Organization Planned To Aid Returning Vets

In cooperation with a state-wide movement, Village President Walter D. Mohrlock announces that a meeting will be held in the assembly room at the Chelsea high school on Friday night, Sept. 22 at 8 o'clock, to form an organization for the purpose of aiding returning service men to obtain jobs and meet other problems in readjusting themselves to civilian life.

President Mohrlock has issued special invitations to all local churches, lodges, industries, clubs, etc. to send representatives to the Friday night meeting, and states that anyone interested in this project is invited to attend and take part in the discussion. Attached to each picture stating the name, where stationed, and other interesting information. These displays will be changed every two weeks, thereby making it possible to use all photographs received.

With Our Men In Service

Harley A. Prudden, RM-1C, who is training in the Naval Air Force at Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill., after spending 17 months in the South Pacific, writes as follows to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Prudden:

Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill.

Dear Mom and Dad:

I hope to be able to catch up on my writing now that I'm somewhat settled. For two months I've practically done none.

The all-too-short talk on the phone from San Francisco, Mom, certainly gave me a thrill. I won't forget that moment. There are probably a million questions you'd like to ask me, and I have likewise many things to tell. So, as I think of items of interest to relate, I'll do so along with answering the questions as you write them.

HARLEY A. PRUDDEN, RM-1C

This life in the States has the island duty beat all to hell and that's an understatement. It still doesn't seem hardly real; things have happened so fast recently.

The town of Monmouth, Ill., is a small (10,000) peaceful college town 185 miles southwest of Chicago and only 160 miles from St. Louis. There are about 600 or 600 Navy students here, and will be approximately 300 co-eds arriving soon for the fall term; the seven civilian males are also expected. I expect to be here from a period of 16 to 24 weeks, to be decided later in the course. Our studies consist of plenty of Math., History, U. S. in World War I and II, Physics, English, more math, and physics, physical training and semi-technical exposition. Our regular schedule begins Tuesday. Our chow and quarters are very good and although I know it isn't going to be easy, I'm going to try for all I'm worth.

From the time I first left Emiran things happened fast. When I learned about the possibilities of spending 10 days in Australia, I had practically given up on my chances of getting a call to the Air Corps training program, and had completely forgotten all about it. So, naturally, I jumped at the chance. Being second senior man with time overseas in the radio personnel, I had first chance to leave for Brisbane, Australia. Mike and Jack were awaiting orders for change of duty in the States following 30 days in Australia.

More OPA Bungling!

Many who went to the public schools to register for their "A" gasoline books last Wednesday and Thursday were critical of newspapers in which they had read information concerning the registration. It had been announced previously in weekly and daily papers that motorists would be required to have only the cover of their old "A" books and the state certificate of title for their cars. When registrants applied at the schools they were informed that they must have their tire inspection record and their speedometer reading.

Some people may wonder where we got our information, and to exonerate ourselves we quote from the letter received from the Office of Price Administration, 600 Griswold St., Detroit, which stated: "All the motorist is required to have with him for renewal of his old 'A' book and the State Certificate of Registration for his automobile. Renewals may be obtained at the school nearest the person's home."

Just a little more OPA bungling! Don't blame the newspapers.

SERVICEMEN'S PICTURES WANTED

The management of the Lytle Sandwich Shop is asking for servicemen's photographs which are to be used in a window display. A slip should be attached to each picture stating the name, where stationed, and other interesting information. These displays will be changed every two weeks, thereby making it possible to use all photographs received.

Contributions Solicited For Veterans' Hospital

The American Red Cross Camp and Hospital Committee has received an appeal to aid the Veterans' Facility Organization at Fort Custer, where the boys are sent who are suffering from battle fatigue. Due to the severity of this war there is a tremendous increase of patients of this kind.

Veterans' Hospital has been in constant use since the last war and much is needed to make it more comfortable, as all authorities now agree that pleasant surroundings are of great importance in the recovery of men suffering from mental shock.

Furnishing of small visitors' rooms (where the boys may receive their families) and making the lounges more cheerful is part of the need to which we are asked to contribute. The cost of a small visitors' room is about one hundred dollars.

The American Red Cross Camp and Hospital Committee acts as the channel through which anyone interested may contribute. Small gifts will be very gratefully accepted and any individual or organization giving $25.00 or more will have their name placed on a Donors' Roll in the Veterans' Administration building.

Further information will be given by the local committee, Mrs. A. L. Steger, Mrs. M. W. McClure and Mrs. Warren R. Daniels, or by the county officers, Mrs. John Worley and Mrs. Howard S. Holmes.

Garden Contest Winners Announced By Judges

Judges for the F.F.A. Victory Garden contest have completed their work and announce the following prize winners:

Grades 8-12:
1st prize of $15.00—Jack Niehaus.
2nd prize of $10.00—Dean Schweinfurth.
3rd prize of $5.00—Charles Sullivan.
4th prize of $3.00—Henry Merkel.

Grades 1-7:
1st prize of $4.00—Carl O'Dell.
2nd prize of $3.00—Stanley Knickerbocker.
3rd prize of $2.00—Alfred Knickerbocker.

A special program honoring the prize winners is being planned. At this time the awards will be presented by Marshall Richards, chairman of the Victory Garden Committee.

The contest judges were Miss Margaret Grant and Miss Nina Greening. Both are teachers in the Detroit public schools and enthusiastic gardeners. In a letter just received Miss Greening makes this statement: "It has been a most enjoyable work. Miss Grant and I have had the most courteous and pleasant association with the pupils and their parents."

St. Mary's School Opens With Enrollment of 83

Postponed because of the polo threat, classes at St. Mary's Parochial school began on Sept. 18. The number of students enrolled for the 1944-45 school year now totals 83. This represents a decrease since last year, the evidences of which are most obvious in the first grade.

One of the newer developments in the parochial system of the Archdiocese of Detroit is the introduction of a choral and orchestral group in each grade, school and high school. The most talented music students from all schools will join city-wide groups.

Continued from last year is a recently developed method of teaching geography with a global accent. Using "air age" maps students study distances between places from the viewpoint of how many hours apart they are, as well as how many miles are involved.

St. Mary's school is conducted by the Sisters of St. Dominic. Principal of the school is Sister Ellen Benedicta.

Chelsea Library Offers Rural School Service

One of the recent projects of the Chelsea Public Library is a service to the rural schools.

Six sets of books, fifteen in each, have been assembled in easily transported carrier cases to be distributed to the schools of Lima, Sylvan and Lyndon townships, all of which contribute financially to the functioning of the local library.

These sets are loaned for thirty days and again returned to the library to be re-circulated to the various schools in these districts.

Teachers in these areas may feel free to call at the local library for these sets, which will be added to as the need increases.

The large barn on the farm of John Liebeck was burned to the ground Tuesday night. The contents of the building consisted of about 60 tons of hay, 50 bu. of wheat, 147 bu. of barley, 600 bu. of oats, fertilizer, and farm tools were also burned. The building was insured for $2,500 and the contents for $1,000.

Rev. H. R. Beatty was given a unanimous vote to return to the pastorate at the Methodist church for another year.

Among the U. of M. candidates who have reported for football practice are three former Chelsea boys: Jack Dunn, Clarence Stipe and Bill Van Orden.

Carroll Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clark of Lyndon, had a narrow escape while driving a team hitched to a land roller. The tongue broke, dropping down and frightening the horses. The young man was thrown in front of the roller, which passed over him. Luckily, he escaped serious injury, the worst being a scalp wound which required a number of stitches to close.

34 Years Ago

The Chelsea Elevator Co. is having a house built over their hay scales on the Michigan Central property.

The sheds on the Baptist church property which were destroyed by fire Tuesday morning, have been torn down and the yard is being cleared of debris.

Tuesday night of this week the Stoffer Bros. and Ed. Shanahan cut a bee tree in Lyndon, from which they secured between 25 and 30 quarts of honey.

The following marriage licenses have been issued: Archie Coe of Lima and Miss Myrtle Wolf of Chelsea; Reuben W. Kaercher of Lima and Miss Lillian Bauer of Freedom.

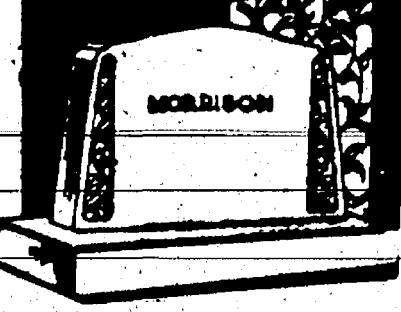

Frank Feldkamp of Lima is having the large barn on his farm remodeled. Wm. J. Beuerle has charge of the carpenter work. When the work is completed Mr. Feldkamp will have one of the finest stock and hay barns in the township.

Warren Daniels, of North Lake, left Monday for Lansing, where he will take a course of studies in the engineering department of the Michigan Agricultural college.

Bert McClain recently purchased a vacant lot on Park street of Charles Martin. Ground was broken this morning for a new residence which Mr. McClain will have erected on the property.

Machine Milked

If an expert hand milker can milk a cow in about eight minutes, a machine should do the job in four minutes. The majority of cows can be trained to milk on a time schedule and such milking saves labor, produces more milk, and tends to reduce mastitis.

Steel Pipeline

A single steel pipeline can fuel a plane direct from the tanker even when plane and ship are 1,000 miles apart. And it can do this over territory no truck could negotiate. In North Africa, one flexibly joined pipeline cut across 90 miles of marshland, 18 rivers, 47 streams and ducked under five railroads and 34 roads.

gun slugs and mortar bursts... stringing phone wires across the battered face of Europe... keeping foxhole outposts in constant touch with headquarters behind the lines.

And because of his quiet courage and cool-headed skill under fire, the Army's lines of communication keep busy... and keep going forward with every step our fighting men advance.

It's a job we of the railroads can appreciate and understand. For today our lines are busy, too... busier than they have ever been before. And as Victory comes closer, they will be even busier... the job will grow even greater ... for men and guns and fighting supplies must keep flowing in an ever-swelling stream to all our fighting fronts.

It's the biggest job the railroads of any nation have ever tackled. But we know now... with the continued cooperation of shippers and receivers of freight and of the traveling public...
it will be done...

And we know, too, that—with final Victory at last in sight—the new skills and knowledge that we have found in the urgency of war must quickly be turned to our next great task... the job of helping speed industry's conversion to production for peace...

And that this new-found strength will make it possible for the New York Central—side by side with all the other railroads of the nation—to provide finer transportation for America than the world has ever known.

I Want To Invest In a Really Fine Coat

Hardly a day goes by without some woman saying to us firmly, "I want to invest in a really good coat." For her we have an enormous amount of respect. She has usually thought long and hard. She's careful not to squander one precious penny. But she'll spend a substantial amount of money judiciously... for a perfectly constructed coat that can last as long as liberty. And she'll spend it with an eye on the label. She'll welcome the Hutzel label because we have been famous for fine coats for years. And she'll welcome this collection of superlative coats—made by the very best tailors in the land.

days leave. Smitty, Dick, Fitzgerald and Gus were chosen along with myself to leave about the 1st of July. It was the morning of the 2nd before we were able to get air transportation South. We left at dawn for Las Negros Islands in the Admiralty group. The plane was the conventional C-47 transport. After an hour and one half lay-over at Las Tegras, we caught another plane with destination of Brisbane. We flew to Finchaven, New Guinea, arriving at 2:30 p.m. After coffee and doughnuts, on to Cairns, Australia, where we landed at dusk. The flight was very cold and rather rough. The night was spent at a government hotel. At dawn on the following morning we were again ready for the take-off. We stopped at Townsville and Rockhampton for refueling the plane and new personnel before arriving at Brisbane, Queensland, Australia, at 2:45 p.m. Our passengers had consisted of about 50-55 Aussies and Americans all the way from the Admiralties. We four radio men then boarded a service bus into town and caught a "tram" to the American Red Cross. Our attire was still dungarees, and quite dirty. We felt and looked a spectacle.

Here's a little about my trip to "U.S." Arrived back at Emiran from Australia on the afternoon of Aug. 14. Plenty weary and all clothes filthy. Learned at once for certain my orders were awaiting me. Glad to be back for several reasons. Next a.m. I started checking out of N.A.B. (Naval Advanced Base) and managed to get a plane reservation for morning of the 18th. Because of 60 pounds weight limit for baggage aboard plane, I left the bulk of my wardrobe at Emiran for the boys to fight over, including all my bedding. We stopped at Green Islands for 15 minutes before proceeding on to Bougainville. As soon as the plane came to a halt, I made a dash for the nearest telephone and was lucky enough to get hold of "K.G." immediately. He was on radio watch. Was he surprised to find out who was calling? I waited at operations office and soon he arrived via a jeep he had hitched a ride on. We had nearly an hour together before my plane was ready for the take-off. It was a happy reunion, although short.

From Bougainville on down to the Russell Islands we buzzed. I had hoped we might stop at Munda and I could tell all the old gang there my good fortune and good-byes. After a short stop at the Russells, on over to Guadalcanal. Here I would have to get a new priority—my other one expired there.

Five days were then spent in what is called the DeGink Hotel (cluster of quonset huts) at Guadalcanal while awaiting my turn on the priority list. My orders specified to report at San Francisco on or before Sept. 2. It was just another "hair-falling-out" delay. I was quite sure now that my going to Australia had killed my chances of getting home. At 10 o'clock on the morning of the 21st I went aboard a 4-motor (C-54) transport plane bound for Honolulu. We flew high and it was quite rough, and very monotonous. Don't get me wrong—it was well worth it!

We landed on what at first was so small a speck it was hardly visible. That was at 4:30 p.m. and the speck was Tarawa (Gilbert Islands). Besides the air strip and a few buildings, there isn't any more. Ate chow and refueled before continuing on at six. After approximately 8 1/2 hours flying time we landed at Johnson Islands. Although it was another day, the time was 5 a.m. and it was still the 21st. We had crossed the date-line, equator, and also had a few hours change of time. Ate again and soon left for Honolulu.

Great Lakes, Ill.—Meryl B. Hafley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hafley, of Chelsea, Mich. was graduated recently from the Naval Air Technical Training Center located at Norman, Okla. While at the Norman school he studied the aviation specialty field for which his recruit training aptitude tests showed he was best suited, and is now eligible for a petty officer rate. The newly graduated man is now awaiting further duty orders either to sea or to a Naval base.

Marine Private First Class Ethel M. Hale, Woman Reserve and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Hale of Chelsea, has been promoted to that rank at the Marine Corps Air Depot, Miramar, near San Diego, Calif., where she is a messenger for the aviation training squadron office. KIWANIS NEWS

Following the dinner on Monday evening, Jerry Niehaus and Tom Smith chose sides for a ball game at the athletic field, selecting Kiwanians young and old for the sports event. Much to the surprise of everyone (even the winners) Tom Smith's Scrubs defeated Jerry's All-Stars by the score of 11 to 6.

Charley Cameron was on the mound for the All-Stars and Everett Major for the Scrubs. They both did an excellent job of hurling (?) but the Scrubs' defense was enough better to win the game.

The star player from the standpoint of entertainment was again Dill Wollerton of the Scrubs, who did a tanglefoot act while going after a fly ball, fell to the ground and the ball landed squarely on his round tummy.

Casualties included Bill Skentelbury, who crash-dived into Dave Miller at first base. According to latest reports "Skentel" suffered no broken bones but was badly jolted. (Dave says he didn't even feel the jar).

Flash! U. S. Postoffice Is Out In The Open

A fine improvement has been made this week by village workmen who cut down two large trees in front of the postoffice entrance. The trees were dying and it was deemed advisable to remove them. It is the first time since the postoffice was constructed that there has been an unobstructed view of the front of the building. (It is hoped that another sight which may greet the eyes of villagers will be the American flag at the top of the federal building flagpole much more often than has been customary).

Another improvement in the downtown district is removal by the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. of the large pole which stood at the curb south of Schneider's grocery. The village is constructing a new sidewalk there and L. T. Freeman will build an entrance to the basement of his building.

Artificial Curing Will Save Many Tons of Hay

Artificial curing of hay, when put into practice by a majority of farmers, will be instrumental in saving an untold amount of valuable Michigan alfalfa which is lost annually; will permit the farmer to perform haying operations during unfavorable weather conditions; and will result in a superior quality product.

These are the conclusions reached by S. T. Dexter, associate professor of farm crops, and Walter H. Sheldon, assistant professor of agricultural engineering, of Michigan State college, following experiments at the college this past summer.

The system used by the college research men is one that can be installed by the farmer at a reasonable cost, and stands to pay for itself in a few seasons use. Using a 2 h.p. electric motor hooked to a large air conditioning type fan, similar to that used in home cooling units, Sheldon and Dexter cured 15 tons of hay in a mow 18 by 30 feet in dimensions. The hay was put into the mow under exceptionally unit weather conditions 24 hours after being cut. It contained between 30 and 45 per cent moisture when put away, which is nearly double the amount considered safe for hay storage in an ordinary mow.

The hay was placed 14 feet deep in the barn, and because of its moist condition settled to a 10-foot thickness, packing nearly as compact as baled hay. The electric blower was operated 400 hours at a cost of about $1 per ton. This is probably more than would be essential for routine drying.

At the Michigan State college barn, one large duct with six laterals, all laid along the floor, carried the air into and forced it through the hay. The fan circulated 10 cubic feet of air per minute for each square foot of mow floor space.

One of the chief advantages of artificial drying, as established by the college specialists, is being able to handle the hay before leaves begin to shatter. It is estimated that as much as 25 per cent of the hay put up by the usual methods is lost by leaf shattering. This represents the dropping in the field of the most nutritious portion of the alfalfa crop.

Hay that is artificially dried can be cut and put into the barn when the humidity is as high as 90 per cent, and it is brighter and more palatable after being cured. Farmers using the electric fan method will be saved the tedious process of getting the hay dried in the field to its minimum moisture content. On the opposite side of the ledger is the necessity of using more care in placing the hay in the mow when using artificial drying methods.

Tests being conducted at Michigan State college are designed to adapt findings of experimenters of the Tennessee Valley Authority to local conditions.

Drilled Colonels

Frederick von Steuben, born in Prussia, brought a group of soldiers to assist the American colonists during the American Revolution. He arrived at Portsmouth, N. H., December 1, 1777, and in March, 1778, began drilling inexperienced soldiers at Valley Forge. After the war, he busied himself with plans for a prospective military academy (now West Point), and drafted plans for the defense of New York harbor in 1794. New York, Virginia, Pennsylvania, and New Jersey gave him grants of land for his services. Congress gave him a goldhilted sword and granted him a pension of $2,500. His name was suggested by the German-American group in connection with a War Bond drive.

Gasoline Situation Is Tight
The average civilian motorist should expect no increase in his gasoline ration for the next several months, at least not before the end of the war with Germany, the Office of Price Administration says. Civilian stocks of gasoline built up last winter have been greatly reduced despite increased imports and record domestic production. Civilian grade gasoline stocks have decreased approximately two million barrels in 30 days.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Yes, I'm afraid there's no denyin' it, Judge... jeeps and trucks and other kinds of motorized equipment have taken the place of the good old horse in modern warfare."

"It's true of lots of things in this war, Eben. Every day we hear of new tactics and requirements and new uses of products. For instance, take the alcohol that is used for war purposes. In World War I, this vitally needed product was used mostly in making smokeless powder, chemical warfare materials and medical supplies. Today it must do far more... it must provide the base for such indispensable products as synthetic rubber, shatterproof glass, lacquers, plastics and many other of our requirements so essential to victory.

"As a result hundreds of millions of gallons are required every year... half of which is being produced by the beverage distilling industry. Bet you didn't know that, Eben."

"As a matter of fact, I didn't, Judge. That's a mighty important war contribution that had escaped me completely."

What's the Rush?

It's the telephone rush. Every night thousands of service men and women dash to the nearest telephones to talk with families and friends at home. Most of the Long Distance calls from camps and naval stations are crowded into a few short hours.

Many circuits are likely to be crowded at that time and it helps a lot when you "give 7 to 10 to the service men." That's about the best time for most of them to call.
