Railroad Trespassing Is Forbidden By Police

Now that the school year has closed and children of school age have much leisure time on their hands in which to loiter, trespass and get into mischief, parents are asked by the Michigan Railroad Police Association to cooperate with them and attempt to halt juvenile trespassing on railroad property.

Many boys and girls of school age are killed or seriously injured while playing on and about railroad property. Likewise, through their careless conduct, children have brought about the death or maiming of railroad employees and passengers, have caused immense damage to costly operating and signaling equipment, halted train service and ruined valuable freight.

Parents can do more through their earnest cautioning to stop this dangerous and destructive practice than any official blue-coated authority.

SUMMER DANCES START FRIDAY

The Summer Recreation dances will start at the public school gym on Friday, June 14, and will continue each Friday as long as they are backed up by the people of Chelsea. In the past these dances have been very successful and it is hoped they will be equally successful under the management of Club 15. Refreshments will be sold at all the dances and it is hoped that there will be good entertainment also.

Stanley Beal and Dean Willis, co-owners and operators of this new International Harvester Co. retail outlet for this territory, announce that open house will be held, starting at 10:00 o'clock, when visitors will be shown around their "Base of Operations" and they will explain what has been done in preparation for serving farmers and truck owners in this area.

In the evening, from 7:30 to 8:30, entertainment will be provided by the Michigan Barber Shop Quartet, of Jackson, the state champions in 1945. From 8:30 to 9:30 there will be free coffee and doughnuts, and an old-time orchestra from Grass Lake will provide music for dancing until midnight.

The new building was started last September. It is of cement block and brick construction, and is 68x80 ft. with a wash and paint room 16x25 ft. at the rear. The service department and shop occupies the back half of the building, with display room, tool room, offices and parts department at the front. It was designed and constructed to specifications furnished by the International Harvester Co., and complies fully for the designation as a "Base of Operations" by this company.

Equipment to be retailed by this new firm includes International trucks, McCormick-Deering tractors and farm equipment, and a complete line of parts for the line will be carried in stock.

Beal and Willis state that their new store is dedicated to the serving of farmers and truck owners and that an efficient sales and service program will be maintained at all times.

All who possibly can should attend the open house on Saturday to inspect this fine new addition to the business life of the Chelsea community.

A picture of you and your telephone

NO, NO, NOT THAT! We certainly do not suggest that you include your telephone's photo in the family album. But you may welcome a picture of your telephone service — and how we plan to make it bigger and better. So here goes.

Right now we are working at top-speed on a 5-year $150,000,000 expansion and improvement program. Our first objective is to supply service to the thousands of families who are still waiting for telephones. But this program is intended to do much more than that. It will enable us to care for future growth and give everyone the kind of service wanted when and where it is wanted.

And Michigan Bell's earnings are in the picture, too, for good telephone service depends on adequate earnings. Thousands of thrifty people have their savings invested in Bell System securities. Their money makes good service possible.
In fact, Michigan Bell's $150,000,000 post-war program will be financed largely by these and other investors. And that program will provide more and better telephone service for you.

So you see, telephone rates—such a small part of your monthly budget—must be maintained at a level which will keep our earnings adequate. Otherwise, investors would not put their money into the telephone business, and the future quality and extent of your telephone service would suffer.

We believe our customers want good telephone service, even if it costs a trifle more than inferior service.

Technical improvements over the years have brought rates for good service down and have kept them down in the face of rising costs. But if the recent rapid rise in costs continues, rate increases may become necessary. In any event, Michigan Bell wants rates no higher—and no lower—than necessary to insure good telephone service.

Higher enforcement of Michigan liquor control regulations is resulting in a new campaign by wets to get the state out of the liquor business. Robert D. Wardell, former Detroit state representative who led a drive against the 1946 amendment, is spearheading the 1946 movement. Wardell proposes a super-state commission of 17 members, each getting $7,500 salary and $2,500 expenses. Liquor dealers would buy direct from the distillers instead of from the state of Michigan which now takes 30 to 35 per cent "cut" of profits. The retailers' profit would be boosted about 100 per cent, and the consumer would pay more for each bottle—estimated now at 67 cents.

A fair sample of the enforcement campaign of the state liquor control commission. Licensees cannot transfer their liquor license to another person for a period of one year after they have been obtained.

New applicants must take a written examination—first of its kind in the nation.

A minimum 30-day investigation period now prevails for transfer requests.

The assessment to defray cost of investigation into license transfer is raised from $10 to $35.

More strikes in Michigan are in the offing as a result of the 18 1/2 cents per hour pay boost given to automotive, steel, electrical, railroad and coal mining workers. John P. House, chairman of the regional wage stabilization board at Detroit, recently completed a survey of post-war wage increases in Michigan. A study of 1980 applications involving 200,000 workers revealed that only 15 per cent asked for 18 1/2 cent increases. Why only 15 per cent? Employers had already upped wages and a less amount was required to equalize the rise in cost of living. That is where the trouble will begin. Coal prices are expected to rise from 35 to 60 cents a ton. Wage increases must be paid by the consumer. The Reuther theory of wage increases being paid out of industrial profits is an economic fallacy. Ask the OPA.

The legislative bonus committee will meet June 26 at Lansing to consider its final report. It is likely that the voters will be given an opportunity to authorize or reject a State government cannot issue bonds without first getting the voters' approval by referendum. A suspicion: Candidates for office are more interested in a bonus than are the voters themselves.

Michigan peach and sour cherry prospects are good for 1946. Anticipated are fair crops of apples, pears, plums, grapes and strawberries. Bean acreage is 28 per cent less than the 10-year average. The new price raises must be paid by the consumer. Feed costs and a determination of Congress to slash food subsidies.

Charles M. Ziegler, state highway commissioner, says fewer roads and bridges will be built this year because of the coal and steel shortage. Contractors are unable to get steel for bridges or for reinforcing concrete pavement. Michigan cement plants are idle. Planned for 1946: $26,000,000 road improvements.

Approximately 100 war veterans have re-joined the Michigan State Police. A week's refresher course will be given for them June 3 and June 10. During Commissioner Oscar Olander's absence in Japan where he is on temporary assignment, Capt. Donald Leonard is in charge.

A banner season is forecast this summer for Michigan's 10 state parks and recreational areas. State sales tax income is still soaring. May collections for April sales were 50 per cent higher than a year ago. The annual income rate is now $116,000,000 according to Louis M. Nims, state revenue commissioner.

If Republicans win control of the house of representatives at Washington in November, Michigan representatives are in line to get important chairmanships.

House banking and currency—Jesse P. Wolcott, Port Huron.

House committee on expenditures in executive departments—Clare E. Hoffman, Ann Arbor.

House rivers and harbors—George A. Dondero, Royal Oak.

The Michigan Federation of Labor proposed to consolidate all state agencies now dealing with labor into one labor department. At present independent agencies: State labor mediation board, state compensation commission, state unemployment compensation commission and the state labor department. In recent years the labor department has been headed by a leader of organized labor either from the A. F. of L. or the C.I.O.

Conservationists in northern Michigan are agitating a change for the trout season whereby the opening date would be May 15 and the closing date would be May 15. A later opening date would coincide with the pike season; most trout violations occur prior to May 15 and are committed by hungry pike fishermen; the later closing date would help the tourist industry.

Frank Davis, secretary of the East Michigan Tourist association, confided to us his favorite recipe for cooking perch. It's this: Soak the perch overnight in an egg batter, well seasoned with salt. Frank proved his point by taking us to lunch at Bay City last week. Yes, the perch were marvelous!

Health note: More than 100 cases of malaria, all confined to convalescent war veterans, have been reported in Michigan since Jan. 1.

The centennial of journalism in the Upper Peninsula will be observed by the Michigan Press Association on August 2 and 3 when a publishers' conference will be held at Newberry, founder of the newspaper, the Lake Superior News and Mining Journal, was John M. Ingersoll, the fourth president of the state press association. Its location was at Copper Harbor on the Keweenaw peninsula. The date: July 11, 1946. Ingersoll later moved the newspaper to Sault Ste. Marie.

Cadillac Square in Detroit, busy traffic hub, was named in honor of Antoine de la Motte Cadillac who founded Fort Ponchartrain at Detroit—Detroit, a narrow strait—in 1701. Just before the square was named in honor of Dr. George N. Fuller, who is retiring as secretary of the state historical commission at Lansing, will be held Saturday, June 22. Mail was brought from Green Bay to Ontonagon by dog train until 1864.

Be easy on the weatherman. June is the wettest month of the year in Michigan, average 3.56 inches of rain. Sunshine should prevail 65 per cent of the time. Sickest political slogan of 1946: "Reverend Brown, June 18. At least, friends of Vernon J. Brown think so. California is trying to lure Michigan "underpaid rural and village teachers" with offers of $2,100 to $2,400 contracts. The quotation is from a newspaper advertisement.

OFFICE OF VETERANS' AFFAIRS

How Veteran Can Exercise His Rights Under Surplus Property Act As Amended

Amendment of the Surplus Property Act provides for setting aside for sale to veterans of World War II exclusively, either for personal or for business use, selected items in heaviest demand and in short supply. It also advances to a general priority second only to that of Federal agencies veterans' former preference in the purchase of any goods for use in establishing their own small enterprises.

Existing procedures generally will continue to govern certification. Applicants must furnish proof of honorable release from service and a description of the property sought.

Veterans holding appropriate certificates may purchase items on the Set-Aside List for their own personal use as well as for use in a small business or agricultural or professional enterprise. Certificates already on file which include items placed on the Set-Aside List will be honored whenever such items are available. However, since all items on the Set-Aside List are in critically short supply, applicants will generally be limited to a single unit.

Certification for personal use will be limited to items on the Set-Aside List. Such certification will not be made for items previously certified for use in a small business, professional or agricultural enterprise. However, the restriction against more than one certification may be modified to permit additional certification for items not previously requested which are on the Set-Aside List. For example, a veteran already certified for a tractor, finds typewriters in the Set-Aside List, and wants to buy one. He may be certified additionally for a typewriter.

Application for any item on the Set-Aside List will be accepted, even though the applications already on hand exceed many times the available supply. Certification Offices have been instructed to inform applicants regarding the ratio between the approximate number of applicants and remaining stocks of the item requested.

Whenever any item on the Set-Aside List becomes available, offerings will be made to the holders of Personal Use Certificates in the same proportion as their total number bears to the total number of certificates on file for small business or agricultural or professional enterprise.

For example: There are thirty trucks available. The Regional Office has 100 old certificates and 10 Personal Use Certificates on file, or a proportion of 1 to 10. Notification will be sent to the three applicants for personal use whose certificates bear the oldest dates, and the twenty certificates for non-personal use whose certificates bear the oldest dates.

If a veteran holding a Personal Use Certificate does not exercise his priority upon notification that the property requested is available, he does not lose his place in the chronological file, but will be notified a second and third time, after which his certificate will be placed in an inactive file.

Veterans will be notified by mail or by local public notice where and when they can buy items for which they have been certified. Notice will conform availability of the item requested, location, opportunity for inspection, prices, lot sizes, etc. There will be no need for veterans to call in person to check the progress of their applications.

Certification on a new form must be obtained for purchases of personal use. These and all other certificates should be applied for at the nearest War Assets Administration office. In Michigan they are 424 Boulevard Building, Detroit 2; 810 Keeler Building, Grand Rapids 2; 321 Peoples Building & Loan Building, Saginaw.

Miss Margaret Boehm returned on Sunday from Saginaw for the summer vacation.

Yes sir, boys and girls, them pesky Brightoners sneaked up on us Sunday in Brighton Woods and ran away with the ball game. They copped six runs and we had to be content with what was left—0. Their pitcher was one of the stingiest guys you ever heard tell of. He only allowed one hit—that was a single in the 9th by Bob Barth.

Lefty Barth and Ed Miller, Jr. did the pitching for Chelsea Independents. This was the opening game of the League, Chelsea having won the two warm-up games.

The Independents play Manchester here on June 16, a Father's Day game. This will be a good game, as the Chelsea gang is one up on Manchester. Come on out and give the boys a great big hand.

War Casualties May Be Buried In United States

Complete plans have been made for the repatriation of this country's 328,000 World War II deceased military and naval personnel buried outside the continental United States and the Army and Navy will soon write next of kin to obtain instructions for disposition of the bodies. Under the law families will have the option of:

1. Having the remains returned to the U. S. for final interment in a National Cemetery near their home at government expense.
2. Returning the remains for burial by next of kin in a private cemetery. The government will bear all costs of shipping the body home and pay $50 toward the local burial expense.
3. Burying the deceased in a permanent American military cemetery overseas.

The War Department asks next of kin to advise the nearest military command and change their address since being notified of the death to write now and give their correct address.

Caskets will be available this fall and the first shipment of war dead is expected at the end of the year. It is estimated that the bodies will arrive in the United States beginning next year at the initial rate of 1,000 a month, increasing to about 18,000 monthly by the end of 1947. The total cost is estimated at from 195 to 215 million dollars, or about $700 per man. Shipment of the deceased soldiers and sailors will be in special funeral vessels. They will be painted white with a wide purple band circling the ship. Upon arrival the flag-draped seamless steel caskets will be transferred under military escort to 13 redistribution points in special funeral trains composed of converted hospital coaches. The bodies will then be forwarded to places of final interment.

Next of kin desiring any further information on the government's plan of repatriating the war dead may consult any American Legion service officer. These officers have been furnished with full details of the whole project.

TIME TO SPRAY CHERRIES
According to H. S. Osler, County Agricultural Agent, fruit growers who have cherries and desire to keep them free from worms should spray them before June 15 with arsenate of lead (12 gallons to 100 gallons of water). This poison will destroy the flies which are the adults of the cherry maggots. The fly lays the egg on the cherry as they start to ripen and as they hatch they develop inside the cherry. When mature they go into the ground where they go through a resting stage and next June they appear as flies and begin the cycle over again. Sometimes it is necessary to apply a second spray two weeks after the first, especially when two weeks elapses between the presence of the fly and picking time.

Vitamin 'A' Supply Is Available In Garden

With such items as cream, butter, cheese and liver more difficult to obtain today, it is increasingly more important that housewives look to the vegetable garden for an adequate supply of vitamin A in family diets. According to Marion A. Wharton, foods and nutrition specialist in the school of home economics at Michigan State college, there is an abundance of this vitamin available.

Vegetables which are abundant in vitamin A include green and yellow varieties and tomatoes. The green varieties include: beet, dandelion, chard, collards, endive, kale, spinach, green beans, broccoli, green asparagus, Chinese cabbage, green lettuce, peppers, peas and parsnips. The yellow vegetables which are good sources are: sweet potatoes, carrots, corn, yellow-fleshed squash and pumpkins. Tomatoes and cantaloupes fall into neither the yellow or green classes, but are abundant in vitamin A.

The ordinary preparation of vegetables destroys little of their vitamin A value. Miss Wharton says, so these can be depended upon both in cooked and raw condition. Canning and freezing also destroys very little of the vitamin A content, but drying and storage, especially by the usual home methods, causes much greater losses. Those homemakers who make good use of their vegetable garden while it is fresh, and who preserve an adequate supply for winter months, have no reason to fear a vitamin A deficiency, the specialist believes.

Producers of Livestock Face Serious Problem

Livestock producers of Michigan are confronted with one of the most serious problems in history, according to C. A. Brown, head of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State college. The necessity of shipping large quantities of grain to Europe to prevent starvation is not only bringing about a change in individual human diets, but is calling for a maximum conservation and economy in the feeding of livestock, he says.

"Every livestock producer must strive to get the maximum utilization of grass and forage, remembering that over one-third of our total food supply is obtained by the conversion of roughage into edible human food. We cannot afford to see this food supply reduced through the sale of livestock to a point where we cannot utilize all our coarse feeds," the veterinarian added.

In the past, livestock provided the only market for approximately three-fourths of our cereal grain production in the United States. While at present there is a great demand for this grain to meet an emergency, the time will come again when a great surplus will pile up if livestock are not available through which the feed can be marketed.

Brown urges the Michigan livestock men not to reduce the livestock population to a point where it will take years to build it back. Careful use of available feeds and roughage will allow most farmers to maintain a normal program, he believes.

Western Rodeo Coming To A. A. June 14-15-16

Yippee!—A real Western rodeo is coming to Wine's Field, Ann Arbor, on June 14, 15 and 16. A bronco-busting event is to be the first annual attraction of the Optimist Club of Ann Arbor, and will feature many leading national rodeo riders, cowboys and cowgirls with their beautiful performing horses, real old-fashioned roping with wild cattle, headed by the famous Brahmas, bulls. There will be four shows starting Friday evening, Saturday morning, Saturday evening and Sunday matinee.

Headlining the program are such acts as bronco riding, steer riding, steer bulldozing, calf roping, trick riding and roping, wild bucking horses, wild cattle diving down the chutes, outguessing the skillful riders and the cast of over fifty entertainers. In addition to the chuckfull two hours of solid entertainment, each program will be preceded by a band concert featuring high school bands of Washtenaw county, and special riding formations by the Saddle Ridge Riding Club. Highlight of the three-day engagement is an old-fashioned parade on the streets of Ann Arbor, to be held on Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

The Optimist Club of Ann Arbor, whose slogan is "Friend of the Boy," will use all the proceeds from the rodeo to further its work among boys, such as Boy Scout trips, University Fresh Air Camp, Student Driver Training, and many other contemplated boys work projects.

Variety Farming
Variety farming offers the most advantages for the majority of family-type farmers, especially when it comes to raising crops, according to findings of Farm Security officials of the department of agriculture. It has been shown that diversifying is safer than depending on only one source of income—"putting all your eggs in one basket"—as the saying goes. The exception, of course, is the small farmer who has proved he can handle some specialty successfully, such as poultry or dairy cows.

Mixed Fertilizers
There are some promising new fertilizers appearing on the market, with some carrying as much as 70 per cent phosphate acid. Mixed fertilizers are the best guarantees of a crop—responsive fertilizers by themselves cannot get results if other soil deficiencies offset the effect.

George L. Dixon of Ann Arbor was in Chelsea on Tuesday, visiting friends.

Brown Knows State

There is probably no man in Michigan who is known by more folks than Vernon J. Brown, the present lieutenant-governor. He knows people and how to get along with people—whether they live on the farm or in the city. At the age of 30 he left the farm to work as a clerk in the office of the Auditor General. Later he was appointed secretary to the superintendent of the Industrial School for Boys, and its chief accountant. After working with the school he resigned to enter the grocery business in Lansing. He was soon after elected to the Lansing council.

Before he moved to Lansing he had served both as township clerk and as supervisor. As a Lansing Alderman he also served as a member of the Ingham board of supervisors.

In 1918 Brown was elected Ingham county clerk, an office he held for two terms. He then bought the Ingham County News, the county seat weekly, and under his management the paper became one of the best known weeklies in the state. He was honored by being elected president of the Michigan Press association.

Elected to the state legislature in 1928, Brown served 10 years without interruption. His service in the legislature was followed by election as Auditor General. Twice re-elected Auditor General, he was then elected Lieutenant-Governor. During this long career in state government, Brown has visited every section of the state. He has inspected every state institution. He has acquainted himself with the operations of every state agency. He has met with representatives of every branch of business and the professions. He has spoken before hundreds of state associations, and local groups in every part of the state.

The slogan of Brown's supporters is "Brown Knows Michigan—Michigan Knows Brown." Brown is married and now lives on the farm where he was born. He and his wife have five children—four of whom are married and have families. Two of the sons are veterans of World War I and five grandchildren served in World War II. Two of the grandsons are still in service—one with the air force in China and the other with the U. S. marines.

Worms In Sweet Corn May Be Killed By Dust

Growing early sweet corn without worms is no longer an idle dream for the home gardener, according to Herman King, extension specialist in entomology at Michigan State college. Control methods for the corn borer are both simple and inexpensive, but require a good deal of persistence.

While spray or dust treatments are equally effective against this insect, most home gardeners find the dusting less trouble. Treatment, King says, should start early when the corn is about 1 to 10 inches high, usually about June 10. Five treatments at five-day intervals, get the best results. The spray or dust should be directed down into the growing whorl of the plant. This is easy at the first application, but 20 days later it requires some persistent effort. The late applications should cover the tassels and ears as they develop.

Rotenone and DDT are equally effective in controlling corn borer, and either material can be used as a spray or as a dust. If rotenone dust is used, it should contain 1 per cent of actual rotenone. The corn borer should be made according to the manufacturer's recommendations. If DDT is preferred, use a 5 per cent DDT dust or use 4 tablespoons of 25 per cent DDT wettable powder per gallon of water. If DDT is used there is one precaution. The corn tassels should not be fed to livestock. Stalks can be fed safely if rotenone is used, the entomologist stated.
