NINETEEN FORTY-FIVE

The New Year is yours to make what you will of it. It opens up to you new responsibilities, new opportunities, and perhaps new sorrows.

To him who possesses vision, 1945 comes on the highest, the mightiest tide that has ever come flowing into our port of hope. There are those who will look mournfully into the face of the New Year. There are those who will say that the world is still in the midst of a terrifying dream. But they are the unfortunates without vision.

In our own hearts, each of us knows that the world could and should be a better place in which to live. We know that war has no place in a good world. But we know, too, that tyranny, injustice and hatred always lead to war. It is part of our job to see that those forces of evil are forever stamped out.

America is a mighty nation, and America is no more than a multiplication of our own community. Each of us must have the vision to live understandingly with our neighbors. We must not only be neighbors, we must be good neighbors. Then the insidious forces which lead to violence have no soil in which to grow. They are as seed cast upon the rock.

Our own community is proud of its past achievements. The past three years have taught us that we can do what we will in our own minds. The job we have done in the past gives us the courage and fortitude to face the future unafraid. We know that no problem is without a solution.

So it is with a spirit of genuine hope, a feeling of humility and a prayer of thanks that this newspaper wishes each of you

A VERY HAPPY NEW YEAR!

Babson's Forecast For 1945

Earl C. Hafley Killed In Action December 6

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hafley of Sylvan received the following telegram from the War Department last Friday:

"The Secretary of War asks that I assure you of his deep sympathy in the loss of your son, Staff Sergeant Earl C. Hafley, who was previously reported missing in action. Report now received states he was killed in action December 6 in Germany. Letter follows."

(Signed) The Adjutant General. A previous telegram had reported that Earl had been missing in action since November 19.

Earl C. Hafley was born December 15, 1918, in Sylvan township, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hafley. He graduated from Chelsea high school, class of 1937, and was employed by Federal Screw Works until his induction on July 10, 1943. He went overseas in December, 1943.

Surviving are the parents; four brothers in the armed forces: Pvt. Glen Hafley overseas, Cpl. Verry Hafley, Tyndall Field, Fla., S-1C Meryl Hafley, stationed at San Diego, Calif., and Pvt. Duane Hafley, who was inducted on Tuesday of this week; two sisters, Mrs. Pearl Hartman of Ann Arbor and Miss Arlene Hafley, at home; and another brother, Don Hafley, at home.

VILLAGE COUNCIL COMMENDED
The following letter of commendation was received by the Village Council from the Chelsea Study Club: Dec. 13, 1944.

To the Village Council of Chelsea, Michigan. Gentlemen:

At the December meeting of the Chelsea Study Club it was voted to extend you commendation on the purchase of the Vogel building, which will house the various departments of the Village. Such a building has been needed for some time.

Yours truly,
Chelsea Study Club.

PLEASE CLEAN YOUR WALKS!

Many complaints have been coming to village officials concerning the condition of many sidewalks in Chelsea which have not been cleaned at all since the snowstorms started more than two weeks ago. According to officials, the worst offenders are the owners of vacant property in many parts of the village. However, these owners are not the only offenders, and it is requested by the village that owners or tenants see that walks are promptly cleared of snow!

"JOHN" CLAIMS A RECORD

John Frymuth spent Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Olen Siegrist on the old homestead two miles northwest of Waterloo, where he was born 78 years ago. John says that he has spent every Christmas but one at the farm where he was born—he missed once about thirty years ago. John would like to hear from anyone who can better that record!

GIVE PARTY FOR EMPLOYEES

The Dexter division of Bowser, Inc. gave a Christmas party on Saturday afternoon for employees and their families, which was attended by about 200. A program was rendered, there was a Christmas tree with gifts for the children, and refreshments were served.

By ROGER W. BABSON

THUMBNAILED OUTLOOK FOR 1945

Look for these developments: Farmers' cash income will approximate that of 1944, which was $20 billions. Both bituminous and anthracite mining will run 5 per cent below a year ago. Petroleum output will be upped 5 per cent. Iron and steel will decline 10 per cent. A similar drop is in prospect for chemical manufactures. Lumber output will increase 5 per cent. The paper and shoe industries will run along on the same levels as during 1944. Industrial employment will be 7 per cent less and factory pay rolls will decline 10 per cent. Greatest single expansion will come in the construction and building group, which will show an increase of 25 per cent from the low levels of 1944's first six months. Look for a sharp drop in retail trade, especially in luxury items. Electric power output will be reduced 5 per cent as war contracts are cut back. For basically the same reason railroad freight ton mileage will fall 15 per cent.

General Business

1. A year ago the United States Business Index of the Physical Volume of Business registered 148.6; today it registers 138, justifying my forecast of a year ago. The Canadian Business Index of the Physical Volume of Business registered 208.9 a year ago; today it registers 197. 1945 will show a reduction of more than 10 per cent both in United States and Canadian business. Furthermore, most of the following comments apply to both countries.

2. War production is already being cut back and this reduction will rapidly continue through 1945. Even those railroads and industries which expect to benefit from a long war with Japan will be disappointed.

3. The re-conversion of industry from war to peace business will increase during every month of 1945. Furthermore, time required for re-conversion will not be as great as most people believe.

4. Inventories quoted at their price values, rather than volumes, will continue. (Continued on page two) tinue, as a whole, during 1945 about as during 1944. Raw material piles will be larger, but manufactured goods will be smaller.

5. Population increases in the United States during 1945 will be about 700,000, but the birth of new babies will fall off somewhat.

Retail Commodity Prices.
6. Rationing will continue through the most of 1945. During the early part of the year, I expect to see further restrictions, especially in connection with meats, canned goods, etc.

7. The retail prices of most necessities and some luxuries will be higher during 1945 than at present. The prices of some of the luxuries, such as furs, have already collapsed.

8. Steel prices of goods needed for peacetime manufacture should be a little higher, but prices of the heavy war goods will decline. This applies also to the heavy chemicals.

9. The wholesale prices of raw materials in general may decline during 1945, but most consumer goods will hold firm or sell at higher prices. For both gasoline and bituminous coal, there may be price concessions.

10. The great question mark of 1945 will be how, to whom and at what price the government will dispose of its billions of dollars worth of unneeded supplies.

Farm Outlook
11. The weather will be the greatest factor in farm production and prices during 1945. The weather has been exceptionally good on the whole for the past few years, but sooner or later we will have a severe drought or an early freeze.

12. Pending a weather upset, more bushels of corn and wheat and more bales of cotton will be raised in 1945 than ever before in our history. Although some prices may slide off, the total farm income for the first half of 1945 should hold up.

13. There should be a 15 per cent decline in hog slaughter and a 5 per cent increase in cattle slaughter.

14. Dairy products will continue to increase both in volume and in price. I am forecasting at least a 3 per cent rise in volume.

15. Farmers will start in 1945 to work again for legislation on their parity program, due to fear of a collapse in all farm prices after the war.

Taxes
16. Taxes will not be increased during 1945 and some will be reduced; in fact, some nuisance taxes will be eliminated altogether.

17. The Federal Debt will continue to increase during 1945.

18. Whatever is done about taxes, the cost of living will continue to rise during 1945.

19. Providing jobs for returning soldiers will be the big political football of 1945. I am not now prepared to forecast what will happen in this connection.

20. Through a coalition of Republicans and Conservative Democrats, we should have a "do nothing" Congress during 1945.

Retail Sales
21. The volume retail sales will show a decline during 1945. Prices of ladies' apparel and general luxuries will suffer, while grocery sales should be higher.

22. The total dollar retail sales should be about equal to 1944 with an increased demand for woolen and cotton-textiles for civilian use.

23. The best cities for 1945 business should be: Altoona, Pa., New York, N. Y., Cleveland, Ohio, Davenport, Iowa, San Jose, Calif., Wichita, Kansas.

24. There will be a great stampede in 1945 to get rid of the make-shift ersatz goods which have been made to take the place of good merchandise. Thus, 1945 will witness many "mark-down sales" of unrationed merchandise.

25. Wise will be those manufacturers, merchants and consumers who realize that postwar competition will be terrific and, therefore, withhold purchases until 1946.

Foreign Trade
26. The United States will own over 60 per cent of the world's ships in 1945.

27. There will be an increase in free exports with the "Freed Countries," but Lend-Lease exports will decline.

28. We will make England and Russia large postwar loans provided they spend the money in the United States.

29. Both the British Empire and Russia will go into the competitive foreign trade market during 1945; many cartels and government monopolies will be in operation. I, therefore, forecast higher prices for coffee, cocoa, sugar and many other articles for which we are absolutely dependent upon foreign countries.

30. No Central Bank will be organized nor will the stabilization of foreign currencies be attempted in 1945.

Labor
31. The Little Steel Formula will be amended during 1945.

32. Industrial employment during 1945 will be off 7 per cent in hours and off 10 per cent in pay rolls.

33. The building of a few new autos and new houses will be resumed during 1945.

34. Many industries, now operating on a forty-eight-hour week, will return to a forty-hour week during 1945.

35. Wage rates will not decline, but "take-home" income will be less.

War Outlook
36. The greater part of Germany's army will collapse before the German planting season opens in the spring of 1945. Before surrendering, Germany will try poison gas.

37. Japan will not hold out as long as most people think. Japan will collapse within six or twelve months after Germany collapses.

38. If Stalin's health continues, he will be the world's most powerful man in 1945 and may dictate the peace terms, especially for the Pacific.

39. Sometime after April, 1945, Russia will join (or threaten to) the Allies against Japan but only after the promise of territory privileges and a huge loan.

40. The markets may witness a "communist scare" during 1945; but they should soon recover thereafter.

Stock Market
41. The rails will show the greatest decline during 1945, because the airplane and shipbuilding stocks are already pretty much deflated.

42. The heavy chemicals, steels and motors may hold their own during 1945; but consumer goods will do much better.

43. The safest stocks to buy—considering value, income and safety—will be the merchandising stocks, especially the chain store stocks.

44. 1944 saw a large increase in the demand for peace stocks with a decline in war stocks; but 1945 will witness them both moving more or less together. Switching has been overdone in most cases.

45. 1945 will continue to witness creeping inflation, although the big movement toward inflation will not take place until the next business depression which will follow the postwar prosperity.

Bonds
46. Though bank loan rates should continue to have an upward tendency, interest rates in general will remain low through 1945, since the money supply is now 20 per cent above normal and government controls will continue.

47. Anticipating the expected decline in Federal taxes, 1945 should surely see a falling off in the price of most municipal and probably other tax-exempt bonds.

48. The highest grade corporation bonds will decline during 1945.

49. Investors will give much more attention to diversification and staggered bond maturities during 1945.

50. More public utilities will be taken over by municipalities and "Authorities" during 1945.

Real Estate
51. Suburban real estate will be in much greater demand with higher prices during 1945.

52. City real estate should hold its own, excepting in the congested war areas where declines may set in.

53. Small productive farms will continue to increase in price, but large farms may sell for less in 1945 than in 1944.

54. Building will show a considerable increase. Contracts will be up 25 per cent, but prices may be a little lower due to increases in lumber and cement production.

55. There will be no changes in residential rents during 1945.

56. Real estate will be helped by Congress ceasing to induct any more men into the armed services after June 30, 1945.

Politics and Postwar Peace
57. The uncertain political factor of 1945 will be Mr. Roosevelt. People will soon fear that he may resign before the next Congressional Elections either on account of ill health or to become head of a Peace Commission or new World Organisation.

58. Our foreign headaches will become worse and more frequent during 1945. What we are going through to reorganize Italy, will be repeated in many other countries.

59. The Latin American honeymoon has passed its peak. The attitude of Argentina will extend to other countries and our South American troubles will increase during 1945.

60. 1945 will see more religious interest, including more church-going, than did 1944. People gradually are realizing that without a Spiritual Awakening no peace or other plans will be much good. Nations cannot be depended upon to cooperate and stick to their agreements unless they recognize God as their real Ruler and Guide.

Select Brood Sows
When spring pigs are about four months of age and weigh from 100 to 125 pounds, it is a good time to select breeding animals to farrow next year's crop of pigs. Swine specialists say the gilts can be run on pasture.

Gun Salute
There is an ancient nautical superstition so universally observed that as far back as 1685 it was said that whenever an even number of guns was fired, it was believed the captain or master of the ship had died.

Men In Service

An Eighth Air Force Service Command Station, England—Having recently completed a course in aircraft electrical systems, Private George Rabley of Chelsea is now capable of performing an additional technical function at this strategic air depot. Private Rabley is now serving as a carburetor specialist at this station where battle-damaged fighter planes of the Eighth Air Force are repaired and reconditioned for further aerial sorties over Germany.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rabley, Chelsea, he entered the service in May, 1943 and received his basic training at Sheppard Field, Texas. Later he served at Sioux Falls, South Dakota, Seymour Johnson Field, N. C., and Fort Devens, Mass., before being assigned overseas duty with the Eighth Air Force Service Command in February, 1944.

A 1938 graduate of Spencerville (Ohio) high school, Private Rabley was employed as a screw machine operator by the Federal Screw Works, Chelsea, prior to joining the armed forces. His wife, the former Miss Bernice Hummel, resides at 330 W. Middle St., Chelsea.

With the Fifth Army, Italy—Private Gerald W. Hoover, son of Milton Hoover, 321 North street, Chelsea, Michigan, has been cited by the 6th Armored Infantry Battalion of the First Armored Division and awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge for actual participation in combat against the enemy with Lieutenant General Mark W. Clark's Fifth Army in Italy. Standards for the badge are high. The decoration is awarded to the infantry soldier who has proved his fighting ability in combat.

The handsome badge consists of a silver rifle set against a background of infantry blue, enclosed in a silver wreath.

HONORED AT QUILTING PARTY

The following excerpts taken from an article in a recent issue of a Saratoga Springs, N. Y. newspaper, will be of interest to the many friends of Mrs. Harriet Wedemeyer:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN

We are going to have with us soon a very promising young man who comes from the Land of Nowhere, but who is going to take you somewhere. Yes, this young fellow is GOING PLACES with you, in 1945.

At any rate, that is our wish for you, good friends, to whom we owe so much, and to whom we now pledge a continuation of the best possible service we know how to give.

Moore Coal Co.

"There is nothing so intriguing to women as a quilting party. This was true in colonial days and it was true the other afternoon as a large group of women attended the annual quilting party of the Wilton Baptist Missionary Society and revelled in beautiful old and modern quilts."

"A visitor exhibiting was Mrs. Harriet Wedemeyer of Chelsea, Mich., residing with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vrooman B. Keller. One of expert workmanship, of all applique design in wines, greens, blues and other colors was woven by Mrs. Wedemeyer's mother, Mrs. Hannah Carl MacCarter of Orange County, in 1850."

"More than usual interest centered in the flower garden design belonging to Mrs. Harriet Wedemeyer, which had 4,810 pieces in it. She also exhibited a design of Dresden plate and double Irish chain."

Paint Drying

"Industrial Finishing" reports that in addition to the use of infrared heat from banks and tunnels of what are generally called infra-red electric lights, there are electric ovens heated by units similar to those used on electric ranges in kitchens for rapid drying of paint on war products. It is pointed out that different kinds of paint require different baking treatments.

MILLER FUNERAL HOME

Cassidy Lake News

Cassidy Lake inmates cooperated with George Doe of the Chelsea police department in making it possible for the Kiwanis club to play Santa Claus to the crippled children at University hospital, Ann Arbor, this Christmas, when they repaired and even constructed toys to be used for this occasion.

Approximately one hundred toys were gathered by the Kiwanis club and brought to Lt. George E. Parish's charges at the Honor Camp, where several inmates of the woodworking division repaired, repainted and otherwise put the toys in playable condition.

In addition to this, about one hundred new toys were constructed, consisting of toy beds, chairs, trucks, tanks and jeeps. The inmate supervising this work was Albert Seeworker. He was given valuable assistance by Gene Soules and Al Wendell, with some aid from the Wayward Minor group who joined in this Christmas spirit so prevalent at the camp.

Lt. Parish, in commenting on the fine work of the boys, stated that it required two trips by Mr. Doe to transport the toys to Ann Arbor.

The Junior Choir of St. Paul's Evangelical church, consisting of fifteen girls and two boys, left the warmth of their homes Christmas Eve to bring a song service to Cassidy Lake Training School which gladdened the heart of many a man of the Camp.

Sponsored by Rev. P. H. Grabowski, the Junior Choir presented a striking appearance on the Technical School stage, for a vested choir is indeed a rarity at the camp. The program consisted of all the familiar Christmas songs and carols connected in narrative relating the nativity of Christ.

At the close of the program, in the spirit of Christmas the Choir presented gifts to every man in the camp, while the camp boys responded with a Christmas present for Rev. Grabowski.

This pleasing program was arranged for Christmas Eve by Lt. George E. Parish, Superintendent of the Training School.

FORGOTTEN "R" OF EDUCATION COMING INTO ITS OWN AGAIN

(Submitted by the Public Relations Dept., Parochial Schools)

The forgotten "R" of education is coming into its own again. The pendulum is swinging back from the time when religion was thought to be unnecessary in the school's curriculum, to a day when parents and teachers realize that children need to know their religion as thoroughly as they know their ABCs. Public school students appear to be in for an upheaval while educators experiment with methods of teaching religion when children are of different faiths.

Parochial school children are lucky. Catholic parents and Catholic educators have never doubted for a minute that children should study religion along with reading, writing and arithmetic. Religion has always been the most important part of the curriculum in parochial schools. Now it appears that the system under which Catholic youngsters study is the most modern of them all.

It is time Catholic parents appreciated this fact. It may be a startling revelation to the Catholic parent who sends his child to the local Catholic school because he feels he is obligated to do so, rather than from any conviction that the child will be better educated there. Only an education which develops the complete nature of the child is an education that is worth while. A child has a soul and spiritual obligations. How can he be called educated if his learning has never touched upon these two topics?

Now that this point is generally recognized, educators in secular schools are faced with the problem of how to teach religion when the class is of different faiths. The painful result in the past has often been a compromise on a character building course—and the children do not learn religion after all.

The parochial school child is taught religion! He learns in beautifully simple logic that, "God made me, therefore I must honor Him. I do this by avoiding sin, saying my prayers, and performing good deeds. If I fail to do this, I will not go to heaven."

Even this, though, is not enough. Religion is not a subject to be taught for one period and forgotten the rest of the day. It reaches into a hundred different channels. Historical problems often have religious significance. Science can so easily become a Godless subject. Literature is filled with reference to religion. The parochial school child learns constantly to defend his faith. Added to these benefits is the advantage of association with the Sisters and companions who do not question the sinfulness of disobedience, nor the rightness of prayer before class.

Parochial school students are indeed lucky. They are educated completely—and lot—by the most modern of methods.

Temples Oriented

The daily march of the sun across the sky must early have been noted: temples in Egypt were oriented—the very word means "pointed toward the east"—to the rising sun on a certain day and in these temple structures we may have the first sundials that have been preserved.

BASKETBALL

Chelsea 33—U. High 35
Chelsea opened its 1944-45 basketball season against the University High Cubs of Ann Arbor. The starting lineup found: May and Carraher at the forwards, Daniels at center, and Gaken and Slane at guards. After the balls had stopped flying U. High was victorious by a scant two points. It was a close thrilling ball game which found one team ahead and then the other. Chelsea trailed at the end of the first quarter but got started in the second quarter to lead 28 to 19 at the half. After the half everything seemed to go wrong. Chelsea still had a two point lead with a minute left but was overcome in the last second of play to give U. High a 35 to 33 victory. Carraher as high point man for the night with 21 points, while Okiyama led U. High with 17.

In a good reserve game Chelsea defeated U. High reserves 31 to 27. Knickerbocker led Chelsea with 12 points.

Chelsea 35—Dexter 30
Dexter became Chelsea's next opponent after the Bulldogs lost a tough one to U. High the previous Friday and Chelsea came out on top after a hard struggle. Many fouls were called but no one had to leave the game because of fouls. After a close first period in which Chelsea led 9-8, Dexter outscored Chelsea in the second to lead at the half 15 to 14. After the second half started Chelsea started; first Slane, then May, made baskets, but Dexter came right back with baskets. Then Gaken and Knickerbocker scored, followed by two baskets by Carraher. Chelsea was never overcome, with the final scoring ending in Chelsea's favor, 35 to 30. Giggly Carraher led the Bulldogs with 18 points, while Bauer was high for Dexter with 9.

The reserves missed R. Knickerbocker who moved up to the first team against defeat by a taller bunch of boys from Dexter, 21 to 14. Munro and Vogel paced the attack for Chelsea.

Chelsea 37—Ypsilanti 28
Chelsea's next guest and victim was Ypsilanti Roosevelt. The game was played at the local gym because no room was available at Ypsilanti. The game started out slowly but picked up as time progressed. Chelsea led 8 to 5 at the end of the first quarter and 17 to 14 at the half. Things changed after the third quarter started and found the boys working nicely to move into a comfortable lead which they kept during the remainder of the game. All ten boys on the squad saw action. Gaken and Slane stood out on defense, helped by Knickerbocker and May. Carraher paced the local team with 20 points, while Les Apple scored 9 for the visitors. Our mighty "midgets" reserve team lost a tough one to the visitors reserves 29 to 27. Miller, Munro and Vogel, all with 5 points, led Chelsea.

PIN CHATTER

(December 20)

The Dixie and Foster's teams bowled Sunday night instead of Wednesday. Dixie won the first two games. Foster's had to work hard to get the last one.

V. Lucht had a nice game of 202 for her second game. Good for you, Virginia.

K. Karp had her bowling arm in good condition so it seems; she had 216 her second game. Pretty swell, Karp.

G. Klumpp had high three-game series this week. She had 513—nice going, Gladys.

R. Meehan is leaving us for awhile. Hope she comes back soon, as we will all miss her.

I. Stofor had nine splits, which isn't very nice. But she still had a good series.

Those Gophers are really taking it on the chin. Here's hoping you get a better start in our second half.

The Varbi and Five Crown are still tied for third place. Keep pitching, girls.

No one picked up any splits last week—guess we're slipping.

Happy New Year, and lots of high scores!

FARMERS' GUILD BOARD MEETS

The State Board of Directors of the Michigan Farmers' Guild met Thursday, Dec. 21 in the Administration building at Lansing.

The use of the National Farmers' Guild membership card, signed by state and local secretaries, was adopted.

Harry Atchison, State president, was appointed chairman of committee on news for "National Guild News," news to be sent to Mr. Atchison on or before the 10th of each month.

Kenneth C. Weber was appointed to work with Mr. Atchison on state legislative committee.

An attempt is being made to get the formula used by OPA on arriving at ceiling and support prices on farm commodities. So the farmer may determine why he can not receive enough income to grant him the same living standard enjoyed by other classes of society, in regards to working hours. Time and one-half for overtime, double time on Sunday, vacation with pay, etc. These are the requirements that must be met if the farmer wishes to hire, in due fairness to his employees.

The following resolutions were adopted: Resolved to cooperate with the Grange and Farm Bureau in asking the State Legislature to adopt Central War time in Michigan.

Resolved to go on record as approving Resolution No. 13, as adopted at the National Guild Convention on "Text Books in Schools," and suggested Mrs. Knowles to act on National Guild investigating committee.

Arrangements are underway to have Carl H. Mote, National Guild president of Indianapolis, Ind. in Michigan for several meetings in the near future. One of these meetings will be held at Chelsea, or nearby vicinity.

Two clippings taken from the Dec. 20 issue of the Detroit Free Press were also read: "Butter Crisis is Getting Worse; Diversion Blamed on OPA," and live stock market report as follows: "Salable cattle 1100-head; it was another car run," with similar cattle reports in previous issues. "Fresh receipts of cattle 900-head, 80 per cent of which were cows," and "5500 head for week with over 60 per cent cows."

The figures seemed amusing to the state board on one hand, and regretful on the other, as it reminded them of the old poem—Where! Oh where is the butter gone. Where! Oh where can it be; as butter, cream and ice cream, etc. all have their beginning from the cow.

NOTICE, LIMA TAXPAYERS

I will be in Chelsea State Bank every Saturday until further notice for the purpose of collecting Lima township taxes.

Mrs. Mary Haselswerdt, Treasurer.

Last year in our homes 15,500 people were killed because of falls. There were 5,400 burned to death; 1,400 died of poisoning and 1,200 died from firearms. Total accidental deaths in homes mounted to 32,500, an increase of 7 per cent over 1942.

Look around your home right now, Mr. Reader. Look for those accident causers—cluttered stairways, toys or household equipment scattered about the house and underfoot, improperly marked poisons, loaded firearms, carelessly stored ammunition, defective electrical appliances.

Investigate the accident "producers" in your home and correct them. Make your home safe for your family.

Canned desert grapefruit juice has nearly twice as much vitamin C as tomato juice, nearly five times as much as pineapple juice, more than six times as much as mixed vegetable juices, and more than four times as much as sauerkraut juice, research data just released at the University of Arizona shows.

Inventive Ideas
The National Inventors' council, a government agency, has received 200,000 inventions or inventive ideas for hastening the war's end since the council's formation in August, 1940. The number of these that warranted serious consideration has surprised the members of the council.

A Happy New Year

THIS New Year's Eve, more so than for many years past, the songs we sing and the merriment we indulge in flow from hearts that are lighter, for we all know now that the future is brighter, and we can look forward to 1945 with the conviction that much better things are in store for us.

With many thanks for past favors, and wishing you the full joys of this happy season, believe us to be ever at your service.

LAWTON S. SCHAIBLE

At THIS TIME of resolution-making it might be apropos to recall the words of a wise old philosopher of a long forgotten era. He said:

"Every first of January that we arrive at is an imaginary mile-stone on the track of human life; at once a resting place for thought and meditation and a starting point for fresh exertion in the performance of our journey. The man who does not propose to himself to be better this year than he was last must be either very good or very bad indeed."

We wish you a very Happy New Year

Chicken Feathers

The U. S. bureau of animal industry has announced a practical method of preserving wet chicken feathers.

The treatment uses 15 pounds of common salt and a pint of commercial concentrated hydrochloric acid, dissolved in 30 gallons of water, for each 15 pounds of wet feathers to be preserved.

After repeated tests, the feathers were in excellent condition after a month in shipment and storage.

The preservation makes possible the industrial use of millions of pounds of chicken feathers formerly wasted or used as fertilizer.

Launder Towels

Launder towels in lukewarm water, since hot water tends to set stains. Rinse the towels thoroughly, shake or dry in a breeze if possible to raise loops and make them soft and fluffy.

Pressing or running them through a mangle makes the pile, flattens loops and makes them stiff, hard and less absorbent.

The Doublecross

Two theories have been expounded for explaining the term "doublecross." One that "on the cross" is the antithesis of "on the square." The other came from testimony of a New York political boss in the 1880s who testified before an investigating committee that when a constituent asked a favor he made a record of it and indicated he would grant the petition by marking a cross after it. Sometimes he changed his mind and added a second cross. In his testimony he said, "I crossed Smith; I double-crossed Jones."

Sand Loose

Sand is loose and holds plenty of air, but water runs right through it and carries the minerals with it. So, to make sandy soil fertile, one needs to work fertilizers into it, or decayed leaves, grass clippings and the discarded tops and casings of vegetables such as beet and carrot tops and pea pods. These give the soil a body which will hold water and minerals.

Settlers' Export

Brazil was named after the dyewood which was the early settlers' chief export.

Transplants Furnish

Early Garden Yields

Lettuce and beet seed may be sown directly in the ground, but if plants can be obtained gardeners can have beet greens and lettuce two or three weeks earlier by setting plants started indoors.

The first step in transplanting is to block out the plants. With an old knife cut the soil in the flat lengthwise and crosswise between the rows so that each plant can be lifted with a block of soil attached. Blocking out plants leaves most of the small roots undisturbed and the plants start growth more rapidly than if pulled with little soil on the roots.

In marking the places for digging holes for the plants, make sure they have enough space. Cabbage and broccoli need about 18 inches between plants; lettuce, 8 to 12 inches, and beets, 1 to 3 inches. Dig holes with a trowel or spade and set the plants a little deeper than they had been growing in the flat. Pack the soil firmly around the roots and draw loose soil over the surface.

Early in May the soil is usually moist enough so the transplants need no watering. If the ground is dry, pour a cupful of water into each hole before the plants are set.

War Spurs Construction

Of Low-Cost Housing

More than 8,300 federally financed houses now occupied by war workers in 44 public housing projects in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania will be converted to low-rent housing and slum clearance purposes after the war, according to information from the national association of housing officials.

Now operated by local housing authorities in 23 localities in these states, the projects originally were planned for peace-time low-rent housing. When the war emergency arose, congress authorized development of the projects for "war workers engaged in national defense activities." Federal loans covered all the cost of such housing.

In the postwar period these projects will be refinanced under provisions of the United States housing act which authorizes the federal public housing authority to lend local authorities up to 90 per cent of the total development cost of low-rent housing. The balance necessary will be raised by local authorities through the sale of their own bonds, which will be secured by future rents plus annual contributions by the federal government.

Experiments Pay

Abaca rope fiber is not grown commercially in the United States.

Before the outbreak of war in the Pacific, practically the entire supply of abaca used in this country came from the Philippines. Fortunately, the United States department of agriculture had cooperated in the planting of some abaca experimentally in Panama in 1925, and had found the soil and climate of several Central American countries well suited to this crop. Although no large scale, the experimental plots were carefully maintained. In 1937 and 1938 field plantings of about 2,000 acres were made in Panama.

In 1943 an American commercial company under contract with the Defense Supplies corporation undertook to plant 40,000 acres of abaca in four countries from the plantings already established. In place of the laborious hand methods of stripping the fibers used in the Philippines, this company is now installing modern equipment and machinery for cleaning and processing the fiber.

Dusting Popular

Dusting is becoming popular for insect and disease control in the garden because it is easy, quick, effective, and the dust comes ready to use. One pound of dust covers as many plants as four gallons of spray, and a good duster is cheaper and easier to operate than a sprayer.

For the home garden a plunger type hand duster is adequate, if it has an extension tube and a curved "underleaf nozzle" for dusting the undersurface of the leaves without stooping. The two-quart or one-quart size is preferable to a smaller one.

If a sprayer is preferred, be sure to have one with an angle nozzle as well as a straight nozzle, for spraying the undersides of the leaves. Do not use materials prepared for dusting in spray, but rather materials specified for mixing with water.

Corn Planting

Farmers may plant 5 to 10 more acres of corn per day by drilling or hill-hopping instead of checkrowing their corn. Under many conditions, they will secure yields just as high as with checking if they get the same plant population per acre, according to some agronomists. Although checkrowing has been the traditional method of planting corn for many years in the corn belt and is still an important method in fields heavily infested with weeds, drilling or hill-dropping corn has some decided advantages. Studies show that 50 per cent of the time in the field when checkrowing corn is lost in turning, moving the wire, and filling hoppers. Much of this lost time can be put to use for work in drilling. When corn is planted on the contour on sloping fields, drilling or hill-dropping is the only satisfactory method.

By GENE ALLEMAN

As business men whose individual investments run into many thousands of dollars, Michigan farmers are becoming downright weary over the persistent parade of commissioners of agriculture to and from Lansing, the state capital.

For the past ten years, in fact, Michigan has switched biennially its state administration. The two-year term for governor has permitted a shift of political sentiment to turn the tides, first in favor of one party and then in favor of the opposition, with the result that the post of commissioner has been transient livelihood in which experience has counted for little.

The turmoil of industrial unemployment, which marked most of the years since 1932, influenced enough independent voters to "demand a change" at Lansing. The farmers have been caught in the middle. They don't like it. They prefer a business-like continuity of policy in the state department, just as they like to have in running their own business.

At the recent annual meeting of the Michigan State Farm Bureau at Michigan State college, Lansing, farmer delegates arrived by the hundreds. Officers were armed with resolutions from their home bureaus—some 300 resolutions, in fact.

By the time the resolution committee had studied numerous proposals and delegates had been given an opportunity to express their opinions, the following resolution was adopted unanimously:

"We renege our insistence, voiced in resolutions adopted at several previous annual meetings, that the state department of agriculture be removed from politics in order to provide a continuity of administration of which the welfare of the state is dependent. This department is charged. We feel that this would afford the best service to producers and consumers of Michigan farm products."

In order to prevent appointment of a new commissioner of agriculture each time the political party in control of the state government is changed, we favor the establishment of a bi-partisan state agricultural commission which would choose a state commissioner of agriculture and exercise general supervision over the conduct of the department. The general set-up of the state conservation commission might well be used as a model on which the new relationships, in regard to the department of agriculture, could be formulated by the legislature."

The history of the bi-partisan commission idea goes back several years. When Murray D. Van Wagoner was governor, he had a commission bill introduced in the house. Unfortunately, farm groups had not been fully consulted. A Detroit legislator, serving as floor leader, sponsored the measure. The combination was not conducive to favorable action.

Rep. Maurice Post of Rockford introduced a bill whereby the state department would be supervised by the state board of agriculture, the governing body originally created for the old Michigan Agricultural College, now Michigan State College.

Mrs. Dora Stockman, editor of the Michigan State Grange publication, introduced a bill to have the commissioner of agriculture elected by the people. She felt that the commissioner should be a member of the state administrative board.

With three conflicting bills before them, legislators could not make up their minds. And when the next administration took office at Lansing, a new commissioner of agriculture arrived to look over the problems and see what should be done.

In the 1943 session of the legislature, the Michigan State Farm Bureau supported a house bill, introduced jointly by Representatives Reddick and Town, which would have created a bi-partisan commission consisting of five members.

The term of office was six years. Of the members first appointed by the governor, two were to serve two years, two for four years and two for six years. The commissioners were to choose their own chairman and secretary, and would meet monthly to consider matters of administrative policy.

As in the case of the conservation commission, the agricultural board would employ a permanent director of agriculture. The 1943 bill provided for a salary of $7,000 per year. Compensation of the commissioners would be limited to $15 a day with a maximum of $225 a year.

Stanley Powell, legislative counsel for the farm bureau, reports that the 1943 bill was received with general favor by state legislators. However, legislation was being limited generally to war-time matters and action on the bill was delayed so late in the session that its sponsors decided to await a more opportune time.

This particular legislative reform is favored by Mr. Powell for several reasons. His father, Herbert E. Powell of Ionia, served as commissioner of agriculture for three terms from 1927 to 1932. And it was the elder Powell's conviction, at the conclusion of this service, that Michigan agriculture would be better off under a bi-partisan commission than under the prevalent political turnover.

While civil service removed inefficiency of patronage, the commissioner still holds office at the will of the governor. That subjects the commissioner to pressure from the governor himself and also from the governor's office. Such pressure may be good; it may be bad.

That the Michigan State Farm Bureau again will advocate this reform during the 1945 session of state legislature is taken for granted by Mr. Powell, its legislative counsel. Michigan legislators will not have to go far to study a bi-partisan commission. Wisconsin adopted this system a number of years ago and the farmers there are said to be thoroughly in accord with it.

Anthracite Deposits

Deposits of anthracite are concentrated in eastern Pennsylvania. Anthracite is, of course, the preferred type of coal for household heating because it produces little or no smoke. An average of 80 per cent of production normally goes for such purposes, making it pre-eminently a domestic fuel and giving the industry a seasonal character. The remainder is consumed by electric power plants and railroads in the anthracite region where the cost of small sizes of anthracite is comparable to some of the best grades of bituminous coal.

Protection of allergic patients from bedding dusts is an important medical problem. Up until a few years ago inflated rubber mattresses and pillows were the only recourse. According to a prominent New York physician, true relief for many allergic patients is now possible through use of special encasings for pillows, mattresses and box springs.
