Michigan MIRROR

By Gene Alleman

Human nature and freedom of the press being what they are, it is inevitable that some of Kim Sigler's newspaper supporters now disagree with parts of his 1948 program.

Representative Elton R. Eaton, editor of the Plymouth Mail, differs with the governor on the proposal for power to hire and fire department heads and to scrap, in effect, control of state departments through the state administrative board.

It so happens that the administrative board was created by Governor Alex J. Groesbeck, early in the 20's, while Eaton was Groesbeck's board is just like a corporation board of directors and that the governor, as "chairman" of the board has ample powers to get things done.

The Plymouth editor recalls that Groesbeck's power to hire and fire was used to oust Tom Johnson as state superintendent of public instruction, and that Fred Green used the cry of "dictator" to upset Groesbeck at the next Republican primary.

Governor Sigler retorts that he has no power today to remove department heads or other state officials. "In order to remove an official I have to prefer charges of misfeasance, malfeasance and non-feasance," he told the press.

Sigler does not believe in boards and commissions. He regards them as inefficient. He would like to reduce the present 100-plus state units to about 20.

Muri DeFoe, editor of the Charlotte Republican-Tribune, disagrees with the governor over a four-year term. His logic goes along something like this: When the state gets a poor governor, two years is long enough to keep him. When the state gets a good governor, a four-year term is long enough to keep him. When the state gets a poor governor, a four-year term is long enough to keep him. When the state gets a good governor, a four-year term is long enough to keep him.

On the plus sign of the Sigler ledger may be placed in bold letters his traits of high courage and intellectual integrity. He still is the idealist, the fighter, the light-battler for "better government." He delights in challenging the status quo.

The governor's troubles come largely from his zeal and impatience to get things done. By seeking more power for himself in order to achieve these reforms, he has antagonized a number of influential people in the party, including those in the legislature.

Open Meeting on City Govt. Issues Will Be Held Soon

Much talk has been circulating that Chelsea would have a town meeting on the proposed project which may be built south of town should happen to be a taxable organization.

The joint committee from the Chamber of Commerce and Kiwanis clubs which has sponsored the move to bring town government issues, reports that they have made a thorough study of this possibility. They report the only possible tax benefits to Chelsea would be in a lower township tax rate which at the present time is one mill. A more detailed report on the township tax situation will be published next week, as reported by the committee.

For a more detailed answer to the many questions brought up by this problem, the committee requests that every resident of Chelsea attend the meeting to be held some time before the election on a date which will be announced in next week's issue of The Standard.

NEW ARGUS PLANT STARTS PRODUCTION

H. S. Baseball, Track Teams Are Defeated

Nine Meets Saline on Local Field Next Tuesday Afternoon

After being rained out last Tuesday at Romulus the Bulldogs went back Wednesday afternoon, April 21, only to run into a very competent little left-hander, Jack Thorpe, who shut them out 10-0.

While Chelsea could get but four hits off of Thorpe, the game would have been much closer if Chelsea hadn't made six costly errors, each of which cost at least one run.

Tomorrow get four sheep runs in the second inning on one wild pitch, three errors, and only two scratch singles. They added two more in the third and four more in the sixth, just for good measure.

Chelsea's only scoring chance came in the third inning, when they got two of their four hits, but both runners were left stranded.

Hansen pitched the first three innings, Miller the next two and Tobin finished. Hansen was charged with the loss.

Chelsea's defense, which appeared quite strong before the season opened, has got to improve a lot before they'll win. A few errors will ruin a team's confidence at the plate as well as in the field.

The Bulldogs met defeat for the third straight time this season as they bowed to Roosevelt High 7-5, last Friday afternoon at the Lincoln High field. It was a much better game than the score indicates, but it was the errors again which beat them. Five errors gave Roosevelt three of their five runs in the first three innings and that early lead was just too much to overcome.

Chelsea put on a fine rally in the last inning, but it wasn't quite enough. Behind, 7-3, as the seventh inning got under way, Hansen started the rally by drawing a walk. Roosevelt then decided to help and very obligingly committed two errors on Miller and Blane to score Hansen. Knickerbocker then got his second hit of the day, a single over second, to score Miller and make the score 7-5.

However, it befell Tobin, who had relieved Miller in the fourth inning, strike out and he had to be the one, because he'd pitched fine ball after relieving Miller, striking out five of the eleven men who faced him in the last three innings and allowing but three hits. That's baseball, though.

While Chelsea's play was far from good against Roosevelt, it was much better than the Romulus game. Perhaps the youngsters on the club have finally shaken the most of their jitters.

Chelsea's track team again took it on the chin last Friday as they lost 55-15 to the State Class C-D Champions, Ypsilanti-Roseville. There's certainly no disgrace when you bow to a champ.

The Bulldog's points came as follows:

Knickerbocker, 2nd in 880 and broad jump; Palmer, 3rd in pole vault; Baldwin, 3rd in the shot put; 100-yard dash and 220-yard dash; Vogel, 2nd in the 100-yard dash and 220-yard dash; Bauer, 3rd in the high jump and low hurdles; and, Niehaus, 3rd in the mile.

Many of Roosevelt's points came because of their "hot" team depth. Chelsea lacks this factor and because of this a boy must run in more than one event, and it's hard to beat a fresh man every time you step up to that starting line.

Chelsea meets Romulus next, another strong outfit, and while there's little chance for a win, they'll all be trying, anyway.

Tuesday's game with Milan was rained out and was scheduled to have been played Wednesday, Friday, April 30. The Bulldogs will play Lincoln at Lincoln, and next Tuesday, May 4, they will meet Saline, here.

VILLAGE PRESIDENT REPORTS: Reasons For Sewage Service Charge

As I stated some months ago, the levying of any charge of assessment by public officials is very unpopular with many people whose duty it is to make the payments. The course may be lessened somewhat if the public clearly understands the necessity of such action, which I shall attempt to explain in this article.

As the public well knows, for many years every cent of profit from the operation of the municipal electric and water plant has been transferred to the general fund of the village, which has enabled us to enjoy one of the lowest tax rates in the state. Without providing for a reserve which would enable the plant management to make necessary improvements to the plant, a day of reckoning was inevitable. That day has just about arrived, and plans are being made to meet the situation.

You may ask how the sewage service charge affects the electric and water department. Operation of the sewage treatment plant has been paid entirely by this department.

There are now one hundred and forty-five members listed on the roll of the local organization.

Tag Day Will Be Friday for Cancer Fund

Women's Church Groups Will Assist in Local Collections

The Cancer drive for funds in Washenaw county will be climaxed with tag day Friday. Bright red and blue tags will be worn by Chelsea residents, signifying that they have contributed to help control the disease which claims the life of one out of every eight persons.

Individual responsibility is an important aspect of cancer control, it was pointed out recently. Not only individual contributions of money, but individual responsibility in seeking early diagnosis and treatment at the first sign of the disease.

Washenaw county's share of the nation's $16,042,000 quota drive is $8,000.

Mrs. William Weber, chairman, and Mrs. Armin Schneider, co-chairman of the Cancer drive in Chelsea, the past month have placed canisters for receiving donations for the Cancer Fund, in both of the schools in town and teachers at both schools have given talks on the early detection and treatment of cancer.

Canisters placed in business places have in some instances met with excellent response while in others the donations have been rather slow. Organizations in Chelsea have responded generously and there are still several who plan to make donations to the drive.

Plans for tag day here have been completed by Mrs. Weber and Mrs. Schneider and it is hoped that the people of Chelsea will be as generous as possible with their donations that day. Cards were mailed Tuesday to all teachers and workers advising them of the time they are expected to be on duty and assigning them their places on the down-town streets. These voluntary workers have been recruited from the women's organization of the four churches in the community.

Morris Alperwitz, Scoutmaster, has arranged for two Boy Scouts to be on duty in the lobby of the Sylvan theatre for the remaining days of the drive for funds. They were invited on the hands of which charges of canisters will be added to the fund will be received.

Sixty-five delegates met to elect eleven members to the county 4-H council. This group works with the 4-H Club Agent in promoting 4-H work and in developing the over-all 4-H program.

New members elected were Ann Gage, Dixboro; Doris Sanderson; Donna Kalmback, Chelsea; Mary Hanker, Gregory, and Linda Bradbury, Dexter.

Members who were re-elected for another year were Jay Hopkins, Norwin Lesser, Jack Bradbury and Dean Coy of Dexter, and Mrs. Lewis Haselwerdt, Chelsea.

Former Hoover Ball Plant Completely Renovated for Stamping and Die Divisions

Kiwanis club members were addressed Monday evening on the objectives and operation of a little-known or publicized humanitarian work carried on by the State of Michigan, in their efforts toward rehabilitation of handicapped persons.

I. K. Norton, Field Agent from the Jackson branch office of the State Board of Control for Vocational Education, explained how any person who is physically or mentally handicapped to the extent that his earning power or chance for advancement is impaired, may at state expense, be helped through medical aid, provision of artificial limbs or glasses, etc.

According to Mr. Norton the state not only finds such work of great humanitarian value but it has also been found that the average person who has been rehabilitated pays back in income taxes three years the full amount expended on him, through his increased earning power. The state's primary requirement for any person desiring such benefit is that such help will get him back on the job and make him a better worker, more efficient and caring for himself and dependents.

Four new members were accepted into the club. The new members are: Donald Alber, Douglas Newkirk, teacher and coach at Chelsea High school; Col. D. S. Tolson, recently retired from the U. S. Army and now living at Sugar Loaf Lake; and, Charles Lancaster, new owner of the Chelsea Drug Co.

A large delegation was planning to attend the Kiwanis International meeting held in Windsor, Wednesday evening.

Direct supervision of the pressroom will be handled by Oscar Clymer, pressroom foreman, and the die room foreman is Carl Bates, both of whom are from Ann Arbor and had previously worked with Argus there.

At the present time there are 37 stamping presses ready to go into production. It is expected that a few more will be added to bring the total to about 40.

The tool and die department, under Carl Bates' supervision will be doing both designing, new dies and repairing old ones.

Principal products to be turned out here will include stamped metal parts for Argus cameras, projectors and camera shutter lenses.

Argus officials say the move was necessitated because of the need for additional working space and increased capacity. Because of adequate facilities in the past, the firm has had to have other agencies do much of this work, which they now hope to consolidate under their own operation.

Much of the machinery installed here has been moved from one of the three Minneapolis plants of the Industrial Tool and Die Co., which Argus acquired last fall. Argus is continuing to operate the other two plants in Minneapolis on other manufacturing projects in which the firm is interested. Other machines were transferred from Ann Arbor.

In addition to the Ann Arbor home plant, the new branch here, and the two in Minneapolis, Argus also operates a small plant in Cheboygan, Mich., which manufactures leather cases for their products.

Among the Chelsea people already employed in the new plant are Carl Huston, pressroom supervisor; Rolly White, timekeeper; Russell Abdon, floor inspector; Dorothy Oesterle, bench inspector; and Frank Stickney, who is now living at 564 Chandler street; Elba Gage, Ezra Feldkamp, Fred Prinsing, and Earl Whittaker, waterman; William Hitchingham, electrician, and Malcolm Keith.

Both men and women will be employed on the eight-hour shift planned at the present time. A total of 34 persons are now engaged in operations already underway, and the number will be increased as production schedules are established.

Former Hoover Ball Plant Completely Renovated for Stamping and Die Divisions

Thirty-Four Now Employed Including Eleven from Chelsea

Production has actually started on a small scale this week, following extensive remodeling and complete renovation of the building which had stood unused for some time.

Work started on the remodeling during the second week in February, with the installation of a new steam heating plant, and until this job was completed the bitter cold at that time was a severe handicap. Next, came a new concrete floor for the entire pressroom. Partitions were built later to subdivide the approximately 16,000 square feet area into departments including a stock warehouse, shipping room, tool crib, grinding room, and a room in which die designers may find some refuge from the noise of the pressroom. The plumbing system was overhauled and the entire plant outfitted with fluorescent lighting, fixtures to give a "new look" to the building.

Approximately 1,400 window panes were installed, according to the company spokesman, which seems to be adequate testimony to the throwing accuracy of playful boys.

Operations here which will include stamping of small metal parts and tool and die design and repair, will be directed by the Ann Arbor home office of Argus.

with pre-emergence treatment on sweet corn and Dr. Grigsby did similar work on field corn in co-operation with B. P. Churchill, farm crops specialist. From one to three pounds of 2, 4-D salt, mixed in enough water to spray an acre, killed most of the small annual and grassy weeds. The seed-bed was prepared and weeds allowed to come up. Corn was planted and then the soil was sprayed before the seed germinated.

Much less of the weed-killer was used in post-emergence spraying, as heavy applications damaged and stunted the corn plants. From one quarter to one-half pound of 2, 4-D acid per acre was sprayed on the corn ground when the crop was six to 20 inches high. The application did not kill the weed grasses, however, as pre-emergence treatment usually does.

Many county agricultural agents in southern Michigan plan demonstrations on chemical treatment of corn this spring and summer. Farmers interested in seeing the work done should plan to attend. Those farmers who plan to try some chemical weed treatment on corn crops this year should contact their county agricultural agent for advice, Dr. Grigsby believes.

The time isn't here when farmers can break the hoe handles, sell off the cultivators and weeders and care for their corn crop through the use of chemical weed killers. That's the opinion of two Michigan State college research scientists who have done much work with chemical weeding.

Drs. B. H. Grigsby and C. L. Hamner agree that farmers may want to make some field tests on both pre-emergence and post-emergence treatments of field corn. But the farmer who treats his entire field with little or no attention to the soil, temperature, humidity and other conditions may find himself in trouble, they think.

Some scattered success stories on saving weedy corn fields last summer by spraying with 2, 4-D have caused some farmers to believe they may be able to grow a crop without cultivating or hoeing. The scientists believe that may someday be true, but add it isn't here yet.

Experiments conducted at Michigan State college in 1947 showed both pre-emergence and post-emergence treatment could bring results. Dr. Hamner had good results

When feeding turkey poults, have plenty of feeders filled with a mash that will supply all the essential nutrients to give the poults a proper start. MSC poultry specialists advise that feeders must be low and distributed around the hover where there is ample light. For the first few days the ends of the feeders should extend under the edge of the hover if an electric brooder is used.

Cows Must Have Grain
It is not economical to withhold grain from a good producing cow because it is high priced. She cannot eat enough roughage to keep up her maximum milk flow.

THE EARLY BIRD GETS THE WORM
As we all know, when Spring arrives, warm weather is here.

We also realize that the close of school is near and that means final examinations. Oh! how we dread them! It is even worse when we try to cram all of our studying into the night before the examination. We should know that we cannot expect to write a good final if we have not made the proper preparation. By proper preparation, we don't mean starting to study the night before the examinations. Right now would be a good time to begin. Study each subject, little by little, and when the examinations start, we will be all set. We'll be able to get enough sleep and we won't have to stay up all night studying. So remember, now is the hour. So begin studying, not the night before the examinations.

'SPRING-AH, SPRING'
The weather is warmer now, the robins are back again, and we find the people who eat lunch at school wandering up town during noon hour. All of these come with Spring.

Cars of all shapes, sizes, and descriptions come to and from school. Some leave during lunch hour, but, like homing pigeons, return reluctantly for the afternoon session at school.

Couples, hand-in-hand, walk slowly those last few steps before entering the building. "It's just too nice for school!" Someone says. It's not uncommon to see "Richie" Carlson and "Kathy" Eschelbach strolling down the "avenue," or Joyce and Oscar, well, perhaps not strolling who will win this round? There is another Joyce, an Unstead this time, and a certain "Bud" coming along also. Helen Jarvie may be late some day, if Spring affects Summer's cars. There are all kinds of couples not noticing the "Keep-Off-The-Grass" signs, but then how can they?—Ah! Spring...

STUDENT COUNCIL
Two possible sites for the annual picnic were suggested and the home rooms will vote on them. They are Pleasant Lake and Portage Lake. The committees appointed are: Freshmen, clean-up; Sophomores, transportation; Juniors, recreation.

The Athletic Board asked if stripes could be given only for people participating in sports and cheerleading. All others would receive letters. It was discussed and approved.

SMALL TALK
Latest flash on Audrey's Maxwell: "It's good to the last drop!"

Why has Stanley been going around in such a daze lately?

Most of the boys have been acting rather shy this week; it must be the "Sponge Week" rash.

Mr. Redner certainly received a rousing welcome last Wednesday, and wistful sighs were heard not only from High school girls either.

What's the difference between a "Polish" woman?

It had Mae Slane stomped too?

Who can help George H. out by telling him how these strapless formal stay up?

Why did all the Sophomore girls wear black skirts last Thursday?

Pat Eder is trying in vain to discover the correct way to pronounce "tek."

What made Miss DeRose so peppy at GAA bowling last Wednesday night??

Mr. Cameron, don't you like cigars??

Anyone having any information about who gobbled the potato chips—notify the Freshman class. Was that very nice?? Reward!!!

Miss Fox, where did you get that lovely orchid??

Home Economics 1 girls, can't you be a little more lady-like??

Why didn't Audrey get anything accomplished 6th hour???

Oh Myrna! You aren't afraid of lightning are you?

Say, Doug—have those "foot-lets" worn out yet? Ask Summer about this matter too, because I think you will have something in common.

SPECIAL—THE MIRACLE OF PARADISE VALLEY
Did you ever think about the value of safety; lack of which causes accidents which might result in losing your life, hearing, or your ability to talk? Well, the school has.

Last Monday at an assembly in the gym, a movie, "The Miracle of Paradise Valley," was shown to the students in hope that afterwards they would realize the necessity and the value of playing safe. Jim, a young farm owner, was taken a year into the future by an imaginary person he called Joe. He was shown the graves of some of his friends who had died because of little things to which no one paid any attention—little things like a loose floor board, a rusty nail lying around, and last but not least, an old ladder that needed fixing. It seemed impossible to Jim that human beings, young and old, could be killed by such small things. When Jim came back to the present he realized that the little things caused as many accidents, if not more, than the great ones.

Jim talked to the people and made them realize the value of safety. Organizations were started with a skull and crossbones as their symbol. They would put the symbol at danger spots, where people would see it and avoid accidents.

So you see, it really pays to play safe where a human life is concerned.

MONKEY BUSINESS
What were the monkey shins at Chelsea High school last week? No, not the ordinary things, but a real live monkey. Richard Seely brought his pet monkey to third hour biology class.

The monkey enjoyed the good company and seemed to have a good time of popping in and out of a desk and running along the radiator.

He knew who was his friend and made himself into a fur collar for George Alpervitz. It was rather hard to figure out the answer to the question, "which one was George?"

After eating a lunch consisting of carrots, the monkey departed with Richard, who lead him on a leash—or was the monkey leading Richard? Who knows!

VISITOR
Arthur Redner, our former chorus instructor, visited school last Wednesday.

Mr. Redner is teaching at the University of Florida at Tallahassee. He has several student teachers working under his supervision, instructing children at the High school, which is affiliated with the university. His address is 316 West College avenue, Tallahassee.

How to Fall in Love

in one easy lesson

TAKE a clear day—a Dynaflo Buick—and a mind open to new experiences.

Turn the key in the lock—press down the gas treadle—and set this mighty Fireball straight-eight purring. Now:

Flick the selector lever till the pointer indicates "D"—that's for driving. Feed a little gas—and see what happens.

Smoothly, you slip away from the curb. Silently you build up momentum. Effortlessly you cruise at whatever pace your treadle toe selects.

Look! you say. A stop light! What do I do?

Nothing special. Let up on the gas. Apply the foot brake as you need it.

That all? Won't the engine stall? Don't I shift?

That's all. Your engine won't stall. You don't shift. Just sit there till the coast is clear. Then step on it. Step hard and you're off like a rabbit. Step lightly, and you ease smoothly away.

What's happening? you want to know. What's doing the shifting? Some mechanical hand under the floor boards?

Not in this car, sir. Oil does it all—spinning oil. Oil whirling to give you starting surge—power build-up—efficient cruising—engine braking effect on hills.

Oil that does everything the usual low, second and high gears do—without any gearshifting on your part—and without the slightest break in your stride except when you want it.

Say no more! I'm sold! Where do I sign up?

There's only one place. Only Buick has Dynaflo Drive, and no other American car has anything like it. With or without a car to trade, better see your Buick dealer first minute you can.
