, homemakers look for cool ideas, and thirst-chasers are first on the list. Cooling drinks literally give you a frost and insulate you from the warm rays of Old Man Sun.

In today's column I'm attempting to give you a parade of cool drinks to fit every pocket, every occasion. They're fruit juices, prepared fruit beverages, prepared drink powders, milk, citrus fruit and of course, plenty of ice. After you've prepared them, find the coolest spot on the porch, sink into the most comfortable chair, and start sipping!

Chilling fruit, juices, milk or beverages is of first importance in preparing your cool drink, but then you've probably already done this. If a survey were made during these summer months, I'm sure it would reveal that a larger percentage of the refrigerator is used for cool drink preparations than any other item.

One of the best bases for a good, cool drink is a citrus fruit. Doesn't it honestly cool you already to think of orange or lemon juice cool and frosty in a glass with tinkling ice? Indeed, it does. There's a scientific fact behind this, for scientists tell us that in hot weather the tissues of the body require more vitamin C than when temperatures are moderate. That's one reason why oranges and lemons are ideal for summer drinks.

If you want something to serve company on a summer evening, here's a drink that will fill any order:

Hollywood Parade.
(Serves 15)

1 pint orange juice
1 pint orange sherbet
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1 pint chilled ginger ale

Beat orange juice, sherbet and ice cream with a whirl type beater until well mixed. Add ginger ale. Stir and serve at once.

Another kind of orange drink which is nice to fix individually for yourself in the afternoon when you're feeling a lag is this:

Orange Cream.
(Serves 1)

1 egg yolk
1/4 cup orange juice
1/4 cup thin cream or evaporated milk

Sugar, if desired

Beat egg yolk until light, add orange juice and blend thoroughly. Pour into glass and stir in cream. Sweeten to taste. Serve at once.

There are several delightful flavors obtainable in fruit powders that

The Score Card: Good news is in sight with the word that coffee supplies in the country are coming back to normal and present prospects point to an end of coffee rationing by the middle of August. Even the current period for rationing provides more coffee per stamp than has been allowed since rationing came into effect.

Those of you who are canning can get additional supplies of sugar with your stamps to make putting up fruit at home easier.

Fruits and vegetables are scarce this year because of lack of help to pick them, and therefore prices run high. If you possibly can, get in touch with anyone who has crops and offer to help with the picking and packing of them—and also to get your own fruits and vegetables for home canning in much better condition than would be possible if you waited for someone else to do the picking.

The eyes and the ears do not work in unison, it is disclosed by experiments involving simultaneous visual and auditory signals, according to the Better Vision Institute. In these tests the subjects were asked to observe accurately the position of a rapidly revolving hand on a dial at the instant a bell was struck. In relatively few cases did the subjects see and hear correctly the two signals. Most of the persons reported the position of the hand at an earlier or a later point than that at which the bell was rung.

Chile Raced France for Right to Magellan Straits

The storm-swept Straits of Magellan, only maritime link between Atlantic and Pacific until the Panama canal was built, might now be French had it not been for a tiny two-gun Chilean corvette of only 43 tons displacement.

The year 1843 found Chile with nominal control to the straits by virtue of old Spanish colonial grants, but without actual jurisdiction over them. International usage required a nation to establish a settlement, no matter how small, on unoccupied territories in order to claim them, and Chile had failed to meet that requirement.

First to attempt to establish claim to the southern tip of South America and dominate the straits was France. In the summer of 1843 the Phaeton, one of the fastest ships in the French navy, was outfitted for an unusually long voyage and set sail.

News of the French warship's journey across the Atlantic filtered into Chile, and as further reports were received, its destination and purpose became clear. President Bulnes ordered the two-gun corvette Ancud from the seaport of the same name to take possession of the strait for this country.

The Ancud, commanded by Capt. John Williams, an English sailor serving in this country's navy at the time, set sail with a crew of 23 and a month later—on September 21, 1843—dropped anchor off the site of present-day Magellan. A small group of convicts from the Ancud penitentiary was landed, and with a 21-gun salute the Ancud claimed the southern extremity of the continent for Chile by establishing a penal colony on the spot.

Date Production in U. S. Has Trebled Since 1933

Production of dates in the United States has increased to an annual harvest of approximately 15 million pounds, three times the peak of ten years ago.

Dates are raised commercially in the Southwest where the annual yield now approaches a third of the normal import figure, says the National Geographic society. California has more than 3,500 acres planted to dates, mostly in the Coachella and Imperial valleys. Arizona's 700 acres are in the vicinity of Phoenix and Yuma. Texas grows dates in the lower Rio Grande valley, and between Laredo and San Antonio.

Early in the present century government scientists surveyed world sources to find the date palm best adapted to various U. S. climates and soils, going to North African oases, to the Valley of the Nile, to Iraq, and even to Baluchistan. Thousands of date palm offshoots were brought back for domestication in California and Arizona.

Winter Legumes

Winter legumes serve a number of purposes, the agronomists say. They decrease leaching and the loss of soluble fertilizer nutrients; they prevent erosion; assimilate nitrogen from the air and store it in the roots of the plant for use by the following crop. They also help to maintain the supply of organic matter in the soil when turned under and add some nitrogen to the soil.
