

By Gene Allenman

There is a silver lining in the storm financial clouds at Lansing. While it is thick enough to obscure the office of the Governor and the legislative chambers to cut it with a dull knife, Michigan public school teachers now believe that happy days are on the way.

Action by the State Supreme Court in validating the sales tax amendment, whereby 75 percent of the sales tax will be directed to home governments, has had the effect of indirectly raising taxes for local governments.

The taxpayer has not shown any antipathy or disposition to enact new taxes for his home government, but he has shown the opportunity as a majority vote last November revealed, to divert additional millions of money collected by the State of Michigan back to the home town and county for use by the public schools, townships, and villages.

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of Public Instruction, estimates that the additional state aid to public schools will be a minimum of $400,000 and a maximum of $550,000. This state aid to schools will rise from the previous all-time high of $400,000 to $1,000,000 or $1,100,000 in the fiscal year starting July 1, 1947.

Dr. Elliott estimates this sum by a quota of $5.30 for each school census child.

Now $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 for schools is certainly a lot of money. It should go a long way towards paying adequate salaries to school teachers.

Unless the State Legislature makes minimum salary scales whereby teachers will be guaranteed adequate wages, the school teacher must rely on the School Board of Education for such benefit.

Governor Kim Sigler recently revealed that he was seriously contemplating a recommendation of minimum salary for Michigan's 32,000 public school teachers.

California, Indiana and New York recently enacted by legislative action $2,400 yearly minimum salaries for teachers with a college Bachelor Degree.

The New York law, recommended by Governor Thomas B. Dewey, completely revised the minimum salary schedule for teachers' minimum salaries to receive a minimum of $2,000 in schools outside cities of 100,000 population or more, and $2,500 for schools in cities of more than 1,000,000. Teachers with a Master's Degree would receive a minimum of $2,200 for schools in small population areas and a minimum of $2,700 for schools in cities of more than 1,000,000 population.

The Indiana Legislature has just enacted a law which provides for 1947-48 a minimum of $2,400 for teachers with a Bachelor's Degree, this sum being $180 per cent higher than the present salary of $200 for this position. A teacher with a Master's Degree and 20 years experience would receive a minimum of $3,600, which is 111.8 per cent higher than the $1,700 which is in effect for the current school year.

The State of Washington enacted a law this year assuring a minimum salary of $2,400 for qualified teachers. The state aid per teacher was more than doubled.

The new minimum salary schedule in West Virginia will assure a minimum salary for teachers with a Bachelor Degree by one third, the new salary being $1,800.

Dr. Elliott has recommended that Michigan adopt a minimum salary law whereby a teacher with a Bachelor's Degree, covering four years of college training, would receive a minimum of $2,400 for the school teaching year.

Dr. Elliott favors a minimum of $1,500 for a teacher with one year of training. He suggests a differential of $150.00 a year for each year of training less than the base of a Bachelor's Degree.

The average school year runs nine months. The Indiana minimum salary law for teachers, adopted by the legislature this spring, guarantees a minimum salary of $200 a month for a teacher with two years college training and a minimum of $250 a month for a teacher with four years college training including a Bachelor's Degree. Worked out on an annual basis, the compensation is $1,800 and $2,400. The compensation increases each year until it reaches a maximum of $2,850, or $325 a month for a graduate college teacher who has ten years teaching experience.

The Indiana law gives an incentive to a teacher to attain a Master's Degree whereby at the end of five years receiving a total of $400 a month or $3,000 a year in compensation.

Such a salary scale, if enacted in Michigan, would go a long way towards attracting better class teachers.

A recent national survey of the educational system revealed that 30,000 teachers had left the public schools since 1940.

The Michigan Education Association last fall pointed out that standard certificates to 5,000 teachers and probably lacked about 1,000 teachers to take care of children who are on half-day sessions and reduce heavy teaching loads, or provide teachers for schools.

Judson Dwight Collins was born in New York state and at an early age moved with his family to a farm near Unadilla. As a youth, he became concerned about China. He saw there a great land and a people that needed Christ and as a young man, he felt that God was calling him to the work in China and he proclaimed himself ready to take the Christian message to that people.

He was a member of the first graduating class of the U. of M. and became a teacher at Albion college.

He set sail for China on April 15, 1847, having left Ann Arbor on April 10. After a five months' voyage, working his way at the mast of the ship as it sailed around Africa, he landed in China on September 6, 1847.

The two universities he founded in China stand today as monuments to his work there. They were the beginnings of China's modern educational system.

After three years of intensive work in China, Judson Collins returned to America stricken with tuberculosis and passed away at his home in Unadilla in 1852. His body lies in the cemetery at Unadilla.

Judson Collins' Bible, which he brought back from China, was handed down through the family and became the property of Mrs. G. W. Palmer of Chelsea, who, in turn, gave it to the Leigh Palmer family in whose possession it is at this time.

The memorial services Dr. Lucy Wang, president of the college Collins founded, had her picture taken while reading this Bible, which together with the Judson Collins story will appear in the May issue of World Outlook magazine.

OFFICE NEWS
The University of Michigan Glee Club is presenting a program of singing in the gymnasium tonight. The baseball team will play at Flat Rock on Tuesday.
The Junior and Senior high school will be closed on Friday, April 25 for the teachers to attend the Schoolmasters' Club meetings at the University of Michigan. Grades will be in session as usual. Next week is the final week of the fifth marking period.

WHAT, WHY, WHERE?
The subject is the School Library, and perhaps this will prove food for thought for some of us. It has been suggested that the stage and library room in study hall be combined. Perhaps the person who suggested this had these thoughts in mind: the study hall teacher would be able to maintain order with less degree of difficulty, and students would eliminate the long sessions they invariably have with the librarian. There is a stage in the auditorium that could easily take the place of the various uses the one in study hall has served for. Will this suggestion be approved by others? If it is, will anything be done to further it?

ADVANTAGES OF EDUCATION
The advantage of education is that you will get farther in this world. Your arithmetic you use all through your life; you always have problems to solve. Your English will help you get along with people and get higher in this world. If you write good letters, use good English in them, and write them in the right form, people will think a lot more of you. If you use and speak good English they will, too. In history you learn what people have done in the past; the mistakes they made so you won't make them again. Reading helps you a lot because there are some things you always have to know and you can only find out by reading and you can read for pleasure also. In science you learn what the world is made of, and what the world is made of, to use things and get the most out of them. It all adds up to this fact: If you have a good education, you get along better with the world.

Spring Clean-Up Week Will Make Your Home Safe

Have you set a date for spring clean-up week in your home? The purpose of such a week is not only neatness, but to remove fire, accident, and health hazards from your home.

Make a careful check of flues, chimneys and stove pipes and of electric wiring.
Do you have a safe storage place for kerosene and other fuel? Gasoline and kerosene should be at least 50 feet from major farm buildings. Remember that farm fires destroy about 30 million dollars worth of farm property a year. While you're checking, ask yourself whether you know where to shut off water, gas and electricity in your home.
If in the process of your spring cleaning, you decide to do some home dry-cleaning, do it outside the house. Keep your hands out of the cleaning fluid. Use a suction water. Use only a fluid which is labeled non-flammable. Dry the garments outside and keep children and pets at a safe distance from your cleaning.
Home dry cleaning has disfigured or fatally burned many persons and has burned houses to the ground. You can't afford to take a chance.

NOW IT CAN BE TOLD
In 1942 the National headquarters of the Boy Scouts of America received a hurry call for 3,000 copies of the Handbook for Boys from the commanding officer of the Air Force supply depot at Presque Isle, Maine. No one could figure out what these were wanted for. It's just come out. Every plan leaving the base had one of these books for the information it gave in pioneering, first aid, cooking, canoeing, etc. The lives of many fliers were saved by them, it is believed. Pretty good recommendation for the book.

SPRAY WITH CAUTION
Dusts and compounds that are used to control plant diseases and pests may be poisonous. F. W. Roth, farm safety specialist at Michigan State college, advises farmers to follow the manufacturer's directions in handling, mixing, and applying poisonous materials.
Sprays and dusts of a poisonous nature should be stored in strong, leak-proof containers out of the reach of children or animals. Hands and exposed parts of the body should be thoroughly washed after poisonous chemicals have been handled.

CORRECTION
Through error it was stated in last week's Standard that Gene Hatley was placed on the Cleary College honor roll. This should have been Glen Hatley.
Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Steger attended the Dental Convention in Detroit several days this week.

Due to spring vacation the Tortoises postponed their games to the Lucky Strikes and will roll these off at a later date.

Extra attention should be given to knobs and palms, and for this a little scrubbing brush is a great help. Clean your nails also with the brush since any sharp instrument scratches the skin under the nails and these rough edges pick up dirt much faster.

When buying new pillows, a combination of down and waterfowl feathers is a good choice, because the naturally curved shafts of these feathers retain their resilience longer. And when choosing between two pillows of the same size, you'll find the lighter pillow softer.

Trout Season Opens
April 26 - Prospects Not Too Encouraging

Lansing—Mud and snow may characterize the opening day of trout season this year, but conservation officials believe the faithful will be out on April 26 in spite of bad roads, cold weather and high water. In contrast to the ideal conditions provided by the early warm dry spring of a year ago, fishing prospects will not be bright. Conditions may be fair for worm fishermen, but dry fly artists may see more scenery than fish, unless the weather improves sharply, and soon. Fishermen intent on bringing home a big rainbow trout are hoping more than the usual number of them will still be available in the streams, and not yet returned to the Great Lakes after spawning.

Pre-season plantings of legal sized trout—the first of a million to be put into the lakes and streams this summer—will be very limited, the department reports. Many backwoods roads now blocked with snow may not be dry and firm enough by opening day either for fish hatchery trucks or anglers' automobiles.

Fishermen who do brave the weather on opening day have no new rules or regulations to learn. The minimum legal length for brook, brown and rainbow trout still is seven inches; the creel limit is 15 trout a day on streams 10 a day on lakes, and anglers lucky enough to get a few big ones will also have to watch the 10-pound and one fish limit. The license fee for residents still is $1 for all kinds of fishing for all year; non-residents voted at the current session of the Legislature would not be expected to take effect before January 1, 1948.

Some northern trout lakes that draw opening day anglers as early as 12:01 a.m. may have to be fished through the ice this season. At one such lake, a heavy producer for a brief time, the start of fishing is signalled by a conservation officer's pistol shot.

Besides postponing the best of the trout fishing, the lingering winter weather may upset the usual spring schedule of perch runs and sucker runs, the walleys and pike run in Saginaw bay, smelt runs and perhaps even the appearance of spawning lamprey eels.

Walnuts Available For Farm Planting

Walnuts for farm planting are available from the Michigan State college forestry department, according to P. W. Robbins, forester at MSC.

The walnuts are stratified for planting and were supplied by the American Walnut industry. A manual, giving details on walnut planting and cultivation is sent to each farmer applying for nuts.

Timberland owners and farmers can secure these nuts at 50c per peck. One peck contains approximately 200 nuts. Orders should be sent to the forestry department, Michigan State college, East Lansing, Michigan.

CITY OF JACKSON GETS AIR IDENTIFICATION

The city of Jackson will get its first air marker within the next two months, according to Paul R. Fritsch, manager of the identification division of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company.

Arrangements for installation were completed last Friday following a conference with airport manager Warren Chanter. The 20-foot letters, will carry the name of the city, the direction and mileage to Jackson airport and the true north arrow, flanked by latitude and longitude.

The CAA is recommending that every city and town have an air marker. In some states town identification in keeping with the program is required by state law.

CAA officials point out that this type of identification is especially valuable in small towns where there are few prominent landmarks to distinguish them from pilots. The program is an essential boon to the private pilots of light planes because a minimum amount of the navigational aids carried in transport and military aircraft are available to them.

Suet placed where chickens can peck at it helps to prevent cannibalism.

Grow Perennial Flowers From Seed

You can save considerable garden money and add new zest to your gardening by growing your own perennial flowers from seed. The best quality seeds cost only a few cents a packet and with simple care will produce scores of plants to bring color and beauty to the garden for years to come. Most perennials grown from seed bloom the second year after sowing.

Seed should be started at about the same time as that of the annuals, such as zinnias and marigolds. The secret of success is to get the seedlings to transplanting size early enough so that when set in their permanent places in garden or border, they will get a good root-hold before cold weather comes on.

A specially prepared seed bed or seed box is best for starting perennial seeds. A seed bed can be easily prepared by knocking the bottom out of a good-sized shallow wooden box and sinking the sides into the ground. The top should be about two or three inches above the surface. Use finely prepared, crumbly garden loam containing plenty of humus. It is important to locate the seed bed where it will be sheltered from strong winds and from sunlight during the hottest part of the day. A seed box or flat may also be used, with holes bored in the bottom for drainage. This has the advantage of being sheltered from wind.

Some perennial seeds are very small. Mix them with sand so that they will not be sown too quickly in the row and merely press them into the soil instead of covering them. Larger seeds need a shallow covering of soil. Firm the soil down on them so that they will make immediate contact with the moisture and plant food. Keep the soil moist but not wet until the seeds sprout. Some gardeners spread damp burlap over the surface to furnish needed moisture, removing it at the first sign of sprouting.

Here are a number of perennials that beginners can start from seed with almost sure success: Columbine, gallardia, coreopsis, hollyhock, painted daisy, sweet william, hardy pink, hardy alyssum, and the violas. Perennial seeds usually take somewhat longer to germinate than those of annual flowers. Don't be discouraged if the tiny sprouts do not show themselves for two or three weeks after the seed is sown.

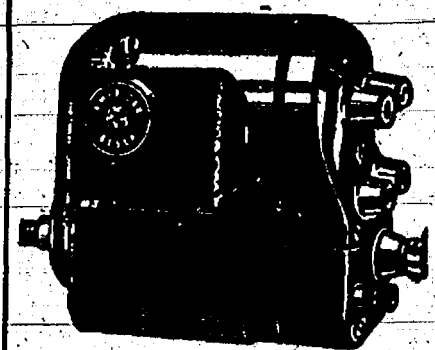

by pollution, fire, and needless drainage, is stopped and corrected, much of present difficulty could be obviated.

"And, sportsmen can do still more," said Dr. Chase. "They can help the various state conservation departments and the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service by reporting observations on waterfowl, by discouraging useless drainage, by properly reporting annual 'take' of waterfowl, by promoting individual and group educational activities, and by backing state and federal legislation aimed at restoration measures."

That the sport of duck-shooting should be measured more by sport value, rather than the customary bag limit, is voiced by competent observers in the field of wildlife management. Last season, Al Day, Director of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, appealed to sportsmen to take less than the bag limit, to retrieve every wounded duck in every corner, to cut down on crippling losses by not taking that "chance" shot, and to observe all regulations very closely.

Migratory waterfowl, says the U. S. Wildlife Service, constitutes one of the more important renewable resources. "America is great because her resources are great. Her security and future progress are possible so long as these resources remain solvent."

Survey of Tourist And Resort Industry Would Help State

Ann Arbor.—A scientific survey of Michigan's tourist and resort industry would help the state to spend its money wisely both within and without the state to promote the industry, Dean Russell A. Stevenson, of the University of Michigan School of Business Administration, believes.

Preliminary plans have been discussed by the Michigan Tourist Council and the University Bureau of Business Research for such a study. The Council plans to underwrite the study, and the research will be conducted by the Bureau.

The projected survey would be intended to find out how many tourists visit Michigan resorts, how long they stay, how much money they spend and for what, and what they like and dislike about the state, he indicated. A complete survey would require several seasons, Dean Stevenson asserted.

American Waterfowl At The Crossroads

"Wildfowling is not necessarily on the way out, but the adoption and support of a hunting regulation policy based on the facts of life and needs of the waterfowl, rather than the desires of those exploiting them would seem requisite to its survival."

So sounded the sharp voice of none other than John H. Baker, president of the National Audubon Society, at the recent February meeting of the 12th North American Wildlife Conference held at San Antonio, Texas. "We're not going to change human nature," said Mr. Baker, "but we can convince people that it is to their selfish interest to conserve the present drastic decline in ducks."

Continued Mr. Baker, "is seemingly bringing the continental population below the bottom of the previous cycle in 1934-35, force those who have striven in recent years to successfully manage and harvest our waterfowl to admit that they have not succeeded."

Other notes of warning concerning the seriousness of the present duck problem have made their appearance all over the United States and Canada. Although the results of last season's hunting, according to information from the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, will not be completed until after this summer when a more thorough evaluation of breeding areas can be made, it is conceded that our biologists the country over are profoundly stirred over what is happening.

Last season's general waterfowl picture was not bright, as indicated by the following quotations requested by the Fish and Wildlife Service:

Michigan: "This has been the warmest hunting season we have experienced and while we had no cold weather to influence the birds we did not have any birds to influence."

Maryland: "Figures are 75 per cent below normal." "Excellent feed; few ducks."

New York: "To say that ducks are scarce is to put the situation mildly."

Kansas: "Much water, very few ducks."

Minnesota: "There are not the number of ducks apparent in the state that I have seen in former years."

Georgia: "25 per cent decrease in waterfowl as compared with last year."

H. Albert Hochbaum, well-known biologist, made a study last spring of the marshes of the Lake Manitoba basin in Canada and found the scarcity of breeding ducks so pronounced that some fine water areas did not have one single pair the whole season. He goes on to say that "such duckless areas are not just here and there; there are many such areas. And 1946 is the first year we have found perfectly good breeding sloughs minus ducks. The areas that held only half of their 1945 populations are legion."

Other biologists have reported similar conditions. Harold Titus (1946) found similar scarcities of the native research and findings of the Prairie States last spring. Lyle Sows found an abnormally thin breeding population in southern Manitoba.

That wildfowling can be saved, however, is the opinion of most experts, but swift and drastic action is apparently needed to restore duck populations to more normal.

C. E. Gillham, chairman of the American Wildfowl Committee, 12th N.A.W.C. believes that the situation can be corrected if we direct our attention to the following:

1. Sane practice of land and water use.

2. Enforcement of our game laws.

3. Publicity and educational work.

4. Legislation to keep pace with changing conditions.

5. Active research and findings immediately applied.

6. Sportsmanship and moral responsibility.

Dr. Warren W. Chase, Professor of Wildlife Management, University of Michigan, believes that "sportsmanship is paramount."

"If the sportsman can be made to feel," says Dr. Chase, "that this is his problem, that it is his responsibility to see that laws are enforced and obeyed, that cripples are retrieved, and that the destruction of waterfowl habitat, such as

A Great Bunch — Those Ex-G.I.'s

Willie Wells and a bunch of the boys from our town went to Pound Ridge Saturday to a reunion of their old regiment.

There were about two hundred and fifty boys who came from miles around to a good old feast in Farmer Collins' barn. I expect they seemed a lot different to each other out of uniform. But they had a great time, spinning yarns, drinking beer, and talking over the old times in South Africa and Italy and the Aleutians.

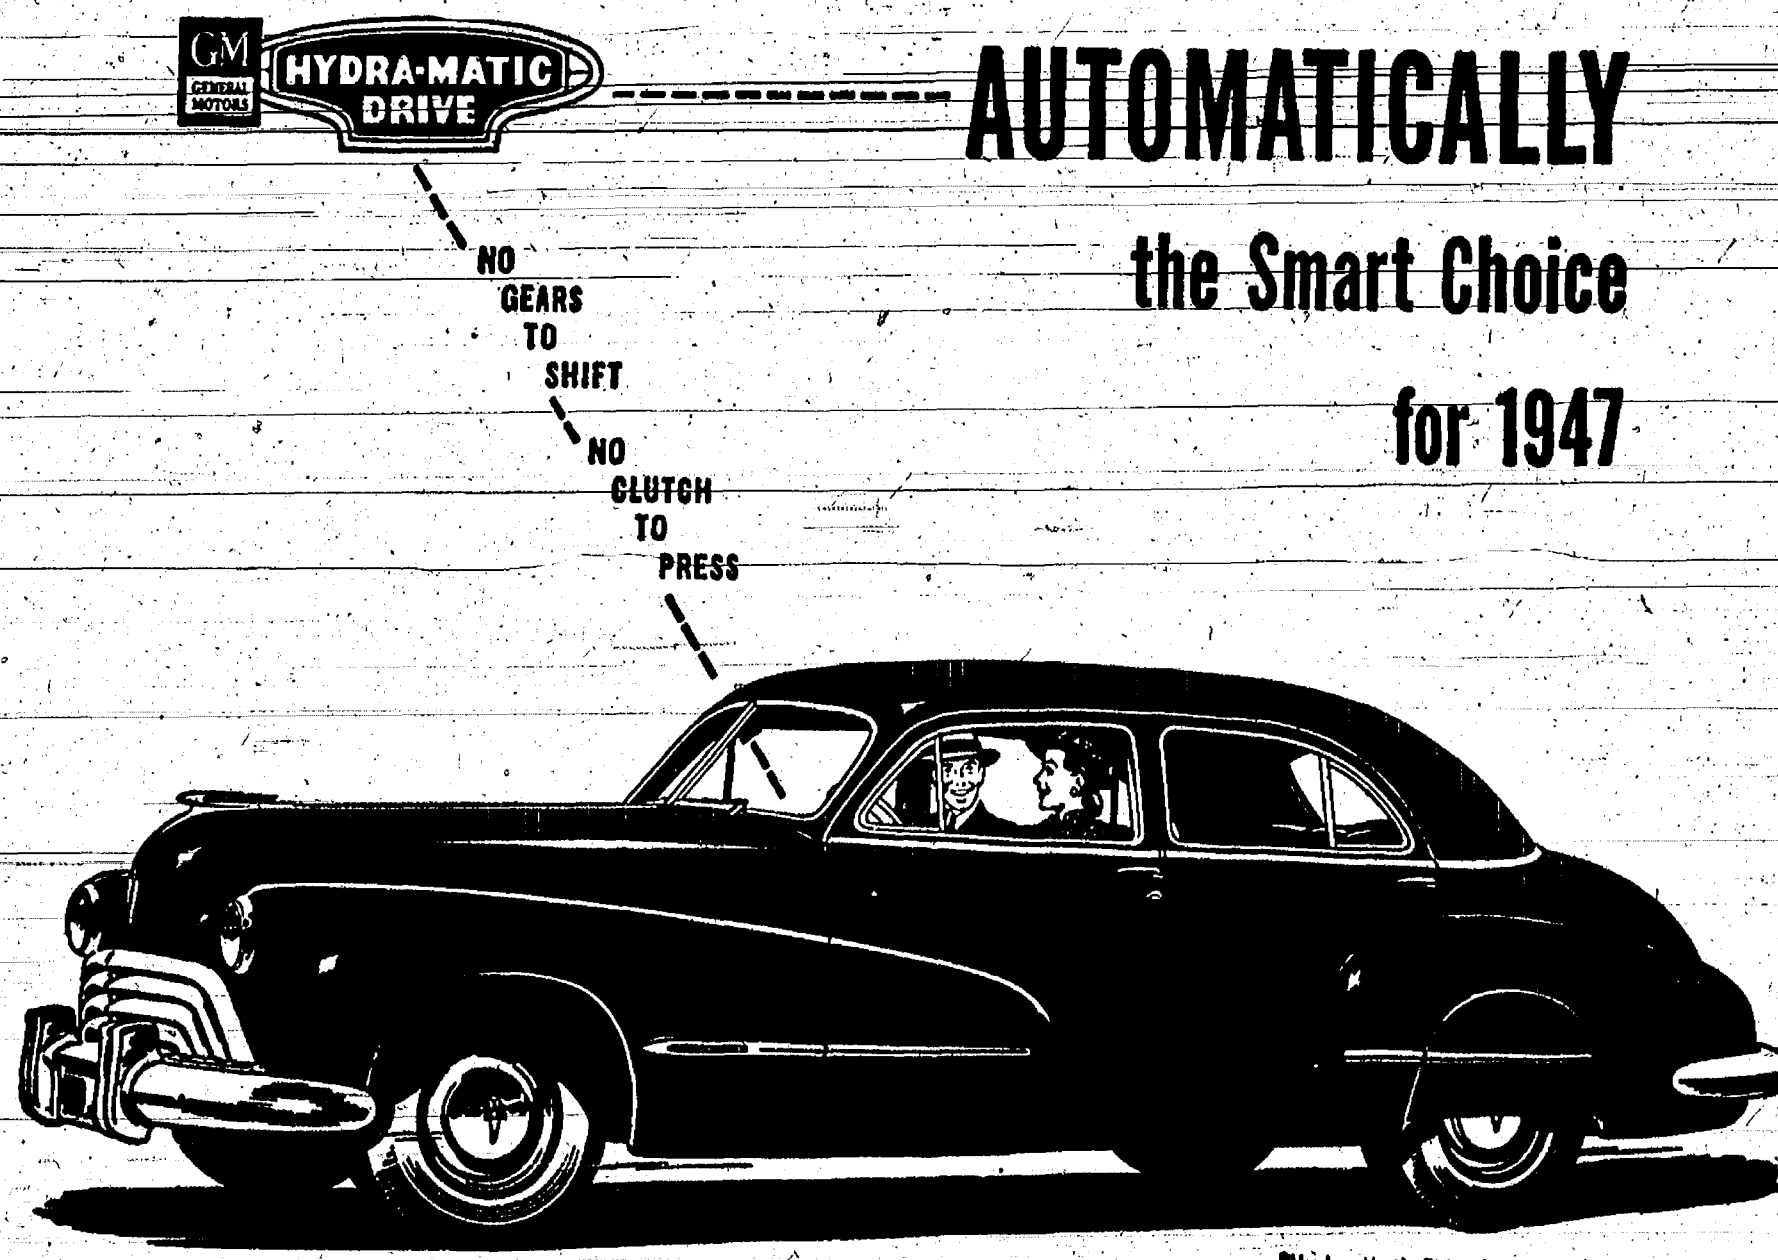

I went over to cover the meeting

for the Clarion, and one thing that sure impressed me was the good behavior of those boys—their preference for a moderate beverage like beer—their friendly spirit.

From where I sit, our ex-G.I.'s are making as good a showing in peacetime as they made during the war. And they're setting a mighty good example to the rest of us—in tolerance, and moderation, and good fellowship.

Treat Garden Seeds To Control Disease

Garden seeds that don't come up are frequently affected by damping off and various seed rots, according to Dr. Carl Knorr, extension specialist in plant pathology at Michigan State college.

The fungi that cause these attacks can be controlled by dusting seeds with any of several chemicals. The procedure is extremely simple and almost costless. A few cents worth of fungicidal dust mixed with the seed will provide protection for your entire garden.

Knorr advises tearing open a corner of the seed envelope, and inserting as much of the fungicide as can be held on the point of a pen-knife. The packet should then be closed and shaken. Larger quantities can be treated in a tight-sealing Mason jar. Planting is done as usual. Don't feed leftover treated seed to birds.

Seed treatment chemicals recommended by Knorr for Michigan are: Arason Cuprocid, Semesan, and Spergon. Your seed store or druggist can usually supply them. The label will tell which is the right one for the seed to be planted. Cuprocid is not recommended for cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, Brussels sprouts or lima beans.

MSC Offers Service To Poultry Raisers

Farmers who suspect diseases in their flocks during chick raising season are urged to take advantage of the free service offered by the poultry disease laboratory at Michigan State college for diagnosis and handling of disease outbreaks.

Dr. C. E. Hardin, extension specialist in poultry diseases, advises personal delivery of the birds to the college when possible. This assures specimens arriving in good shape and also allows farmers to discuss details of the outbreak with the specialists.

If personal delivery is not possible, five typical specimens of the diseased birds, freshly killed and chilled, should be packed in a well-insulated container and mailed. Specimens should be addressed to the Department of Bacteriology, Michigan State college, East Lansing, Mich.

A complete history of the trouble should precede or accompany the specimens. Information should cover: source and hatching date of the chicks; age first observed sick; behavior of sick chicks; losses, and type of care given.

Beau Brummell of the Boulevards!

YOU'RE practically that, of course, the minute you take over any new 1947 Buick. Never before has any automobile so completely won the country by its beauty—so clearly defined the shape of cars to come.

But really to take the stage and hold it—to cut a dashing figure in the smartest of smart company—

Mister, just picture yourself in this bold beauty here.

It is without question the most wanted version of America's most wanted car.

It's wanted for the freedom that's yours when its handy control swings back the top—and the sky becomes your roof and the birds your travel mates.

It's wanted for the lift and surge of its satiny straight-eight Fireball power plant, master of every grade and hill, monarch of the farthest horizon.

It's wanted for bigness, and the deep comfort of low-set, cushiony seats—wanted for the floating ease of soft all-coil springing, and the sure-footed stride of a car that's big enough and brawny enough for its job.

It's wanted for styling that already has set the pattern for years to come—it's wanted for fun, for adventure, and for year-round, all-round full family use.

The demand for it? Great, of course. The supply? Mounting as fast as Buick's beaver-busy production staff can free up the supply of the fine materials that go into it.

So with patience, one can be yours. With patience, that is—and the foresight to get your order in now.

Plan Early Pullet Egg Production for Tourist Season

A ready market for fresh eggs in the tourist and resort areas of Michigan during July, August and September has resulted in planned production for that period. High prices for eggs at that season of the year are usually brought about by the heavy demand to satisfy the tourist trade along with the fact that many year-old layers have neared the end of their production season.

J. G. Wells, Jr., superintendent of the Chatham Experiment Station of Michigan State college, sought an answer to the problem. With J. M. Moore, poultry extension specialist, they have found that January hatching of chicks resulted in pullets ready for production in July.

As an example, take the present flock of New Hampshire hens. They were hatched last January and although the weather was not too favorable for the young chicks until May, a good insulated brooder house proved adequate.

In early July the pullets were put into the laying house, a well-bred strain of New Hampshire, in the first 168 days in the laying house, produced an average of 102 eggs. Those were high priced eggs, too, because they were produced before January 1.

A number of poultrymen in upper Michigan have learned that early layers produce eggs when the market is high and demand is strong.

Electric Roaster Is Kitchen Handyman

A large chicken, vegetables and dessert may be cooked at once in a roaster. The lid of this model has a glass panel in the top. When roaster is being filled lid may be hooked into handle at end to be out of way.

Whether it's hot dogs, steaks or chops, they can be broiled to a turn in a roaster with a broiler attachment. Lid of this roaster has sliding cover vents to control the air circulation for broiling, roasting and broiling other meats.

AN ELECTRIC roaster is a "little range" in itself, according to the Rural Home Editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer. In it, with the use of attachments, food may be steamed, roasted, baked, pan-broiled, boiled or fried.

"A whole meal may be prepared in a roaster," she writes in the magazine read by 1,300,000 farm families. "This might include a roast, vegetables and a hot dessert. Cakes, pies, rolls and bread may be baked the same as in a range oven. Or a large quantity of food such as baked beans to be served to a group may be prepared at one time. It is also useful for canning when using the boiling-water bath method."

"Since the roaster may be used on any ordinary electric outlet, but not with drop cords and extension cords, it is convenient to use in any home supplied with electricity. For the woman who generally cooks with coal or wood it is especially handy in summertime."

Sound construction is as important in the roaster as in a range. A strong body, heatproof handles, perfect-fitting joints, heavy plating and enameling, all indicate good construction. Insulation on sides and at bottom should be thick enough to retain heat as well as to protect surface on which roaster is placed. A thermostat control on a roaster makes it possible to hold temperature at point desired. A timer clock to start and stop cooking is an additional feature with some models.

Marble Pie Easy To Stir Together

There's no difficulty whatever in keeping a supply of baked goods on hand these sugar-short days, once you start using prepared pudding mixes as sugar-stretchers in the baking job, writes the Country Cooking editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer.

Marble pie is just one instance of how easily an ovenful of delicious desserts requiring no sugar can be stirred together when these mixes are used, she tells farm homemakers.

What's good for the sauce is good for the pie, is especially true of cranberries, according to Marjorie Griffin, Rural Home editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer. "There's a blend of orange marmalade, apple slices and cranberries in the flavorful filling," she tells home makers. "White corn syrup, one of the standby sugar savers, is used with egg whites in making the fluffy meringue."

1/2 cup white corn syrup
1/2 cup egg whites
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup cranberry marmalade
1/2 cup white corn syrup
1/2 cup egg whites
1/2 cup sugar

Peel and slice apples. Heat marmalade; add apples and cook gently for 3 to 4 minutes. Add cranberries; continue cooking until cranberry skins pop open—about 10 minutes. Blend cornstarch and water to a smooth paste; add to cranberry mixture. Cook, stirring constantly, until filling is slightly thickened and clear. Cool; pour into pie shell. Beat egg whites stiff, gradually adding corn syrup while beating. Pipe meringue in ring around edge of pie. Bake in slow oven (325° F.) until golden brown—about 15 minutes.

Utility Room Is Work Saver for Homemaker

This corridor-type utility room fits perfectly into a long narrow space off the kitchen. Work counter and sink can be used for processing garden produce. Clothes may be carried a few steps from the washer to outdoor lines.

Handiest room in the house is a first-floor utility room, according to the Rural Home Editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer. It is especially important for the farm woman who has carried baskets of wet clothes upstairs to hang out on the line.

"People planning new houses often automatically include such a room," she writes in the magazine read by 1,300,000 farm families. "Some are finding it possible to remodel a kitchen into a room—a smaller kitchen and a utility room. The room usually has an outdoor opening so it may be entered before going into the kitchen."

"Equipped with running water, a sink or lavatory, storage cupboards, several electric outlets for washer, home freezer and other equipment, this room near the kitchen can be used in countless ways. With a sink, a hot plate and counter, all the preparations for home canning that are to be frozen may be carried right to the spot for processing and packaging."

"Besides placing the washer and tub where they are easily accessible to the yard, you can have the iron and board and ironer there."

Sugar Saving Chocolate Cake a Family Favorite

Mother will have fun watching the satisfied expressions all around the table when sugar-saving chocolate cake is the dessert, says the Country Cooking editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer.

The secret of stretching short sugar supplies lies in using prepared pudding mixes in the baking job, whether it's thick-frosted cakes, hearty pies, cookies or nutbread, she tells home-maker readers of the magazine read by 1,300,000 farm families.

Chocolate Cake
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cocoa
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup baking powder
1/2 cup salt

Have lard at room temperature; cream thoroughly, then add egg. Stir well and add sugar, milk and vanilla; blend. Sift dry ingredients together and stir into batter. Beat for at least 2 minutes on low speed of electric mixer, or Beat 300 strokes by hand. Cover bottoms of two 8-inch cake pans with waxed paper; grease lightly. Bake in batter. Bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes or until done.

Chocolate Frosting
1 sweet chocolate
1/2 cup cream
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup cocoa
1/2 cup flour
1/2 cup baking powder
1/2 cup salt

Melt chocolate in double boiler over hot water. Add 2 tbsp. cream and stir until smooth. Add pudding mix and stir until blended, adding remainder of cream as needed. Continue stirring over hot water until spreading consistency, about 3 minutes. Add vanilla. Will frost one 10-inch loaf cake, or two 8-inch loaves.

Cleanliness 'Must' in Making Baby's Formula

IMMACULATE cleanliness is necessary when preparing baby's formula, for such care is important in keeping baby healthy, writes Georgia Leffingwell in an article in nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer.

"For efficiency and cleanliness, the utensils used in preparing baby's formula should be kept together," she advises mothers. "They should not be used for any other purpose."

Utensils needed are: 8 to 10 eight-ounce bottles with rounded edges; bottle covers that can be sterilized; a dozen nipples; a funnel and a strainer; a bottle brush; teaspoon or forceps for picking up nipples; a sterilizer or kettle large enough to boil bottles, nipples and utensils; a 32-ounce measuring container for measuring formula; 2 wide-mouthed glass jars, one that can be sterilized for storing boiled nipples and covers and one for used nipples.

Wash hands thoroughly before beginning formula preparation, the article cautions. "The whole 24 hours supply should be made up at one time, poured directly into the sterile bottles and tightly capped."

All bottles, nipples and utensils should be washed inside and out with a clean bottle brush, using hot, soapy water. Place equipment in a sterilizer or large kettle and allow to boil at least 5 minutes. Then let them drain and cool. Fill the bottles, being careful not to touch the top edge. Cover at once with sterilized rubber caps or bottle covers. Allow to cool a few minutes before placing in the refrigerator.

When putting on nipple before a feeding, take care not to touch end that goes into baby's mouth.

Cleaning the Oven
Grease "baked on" in range ovens is hard to remove, the Rural Home editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer points out. Scouring, she says, done with care, may damage the enamel finish. So she recommends the use of a De-solvent, a shallow bowl of household ammonia — or a wadded cloth dampened in ammonia — in the oven for several hours or overnight. Fumes help loosen greasy film; a badly soiled oven may need several treatments.

Restore Taste

A simple way to restore the fresh fruit flavor to canned orange juice or other canned citrus juices is to pour the chilled juice back and forth from one tumbler to another just before drinking. This adds air, which is naturally present in fresh juice but is removed during the vacuum canning process. Much of the "different" taste in properly canned juice, especially in orange juice, is actually an airless taste which largely disappears when air is added.

Children "Went To School" In Hospital

Ann Arbor—Last year 1,500
children "went to school" in the University of Michigan hospital.
They did their home work while lying in bed or sitting in wheel chairs.

Those 1,500 children spent a total of 26,000 days in the University hospital, and on 20,000 of those days they received instruction designed to keep them abreast of school work they would have been doing if they had been at home. The extra 6,000 days were taken up by operations, treatments of various kinds, and changes in physical condition which prevented
the children from studying.

The University hospital school is a unique educational organization which offers regular school instruction as well as recreation to every youngster admitted as a patient.
One day or three months, the length of stay doesn't matter, though school work is organized to meet the needs of children of varying ages and school achievement.

Mrs. Dorothy Ketcham, director of social service at the hospital, started the school in 1923 with the intention of "keeping the children growing and developing mentally and emotionally while their physical ills are being treated." Last year, 85 per cent of all the children in the hospital carried a full school program. Here youngsters go to school, they are able to re-enter the public schools at the same level as their former classmates. All the school work carried on at the hospital is accredited by the state department of public instruction.

The hospital school program is not all work. Much of the instruction given to sick children must come to them through play, Miss Ketcham explains.
On the top floor of the hospital
are a playground for pre-school children, a children's library, a workshop, and a roof-top. Here youngsters of all ages may play,
read, or take part in a craft program.
It doesn't matter that they wear bandages or are confined to beds and wheel-chairs—there are many games and activities they can enjoy despite their illnesses.

For older children and adults,
the hospital maintains a traveling library of 2,100 books as well as current magazines. Daily ward trips are made with a book cart so that patients may select the kind of reading matter they want.

The school is financed partly by the state, which appropriates funds
for instruction of crippled children,
and by gifts from organizations and individuals. The Kiwanis clubs of Michigan have supplied much equipment for the playground
and library, while a student organization,
the Galens, provide supplies for the workshop.

Research To Improve Preparation of Coal And Equipment

Ann Arbor—Research to improve preparation of coal for the consumer and the equipment in which coal is burned is recommended by two University of Michigan
staff members as the only method by which coal dealers may meet the competition of other fuels.

"Coal men have delayed too long in the hope that reserves of their best competitors, gas and oil,
would run out," Kenneth K. Landes, chairman of the Department of Geology, comments. "Known reserves of gas in a single Kansas field, however, are sufficient to last
the country 200 years at the present rate of consumption. There are many other gas fields as well and the possibilities of new discoveries."

"The long-term problem of the coal industry is that of developing a standardized, cleaner product at a cost which will maintain its competitive
position in the market."

Robert A. Cross, research associate of the University Bureau of Energy Research, points out. "To do that, the industry must put some money into research both on its product and on coal-burning equipment."
The general association of coal and dirt must be overcome
as much as possible.

Both home and industrial users of coal are switching to other fuels,
the University men explain. Home owners are converting to gas and oil because of their greater cleanliness and convenience and also because they frequently are less expensive than coal, they point out.

Sharecropping Will Be Undertaken In Recreation Areas

Lansing—Sharecropping agreements are being concluded now between the conservation department and 80 landowners for putting more than 2,000 acres of the best farm land in 10 southeastern Michigan state recreation areas into crops of corn, beans, buckwheat,
oats, rye, wheat, millet, clover,
timothy and garden stuff.

Besides making good use of the land, the sharecropping is designed to maintain and increase the numbers of game birds and animals, as the agreements provide that part of the crops be left in the fields for game forage, to increase the worth of the areas to hunters. At the same time, according to regional parks supervisor Charles M.
Leon, the small scale farming on selected locations does not in any way detract from camping, picnicking
or other recreational use of the lands.

Use Cream In Your Coffee To Prevent Ulcers of Stomach

If you want to do yourself a favor,
put cream in your coffee.
Because the cream will give you a 40 per cent better chance of avoiding coffee-induced ulcers.
"Research has shown," declares
the National Dairy Council, "that cream is good for you. But the value of putting cream in coffee is one of those mighty important little things that many men and women ignore, or forget, or don't know about."

"Yet thousands and thousands of adults are worried about ulcers,
or are trying to get rid of them."
"So here's a simple little thing
that you can do, if you are a coffee drinker, that might add greatly to your health and happiness: use cream in your coffee."

"It works this way: The caffeine
in coffee provokes an unusually heavy and prolonged flow of digestive juices. That heavy flow may contribute to the tendency to ulcers, or may aggravate an existing ulcer. But the cream reduces by 40 per cent the flow of digestive juices
that is caused by caffeine."

STATE FERRIES ARE BEING REMODELED AND ENLARGED

Lansing—The state ferry "City of Petoskey" has returned to the Straits of Mackinac after having been converted to a double-end loader at a Bay City shipyard. The prow of the ship has been replaced by a large gate which can be raised at the docks to permit loading at both ends at its St. Ignace and Mackinac City docks.

Highway commissioner Ziegler estimates the change will result in a saving of 10 minutes or more on each trip across the Straits due to faster handling of cars. Trucks and buses which formerly had to be backed off the ship before unloading can now be run off the boat
without any delay, and it will no longer be necessary for cars to turn around on the boat. Capacity of the boat will be increased from 110 to 125 vehicles.

Speeding up of the boat schedules and increased loadings which will result from the remodeling jobs, will offer a considerable boon to the tourist industry during the course of a summer and also to deer hunters in the fall, the two periods of the year which produce
most of the Straits ferry business.

State Guards Against Late Tomato Blight

Late tomato blight, which caused damage to the tomato crops in many parts of the country last year, is being guarded against in Michigan this year.
L. Carl Knorr, plant pathologist at Michigan State college, says that central Michigan escaped serious damage last year due to the drought conditions. However, in southeastern Michigan, many fields
were badly affected.
In northern states, the fungus
which causes the blight lives over winter in potato tubers and in tomato plants in greenhouses. Wind and rain then carry the spores of the fungus to the plants in gardens and tomato fields. Cool, wet weather causes the blight to spread rapidly.

The plant disease survey of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has set up a warning service this year to protect tomato growers.
Cooperators in 32 states will gather information on the earliest occurrences and progress of the blight. These reports will then be assembled and spraying recommendations and control measures issued.

The Agricultural Insecticide and Fungicide association will see that there are adequate supplies of fungicides
on the market to combat the disease.

Michigan cooperators are Knorr
and Mrs. M. C. Strong of the Michigan State college department of botany and plant pathology.

Barberry Eradication Progresses In State

Seventy-nine per cent of the land area of Michigan is now free
of barberries and will require no further eradication work, according to M. E. Turner, Lansing, leader of the federal-state cooperative eradication program.

Eradication of barberry bushes
started in 1918 to protect crops
of wheat, oats, barley, and rye
from losses by stem rust, made substantial progress in 1946.

Barberry bushes play an important part in the life cycle of stem rust.
By eliminating the bushes on Michigan farms, the spring stage of the rust has no place to develop.

Turner states that 6,635,000 rust-susceptible barberry bushes have been found and destroyed on more than 17,000 properties in Michigan through 1946. The program is carried out through the cooperation of the federal and state departments of agriculture and Michigan State college.

The 1946 crops of wheat, oats, barley, and rye totalled 160,165,000 bushels in the state. Stem rust loss
