U. S. Postal Service Inaugurates New World-Wide Air Parcel Post System

With the inauguration of nationwide, world-wide air parcel post Sept. 1, the United States can boast of the most modern and expeditious delivery service in the world, according to Acting Postmaster, Paul F. Niehaus of Chelsea.

The new highly-specialized air-borne service, enacted into law by the 80th Congress, will afford patrons of more than 42,000 post-offices in America and its possessions unexcelled shipping facilities. Transit time will be reduced to a fraction of that required by other modes of transportation.

Acting Postmaster Niehaus pointed out that air parcel post packages will receive the same particular consideration shown air mail in routing. In addition, identical doorstep delivery will be given to air parcel post as is afforded other forms of mail, making the air-borne mail service unique in every respect.

He added that distinct air parcel post stickers, printed in red, white and blue and bearing the likeness of a winged package with the earth's globe underneath, will soon be available without cost at the Chelsea Post Office to apply to outgoing packages.

"With a scheduled plane taking off or landing within the United States on an average of every seven seconds around the clock, and an overseas-bound plane leaving our borders every 30 minutes, we stand ready to give our patrons the fastest parcel post service offered anywhere," Acting Postmaster Niehaus said.

While international air parcel post service has been available from the United States and its possessions for several months, domestic air-borne service is being launched for the first time in history.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bollinger returned home Friday afternoon from a two weeks' trip to Denver, Colorado, and Yellowstone National Park. They had accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Koenigter and daughter Joan of Ann Arbor. In Denver they visited Mrs. Kate Bigley, an aunt of Mr. Bollinger and Mr. Koenigter and also two cousins, Mrs. Charles Larsen and Henry Bigley.

Honeymooning in Northern Michigan After Marriage Sat.

St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church at Rogers Corners was the setting for the marriage, Saturday, of Miss Marilyn Beuerle, daughter of Walter Beuerle and the late Mrs. Clara Beuerle, and John Niehaus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Niehaus. The double-ring ceremony was performed at 7:30 in the evening by Rev. John Fontana, pastor of the church, before the altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and candelabras holding lighted white candles.

James Herring of Chicago, a fraternity brother of the bridegroom, was the soloist, accompanied on the organ by Miss Hildegarde Fontana, he sang "Because" and "I Will Love You Always."

After the ceremony a reception for one hundred and fifty guests was held at the family home of the bride, Mrs. Olga O'Neill of Grass Lake, aunt of the bridegroom, and the late Mrs. Richard Dewar of Ann Arbor and Mrs. Webster Schill of Manchester, another aunt of the bride, cut the wedding cake. Also assisting were Mrs. Alvin Beuerle of Manchester and Mrs. Henry Finkbeiner of Ann Arbor, both aunts of the bride, and Mrs. Herbert Hinderer. Mrs. Clark O'Brien of Manchester was in charge of the guest book.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was gown in traditional white satin. An off-the-shoulder effect was achieved with a yoke of illusion finished with a square neckline trimmed with Old English lace which was studded with rhinestones. The petticoat which extended into a full train was trimmed with matching white lace. The heart-shaped tiara which held her fingertip-length veil of illusion in place. She carried a white prayer book topped with a cluster of white roses.

Miss Ruth Marie Beuerle was her sister's maid of honor. She wore pink tulle and carried a colonial bouquet of deep pink roses, carnations and white daisies. A headdress of velvet matching the flowers completed her costume.

Miss Caroline Finkbeiner of Ann Arbor, a cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Veryl Steinaway of Ann Arbor were bridesmaids. They wore dresses of aqua tulle gowns which featured Bertha collars. Their flowers and headpieces were like those of the maid of honor.

For the bride, a white nylon over taffeta, made like the bridesmaid's gowns, acted as flower girl and carried a basket of rose petals which she scattered in the bride's pathway.

Kenneth Niehaus, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and Donald Schable of Stockbridge, a cousin of the bride and Veryl Steinaway of Ann Arbor were the ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Niehaus are spending this week in northern Michigan. For going away the bride wore a yellow gabardine suit with brown accessories. Her corsage was the white roses which she had carried on her prayer book.

The bride is a graduate of Manchester High school and Mercy College of Nursing in Detroit.

Mr. Niehaus is a graduate of Chelsea High school, attended Michigan State College where he became affiliated with Delta Chi fraternity. He served a year with the Army of Occupation in Germany.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Allhouse have purchased the Spooner house in Francisco and will make their home there.

LABOR DAY OF 1947 was no happy holiday for 18 Michigan motorists who were killed in auto crashes and thousands who were injured or inconvenienced in non-fatal accidents. Pointing to last year's traffic toll over the long week-end, Automobile Club of Michigan urged all motorists to "Take It Easy" this year. Traffic over this holiday will be unusually heavy—probably the greatest concentration of the year—because thousands will be stretching extra time out of the last long week-end of warm weather and because many will be returning from resort areas. Auto Club urges Labor Day motorists to start for home early, drive more slowly and closely observe yellow road markings. August led all months for persons killed on Michigan's highways last year, with 149 traffic deaths out of a total of 1,444 for the year.

To Take It Easy
Over Week-End

Anticipating a surge of holiday traffic and accidents over the Labor Day week-end, Automobile Club of Michigan today joined state police and other safety agencies in a plea to "Take It Easy" on the state highways and city streets.

"Our record in past years for Labor Day week-ends has not been an encouraging one," said Ernest P. Davis, Auto Club safety and traffic director.

"Over the week-end last year 18 persons lost their lives in Michigan traffic, and countless more were injured or inconvenienced in non-fatal accidents. What's the gain in saving 10 minutes by driving 70 miles an hour and taking all kinds of chances?" Davis asked.

Highest fatal toll over Labor Day week-end in recent years came in 1940 when 46 persons were killed in Michigan-traffic accidents.

He listed six suggestions to insure a safe and sane motor holiday:

1. Take It Easy! Don't weave in and out of traffic. Maintain a steady driving pace without excessive speed or racing spurts in traffic.

2. Don't drive on wrong side of road. Keep to right at all times.

3. Don't pass on hills, curves or at street intersections.

4. Get an early start, going and coming, to avoid tangle in crowded traffic. Rest when necessary to overcome fatigue.

5. Slow down at sundown; don't override your headlights.

6. Watch for cars coming out of side roads, particularly after dusk and obey all traffic signs calling for a "Full Stop."

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Winter and baby visited Mrs. Winter's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Runciman, at their home in Stockbridge Sunday. They were accompanied home by the Runciman's son, Jerry, who is spending this week here while his parents are away on a trip.

Mrs. Charles Martin of Ann Arbor, was a guest Sunday at the D. H. Wurster home.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Smith of Milford, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Harper Steele of Garrettsville, N. Y., spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Chapman.

Farm Silo Should Be Made Ready for Annual Fall Filling

A little time taken to put the silo in good condition will result in better keeping of the silage according to agricultural engineers at Michigan State college.

The silo should first be cleaned by scraping off any old silage that may be adhering to the walls. All litter at the bottom of the silo should be taken out.

Air leaks in walls may cause silage to spoil. Walls should be carefully examined and small cracks filled. Melted paraffin applied with a paint brush is good for this purpose. Since paraffin is inflammable when hot, care should be taken when using it. It should be brushed into cracks or joints while it is still warm.

DON'T OVERLOAD THE BOAT IF YOU WANT TO KEEP AFLOAT

MICHIGAN DEPARTMENT OF CONSERVATION

A touch and you GO—that's DYNAFLOW!

Yes, it boils down to just about that.

You start your engine, set a lever—and from then on your treadle foot takes over.

You press the accelerator—and move softly and smoothly away.

You speed up, slow down, halt completely—and your right foot alone, operating gas treadle and brake, does it all.

How come? Simply because Dynaflo Drive is the one passenger car drive in America that gets completely away from gears which function in a series of fixed stages.

Changes in the way oil flows, instead of changes in gears, adjust your engine power to your driving requirements.

Whether you are starting out, climbing a hill, surging past others or cruising easily, there's nothing for you to do or think about except feed enough gas.

For very fast starts, extreme pulls, reserve braking power, you flick the selector lever—and your engine seems suddenly to double in size.

For parking, there is a very special setting, exclusive to Dynaflo Drive, that rigidly locks rear wheels and prevents rolling when you leave your car on a grade.

Even rough and chattery roads are made smoother by power that flows along through a cushion of oil—your whole car is "sweeter" in its feel, far silkier in its actions.

Quite rightfully is Dynaflo Drive called the most important motoring change since the self-starter.

It's a basically different way of transmitting power—and one you should know about firsthand.

See what your Buick dealer can do about arranging that for you. The merest sample of Dynaflo magic will make you want to place an order with him, whether or not you have a car to trade!

Here's your Buick Dealer's Four-Square Selling Policy

The marriage of Miss Jane Rona Waltrous, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Waltrous, and Jess F. Miller of Ypsilanti, took place Saturday afternoon, Aug. 30, at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. E. L. Sutherland performed the ceremony. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Carl Miller. The bride is a graduate of Chelsea High school and of the Art department of the Ypsilanti State Normal, and is now Art Instructor at Kearsley school in Detroit. The groom is a graduate of Ypsilanti High school and the Literary department of the University of Michigan and holds a responsible position with the Trippensee Closed Body Corp., of Detroit.

The village announced plans to stage another golf tournament Friday. The tournament, which is staged locally, is being stimulated by an offering of prizes by Fred Bolser, one of the local golf fans. Plans for making the new golf course a municipal course and opening it to the general public throughout the season are progressing rapidly. According to plans already laid, 50 persons will be secured to pledge a payment of $1,000, the amount it is estimated will be required to operate the grounds. Already forty of these guarantors have been secured.

Culminating a stormy session, the village council Wednesday evening tabled the resolution passed at a recessed meeting two weeks ago, calling for assessment of the South Main street paving according to benefits received. And passed a new resolution by which the village will pay for the paving of all public street and alley intersections and one-third of the cost of the balance, the abutting property owners to pay two-thirds of the cost on a basis of foot frontage. Action of the council was the result of speculation as to the difficulty in assessing abutting and adjacent property owners according to benefits received, and after it had been learned that property could only be assessed 25 per cent of its last previous valuation. Figures submitted by president Daniels ascertain cost of the village's share of the paving, showed the entire cost to Chelsea to be approximately $10,000. Outside of the village, approximately $2,500 will be required to extend the pavement to a width of thirty feet instead of twenty, the amount to be used by the state. That this amount will be raised was assured recently when members of the Kiwanis club pledged an amount which exceeded that needed.

Work on Michigan's new storm sewer extending from east Main street out Dexter and eventually to the viaduct on US-23 is well under way. Work was begun Wednesday, two weeks ago, at the Main street end. It is a sanitary sewer of the latest type and all old connections with residences will be cut off and reconnected, leaving the old sewer for storm purposes only. —The Milan Leader.

Fort Miami, on Site of St. Joseph, Played Part in Discovery of Mississippi River

Ann Arbor.—A tiny fort erected at the mouth of the St. Joseph River in 1872, played a key part in the discovery of the mouth of the Mississippi River.

Destroyed long ago, the stockade was constructed overlooking Lake Michigan on a bluff that now adjoins the business center of the city of St. Joseph.

Called Fort Miami, it was the first fort built in the Lower Peninsula. It formed the main base in Michigan for La Salle's explorations which led to the discovery of the mouth of the Mississippi, according to information in the Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan.

Never one to waste time, La Salle cut the bastion from the wilderness while awaiting a rendezvous with other members of his party before making his first attempt to get to the Illinois River and then the Mississippi by way of the St. Joseph and Kankakee Rivers.

Unsuccessful in his first try, the husky, intrepid explorer returned to Fort Miami, and then left for Fort Frontenac, Kingston, Ont., to arrange for more supplies. He and several others trudged the 1,000 miles through the snow and slush of early spring in 65 days. In making the trip, La Salle became the first white man to cross Southern Michigan, according to the Michigan Historical Collections.

On Nov. 4, 1680, La Salle returned to his Fort Miami headquarters which he soon left on a trip to the Illinois River. Two months later he was back, but left in March to visit Illinois Indians.

After another Indian visit, he left the fort for Montreal by way of Mackinac. Back at Fort Miami in Nov., 1684, La Salle left there late in December on what turned out to be his successful effort to

And the mouth of the Mississippi. Two months later, on April 9, he achieved his goal and claimed the vast valley drained by the Mississippi and its many tributaries for France.

Fresh from his triumph, La Salle journeyed back to Fort Miami in 1682, whence he left for France to report to the king.

Afterwards, the little fort which was home to La Salle and which he used as a center for news and supplies, was used for shelter by traders, and trappers until it fell into decay and disappeared.

GROWS TALL CORN
I-o-way is of course the place where the tall-corn grows, but the green stalks are reaching up prettily well out Oronoko way recently, as evidenced by a specimen measuring 12 feet, 6 inches from the ground to the tip of the tassels, raised by Charles Harner of the old Will-Diment farm, adjoining the Reynolds farm on the south on the Main street road to Berrien Springs.

Tuesday night a Record representative went out to the patch with Harner. The corn is over the hill out of sight of the road, right in the bottom of an old huckleberry marsh where the bushes died out some six to eight years ago.

There in the third week in May Charles Harner planted some white field corn, non-hybrid corn. It grows in one of those deep peat bogs without benefit of fertilizer. The stalk measured is not necessarily the highest in the patch—it was merely one of the highest that we could see from where we stood by the edge of the patch, and was surrounded by many of nearly equal or equal height, plus a mixture of still taller sunflowers.

The Berrien County Record.

Suggest Hogging Down Corn as Good Way To Fatten Pigs

Hogging down corn is an economical and labor saving method of fattening pigs, reports W. N. McMillen, animal husbandry specialist at Michigan State college.

Pigs usually make more efficient use of corn in the field than if the same corn were husked and fed. Success of hogging down corn depends upon the weight of the pigs used, season, character of the soil, and other factors. Well grown pigs in average flesh, weighing about 100 to 125 pounds appear to be best adapted to hogging down corn.

Fleishy pigs should never be turned in the corn field. Rain and muddy fields cause a loss of grain and possibly pneumonia, McMillen points out.

Pigs should be accustomed to the corn field conditions by turning them into a small patch first. A considerable saving of feed is generally effected then by turning them into portions of the field they will clean up in 10 to 15 days. Pigs should not be forced to clean up the corn field too closely. Brood sows or stock pigs can clean up any grain left by the fattening pigs.

Pigs on a full feed of corn need some protein supplement. This need may be reduced if pigs are given access to a green pasture while they are in the corn.

Full feeding the hogs in dry lot for a week or two after removing them from the corn field is advisable. Very economical gains are generally made when a good ration is fed for a short time.

Hogging down of small grain, McMillen states, is regarded as unsatisfactory unless it is a matter of salvaging a hail-or-wind-damaged crop or when grain is very cheap.
