With Our Men In Service

An Eighth Air Force Bomber Station, England—A small metal buckle, part of the parachute harness of Staff Sergeant James H. Barkley, is credited to the Chelsea, Michigan, flyer with saving him from serious injury on a recent Eighth Air Force bombing attack on the oil refineries at Merseburg, Germany.

A burst of flak sent a splinter of steel through the waist window of the 19-year-old gunner's B-17 flying fortress. It struck the buckle of his harness, knocking him down, and ricocheted out the other waist window. "I felt like I'd been kicked," he declared.

Sgt. Barkley's flak-riddled fortress had to leave the bomber formation and make an emergency landing at a small torn-up fighter base just inside out to Cavanaugh Lake for a month after 1 1/2 back and take care of all that. I should be back by next summer. I certainly hope so anyway.

After I've met all my household, especially our Chelsea friends and say hello to them. Then I want to start to work on something. What, I don't know yet, but I will have plenty of time to think about that. I'll probably go into the building business, this time with a bigger firm.

Our weather over here is getting worse every day, but I am keeping pretty dry and warm. Naturally, we have lots of mud and it's cold mud. But believe it or not I haven't a cold now. I have heavy rubber overshoes and rain coat.

Some days it's quiet all day as the ceiling is so low and the visibility so bad we can't do any shooting with heavy artillery, as we can't find our targets.

We have hot food most of the time as artillery doesn't move as fast as the infantry, so our kitchens are with us all the time. We have hot coffee and cocoa to drink. We get butter every meal and pie and cake occasionally. We have chicken and turkey also. It's all canned stuff but pretty good. We get de-hydrated eggs, and out of all the chow, I can't stand the eggs. The rest is pretty good—but those eggs are really lousy. We also get marmalade and jelly, peanut butter and so forth. All in all our food is excellent because we are not moving all the time.

I sent Helen some photos and she will have a set for you. They were taken around Nov. 10.

I am all set as far as cigarettes go. I have plenty extra so the shortage doesn't bother me—but I could stand some home-made candy, cookies, peanuts and stuff like that.

Keep writing, folks—I enjoy your letters very much. There's nothing a soldier needs more than mail. I haven't had any packages yet, but there's some 48-million coming, so I guess mine are on that boat. So long for now. Watch over my precious wife and baby, and take care of yourselves. I'll be OK. Don't worry.

Your loving son—Bud.

Livestock Men To Have Full Program at MSC

Michigan livestock raisers, and 4-H club and Future Farmers Association members will have an opportunity to obtain choice registered bred ewes at the bred ewe sale to be held as part of Farmers' Week at Michigan State college, January 30 to February 1.

Ewes selected for the sale are from Michigan's best purebred flocks, and will permit the buyer to secure good breeding stock for his flock, comments E. L. Benton, extension animal husbandry specialist of Michigan State college.

The sale is only one of many events planned for livestock men during the three-day agricultural gathering. The custom of holding a fat lamb show will be resumed after a lapse of three years, and a fat hog show is also on the program. The sale and two shows will be from 9:30 to 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Dairy and horse men will meet on Tuesday, while beef cattlemen will meet Thursday at gatherings arranged for the various breeders' associations. The fat steer show on Thursday afternoon will be followed by the fat stock sale of steers, hogs and lambs.

Michigan lamb feeders and sheep breeders will attend special session on Wednesday, as will members of the swine breeders' association. The annual livestock banquet will be Thursday night.

R. G. Knox, professor of animal husbandry, Ontario Agricultural college, Guelph, Canada, will be present during Farmers' Week to discuss livestock raising in Great Britain and to judge the steers.

WHERE IS CHELSEA?

(An editorial by a member of the CHS Basketball Team)

Where is Chelsea? This question has the basketball squad at school puzzled. There was a song going around town called "Come Out Whenever You Are." At present that song is very popular with the basketball boys at school and they think it's going to be necessary to go around town and sing that song in order to get a few of the townspeople to come down and see their home games. The attendance has been very low; in fact it wasn't until today I heard the echo from that lone yell made at the Saline game last Friday and I found out that it was just the coach talking to his substitutes.

The "Bulldogs" (basketball boys) are looking forward to a victorious season and they want you to enjoy the victories with them. It might do some of the people around here a little good to come down to school on the nights of the home games and blow off some of that "hot air" that they have been saving for so long.

If you have a son or husband who is in the service now and was a former student at good old CHS you should feel obligated to come down and see the games. Those boys like to know how the basketball squad is making out. There are plenty of seats in the gym and they will still be there tomorrow night at 7:15 when Chelsea's Little Bulldogs start the ball rolling with Milan's second team. If you can't come down then, drop around about 8:30 when the Big Bulldogs take on Milan's undefeated quintet. This will be a very exciting game and it will also highlight this year's basketball season. If the Bulldogs win, it will put them in first place where they intend to stay. So why not drop around tomorrow evening and see a hair-raising game then after the game you can go home and write to that son or husband of yours and tell him all about the game. We're sure they will write back and thank you for this little deed as well as our own Bulldogs will thank you for coming down and supporting them until the final whistle.

Approval of Village Purchase Is Expressed
Following purchase by the village of the Vogel building on East Middle St., there has been much discussion concerning the project. Endorsement of the move is expressed in the following communication:

221 Washington St., Chelsea, Michigan, January 2, 1945.
Mr. John Ford, Clerk, Village of Chelsea, Chelsea, Michigan.
Dear John:

Herewith is a substantial list of names of local people who concur in the suggestion that the council has made a judicious move.

I am obliged to admit that it looks like a roster of Screw Works personnel but at least it's something. It would appear from last week's Standard that our idea of having local organized groups command the action may be having some effect.

Yours—David J. Miller.

To the Council and Administrative Officers of the Village of Chelsea:
The Chelsea Standard edition of December 7, 1944 prominently displayed notice of the acquisition by the village council of a building to be converted for the use of the municipality.

Elected civic officials of small communities such as ours customarily receive little more than mumbled complaints and carping criticism for their efforts in behalf of community interests and civic pride.

The residents and taxpayers whose signatures appear herewith desire to express their hearty approval and enthusiastic endorsement of this recent action by the elected officials of the village.

We believe the community will benefit notably in added convenience with a considerable ultimate saving in administrative costs.

the Allied lines in Belgium. One engine was shot out over the target and its propeller windmilled uselessly, shaking the plane. Another engine was damaged and threatened to quit. Punctured tanks streamed gasoline all the way back and the controls were hit.

"Our oxygen was out, too," Barkley said, "and we were using the emergency supply when we bombed. We made three runs on the target, lining it up. On the way back a storm came up and closed everything in but we saw some P-38 Lightnings circling and then we spotted their field and landed. Our plane was shot up too bad to fly so we left it there and came back in another Fort that had stopped to get gas.

"We stayed overnight at that base. Hardly a building around there had gotten through without some bomb or artillery damage. The field itself was full of patched craters from our own bombs we had dropped when the Germans had the place."

For Sgt. Barkley this was the 17th attack over Nazi Europe. He is the son of Mrs. Blanche Barkley of 136 Dewey street, Chelsea. He entered the AAF in November, 1942, and holds the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster.

He is a member of the 490th Bomb Group, which is a unit of the Third Bombardment Division, the division cited by the President for its historic England-Africa shuttle bombing of Messerschmitt aircraft plants at Regensburg, Germany.

Mrs. Howard C. Baker of Grosse Pointe Park, formerly of Chelsea, received the following letter from her son, Master Sergeant Clyde K. Stone: Somewhere in France, Dec. 2, 1944.

Dear Mother and Bake,
I received a letter from you today dated Oct. 22. A little late but better late than never.

I heard the news about Grandmother's death and it was very sad news. She was always too good to us kids and I loved her very much. You have my deepest sympathy, mother. Hope you had a good trip otherwise. Write me about everybody you saw.

Now that the election is all over and the speeches and mud-slinging is over, maybe you folks over there will be able to get down to the business of war.

Personally I think Mr. Roosevelt has a big job on his hands—what with 100 million there and 10 million overseas he will be a busy man for the next four years. As far as post-war is concerned he knows what the soldier wants and what the U. S. is going to have to do about its big conversion job.

In the meantime tell 'em to shake it up on the ammunition or we'll lose all the ground we've gained and a lot of lives—we're artillery and without the ammunition we're no good to no one and we ARE NOT getting the ammunition.

I'm fine, mother! Best of health and getting along pretty well—getting pretty anxious to get back to my wife and baby though. When I get back I want to relax and get acquainted with my family again.

No school—no big plans right away, just relax and get all the memories of war soaked out of me in hot showers and walks in the woods, swimming and playing.
I'd like to take Helen and Judy Ann

Teach Spanish
After World War I, Texas opposed the teaching of any foreign language in the grade schools. In 1941, however, this state that shares a 1,200-mile border with Mexico decided to legalize the teaching of Spanish and now 1,125 Texas school districts are teaching Spanish to over a quarter of a million children.

First Locomotive
In 1801 one Richard Trevithick began experiments on more satisfactory methods of transporting coal and three years later, on February 15, 1804, the first locomotive made its ten-mile trip in Cornwall, England. He built three of these early locomotives. One, engagingly named "CATCH ME WHO CAN," created a sensation when shown in London.

CLASS OF '45

On May 10, 1927, Katherine Louise Fauser made her first appearance in Chelsea. Since that time Kathy has grown very tall, she towers above most of the girls in her class, not only in height but also in intelligence. She stands 5 ft. 9 inches tall, and has brown eyes and hair. Her favorite color is green. As for subjects, guess what? She really likes shorthand. All Kathy wants is a basketball game and some spareribs afterwards, and she will be content. The song that's tops with her is "There Goes That Song Again." (We wish she would tell us what or whom it reminds her of). Her favorite movie was "The North Star." Kathy plans to be an army nurse; we know she will make a good one.
Barbara Marie Buehler saw the light of day for the first time on

MARCH 19, 1927, IN DETROIT

Barb stands 5 ft. 8 inches tall and says she weighs "too much." She has blonde hair and gray eyes. Her favorite color is green, which by the way looks very nice on her. She likes history best even though she doesn't like it this year—do you suppose that is the reason why? When it comes to sports skating of any kind is her favorite. Barb claims that there is nothing better than a plate of some of "mom's" good fried chicken. She too liked the movie, "The North Star," and as for songs, she says "Let's Get Lost" (all we want to know is whom she says it to). Barbara is going to study hard to be a nurse, so we want to wish her the very best of luck.

HI-Y

The meeting was called to order by the president. The treasurer's and secretary's reports were read and accepted. They discussed going to the Y.M.C.A. and swimming some evening. A discussion was held for the Hi-Y to sponsor an all-high dance and a Hi-Y dinner before the dance. There was nothing definite settled. The meeting was then turned over to the social chairman.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The meeting was opened by the president. Donna Perkins gave a report on dances after the games, etc. Veryl Steinaway gave a report on pep meetings. The motion of having all four grades meet together was carried. Mr. Richagis is going to set a date for the boy and girl meetings. Donna Burman moved to invite all the presidents of classes and clubs to the next Student Council meeting. The motion was carried. The organization of a youth center was discussed.

G.A.A.

The girls' basketball team played their first game of the season last Friday with Saline. The final outcome of the game was: Saline 36, Chelsea 27. A lunch of cocoa, sandwiches, cookies and pickles was served to the two teams afterwards by the G.A.A. Miss Barbara Hughes of Howell was the referee at the game.
The team has another game today at 4:30 with Pinckney.

CHELSEA DEFEATS SALINE

James Carraher—John Wellnitz—Chelsea's strong quintet went out last Friday and whipped Saline's team 34-17. "Giggy" Carraher led Chelsea's team; making 13 points the first half. This brings his total to 72 points in four games. Knickerbocker was next with 10 points. Saline's Smith, a guard, led his team with 10 points.
Chelsea's reserves won a rough and tumble game from the Saline reserves, 31 to 11, Doug Vogel making 13 points for the evening.
Next week, Jan. 12, Chelsea plays Milan. Keep next week open to see a very good game.

ATHLETIC BOARD

A motion was made and passed that we pay one-half the expenses for the lunches after the basketball games. Loren Munro was appointed to look after the advertisement of the basketball game this week. Loren Munro, Ray Knickerbocker, Angeline Merkel and Jean Eisenbeiser were appointed to make a budget for the Athletic Board. Several bills were discussed and passed.

BAND

Members are preparing for the potluck dinner to be held February 13, for the band-parents.
Mr. Tuttle of the University helped us last Monday during the absence of Mr. Busche.

LATIN CLUB

The Latin club is planning an Amateur Show. They are going to sponsor the dance after the basketball game tomorrow night.

PIN CHATTER (January 3)

J. Osborne had high series this week. She had 492—nice goin' Juns. We hope Dixie and Fibre will soon bowl their postponed game. The suspense is wearing Foster's down!
D. Ashley and R. Johnson were getting splits again. Ashley had seven, Johnson had eight. What fun, eh Doris.
Varbi and Five Crown are still tied. Independents went ahead by one game. Anita McClear picked off the 3-7 split. M. Jarvis picked off the 5-7 and R. Honeck the 5-10. V. Lucht picked the 6-7-9 very nicely.
Jean Hubbert had a nice series this week. She had 490; her second game was 185.
Our Gophers won themselves a couple of games this week. I knew you'd do it one of these times.
We had no substitutes; somehow it seems that all teams do better when their full team is bowling.
The Old Maids and Chelsea Milling will be feudin'; they are tied for sixth place.

Grub Infestation Causes Large Loss In Cattle

Continually mounting losses from cattle-grub infestation of Michigan cattle are reported by E. L. Benton, extension specialist in animal husbandry at Michigan State college.
Last spring at least 50,000 cattle were marketed in the state with hides badly damaged by grubs. This number may be even larger this year unless treatment measures are carried out.

The leather shortage and prospects for tighter shoe rationing emphasize the necessity for extension use of eradication methods. Many grub-damaged hides are virtually worthless, with from 50 to 200 grub holes in a strip down the center not uncommon. In hides where salvage is possible, the best leather is lost. Damage is not confined to hides, for cattle that are grub harassed lose weight and condition.

Now is the time to be planning grub control methods, particularly for shipped-in cattle. Lumps begin to appear on the backs of Michigan cattle early in February and March, but sooner on cattle imported from the range.

Ray Hutson, head of the department of entomology of Michigan State college, recommends the use of rotenone mixtures compounded for use against grubs or warbles. Three treatments about four weeks apart will provide at least an 85 per cent grub kill, with almost entire elimination of the trouble in the pasture next summer and infestation next winter.

Cattle that are stabled and will allow handling need only to be dusted once a month after the grubs begin to form in the lumps along the animals' backs. The dust should be rubbed into the hide either with the ends of the fingers or a stiff brush. If the powder penetrates the scab, the grub will dry up and work out of the hide and the hole will heal.

Spraying with a power sprayer is the best method of handling unruly cattle that are not stanchioned or tied. It is sometimes necessary to put the animals through a chute or into small pens where they can be reached from the outside. The spray should be mixed according to directions on the manufacturer's container; or if derris powder containing 5 per cent rotenone can be purchased, it should be mixed with 7 1/2 pounds of derris to 100 gallons of water.

County Agricultural agents can provide further information on treatment and sources of rotenone compounds.

—But Her Daddy's Still in the Fight, and the War Bonds You Bought Back in the Days of Pearl Harbor Are Still Needed in the Fight, Too—for Victory!

Remember this touching picture of a little girl's farewell to her war-bound daddy? Appearing shortly after Pearl Harbor, it touched the hearts of millions of Americans and helped to launch the greatest voluntary savings program in all history.

That girl is three years older today. In that time, our enemies have been pushed steadily back toward their own frontiers . . . thanks in no small measure to the overwhelming flood of tanks, ships, planes and guns that more than 85 million Americans have poured into the fight through their purchases of War Bonds.

But her daddy is still at war—the fight goes on—the money you've put into Bonds is still needed, just as it was after Pearl Harbor. KEPT IN THE FIGHT—KEPT IN WAR BONDS—IT WILL CONTINUE TO WORK FOR VICTORY—AND FOR YOU.

For just as that little girl has grown, so have the War Bonds you bought three years ago. The $100 Bond you paid $75 for then is already worth more than you paid—and how swiftly the time has passed! In another year it will be worth $80—at maturity, $100. Here's money you'll need later—for education, repairs, replacements, retirement—just as your country needs it today.

So let this picture remind you—HOLD TIGHT TO YOUR BONDS!

Fuel Oil Warning Issued Cold homes later on this winter, with no extra rations available, will be the inevitable result of present overconsumption of fuel oil, OPA warns. The request to conserve supplies came from the rationing agency following widespread indications that many householders have dipped too heavily into their fuel oil rations and are burning oil at a rate considerably in excess of what they should have used up to the present point of the 1944-1945 heating season.

Safetygrams BY FRED W. BRAUN The Safety Man This is the time of year when many drivers are careless about proper ventilation in their automobiles. With heaters turned on and long hours of driving ahead, there is a tendency for the drivers to become drowsy. Guard against carbon monoxide fumes. Check your heating device to be sure that it is properly connected and that no exhausts are coming through your heater tube. If you become drowsy, stop your car and open doors and windows for a few minutes. Someone is killed in an automobile accident in the United States every 15 minutes. Be sure your name is not on the next ticket.

Mrs. Mary Haselawerdt, 221 1/2 Gets No Air Clay holds plenty of water and minerals but no air. This month, as soon as clay soils become moderately dry after the spring rains, they should be broken up to a depth of eight or ten inches so that air can get into them. Plants must breathe just as humans and animals but, because they have no lungs, every cell has to breathe. Thus the roots as well as the tops must get air.

YES, BUT A TELEPHONE ON THE PREMISES DOESN'T ALWAYS MEAN WE CAN FURNISH SERVICE

If you move into a vacant home or apartment and find a telephone already there, you'll probably wonder why we may not be able to give you telephone service. Here's the reason: As soon as a present customer moves out, even though the instrument may not be removed for several days, his service is disconnected at the central office. Then the equipment and switchboard space that telephone required are put right into use for war-essential or other priority service or for the next person on the waiting list.

With the armed forces taking most new telephone equipment, and with more people wanting service than ever before, we're following this fair and equitable plan provided for in governmental orders.

We'll be glad when we can again give off the service everybody wants—wherever and whenever they want it.

Scarcity of Machinery For Farms Is Forecast
 Contrary to the expectations of many farmers, there is a good chance that a definite scarcity of farm machinery will exist for the 1945 production season, extension agricultural engineers at Michigan State college believe. For this reason farmers are cautioned against permitting any old machinery to go through the winter into the busy season unpaired.
 Optimism concerning the farm machinery outlook became widespread following recent announcement of the lifting of the restrictions on the manufacturing of machinery. There was a growing belief that an abundance of new machinery would become available next spring. As a result, a slackening of old machine repairing has become an epidemic.
 But all old equipment will be needed, for it is expected that the "lead time" (period necessary from the time materials are made available until machines can be manufactured and placed on market) that is necessary for the production of many types of equipment will probably prevent any significant increase in the quantity.
 Labor and production facilities will be utilized for manufacture of such labor saving equipment as corn-pickers, side-delivery rakes, pick-up balers and combines. Production of repair parts will remain at a high level in 1945, college agricultural engineers have learned. Any parts used in quantities in war production will remain difficult to obtain. These include engine and electrical equipment parts.

Passageway Leading to 'Paousennes' Tomb Found
 About 19 centuries before Christ, Egypt's Rameses-III conquered in sea battle a coalition of Trojans, Achaeans and Philistines. The better to exploit her new-won sea power, Egypt moved her capital from Thebes, 400 miles up river, to Tanis, 80 miles from modern Alexandria, close to the sea, but not too close to suffer from pirates.
 At Tanis, Professor Montet discovered a tomb which was first ascribed to Paousennes, but later turned out to be that of Seshonk I, a twenty-second dynasty king who is set down in the Bible, under the name of Shishak, as the pillager of Solomon's treasures. In the wall of Seshonk's tomb was a huge block of pink granite. Prof. Pierre Montet, archaeologist, who has directed digs at Tanis since 1929 and discovered (at Byblos) the oldest known alphabetical inscription, is now an archaeologist. He suspected that behind that block was a passageway leading to the tomb of Paousennes. He is right.
 Paousennes' pink granite funerary chamber is rectangular, 23 by 10 feet. The big granite sarcophagus, carved on the sides in bas-relief, has a cover depicting the king as the god Osiris, supine, with a goddess kneeling behind him and stretching protective arms over his head. The sarcophagus contained a silver mummy case. Before opening this, the professor decided to await the arrival of King Farouk—an enthusiastic amateur.

Neutralizer for Tooth Decay Found by Doctor
 If the experiments of Dr. Robert Marshall Stephan of the University of Illinois are borne out during the next few years, they may help to send the dentist's drill the way of blacksmith tools. In Science, Dr. Stephan announced that he had found a neutralizer for tooth decay: urea.
 Like sweat and urine, saliva contains urea, a nitrogen compound. Dr. Stephan found that two groups of antagonistic bacteria flourish in saliva: (1) the destructive lactobacilli; (2) harmless germs of the staphylococcus family. By brewing an enzyme called urease, the staphylococci split up urea in the saliva into an ammonium compound, which neutralizes the erosive acid. Dr. Stephan's conclusion: teeth may decay when the saliva does not contain enough urea, or when the staphylococci are sluggish.
 He had a hunch that a way to save teeth might be to encourage the staphylococci by giving them an extra amount of urea to work on. So he made up a mouthwash of carbamide (synthetic urea crystals). The crystals are colorless and odorless, taste cool and salty. He gave the mouthwash to 100 patients to use on their toothbrushes, found that an increased amount of calcium was deposited on their teeth.

Impeaching President
 Impeachment proceedings in respect to a President are prescribed in the U. S. Constitution, Article 2, section 4: "The President, Vice President, and all civil officers of the United States shall be removed from office on impeachment for and conviction of treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors." Article 1, section 2, paragraph 5: "The House of Representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment." Article 1, section 3, paragraph 6: "The Senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present."

Mesotron
 Scientists are intensively studying the most recently discovered particle, the mesotron, with the hope and expectation of putting it to work as an efficient atom smasher.
 The mesotron, however, has proved a most elusive and mystifying subject. When it is living a free existence it has a life span of a few millionths of a second, and when it is living a fixed existence bound up in an atom it apparently disappears as a particle and functions only as a field of force.
 When free it appears to have an unusual ability to smash atoms into small fragments, when hidden within the nucleus of the atom its task appears to be the holding together of all the particles which form the nucleus and which, without a binding force, would fly apart.

Cool Storage
 Cut tops of root vegetables to two inches to save storage space and keep vegetables in cool, well-ventilated place. Cover potatoes and onions with a paper or bag to keep out light and keep them dry and cool. Sweet potatoes and squash also need a dry and cool storage place.

No Help
 The popular notion that aspirin is effective in prolonging the life of cut flowers has no basis in fact, say floriculturists. Experiments tend to indicate that those who use this method are merely wasting valuable aspirin.
