Wm. G. Kolb Purchases Grocery of R. B. Dexter

Wm. G. Kolb, who has been associated with the business life of Chelsea for more than thirty-five years, announces the purchase of R. B. Dexter's grocery (formerly the A&P store) and took possession of his new business on Tuesday of this week.

According to Mr. Kolb, he will include new equipment in the store, including electric refrigerated display cases, new lighting fixtures, additional shelving, will improve the window display space and the exterior of the store will be painted. He will stock all standard merchandise and a full line of fresh vegetables.

Kolb started his career in the grocery business when he was thirteen years of age, starting as a clerk in Freeman's Grocery. Immediately after his discharge from the army, the close of World War I, he purchased the restaurant on Main street now operated as Moore's Restaurant, and owned that business for four years, when he sold it to Jos. Schmebeck.

He then purchased a grocery store in Ann Arbor, which he operated for two years, returning here to purchase the restaurant from Mr. Schmebeck, and continued in the restaurant business until two years ago, when ill health forced him to dispose of the business to the Moores.

Since last August, Kolb has been employed in Glick's Department Store.

Obstructions In Ditches Threat to County Roads

Obstructions placed in roadside ditches by rural dwellers is a constant threat to county roads, according to Kenneth Hallenbeck, county road commission superintendent and manager.

"Home builders in subdivisions throughout Washtenaw county believe they are saving money by placing junked hot water boilers or crock tile in the road ditch," Hallenbeck said. "These substitutes for acceptable material soon fail and then we find storm water running across the road and washing it out or causing a softening of the roadway." Persons who put in such obstructions, he said, are ordered to remove them and replace them as a road preservation measure.

A failure to provide correct drainage facilities in ditches or to otherwise place obstructions in ditches constitutes a violation of law, Hallenbeck reminded would-be builders.

All drainage structures must be approved by the road commission, he pointed out. In nearly all cases the 12-inch minimum diameter pipe of concrete or corrugated iron will suffice; however, larger diameter pipe is sometimes necessary. As an aid to home owners the commission has a supply of pipe on hand to sell at cost.

Retailers Ask Congress To Remove Obstacles

In a telegram sent to members of the United States Senate, the National Retail Dry Goods Association, while admitting the need for a short-term extension of the Price Control Act, urge that every possible measure be taken to encourage production. The telegram, dated April 24, follows:

"The members of the National Retail Dry Goods Association wish to restate the position we have consistently maintained with reference to the Price Control Act.

1. We recognize the temporary nature for a short-term extension of the Act.

2. We believe the present administration of OPA has discouraged and stopped production of needed goods. It has forced scarce commodities into black markets. Production is the real cure for price inflation and we urge that every possible measure be taken to encourage production.

3. We believe that definite standards should be established by Congress and not left to administrative discretion.

4. We believe that for the good of the country, Congress must clearly state its intentions and its policies for the guidance of the Price Administrator so that obstacles to full production may be quickly eliminated.

5. We urge that Congress amend the law as to allow the productive capacity of American industry to supply the needs of American consumers to the same full measure that it supplied our war needs.

(Signed)
Benjamin H. Namm, President,
National Retail Dry Goods Association.

Hi-Y To Present Play With All Male Cast

Chelsea high school Hi-Y Club is preparing to the people of Chelsea the highlight of the year. A gay ninety-melodrama entitled "Dirty Work at the Cross Roads" or "Tempted, Tried and True" will be given Friday, May 3 at 8:00 p.m. in the C.H.S. gym.

The play tells in laughable style the tear-jerking story of Nellie Lovelace, an innocent country girl, of Adam Oakhart, the stalwart blacksmith's son, and of Munro Murgatroyd, the villain from the big city. Munro, the viper, has a wife in his Rhinogast, the bells of the New Haven. Music Halls, but that does not prevent him from pursuing the innocent Nellie and tearing her from the arms of her dying mother (whom, incidentally, he has poisoned, not to prevent him from driving Adam to drink, from blackmailing the rich Mrs. Upon Astorbilt (750 millions), or from bewitching her daughter, Leonie.

However, justice prevails. The villain meets his just reward, is crushed to death by an onrushing train, and Adam is restored to the arms of Nellie.

The female parts will be taken by the boys, and with hair wigs and appropriate dresses, the entertainment will be well worth your while.

Softball League Opens Season Week of 20th

Members of the Chelsea Softball League held their first meeting at the public school last Thursday evening with eight teams being represented. The teams were Cassidy Lake, Central Fibre, V.F.W., Federal Screw Works, Bowser's, Chelsea Spring Co., McLaughlin's, and Stockbridge. The representatives voted to play night games, starting at 8:30, every Tuesday of the season during the week of May 20.

The second meeting has been scheduled for the evening of May 8, at which time officers will be elected and final details worked out for the season's play. Any player who has not signed up with a team and wishes to play is asked to be present at this meeting.

RUMMAGE SALE

The Chelsea Study Club will hold its Annual Spring Rummage Sale this week Friday and Saturday, from one to five o'clock, and Saturday evening from 7 to 9 o'clock. The study club is interested to know that any item not sold at the Rummage Sale will be turned over to the Good Will Industries. So bring your discarded household items and clothing, so others may benefit.

The Building and Repair Problem

Every day we are questioned regarding the availability of materials for building and repair work. We can't give an encouraging answer to all building demands but we are constantly trying to maintain as full and varied a stock of material as possible.

Some necessary items are almost unobtainable, others are plentiful—for some of the more scarce items workable substitutes have been developed.

Many people give us an idea of what they want to build or repair and simply ask us if it is possible. If you have questions regarding materials, building and repair limits or priorities, we would like to try and answer them.

New Farm Management Specialist At Mich. State

Dr. Clare A. Becker, recently discharged from the navy with the rank of Lieutenant Commander, has joined the staff at Michigan State College as extension specialist in farm management. In this position Mr. Becker will work with farmers and farm groups throughout Michigan.

Dr. Becker received his B.S. degree from Michigan State College in 1937 and his Ph.D. from Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y., in 1942, where he was on the staff from 1937 until 1942.

Employment In Foreign Countries Is Available

The United States Employment Service in Ann Arbor announces a new service available for persons seeking foreign employment, through a directory designated as a "Guide to Foreign Employment Opportunities." The April issue of this guide lists 59 occupations for professional workers, 22 clerical occupations, 94 in skilled trades, and 29 in semi-skilled and unskilled fields. These, of course, are for both men and women. Job openings are located in Europe, Asia, Central and South America, Hawaii, and other less known and out-of-the-way places.
The Ann Arbor office of the USES will be pleased to discuss these job opportunities with university students and others," said Lawrence Hamberg, manager. "The opportunity for specially trained persons to work and travel in foreign countries may appeal to a number of people in Washtenaw county," he continued.

CORRECTION
Due to an error, the name of Anna McClean, junior vice-president, was omitted from the list of V.E.W. Auxiliary officers published in last week's issue.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Troitz of Cleveland, Ohio, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elba Gage.

Farmers Face Problem In Feeding Livestock

Stretching the limited feed supply is one of the biggest problems facing the Michigan farmer today.

To help the farmer with the situation he faces, specialists at Michigan State College have prepared hints on how feed can best be utilized. Various departments—farm management, dairy, poultry and animal husbandry—combined to prepare the information. Here are 10 general suggestions:

1. Use feed-grains with utmost efficiency, and release any excess for food.
2. Balance livestock operations on the farm with the feed supply.
3. Feed less grain to low-producing stock.
4. Sell cull stock on the present favorable market.
5. Sell hogs at lighter weights and cattle with moderate finish, if short of feed.
6. Avoid wasting grain by (a) killing rats and mice, and (b) controlling livestock diseases and parasites.
7. If short of grain, buy amount needed to last to harvest, when possible.
8. Use hay, pasture, and other roughage as much as possible to lessen grain needs.
9. Fertilize pasture to increase its feed production.
10. Increase the acreage of spring grains.

While feed-grains in Michigan were slightly above normal on January 1, 1946 little will be received until after harvest. Michigan normally feeds more livestock than its grain production will support.
Specific recommendations are made for poultry, dairy cows, and general livestock fattening. The complete information was published as Extension Folder F-98, "How to Stretch Your Feed Supply." Copies may be obtained from your county extension office or by writing: The Bulletin Office, Department of Public Relations, Michigan State College, East Lansing.

W.S.C.S. HOSTESS TO GUILD

The W.S.C.S. of the Methodist church was hostess to the Congregational Ladies' Guild on Thursday evening, when the members of these organizations, with their families, enjoyed a pot-luck supper in the church dining room. Covers were laid for 156. The program, in charge of Mrs. Edwin I. Gaunt, president of the W.S.C.S., opened with devotionals by Rev. E. R. Major. The guest speaker,

Dr. D. D. Brumbaugh, director of the Council of Detroit churches, gave a very interesting talk on Japan, which he had served as a missionary for 12 years. Vocal solos, "My Task," by Linnaeus, were rendered by Paul and Linnaeus.
Mrs. August Dorer is a patient at Mercy hospital, Jackson, having submitted to a major operation on Saturday.

Indiscriminate Shooting Is Strictly Forbidden

Lansing—Spring fever that sends juveniles afield with .22 caliber rifles may get their parents into trouble, and the conservation department wants it definitely known that its off-season gun permits authorize no indiscriminate shooting. The department has been issuing gun permits at the rate of 500 a week since the first of the year, many of them to returned servicemen, for such legitimate purposes as target practice and the killing of crows and predators. Small boys abroad after the wintry confinement have been guilty of shooting at telephone pole insulators, of Misses Tille and Amanda Wagner bottles tossed into the river, songbirds and even windows of vacant buildings. Few of them, roaming the countryside with gun and gun permit, realize that, just as in hunting season, they must be accompanied by parent or other qualified older person until they pass their seventeenth birthday. Laws against trespass affect them, just as strongly as in hunting season, also. Conservation officers who find unaccompanied juveniles using firearms in a way to alarm suburban residents may hold the guns until the parents are interviewed. Older offenders may be prosecuted for careless use of firearms. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. P. Staffan and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wagner and children were Sunday dinner guests of Misses Tille and Amanda Wagner at their home near Ann Arbor.

Livestock Raisers Told To Ignore Wild Talk

Don't drown the little pigs and butcher the suckling calf just because the calamity howlers are producing the medicine for a bad case of "fitters" with talk of no feed for fattening livestock and the removal of subsidies on livestock without an equalizing loss in selling prices. That is the sound advice from specialists in the animal husbandry department at Michigan State college.

Although the federal government's nine-point food program heralds changes ahead for livestock feeders, C. A. Brown, department head, says: "The basic law of supply and demand is still the guiding beacon of agriculture and thus we are spared from hunger and want. That there will be an urgent demand for all we can produce is self-evident. While much has been written about the numbers of livestock, the number of food-producing animals per capita is not any greater than it was 20 years ago."

Stating that any talk of radical reduction in livestock numbers is ill-advised, he points out that 60 per cent of our land is devoted to grass that would produce no human food without grazing livestock. He recommends a systematic culling with the elimination of all inefficient producers, careful feeding of grain combined with the maximum utilization of roughage which will tide us over the present scarcity and leave enough food grain for shipment to Europe.

W. N. McMillen of the animal husbandry department urges the farmer to take the usual care and save every pig from the spring crop. "Pasture will be available this summer and pigs on excellent pasture can be grown with a scant ration of grain. Legume pasture will replace a large share of the protein."
He recommends that in case there is no grain with which to finish the pigs that they be sold as feeders.
"When the other fellow abandons hogs, it is a good time to use good management practices and keep producing pork," McMillen advises.

ANN ARBOR

24 Years Ago

Thursday, April 6, 1922

William Darwin Boyd, oldest son of Harvey C. and Mercy (Peck) Boyd, was born at Lima, Washtenaw county, Mich., Aug. 8, 1888. He married Sarah A. Warren, June 27, 1886 in Lima. To this union were born two children, Chas. J. and Elba H. Funck. Services were held for the residence of his niece, Mrs. Edith Weber, with Rev. E. A. Carnes officiating.
Mrs. Cordelia J. Freer, widow of A. Mortimer Freer, died at her home in Jackson. She was born in Sharon and for many years Mr. and Mrs. Freer were residents of Chelsea.

The worst storm so far as the oldest residents of Chelsea can remember visited this part of the country on Thursday and Friday, with a thick coating of ice hanging on trees, telephone poles and fences until late Saturday afternoon. Nearly all of the telephone poles and wires in every direction from Chelsea were either broken down from the weight of ice or falling tree limbs. All telephone service was out of commission. All local factories were forced to close Thursday, rural highways were blocked, dwellings were without lights, and schools closed. Considerable time and money will be required to repair the damage.
