Men In Service

Lieut. Jerry Hutton sent an interesting letter to his wife, telling of his experiences in Japan, where he is serving with the Military Police.

Lieut. Hutton received his training at Camp Joseph Robinson, Ark., Fort Banning, Ga., Fort McClellan, Ala. and Fort Ord, Calif., leaving for overseas duty in October 1945.

Jerry is well known in this vicinity, having serviced this territory for Michigan Bakeries, while living at North Lake. Mrs. Hutton and family have been residents of Chelsea for the past two years.

The letter follows:

Thursday, Nov. 15, 1945.

Dear Jean,

I have finally reached by destination and have been assigned. I'll go back to my last letter in which I told you about going to Nagasaki. We got to Nagasaki about a week ago and it seems that our orders had been changed and they didn't need us there. We didn't get off the boat at all and so couldn't see the city. We stayed in the harbor over night and left the next day for Nagoya which is about two hundred miles southwest of Tokyo. It took us about twenty-six hours on the boat and arrived the next afternoon in Nagoya. We didn't get off the boat until the next morning and I was assigned to the 33rd Division whose headquarters are in Kobe.

I'm stationed in a town called Takarazuka. This town is located about 250 miles southwest of Tokyo in Central Honshu. I'll try to give you some idea of what it's like over here as best I can. First of all, almost every city, town and village has been bombed and I mean really blasted to bits. There is very little left standing in the larger cities and the town I'm in is about the best I've seen so far. The attitude of the people is surprisingly friendly and they all bow and treat you like a king. We are living in a factory that suffered very little damage and its nothing like I expected. I thought we would be living in tents but our quarters are in very comfortable buildings. There isn't too much to do but so far the time has passed rather fast. Our job has been to police the town and go around to factories and tell them how to destroy the war material they have on hand. I had a very interesting experience the other day when we went to the town of Kyoto to inspect a factory that manufactured rayon cloth and part of it machined all the parts for torpedos. We went there to check the destruction of the torpedo parts. The managing director met us when we went into the plant and he could speak fair English. There were eight of us and we got to the plant about noon. We went all through the factory and told him what to do with the parts we wanted destroyed.

We finished up about one o'clock and then the managing director invited us to his home for dinner, which we all accepted and drove out to his home. The kind of dinner we had is called Sukiyaki which I'll explain later. When we arrived at the man's house we went into the hall and all took off our shoes. The house didn't look any different than most I've seen at home except there isn't any furniture. The floors are covered with straw mats. We went into the dining room and there were little round tables that stood about two feet off the floor. Each table had a hole about a foot square in the center. We sat on little pillows on the floor around the tables. The first thing they served was Jap beer which isn't had at all. The next course they served was a plate with small boiled potatoes and some kind of fish that was very good. I kept wondering what the hole in the center of the table was for, but I soon learned, as the next thing they brought in was a bucket of charcoal that was placed in the hole and a metal dish on top. Then in came a huge plate of raw chicken, potatoes and onion tops. The idea being that the food was cooked right on the table over the charcoal. It tasted very good and I ate until I was stuffed. The next serving was hot Laki and it's very good hot but strong cold. For dessert we had a big bowl of rice, tea and fruit. The meal lasted two hours. We all ate with chop sticks. It took me a little while to learn how to use them but I managed to pick up everything without losing it in my lap. When it came time to leave we were all given an open invitation to come anytime and after much bowing and nodding we left and I almost left my shoes behind.

Well honey I sure hope I can spend next Christmas with you and the kids and I'll take good old Chelsea anytime to any part of Japan.

All my love—Jerry.

Pearl Harbor, T. H.—Carmel L. Slocum, MoMM-1C, husband of Imogene Slocum, of Chelsea, Mich. is on his way home.

Slocum is one of over 1,250 high-point Navy veterans whom the "Magic Carpet" is bringing back to the States aboard the U.S.S. Faerle.

The U.S.S. Faerle—one of more than 250 carriers, battleships, cruisers, and attack transports in the Navy's famed "Magic Carpet" fleet—left Okinawa on November 15 and was scheduled to arrive in San Francisco about December 1.

Passengers were to go directly to the Separation Centers nearest their homes to complete the formalities of obtaining their discharges before returning to civilian life.

With the United States Forces on the Riviera, Nice, France—Pfc. Robert R. Manville, Chelsea, Michigan, clerk-typist with Headquarters Battery, 81st Field Artillery Battalion, recently spent a seven day rest furlough in the U. S. Riviera Recreation Area at Nice.

During his stay on the famous Blue Coast, the "Cote d'Azur" frequented by millionaire cosmopolites before the war, Pfc. Manville enjoyed the many vacation pleasures organized by the U. S. Army to give its soldiers a chance to rest and relax. Swimming, cruising, bicycling, and sight-seeing are favorite GI activities on the Riviera. Motor coaches take U. S. soldiers to Grasse, perfume center of the world, to Vallauris, where artisans make earthenware vases and utensils, and to Monte Carlo, famous for its Casino.

Pfc. Manville, 18 months in the Army, 11 months overseas, has served in England, France, Belgium, Luxembourg and Germany. Formerly with Company "C," 885th Inf., 76th Infantry Division, he has been awarded three battle participation stars on his TAO Ribbon for the Ardennes, Central Europe and Rhineland campaigns, Good Conduct Medal and Combat Infantry Badge. He is now stationed in France. A student before entering the Army, he lived with his mother, Mrs. Ida Manville, at Chelsea.

BETTER CONDUCT CAMPAIGN

Several weeks ago Miss Beam, Student Council Advisor, John Wellnitz, Buildings and Grounds Committee chairman, and representatives from the 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades met and began plans for a campaign—a campaign to improve the conduct of the students around school.

At their first meeting the group decided that the following things stood out as the conduct problems:

1. Confusion and noise in the halls during the passing of classes;

2. Monopolizing the drinking fountain;

3. Unwarranted congestion in the locker rooms;

4. The throwing of papers around in the building and on the grounds.

With these in mind, the committee went ahead and organized the campaign. It opened Monday morning at an assembly in study hall where the committee presented the conduct problems in the form of a skit. Afterwards, various students, along with Mr. Johnson, were interviewed as to their opinions of a remedy for these problems.

Agreeing with the committee's verdict, they all felt that the only true remedy was, and is, the old saying, "do unto others as you would have them do unto you!" After all, a little common courtesy, if practiced by each of us, can go a long way toward keeping the wonderful reputation Chelsea high school has always held.

We sincerely hope that even after the week's campaign is over that all the students will keep in mind the points stressed and heed the striking posters found posted on all the bulletin boards. The matter is a serious one and deserves serious attention. Let's have the cooperation of everyone! How about it students? It's our problem and we'll solve it.

PEP MEETING

Friday we had a super "pep-meeting" sponsored by the G.A.A. Elaine McClellan was the mistress of ceremonies. It started off with two huge cheers, after which Miss Beam announced the G.A.A. girls to be on the first and second basketball teams.

Elaine then read a poem revised from Hiawatha to fit our team and coach, which she had written herself. The two Indian squaws were Picky Hale and June Vail. The only speeches were given by Mr. Cameron and LeRoy May, as Jim Carraher and Dick Kern didn't come. Then Elaine told a simply perfect joke about Mr. and Mrs. Cameron when they went for an airplane ride. Two more cheers were given by the cheer leaders with lots of help from the audience, followed by singing the school song as always.

HOMEMAKING

In Homemaking I they are making bedroom slippers.

The girls in Homemaking II are sewing on wool of different styles.

The Homemaking III class is studying in the line of art. They are practicing decorative wrapping of gifts, learning how to etch glass, make Christmas cards, bedroom slippers, lapel pins and several other articles.

All of us have learned to be economical.

NOON HOUR B.B. LEAGUE

Bill Van Riper—General manager.

Richard Carlson—Assistant general manager.

Robert Schneider—Secretary.

Allen Geer—Assistant secretary.

The captains of the four teams are D. Barth, B. Bauer, O. Hansen, and R. Carlson.

At present, the Noon Hour Basketball League standings are:

After carefully watching the girls who went out for basketball in G.A.A., the teams were finally chosen. The forwards on the first team are: June Vail, Jean Eisenbeiser, Helen Hanker, and Aileen Lewis. The guards are: Frances Hale, Mary Ottomani, Donna Manville and Barbara Luick. The members of the second team are: forwards, Rosemary Hummel, Joanne Moore, Wilma Paul, Opal O'Dell, Elaine McClellan, Joyce Hughes and Mae Slane. The guards are: Janis Weir, Myrna Robards and Virginia Lesser. The girls will play their first game at Saline on January 4.

ASSEMBLIES

Monday morning another assembly was held here at Chelsea High for the purpose of improving our conduct in school. Elaine McClellan gave an opening speech on good conduct, telling us all our faults such as—throwing paper wads, taking three or four steps at a time on the stairs, talking, running in the halls, and pushing people's heads in the water fountains. After her speech, a skit was given on the conduct in classes in Chelsea high school, which the audience saw by means of "television." Miss Beam was the teacher, and pupils were chosen from the different grades to be the "naughty" little pupils. What fun they had!

Next Elaine interviewed the following people, asking them their opinions on conduct: Marilyn Johnson, Donna

Kalmbach and Barbara Luick, who think everyone should greatly improve upon his manners and conduct in school. They all agreed everyone should keep to the right always. The Student Council president, Clara Miller, was not here to talk to us.

Mr. Johnson talked about the traffic situation in the halls, the paper wads, carelessness of those who sat at school every noon, and he also mentioned some facts about the places where people always leave their gum. Elaine closed the assembly reminding everyone in school again that they must improve their good conduct.

F.A.A.

The F.A.A. held an auction at which they sold small farm implements. These toys could be used for models and were lovely Christmas gifts for small children. The money they get from this is to help with the project of pig raising. Each future farmer is to raise a pig and the money is to be used as sort of an award.

They are also working on the idea of a "pig-chain." That is, they want to get every F.A.A. club around Chelsea interested in the raising and selling of swine.

BIOGRAPHIES

Miss Lucille M. Thornton was born in Benton Harbor. She went to Benton Harbor High for her secondary education. Miss Thornton attended the U. of M. where she received her degree. Her favorite color is red; when asked what her favorite food was she thought for a moment then she replied, "chocolate cake." Her favorite song is "It's Been a Long, Long Time." She likes Chelsea, but wishes her classes were more attentive.

CHELSEA DEFEATS U. HIGH

Chelsea opened the basketball season Friday night at University high school at Ann Arbor by defeating the Cubs 21-19, showing that the Chelsea team is superior not only in football but in basketball over the favored University High team.

The contest, close but slow, showed that both teams have more work to put forth. Chelsea was the "better team" on the floor, sinking nine field goals, while U. High was kept in the game by their success at the free throw line.

Ray Knickerbocker put the game on ice for Chelsea in the closing minutes as he sank a medium-long one for the two points that evidently spelled victory for Chelsea.

Doug Vogel, Chelsea forward, led the Chelsea scoring with 6 points. Charles Slane, Ray Knickerbocker, Jim Miller and Cameron Colquhoun had 4 points each.

Keith Gilpin, University High guard, led their scoring with 7 points; he was U. High's outstanding player.

Picking the star for the Chelsea team would be very difficult as all the boys that played did very well.

In the preliminary game, the Chelsea reserves defeated the University High reserves 25-20. Don Baldwin and Dave Slane led the scoring with 11 and 10 points respectively. Jack Wellnitz, Charles Popp, Tom Smith, Jerome Burg, Paul Schaible, Dale Collins, John Wellnitz and Richard Carlson played well also.

The next game will be played with the Alumni. In this game the Alumni will be the favored team with so many stars back from the service. But, don't be surprised if the high school boys come up with an upset.

Famous Artist Sketched First Santa for U. S.

Thomas Nast Is Credited With Pictorializing
 Famous Character
 In 1873.

Thomas Nast, the famous cartoonist who created our conception of Uncle Sam, the Republican elephant and the Democratic donkey, is also credited with giving America its first modern pictorialization of Santa Claus.

Nast first sketched his notion of Santa Claus in 1873. This Santa was a rollicking, chubby old man smoking a pipe and dressed in what looked like a night shirt with fur collar and cuffs. Since that day he has grown taller and rounder, has developed a full white beard and mustache and above all has acquired the traditional red suit bordered in ermine.

The story of how our American version of Santa Claus evolved is interesting. According to legend, children of Lapland and Siberia, raised on tales of the good and generous St. Nicholas, thought of their benefactor as dressed in furs and traveling in a reindeer-drawn sleigh, just as they did themselves.

Wondrous stories of this great Fourth century saint, who gave handsome presents to good little children, were repeated at the firesides of all Europe from the time of his death in 342. The Dutch children observed the anniversary of his death on December 6 and received presents in their wooden shoes.

These Dutch youngsters thought of St. Nicholas as a stern old man with a long white beard, garbed in bishop's robes and carrying a stick to chastise naughty children.

The little Hollanders coming with their parents to found New Amsterdam brought Santa Claus or "San Claas" as they said, with them. In no time the English colonial children whose fathers had taken over the Dutch settlement and renamed it New York caught on to this wonderful man. The English moved his yearly visit from December 6 to New Year's Eve.

Germans coming to America brought their Christmas customs; Christmas trees and Christmas candles burned in honor of the Christ Child, whom the German children called "Kris Kringle."

At about the time that these festivities were making Christmas Day important, families beginning to spread across the country chose this celebration as a day of feasting. Thus the Dutch figure of Santa Claus, the German traditions of Christmas and the English season of celebration became combined in one single holiday.

Christmas Card Is Century Old

The centennial of the Christmas card is being observed this year.

It was in 1848—just 100 years ago—that the first Christmas card was designed and distributed.

This pioneer greeting was the creation of W. C. Dobson, a noted British artist, who was said to be a favorite of Queen Victoria. Dobson, according to tradition, made copies of his card and sent them to friends in London and elsewhere in the British Isles.

The custom established by Dobson found numerous devotees. In 1848, an English nobleman, Sir Henry Cole, commissioned an artist, John Calcott Horsley, to design a Christmas card for him.

According to one story, Sir Henry Cole had received such a large number of holiday letters that he could not find time to answer them all. As a means of solving this problem, he called in Horsley and asked him to design an appropriate card.

Horsley's first Christmas card depicted a Victorian English family enjoying the holiday. Except for the profusion of detail, the card is like many of the modern greetings. The traditional "A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year" was inscribed on the card, with blank spaces for filling in the name of the sender and the recipient.

From this beginning a century ago, the custom of sending Christmas cards has spread across the ocean, to the United States where it has become a traditional part of the holiday observance.

OFFICE OF VETERANS' AFFAIRS

Michigan Bell Offers Opportunities to Veterans

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company has announced that, in recognition of experience in the armed forces, it will grant increased starting pay rates to returning veterans entering the company's service for the first time.

George M. Welch, president of the company, said the extent of the increase will depend upon the experience of veterans while in the armed forces. He emphasized, however, that the practice will not eliminate the element of judgment in the individual hiring of new employees.

The new practice simply grants recognition to the fact that the veteran has undergone a measure of development useful in the telephone business while in the armed forces," Welch said. "For such purposes, veterans are placed into two general classifications: 1. Those with no communications experience but in who military service has developed maturity and certain other abilities. 2. Those with communications experience related to telephone occupations, or have had specialized training courses while in the service."

For those without communications experience, the starting pay rates will be advanced up to a maximum of eight months on the wage-progression schedules, depending on the length of their military service. Starting pay of those with a year or more of communications experience will be advanced an additional four months on the schedules. Thus, if a veteran were in the armed forces 32 months, including a year of telephone training, a maximum credit of one year could be allowed.

The case of every veteran with telephone experience will be reviewed three months after entering the company's service. After comparing his progress with that of other employees in similar work, another adjustment may be made, depending on the ability shown by the veteran.

Adjustments are to be made in the pay of veterans hired prior to the effective date of the plan.

Welch pointed out the practice applies only to veterans who never before worked for the company. Employees in the armed forces are on leave of absence and, upon returning to the company, receive full credit for all service in the armed forces and the same pay rates had they remained on their old jobs.

The company expects to employ about 2,000 new telephone workers, many of whom will come from the ranks of returning veterans, when its $120,000,000 postwar construction program is well under way. Those are in addition to employees in the armed forces, originally numbering more than 3,000 who will return to their jobs. Michigan Bell now has about 2,450 employees in the service.

468 back on the job from the armed forces, and 53 on the Gold Star Honor Roll.

TIPS for Holiday TRIP Comfort:

GO EARLY...
 GO GREYHOUND!

Start Before, Return After the Holiday Rush

The happiest Christmas in four long years means that millions of Americans will be on the move—especially right around the Holidays.

You'll be wise to take your Year-End trip early, a little before the rush days—returning a little after, if convenient—rather than during the immediate holiday period, when all travel facilities will be most heavily taxed.

So we say Go Early... Go Greyhound! You'll get more for your travel dollar—more comfort, more enjoyment—by arranging to go before or after the days when travel is heaviest.

And here's another timely tip: Check with the Greyhound Agent, in advance of the date you plan to leave, for complete information about schedules, fares and routes.

Drinking Tests
All persons harboring 0.15 per cent or more of alcohol in their blood are to be considered "under the influence," since they have lost, at least to some extent, some of that clearness of intellect and self control that they would otherwise possess. Laws embodying this interpretation have been passed by Indiana, Maine and New York, and the tests have been admitted as evidence in almost every state of the Union.

Selective Breeding
Selective breeding has reduced undesirable characteristics of sheep, such as wool blindness and excessive skin folds that detract from the value of the animals for both meat and wool.

White Lilies
White lilies look best against an evergreen background. All lilies appear to advantage when planted in small groups among other plants.

By GENE ALLEMAN

Assuming that there are two sides to everything—even to the Michigan automobile strike—the Michigan Mirror this week undertakes the difficult task of appraising the wage controversy between Michigan automobile companies and the UAW-CIO union.

First, we assume also that it is a proper and fundamental duty of the press to report facts objectively. This, in itself, is not easy to do. Eye-witnesses to an accident often tell different stories. A jury consists of 12 individuals, not just one, as a safeguard against miscarriage of justice.

Second, we assume that an enlightened public opinion—created by both emotional declarations of the two parties and by the facts as others see them—will be the major and final factor determining outcome of the Michigan strike.

That's where YOU come into the picture. And that's where YOUR government, prodded by YOUR opinion, may intervene.

The Michigan automobile business dates back to 1899 when the Olds Vehicle company, which had moved from Lansing to Detroit, began regular production of automobiles. In 1911 the newly-formed General Motors Corporation took over the Olds work.

In 1901 Henry Ford produced his first car; the company, a family-held corporation, was chartered in 1919. As an historian would see it, this is rapid transformation. Here is a comparatively NEW industry.

It resulted in a boom for Detroit whose population jumped from 285,704 in 1900 to 1,568,662 in 1930—the span of a single generation! Other cities—Flint, Saginaw, Pontiac, Lansing, Grand Rapids—experienced a similar growth.

Because the automobile industry employs mass production methods, its labor demand has been largely for UNSKILLED workmen. Highly skilled mechanical jobs are relatively few. We recall one Lansing automobile industrialist saying that an average farm boy could learn to be a good automobile worker in 30 days, but that if he were a GOOD farm boy, he could do it in three days!

Because no great skill was required, the auto industry sought to supply its labor needs in midwestern and southern states: Michigan, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, Tennessee and the "Deep South." This migration to Michigan unfortunately did not stimulate deep roots here; much of the labor has been transient and marginal.

Another characteristic of the industry has been its periodic fluctuations of employment. New models. A change may lay off thousands. When Ford changed from the famous Model T, some 60,000 workers were idle for months.

The unskilled nature of the work, plus periodic unemployment, did not make for steady income. The N.R.A. study of wages in the auto industry shows that 45 per cent of the workers received an annual income of less than $1,000.

Here you have a new industry, employing unskilled workers and subjecting them to periodical loss of income.

It seems inevitable that labor unrest would breed in such fertile soil. Remember 1937 and the sit-down strikes in Michigan? Here was evidence that the pendulum had swung far to the left. The United States supreme court declared the action to be illegal.

But it is significant to note that the C.I.O. labor movement in Michigan is less than a decade old in experience. Here also is a NEW development.

The newness of the UAW-CIO, in fact, is perhaps its greatest strength and also its greatest weakness.

Led by the Reuther brothers, the union has boldly demanded a straight 30 per cent increase in the worker's hour rate—or 48 hours' pay for 40 hours' work. Further than that, the union insists that the corporation's profits is a matter of proprietary interest of the workers—certainly a socialistic idea and one that fits well into the thinking of the Reuther brothers.

General Motors countered with an offer to increase the hour rate 10 per cent and to assure a 45-hour work-week. Whereas the hour rate has been $1.12 to $1.15 (according to the union) or $1.18 (according to GM), the new hour rate would be $1.26. The take-home pay would be $57.30 (allowing for the same absenteeism at 45 hours as existed at 48 hours) compared with the union's demand for $59.80 for 40 hours' work. Allowing for absenteeism, the workers' take-home pay last June (1945) was $55.64. Thus, the GM offer would result in MORE take-home pay than the worker received during war-time.

The struggle is akin to David's combat with Goliath. That General Motors' financial position is reported by the New York Times as being at $2.2 billions in total assets and $1.1 billion in liquid assets, while the union's total resources if distributed to all union members would be only around $36 each.

If the union is successful in getting anything like a 30 per cent boost in wage rates, the effect will be widespread upon our national economy. Prices inevitably must be adjusted upward. Result will be inflationary.

If wages are linked to profits, then the worker must be willing to expect the formula to work both ways. When profits go down, the workers' wages must go down.

The union's weakness, as we see it, lies in its radical and irresponsible leadership. Back of the Reuther boys' thinking in the UAW-CIO is a desire to nationalize the automobile industry. That is state socialism, which opens the door to totalitarian government and death of the free enterprise system.

The public has much at stake in the outcome of the Michigan automobile strike.

Good rural line neighbors give the other fellow a chance

There are very few more rural telephone lines today than before the war. But, because there were so many "war essential" rural folks who had service installed, there are almost twice as many telephones as before the war. In other words, there now are more telephones per line.

We intend to move ahead with the job of adding more lines just as fast as conditions permit. First we will provide telephones to those who are waiting. Then we will reduce the number of telephones per line. Meanwhile, everyone can enjoy better service if he will share the line with a true spirit of friendliness.

You'll help by keeping all calls short... avoid listening in or interrupting when the line is in use... hang up your receiver carefully. One receiver off the hook ties up a whole line.

What Is Christmas Without Toys?

There is no shortage of toys, although the trend has been toward mechanical or educational types. Dolls have not been forgotten, however.

Save Greeting Cards for Making Different Unique Gift Decorations

Here's a suggestion that will make your friends wish they had thought of it first.

Don't throw away the lovely greeting cards you have received and saved during the year. Keep them as ornaments for packages, or to decorate an otherwise plain wall.

The next time you wrap a gift for someone, glance through the greeting cards you have saved and pick out one with a colorful or appropriate picture on it. Cut the picture out neatly, glue or paste it on your gift wrapping. That's all there is to it.

There are any number of objects about the house that outlasts from greeting cards might brighten: closet doors, furniture, waste paper baskets, screen and cigarette boxes. Pasted on and coated with a preservative of clear shellac, greeting cards can serve a variety of decorative purposes.

Inexpensive and distinctive gift novelties can be made from the greeting cards. Bookends, jelly jars for flower vases, bookmarks, matchbooks, handblotters, tally cards and score pads can be made to look quite impressive by the simple addition of a design cut out from greeting cards and pasted on these objects.

The lovely etchings and reproductions of famous masters and the flower prints that appear on so many greeting cards are well worth the price of a small frame. These pint-sized pictures are "just the thing" to brighten a dark corner of some room or entrance hall.

Some rainy afternoon when the children are looking for something to do, give them the greeting cards you have saved during the year. Especially will they like to make gay blotters from the cutout designs. Have them make small-sized ones for checkbooks, a good-sized one for Dad's desk, and a pretty feminine one for Mother's correspondence, or selected ones for friends.

Opportunity Is Offered Vets for Re-enlistment

Detroit.—Veterans of World War II are given an opportunity seldom offered and practically unheard of in the Army. The "plum" of all assignments in the Army is open to discharged veterans who want to enlist for three years and can qualify for no job.

The Recruiting Officer for this area stated, "There are a number of vacancies for assignment to Recruiting Duty in the Lower Peninsula. We are particularly interested in securing individuals of a high calibre since men on recruiting duty are pretty much on their own. Take a man who is living in any of the towns listed below for an example; if he wishes to enlist for three years and qualifies for recruiting duty, he will be assigned to duty in his home town. There is no K.P. guard duty, or any of the usual Post 'housekeeping' details which he has to perform. His time after office hours is his to do with as he pleases. Men on this type of duty receive their regular base pay and in addition are paid $105.00 per month for their room and board."

There are vacancies in Saginaw, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Flint, Ionia, Jackson, St. Joseph, Alpena, Traverse City, Leape, Ann Arbor, Port Huron, Bay City, Cadillac, Lansing, and Pontiac.

Any veteran who is interested should call the nearest Army Recruiting Station immediately since the vacancies will be filled on a "first come, first served" basis.
