Allmendingers Observe Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Allmendinger observed their golden wedding anniversary at their home, Crooked Lake, on Sunday, September 9. Open house was held from two until six o'clock, with more than one hundred fifty guests from Detroit, Ann Arbor, Dexter, Whitmore Lake, Chelsea and vicinity calling to extend well wishes and to congratulate the honored couple.

During the afternoon refreshments of ice cream and cake were served the guests buffet style from the dining table, attractive with a lace cloth and a centerpiece of yellow roses, flanked by pairs of yellow candles.

Baskets of gladioli and roses in suitable colors decorated the dining and living rooms, all of which were gifts presented to Mr. and Mrs. Allmendinger, as also was the centerpiece. Dinner was served at seven o'clock, at appropriately decorated tables on the lawn, to forty-two relatives and close friends, followed by a program in charge of Mrs. Titus Schneider, a daughter, of Ann Arbor. The highlight of the program was the introduction of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wotzki, of Detroit, attendants at the wedding fifty years ago. Mrs. Wotzki, a sister of the bride, told about her sister's wedding and gave a brief resume of the couple's married life. Several short talks and anecdotes relative to interesting events were told by friends and relatives. These, together with group singing and a poem dedicated to her parents and read by Mrs. Schneider, completed the program.

Mr. Allmendinger was born in Ann Arbor, March 23, 1869, and Mrs. Allmendinger, the former Minnie Julia Hellwig, was born in Detroit, Nov. 2, 1873. They were united in marriage in Detroit on Sept. 10, 1895, making their home in Ann Arbor for the next thirty-six years, where they operated a bakery and later a restaurant at Packard and Arch Sts.

In 1925 they built their present home at Crooked Lake, but did not retire from active business in Ann Arbor until 1931. Since their retirement they have lived at their present home except for several winters which were spent in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Allmendinger have one son, Vernon, of Dexter; two daughters, Mrs. Titus Schneider of Ann Arbor, and Mrs. Ralph Tippet of New Port Richey, Fla., and five grandchildren. The latter daughter was unable to be present at the celebration.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Allmendinger are members of the Cavanaugh Lake Grange and the Salem Grove Methodist church. Following the worship service at the church next Sunday morning the ladies of the W.S.C.S. and the Grange will entertain in their honor at a cooperative dinner to be held in the church dining room.

Michigan Bell Launches Huge Postwar Program

Detroit—Its wartime operations at an end, the Michigan Bell Telephone Company announces that it has launched a $120,000,000, five-year postwar construction program.

George M. Welch, president of the company, said the program will include the erection of 49 new buildings and 13 major additions to present buildings, expenditure of $50,000,000 for new central office equipment, long distance cable containing 50,000 miles of wire, and cables for local calls with enough wire to encircle the globe more than a hundred times.

Construction already is under way on $5,000,000 worth of projects and engineering preliminaries have been completed on about one-fourth the total program, Welch said.

The proposed program, largest in the history of the company over a comparable period, will increase the size of the Michigan Bell system nearly 50 per cent. It will reach out to virtually all of the company's 252 exchanges. Interrupted by war, the company's rural expansion and improvement projects will be resumed at a cost of more than $13,000,000.

Welch said the program will provide telephone jobs not only for the company's 2,800 employees in the armed forces but also for 2,000 new telephone workers. In addition, thousands of jobs will be provided indirectly for employees of sub-contractors, builders, and suppliers.

Citing the company's No. 1 objective as providing service for the 125,000 now on the waiting list, Welch cautioned against undue optimism. "Although our postwar job is started and will be accelerated as rapidly as possible," he said, "it is of such magnitude that we still must ask the public's cooperation and patience."

HONORED AT SHOWER

A miscellaneous bridal shower was given Sunday afternoon by Miss Florence Helm of Kalamazoo, at the home of her parents, in honor of Miss Jeanne Roy, whose marriage will take place in the near future. Games were played, with prizes going to Jeanne Roy, Helen Wahl and Donna Burman. Luncheon was served, and the bride-to-be received many lovely gifts.

With Our Men In Service

T-5 Vincent L. Schmitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Schmitz of Sylvan township, has received an honorable discharge from the United States Army and returned to his home here last Thursday.

Vincent was inducted into the army on April 16, 1941 and received training at Camp Livingston, La. before going to Australia on April 22, 1942. He participated in the Papuan, New Guinea, Morotai, Leyte and Luzon campaigns. He landed in San Francisco on August 28.

Sgt. Wayne E. Van Orman arrived last week to spend a 30-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Van Orman. Wayne entered the service in December, 1942, and went overseas in February, 1944, where he served for 18 months as a radar technician with the Twelfth Air Force in Italy. He landed in Boston on August 31, and will report at Camp Grant, Ill. on October 9.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Policht received a letter from their son, Louis Policht, SM-3C, stating that he was in Tokyo Bay with one of the first landings of men going ashore. He said he would be home for the holidays this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Policht have three other sons in service—two in the Navy and one in the Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Roy have received word from their son, Stewart R. Roy, that he has been promoted to Motor Machinist Mate First Class. Stewart has been serving in the Navy for more than three years, having enlisted in June, 1942.

Sgt. Donald Hafner, stationed at Camp Wolters, Texas, is spending a 15-day furlough at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hafner.

Called To The Colors

Reporting for induction today is

James Edward Carraher, son of Louis Carraher of Detroit, who was born in Mexico on June 7, 1927. Several years ago, following the death of his mother, he made his home with Mrs. Frances Alber for some time. He graduated from Chelsea high school in 1945, and during his later school years he had resided with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Riemenschneider. He has been employed at the Peninsular Fur, Race and Foundry Co.

MSC Plans Program for Returning Servicemen

More than 200 World War II veterans from throughout Michigan and elsewhere will enroll at Michigan State college for the first time this fall, according to Dr. Fred T. Mitchell, director of the Servicemen's Institute. To help these new students, who will bring the number of veterans enrolled to over 500, a special pre-orientation period will be held September 11-14.

Mr. Mitchell points out that by conducting the orientation period prior to the opening of the fall quarter September 17 the staff will be free to give the new men personal attention. Placement tests designed to discover the educational level of each man will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, and on Thursday interviews will be conducted to talk over the test results, to study the student's high school record, and to determine whether he needs refresher courses.

A carefully selected list of rooms will be provided from which the men may choose a place to live. Several members of the college American Legion post will be on hand to help and a college station wagon will be used to transport physically handicapped men. When the orientation period ends the men will be free to return to their homes until registration.

Ex-servicemen will register with other men students on September 20-21. Classes will begin on Monday, September 24.

Conservation Week To Be Observed In October

Fifth annual Michigan Conservation week, sponsored by Michigan United Conservation Clubs, will be October 14 to 20, and Governor Harry F. Kelly is expected soon to issue a proclamation to that effect.

Paul A. Herbert of East Lansing, MUCC president, urges all sportsmen's clubs, whether or not affiliated with the statewide organization, to arrange public meetings and other events to increase interest in conservation of natural resources.

MUCC again will sponsor sale of Michigan Conservation stamps to help finance its work and that of affiliated clubs. The stamps will sell for 25 cents a sheet of 24 stamps, selling clubs to retain one-third of total proceeds.

The 1945 stamps are reproductions of natural color photos showing wildlife, flowers and scenic views and one stamp symbolizes Peace.

The Chelsea Rod & Gun club is an affiliate of the MUCC.

The first MUCC-Michigan Sportsmen's institute will be conducted at the conservation department's Higgins Lake training school grounds Sept. 24 and 25, following a meeting of Michigan United Conservation Clubs directors at the same place Sept. 22 and 23.

Only 40 are permitted to attend the institute and a limit of two men from each club has been set, reservations to be made on a first-come-first-served basis.

The institute is an experiment which, if successful, may be made an annual program. The two-day schedule includes field trips to study game, fish, forestry, land use and water conservation, augmented by classroom reviews.

Reservations also must be placed for the board meeting, both with Harry R. Gaines, executive secretary of MUCC, 34 Dickinson St., SW., Grand Rapids.

Regional meeting of Michigan United Conservation Clubs, for affiliated groups of districts 7 and 8, will be held in Statler hotel, Detroit, on Sept. 17 at 8 p.m. MUCC-affiliated clubs of those districts are asked to send representatives.

Harper Building New Garage On W. Middle

Construction of a new garage building has been started by W. A. Harper, owner of Harper Sales & Service.

The new building is being constructed on the lot just east of Mr. Harper's present location on West Middle street.

One story in height, the garage will be 44x80 feet, of cinder block construction. It will have modern heating and lighting, and the latest modern garage equipment will be installed. Mr. Harper plans to have the building completed about Oct. 15.

A new showroom across the entire front of the building will be built as soon as materials are available, perhaps next year, according to Mr. Harper.

The building now occupied by Mr. Harper has been sold by Mrs. Adam Faust to F. P. Miller, of the Miller Tool & Machine Co., Jackson. It is understood that the building will be used for a factory, but Mr. Miller has declined to issue a statement until Mr. Harper moves to his new quarters.

Motorists - Pedestrians Urged to Avoid Tragedy

By Elaine McClell

With the elimination of gas rationing and the prospect of new cars in the not too distant future, it is only natural that an old, old hazard should become even more dangerous. That is to say, the case of the pedestrian vs. the motorist!

Chelsea high school has a very good record in connection with traffic accidents and it is our earnest desire to keep it such. In order to do this we must have the cooperation of all.

We urge parents who live in town to see that their children do not drive cars to school unless it is absolutely necessary. Those who must drive are asked to leave their cars at school until time to return home at night. Also, it is the job of the pedestrian to obey traffic rules and thus take their share of the responsibility.

Every noon, five days a week, almost six hundred students are dismissed from school in Chelsea—five hundred from Chelsea public schools and seventy from St. Mary's. Let's not sacrifice some child's life for the cause of carelessness!

PAST PRESIDENTS MEET

A meeting of the Past Presidents club of the American Legion Auxiliary was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Julius Elsiele. A delicious chicken dinner was served at 6:30, with covers for eight. After the business meeting a social evening was enjoyed. The next meeting will be a Christmas party, with the husbands as guests, the date to be announced later.

Military funeral services for Corporal Herbert J. McKune were held at St. Mary's church Monday forenoon, conducted by the American Legion Post. It was probably the largest attended service of its kind ever held in Chelsea. All business places were closed from 9:15 to 11:15, also both schools, with all school children marching in the procession, each one carrying a flag. Also included in the procession was the Chelsea band, eighty members of the local post, a six-man firing squad from Jackson, an eight-man color squad from Ann Arbor, and both army and navy bearers. Cpl. McKune was killed in the battle of Champlain, France, Oct. 4, 1918.

R. B. Waitrous exhibited six head of Holstein cattle at the Jackson fair this week. He took three 1st premiums, one 3rd, and had one champion cow over any dairy breed.

Adam Eppler has accepted a position as traveling salesman for the Detroit Packing Co.

W. R. Wheeler has purchased the vacant lot adjoining the Overland garage and will erect a 22x70 ft. building on the property, that he will use in his blacksmith business.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Weick, and Allen Burns of Detroit was solemnized at Most Holy Trinity church, Detroit, Wednesday morning. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the Book-Cadillac hotel.

The marriage of Miss Norma Turnbull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Turnbull, and Hazel L. Waller of Flint, took place on Saturday evening, Sept. 10, with Rev. H. C. Fields conducting the ceremony. The bride is a graduate of Chelsea high school and the Ypsilanti Normal College, and for the last two years has been teaching in Flint.

The common council has men at work digging trenches for the extension of the water mains in various parts of the village. On Railroad street the main will be extended from McKinley street to the Sears farm. The McKinley street main will be continued from Dewey avenue to the subdivision of R. B. Waitrous. A main will be laid from Dewey avenue along North Main street to the residence of Jacob Hummel.

People of Munith and vicinity are aroused to a considerable pitch over the closing of the village bank. The president, G. H. Sweet, and Cashier Harry J. Mallen left, saying they would return in a few days, but to date nothing is known of their whereabouts. It is estimated that the amount on deposit was between $12,000 and $20,000. Warrants were issued for both, charging grand larceny. The same parties operated a bank at Whitmore lake, which they closed, on Saturday, with a $1,200 shortage. It is understood that Mr. Sweet was from New York City, and Mr. Mallen, the son of a Philadelphia millionaire.

A curbing is being set on both sides of Park street, from East street to Madison street. Howard Brooks has purchased a dry cleaning outfit for his tailor shop which he expects to receive in a few days. E. S. Spaulding has just finished putting up one of the finest silos in this part of the country. It is 14x40 ft. and is built of glazed tile.

Ontonagon, Mich.—Michigan's new Porcupine Mountain recreational area, which lies just to the west of Ontonagon along the shores of Lake Superior, is one of numerous park and recreational projects which are due for marked development during the coming post-war years.

As you stand on top of one of the high escarpments and view the blue waters of the Lake of the Clouds, surrounded by a sky-line of mountain ridges, you begin to appreciate anew the vastness of Michigan and the importance of its new program of public recreation.

The Porcupine Mountain area with its 42,000-acre timber wilderness merits its particular attention in the over-all plan. As one of the few remaining wildernesses in Michigan, it may be the first to receive the benefit of a state-owned lodge and cabins where day-to-day tourists could obtain lodging and meals.

The beauty of the Porcupines, now unmarred by commercial resorts, already has provoked disagreement among some members of the state conservation commission and the department. The idea of the state going into the hotel business was a bit startling at first until some one reminded that the state wasn't going to run the hotel but would merely build the property and lease it out to private hotel operators, such as the United States government has done for years at its national parks.

In fact, even the state ownership and operation of a resort is a bit old-fashioned, for the State of Michigan already owns and operates a number of group camps at the Yankee Springs recreational area near Hastings, halfway between Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, and at the Waterloo recreational area near Jackson.

The Porcupine lovers were disturbed last October when a group of hotel people ascended the mountain to a particularly high escarpment where there is a commanding view of the Lake of the Clouds. Hotel men went into raptures of enthusiasm. One top operator went so far as to select the site for the state lodge. It happened to be the best view of the lake, of course, and hence would offer considerable appeal to lodge guests.

While the hotel operator is inclined to think of making a business pay its own way and earn a profit, too, for his endeavors and risks, the ardent Porcupine lover shudders at the thought of a choice vista being preempted by a public hostelry.

Ontonagon boosters have their own ideas, too. We're not letting the cat out of the bag to disclose that among the Ontonagon ideas of what should be done to the Porcupines is this innovation: Build a swimming pool smack on top, right by the state lodge! The notion isn't so screwy as it sounds, however. When the Keweenaw county highway commission went into the park business, via the million-dollar golf course and club house at Copper Harbor, officials discovered that the public wasn't willing to go to a fine club house, exist on choice food, listen to the radio, play bridge and read the funnies. They wanted diversion. Hence the Keweenaw club house and lodge led to a heavy WPA investment of the golf course which had to be scraped out of the woods at much trouble and money.

How to keep the Porcupines a wilderness and at the same time provide interesting attractions to the motor-minded tourist is a riddle. Among the ideas already aired are these: Build foot and bridle trails whereby the traveler could get into the forest area; create a tent city at Mirror Lake (five miles to the south of Lake of the Clouds), and provide transportation to the lake by saddle horses and pack mules, in typical western fashion.

Winter ski opportunities are many at the Porcupines. In fact, winter use of the state lodge and cabins is being seriously considered.

At the Rib Mountain state park in Wisconsin, near Wausau, the state of Wisconsin has built a commodious stone clubhouse for ski fans. Nearby is a steel cable ski tow with J-hook carriers which transport both the skier and his skis up the mountain at a steady clip. The day rate is $2 for adults; $1 for children. Fred Pabst, Milwaukee ski enthusiast, owns the concession which built the sturdy ski tow and operates it on week-ends during the winter sport season.

Ski trains bring hundreds of Sunday visitors from St. Paul, Milwaukee and Chicago. And Rib Mountain doesn't begin to offer the variety of scenic possibilities and attractions which are latently awaiting development at the Michigan Porcupines.

The public recreational business in Michigan is only 26 years old. Its big development has been in the last half dozen years.

During the first quarter of a century, 1919 to 1944, the state had acquired some 43,000 acres of land for park and recreational use.

In 1943 the national park service presented 17,000 acres of the Waterloo and Yankee Springs recreational areas to the conservation department. The legislature in 1944 appropriated $3,000,000 to acquire approximately 100,000 acres in Southeastern Michigan as another regional recreational project, serving residents of counties in what is generally called the Metropolitan Detroit district.

The Porcupine Mountain area with some 42,000 acres received $1,000,000 of state funds.

Next will come the problem of public utilization of Michigan's park and recreational lands. The state department has a five-year program for development of its park lands, calling for a total expenditure of $16,316,529, for which highways, park drives and parking areas would get $8,500,000.

The state's park and recreational program, if supported by the public, should afford countless hours of healthful enjoyment for Michigan residents. Better yet, it should be a sound business investment, augmenting the state's tourist industry which brings millions of dollars annually from out-of-Michigan travelers.

Recreation is BIG business in Michigan. If the public recreation program is operated on a small fee basis, whereby those who enjoy special services help to maintain them, we believe it can be made to pay part of its own way.

Hunters and fishermen already pay nominal fees for annual licenses.

Others who enjoy camping (private or group), skiing, shuffle board, or what not would be willing to assist the state in its task of financing recreation for the people.

This is a later, Civil War model, one of the first to burn coal.

Michigan's first railroad engine, a wood burner, was put into operation 108 years ago next August, on a run between Toledo and Adrian. That was the year, 1837, Michigan was admitted as a state.

The track was made of hewn logs faced with strips of iron which often curled, derailing cars or punching holes in the floor.

Life was very primitive. There were few wagon roads. Only 174,000 persons lived in the state.

It has been a marvelous century for Michigan. We now have 7,000 miles of railroad. Our population has grown to five and a quarter million. Two hundred thousand cultivated farms have replaced the wilderness. Cities have sprung up, great industries emerged. Tourists have discovered the charms of the land of lakes and pines.

Michigan is rich in natural resources. Take natural gas, for instance. A million years ago Nature began to store this fuel in great subterranean areas beneath the peninsula. Today natural gas is widely used in homes and in industries. It is doing a giant's job in war plants.

The years ahead are years bright with promise for Michigan. New industries will develop, cities will grow, living will be pleasant in this favored state. Natural Gas and improved gas appliances will add new conveniences to the home. Gas, the perfect fuel, will be in increasing demand in industry. As producers and distributors of Natural Gas, we are getting ready for this period of expansion. We shall endeavor to keep our facilities and service abreast of the growing needs of Michigan.

Miss Florence Van Riper

Miss Florence Van Riper died Sunday evening at the State hospital, Ypsilanti, after a long illness.

A lifelong resident of Chelsea, she was born Feb. 10, 1869, the daughter of John and Mary (Coy) Van Riper. For many years she was bookkeeper for the Chelsea Electric and Water Dept. She was a member of the Congregational church, of which she had served as deaconess.

Surviving are two brothers, Schuyler of Ann Arbor and Floyd of Chelsea.

Funeral services were held at 3:30 Wednesday afternoon at the Staffan funeral home, with Rev. W. H. Skendzel officiating. Burial was in Oak Grove cemetery.

John F. Maier

John F. Maier, of New Baltimore, a former resident of Chelsea, died Wednesday, September 5. He was 82 years old, and was born May 20, 1863 in Cleveland, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marcellus Maier.

He was married to Minnie Fletcher, and for many years they made their home in Chelsea, where Mr. Maier was employed, first as village electrician and later as electrician for the Michigan Portland Cement Company. He was a member of Olive Lodge 156, F. and A. M., and Olive Chapter 140, R. A. M., of Chelsea.

The family moved to Detroit in 1918 and for several years Mr. and Mrs. Maier have resided in New Baltimore.

Survivors include the widow; a daughter, Mrs. Pearl Brooks of Detroit; a son, Roy J. Maier of Hollywood, Calif., and two grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 2:00 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Christie funeral home and burial was in White Chapel cemetery.

Recently an editor of one of the papers wrote in and said that he had had an account of a very serious accident where the driver stated he did not have complete control of the car. Upon further investigation by the newspaper, it was found that he had the elbow of his left arm on the door; thus having very loose contact between the wheel and his left hand. At the speed he was driving, a sudden jar in the road caused the driver to lose control of the car and a serious smashup resulted.

It is not considered safe driving to drive with one hand or in a leisurely fashion with the elbow of the left arm resting on the window or the door frame. This is an unsafe practice and is not conducive to good safe driving.

When you drive a car, remember that it has terrific power, that the motor will respond to the action of the accelerator, and that it has strong driving force. Therefore, grip the wheel with both hands, keep your eyes on the road, and keep that car under control.

Good Schooling Sought For Farmers' Children

An increasing number of Michigan farm families are demanding for their children educational opportunities as good as those offered to youngsters living in graded districts.

This is the contention of Dr. John F. Thaden, associate professor of sociology at Michigan State College. Proof, he said, lies in the fact that schools are closed in more than a thousand rural school districts of the state, parents in these districts usually sending their children to graded schools in town rather than to nearby rural schools.

Closing up of country schools is not the direct result of the current teacher shortage but is something that has been going on for decades, the sociologist declared, pointing out that closed schools in Michigan numbered 181 in 1923, 372 in 1930, and 737 in 1942.

Many a youngster in a rural school finds himself the only pupil in his class—sometimes almost the only one in the school, Dr. Thaden said. Two years ago there were 250 schools in Michigan with eight pupils or less, of which eight had only three pupils each and two had only two pupils each. Educational cost per pupil in such schools is high despite the low salaries country school teachers are commonly paid, according to Dr. Thaden.

Reorganizing of school districts seems a more satisfactory and democratic way of equalizing educational opportunities than closing schools and maintaining functionless districts and school boards, Professor Thaden believes. "As a rule," he said, "the most satisfactory method of reorganization is the union of the various school districts in a natural community into one graded district, with a senior high school, one or more junior high schools, and a number of elementary schools with flexible attendance areas distributed throughout the community. A community school district is one taxing unit and one administrative unit, with one school board."

A member of the Michigan Education Study Commission, Dr. Thaden has been studying the problem of school district reorganization for several years.

SALEM GROVE W.S.C.S. Mrs. Truman Lehman was hostess to the W.S.C.S. at her home Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 5. Twenty-six members and three visitors were present. Mrs. D. Waters, Mrs. R. Miller and Mrs. A. Schweinfurth led the devotion.

The membership committee reported 18 calls and 13 cards. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and approved.

Miss Carolyn Kalmbach, who attended the Governors' Conference at Mackinac Island, gave a very interesting account of her experiences while there, including a description of Gov. Kelly's summer home on the island.

Mrs. Glenn Rentschler gave a review of the lesson, "Health Around the World."

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Unlimited Gas Keeps Motorists On The Move

Lansing—The long-repressed urge to "go places" is keeping motorists on the move and state parks are not getting the crowds that were expected after gasoline rationing ended.

One park superintendent has an answer: "They're just going riding." Official close of the park season on Labor Day brought a conservation department estimate that the 1945 attendance total will not exceed four and one-half million and may be nearly a million less than the five million total of 1944.

Heavier-than-usual post-season use of parks is indicated, however, with the end of gas rationing and layoffs in factories devoted to war production.

The department will keep several larger northern parks open for several weeks longer to accommodate the "hay fever" trade.

Big downstate parks within easy reach of large population centers attracted the bulk of recreation-seekers since the park season opened last Memorial Day.

Bay City state park with 986,000 visitors through August 26 is well ahead of the 888,000 clocked in 1944 and leads all parks this year. Grand Haven's 726,500 visitors in the same period are not far short of the 1944 total of 745,000 and Dodge Four near Pontiac had 388,000 on August 26 as compared with 401,000 in the entire season last year.

Attendance on recent week-ends, however, was considerably below that on comparable dates last season.

The department opened 50 parks for the 1945 season, and has been plagued by lack of competent help. Some big beaches were without lifeguards again and there was a dearth of park rangers.

Attendance in 1941, last big season, was nearly 10,000,000.

Children Working War has reduced high school enrollment by 1,000 students, turning it back to the 1924 level, and raised the number of employed 14 to 17 year olds to 3,000,000, or a half million more than were employed in 1920.

Trains for Steel More than 4,400 freight cars are needed every day to haul away the finished products of the steel mills at today's record output level.

VETERAN NEWS

from the OFFICE OF VETERANS' AFFAIRS Lansing.

United States Civil Service Job Openings

The United States Civil Service Commission announces regulations by which all veterans may be entitled to preference in getting government jobs which do not require civil service examinations.

Conforming with the Veterans' Preference Law, these regulations provide that no non-veteran may be hired as an elevator operator, messenger, guard or custodian as long as a qualified veteran is available and that in connection with jobs in which experience is a consideration, the length of time spent in military service may be credited if a veteran had previously held a job similar to the one for which he applies.

Air Technical Service Jobs

Under a plan that has been devised recently, members who have been discharged from the Army Air Forces can easily obtain various types of employment with the Air Technical Service Command which has 137 installations throughout the United States.

Col. Ralph Nemo, chief of personnel and base services of ATSC, states that the command has some 6,000 types of jobs. As long as vacancies exist an effort is being made to place veterans of the Army Air Forces in capacities which they will be able to use their skills and experience. All veterans employed by the Air Technical Service Command will be entitled to the same privileges as any federal employee and are also entitled to a preference rating of 10 points in any examination for a vacancy. Opportunities for specialized training are provided for those who qualify.

Men 17 to 26 May Now Enlist In Marine Corps

Detroit, Sept. 10—The opening of voluntary U. S. Marine Corps enlistments to men from 17 to 26 was announced here today by Major L. W. Carmichael, officer in charge of the Detroit Recruiting Station in the Griswold Building.

Major Carmichael also announced termination of further duration enlistments in the Marine Corps Reserve.

Marine Corps applicants must have had eight years of school, must be single and have no dependents. Those between the ages of 17 and 18 must have the signed consent of both their parents or their legal guardian.

Those who have passed their 18th birthday do not need their parents' consent to enlist.

This revision in enlistment ages does not change an individual's responsibility under the Selective Service law. Men above 18 still are subject to Selective Service but are given the privilege of voluntarily enlisting in the Marines. When a Selective Service registrant is accepted by the Marine Corps, his draft board will be so informed by the Marine Corps and he will be considered to have fulfilled all Selective Service requirements.

Young men who enlist in the Marine Corps are offered the opportunity to complete their education through the Marine Corps Institute and to obtain high school diploma.

Those who choose the Marine Corps as a career may earn up to $138 a month base pay, plus extra allowances which can raise the total pay to in excess of $200 a month. After 20 years' service a Marine is entitled to retirement at one half his base pay, plus allowances. After 30 years he may retire on two thirds pay. Thus the way is open for a man's retirement at 47 years of age on retirement pay of more than $150 a month.

All Marine enlisted men are eligible to take an annual competitive examination for appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis.

president named her committee members for the year. The meeting was adjourned and a social hour was enjoyed.

The assisting hostesses were Mrs. P. G. Schaible, Mrs. L. G.

Reports Peace Clears Way for New Food Era

New York—The American public can look forward to more food in the immediate future only if food producers, processors and distributors keep up their efforts to improve the production and distribution of the nation's food supplies, says John A. Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company.

The food industry leader stated that the end of the war clears the way for a new era in the food business that will be featured by improved quality, better service, finer stores and more efficient handling methods.

"As far as the quantity of food immediately available to civilians is concerned," Hartford said, "it is obvious that government food requirements will continue heavy for some time to come and our food goals can only be reached if all factors in the industry continue to work together to keep production and distribution at a high level of efficiency."

"Fortunately, the nation's farmers have demonstrated their ability to produce record quantities of food despite shortages of labor, equipment and fertilizer. With the prospect of early alleviation of these shortages, we know that we can count on the farmer to grow enough food to meet the nation's needs."

"The end of the war should eventually mean increased civilian supplies of processed foods as well, since much of the output of the entire food industry has been going to the government. For example, our own factories have supplied approximately 400,000,000 pounds of food to our armed services and allies since Pearl Harbor. More than 50 per cent of the evaporated milk production of our White House Milk plants in Wisconsin has been going to the government. A similar governmental set-aside has applied to the tomato packing activities of our Brockport, N. Y., plant. "Improved quality in foods will result from the application of technological improvements developed during the war period. Our own company, for example, has been conducting exhaustive research with the Ohio State University on the pre-packaging of fresh produce in order to improve quality and appearance and reduce waste and spoilage. Our fish department has learned how to quick-freeze seafood so as to preserve the fresh-caught flavor. These are but a few typical examples of the experiments that our own company and others in the food industry have launched during the war that will be intensified as quickly as possible now that peace is here."

"Similarly store construction and modernization has been practically at a standstill during the war, but intensive research has been going on and when critical materials are once again available, we should see the rapid development of finer food stores designed to result in greater shopping conveniences. Consumers can anticipate greatly improved service in food stores as soon as the millions of skilled retail food employees now in the armed services return to their jobs."

"All of these improvements, of course, will not come about overnight, but with the splendid spirit of cooperation among producers, distributors and consumers, developed during the war years, the food outlook for this nation is definitely brighter," Hartford concluded.

Out of respect to the Chelseaites' old age, the camp boys placed their second team in the field—otherwise the story of the game might have been different. High-light of the game was a home-run by John Alber (or rather, he was safe at home when the catcher dropped the ball).

More Game But Less Ammunition Predicted

Lansing—There may be more of everything except ammunition during the 1945 hunting seasons.

Some dealers in shotgun shells and rifle ammunition are pessimistic about the outlook. They point out that even if manufacturers get into production of ammunition for sporting arms immediately, several months may be required to get the ammunition to the retailers' shelves.

Retailers normally get deliveries of ammunition for fall seasons during the preceding spring.

The conservation department, however, expects a substantial increase in number of hunters licensed for small game and deer seasons and department game men indicate there may be more rabbits and deer than a year ago.

The cold, wet spring destroyed many early broods of pheasants but observers report apparently greater numbers of young birds along roadsides, ranging from young chicks to almost mature birds. Young cottontail rabbits also appear to have weathered the inclement spring successfully.

Department deer experts have predicted an increase in the deer herd because of favorable weather during recent winters.

Pre-Invasion Shelling
Pre-invasion shelling by U. S. war ships was said to have destroyed most of the lowland trees on Peleliu island in the Palaus.
