

By Gene Allenman

Ontonagon—The airplane has just made a pike out of me. By steady driving and not tarrying in too many towns, I arrived here from Lansing with my 19-foot house trailer, ready for an Upper Peninsula newspaper conference and a vacation, all in a little less than two days and a half.

Considering that Michigan is such a big state and that the North Peninsula stretches from Sault Ste. Marie to 320 miles from Sault Ste. Marie to Ontonagon, I thought I was doing pretty well. In fact, I was about to brag about the accomplishment until Colonel Floyd Evans arrived with a party of five newspaper editors.

• Taking off from the Lansing airport around 1 p.m., Colonel Evans flew a Beechcraft airplane to this Lake Superior gateway to the Porcupine Mountain State Park in less than two and a half hours.

Yes, only Evans' passengers ate lunch at the state capital city and dinner at Ontonagon. And they did it easily with time to kill. Such modern air transportation promises to bind the Upper and Lower Peninsulas together as nothing else could possibly do.

There is every reason to believe that Michigan's tourist business now doing a total volume of well over one-half billion dollars a year, can be augmented materially by the airplane and good airports.

Colonel Evans, director of the state department of aeronautics.

• Tourists are able to come greater distances by air. Land and water are not barriers.

The airplane is still in its swaddling clothes. Back in 1925 when the legislature created the department of aeronautics, Michigan had only 27 airports. Today, it has 202 licensed airports and 16 seaplane bases, all meeting strict requirements for public safety.

We learned from Colonel Evans that Michigan leads all states in pilot training schools and in the number of students. Today the state has 235 schools. They are furnishing flight instruction to more than 15,000 students.

• Trans-Canada air line, a Canadian company, has been opening thousands of dollars to develop fields at Grand Marais and Houghton. Planes cross the border at Sault Ste. Marie and fly across the Upper Peninsula rather than risk flights over the wilderness north of Lake Superior.

North Michigan is air-minded in this way. New airports are being pushed at Escanaba, Ironwood, Iron Mountain, Marquette and Menominee. By 1940 the state hopes to lead all states with a comprehensive network of 300 airports and 25 seaplane bases. All communities are being marked for guidance.

This country north of the Straits is looking more and more to the airplane for freedom from isolation. . . . Next week I will tell you about packing in overnight to Mirror Lake in the Porcupine Mountain State park. The missus and I are enjoying a vacation in the north country, and we love it.

New Deadline Given for Reinstatement of Lapsed GI Insurance

Extension of the deadline for reinstating National Service (GI) Life Insurance without a physical examination to Jan. 1, 1948, will affect approximately 325,000 Michigan veterans of World War I. Guy F. Palmer, manager of the Detroit Regional Office of the Veterans Administration, revealed recently. The original deadline was Aug. 1.

In a teletype message to all VA sub-regional and contact offices throughout the state, Palmer ordered continued efforts in the campaign urging veterans to renew lapsed GI policies.

Since the VA began a national information campaign on GI insurance last February nearly 30,000 veterans in Michigan have picked up their GI insurance, Palmer said. "But the fact remains that nearly two thirds of World War I veteran policies of 564,000 are still letting their National Service Life Insurance go by the board."

Palmer urged veterans not to allow the extension to influence any further delay in reinstating.

Gen. Omar Bradley ordered the extension as the Aug. 1 deadline neared and records showed that hundreds of thousands of veterans had failed to take advantage of the liberal reinstatement plan. Under the plan every former policy holder has until the end of the year to get reinstatement by simply certifying that he is in as good health as he was at the time of lapse and paying two monthly premiums.

Reinstatement may be made by contacting the nearest VA office, veterans service organizations and counseling centers or the American Red Cross.

Cassidy Lake Making Strong Bid for Playoff

By Don Alber

After going a poor start this season, Cassidy Lake's ball club has put on the steam of late and are really hot now. With their two wins last week they have won four out of their last five games. The loss was a 2-1 heartbreaker to Dexter.

With only two weeks left the race for a playoff berth has become a five team affair—Gulf Gas, Spaulding, Munith and Dexter hold down the best chances, but Cassidy Lake can make things tough. Cassidy must win the rest of the top games while any one of the top teams make a loss. If all these games before Cassidy can get in. But anything can happen, so come on out and see the fight down to the end.

Fire Destroys Barn Friday Afternoon

Fire which began in a straw stack during threshing operations on the Claude Burkhardt farm on Herrington Road, North Lake about 4:30 p.m. Friday evening, destroyed the 36 by 100 foot barn. The fire had gained such headway that the Chelsea fire department, which arrived on the scene within 20 minutes after receiving the call for help, could do nothing to save it. However, a double corn crib and a roving lamp house near the building were saved.

The Cassidy Lake fire department also responded to the call and helped keep the nearby buildings from burning.

Laurence Noah works the farm and lives in the farm home on the place.

Michigan Food Locker Plants Required To Pass Rigid Inspection

Records of the State Department of Agriculture show that Michigan has 331 licensed frozen food locker plants located in 69 different counties of the state.

Jurisdiction over the operations of such food locker plants comes under the Bureau of Marketing and Enforcement, and according to Miles A. Nelson, chief of this bureau, most of the plants are being operated in a very satisfactory manner and comply with the state laws and regulations governing construction, sanitary conditions, temperature control and the inspection and packaging of foods put into the locker.

Recently several operators were found negligent in their plant operations and were cited to court, convicted for failure to maintain sanitary conditions and for allowing temperatures to become too high for proper preservation and protection of the food. Three owners of a plant were fined $100 each for allowing insanitary conditions to exist, and for not maintaining the proper temperature, resulting in the spoilage of some of the meat stored by patrons. One locker plant patron was convicted and fined for storing diseased and infected beef in a locker plant, then later ordering it to be processed into hamburger for sale.

Director Charles Figg states with the great interest in food lockers in the state, all operators of such plants, when they are put into operation, must realize that they are handling an important supply of consumers' food products, and every phase of the law regulating such food plants must be fulfilled.

THE OLD AND THE NEW—Troopers Gerard Wrocklage, left, and Gordon Grinwiz, right, show the difference between the old and new summer uniforms of the Michigan State Police. The new outfit, worn for the first time this week, is designed for the comfort of the troopers without sacrificing the distinctive appearance of a uniform. One marked change is the elimination of puttees, which were reminiscent of the days when all patrol work was done on motorcycles, such as shown in the mural in the background. Only cars are now used on patrol, and the puttees, which are warm and bind on the legs, are particularly uncomfortable when behind the wheel.

Answers Given To Some Confused Issues In Local School Dist. Reorganization

Michigan Bell Is Asking for General Increase in Rates

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company today revealed that it will petition the Michigan Public Service Commission the latter part of August for a $10,400,000 annual increase in rates.

N. J. Pratten, manager for the company, said the proposed rate increase would be applied to every exchange in Michigan Bell territory and virtually every type of service under the order that the increase costs of doing business be shared by all telephone users.

While asking for a rate increase, the company will propose a new type of extended-area service that will permit users to call nearby exchanges "with the same community of interest" without paying toll charges, Pratten said.

Under the proposal, Chelsea users could place calls to Ann Arbor without the levy of a toll charge. Likewise, users in that community could call Chelsea without paying such additional charges.

The company is proposing a reclassification of outside exchange area into eight groups, depending upon the number of main-station telephones (exclusive of extensions) in the extended-calling area. Those groups range from calling areas with 500 or fewer main telephones to those with 50,001 to 100,000 main stations.

The present classification of seven groups does not apply to extended calling areas and embraces exchanges with only 10,000 or fewer main telephones.

Pratten pointed out that under the new proposal, the Chelsea calling area would be in a classification with those of 12,001 to 25,000 main stations, the extended area here having 15,743 main telephones.

In the same classifications are such extended areas as will be associated with the Dexter, Rockwood, Trenton, Wayne and Mt. Clemens exchanges.

Under the company's proposal, monthly residence rates here would be increased as follows:

Individual-line flat-rate service, from $1.75 to $1.75. Proposed new rate of $3.50; 4-party-line flat-rate, from $1.45 to $2.25; and rural-line residence service, from $1.50 to $2.25. Two-party flat-rate, now unavailable, would be offered at $2.75 a month.

Proposed increases for business services are: Individual-line flat-rate, from $2.88 to $3.50 a month; 2-party flat-rate, from $3.30 to $5.50; and rural-line business service, from $2.25 to $4.00 a month. The basic rate for private branch exchange trunk service would increase to 150 per cent of the monthly charge for individual line flat-rate business service compared with the present rate which is 120 per cent of such charge.

DESPITE THE HEAT! Independents Roll over Saline, 12 to 1

By "Bill" Schatz

We played an open-hearth game here Sunday. The heat had every one sweating and dripping, but the outcome was still Chelsea 12, Saline 1.

Ed Miller started on the mound for Chelsea with Slim MacCannahan receiving, as the game was called at 2:30 sharp.

In the first inning both sides were retired 1-2-3. The second inning was very similar for Saline, but in our half Slim MacCannahan punched out the first hit—a nifty over short. J. Miller then got on, due to an error in left field. Marking to third. Their efforts were wasted however, for number three was an easy out.

Featuring nice pitching and nice fielding, the third inning finds both sides going down in order.

Saline got their first hit, a fine double, the fourth, but were retired without further trouble. It seems like right now the heat is getting worse and J. Miller is beginning to tire on the mound.

In our half of the 4th, we muffed a scoring chance, after collecting two hits. Stan Policht was out trying to steal when the side was retired on a pop-up.

The fifth comes up clear and warmer. Ed walks the first man. The next flies to left, then comes another hit and Saline draws the first blooper to loosen up, nodes the next batter connected for a long fly to left. Right here Pete calls time and relieves Ed Jr. of his pitching duties (nobody envies Ed his job on the firing line). Calling in Lefty Barth, the game proceeds.

Lefty ambles in real slowly, takes his time, pitcher to loosen up, nodes his ready, and slaps three sharp breaking foalers across for a strike-out. Barth, chewing his gum, looks mighty fine as he walks over to the bench. The crowd is loud with its clamorous approval. He had put out the first.

In our half of the fifth comes rebellion. J. Miller is leading off (he has shifted to left). He batted single through third. Jim Miller then sacrificed, Barth was hit by a pitched ball, and Jack Miller bunts to fill the bases. J. Miller scores on a contested play to knot up the game. Saline now changes the lineup, but the barrage continues. Barth scores on a double by Birch, and Joe Koneski singles to score. Then Saline threw the ball away, so Louie rounds third and levels off for home, making it standing up, with some of the Saline team still figuring Louie got lost over by second.

Early retires Saline on strike-outs in the seventh (says he had a sore arm before the game, but it must have been his right)—Chelsea also is retired in order.

During the eighth, Lefty again puts that old fade-away pitch to work, and its three more strike-outs (sore arm makes me sort of grumpy). Our half of the eighth nets us five more runs. J. Miller connects for a homer, but the umpire says he failed to touch second, so couldn't count it.

Saline is again retired without trouble in the ninth, with Barth getting his eleventh victim by way of the strike-out route.

And so ends a hot affair. Chelsea 12 runs, 17 hits, 1 error. Saline 1 run, 5 hits, 3 errors.

Next Sunday, August 10th we collide in a double header at Pinckney.

During the time the petitions were being circulated in the 12 rural districts and the Chelsea district, calling for an election on the question of forming a Rural Agricultural district, a number of questions were called to the attention of the petitioners, regarding the program. Some of these questions and the answers, given as accurately as they can be given at this time, are as follows:

Q. Is there a possibility of elementary pupils being transported from Chelsea to the rural schools?

A. There is no reason why this should happen. The Board of Education of a Rural Agricultural district determines the policies for the school, and few boards would vote to carry through a program which would be objectionable to a large number of parents and citizens of the district. By operating rural schools for the first 6 grades, the situation in the elementary grades in Chelsea would change very little from the present program.

Q. Does the state pay all transportation costs?

A. Transportation aid is included in the state aid formula for determining the amount of state money a district is to receive. Districts eligible for transportation aid receive the money the year following the expenditure, and the allowable items for expenditures include nearly all current operating expenditures in addition to 1/7 the cost of the bus. The total amount to be reimbursed by the state is not to exceed $60 per year for each pupil transported, and in most districts where pupils are transported by bus the cost per pupil is less than that amount.

Q. What provisions have been made to provide transportation facilities for pupils?

A. The Steering Committee, made up of representatives of both the rural districts and the Chelsea district, has made tentative plans for transportation. This committee has no authority to make decisions which will be binding on the new Board of Education or district. However, much planning is necessary, particularly on transportation, and this group was of the opinion that the new board would, and themselves in a difficult position if no planning had been made. The committee contacted a number of concerns and were able to make arrangements for the new board to obtain immediate delivery on two 48-passenger busses if they so desired.

Q. What are some of the advantages of this program to rural districts?

A. Transportation of pupils in the junior and senior high school to the Chelsea school. A new law in Michigan, effective this school year, makes compulsory for rural districts to provide transportation for all high school pupils residing in the district.

Another new law in our state provides compulsory attendance for all boys and

The weekly dance of the Inverness younger group was held as usual on Saturday. On Sunday, Mrs. W. J. Evans and Bob Taylor got best scores in the two-ball four-some.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kaufman and children Bob and Susan of Elkhart, Ind., spent the week-end with Mrs. Kaufman's parents, the Robert Greves. The children stayed on for the week.

About 60 were present at the Perry Noah home on Sunday to help them celebrate their 55th wedding anniversary and also to hold the annual Wood reunion. Those present came from Houghton, Ann Arbor, Muskegon, Lansing, Mt. Pleasant, Wayne and North Lake.

Fire razed the barn on the Burkhardt farm on Friday, August 1. The blaze started while wheat was being threshed. The property is leased by the Lawrence Noah family. Both Chelsea and Cassidy Lake fire departments were in attendance. Two calves perished in the holocaust.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Greve escaped with bruises and a sprained ankle, respectively, when a car in which they were returning from a fishing trip in the upper Peninsula was involved in a collision near Charlevoix. Four other members of the party were also shaken up and bruised.

Victor Fullerton Lands a Big One

Mrs. D. S. Bull of Luther, a former Chelsea resident, sent in to The Standard the following news item which she clipped from the Grand Rapids Herald. She said she was sure the item would prove interesting to a number of Chelsea people who fish in that area.

Luther—Waters of the Little Manistee River yielded a prize catch Wednesday afternoon to Victor Fullerton, 18, of Luther.

Victor, using night crawlers bait, landed a whopper brown trout measuring more than 33 inches long and tipping the scales at a neat 15 pounds.

Victor said that his fly rod was broken by the brown beauty in the fight after it was hooked, and almost got away. Fortunately Victor had help.

His brother, Eugene, 15, and Boyd Stanton, 16, jumped into the river and all three boys brought in Mr. Brown with their bare hands.

The fish was caught in the village limits near the village dam. Victor said he was offered $10 for his prize. He declined the offer with thanks.

The fish mentioned in the news item was caught near the dam in the Little Manistee River at Luther, and the boys who caught it are neighbors. The dam is just across the highway from Mrs. Bull's home.

The prize catch was displayed at a store in Luther and when Mr. and Mrs. Bull went in to see it they were very much surprised to see Paul Schneider, a former Chelsea resident, also taking a look at the big fish.

Schneider of Cadillac, a salesman for the Proctor and Gamble company, was making a business call at the store at the time and was as much surprised to see Mr. and Mrs. Bull as they were to see him.

and the umpire sees to that. I have umpired these games for years, and no doubt will be delegated to again.

Refreshments will be served on the grounds.

Well, brothers, it looks like our softball team is in a rut, having lost two games. The first game was lost to Albion, and the second to Jackson last Sunday to the score of 12 to 4. Due to the heat, this was a 5 inning game.

Next Sunday our team takes on Albion again. This game starts at 1 o'clock at the athletic field. Any member wishing to play, please contact Hershel O'Dell at our meeting this Thursday night.

Our last meeting of July 31 was the largest since our series was installed. Thanks to all the brothers who attended—our worthy prize-dent, George Lawrence, hopes the meetings in the future will be as large, if not larger. Six candidates were initiated at this meeting.

Our very good brothers of the Jackson Ritual Team did the initiatory work and a swell job was done. Too much praise cannot be given the Jackson Ritual Team for it is one of the best in the state.

Sandwiches and refreshments were served after the meeting.

NEW SCHOOL BUS ADDED

Dexter—A new school bus has been added to the equipment at the Dexter Public School. The new bus seats 48 children and will be used in addition to the bus already in operation. Youngsters who have not been near a bus route will now be able to ride in to attend their classes on the district school bus.

The Dexter Leader.

Local 4-Hers Attend State Judging Contest

The Annual 4-H District Elimination Contests for Judging Dairy, General Livestock, Vegetables and Crops will be held Friday and Saturday, August 8 and 9 at Michigan State college, East Lansing.

Delegates representing Washtenaw county in this event are: Ralph Erke, Chelsea; Oscar Barais, Jr., Dexter; Carl Mulholland, Ypsilanti; Kenneth Proctor, Jr., Chelsea; Robert Matson, Dexter and Lawrence Bristle, Chelsea, who will take part in the Dairy Judging.

Herman Engel, Whitmore Lake; Linda Bradbury, Doris Dowder, Dean Coy and Robert Breuninger of Dexter, and Robert Toney of Chelsea, who will judge Beef Cattle, Sheep and Swine.

Jay Hopkins and Mary Hanked will take part in the garden judging.

Grazing by livestock is probably the worst abuse to which Michigan farm woodlots are subjected, MSC foresters say. The animals do damage by breaking off branches, peeling the bark, trampling small trees and packing the ground.

F. O. E. NEWS

The following was received by Brother Tuoc from Brother Keyes of Jackson Aerie, concerning Jackson's annual picnic:

Jackson Aerie Annual Picnic, which is known as Zone 2 Picnic, will be held on Sunday, August 24, 1947, at Round Lake, starting at 12:00 noon with a basket lunch followed by swimming, games, contests, and of course a ball game by the old timers and youngsters, and knowing the Chelsea Brothers always like to bet on games, here is a tip—take the Old Timers, for they have never lost a game yet.

Sugar Makes Fruits Firmer in Canning

How you add sugar to the fruit in your preserves determines how it will hold its shape in the sirup. Frances E. Wilson, home demonstration agent, says that sugar makes fruit firmer but must be used in different ways with different types of fruit.

Sugar is added "straight" to tender, juicy fruits like cherries and strawberries. If these fruits stand overnight in sugar, they become firmer and are less likely to go to pieces in cooking. The sugar draws out the juice and shrinks the fruit somewhat. But the juice provides enough liquid so that no water need be added, and this shortens cooking time. A shorter cooking time makes better color and flavor.

Juicy fruits with a firm skin like plums do not need to stand overnight. But because they are juicy, they are put in thick sirup. This helps keep their shape as they cook. Their juice thins the sirup as much as necessary.

Firm fruits like quinces and crabapples are put in thin sirup to cook. Thick sirup toughens them. When put in thin sirup, they have time to cook tender while the sirup holds down. Another way to deal with these fruits is to steam or pre-cook them in water before sugar is added. However, this is likely to cause overcooking and lost flavors.

Decline in Mich. Milk Production Predicted

Although milk production in Michigan hit an all-time high during June, it dropped sharply during early July and is running just about even with the 1946 figures at this time, according to a statement released by Howard F. Simmons, secretary-manager of the Michigan Milk Producers' Association. In view of the poor oat crop throughout most of the state and prospects being extremely bad for even a meager corn crop, Mr. Simmons holds but little hope for maintaining milk production at anywhere near last year's volume for the fall and winter months.

Despite the great record made by Association members during the first half of the year, the cost of milk production has been out of bounds for the so-called "flush season" and already there is a tendency toward cutting down the size of herds by selling cows which are low producers," stated Mr. Simmons. "Costs of feed continue at high levels and it is going to be necessary for most Michigan producers to buy large quantities of feed from distant points to supplement their meager crops."

Current storage supplies of dairy products are greatly below the average for the last five years. Weather conditions during the remainder of the summer will have a great bearing on this winter's supply of fluid milk for Detroit and Michigan cities. What conditions will be no one can predict, but it is certain that production will lag from now on.

Adrian Has Statue in Memory of Famous Woman Resident

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series on historical spots and monuments in Michigan, based on information from the Michigan Historical Collection at the University of Michigan.)

Ann Arbor—A little woman in Quaker garb for whose capture a $3,000 reward once was posted is immortalized in a life-size statue in front of the Adrian City hall.

She was Mrs. Laura Smith Haviland, the first Michigan woman and the fourth in the United States to be honored with a public statue. Her work in helping slaves escape to Canada via the "underground railroad" was the cause of the reward.

In the statue's hand is "A Woman's Life Work," Mrs. Haviland's autobiography, which indicates that her life was indeed filled with work.

According to the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan, Mrs. Haviland had a varied history as a school founder, a director of the "railroad," nurse to Federal soldiers during the Civil War, savior of more than 100 deserters, and mother of seven abolitionists.

Carrying through her anti-slavery beliefs, she admitted Negroes to her school, Raisin Institute, which she set up in 1837. In 1846 she began active participation in the "underground railroad"—although her husband and five of her seven children died that year of fever.

It was during this time that the reward was posted by the State of Kentucky and many fruitless attempts were made to capture her. Slave traders, irritated that she was guiding so many slaves to freedom, also sent agents to watch her home to find how she operated.

With the coming of the Civil War, Aunt Laura sold Raisin Institute with the agreement that it continue as an abode for homeless and indigent children. Then with a personal pass from President Lincoln she hurried off to war to help the wounded soldiers.

At the war's end, she helped many of the poor pioneer families in Kansas with food and money. A town and an academy there were named for her.

Following that, she hoped bring about the establishment of the State Industrial School for Girls at Adrian. The Historical Collections indicate that it was mainly through her efforts that the school was called an industrial school rather than a reform school.

So varied were Mrs. Haviland's friendships and interests that burial services were conducted for her at Grand Rapids, Adrian, Coldwater and Raisin, where she was buried beside her husband.

Shallow Fishing Is Advised for This Year

Ann Arbor—The old fisherman's rule, "In summer heat, fish deep" is taking a beating this season.

Since conservation department fisheries biologists have been explaining that the deeper waters of many Michigan lakes are deficient in oxygen at this time of year, some anglers have experimented with fishing at about the 10-foot depth instead of in colder and deeper waters, and reported satisfying results.

The biologists warn that each lake has individual characteristics and that no formula fits them all. They do say a lot of time now wasted fishing in oxygen-deficient waters below 20 feet could be made more productive by fishing at shallower depths.

Spraying equipment used to apply 2, 4-D must be cleaned thoroughly before it is used to apply other types of sprays. Useful plants can be killed or seriously injured by the 2, 4-D residue.

Conservation Director Sees Poor Pheasant Season for This Year

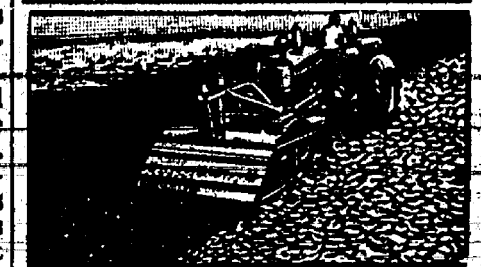

Ludington—The pheasant situation may be worse this season than it was last year, Conservation Director P. J. Hoffmaster advised the conservation commission at its July meeting here. Pheasant and other fall hunting regulations are to be fixed by the commission August 8 and 4 at the Higgins Lake conservation training school.

The pheasant outlook is unfavorable in spite of peak game farm production and establishment of food patches, refuges and sharecropping to leave grain in the fields for food on state lands, the director said.

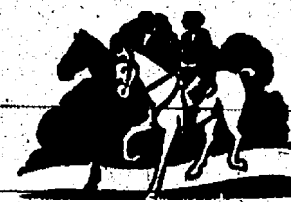

"Apparently this is not a local situation but rather a country-wide condition," Hoffmaster declared. "Earlier this month representatives of conservation departments and fish and game commissions from nine mid-western states met at Higgins Lake for their yearly conference. Discussion of the pheasant situation naturally dominated their deliberations, since their population had dropped considerably in the several states. Representatives were there from the outstanding pheasant producing states of the midwest. Invariably their experiences with pheasants were comparable with those in Michigan. In the early '40's their pheasant population reached a peak and then fell into a continuous slump. Much research is being carried on by the several states as to the reasons for this, but no two agreed as to any single cause or combination of causes, and as a consequence there could be no agreement on remedial measures. Only one fact was uncontested—that pheasants are down in number in every part of the country.

Good rotations and soil treatment will help in effective erosion control.

Tip from the Smart Sex

WHO is it that's first to spot—and quick—est to go for—a really fresh new fashion idea when it comes along?

The ladies, of course!

And who is it that, according to careful surveys, put Buick far ahead of its price class and up among the lowest-priced three when they name the car of their innermost choice?

The fair sex—but naturally!

And who is it, when you come right down to it, that gets the most practical use from enough steering-wheel power to handle the day's travel-jobs without strain and struggle?

Who relishes most the restful ease of wide, cushiony seats, and the blissful gentleness of all-coil springs that make rough roads well-mannered and good roads glass-smooth?

Who goes for a car big enough to be company-minded—yet light and easy enough in handling to park without a tussle, and sit shadow-light through market-hour traffic?

Who, good friends, has the family's smartest eye-for-a-buy—the shrewdest size-up of what's really good?

No one but the Lady of the Household!

So we toss out this thought to you men-folks:

Chances are that you've been hankering for the kind of thrill that lurks in this great-hearted, great-powered beauty.

You'd sort of like to get your hands on a car as big and mighty as this—if you thought the better half could be sold on it.

Take our tip—she's already sold. Favored as it is by red-blooded males, no Buick we've ever offered has won the smart sex quite like this one.

So why not pull a pleasant surprise some evening soon? Just come home and say,
"Well, I placed an order for a Buick today.
They're taking 'em with or without a car-to-trade."

Then watch her fall all over your neck!
