

By Gene Alleman

Kim Sigler, one-time Nebraska cowboy, became the 58th governor of Michigan last week.

Dubbed the "maddest man in Michigan" by Karl Detzer in a national magazine, Sigler did not appear to be particularly mad about his meteoric rise to greater responsibility and new opportunity.

One year ago he was a grand jury prosecutor, widely acclaimed for his fearlessness and legal skill. He was ready to release new batches of indictments in slot machine and chain banking cases. And after the trials, he contemplated a return to an excellent and profitable legal practice in Battle Creek.

What happened in the spring of 1946 was significant to the Sigler administration. It now casts shadows of coming events.

Sigler became overnight the most talked about man in Michigan.

Yes, such was the case despite two major reverses. Frank McKay, still placed in the villain's role in the Siglerian drama, was acquitted by a court jury. McKay's acquittal led to an unexpected state senate investigation into Sigler's conduct of grand jury affairs.

This inquiry, headed by a Mr. Clement, legislator, led in turn to Sigler being fired from grand jury prosecution by Circuit Court Judge Louis C. Cosh.

Loss of the McKay trial was bad enough. But being kicked out of grand jury prosecution was a climactic insult. Instead of being a hero, Sigler was pictured as a bum. He didn't like it. In fact, he was madder than a wet hen.

This writer tries to watch the Lansing parade of personalities and events with some objective detachment. We always regard the governor as a public servant in a democracy which needs the enlightenment of facts if it is to function for the welfare of the people.

We clearly foresee the logical reaction to the Sigler mind. This observation appeared in our column of March 21, 1946, prior to Sigler's candidacy. Why, should Sigler want to run for governor? It is human nature for an individual, who is frustrated by opponents, to seek vindication of his position in some manner.

The only avenue available to Sigler was to run for the governorship.

With no organization back of him, he accomplished a political impossibility. Why? Largely because of the public's admiration of a fighter. Kicked out as prosecutor, Sigler was cheered by a report of the senate legislative committee. The smear hit the press at the eve of the election.

While Sigler did not get a majority of the primary vote, he did lead other contestants by a hefty margin—enough to prove that a lot of Michigan men and women, independent in their political thinking, resented what appeared to be grossly unfair accusations.

These accusations were deemed unfair because the accuser himself was suddenly indicted for alleged graft and corruption in his own county—an overnight development that crystallized public sentiment like a running scabbard.

Sigler, the political miracle man, moves his election to the acquittal of McKay, an arch enemy!

The above background of events is important, as we see it, in judging the personality at Lansing. The new administration promises to reflect the same grand jury temper. An independent office that may approach a bold disregard for political traditions; a fearlessness in ferreting out graft and corruption and in establishing preventive fences to minimize their existence in the legislature.

Sigler's message to the legislature was no surprise to anyone who has followed the Lansing one-man grand jury. He demanded that steps be taken to check graft and corruption in public office. Lobbyists should be regulated; legislative committees should function openly; legislators should get higher pay.

The greatest handicap of the Sigler administration is the threat of a huge treasury deficit. When the voters adopted the sales tax, the legislature adopted the veterans' bonus amendment and they placed the State of Michigan in a financial strait-jacket. Instead of diverting one-third of the 3-cent tax to local governments, many voters apparently thought the tax amendment put the state in the unenviable position of being the ONLY state in the Nation where the legislature has less than 25 per cent of a major state tax available for legislative appropriation.

Now the administration can lead the state out of the wilderness of a staggering deficit or it can perpetuate the problem of the Sigler NEW tax appears to be inevitable. What kind of a tax it will depend upon many factors which we will try to report and to interpret in succeeding Lansing news-letters.

The new governor has displayed great zeal in meeting the new challenges.

He is a fighter. Right or wrong, he is going to do what he thinks is right.

First Meeting Held By St.

Grabowski who asked the group to sing "Jesus Hail Varan" (Jesus, Lead On), explaining that during the almost sixty years since the Ladies' Aid Society was organized this hymn had always been sung at the first meeting of the year.

Rev. Grabowski then introduced four young people, two seniors at Elmhurst College, Helen Grabowski and Maynard Oesterle, a sophomore, Jeanne Kraus, of Chicago, and a graduate, George Sonneborn, of St. Louis, now a student at Eden Seminary, the latter two being visitors in Chelsea for part of the holiday vacation, each of whom he called upon as follows:

A poem, "Gratitude," was read by Olga Mayer, and another, "Take Home a Smile," by Lenore Schmidt, which concluded the program.

Mrs. Charles Mohrlock received a deep gash in her right forearm, severing the arteries, when she tripped on the edge of a rug in her home on Tuesday of the past week, as she was carrying three empty milk bottles which she intended to put out on the porch.

As she fell, one of the bottles broke, causing the cut, and another, unbroken, struck her chin and bruised it.

She was alone in the house at the time, but managed to telephone for help. A physician was summoned, who administered first aid and she was taken by ambulance to the office of the physician and then to St. Joseph's Mercy hospital where she was under observation because of her weakened condition from loss of blood, until Wednesday afternoon, when she was returned to her home.

Snow Removal From Local Streets Has Been Very Efficient

Snow removal from the streets in Chelsea during the past week of heavy snowfall proceeded so rapidly and efficiently that all streets were cleared in record time.

Robert Lantis' snow removal machine attracted quite a bit of attention as it removed the snow and loaded it onto trucks which hauled it away and returned to be re-loaded.

Klump Bros., with their snow plow, quickly cleared the streets for driving and also had their trucks at work carting away the snow.

The village administration is to be complimented upon the way the situation was handled, comparing very favorably with methods used in cities and towns much larger than Chelsea.

VETERANS

Disabled Vets May Accept Any Job

Disabled veterans may accept any job or position and still receive full benefits for service-connected permanent disabilities, according to a statement by VA Administrator General Omar N. Bradley.

In an effort to combat misleading information that has been circulated regarding reduction or cancellation of compensation, General Bradley said: "From time to time false information has been given to veterans with service-connected disabilities in our hospitals that the veteran is liable to suffer a reduction in his compensation if he takes a position and receives remuneration for it. This is untrue. Any handicapped veteran with a service-connected disability may take a position and receive pay for it and still receive full benefits for his permanent disability. The basic statutes and regulations specifically provide that there shall be no reduction in the rate of compensation for individual success in overcoming the handicap of an injury."

Many veterans are holding full-time jobs in factories or the professions and, at the same time, are receiving full benefits for their disabilities. General Bradley urged veterans now in hospitals to become job-holders when their condition permits.

Disabled veterans filing disability claims should be reminded that payment on a disability claim begins from the date of the veteran's separation from the armed forces provided the claim is filed within one year from that date. Payment on an awarded claim filed after the one-year period starts from the date the claim originally is filed.

Meth. Home
Recipient Of Liberal Gifts

The Methodist Home was remembered generously with Christmas gifts of money totaling $25,500, by two friends of the Home who wish to remain anonymous. The gifts, one of $25,000 and the other $500, are to be used toward paying for the proposed building of a chapel on the Home grounds directly west and to the rear of the present main building, and connected to it by a colonnaded passageway, making it unnecessary for members of the Home family to go out of doors to reach it.

While it is not known at this time when the chapel is to begin building, the trustees have accepted both gifts and are going ahead with architects' plans for a chapel large enough to seat 195 people. When completed, it will be a wonderful addition to the Home, making it possible for the members to attend worship services in a beautifully appropriate place. It will be especially appreciated by those who have found it difficult or impossible to attend church services in Chelsea but will be able to attend services in a place so easily accessible as the planned chapel is to be.

The Home family spent a very happy Christmas season this year because of the announcement of these fine gifts, and also because of other remembrances and happenings of the season. A party given for all members of the Home by the local American Legion post, Monday evening, December 23.

A short program was given, with Diana Barr and George Mayer giving recitations and Linda Mayer rendering two vocal solos, "Away With The Manger" and "More Like Thee."

Christmas carols were sung by the assembly also.

Following the program, which was enjoyed immensely, Santa Claus and a helper passed out a gift to every one of the Home family, which included a large bag of candy and an orange, and also a begonia plant for each one. The family were all so happy to be remembered, appreciating especially the time given and the efforts put forth by Legion members and those in the Home who made the program such a busy time in their own home circles.

On Christmas Day another happy event added to the enjoyment of the day. Miss Alice Howe, who came to the Home 3 1/2 years ago from Howell, celebrated her 100th birthday. The occasion was marked with a party in the library for the entire Home family. There were flowers, and a huge birthday cake beautifully decorated with poinsettias and Miss Howe's name with the dates, 1846-1946. Miss Howe cut the first pieces of cake herself, and there was a piece for every one present.

Her name had been sent to Tom Brennan's Hollywood breakfast club radio program and Christmas morning he mentioned her name as well as three others in the club's 100th birthday occurred the same day. The club he sends to those mentioned on his program arrived the next day.

Miss Howe taught school in the neighborhood of Howell for many years. She has one sister, Mrs. Ida Harris, who lives in Florida and could not be present at the party.

Caravan To Be In Saline
January 27

The second Rural Progress Caravan will roll into Washtenaw county for a one day show on Monday, January 27 at Saline. Displays will be open from 10:00 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. The arrangement of display material will be much the same as last year but there will be a complete change in subject material to be placed on exhibit. Twenty-two different departments of the State College have prepared interesting and instructive exhibits. An added feature, according to H. S. Osler, county extension agent, will be the attendance of 15 to 20 specialists from the State College. These persons will be available for discussions and questions that visitors may desire to ask.

Last year's exhibit emphasized the idea of labor saving devices for the farm. This year the Caravan will feature the farm and home. The Home Economics department will have a prominent place in the exhibit. One of its displays will be the life-size kitchen which will show proper arrangement of equipment and utensils for a more efficient work. Other things to be emphasized will be good lighting, practical arrangement of clothes closets, proper method for wrapping fruits and vegetables for freezing and many other devices of labor saving devices for the farm. #### OFFICE NEWS

The Senior play, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," will be held here Friday night, January 10, at 8:15 p.m.

Grade School PTA will meet in the Home Economics room at 8:00 p.m. on Wednesday, Jan. 15.

First semester ends Friday, January 17.

F.F.A. NEWS

The F.F.A. boys have planned a paper drive for Thursday afternoon, January 23.

This drive presents an opportunity to dispose of waste paper and also to support a worthwhile cause.

The proceeds will be for the benefit of the organization.

Please box or bind contributions and place them at the curb.

CHRISTMAS DANCE

The Christmas dance was held December 21 at the Municipal Building. There were few people dancing because most of the crowd seemed to prefer playing cards. Quite a few alumni were there and it seemed good to have some of our former classmates with us. The music was furnished by Harry the Juke Box. Refreshments were coke and cupcakes, and were enjoyed by all.

NEW YEAR'S EVE DANCE

The New Year's Eve dance was held at the Municipal Building. Because of the soft lights around the room and a slight shortage of cards, more people seemed to be dancing than at the previous party. Refreshments included coke, dixie cups and cookies. These were enjoyed by all. Most people left early in order to get to the theater, even though tickets were sold at the dance.

FRIDAY NIGHT DANCE

The dance held after the game Friday night was attended by a large number of people. Many alumni who came out to support their team were also present at the dance. Our old faithful Harry the Juke Box again furnished the music. There were no refreshments, a fact which was a big disappointment. The dance was enjoyed by all.

HALF THERE

There have been many famous quotations written, ones that we hear every day. We came across one recently that was not familiar. In fact, we don't recall who said it. Nevertheless we think that we shall remember it for a long time. It went something like this: "Never do things by halves because it might be the other half that counts." This is one quotation that doesn't take a lot of deep thought or concentration to figure out what it means.

We all know people who do things by halves. These are the people who can never be depended on. Dependability after all is one of the important assets of good character.

This quotation can involve many circumstances, our school work, for instance. There are those who say, "Well, what difference does it make if you do your work or not, just as long as you pass?" There is where the mistake lies. It does make a difference.

We are in school for several purposes. Besides the three R's, we are learning how to associate with our fellow classmates in a manner of respect and good fellowship. Do you get the point? You can't do things by halves. It isn't fair to you or anyone else. Can you look yourself squarely in the eye and say, "I did my best, I didn't do anything by halves?"

GRADE NEWS

Kindergarten, first and second grades have some lovely new records. They also appreciate the records the children brought from home.

Third Grade is making January calendars. They have all new desks and seats in their room, which they like very much. They are having a spelling contest this week, over all the words they've had until now.

Billy Geddes and Nora Rye Mafor were absent last week, because they had not returned from Florida and Nebraska.

Seventh Grade—Richard Gordon was absent on his birthday, January 2.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council approved of letting the Hi-Y sponsor the dances after the basketball game.

ALUMNI BEATS VARSITY

In a well-fought ball game last Friday night, the Alumni came out on top, 29 to 24. The game started off rather slowly for when the first quarter ended the Alumni were leading 8 to 2. Paul Schneider did most of the scoring for the Alumni in the first period as he accounted for six of the eight. At the half time the Alumni were leading by the margin of 14 to 8, both teams having picked up six points.

Library News

Which Way in 1947?—Will 1947 point the way toward future war or peace? What one reads determines in a large measure one's thinking. What one thinks determines one's action. As Malcolm Johnson so ably puts it: "Today millions are deriving help, inspiration, courage and diversion from books. Books are saving priceless man hours by making available to all who can read, all the skills of all the crafts which were so vital to victory. Books are explaining to a bewildered nation why we fought—how, and where, and whom we fought. Books reveal our friends, unmask our enemies. Books help us to understand our country, our world, the history, the geography, the people, their customs, their ambitions. Books went where our men were fighting and made them better fighting men. Books give us all that mankind has done and dreamed and planned. Whatever man has accomplished or hopes to accomplish is yours—in books. Are books essential? Try to imagine a democracy—without books.

The following will help you build the future:

The Tempering of Russia—Ehrenburg.

The Road to Serfdom—Hayek.

Thieves in the Night—Lawrence Sanders.

Down Over Zero—Laurence Sanders.

Discovery of India—Nehru.

Winged Peace—Bishop.

Must Destruction Be Our Destiny?—Brown.
Truth About Unions—Huberman.
Let Us Consider One Another—Laurence.
Must We Fight Russia—Rever.
While Time Remains—Stowe.
Beyond Prejudice—Matsumoto.
One World, One Family—Noli.
All these books listed and many more are available at the Chelsea Public Library, which wishes you a Happy and Thoughtful New Year!

In that case, there may be a slight delay before you hear the dial tone. If you'll wait until you hear the steady "hum-m-m", you'll know the dial equipment is free to handle your call.

If you dial before you hear the dial tone, you'll get either a wrong number or no number at all.
